BUILDING & LOAN MAKES ANNUAL STATEMENT

The Fulton Building & Loan Association has announced its 27th annual statement on another page of THE NEWS. The number of stockholders in this company has shown a steady growth and the amount of stock sold has been definitely upward in support of rebuilding activity in Fulton and vicinity. The business of this organization has been increasing steadily during the past several years and is now one of the leading concerns of the city.

Cecil Trissel Waives Local Hearing

Cecil Trissel, 19, of Ohio, charged with stealing a car belonging to John Adkins, Cleveland Avenue, and breaking into Pickle's Grocery and Coleman's Service Station Friday night, waived a preliminary hearing before Judge Lon Adams Monday and will be held for the January term of court. Unable to make $500 bond he was taken to the county jail in Hickman. Trissel was arrested in Elizabethtown Sunday and brought to Fulton. He is also wanted for breaking jail in Picard, Ark.

Committee Drives For Upholding Constitution

The opening of the nation-wide campaign for a constitutional amendment to limit the tenure of office for any President of the United States was announced today by the National Committee to Uphold Constitutional Government through its chairman, Samuel B. Pettengill. Mr. Pettengill, former Democratic Representative from Indiana, predicted the amendment would be sponsored in the next Congress by leaders in both Democratic and Republican parties. He said it would make any President ineligible for re-election after serving two terms or a stipulated period. "Many who did not oppose a third term this fall because of the war emergency are ready to back such an amendment now," Mr. Pettengill said.

"This third term issue is for us to solve NOW. If we fail to solve it, it won't be solved in the future. If we allow the issue to indicate our tenure in the Presidency to go by default now, it will be more difficult to put up the bars in the middle of another so-called emergency of the future." Mr. Pettengill announced that the Committee will also fight for an effective, nation-wide basis, ready for instant mobilization of public opinion when any critical issue endangers constitutional government. "Our Committee will work day in, day out to arouse citizens everywhere to the importance of a strong Congress. This is our one remaining bulwark of constitutional government," he declared.

"Give us a Congress like the Congress of Webster, Clay and Calhoun, and we will again stand upright and fearless of the future." The Committee has also embarked on a long-range educational program to teach constitutional principles to youth and all groups, its chairman revealed.

"Such educational work is a part of the Committee's basic program," he said. "But the Committee must be prepared to act in emergencies. If a dangerous program is offered in Washington, we must go to the country with it, just as we did so successfully with the Court-packing bill and the dictatorial first reorganization bill. The outcome of those two fights shows that there is no stronger mandate than an effectively organized public opinion."

The Committee is now preparing to distribute locally more copies of the book "Smoke Screen" which analyzes recent trends in government toward National Socialism. More than 500,000 copies of this book have already been distributed all over the country, and the educational campaign here will be part of a national drive to distribute another half-million within six months.

Farm and professional leaders have endorsed "Smoke Screen" as one of the most effective tools in educating the public to the need for a return to constitutional principles.

'41 RATES ANNOUNCED IN CROP PROGRAM

Conservation payment rates substantially the same as in 1940 and a total acreage goal for all soil-depleting crops the same as the 1940 acreage goal were announced December 19 for the 1941 Agricultural Conservation Program by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The principal change in payments, as part of a continuing policy of placing more emphasis on soil conservation, makes available a greater share of the funds for carrying out approved soil-building practices.

A reduction in the acreage goals for dark tobacco and a small upward adjustment in the acreage goal for burley tobacco were among the changes in goals for individual crops, but the total acreage goal for all soil-depleting crops in 1941 is 270,000,000 to 285,000,000 acres, the same as the goal established for 1940.

Adjustments in rates of payment for compliance with special acreage allotments have been made because of changes in acreage for the various crops, because a larger part of available funds are being allocated for conservation practices, because of increased participation in the program and in some cases because of increased average yields.

Rates of conservation payments to be made in 1941 to Kentucky farmers who plant within their special crop allotments are as follows: Corn (in the 12 commercial corn counties of the state), 9 cents a bushel; cotton, 1.37 cents a pound; wheat (on farms with commercial allotments) 8 cents a bushel; potatoes (on farms with commercial allotments) 23 cents a bushel; burley tobacco, 0.8 cents a pound; fire-cured tobacco, 15 cents a pound; dark air-cured tobacco, 1 cent a pound; and vegetables (on farms with commercial allotments), $1.30 an acre. These rates are based on the normal yield of the 1941 acreage allotments.

