FULTON COUNTY FARMERS MAY OBTAIN LIME AS CONSERVATION MATERIAL

Fulton County farmers may now order lime through the Fulton County Agricultural Conservation Association, without making any advance payment, Mr. H. M. Pewitt, Chairman of the county association, said today.

The lime is being supplied as a grant of aid material in Fulton County this year by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The material is for use in the 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program in the county, and the cost will be deducted from the farmers' soil-building allowances under the program under a plan similar to that used in the distribution of phosphate during the past three years.

The deduction rate for the lime in Fulton County is $2.90 per ton, said Mr. Pewitt, and each farmer may order enough lime to take up as much as 80 percent of his soil-building allowance.

Mr. Pewitt emphasized that orders for liming materials should be placed as early as possible since the 1941 program year closed on June 30, 1941. Of the total of 807 farms in the county, 191 used 4308 tons of lime in the program last year, Mr. Pewitt pointed out, but lime is needed on virtually all of the farms in Fulton County, and through cooperation in the Agricultural Conservation Program all farmers will be able to obtain this much-needed liming material this year.

She was an active worker in the First Methodist Church here and for many years she taught the Woman's Bible Class of that church. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Redfearn moved to Oklahoma to make her home.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Tom Irby, a brother, John Stuart, and the following nieces and nephews, Mrs. Curtis Ledford, Miss Phyllis Stuart, Arrington and Jack Stuart, and Floyd and Rochelle Irby, all of Shawnee.

DEFENSE PROGRAM HIKES EMPLOYMENT

Industrial production is on the upward swing. Those who are in a position to know, advise that we will be in full swing on the Defense Program by March, 1941, and that it will continue at top speed until March, 1942, after which latter date it will begin to taper off.

Industrial plants are taking on men and it even is being whispered that the day is not far away when we will be forced to go back to the six-day week. That day cannot come too soon to suit us because it will mean that every man who wants a job will have one.

However, we must not let our enthusiasm over this roseate prospect get the better of us—because it is not quite so bright as it appears at first glance.

During the past few weeks we have talked with the executives of several of our largest industries. Each and every one of them sounded a word of caution. For instance, the executive of one concern which normally manufactures a peacetime product, advised that his company had taken on two thousand additional employees—BUT THAT NOT A SINGLE ONE of these is engaged in the manufacturing of the normal item. These men are working on munitions and army supplies. When 1942 rolls around and the Defense Program begins to slow down, unless other measures are taken in the interim, these two thousand men again will be looking for jobs.

Meanwhile, in order to pay at least a part of the cost of the Defense Program, government will have to tax and tax. Industries will have to pay through the nose and stockholders who receive dividends will be forced to pay ever higher income taxes.

The Defense Program is necessary but it is simply a shot in the arm to industry, to labor and to business. Make no mistake about that. The wide individual, therefore, during the next two years will not increase his living expenses and will make a serious effort to get out of personal debt.

The administration and the congress in the interim must make definite plans to help industry get back into production of the things which add to the wealth and well-being of the nation. To get the Defense Program speeded up, government found it necessary to call for the services of some of our leading industrial executives. It should now call on others of these business leaders to help get the industries of this country accelerated on peacetime production.

CONSTANT CHRISTMAS

The sky can still remember the earliest Christmas morn when in the cold December

The Savior Christ was born. And still in darkness clouded

And still in noonday light it feels its far depths crowded

With angels far and bright. O never fading splendor!

O never silent song! Still keep the green earth tender,

Still keep the gray earth strong. Still keep the brave earth dreaming

Of deeds that shall be done, While children's lives come streaming

Like sunbeams from the sun. No star unfolds its glory,

No trumpet's wind is blown, But tells the Christmas story

In music of its own. No eager strife of mortals

In busy field or town. But sees the open portals

Through which the Christ came down. O Angels sweet and splendid,

Throng in our hearts and sing The wonders which attended

The coming of the King. Till we, too, boldly pressing

Where once the Angels trod Climb Bethlehem's Hill of Blessing

And find the son of God. —Phillips Brooks.

A Burglar
for Christmas
by Roland Flagel

IT WAS midnight on Christmas Eve. Seven-year-old Jack, having baffled the sandman since eight o'clock, tossed back the covers and crept downstairs.

Now, at long last, he would learn the truth about Santa Claus. Man or myth? Chimney sweeper or a lovable old red-nosed gentleman?

