CONDENSED NEWS.

The Owensboro wagon factory has been sold for debt.

The Reading miners resumed work generally on Monday.

At Catlin, Ill., Miss Lizzie Carroll attempted to commit suicide Tuesday. She was disappointed in love.

The Gaylor Company, of Louisville, will put in a fire alarm and police signal system in Owensboro.

A monument to Sergeant Wm. Jasper, the revolutionary hero, was unveiled at Savannah, Ga., Wednesday.

A St. Louis proof-reader named Nathan Hunt was robbed of $529 and a gold watch and chain Monday night.

An unknown negro in attempting to board a moving train in Louisville fell beneath the wheels and was ground to pieces.

The condition of Mr. Corcoran was not so favorable late Wednesday and his friends fear his death is near at hand.

A washout on the Kansas Central at Elk creek, near Hulton, Kan., threw a freight train into a ditch and killed three men.

Woodward & Harbison's sale of trotting stock commenced in Lexington Monday. Seventy-eight head realized $40,230.

A combination beer saloon and theatre in Hoboken, N. Y., burned Tuesday, and two boys were cremated in the building.

James Ryan, who resides near Watson, Ind., was bitten by a spider Wednesday and is expected to die from the poisoning.

There will be only four teams in the Southern League this year—New Orleans, Memphis, Birmingham and Charleston.

Four young men who were going to their country homes from Decatur, Ill., in a wagon were shot at by a crowd of colored youths and all wounded.

Miss Josie Bryant, daughter of a wealthy farmer near Lexington, died suddenly Tuesday from taking "poison on rats" by mistake for quinine.

Hon. George B. Price, county judge of Metairie county, was thrown from a wagon recently and it is now thought will die from the injury to his head.

The Commercial Advertiser of New York says Joseph Pulitzer will probably become totally blind. His treatment at Santa Barbara has not been successful.

T. B. Tascott, brother of the alleged South murderer at Chicago, says that he can establish an alibi for the accused, as he was at his house on the evening of the murder.

The Daniels' building at Providence, R. I., burned Monday with a loss of $245,000. The plates of S. S. Cox's new book, "Picturesque Washington," were lost, as well as several others.

In Laurel county, Ky., Wm. Crawford and Hugh Gregory engaged in a dispute over a game of cards and Crawford shot Gregory in the back and then smashed in his skull with an axe.

One of the largest firms of iron manufacturers in Pittsburgh, Pa., failed for about $1,300,000 Tuesday. The failure was caused by an attempt to build new works, which took all the profits.

A seventy-five-year-old bridegroom at Connelville, Pa., after warning a crowd of roughs to leave, was serenading him with tin horns, tin pans, etc., went out and cleaned up the whole crowd, throwing several of them over the yard fence.

At the first call for aid Sunday from Mt. Vernon, Ill., Nashville, Tenn., sent a special train with a fire engine and hose to their assistance. This company was the only one that did service with their engine at the fire and were held in readiness for duty all night.

W. C. Bernhardt, an attorney of Richmond, Ind., was found in bed in a hotel at Indianapolis Tuesday with a bullet hole in his heart. The only thing bearing on his death was a paper near by on which was written, "This man is just smart enough to be a d—f—l."

At Parkersburg, W. Va., two young men while under the influence of liquor began flourishing their revolvers. Both were discharged accidentally and Wm. Tucker was shot through the head, and Samuel Robinson through the breast. Tucker is dead and Robinson fatally wounded.

John S. Young, of McCracken county, Ky., will bring suit to recover a large area upon which some of the best portions of Boston are built. He claims that his grandfather leased to the corporation of Boston for one hundred years and that the lease has expired.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Merkle, of Des Moines, Ia., were sentenced to five years at hard labor in the penitentiary for cruelty to an adopted daughter. An examination of the little one revealed that there were scars and ulcers all over her body caused by beatings and burning with a hot iron.

At Henderson, Ark., Mrs. Lucy Hammons was shot and instantly killed by a sixteen-year-old boy Wednesday. She was playing with three children and putting on the hat of one of the number, Seth Smith, sat down on a trunk. Seth said he would shoot that hat and pointing a rifle at it pulled the trigger. The bullet struck her between the eyes and she fell forward dead. He didn't know it was loaded.

Quite a lively time was had in Frankfort Tuesday over the arrest of a house-breaker and chicken thief. While the deputy sheriff was reading the warrant the negro suddenly darted through a crowd and ran away, the deputy in hot pursuit, firing his pistol at the fugitive as he ran. The street was crowded and a wonder no one was shot. The negro was struck in the arm by a bullet and halted, and was then hustled off to jail. The shooting was generally condemned.

REMARKABLE AUTOPSY.

A Dead Child Mutilated to Recover a Doctor's Silver Tubes.

