Democratic Landslide

71,523 MAJORITY
IS GIVEN LAFFOON
IN FINAL COUNT

Democratic Candidate's Total
Is 445,960; Harrison's
Total Is 374,437

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 7.—Circuit Judge Ruby Laffoon, Madisonville Democrat, was elected governor of Kentucky over Mayor William B. Harrison, Louisville Republican, by a majority. The complete unofficial returns tonight gave: Laffoon, 445,960; Harrison, 374,437.

The vote for governor by Congressional Districts:

District	Laffoon	Harrison
First	44,874	17,944
Second	42,564	25,079
Third	34,729	27,563
Fourth	40,619	31,955
Fifth	53,566	67,471
Sixth	38,179	22,411
Seventh	44,058	30,482
Eighth	31,586	26,050
Ninth	48,237	36,970
Tenth	32,662	32,301
Eleventh	34,886	56,211

Totals, 445,960 374,437

The majority was the highest given a Kentucky governor since reconstruction days. Old records show that in 1868 John M. Stephenson, Democrat, won by 78,677 over R. T. Baker, Republican.

The Democrats will have 74 and the Republicans 26 representatives in the 1932 general assembly and in the senate there will be 26 Democrats and 12 Republicans.

In the house races 36 Democrats won without opposition and 36 defeated their opponents, against eight Republicans going in without opposition and 28 overcoming opposition.

In the Senate races the Democrats had 14 holdovers from 1930, won three seats without opposition and won nine in contests, including the special election in the 24th District where O. M. Rogers, of Erlanger, defeated Richard Gray, Covington, Republican.

Governor-elect Laffoon, who will take office December 8, carried his entire state ticket to victory along with him, there being comparatively little difference in the votes for the other state-wide candidates, and the one court of appeals race and the three railroad commissioners contest went Democratic.

A WONDERFUL APPLE CROP

Sunday was a beautiful fall day and the editor visited Mr. O. Piper, proprietor of Clinton Nursery. We found Mr. Piper enjoying the best of health and happy over the largest yield of apples he had ever harvested from his 35-acre orchard. It was a sight worth while to see 4,000 bushels of apples at one time. This is all Mr. Piper has left of his 10,000 bushel crop this year, and from the way trucks are moving them in all directions his bounteous supply will soon be exhausted.

Clinton Nursery products are known throughout the entire country for outstanding quality and deliciousness. No wonder his apples are in demand as far south as Florida where truck loads have been marketed at highest market prices.

Mr. Piper has made 1,500 gallons of pure apple vinegar, a product always in demand. He also made quantities of delicious cider which he serves to visitors in his own courteous way.

Mr. Piper is selling nice inesap apples at 50c per bushel. Yes, he has several other varieties, too. Now is an excellent time to lay in your winter supply. Visit Clinton nursery, on Highway 58, one mile east of Clinton, Ky. Mr. Piper will welcome you.

THE BIGGEST SUCKERS

According to the head of the N. Y. state Bureau of Securities, New Yorkers are "the biggest suckers in the world," when it comes to buying worthless stocks. "It may seem odd," he said in a recent address, "but New Yorkers will throw their money away on worthless stocks more quickly than the residents of any other part of the country."

His statement is of interest, just now when more different kinds of "rackets" are being worked than ever before. Maybe, too, his words will impress such Fulton citizens as feel they can "beat the game" in the face of the other fellow's failure to do so. If the New Yorker, who is right on the ground and in position to study the inside of the stock market, can't beat it, what chance has the man who lives miles away and who is scarcely in touch with it?

There are going to be a lot of men made wealthy as the result of a depression in the market. Some of the stock they are buying is bound to turn out highly valuable. But where one becomes rich many thousands who buy merely on chance and without using their heads are going to be "broke" for a long time to come. There are some good investments in stocks just now, and the man who is buying all the government bonds he can get his hands on is pretty apt to stand forth as a shining example of good business judgment, when the clouds roll by. But there are still a lot of "rackets" to be guarded against, and the best way to avoid them is to think things out, and consult someone wise in financial matters, before trying to "pick a winner."

CUTTING IT TOO THIN

It has been suggested, and even advocated in some sections, that one cow in every 10 in dairy herds be taken out and sent to the butcher. Those favoring it contend that America has so many cows that surplus milk will soon be produced in such quantity as to wipe out all profit for those engaged in selling it.

To the majority of people around Fulton it looks like cutting things a little too thin. Lack of money, more than a lack of appetite, has somewhat reduced the consumption in the U. S. during the past few months. Hundreds of families are either doing without milk or reducing the amount they are accustomed to using. Many of them look on milk as a drink, however, instead of a food. Water, in their opinion, is just as good and costs nothing.

But there is need in this country for all the milk that can be produced and the sacrifice of any dairy cow of normal production would be unwise. The demand will increase again before the cows that are slaughtered could be replaced, and the consumer would in the long run suffer through having to pay an increased price for milk. Milk is one of the finest foods in the world—from the cradle to the grave—and there is nothing in the food line any cheaper. Nobody ever starved to death on bread and milk. That in itself is an excellent argument for keeping up the production at a time when cheap food is not only in greater demand than ever before but absolutely essential to life now that higher-priced foods are not in the reach of everyone.

M. V. Harris Killed Accidentally

DIES WHEN STRUCK BY STRAY
BULLET NEAR EXPRESS OFFICE

Tragedy stalked side by side with joy Wednesday when M. V. Harris, 59, prominent Illinois Central official, was shot and instantly killed by a stray bullet which is believed to have come from a pistol fired by O. E. Norman, cashier at the office of the American Railway Express Company. The fatal accident occurred at 11 o'clock, while the Armistice Day celebration was in full swing. Whistles over the city were sounding the note of joy that was first felt thirteen years ago, school children, Boy Scouts, former soldiers were in the line of march and many persons were firing weapons in different parts of the city.