The 1941 conservation payment rates for these commodities were: Corn 9 cents a bushel; cotton, 1.44 cents a pound; wheat 8.1 cents a bushel; potatoes, 27 cents a bushel; burley tobacco, 0.9 cents a pound; fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco, 1.03 cents a pound; and vegetables, $1.25 an acre.

National acreage goals for those crops for which allotments are established in Kentucky are as follows: Wheat—The 1941 National goal is 60,000,000 to 65,000,000 acres, the same as the goal in 1940, compared with the 1940 planted acreage of 64,388,000.

Corn—The 1941 National goal is 93,000,000 to 99,000,000 acres, the same as the goal in 1940, compared with a 1940 planted acreage of 25,116,000.

Cotton—The 1941 National goal is 27,500,000 to 29,000,000 acres, the same as the goal in 1940, compared with a 1940 planted acreage of 25,077,000.

Potatoes—The 1941 National goal is 3,100,000 to 3,300,000 acres, the same as the goal in 1940, compared with a 1940 planted acreage of 3,122,000.

Burley tobacco—The 1941 National goal is 370,000 to 390,000 acres, compared with a 1940 goal of 360,000 to 370,000 and with a 1940 planted acreage of 330,500.

Commercial vegetables—The 1941 National goal is equivalent to that established in 1936 and 1937. The general crop National acreage goal for 1941 is 140,000,000 to 150,000,000 acres, compared with a goal for 1940 of 145,000,000 to 150,000,000 acres.

FOLLY OF PACIFISM

When we hear someone say that it would make no difference to the United States whether Britain or the Axis wins the present war, it may not mean that he is a "fifth columnist" or a traitor, but it certainly means that he is either ignorant or unpatriotic.

There are many who profess to be good Americans who still argue that if Hitler should defeat Britain he would never cause trouble for us if we minded our own business. But that is what Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium and other countries thought only a couple of years ago.

They relied on Hitler's promises, even after he had taken over Austria, and part of Czechoslovakia, and had crushed Poland. German agents in all the now conquered countries encouraged their people to believe that they were in no danger, just as German agents and their American dupes are doing in the United States today.

Since the first World War, a large number of so-called peace societies have sprung up in the United States, some of them composed for the most part of honest citizens, but frequently led by persons with Nazi, Fascist or Communist leanings. Their object has been and still is to hamper efforts for national defense, and they have done incalculable harm. Every right-thinking person desires peace, but events of the past few years have proved a never before that for a defenseless nation there can be little hope for continued peace in a war-mad world.

MORE HEART TROUBLE

The increasing part played by heart disease in incapacitating and shortening the lives of Americans has become a matter of major concern among members of the medical profession and others. The death rate from heart ailments increased from 165 to nearly 170 per 100,000 of population in the last 25 years.

In the United States nearly 350,000 persons die of heart disease every year, it being by far the most common single cause of death. Statistics gathered by insurance companies and medical organizations indicate that this malady does its greatest damage during the period known as prime of life.

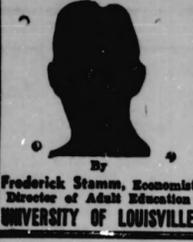

Some leading specialists attribute the increasing prevalence of heart disease and the concurrent malady, hardening of the arteries, to the hurry, worry and high pressure of modern life, with its increased emotional pace. One authority declares:

"It is the unhappy condition of the mind caused by the unfulfillment of desires, conflicts, thwarted ambitions and man's efforts to escape from his environment and personal limitations that prepare the way for heart disease," adding that tea, coffee, tobacco and alcohol may make the heart more sensitive to emotional struggles.

He suggested not too strenuous outdoor exercise and games with congenial companions as one important aid in treating or averting heart strains caused by emotional stresses.

Money Talks

What is the economic outlook for 1941?

