'57 Wheat Crop Plan Is Ready

The acreage reserve program now available for participation by farmers for their 1957 winter wheat crop is the second of four such programs authorized for wheat and the other basic crops, according to Roy C. Gray, chairman of the Kentucky Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Winter wheat growers who wish to take part in the 1957 program should call at the County ASC office and sign an agreement. Applications are expected to be available toward the end of August and must be signed by Sept. 21.

The Soil Bank legislation, enacted this spring, authorizes such a program for basic crops over a four-year period, that is, through 1959. Each acreage reserve agreement, however, covers the particular crop for only one year at a time.

The chairman emphasized that placing wheat in the acreage reserve will not reduce future wheat acreage allotments.

Fair Ends 5-Day Run With Profit

The annual Marshall County Fair ended last Saturday night after a successful five-day run. Attendance was not quite as good as in 1955, but officials expect this year's fair to show a small profit.

The Saturday crowd was the largest and most profitable of the five-day fair. Thursday's performances drew the smallest crowds.

Fair officials said they probably would have enough profit to pay off a $1,000 note due soon.

Final events Saturday night were the rodeo and the singing spear family, which attracted good crowds. The horse show also attracted good crowds on both Thursday and Friday nights.

The City Council was scheduled to act on the request at its next meeting, Monday night, Sept. 3.

The signs were removed by the state, however, before the city had time to take official action.

Mayor O'Daniel said the City Council will discuss removal of the signs at its meeting next Monday night, and urges all interested citizens to attend the meeting.

The state, on several occasions, has asked Benton to remove the signs. On each occasion, however, loud protests by citizens have caused city officials to refuse to take down the 4-way signs.

Mayor Louis O'Daniel last week received the following letter from the highway department:

Dear Mr. O'Daniel:

"In regard to the four-way stops installed by the City of Benton on U. S. 641, this department has investigated and made an analysis of the traffic. This analysis showed that there is no justification for the unnecessary stopping of traffic on Route 641 and it is felt that it would be to the best interest of the general security of traffic (both pedestrian and vehicular) not to have these stop signs."

"Our state law prohibits the use of such signs where traffic conditions do not meet their justification, such as this."

"We are today writing Mr. Jack Carson, district engineer, Paducah, to remove the signs on U. S. Highway 641 and to install stop signs only at the side streets. Your full cooperation is expected in rectifying this situation, which has no justification."

The letter was authorized by State Highway Engineer D. H. Bray and carried the signature of H. Alves, director of the Division of Traffic.

Martha Sue Smith And R. D. Douglas To Wed in Detroit

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gove Smith of Detroit, Mich., formerly of Benton, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Martha Sue, to Richard Dean Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Douglas of Detroit. Miss Smith is a June graduate of Mackenzie High School in Detroit and is now employed at Mallard, Inc., specialists of pharmaceuticals. Mr. Douglas also graduated from Mackenzie and is now a senior at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn, Mich.

County Soil Notes

By HERBERT ANDERSON

Farm ponds for livestock water have been staked recently on the farms of Leon Byers, Dogtown; J. M. Solomon, south of Calvert City; Floyd Dyke, east of Briensburg; Joe Lofton, Postum Trot; H. L. Alcock, south of Gilbertsville; Milburn Green, west of Hardin; Eukley Harrell, Dallas Green, Brewster; Henry Byers, Hardin; Roy Phelps, south of New Harmony; Tom Hill, west of Benton; and Elton Oakley, Aurora.

The Soil Conservation Service helped these farmers stake their ponds. Estimates of the cost of digging them were made by figuring the number of cubic yards of earth which needed to be moved. All are cooperators of the Marshall County Soil Conservation District.

Drainage ditches have been staked and surveys made for Clarence Blakney and W. F. Fritchard, west of Scale in Clarks River bottom; Dan Gold, Fairdeal; Elwood Minter, Elva; Robert Edwards, Rolfe Smith and Tom Hill, west of Benton.

Staking a ditch and making a survey eliminates guess work when construction work starts. Stakes are set at stations one hundred feet apart. When the ditch is designed and the grade determined, the depth of cut at each station is easily determined. Construction work is checked to make sure the ditch is dug to the correct depth of each station.

When ditches are cut to the correct depth and grade, erosion is held to a minimum. Overfalls of some ditches can be stabilized by setting Reeds Canary grass the entire length of the overfall.

I will meet with the landowners in the western part of Cypress Creek Watershed at Vaughn's Chapel Church, Friday night, Aug. 31, at 7 o'clock standard time. I will explain how the people living in the watershed can use the local, State and Federal help which is available in planning and applying a watershed protection program.

The second of a series of three meetings on Cypress Creek Watershed soil and water conservation programs was held Friday night at Calvert City.

Farmers, representatives of industry, business and professional people attended the meeting. They expressed a lot of interest in forming a local organization to be known as the Cypress Creek Watershed Conservancy District. The purpose of this organization, when formed, would be to plan and apply a watershed protection and flood prevention program.