New York, Feb. 22.—There was buried in this city yesterday the body of a child—a boy about a year and a half old, the offspring of Morris Rabbit and his wife, who live in two small rooms on the first floor of No. 67 Henry street, and who came to this country from Germany about a year ago. The couple are both young and very poor—so poor, indeed, that they could not find means to bury their only child. Necessity compelled them to turn the little body over to a charitable society to secure interment outside of Potter's field. The father earns but a meager livelihood by pressing garments for Meyer Rosenfeld, who conducts a small tailoring business at No. 188 Madison street. This employment enabled the family by frugality to secure the necessities of life, but left no margin for extra emergencies, and consequently, when their baby was taken sick with croup they hesitated to call in a physician.

The child grew worse, however, and last Sunday morning Rabbit asked his employer to go and see it. This Mr. Rosenfeld did, and he told the father that he should procure medical aid at once. At his employer's suggestion, Rabbit called in Dr. Chas. E. Nammack, of No. 27 Jefferson street, who, in addition to attending to a considerable private practice, is the surgeon for the police department in the seventh precinct. Dr. Nammack visited the little sufferer Sunday morning and prescribed for him, and in the afternoon his brother, Dr. W. H. Nammack, called in his stead, and continued in charge of the patient until he died, making five visits in all, one on Sunday and the other four on Monday.

The first call on Monday was made about 4 o'clock in the morning. The doctor went in response to a request from the father, as the child had grown much worse. During this visit the physician inserted a small silver tube in the child's windpipe, through the mouth, to prevent suffocation. When a subsequent call was made Dr. Nammack found that the child had swallowed the tube, and he inserted a larger one. About 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon, when the last call during the child's life was made, it was discovered that the second tube had also disappeared. At this time the physician said the child was dying, that there was no longer a possibility of saving its life, and he wanted to recover his silver tubes.

Mr. Rosenfeld was appealed to by the child's father, who can not speak English, and the employer told Dr. Nammack that if he could recover the tubes as he put them in, through the child's mouth, he could, of course, have them. According to the father's story, the doctor told Rabbit that he would have to pay $10 for the tubes or he would recover them by cutting the child open after it died. He then went away, and he did not return until about 10 o'clock Monday night.

The child died, breathing its last shortly after the physician's previous visit. Dr. Nammack, when he called Monday night, made another effort to recover his silver tubes through the child's mouth, but failed. He refused to give a burial certificate, and the matter was reported to the police at the Madison Street Station, who notified the Coroner's office. When the police officer bearing the notice started to the Coroner's office he met Dr. W. H. Nammack, who said he had been there and had obtained authority from deputy Coroner Conway to hold an autopsy on the body of the child.

Between 10 and 11 o'clock Tuesday morning both of the Drs. Nammack, accompanied by Dr. John Horn, of No. 147 East Broadway, and two police officers, made their appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rabbit, and, despite their entreaties and protests, the "autopsy" was made and the silver tubes recovered, after cutting into the child's throat to a sufficient depth to reach them. The "interests of science" having thus been protected, a burial certificate was signed and the child was taken into the care of the Relief Society in Eighth street. After lying Tuesday night in the Public Dead House it was buried yesterday afternoon by the society.

A World reporter saw Morris Rabbit and his wife yesterday. They said the two Drs. Nammack made six calls in all before the child died, two on Sunday and four on Monday. They were paid in all $44, all the money the Rabbits possessed.

"When the young doctor called at 10 o'clock Monday night," Rabbit said, "he tried to get his tubes out of the child's mouth, and when he could not, he demanded $10 in payment for them, as he said they were worth $5 each. He also wanted me to pay $5 for putting the tubes in, but I had no money and told him so. Then he said if I did not pay him $10 for the tubes he would have to cut the child open and take them out. I told him I had no more money at all, but if he would not cut my baby I would pay him the $10 as fast as I could earn it. We had no other child, and felt that we might if we had had more children. This one was all we had, you see, and when people only have one child they think more of it, people tell me, than if they had several."

is her crown of glory. But alas! how quickly does the nervous debility and chronic weakness of the sex cause the bloom of youth to pass away, sharpen the lovely features, and enliven the rounded form! There is but one remedy which will restore the faded roses and bring back the grace of youth. It is Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," a sovereign remedy for the disease peculiar to females. It is one of the greatest boons ever conferred upon the human race, for it preserves that which is the fairest and dearest to all mankind—the beauty and the health of woman.

TALKED ABOUT TARIFF.