Mr. Harris was walking toward the express office and was behind some shrubbery that grows along the right of way of the tracks. Norman and another employe of the express company were standing on the north side of Harris Fork Creek and were firing a pistol into the bed of the creek. In some manner a bullet was deflected or glanced upward and struck Mr. Harris. It pierced his right side just under the armpit and he died almost instantly.

Mr. Norman was placed under arrest on a technical charge of manslaughter and given a hearing. The killing was clearly accidental, as he and Mr. Harris were the best of friends.

Mr. Harris, who was supervisor of bridges for the Illinois Central, was born in Portland, Tenn. He had been a citizen of this city for the past eight years and had a host of friends among our people. He is survived by his wife, two brothers, D. E. Harris of Portland, Tenn., and Will Harris, of Nashville, and one sister, Miss Dovie Harris of Portland. The deepest sympathy is extended to the widow in her great loss. The fatal accident cast gloom over the entire city in striking contrast to the joy that had been apparent during the celebration.

Mrs. Henry Rudy, Paducah, gave the response to the address of welcome.

SOUTH FULTON SCHOOL NEWS

The South Fulton football team was defeated at Murray last Friday by the Murray Training School by the score of 18 to 6. The boys play the strong Bruceton team Friday at Bruceton. Our next home game will be with Trenton on Friday Nov. 20. They should be the best game of the season, so let's everyone attend the game.

Many pupils are absent from school this week due to illness in their home. Several cases of diphtheria have been reported.

Mrs. McBride is out of school this week due to illness. Mrs. D. D. Legg is teaching in her place.

Our school is planning to observe Armistice day, Wednesday, by taking part in the parade sponsored by the American Legion.

An honor roll system has been inaugurated in our school. The first honor roll will contain the names of pupils having a perfect attendance and with no grade lower than A. The second honor roll will contain names of pupils who have no grade lower than B and who have as many as two A's.

The second month of school showed a large increase in enrollment. The elementary school has a total enrollment of 366. This is by far the largest enrollment in the history of the school. The high school has an enrollment of 130, which is also a record.

The P. T. A. will give a pie supper on Friday evening, November 20, at the gymnasium. A program has been planned and a good time is expected. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Priestly spent the week-end with home folks in Martin.

Mr. Orvin Moore attended the teachers' meeting in Union City, Saturday.

LITTLE GIRL IS CALLED HOME

Ruth Allen Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Taylor, died Monday at 1 p. m. at the family home west of town, at the age of ten years. The cause of death was diphtheria.

The funeral service was held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at her late home and burial followed at Shady Grove cemetery in charge of the Fulton Undertaking company. The deceased is survived by her parents, two brothers and one sister, and a host of friends.

Brieflets

As Christmas approaches, the average Fulton man who is wise will write Santa Claus not to include cigars among his gifts. Cabbage was never as plentiful as it is this winter.

It's a good idea to pay as you go—if you don't go so far that you can't pay.

The addition of the bar rail to the political fence has made it much harder for politicians to straddle.

In the good old days a Fulton girl never had the bloom of youth higher on one side of her face than on the other.

Our idea of the meanest man on earth is the one who will tell the children that Santa Claus got his whiskers singed in the stock market and can't cover his usual route this year.

Another good thing for motorists to remember is that the tank the makers put on the car is the only one that it needed.

Still another way for a Fulton wife to annoy her husband without nagging is for her to suggest every now and then that maybe the family auto isn't good for another season.

Casting bread on the waters is all right, but who wants to eat soggy bread?

Another thing America needs is a college that won't give a boy any more education than his head can stand.

Most every Fulton citizen reaches a stage in life where there seems to be nothing ahead of him except paying his life insurance premiums.

If it was something they had to wear themselves they would not hear men laughing so heartily at the report that the bustle is coming back into style.

Another thing this country needs is more bosses who can remember when they were out of work themselves.

Many a Fulton wife would not mind letting her husband have a little authority around the house if it wasn't that he'd soon get the idea that he was the boss.

In these days when a fellow shows up in bandages there are some people mean enough to think that maybe his still blew up.

The Fulton man who doesn't believe that women are hard losers never had to live with one who is trying to reduce.

And remember—the easiest way to get to the top is to go to the bottom of things.

RED CROSS RELIEF IN 79 DISASTERS IN YEAR

Forest Fires, Plagues, Storms, Earthquakes, as Well as Drought, Call for Help.

The forest fires which have raged in Idaho and other western sections this year have presented a serious disaster—one of a number, in addition to the enormous drought relief problems, which have been met by the American Red Cross relief forces.

Suffering, faith and courage are contained in a story coming from the Priest River section in Idaho, told by a volunteer Red Cross worker as follows:

"Picture a happy little homestead near the banks of Priest river in northern Idaho. While father, with a little son tagging at his heels, is out tending crops and adding to the clearing, mother is at home making preparations for another arrival. Then comes the fire demon, sweeping all in its path. While father fights to protect his little home, the stork announces its arrival.

"Mother and baby are bundled in a quilt and loaded on a truck for the race through the flaming forest. Father drives the truck and the little boy sits at his mother's side, brushing away the sparks which fall like rain upon the improvised litter."

To the Red Cross worker, the mother expressed her anxiety to return to the hills to rehabilitate the little homestead. All they possessed was lost in the forest fire. The Red Cross aided all of the families and is working to help them rebuild their homes.

Altogether seventy-nine disasters called for Red Cross help and money during the year just closed. Aside from the drought, which required services of volunteer workers numbering more than 60,000, and a drought relief fund of more than $15,000,000 of which $5,000,000 came from the national Red Cross treasury, help was given in 22 fires, 13 torn levees, eight storms and eight floods, six forest fires, four earthquakes and four mine explosions, three typhoons and three epidemics, two cloudbursts and one each hurricane, mine cave-in and railroad accident.