Ways of obtaining Federal help on this project under Public Law 566 was explained by Herbert Anderson of the U. S.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

Background Scripture: Luke 6:27-31
10:30-37; James 2:14-17
Devotional Reading: 1 Corin 13:1-13

Royal Law

Lesson for September 2, 1956

"LOVE your neighbor" is called the "Royal Law" once in the Bible. It becomes and is the royal law only when all of it is meant: Love your neighbor as yourself. Everybody loves his neighbor a tiny bit. At least you don't want to see his house burn down, and if you heard that his children had been eaten by an alligator, you would have (it is hoped) some sense of regret. But loving your neighbor as yourself—ah, that is something quite a lot harder to do.

But the Royal Law demands that we love our neighbor, any neighbor, all neighbors. This is a Royal Law, as James called it, because it is the law by which the King of the Universe operates. To be sure, we cannot say that God has "neighbors" just as we have; but when God was here on earth, focused (you might say) in one person, this Son of God, truly royal if ever a man was, lived by the Royal Law.

No Exceptions!

James writes that keeping the law means keeping all of it. To fail in one point means failing. Period. We can apply this to the Royal Law. If we are (as Jesus called us) sons and daughters of the Most High, then we are under a kind of regal obligation to live as befits our high privileges. The more truly we live as children of God, the less we can afford to make exceptions, on our own, to the royal law of love. But most of us do make exceptions. Jesus knew what they are; so did James. Jesus mentions people who love those who love them in return. We all know the type—maybe we are the type!—the person who treats his friends like princes and other people like dirt; the family who are very warm-hearted and devoted to one another, but whom the minister has a very hard time enlisting in any project for community betterment; the college student who is a very loyal fraternity brother but who hardly knows, and doesn't care to know, the student without money to spend. Jesus' parable of the good Samaritan showed up two men who made exceptions to the Royal Law. The priest must have loved his neighbor priests; but the beaten stranger was no priest, so this priest didn't bother with him. The Levite must have had friends; he belonged to a class of professional philanthropists. But Samaritans were not on the Levite's list of Worthy Causes. So he wasn't bothered. As for the Samaritan, there was every reason to cross off that battered stranger by the roadside. By every Samaritan standard, he didn't "belong." But the Samaritan kept the Royal Law without making exceptions.

For Whom Do We Pray

One way the reader can test how well he himself keeps this Royal Law, is to reflect on his own prayers. We get around to more people in prayer than in actual visits. It is true that on a given day we probably don't pray definitely for every sort and condition of men; but the question which really probes us is not, "Do you pray for every one," but, "Are there any kinds of people for whom you would not pray?" If you are a democrat, do you ever pray for a republican? If you are a white person, do you ever pray for negroes? If you are Protestant, do you pray for Roman Catholics? For the Pope? If you are an American, do you pray for Russians? For Chinese? If you are a business man, do you pray for your competitors? As a law abiding citizen, do you ever pray for the men and women in the state penitentiary? You see how it is. The Royal Law is the hardest law there is.

With Whom Do You Pray

James draws a sarcastic little picture of some church ushers he had very likely seen,—polishing the apple of the well-dressed visitor to their church, and shoving the poor man around so that he would be almost sure never to come back. How is it in your church? You may have hanging on the wall somewhere a copy of the Royal Law; but does the church itself keep it? Are there people, Negroes perhaps, who if they risked showing themselves at your church, and wanted to worship with you, would be shoved into a corner or perhaps refused admission entirely? Does your church set the example for its members, the example of love without exceptions?

If you think stone walls and iron bars do not a prison make, just try cheating on your income tax and you'll change your mind.

In many of our newest homes the builders have added beauty and distinction by forming some of the interior walls with real brick or stone.

Now you, too, can have simulated stone or brick walls wherever you want them in your home at a fraction of the cost of real masonry.

This new material is not a wallpaper. It is rigid vinyl-plastic, embossed in full size and depth, making the shadow lines and mortar joints real, both to sight and touch.

Each pattern is the true color of the type of brick or stone it represents. Made in sheets about four feet wide and two feet high, with interlocking ends, anyone can apply it quickly and easily.

The men who founded our country worked together to achieve their ideal of a free America. And today, America carries on this proud tradition of free men working together for a common purpose. SCIENCE IN YOUR LIFE

Minnow-Mycin

They're giving wonder drugs to fish these days. The antibiotic Terramycin, widely used to protect the health of livestock and pets, is the major ingredient of a capsule called "Minnow-mycin" which cuts death losses in Florida bait fish tanks.

Terramycin is good for tropicals and goldfish, too, according to Dr. Don L. Jacobs of Stone Mountain, Ga. The antibiotic is 100 per cent effective against bacterial skin infections of tropical fish, Dr. Jacobs has reported.

As for goldfish—the F. W. Woolworth chain of retail stores treats its tanks with the same drug in all 76 of its outlets where fish are sold. The chain adopted the antibiotic after Dr. Jacobs successfully employed it in an infected tank in the firm's Atlanta store.

The "Minnow-mycin" formula also evolved from Dr. Jacobs' practice. It all began at the Southeast Fair in Atlanta, where the Florida Fish Commission was exhibiting a display of wild bass. The warden in charge found that the fish were becoming ill in captivity, and called on Dr. Jacobs for help. The homesick bass were successfully treated with the drug, and the idea for "Minnow-mycin" was born.

Dr. Jacobs, who himself runs a large tropical fish business and is the discoverer of several of the germs which attack these colorful pets, calls the antibiotics "so amazingly effective... that their permanence in aquarium therapy is assured."