It is safe to predict that this new year, American business will be at one of its highest levels in history. With war industries as a foundation, business will boom. And the effect of this boom will be felt in almost every town and farm, large and small, throughout the entire land. Some part of the billions of dollars spent on defense will find its way into the pockets of almost every person.

Though farmers are least apt to benefit, higher prices for them, may well result; certainly consumption of farm products will increase. And through cooperation among themselves as well as with the Department of Agriculture and by the practice of crop diversification, farmers may pull themselves out of their slump of the past two years.

For the consumer, 1941 will probably be a year of rising prices. The sooner you buy your goods—almost any goods—the lower will be prices.

As a whole, the new year looms as a prosperous one for most of us. As I have said before, however, there will come a recession if and when the armament boom collapses. Your guess is as good as mine about the time this will occur.

The accident statistics for 1940 will not be available for some time. However, it is almost certain that the traffic toll for 1940 will exceed that of 1939 and also that of 1938. Again, more people were killed in traffic accidents than from any other cause.

We talk about national defense and the conservation of life and property, but our biggest problem is the conservation of life and health through accident prevention. When will the American public realize that safe driving is not the other man's business but everyone's responsibility!

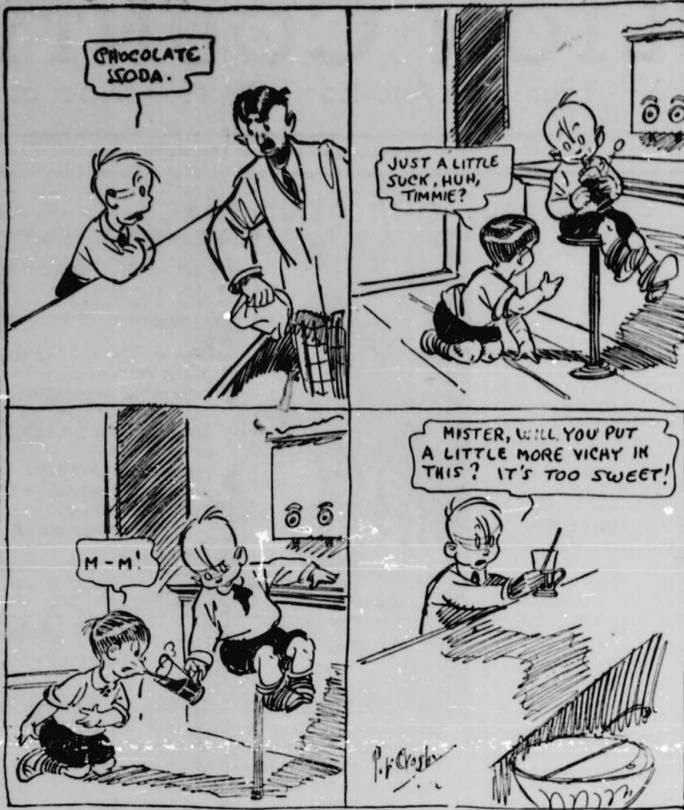

Be prepared for some startling information the next few weeks when the figures have been tabulated!

To express its disapproval of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's attitude toward the administration's foreign policy, the city council of Brownwood, Tex., changed the name of Lindbergh avenue in that town to Corrigan street.

Burdette Garrard, ticket seller at a Spencerport, N. Y., bus terminal, has erected a scratching post, five feet, six inches high, for the convenience of bus passengers who want to scratch their backs.

"IN HIS OWN COUNTRY"

It is significant that "New World Symphony," a musical composition that Americans generally are proud of, was not the work of an American composer. It remained for Antonin Dvorak, a Bohemian, to find in our folk songs and folk ideas the inspiration for one of his greatest works. This is typical of a neglect that has too often characterized our American evaluation of our own treasures. Enamored of foreign countries, even to the extent of ignoring our own, we have expected our artists to bring back from abroad music that we ought to know. Much of what was brought back has been thoroughly worthy of all the attention given it; but it has often happened that an attitude has prevailed that what we have as an inheritance is not worth recording, not worth using for inspiration.