Aside from a major catastrophe, such as the drought, when the whole public was asked to contribute funds for relief, Red Cross relief in these disasters was met from the organization's funds and from special local contributions. Part of each membership, subscribed to Red Cross Chapters at the roll call period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, goes toward this important work.

Aid for War Veterans

More than 400,000 ex-service men and their families were aided through 2,098 Red Cross Chapters and the national organization during the year ending June 30, 1931. Dependent families were cared for, veterans' claims were filed, hospitalization obtained and many other services given. Part of each contribution during the American Red Cross annual roll call, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, goes toward supporting this vital work for veterans of the World War and other wars in which the United States has engaged.

Books for the Blind

Through American Red Cross Chapters, 3,827 volumes of novels, class books and others, transcribed into braille for blind readers, have been added to libraries, in the past year. These books are to be obtained through the Library of Congress and city libraries. This activity, carried on by a great number of devoted women volunteers in Red Cross Chapters, had its inception in preparing books for war blinded.

"Build Now" Is Urged

Six reasons why chambers of commerce should urge their members to "Build now" are contained in a bulletin mailed to secretaries of 200 Illinois organizations by the Illinois chamber of commerce in an effort to speed public and private construction projects. These reasons are: Lowest material prices in years, cheap money, abundance of efficient labor, speedy delivery on all materials, available engineering and the nearness of business recovery making the time ripe for construction.

For Safe Sidewalks

A sidewalk is such a familiar object that the average person is quite apt to forget about it entirely until he stubs his toe on an upheaved slab or venches his ankle in a hole. Its very commonplaceness indicates the wide dependence which is put upon the average sidewalk, and the importance which must be placed on keeping it in condition. A good sidewalk is a guarantee of trouble proof performance, long life and low cost.

Villages May Profit

The larger cities have reached the point where the streets will not hold the traffic and double-decking by the construction of overhead ways and subways is the makeshift resorted to. Growing small cities should study the problem now so that when population begins to crowd more street room will have been provided.

A $2 Dinner for 6

ON a crisp October day dinner is a very important function. The family attitude towards food is one of distinct interest. If the domestic exchequer has felt the strain of the times (and what one has not?), catering for a hungry household becomes a matter of careful calculation. In the following menu the calculation of cost and calories has been done expertly.

- Roast Loaf of Pork 99¢
- Potatoes Roasted in Pan 8¢
- Tomatoes and Corn with Chili 20¢
- Cabbage and Apple Salad 20¢
- Whole Wheat Muffins 15¢
- Deep Dish Blackberry Pie 32¢
- Demijasse 5¢
- Tomatoes and Corn with Chili: Sauté one sauce can whole kernel corn in one tablespoon butter for five minutes; add one No. 2 can tomatoes, one-fourth teaspoon chili powder, salt and pepper; simmer for five minutes longer.

Deep Dish Blackberry Pie: Mix three tablespoons flour, six tablespoons sugar; add one No. 2 or three 8-ounce cans blackberries. Pour into buttered baking dish. Cover with thin sheet of pastry made of one cup flour, one-third cup shortening, one-half teaspoon salt and ice water. Trim edges, press onto edge of baking dish with prongs of fork. Cut several slits in middle to let steam escape. Bake for about ten minutes in hot 450° oven, then lower to 350°, and continue twenty-five minutes. Serve cold.

The Spice of Variety

PERHAPS you have stocked up with Hawaiian pineapple now that production is so large and its price so low.

And perhaps you are at a loss how to serve this beautiful tropical fruit in so many different ways that your family will wonder. Perhaps—just one more perhaps—we can help you to solve this problem by giving you some entirely new recipes, recently evolved by a graduate dietitian, for serving Hawaiian pineapple in different delectable dishes. So here goes:

Pineapple Tapioca Delight: Press the syrup from the crushed pineapple in a No. 2 can, add one-half cup orange juice to it, and bring to boiling. Add one-fourth cup minute tapioca, one-third cup sugar and a few grains of salt, and cook in a double boiler until transparent and thick. Soften two teaspoons gelatin in two tablespoons water, and dissolve in the hot tapioca. Cool, add the crushed pineapple, and then chill.

A Nice Rice Dessert: Soak one tablespoon gelatin in two tablespoons cold water, then bring to boiling (add the syrup (about half a cup) from a No. 2's can sliced Hawaiian pineapple, and dissolve the gelatin in it. Add one cup cooked rice, one-fourth cup sugar, a few grains of salt and one teaspoon vanilla, and cool. Fold in one cup beaten cream, and chill. Mold in flat shallow pans about the size of the pineapple slices and pile in glasses, garnishing with sections of orange and whipped cream. Serves six to eight.

Try These Shortcakes: Hawaiian Caramel Shortcake: Stir one and one-half cups sugar over a low fire in a heavy skillet until melted and slightly browned. Add three tablespoons of the syrup from a No. 2 can of crushed pineapple, then one-half cup cream or evaporated milk, and stir until smooth and creamy. Add two tablespoons confectioner's sugar, and more cream if it is desired thinner. Split eight slices sponge cake and cover lower layers with the caramel, lay on top slices and cover with the pineapple. Garnish with whipped cream. Serves eight liberally.

Pineapple Strawberry Shortcake: Wash one pint of strawberries, add one-half cup sugar, and let stand for at least an hour; then crush slightly. Make one large shortcake or individual ones in two layers. Split open and butter lower crust liberally, then put on alternate spoonfuls of strawberries and crushed pineapple from a No. 2 can. Put on upper crust upside down, butter well, and again put on alternate spoonfuls of the two fruits. Top with whipped cream. When strawberries are out of season use the canned berries with less sugar. This recipe serves eight.