When the clock struck one Jack was still sitting patiently in the chair by the fireplace, watching the embers glow and wane. Tinsel on the nearby Christmas tree glistened. It was all very exciting, but where was Kris Kringle?

The noise Jack heard a moment later might have been Santa but it didn't come from the chimney. Quickly the boy jumped back in the shadows while he heard the dining room window raise slowly. A gush of cold air, heavy footsteps, and then Jack heard the window close.

Frightened, he crept forward until he could see where blue moonlight filtered into the dining room. There Jack saw—not Santa Claus but a masked burglar, systematically looting the silverware!

Seconds later his softly slipped feet carried the lad upstairs into his parents' bedroom. The boy shook his father.

"Dad!" he whispered loudly, eyes blazing. "Dad! Wake up!" "Crumph," came the sleepy answer.

"A burglar! Dad! Wake up! Call the police!"

Not waiting, Jack reached for the bedside telephone himself. His mother still slumbered.

"Operator?" he asked. "Send the police over to our house right away! There's a burglar downstairs!" By that time it was out of Jack's hands. His parents were wide awake now, clinging to their hero son and listening. During the next two minutes they heard a stark drama—downstairs the dining room window opened and closed. In the distance, growing ever nearer, was the hum of a motor which they knew would be the police car.

Jack reached for the telephone himself.

They heard it stop outside. Then came a shout, "Stop thief!" A brief scuffle, and they knew the burglar was captured.

Next morning Jack was awakened by his father.

"Son," he began, eyes twinkling, "I forgot to ask last night how you happened to hear that burglar."

Jack blushed.

"I was downstairs, Dad, waiting for Santa Claus. Wanted to see if he really does come on Christmas eve."

His father laughed heartily.

"But Jack!" he protested. "Don't you know that Santa Claus never comes? I'll bet he's been here by this time, though. Let's go see!"

Downstairs Jack's surprise was divided between two equally fascinating subjects. Around the Christmas tree were more presents than he'd ever seen before, including a brand new bicycle!

But off to one side was a jolly looking, blue-uniformed policeman.

"Sonny," the copper began. "That burglar you captured last night was 'Lightning Pete,' a most notorious house breaker."

Jack's jaw dropped.

"Best of all," the policeman continued, "there's a $500 reward for his capture, and it all belongs to you. Here's the check."

Jack could barely say "Thank you," so amazed was he.

"I guess," he finally mumbled, "that Santa Claus is wearing a blue uniform this year."

FARM PRICES FAIL TO RALLY, EXPORTS DROP

Drastic Decline in Farm Exports Weakens Price

Despite advances reported for various types of industrial products, especially war materials for export use, farm prices have shown no improvement in recent months. The continued decline in farm exports from the United States has had the effect of seriously weakening the prices of export items.

The purchasing power of the farm dollar including interest and taxes is estimated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at 76 cents as of September 15, 1940, the latest date available, as compared with 77 cents a year ago. In making this estimate, the Department compares prices received by the farmers to prices paid, interest and taxes.

Percent Farm Prices Are Below Parity October 15, 1940

Wheat	39%
Corn	27
Cotton	25
Oats	44
Barley	51
Rye	56
Hogs	36
Apples	41

In the face of added restrictions abroad, farm exports from the United States have shown a further drop, with the figures for the first quarter of this fiscal year (July-September, 1940) falling 47 per cent below the same quarter a year ago.

"Due to unusually heavy exports of industrial commodities (mostly war materials) exports of non-agricultural commodities increased... 42 per cent over their level twelve months earlier," the Department of Agriculture states. In value terms, farm exports suffered a net loss of $254 millions.

"U. S. foreign trade in agricultural products in the first quarter of the current fiscal year reflected the influence of the European War even more clearly than in preceding periods, according to the Department.

The volume of farm exports during the month of September set an all-time low, being the lowest for any month since 1915, when the Department's monthly volume index begins. This index shows the total volume of farm exports to be 72 per cent below the average of 1909-1914, and the value of total farm exports to be 70 per cent below the 1909-1914 average.

Index Numbers Showing Volume of U. S. Farm Exports (1909-1914=100)

	July-Sept. 1939	Sept. 1940	Average
All Farm Exports	58	28	100
Cotton, inc. linters	52	15	100
Tobacco, unmanufactured	97	38	100
Fruits	174	38	100
Wheat and Flour	82	36	100
Cured Pork	23	4	100
Lard	62	41	100

At the end of September the index of all farm exports had fallen to 22 as compared with 81 for September last year. The index of wheat and flour exports was at 24 as compared with 44 last year.