Our own artists, or whatever kind, who have turned to native sub-American life. Since Revolutionary days we have been stoutly declaring that we should write about our American subjects, dare to be Americans and not colonial Europeans. In the very ages when we have been loudest in proclaiming our genuine Americanism, we have gone on trying to be as nearly like Europeans as we possibly can, particularly in arts and literature. There is and always has been a species of insincerity about this, which should have made us more often laugh at ourselves. England has accepted some of our most original people before we have and has seen in them distinctive contributions of America to the world. It has been a sort of custom for us to scorn the original American genius until somebody else has proclaimed him and then honor him ad nauseam.

Reposing in our national consciousness right now are many "New World Symphonies," ready to be discovered and utilized by musicians in America. In art there are hundreds of subjects as folk as any that Wood or Morgan has found in our big country. It is no avid Americanism that prompts this belief. All of us who pretend to any advanced education have had to know the best of Europe from our infancy up. But what is good in other literatures in finding and portraying local scenes and peoples ought to be equally good in ours. Our poets have often dared to be original, some of our artists are gradually becoming so, but music has been long about making up its mind as to the value of Negro, cowboy, camp-meeting, hillbilly, and other forms of native music. Some time, I do not doubt, some unassuming foreigner will slip past the immigration authorities, study our rich folk contributions to music, and then slip out as deftly, only to give again to the world as unexpected a transcription of our life as Dvorak presented in his "New World Symphony"

Somehow, with some two hundred years of American life behind me, I wish that some native-born American could do this first, that we could write our own music from our rich backgrounds.

pected to exceed nine billion dollars and may be the largest since 1929. Increased costs of production and services are expected to cancel part of the gain in farm income.

Following is a brief outlook statement for the leading farm commodities, prepared by the U-T Agricultural Extension Service from information supplied by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Agricultural Economics:

Tobacco: Outlook continues to be clouded by the uncertainty of exports for some types, especially flue cured, dark fire-cured, and dark air-cured. The burley outlook is marked by the increase of stocks but the prospective smaller 1940 crop will help to bring supplies more in line with disappearance. The consumption of tobacco in the United States should show an increase in 1941, possibly as great as in 1939. Cigar consumption probably will continue to rise at about the 1939-40 rate. Chewing tobacco may decline slightly. Cigarette consumption, already on a high level, should be maintained if not increased.

Cotton: Exports for the first quarter of the season have totaled only 303,000 bales compared with 1,780,000 bales in the corresponding season last year. Fortunately, domestic consumption is offsetting a part of this loss of export trade. It now seems that consumption in this country for the year ending August 1, 1941 will total 8 1-2 to 8 3-4 million bales.

Dairy: Production of milk in 1941 probably be larger than the peak production in 1940, provided pastures and feed production are average or better. Improvement in demand is expected to offset the effect of larger production so that prices average as high or higher than in 1940. There have been marked increases in the consumption of evaporated milk and cheese. The war in Europe has brought about an expansion in exports of manufactured dairy products, particularly concentrated milks. Further increases in 1941 are expected.

Hogs: With prospects for a substantial reduction in hog supplies in the coming year and further improvement in the domestic consumer demand for meats, present indications are that the level of hog prices in 1940-41 will be materially higher than in 1939-40. Export demand for pork and possibly lard does not promise to be any better, if as good, in 1940-41, as in 1939-40.

Beef Cattle: The total slaughter supply of cattle and calves marketed during 1941 is not expected to be greatly different from the supply marketed in each of the past two years. A decrease in marketings of grain-fed cattle now seems probable for 1941, but marketings of other cattle and calves probably will be a little larger this year than in 1940. A wider spread between prices of the better grades of cattle and prices of lower grades is in prospect. Prices of the better grades may average a little higher during the first half of 1941 but lower grades are expected to average about the same or a lower.

Poultry: Prospects are for smaller supplies of poultry and eggs, and stronger consumer demand. Indications are that prices of chickens, eggs and turkeys will average higher in the first half of 1941 than in 1940. Supplies of eggs during this period probably will be 3 to 4 percent smaller than in the first half of 1940 and supplies of

JAMES FRANKLIN FULLER

James Franklin Fuller, two-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fuller, died of bronchial pneumonia in the Haws-Weaver Clinic on Thursday, December 26. Funeral services were held Friday morning at the Nazarene Church by Rev. Carmon Sloan, pastor. Burial was at Camp Ground in Weakley county.