Congressmen Mills and Breckinridge at a Commercial Club Banquet.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 22.—The Commercial club held a banquet last night at the Narragansett House, at which 100 members and guests sat down. The chiefly distinguished guests of the evening were Hon. Roger A. Mills, of Texas, chairman of the house ways and means committee, and Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, of the same committee, who discussed tariff reform. Representative Mills addressed his remarks chiefly to the wool and cotton manufacturers, as representing the chief industries of the state, and spoke for an hour urging free material as in the best interests of the manufacturer, the laborer, the consumer and the nation. He assured his audience that they need not be alarmed; if the raw material went on the free list the manufactured product would have to go too. On the other hand, the same vote that would have put raw wool on the free list would keep the manufactured product from being placed there. He reviewed the history of the tariff from the first prohibitory act of 1824 to the present day to show that the price of wool has gone down when it was protected and went up when it was free. Said he: "The wool last year bought in this country and worked up was three hundred and sixty-five million pounds of manufactured woolen goods. Counting four pounds of raw material to one of manufactured product, that 80,000,000 pounds represents 320,000,000 pounds of raw material that was made up abroad, to the exclusion of home manufacturers, and the detriment of home laborers, and you say this is protection, that this is the American policy. Suppose you open your doors to that three hundred and twenty millions pounds, and work it up here. Think how much extra labor you would employ; how many idle factories you would start up; how many hands now idle you would give work to."

Ex-Congressman Crapo, of Massachusetts, did not respond to Mr. Mills, except with an occasional sharp rap, but took issue with the sentiments expressed in the president's message and argued abolition of the excise duties and the retention of the protection system which the first speaker stigmatized as a prohibitory tariff. Representative Breckinridge sustained Mr. Mills, and said the issue was simply free whisky and tobacco, or free necessities and untrammeled commercial activity.

Postmasters and Their Salaries.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Representative Blount, of Georgia, today introduced in the house a bill providing for a reclassification of postmasters and a rearrangement of salaries. Under its terms, with the exception of the cities of New York and Washington, where the postmasters' salaries are fixed at $8,000 and $5,000 respectively, postmasters are to be divided into three classes according to the revenues of their offices.

In first-class offices, where the gross receipts are between $30,000 and $50,000, the salaries range from $2,500 to $5,000. In the second-class where the gross receipts are between $1,500 and $30,000 the salaries are to range between $1,000 and $2,500. The salaries of these two classes are to be paid out of the receipts of their offices. Postmasters of the third-class, which includes all not covered by the other two classes are to receive, in addition to the commissions on the money order and express receipts, a compensation based on the receipts of their offices from all quarters ranging from the whole where the receipts are less than $60 up to $17 per quarter. Arrangements are made for an annual adjustment of salaries for the allowance of expenses of rent, light and fuel, clerk hire, furniture and incidentals, at first and second-class offices.

Crofton Items.

CROFTON, Ky., Feb. 21.—Albert H. Clark, your city, came down yesterday to see his mother Mrs. Nancy Clark.

I am pained to learn of the death of J. C. Teague little girl which occurred near N. N. Meigs Sunday last of measles.

The entertainment of the Depdrop Society postponed from this week will be given Friday night March 2nd. The little fellows under the management of Prof. Beecham and Miss Mattie Johnson never fail to please.

The storm of Sunday night did considerable damage to this section. A great deal of fencing was blown down everywhere. Nearly all the apple trees in Squire Jim Boy's orchard at Kelly were uprooted. Next Long's barn near here was blown down. The bridge across Pond river near Winfield Johnson's was blown down, and a tenement house on his farm occupied by Mr. Davis was blown down to the second floor. Van Dulin says the storm had a rotary motion through his farm though not with usual force of the cyclone.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Munday Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Tex., says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with Malaria Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: "He positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters."

This great remedy will ward off, as well as cure all Malaria Diseases, and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequalled. Price 50 cts. and $1.00 at Harry B. Garner's City Pharmacy.

A large beaver was shot last week near Starved Rock, LaSalle county. Beavers were very plentiful along the Illinois river thirty or forty years ago, but have been very rare of late years.

Johnnie Cureton, aged 13 years, and Jesse Mahan, aged 15 years, were scuffling in fun yesterday evening at the corner of Mildred and Walnut streets, when Russly Mahan drew a knife and a slash five inches across Cureton's throat. The knife grazed the jugular vein and Cureton's escape from death was very narrow. The wound was sewed up by Dr. F. A. Miller, and the boy was resting well last night. Mahan was not arrested.—Owensboro Messenger.

Dr. Farleigh met with what came near being a serious accident about noon Tuesday. While attempting to drive across the railroad track at the Seventh-street crossing his horse became frightened at an approaching train and turned suddenly throwing Dr. Farleigh off the buggy upon the track. Further than a few slight bruises no damage was done, but the Dr. may congratulate himself upon a very narrow escape.