Though exports of cotton (including linters) were up during the earlier phase of the war, they broke sharply in recent months and showed a drop of 86 per cent for the July-September quarter of 1940 as compared with the same period last year. This is the largest drop reported for any commodity group, and brings cotton exports down to the lowest volume in the past 25 years.

During the first part of the war, cotton had been the chief agricultural export, amounting to 60 per cent of the total value of all U. S. farm exports in January, 1940. It is now less than 15 per cent of the total.

Total imports of all commodities in the U. S. advanced from $550 millions in July-September 1939, to $629 millions in the same period 1940, while farm imports increased from $275 millions to $306 millions. This is an increase of 11 per cent in the value of farm imports.

MECHANIZATION AFFECTING STATUS OF FAMILY-SIZED FARMS

Serious consideration must be given to the far-reaching dislocations now resulting from technological developments in agriculture, according to a comprehensive report, "Technology on the Farm," recently made by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Government investigators state that "machines alone are expected to displace 250,000 to 500,000 additional farm workers during the next ten years."

"The important (but not new) problem of maintaining farm prices and income will be intensified by the expected technological developments," according to the report. There are one and one-half million males living on farms who were already "either totally or partially unemployed" in 1937.

"It does not appear that this unemployment situation has improved or will improve much in the next few years, since nearly 400,000 farm males are reaching majority each year and only about 110,000 farmers are dying each year, with possibly as many more retiring or leaving for other occupations."

Man-Hours per Acre Needed to Produce Oats, Corn and Cotton

1909-13 1917-21 1927-31 1934-36

Oats 12.5 19.8 8.6 7.9
Corn 28.7 27.6 23.3 22.5
Cotton 105.0 95.0 85.0 88.0

One of the most striking aspects of the reduction in man-hours required to produce different crops is the geographic variation. Thus, on the average more than twice as much labor per acre was used to produce wheat in the Middle Eastern area as in the Small Eastern area of the United States in 1934-36.

Man-Hours per Acre of Wheat Needed, by Crop Areas

1909-1917 1927 1931 1934-1936

United States 12.7 10.3 6.7 6.1
Small Grain 9.8 7.3 4.9 4.2
Corn 16.4 14.1 12.0 11.7
Eastern Dairy 22.7 21.5 18.3 17.2
Middle East 18.3 18.1 18.0 17.1

Another factor not discussed in this study, is the variation in man-hour requirements as between farms in the same area using different kinds of equipment. A National Research Project study on Field Implements shows that whereas the average number of man-hours needed to produce an acre of wheat in the Small Grains area in 1934-36 totaled 4.2, high capacity equipment was in use in 1936 which required only 1.4 man-hours per acre of wheat.

xCorn for Grain in Corn Area

Finding a farm is already becoming difficult, with "more tenants looking for farms than there are farms available." One result of this situation has been "a growing practice of a 'bonus' on renting, whereby share tenants are forced to pay cash rent for perquisites, buildings, crib space, meadows, pasture and the like, in addition to the usual share of the crop." Often these bonus rents are used to confiscate the tenant's Triple-A payments.

Mechanization is promoting large scale farming, and thus land which formerly was rented to tenant families is now being rented to large-scale operators in the vicinity. In the South "the landlord's desire to adjust his labor force to his reduced cotton acreage and get a larger share of the benefit payments, has played an important role in these shifts."

"Because of such situations, the Farm Security Administration is encountering increasing difficulty in finding farms for its tenant-purchase and rehabilitation-loan clients," according to the report.

One suggestion set forth by the investigators "is to settle or re-settle shifting and nonowner farm families on good land now owned and operated in larger than family-sized units. . . . With our land resources already occupied in acceptable farm areas, an increase in the number of farms must come mostly from subdivision of larger holdings."

"DON'T SHOOT ME!"

Telephone wires constantly carry important messages, and certainly no thinking person would deliberately block these calls by shooting down these wires. Yet, almost every day, telephone men must repair damage caused by carelessness gunshots.

The inconvenience to telephone users is, of course, the most serious result of broken wires; but there is another important consideration. There is pressing need constructive work, and time spent in repairing this type of trouble is time that might be used to further the big job of preparedness in which everyone is vitally concerned.

If you have occasion to use firearms, please be sure your shots are not fired in the direction of telephone lines. A moment's thought will prevent distress to you, neighbors and save time for busy telephone men.