MRS. ALFRED JOHNSON

Funeral services for Mrs. Alfred Johnson, 76, who died Wednesday, December 25, at her home in Water Valley following a long illness, were held last Thursday afternoon at the Water Valley Methodist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Lowell Council. Burial in charge of Hornbeak Funeral Home, was in the Water Valley cemetery.

Mrs. Johnson is survived by her husband; four sons, R. L. Johnson of Fulton, Carl, Cliff and Merritt Johnson of Water Valley; and two daughters, Mrs. Dennis Valentine of Fulton and Mrs. Yancy Willis of Detroit.

MRS. EMMA ROACH

Funeral services were held Saturday for Mrs. Emma Elizabeth Roach, who died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Hicks, near Pilot Oak, following several years illness. Services were conducted at the home by Hamp Lawrence, assisted by Mrs. Dan Horton of Fulton. Burial was in Pinson's cemetery.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Donia Richardson of Fairview, Iowa, and Mrs. Hicks; three sons, Walter of Union City, Sam and Curtis of near Pilot Oak; one brother, A. U. Horton of Fulton; fourteen grandchildren and twenty-six great grandchildren.

chickens about 5 percent smaller. Supplies of turkey meat for the year ending September, 1941, may be slightly larger than a year earlier.

Wheat: Indications are that the acreage seeded to wheat for harvest in 1941 will be about the same as in 1940. Wheat prices in the United States are expected to continue above levels in competing exporting countries. If another large crop is harvested, of government loan and export subsidy programs should be abandoned, domestic prices would likely adjust more in line with prices in competing countries.

DAIRYMEN EXPECT INCREASED DEMAND, HIGHER PRICES

Three factors stand out as of particular importance in the outlook for dairymen for the coming year, says C. A. Hutton, U-T Agricultural Extension dairymen. They are: (1) A widespread tendency for farmers to increase the number of milk cows. This trend has been in progress for over two years and promises to continue further; (2) prospect for a moderately higher level of industrial activity, consumers' income and wholesale prices in 1941 than in 1940; (3) prospect for an increase in exports of manufactured dairy products and a sharp curtailment in imports of cheese.

Production of milk in 1941 will probably be somewhat larger than the peak production in 1940, provided pastures and feed production in 1941 are average or better. Improvement in demand is expected to offset the effect of larger production on prices, so that prices of dairy products in 1941 may average as high or higher in 1940. Thus, the outlook is for a moderate increase in income from dairy products.

Droughts in 1934 and 1936 and the low price of cows caused many farmers to reduce their dairy herds. But in the last 3 years the trend has been upward. By January 1, 1941, the number of milk cows on farms is expected to be about 25,800,000 head. This would be the largest number since 1935, and exceeded only during the 3 years 1933-35. This number of cows is high in relation to other years, but not unusually high in relation to the number of people, Mr. Hutton says.

The Growth of an Error

SINCE Charles M. Schwab became a semi-professional after-dinner speaker, he has been retelling across banquet tables an incident which he claims figured in a personal experience. Still, it is well to view with suspicion the alleged reminiscences of any after-dinner speaker. It may be that the thing didn't happen to him at all. Perhaps he only heard it somewhere.

Be that as it may, Mr. Schwab states that during one of his trips to Europe he met a gentleman whose breast was almost entirely covered with decorations bestowed by various continental governments.

"Tell me, sir," said Mr. Schwab, "the story of the heroism or the achievements, as the case may be, for which you were awarded this extraordinary number of honors?"

"I shall be perfectly frank with you," stated the other man. "This large medal here—the one containing the pigeon-blood ruby in the fringe of amethysts—was the first to be bestowed upon me. I received all the others as a result of having received that one."

"And for what were you given the first one?" inquired Schwab.

"Oh," said the European, "that one was given to me by mistake."

RATES OF PAYMENT IN 1941 CONSERVATION PROGRAM ANNOUNCED

(Continued From Page 1) including one not produced in Kentucky, were combined in establishing the goal. Both fire-cured and dark air-cured goals are lower in 1941, however.