Pineapple Rice Patties: Soak one tablespoon gelatin in two tablespoons cold water, then bring to boiling (add the syrup (about half a cup) from a No. 2's can sliced Hawaiian pineapple, and dissolve the gelatin in it. Add one cup cooked rice, one-fourth cup sugar, a few grains of salt and one teaspoon vanilla, and cool. Fold in one cup beaten cream, and chill. Mold in flat shallow pans about the size of the pineapple slices and pile in glasses, garnishing with sections of orange and whipped cream. Serves six to eight.

Some Simple Salads: Holiday Salad: Arrange slices of pineapple from a No. 2's can in nests of lettuce, and pile one cup sliced celery in center. Have ready one-half cup cranberry jelly cubes and one-half cup stiff mint gelatin cubes, colored green, and cover the celery with these red and green jelly cubes. Serve with French dressing. Serves eight.

Pineapple and Melon Salad: Drain two 8-ounce cans of Hawaiian pineapple tidbits (or cut one and one-half cups sliced pineapple in small wedges) and chill these and one cup watermelon and one cup cantaloupe, cut in small wedges. (If cantaloupe is not available, use two cups watermelon.) Toss together and pile in nests of crisp shredded lettuce, and over all pour French dressing to which a little finely chopped mint has been added. Serves eight.

Midsummer Dream Salad: Drain one No. 2's can of sliced pineapple, and place in beds of lettuce. Have one basket of red raspberries well chilled, and pile in center. Stone one cup black cherries, stuff with salted almonds, and arrange in a border around the outside of the pineapple. Pass mayonnaise to which an equal amount of whipped cream and a very little sugar has been added. You may substitute, if desired, strawberries for the raspberries and canned black cherries for the fresh. Serves eight.

HARD TIMES RENEW BANKER'S OPTIMISM

Former Bankers' Chief Finds Much in Past Year to Inspire Confidence in Financial Reliability

ROME C. STEPHENSON, retiring president of the American Bankers Association, declared in an address on the expiration of his term of office that, in travelling about among the banks from one end of the country to the other during the past year, he had "come out of it with a renewed faith in the strength of our banking structure and our banking situation, and a renewed faith particularly in the spirit and courage of the men in the banks that have enabled them to rise unscathed over difficulties such as men never had to face before, or to accept with fortitude misfortunes that were beyond human power to prevent."

When he reflected, he said, that the "entire human economic structure has been brought to the verge of ruin under the difficulties that have swept over not only the nation but the entire world, and that the results of events of this kind react with particular directness upon the stability of our banks, and yet how few have succumbed, we may well renew our confidence in the banks of America; when we think also of how many of our bankers have stood up under the stress and storms of these times and how relatively few of them have been proved wanting in the series of crises that have assailed them, we may well feel a sincere pride in our fellow bankers." He added:

"So I come out of this year of somber experiences not as a pessimist, but as an optimist—as one with a renewed faith and confidence in the spirit of his fellow men under overwhelming difficulties. And particularly do I come out of this year as a banker who is proud of his fellow bankers for the undaunted way in which they have met their part of the great test through which the times have put the nation. I believe that this year has brought new honor to our banking traditions and our banking profession and has won for the banker new title to the faith and trust of all classes of his fellow citizens."

Wise Spending
Careful and wise spending will help solve our economic problems and will be of untold benefit to the farmer. Our troubles are not caused by the spending of money, but because it was spent unwisely.

"It means so much to the children"

Consider for a moment how much your name in this book will mean to you and your family. Your position in your community, your family's social activities, your opportunities to enjoy life require that you be always within quick and easy reach of your friends and business associates. A telephone in your home provides for these contacts.

"Frank and I always felt that we could get along without a telephone—it actually took the children to show us what we have been missing."

"Since the children have entered high school they have made a number of friends and they missed not being able to talk to them over a telephone of their own. Most of their friends have telephones and use them to arrange their social activities—parties, theatre, visits. So Frank and I decided that we must have a telephone and when we found how little it cost we ordered one installed at once."

"Of course we said that we were doing it for the children, but I was in for quite a surprise. I believe I actually use it almost as frequently as the children."

There's no need for any family to do without a telephone nowadays—its small cost is more than offset by the comfort and convenience it brings. For immediate installation call the Business Office—or see any telephone employe.

ELDERLY HOLSTEIN
STEADY PRODUCER

Beauty Segis De Kol Is Winning Renown.

Although just an "ordinary" pure-bred Holstein cow and worth on the block about $50 at present butcher's prices, Beauty Segis De Kol, owned by the Upper Peninsula experiment station of Chatham, Mich., has become famous throughout the state of Michigan and her sturdy production and reproduction year after year are winning renown for herself and her unbroken string of living descendants throughout the nation.

Beauty is the sole survivor of a number of cows purchased for the establishment of a foundation herd at the Chatham station in 1914. At that time the Upper Peninsula was largely undeveloped and animals of rugged constitution were required. Soon after her purchase, Beauty dropped a heifer calf that is still in the herd and she and her descendants have produced more than 70 calves of which nearly two-thirds have been females. In the station herd are some 30 head that are descendants of Beauty that include living daughters, granddaughters, and great-granddaughters. Twenty-nine male descendants of Beauty have been in service and twenty-six of them are in nine different counties of the Upper Michigan peninsula.

No advanced registry records have ever been made on Beauty, but the station herd test plan and she is credited with a herd test record by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America with 11,772 pounds of milk containing 379.4 pounds of butterfat on three daily milkings in 299 days, and this record was begun when fifteen years old. Cow-testing records and the barn milk sheets indicate that she has produced in her lifetime a total exceeding 150,000 pounds of milk and 4,000 pounds of butterfat since she first freshened back in 1915. Her best record, according to the barn milk sheets, was made in 1920 when at seven years of age she produced 15,184 pounds of milk containing an estimated total of 455.52 pounds of butterfat. Her best C. T. A. record, begun when fourteen years old, amounted to 12,546 pounds of milk containing 376.38 pounds of butterfat.