P. T. A. IN DECEMBER MEETING

The West Fulton Parent-Teachers Association held its December monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Carr Institute. A short business session was conducted by the chairman, Mrs. Hunter Whitesell, during which time the minutes of the November meeting were read by secretary, Mrs. Bernard Houston, and approved. Mrs. Houston also announced that Miss Laverne Burdette's room won the $1 prize for having the best percentage of mothers present at the November meeting. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Sam Campbell.

Anyone who still has clothes to donate to the needy school children was urged to get in touch with Mrs. Nall as soon as possible since many garments are still needed.

Mr. Harrison announced a concert to be given Thursday night, December 19, at the Science Hall by the Fulton High Band and the choral club. There will be no admission charge and everyone is cordially invited.

The meeting was then turned over to the program chairman, Mrs. J. C. Hancock, who presented the following program:

"The Star Spangled Banner," "Silent Night" and "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" were sung by the entire group, led by Miss June Dixon. Mrs. Guy Gingles gave the devotional. Miss Ruth Fields introduced a chorus of girls and boys who sang several Christmas carols, accompanied at the piano by Miss Martha Ellen Duley.

Mrs. Clarence Reed, local writer, was presented and she spoke on "The Intrinsic Worth of the Individual," making a very interesting talk. This was one of a series of talks, carrying out a program on democracy.

At the conclusion of the program Miss Carolyn Beadles invited members of the organization to come to her room to see the exhibits made by her pupils. The exhibits illustrated the modes and customs of the Southwestern Indians.

About thirty members were present.

W. S. C. S. IN GENERAL MEETING

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church held its general meeting at 2:30 o'clock Monday at the church, with Mrs. Warren Graham presiding. A good attendance was present.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. T. J. Kramer. Mrs. P. R. Binford then spoke briefly of the late Mrs. R. M. Redfoarn, expressing appreciation for her beautiful life in the church and community. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Leon Browder, and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Abe Jolley. A committee on resolutions and a nominating committee were appointed. Announcement was made of the Officers' Training School to be held in Martin on Friday, Dec. 13, beginning at 10 a. m. The chairman of each group then gave her regular report. Six new members were reported and they are Mrs. L. O. Hartman, Mrs. Ben Saxon, Mrs. Madge Gerling, Mrs. Harold Thomas, Mrs. Ben Davis and Miss Dorothy Newton.

Mrs. Graham then gave her resignation as president and thanked the society members for their splendid cooperation during the past two years.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Jean Moon, leader, who opened the program with a Christmas carol, "There Is A Song In The Air." Mrs. Binford gave the devotional, followed by a melody of Christmas carols by Miss Betty Jean Fields, violinist, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Kenneth Snyder. A beautiful Christmas legend was then told by Mrs. Moon in a very impressive manner. The title of the story was "The Youngest Thief," by Margaret Sangster.

Rev. and Mrs. Hartman then spoke a few words of appreciation to the society for the reception given in their honor last week. Rev. Hartman then extended greetings to the society and asked for the cooperation of every member during the coming year. The closing prayer was led by Rev. Hartman.

The Annie Armstrong Circle of the First Baptist Church met Monday night at the home of Mrs. John Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Philip Humphrey, and the roll call was answered by seventeen members and two visitors. Mrs. W. L. Coleman and Miss Mignon Wright. The business session was closed with prayer by Miss Myra Seearce.

Following the business session the members enjoyed their regular pot-luck supper.

The program was opened with a song, "Send The Light," sung by the entire group, after which Mrs. Boyce Dumas led in prayer. Miss Helen Tyler had charge of the program, the subject for discussion being "The Prince of Peace—The Only Hope of the World." She was assisted by Mrs. John Alfred, Mrs. Rushton, Miss Seearce, Mrs. Cecile Arnold and Mrs. Bizzle. In conclusion Mrs. Clifton Hamlett led in prayer. The Lottie Moon Christmas offering was then collected, after which Mrs. Arnold led the closing prayer.

The next meeting will be held next Monday night at the home of Mrs. Hugh Rushton, West State Line, when a Christmas party will be enjoyed.

WESTERN HIGH SCHOOL

The Western High School and P. T. A. sponsored its annual Carnival Friday night, Dec. 6. In spite of bad weather, a good crowd attended. Bingo, cake-walks, and a Topsy-Turvy House, as well as a shooting gallery and a magician, furnished plenty of entertainment. Miss Juanita King, representative of the tenth grade, was crowned Carnival Queen. The candidates from the other grades were: twelfth, Mignon Dyer; eleventh, Christine Benson; ninth, Dorothy Brown; eighth, Mary Lee King; and seventh, Mary Ruth White.