Special allotment acreage goals for corn, wheat, cotton, and tobacco for 1941 are below the 1928 and 1937 average planted acreage of these crops.

A soil-building allowance will be set up for each farm on the basis of the farm's cropland, non-crop pasture, commercial vegetables, commercial orchards and other factors; and rates and procedure for establishing these allowances in 1941 are about the same as in 1940.

Because a larger proportion of the funds for 1941 will be available for these practices and because provisions have been made for greater local adaption, farmers have an opportunity to carry out a more comprehensive conservation program in earning these allowances in 1941.

"This increased emphasis on conservation through soil-building practices in 1941 is another step toward our goal of getting more conservation every year," R. M. Evans, AAA Administrator, said in announcing the 1941 payment rates and acreage goals.

As in previous years, it is pointed out, the payments are contingent upon the $500,000,000 annual appropriation authorized in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, and the rates are subject to revision upward or downward by 10 percent as an adjustment for participation when final payments are made.

Conservation payments for four commodities produced in Kentucky—wheat, corn, cotton and tobacco—will be supplemented by parity payments from a separate appropriation of $212,000,000 already made if the 1940 average prices for these commodities fall below the established parity prices.

Trust that man in nothing who has not a conscience in everything.—Sterne.

If country life be healthful to the body, it is no less so to the mind.—Ruffini.

WESTERN HIGH SCHOOL

Classes were resumed December 30 after a week's Christmas vacation. Attendance is not as good as usual, due to the flu epidemic. However, it is hoped many will return to school the last of the week.

In spite of the bad weather a good crowd attended the play, "Crashing Society," presented by the high school students December 20. The play was coached by Mr. Barnett and was very well presented, as shown by the enjoyment of the audience. Between acts numbers were given by a chorus of high school girls, who sang Christmas carols and several popular numbers.

The Western basketball team plays the Hickman team Friday night, January 3, at Hickman. The boys are expecting a large number of fans to accompany them and root for the Western team. On Tuesday night, January 7, Arlington visits Western for their second game of the season. Western won the first tilt between the teams, playing in an overtime period, by three points. So this game should be another thrilling one.

MALCO FULTON SUNDAY AND MONDAY

Forced to choose between two heart problems in the stirring climax of the picture, Ginger Rogers finds her decision and the events leading up to it as the motivating theme of "Kitty Foyle," her new starring vehicle for RKO Radio.

Taken from the much-discussed novel by Christopher Morley, the film is a vivid presentation of the career of a "white collar girl," one of the millions of office workers in our modern civilization, and it is said to be Miss Rogers' most important dramatic effort.

The action covers an eleven year period, beginning with Kitty as a girl just out of business college and seeking a job as the Depression gets under way. Her hectic love affair with a young socialite employer, their marriage and quick annulment when Kitty finds she's made a mistake, her subsequent friendship with a young doctor, her sacrifice and her achievements in the business world, all lead up to the dramatic moment when she has to decide between marrying the doctor or running away with her

NEW YEAR'S DAY

January 1, marking the beginning of the year, has been observed as a public holiday for many centuries, certainly in Rome since the reformation of the calendar by Julius Caesar in the century before Christ.

Owing to the confusion in dates which has resulted from the imperfections of various calendars, which caused skipping of dates at various times, New Year's Day may be said to be merely an arbitrary designation. As late as 1752 the adoption of the Gregorian calendar by England and the American colonies caused a skip of 11 days.

However, regardless of the day designated as New Year's at various times and in various countries, it has been generally observed as a holiday.

The Romans celebrated it with processions, abandonment of litigation and strife, exchanging of visits and of gifts, feasting and merry-making. Early fathers of the Christian church did not approve of these festivities, but recommended that the day be devoted to meditation, scripture reading and works of charity.

ed to meditation, scripture reading and works of charity.

But about the fourth century, when December 25 had been agreed upon for the observance of Christ's nativity, New Year's Day, falling one week later, began to assume a sacred character as the anniversary of the circumcision, and as such it still figures in the calendars of certain branches of the church.

Other religious faiths, such as the Mohammedan and Jewish, have their own calendars, with distinctive holidays and festivals, in which their New Year's Day has a corresponding significance to that of Christendom.