Dairy Profits Largely Under Operator's Control

A great many dairymen give a lot more attention to the price of butterfat than they do to the cost of producing it. Price, of course, is an important factor and is worthy of consideration, but the cost of producing a pound of butterfat, taking dairy farmers as a group, varies a great deal more on different farms than the price thereof, even under the most favorable market conditions. This is a well-known fact among progressive dairymen and apparently not among the rank and file of those who milk cows regularly. On that account it is a matter worthy of emphasis—worthy of much thought and study.

From a summary of the yearly records of hundreds of thousands of cows belonging to herd improvement associations, the disadvantage of maintaining low producing cows has been brought out in a very striking manner in a way that should make the owners of that class sit up and take notice. More than that—it ought to cause them to do something about it.

Dairy Facts

Unless a farmer has an abundance of hay made from alfalfa, the clovers, soy beans, or other legumes for his cows in milk, it is difficult to make profit.

A pen of calves that consumed only four gallons of water daily when it was kept before them at ordinary temperatures, drank 15 gallons daily when fed warm after feeding.

There is no question but alfalfa hay is one of the very best if not altogether the best and most valuable roughage available to the cattleman and the dairyman in particular.

Good cows fed well and properly cared for will return profits even under adverse conditions. Join the local cow testing association so the ability of each cow may be determined.

Get the most from purchased grains by feeding dairy cows 10 per cent protein mixtures with alfalfa and clover hay, 20 per cent with mixed hay, and 24 per cent with timothy.

Only 2 1/2 per cent of all the cows of milking age in New York state are on test in dairy, herd, improvement associations or dairy record clubs.

In 1930, New York dairymen had 364 herds that averaged 300 pounds of butter fat; in 1929 there were 308 such herds.

When a farmer feeds all of the cows in the herd about the same amount of grain, some are underfed, some are overfed, and others get about what they should have.

FARM POULTRY

PURE BRED HENS
ARE PROFITABLE

Cost a Little More but Pay
It All Back in Eggs.

April is a good time to make every effort possible to produce pure bred poultry instead of mongrels. If flocks of hens are kept on our farms that possess the colors of Joseph's coat, combined with numerous sizes and shapes, and producing a product that would take an expert to tell the shades and texture of the shell, then poultry profits will be slim. With small profits, our interest will lessen, and it takes interest to make us go after poultry in the right way, in the opinion of D. H. Hall, extension poultry husbandman, Clemson college, South Carolina.

"Have you ever seen a farmer that was interested in a mongrel flock of chickens? If you have, you have seen more than I have," says Mr. Hall. "As a rule, when the farm flock are mongrels, the farmer himself will always tell you that they belong to the wife, but when pure bred poultry comes on the farm, then this same farmer doesn't mind showing the visitors the poultry, and most of the time, will claim every one of them."

"Pure bred poultry will also attract attention to the farm. I do not care how humble the home may be or how poor the farmer is himself, people will always stop to look at a flock of pure bred chickens. When other people are interested in the things you have, there is usually a sale for them at a good profit."

"What about the cost? Pure bred chickens may cost a little more, but they will pay back in eggs and meat more than mongrels ever can. The pure bred poultry producers in each county should get behind this movement and plan pure bred poultry on each farm."

Right Number of Males Required in Hen Flock

There is no absolute rule in regard to the number of males needed in a flock, but there are some general recommendations that will prove helpful in deciding this question. For the Asiatic breeds one rooster is needed for six or eight hens. These birds are slower moving than the American breeds. The American breeds, such as Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds and Wyandottes, need one rooster for every ten or twelve hens. With Leghorns and other Mediterranean breeds one rooster to fifteen or twenty hens is usually satisfactory.

The activity of the males will make some difference in regard to the number needed. In comparatively large flocks fewer males will be needed than where the rooster and hens are closely confined. It is better to have a few more males at the beginning of the season than is needed so that there will be sufficient even though some of them may become disabled or die. If new males are added later in the season they will usually start fighting and do more harm than good. A few extra roosters early in the season is a more practical method of meeting the situation.

Increasing Demand for Capons of Good Quality

There is a steadily increasing demand for capons as the market becomes appreciative of their superior quality for table purposes.

The question is sometimes asked: "What is a capon?" The answer is: "An unsexed cockerel"—or a bird from which the reproductive organs have been removed before it has been fully developed or attains maturity.

This operation has the effect of causing a more placid temperament to develop in the bird, and the fighting instinct is lost as the result of the continuance of the infantile, undeveloped sexual nature. After the operation has been performed these birds grow rapidly; and their flesh retains the tender condition of young chickens up to the time when they are fully grown.

Egg Hatchability

Birds which have been producing large numbers of eggs throughout the winter are usually found to produce eggs late in the season with a lower fertility and hatchability. The explanation of this is that the vitality of the birds has gone into egg production. The hatchability of these eggs can be improved, however, by giving the flock all the direct sunlight they can get during the winter. Cod liver oil is also of some value, as are the good glass substitutes.

Mating Geese

The best results with the heavy breeds of geese come from mating in trios or using not more than three geese with each gander. On duck farms, a mating of seven ducks to one drake usually gives good results. Ganders are usually larger and coarser than geese with larger heads and thicker necks and they have a more shrill call. The cry of the goose is rather harsh. The only sure way to determine the sex will be an examination of the organs.

CHILDREN CRY FOR IT—

CHILDREN hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and just as harmless as the recipe reads.

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, you should use it to keep the system from clogging.

Castoria is sold in every drugstore; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

Better
Breakfasts

MANY schools serve their pupils milk or chocolate in the middle of the morning. They do it, because the average child, regardless of family circumstances, does not have a nourishing breakfast at home. That ought to make mothers stop and think. The truth is that every child, and every adult as well, ought to have a good substantial breakfast before he leaves the house. Here is a better breakfast that will make breakfast planning easy.