Mr. David Tuck, of Lafayette, and Miss Alice Stegar, sister of Capt. T. M. Stegar of Nashville, were married at the residence of the latter Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Only the relatives and a few friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride was attired in a traveling dress and attended by five little Misses arrayed in white dresses, bearing bouquets of flowers. The groom was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Potter, of Bowling Green, and Miss Williams and Mr. Clark, of Russellville. They left Nashville on the evening train and arrived in this city at 8:30. A few intimate friends were invited to meet them at the Phoenix Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Tuck will reside at the handsome country residence near Lafayette. They have the best wishes of the New Era.

Col. M. D. Brown came in on the north-bound train last Monday at 12 a. m., bringing with him a partner for life, whom he had found in Indiana. The colonel was married to Miss Lou C. Neat, of Galena, Ind., on February 12th, of 1895, Rev. H. H. officiating. The groom has been a citizen of Madisonville for about two years, is engaged in the practice of law, stands well in his profession, is intelligent, industrious, sober and honest; has already made many friends among our people and is growing in popularity in his profession. The bride is beautiful and accomplished, will be a welcome addition to our society, and will no doubt make a good wife for the excellent husband. The Times and News extends to the colonel its very best wishes, and hopes that their married life may be one of unalloyed pleasure.—Madisonville Times.

Miss Ella Laub left this week to take charge of a music class at Caliz. Miss Laub has thoroughly mastered the difficult science, and is one of the most accomplished musicians in the state.

Mr. A. P. Smith has succeeded Mr. McGavin as baggage-master at the depot. Mr. Smith is an old and accomplished "railroader" and a gentleman who has "winnin' ways" with the public.

Rev. J. W. Piner, of Caliz, who is assisting Mr. Lewis in conducting a revival at the Methodist church, is an earnest young man, thoroughly inspired with the spirit of God, and his fervent appeals are awakening great interest.

A call of 15 per cent has been made on the stockholders of the Natural Gas Company. The contract for boring has been let to the Forrest City Gas and Drilling Company. The machinery is expected every day and the work will begin immediately upon its arrival.

Mr. Omar Brown left Tuesday morning to attend the funeral of his nephew, Knuch Brown, who died at his home near St. Charles Monday. The young man was formerly a student of the South Kentucky College and had many friends here who regret his untimely death.

"Nan's Acre Lot" will be produced at the opera house next Wednesday evening by a musical comedy company of some merit, judging from the comments of the Courier-Journal on the company, which is now playing at McCauley's in Louisville.

Mrs. Mary Ball died at the residence of her son Andrew Hall on North Main street Tuesday night at 10 o'clock. She was a devout member of the Methodist church and a most excellent woman. The remains were interred at the cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

McElreos Wine of Cardui is for sale by the following merchants in Christian County.

Johnnie Cureton, aged 13 years, and Jesse Mahan, aged 15 years, were scuffling in fun yesterday evening at the corner of Mildred and Walnut streets, when Russly Mahan drew a knife and a slash five inches across Cureton's throat. The knife grazed the jugular vein and Cureton's escape from death was very narrow. The wound was sewed up by Dr. F. A. Miller, and the boy was resting well last night. Mahan was not arrested.—Owensboro Messenger.

Dr. Farleigh met with what came near being a serious accident about noon Tuesday. While attempting to drive across the railroad track at the Seventh-street crossing his horse became frightened at an approaching train and turned suddenly throwing Dr. Farleigh off the buggy upon the track. Further than a few slight bruises no damage was done, but the Dr. may congratulate himself upon a very narrow escape.

Mr. David Tuck, of Lafayette, and Miss Alice Stegar, sister of Capt. T. M. Stegar of Nashville, were married at the residence of the latter Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Only the relatives and a few friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride was attired in a traveling dress and attended by five little Misses arrayed in white dresses, bearing bouquets of flowers. The groom was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Potter, of Bowling Green, and Miss Williams and Mr. Clark, of Russellville. They left Nashville on the evening train and arrived in this city at 8:30. A few intimate friends were invited to meet them at the Phoenix Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Tuck will reside at the handsome country residence near Lafayette. They have the best wishes of the New Era.

Col. M. D. Brown came in on the north-bound train last Monday at 12 a. m., bringing with him a partner for life, whom he had found in Indiana. The colonel was married to Miss Lou C. Neat, of Galena, Ind., on February 12th, of 1895, Rev. H. H. officiating. The groom has been a citizen of Madisonville for about two years, is engaged in the practice of law, stands well in his profession, is intelligent, industrious, sober and honest; has already made many friends among our people and is growing in popularity in his profession. The bride is beautiful and accomplished, will be a welcome addition to our society, and will no doubt make a good wife for the excellent husband. The Times and News extends to the colonel its very best wishes, and hopes that their married life may be one of unalloyed pleasure.—Madisonville Times.