KENTUCKY TOBACCO AND COTTON QUOTA VOTES ARE LISTED

Preliminary summaries of votes cast by Kentucky farmers in four marketing quota referendums this year show that burley quotas were approved for the next three years by a favorable vote of 81.1 percent, dark fire-cured quotas were approved for the next three years by a vote of 88.9 percent, dark air-cured quotas were approved for the next three years by a vote of 87.8 percent, and a cotton marketing quota was approved for 1941 by a favorable vote of 97.5 percent.

The three-year quotas for burley tobacco carried in the referendum of November 23 by more than the required two-thirds majority in all but nine counties of the state where votes were cast. In these nine counties three-year quotas were favored by 50 percent or more of those voting.

Three-year quotas were approved in the November 23 referendum for dark fire-cured and dark air-cured tobaccos by more than two-thirds in all but two of the counties reporting votes and the 1941 cotton quota received more than an 80 percent vote of approval in seven of the eight counties where votes were cast in the referendum of December 7.

In the burley referendum the total state vote was: For three-year quotas, 75,591; for the 1941 quota only, 2,910; against quotas, 15,464.

State totals in the other three referendums were: Dark fire-cured tobacco— for three-year quotas, 7,656; for a 1941 quota only 131; tobacco— for three-year quotas, against quotas, 829; dark air-cured 8,081; for a 1941 quota only, 192; against quotas, 928; Cotton—for the 1941 quota, 1,188; against the quota, 31.

QUEER CUSTOMS

Among the curious customs that have influenced mankind, one of the most interesting and often amusing is that system of religious prohibitions known as taboo. This system attained its fullest and most complicated development among the native island inhabitants of Polynesia, from Hawaii to New Zealand, but its traces may be discovered in most parts of the world even among supposedly civilized peoples.

The word "taboo" in its ordinary sense means set apart, or sacred, and the persons or things so set apart were usually designated by kings, chiefs and priests. Certain periods of religious ceremonies were marked by strict taboos, during which all fires and lights were extinguished, no canoe was launched, no one bathed, no dog might bark, no pig grunt, no cock crow. The animals were caused to observe the taboos by having their mouths tied up.

In New Zealand the places where great chiefs had rested were taboos or sacred, and fences were placed around the spots, so no one might tread thereon.

It was believed that as a penalty for the violation of certain taboos the offender would swell up and die, but the priests were able to prevent such dire consequences by performing certain mystical ceremonies, for a suitable fee. Violations of a taboo were often punished by death or at least by a sort of judicial robbery, whereby the unlucky violator was despoiled of all his property.

These are only a few of the innumerable strange customs associated with the taboo and its attendant superstitions.

FINAL DATE FOR 1940 COTTON, CORN PARITY APPLICATIONS WAS DEC. 31

December 31 was the final date for cotton growers and commercial corn producers to file applications for parity payments under the 1940 parity price program of the AA and was also the final date for wheat farmers to apply for Commodity Credit Corporation loans on their 1940 wheat crops.

"SMOKE SCREEN"

(SELLS FOR $1.00 AT BOOK DEALERS)

"Smoke Screen" is published by a non-profit educational foundation, and is written by Samuel B. Pettengill, former Democratic Congressman from Indiana. Like a blast of clean, cold air, the book clears away the smoke screen surrounding "the new instruments of public power" which have been built up in this country. It is one of the great books of our time. It shows how far we Americans have gone down the road to collectivism. Whereas Hitler's Mein Kampf is a timetable showing the way into national socialism, Pettengill's Smoke Screen shows the way OUT.

Miss Jane Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Lewis of this city, and Louis Ira Haynes, Jr., of Ashland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Haynes of Owensboro, were married Thursday, December 26, at the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. George Vick of Owensboro read the ceremony in the presence of a small group of relatives and friends. The only attendants were Miss Kathryn Taylor and William Hopewell of Lexington.

The bride wore a model of gold jersey with kid trim and brown accessories. Her corsage was of orchids and she carried a white Testament. Miss Taylor wore a light blue wool dress with matching hat and a corsage made of pink roses.

An informal reception was held following the ceremony.

After a brief wedding trip in the South the couple will go to Ashland to make their home.