Grapefruit and Apricot Compote
Hot or Cold Breakfast Cereal
Bacon with Fried Bananas
Popovers Hot Beverage

This breakfast contains plenty of fruit, as it should to be dietetically correct and start the day right, and it is quite simple to prepare. But perhaps you don't know how to make the compote, so here's the recipe.

Chill one No. 2 can of grapefruit and one 8-ounce can of apricots separately in the ice box over night. In the morning combine them, and serve in glass fruit dishes. You may add a sprig of fresh mint, for an additional touch, and fresh grapefruit may be used in place of the canned, but in that case you must add sugar to taste. This recipe will serve six people.

Good Coffee

Coffee is the almost universal American breakfast beverage. Good coffee means coffee that has retained all of its flavor and aroma, and that means any of the brands of coffee that come in "vacuum packed" cans.

BELOVED WOMAN IS CALLED HOME

Mrs. Laura Latta Thompson passed to the great beyond Saturday night at her home on Carr street, with only a few minutes warning. She had been in failing health for several months, but the end came suddenly.

Mrs. Thompson was reared near Fulton and has been a citizen of this city for many years, and was loved by all who knew her. Her life has been a life of love and service to those she loved, and her death is a great loss to her family and friends. She has been a member of the Methodist church in Fulton for many years and was faithful in her duties to the church, and will be missed by the membership. She was the mother of five children but all but one passed away in early youth; her husband also preceded her to the grave, dying in 1913, and she has lived in lonely widowhood since. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. T. L. Allen, who has tenderly cared for her during the latter years of her life, and who is greatly bereaved by her death, but in her deep sorrow she has a bright hope of meeting her where there is no more death or sorrow.

The funeral service was held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Methodist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. R. A. Wood, and burial followed in Fairview.

Bad Sidewalks Reflect Discredit on Owners

Sidewalks, in a sense, are much like the "one-hoss" shay. We never think much about them until the darn things break down.

Many factors may cause a walk to fall into disrepair. A vagrant tree root, for instance, may press against the under side and eventually make the adjacent section of walk look like so much disturbed pie crust. Whatever the cause of failure, a bad walk can be a menace to safety and an eyesore. Hence, walks in disrepair should be repaired or replaced as soon as possible.

In most cases where the municipality calls the owner's attention to his walks, reconstruction with concrete is invariably recommended and, in most instances, required.

During recent years the vogue for color in walks has aroused considerable interest in many localities. Now Orleans, as one example, has departed somewhat abruptly from the familiar gray concrete slab.

In several of the business sections tinted concrete has been used in various shades of green and red. For private walks, especially, the idea has good possibilities. The home walks could easily be tinted to harmonize with the surroundings or the color of the house itself. Some interesting colored flagstone effects could also be achieved under the guidance of an ardent sidewalk builder.

Cities of Future to Be Both Town and Country?

Never again are populations going to live as thickly in the cities as they formerly did. The motor car has settled that. Real estate men long ago saw the trend; and with their customary perspicacity have provided the homesites that the public seeks.

Cities of the future will be enormous in area, almost as large as a small state and will be granted practical autonomy in government. F. H. Collier writes, in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Under the same municipal control will be communities of varying types, the same public utilities serving all, and the citizens united for the same general purposes in public matters. Cities will control outlying parks and recreation areas, probably thousands of acres in extent.

The "city" as part of the civic development of the human race is beginning to approach its apex. When complete it will not much resemble the city of earlier and darker ages from which it springs. It will be much more thoroughly mixed with "country"—rural in urban; and real estate will be dealt in by the square mile where it now is considered in acres and less.

States Making Progress

Oregon, in developing the beauty of its highways, has locked natural springs in fountains made of native materials.

In North Carolina a program of beautification has been preceded by a survey of what is termed the "bill-board rash."

California has planted trees along 600 miles of highway. Oklahoma has planted 40 miles, and extensive programs are under way in Indiana, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Delaware, and Michigan.

In Pennsylvania, unauthorized signs lining the highways are removed in semi-annual cleanups which, on one occasion last year, netted more than 25,000 boards.

Proper Care of Lawn

A new lawn should be helped along in the beginning by weeding it until it becomes thick enough to crowd out the weeds.

If you find bare spots, throw on more seed and keep the grass coming, as it is the best insurance against weeds. Give the lawn liberal re-seeding at least the first season or two after establishing. Re-seed until you have established a good thick turf.

Conditions are not all equally favorable and some retard the growth. We might add that light re-seedings every year will keep a lawn in excellent condition, but if the lawn is neglected several years and weeds get in, it is hard to bring it back.

Factors in Highways

That accessibility by means of the highways should be an important factor in the selection of state parks goes without question. Most of the people who visit these areas will expect to reach them by motor car. Whatever may be the necessary considerations in setting aside the larger park areas, it seems plain enough that many smaller parks, if only of a few acres, can be established immediately adjacent to or conveniently near the roads that are most heavily traveled.—Kansas City Times.

Development Handicaps

Roadside attractiveness stimulates sound development and increases land values. I heard recently of a sale of a $150,000 house which was stopped because there was a nearby gasoline station. Sand and gravel operations have stopped residential development within sight of them. More development is stopped through fear of what the neighboring property will do than for any other cause.—Exchange.

Busy Beans

CERTAIN foods are just chock-full of energy—beans are one of them. It is pretty hard to get as much nourishment and down-right "vim" from an equal quantity of any other food. A man can do a lot of work on beans, a boy can hike a long way on them, and a woman can withstand an avalanche of household wear and tear without jangled nerves if she has lunched well on this wholesome article of diet. Beans are economical, also, one of the most economical of foods.