On Tuesday night, Dec. 10, Western basketball team plays Pilot Oak at Pilot Oak Friday night the Western boys play Cayce on the Western floor. Up to the present time, the Western quintet has played the first two games, winning both. The only victory was over Palmersville, Tenn., team, by a score of 25-20. The other was over Arlington, 23-20.

Cheer leaders for the high school team are Helen Abernathy, Rosalind Yates, and Juanita King. The Pee-Wee cheer leaders are Mary Lee King, Betty Benson, and Louise Morrow. Both groups urge the students to give the teams support through their enthusiasm.

Mr. Barnett is coaching a high school play, "Crashing Society," to be presented Dec. 20.

The students as well as the faculty are proud of the ninety-one new books added to the library this month. This purchase was made possible by a donation of $50.00 from the P. T. A. and a similar amount from the County Board of Education.

The attendance since cotton picking is improving, but there are still many absent from school.

COUNTY AGENT

The following is a recipe for pork sausage by the Kentucky College of Agriculture formula. Everyone should try it.

The meat should be 3-4 lean and 1/4 fat. The amount of seasoning to use for a mild sausage is 1 1/2 ounce salt, 1/2 ounce black pepper and 1/4 ounce or less of dried finely ground sage to six pounds of meat. Some prefer that the produce be seasoned by a mixture containing red pepper. If used at all, red pepper should be used sparingly. Highly seasoned sausage is not an easily digested food.

If no scales are available, the seasoning may be made by a tablespoon. To each six pounds, the proper amount of seasoning of meat is 3 tablespoons of salt, 2 tablespoons of black pepper, and 1 tablespoon of sage. These measurements should be level, not heaping full.

The seasoning ingredients should be well-mixed and then spread over the meat before grinding. If you prefer grinding only once, then thoroughly work the sausage to distribute the seasoning uniformly throughout the product, some prefer regrinding to help make a uniform mixture of the seasoning. Then the sausage is ready to use. Call at the County Agent's Office and get Circular No. 261 on Killing, Cutting, and Curing Pork.

SPECIAL DELIVERY (A CHRISTMAS STORY)

By Roger Wheeler
EDITH'S drab room over-looked a snow-covered roof. Not the clean, cheery snow like they had back home on the farm but a murky gray covering on which rested the soot of a thousand city chimneys.

"So this is Christmas," she moaned, leaving her chair to pace the floor. "Oh! What I'd give to be back home tomorrow!"
But then, Edith had two Christmas presents to which she could look forward. Today, Christmas eve, the mailman MUST bring her annual package from home. And tomorrow there would be Christmas dinner with Ken—dear Ken who was working so hard these days that he could hardly take the time off to think about Christmas.

Edith heard the bell ring downstairs and she skipped to her door, opening it softly and waiting tensely while the old landlady, answered.
Yes, it was the mailman! And then came the shrill cry: "Miss Harris! Mail for you!"
Edith practically leaped downstairs, for there would be her package from home. Then her heart sank, for the landlady handed her only two letters, a greeting card from her friend Margie and (of all things at Christmas!) a bill from the department store.

Edith climbed sorrowfully back to her room and wept. Something was wrong, for Mother and Dad never forgot her at Christmas. She cried spasmodically the rest of the day, while downstairs she heard the other roomers shouting Christmas greetings as they arrived and departed.
But finally Edith consoled herself, for she could still look forward to Christmas dinner with Ken tomorrow!

She was due at two o'clock that day, and after church Edith hurried home to get ready. At 1:30 she was seated restlessly awaiting the doorbell.

She was still waiting at 2:30, for Ken did not arrive. And Edith was getting hungry.

Three o'clock passed, and Edith frowned.

"What could have happened to him?" she asked herself.
At four o'clock she cried. It was too much! First her family had forgotten, and now Ken had chosen Christmas day to tell her in this painful fashion that he didn't care!

At 6 p. m. misery began mingling with the pangs of hunger. Edith put on her coat and started to the corner restaurant. But she never got past the door. There she ran into a breathless Ken.

"Edith, dear!" he cried. "Sorry to be so late, but I knew you'd understand when you got my note."
"But—" Edith was confused, "I didn't receive any note, Ken."

"What? But I sent a special delivery message when the boss asked me to finish that laboratory experiment this afternoon. What happened to it?"
The blundering old landlady answered him.