All Varieties Canned

You can buy them for so little, and the canned product is so good, that it is but rarely worth while to spend time upon the preparation of the raw beans. There are canned baked beans, pork and beans, red kidney beans, refuted beans, beans with tomato sauce and wax beans. Usually they may be just warmed, perhaps seasoned, and served, but there are many delicious recipes of which beans are an important ingredient, such as Hurry-Up New England Bean Pot: Dice one green pepper and fry for three minutes in two tablespoons fat. Add one No. 2 can tomatoes, and cook three minutes more. Add one S-sauce can corned beef, season and heat thoroughly.*

Better Breakfasts

"BREAKFAST is the bulwark of the American nation," remarked the emissary of a foreign nation who was sent here to observe the customs of our country for the benefit of his own. It is true that we prefer to face the fortunes of the day better fortified than the average continental on his cup of coffee or chocolate and bit of bread.

We are right—for us, at least. Life dashes along briskly over here, and we need energy every moment. Then, too, once immersed in the big business of living, we are loath to stop at mid-day precisely at they do across the seas. A good breakfast goes a long way towards a good day, so if you would improve the family fortunes give them a "better breakfast" tomorrow—here's one—

Sliced Oranges
Cold Cereal With Cream
Wholewheat Griddle Cakes With Rhubarb Sauce
Coffee

Wholewheat Griddle Cakes: Beat one egg well and add one cup diluted evaporated milk. Sift together one-third cup wholewheat flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt and add to milk. Add one tablespoon melted butter and bake as usual in small cakes. Serve with butter and rhubarb sauce.

Rhubarb Sauce: Mash up one S-sauce can rhubarb, add two tablespoons sugar and two tablespoons water, and bring to boiling to dissolve sugar; then cool.*

In Case of Emergency

When you want a thing in a hurry you rush to a local store and get it. But do you realize that the existence of our stores depends upon continued business.

If every person in this community were to use the stores only for emergencies there would soon be no more places to satisfy those urgent needs.

The Best Buying Policy

You should do your part towards keeping local business alive and in a constant state of betterment by doing all your trading at home. It will be profitable to you as well as to the entire community.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

(By REV. P. B. FITZPATRICK, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.) (©, 1931, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for November 15 PAUL IN JERUSALEM

GOLDEN TEXT—For thou shalt be his witness unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 21:17-23:22. PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in Trouble. JUNIOR TOPIC—Paul in Trouble. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul Faces His Enemies. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Bearing Testimony in the Holy City.

I. Paul's Vow (21:17-26).
Upon Paul's arrival at Jerusalem representatives of the church there gave him a cordial reception. In order that the brethren in Jerusalem might graciously receive him, it was proposed to him by the elders that he take a Jewish vow to prove that he was in no way opposed to the law. They recognized that such an act would in no way compromise or involve the Gentile brethren. Nor did it compromise his own principle of action; namely, to the Jews he became a Jew and to the Gentiles a Gentile, all things to all men in order to gain them for Christ.

II. Paul's Arrest (21:27-49).
How far this act conciliated the Christian Jews we are not told, but it enraged the unbelieving Jews, causing them to resort to mob law. These maddened Jews seized Paul, dragged him from the temple and beat him mercilessly, intending to put him to death. He was rescued from the mob by the Roman guard. In order to protect him from the murderous frenzy of the mob, the soldiers lifted him upon their shoulders and bore him up the stairs. Paul kept himself under control and politely asked permission of the captain to speak to the people. When he addressed him in Greek and mentioned his Roman citizenship, the captain granted his request.

III. Paul's Defense (22:1-27).
Paul's chief concern was not his own safety. He used this last opportunity to witness unto them of Christ.

1. His claim for a rightful hearing (vv. 1-3).
a. His birth (v. 3). He was a Jew, born in Tarsus, a city of no mean reputation.

b. His education (v. 3). He was educated under the tutorship of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers.

c. His zeal (v. 3). He was as zealous toward God as the Jews who were trying to destroy him.

2. His former attitude toward Jesus (vv. 4, 5). "I persecuted this way unto the death."
3. How his attitude was changed (vv. 6-10). This change of attitude was brought about by the intervention of the Lord. While on his way to Damascus with authority to bind the Christians at Jerusalem, he was smitten to the ground by a light from heaven, and the voice of the Lord said, "Why persecutest thou me?"

When Paul inquired as to what he was to do, he was told to go into Damascus where he would receive instructions. Ananias was sent to him by the Lord for this purpose.

4. The Lord commissioned him to go to the Gentiles (vv. 17-21). It was not of his own will that he preached to the Gentiles but by the Lord's direct commission.

IV. Paul before the Sanhedrin (23:1-10).
The Roman officer in order to learn why Paul was arrested commanded the chief council to assemble and brought Paul before them. This shows that there was an effort made by the Romans to give justice to Paul.

1. Paul's earnest look at the council (vv. 1, 2). This was a solicitation of their honor to give him a fair hearing, and also a look of conscious integrity and unflinching courage.

2. Paul's stern rebuke of the head of the council. "God shall smite thee, thou whited wall." Paul shows that he had the highest respect for the office, but the man now occupying it was not worthy of it.

3. Paul's appeal to the Pharisees (vv. 6-10). Seeing that he could not get a fair hearing, and perceiving that the body before him was made up of Pharisees and Sadducees, he appealed to the Pharisees, for his preaching had something in common with their belief.

V. The Lord Stood by Paul (v. 11).
He was in great need of grace. He may have begun to question the wisdom of his going to Jerusalem, but the Lord assured him that his course was right.

VI. The Conspiracy to Kill Paul (vv. 18-22).
More than forty men banded together for the purpose of getting Paul out of the way.

The Divine Presence
Of the reality of fellowship with God every religious man is assured. Religion implies such a fellowship of love and grace on the part of God. How such a consciousness brings strength and comfort to a human heart let every one who knows the power of salvation attest.

Chain of Blessing

... SUCCESSFUL HOMEMAKING

By RUTH MAVIS STONE

SIMPLE CAKE RECIPE VARIED IN MANY WAYS

Every woman needs a simple, economical cake recipe which may be varied and used in many different ways. Such a cake is the following:

One-Egg Cake. Scant half cup but- 1/4 cup milk ter (wash salt 1/2 cups self-ris- (free) 1/2 cup flour 1 teaspoon flavoring 1/2 cup sugar 1 egg

Cream butter and sugar together; add whole egg and beat thoroughly; add milk and flour alternately; put in flavoring; pour in greased and floured cake pan, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes.

That is the foundation recipe. One of the many ways it can be varied is to make it into an apple cake. After the batter is in the pan, press into it slices of a good baking apple, place in rows fairly close together. Sprinkle the top of the batter with sugar and cinnamon and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 35 minutes. Serve as a pudding with sauce or cream, or as a cake. This is excellent for school lunches.

Another way to use the same recipe is to add spices and cook it in muffin rings or paper baking cups, to make little drop cakes. By substituting one-fourth cupful of flour with one-fourth cupful of cocoa, you may make chocolate drop cakes.

This recipe calls for self-rising flour which will save from 25 to 50 per cent of the time in making cakes. After the ingredients have been collected one should be able to make this cake in less than five minutes.

Self-rising flour not only saves the cost of the baking powder, but is healthful to use, too, because it supplies calcium and phosphorus for building and preserving bones and teeth.

Peach cake is another delightful way to serve this same simple cake. Bake the cake in a stem pan. Split the cake crosswise and put in a thick layer of sliced and sweetened peaches. Replace the upper half and fill the center with peaches. Cover the entire cake with a thick layer of whipped cream beaten very stiff. A few peaches may be used to decorate the cake. This makes a very attractive, delicious and nourishing dessert especially suitable to top off a light meal, such as a vegetable dinner.

Illustrative material showing good and bad examples of designs in wall paper will be shown at each meeting.

INDUSTRY SEES HOPEFUL SIGNS, BANKERS TOLD

Leading Automobile Unit Expects to Employ More Men This Winter Than Last

MOTOR SUPPLY IN HANDS OF PUBLIC FALLING OFF

Twelve Million Years Less Transportation in Nation's Car Inventory Than Considered Normal, Manufacturer Tells Financiers

ESTIMATING that transportation in the form of automobiles now in the hands of the American public is twelve million "car-years" below normal, and that this deficit will eventually have to be made up, Richard H. Grant, vice president of the General Motors Corporation, recently told the American Bankers Association convention that employment in his company may be greater this winter than last year.

"Employment during the winter months is a very important thing," Mr. Grant said. "So far as our corporation is concerned, in November, December, January and February we will be employing at least as many and probably more men than we did this past year."

In order to gauge the outlook for next year's market his corporation, he said, attempts to set up sales indices based on intensive scientific studies in addition to observation and common sense.

"We are in the habit of looking upon an automobile not merely as an automobile but as transportation," he said. "We figure each automobile produced as six years of transportation. Then by following up records of production yearly, we get a graph which indicates what ought to be a normal inventory of transportation in the hands of the American people, and whether there are more or less miles than might be expected. According to our figures, there are about twelve million years less transportation in this inventory at the present time than has been considered normal since 1925.

The Outlook for Business

"Consequently, if we retain the same purchasing power in this country, it is quite evident that on the first upturn of business there will be a rush to replace that inventory. In developing this graph, it has come out very strongly that every third year is a big automobile year. The biggest automobile year was 1929 when 4,100,000 cars were produced for American consumption. This year the industry will produce somewhere between 1,800,000 and 1,900,000 cars. As 1932 is three years after 1929, if economic conditions were normal we could be sure we would do a tremendous business, because the third year is the time when the bulk of the replacing takes place."

He added that there are factors at work that make it uncertain how big the year will be, instancing that "money is being hoarded from lack of confidence and this takes away some purchasing power that we would otherwise have, while family budgets are being cut on account of changes in income conditions, which again means that purchasing power for the automobile, like a good many other things, will be knocked down." As a result, he said, it was necessary to measure what statistically would be a big year against a practical consideration of the curtailment of expenditures which is going on and determine how big the year will be under these circumstances.

"From a long haul standpoint, regardless of how many automobiles are sold in 1932, we're starting up a big business for the future," Mr. Grant said. "There will be fewer automobiles sold in 1931 than will go to the scrap heap. With 12,000,000 car-years out of the inventory, nine percent more gasoline was used up to August 1, 1931, than was used in 1930. With fewer automobiles, the people must have been running them faster and longer to consume the additional gasoline. This means that we have some 22,000,000 people working hard to make a fine business for our industry when there is an economic recovery."

No False Optimism

"I am not attempting to create any false optimism—I am not speaking without a statistical background. Using the best sense we can, we have drawn conclusions from the figures we have, and I am willing to make the statement that as far as the conduct of our business for the first half of 1932 is concerned, we shall set the indices somewhat higher than the actualities of 1931. We are willing to set our advertising budgets and our selling expense on that kind of indices. With economic conditions as they are, and since the obsolescence is so great and we have sunk so low in this year's sales, we figure that the first half of 1932 must necessarily be better than was the first half of 1931."

Don't waste! But use what you need

Our local manager will gladly aid you in utilizing your electric service most economically and advantageously.

Thrift is a great virtue. The vast and solid wealth of this country is a monument to the thrift of our people.

Thrift does not mean stinginess. It does not mean miserly hoarding. It does not mean self-denial to the point of injury.

Thrift means to use what you need.

It means the practice of common sense in avoiding wastefulness.

Be thrifty in the use of electricity. See that lights are not left carelessly and needlessly burning hour after hour in your basement, or attic, or garage, or closets, or unoccupied rooms. Also, watch your electrical appliances.

But don't be too sparing of electric light where needed lest you strain and injure your eyes and those of your family. That indeed would be "penny wise and pound foolish."