"Please come in or go out, and close the door," she barked from the hall. Then—"Incidentally, Miss Harris, I forgot to give you these things. They arrived this afternoon."

She handed Edith the missing special delivery letter—and a huge package from home! Edith tore into the Christmas box and found a note from Mother. They'd had a blizzard; couldn't get to town; she hoped Edith would get the package Christmas day.

A few minutes later a happy Edith sat across the table from her Ken in the little restaurant around the corner.

"And now, dear," he began very carefully. "How about your Christmas present for me?"
"But I gave you the fountain pen, Ken," she protested.

"Yes, silly one, and I appreciated it. But if you want to make me still happier, listen to this. The boss came in tonight and said I'd done such a fine job on that research project that he was raising my salary. Know what that means?"
"Not the faintest idea," Edith lied.

For, after all, you can't take the words out of a man's mouth when he's about to propose!

Badger Feast
One of the strangest surviving Christmas customs is the badger feast held at Lichester, Somerset. It was started by poachers in Norman times, says the Montreal Herald, and has continued without a break. The lads of the village catch a badger, kill and dress it some time before the feast. On Christmas eve it is strung on a spit over a huge fire at the inn and cooked slowly. When it is ready the party attack it with fingers and pen-knives; no cutlery other than this is allowed.

The payment for planting trees this year will be $4.50 per acre and the maximum amount available for tree planting and other forestry practices on each farm is $15.00.

Approved species of trees for planting are black locust, black walnut, white pine, yellow poplar, loblolly pine, red cedar, scaly bark hickory, white oak, red oak, sugar maple, cottonwood, black cherry and white ash.

The trees should be planted not farther apart than six feet and should be protected from fire and grazing. Mr. Pewitt said. They should be cultivated sufficiently to retard growth of weeds and undesirable species, he pointed out, and not less than 700 of the planted trees, evenly distributed over the land, must be alive on or after July 1, 1941, to qualify for payment.

There is no excuse under high heaven for driving while under the influence of liquor. Even a first case should be treated sternly. Minor traffic violations appearing in court the first time might be shown some leniency, with the proper emphasis on the accident situation, so that a recurrence will not be brought about by that particular violator. Aggravated and repeated cases, regardless of how slight the offense, should be treated sternly, to the full measure of the law.

We need courage in our courts, and citizens should demand it.

TIMELY TOPICS

By the terms of a treaty made in 1817, when land for a school was ceded by the Indians, Arthur Biggins, a 20-year-old Indian of Poccatello, Idaho, now holds the scholarship established at the University of Michigan, which now occupies the site.

SILO SIMPKINS SAYS

Topsoil is the farmer's gold in the hills.

Feed your pasture and your livestock will be fed.

Many people treat topsoil as if it were miles instead of inches thick.

The war during the past year has decreased rather than increased American cotton consumption.

Increased purchasing power is expected to increase the demand for meats, eggs, milk, fruits, and vegetables.

If you would have your sons become farmers, give them an interest in the farm—a pig, calf, colt, or part of a crop.

Many a farm woman is having to be both father and mother to her children because her husband was carelessly farmed.

Tennessee farmers used 339,535 tons of liming materials supplied by the AAA in 1940, compared with 92,269 tons in 1939 and 2,972 tons in 1938; usage of AAA phosphate amounted to 29,019 tons of triple superphosphate, or its equivalent, in 1940, 18,176 tons in 1939, 11,095 tons in 1938.

Farm-unit test demonstrators in the cooperative farm improvement and fertilizer testing program of the Tennessee Agriculture Extension Service and the Tennessee Valley Authority are finding applications of lime and phosphate used together far superior to either material used alone.

In the case of black walnuts, planting of the nuts instead of seedling trees is advised, Mr. Pewitt said. At least 2,400 walnuts should be planted on each acre, and the plantings are to be spaced not more than 6 feet apart with two or three nuts to each hill. Walnuts of the 1940 crop which have been exposed to the weather during the winter prior to planting, should be planted at a depth of 2 to 3 inches not later than April 1, 1941. A good stand, approximately 750 trees per acre after thinning, properly protected from fire and grazing, is required to qualify for payment.

We can build all of the fine roads that we do like to see and use and have the proper police force to regulate the traffic on these highways, but we shall continue to have accidents unless our courts cooperate with the highway builders and the highway maintenance and police departments.

A limping justice who lets violators go with a small fine and who does not exercise the powers that the law allows him to exercise is hindering the accident prevention work on our highways and contributing to our annual terrific accident toll.
