THE LISTENING POST

● War is a curious thing in its relations to business. When war comes many lines of business at once drop into the doldrums, and many others are ruined. Some feel a great upsurge of business, and as a general rule, all working men begin receiving vastly more money. The greatest trouble is that it becomes an unbalanced economy; some people have vastly more money than they ever had before or ever will have again, while others find it difficult to earn a bare living.

● I have noticed with a lot of interest the tremendous impact of the war in the railroad business. Naturally I know more about the Illinois Central than any other of the big carriers, and it is astonishing to see how business has been booming on this system for the past few months. I remember that only a year or so ago I wrote a column about railroading in which I told of how many young fellows once came to Fulton to begin railroading. In those days—the early years of the present century—boys from the country and all the small towns along the Illinois Central right-of-way were interested in railroading, and after the superintendent's office was moved to Fulton this became headquarters for all these young fellows. It was no trouble then to get a job, for railroading was flourishing and there was an ever-increasing demand for more young men to go to work on the big system. At the time I wrote that column I inferred that the day was past, for at that time it was next to impossible for any young fellow to get a job with the company. All jobs were filled by offer people, and there were many who had served in previous years and who had first call on any vacancies that occurred. A mere glance at a train crew then was illuminating, for one never saw a young fellow engaged in this work. A few years back many engineers and conductors were working at lower positions for they had been forced to drop back as forces were reduced.

● The picture is now quite different. Right here in Fulton many young fellows have gone to work for the Illinois Central and these boys are all making good money. Some boys who never made more than forty or fifty dollars in a month are now knocking down as much as one hundred and fifty dollars or more in the two week pay period. There is more work than can be done. Trains have been added; many more crews have been put on, and now it is not uncommon to see quite young fellows working with these train crews. In other words, railroading has had a rebirth. If you don't believe this, stop some time on the overhead bridge at Riceville and take a look at the yards. Not in years has there been such a beehive of industry there. The yards are filled with trains, with switch engines, with workmen. The roundhouse is kept busy servicing the engines, and at all hours one sees vast freight trains pulling in and out of the yards.

● One of the strange aspects of the new picture is the reappearance of tank car trains. For the past decade or more gasoline and oil have been shipped by tanker or pipe line. The railroad tank car practically disappeared from service during these years. Now, with the submarine war against ocean tankers raging at full blast, gas is again being hauled over the rails, and many of these tanker trains roll and rattle through this town. Also, every once in so often trainloads of war equipment, such as tanks or trucks or artillery, roll through the local terminal. Carloads of shells from the Milan loading plant are not uncommon, and in general railroading has again come to full and lusty life here.

Assembly Gets Sensatorial Bill For Redistricting Practically All Senatorial Districts In The State

Proposed Change Would Include Marshall County In First District With Fulton, Hickman And Graves Counties—Other Counties In Section Also Face Changes

Seek Average Population About 80,000 For Each Senatorial District—Ten Districts Remain Unchanged Under Terms Of New Bill

Frankfort, Ky., Prepared by administration-dominated legislative committees, a bill to realign the state's senatorial districts and expected to be basis for any reapportionment of seats in the upper chamber was introduced in the General Assembly tonight.

At the same time, Senate Democratic Floor Leader E. C. Moore presented a resolution to end the current special session April 3.

Set Up By Joint Group

The special session started March 5, two days after the legislature finished its two-month regular session, for the purpose of considering legislative redistricting.

The "big bill" was worked out by a joint Senate-House subcommittee and the Senate's full redistricting committee.

The measure, however, formally was referred back to the redistricting committee for study and report.

A House redistricting bill has not been made known by the joint subcommittee.

10 Wouldn't Be Changed

Ten districts would remain unchanged by the bill. These include four in Jefferson County and the one-county districts of Kentucky, Fayette and Campbell Counties.

Redistricting proponents have figured the ideal Senate district should contain 74,885 residents, arriving at this by dividing the 1940 census total of 2,845,000 for Kentucky by 38, the number of Senate districts.

Marshall Transferred

The new lineup of Senate districts by counties proposed by the bill, with population of each and changes from present districts:

- 1—Fulton, Graves, Hickman and Marshall, 72,920 (adds Marshall).
- 2—Carlisle, Ballard, McCracken and Livingston, 75,081 (substitutes Livingston for Marshall).

House Passes Bill Establishing Women's Army Auxiliary Corps

Washington. —A bill establishing a women's Army Auxiliary Corps of volunteers to take over many of the military forces' behind-the-lines assignments was passed today by the House, despite protests that it was silly and an affront to American manhood.

The measure was sent to the Senate on a roll call vote of 249 to 86 after Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass.), its author, took the floor to remind her colleagues of the heroism of women in the nation's early days, and to assert that those of modern time were as willing to make sacrifices for their country.

As drafted, the measure would give the W. A. A. C. volunteers the benefits prescribed by law for government civilian employees who are injured or killed on duty—a provision which Rep. Nichols (D-Okl.), described as far from adequate.

The legislation, which has been supported by the War Department, would open up the ranks to women 21 to 44 years old, inclusive, who are able to pass the physical requirements.

In recommending the measure's passage, the House military committee reported that the assignment for the women volunteers would include:

Clerks, machine operators, telephone, telegraph and teletype operators, pharmacists, dieticians, hostesses, librarians, theatre employees, welfare workers, post exchange employees, tellers and supervisors in information and air-warehouse filter centers, books, stewardesses, laundry workers and messengers.

They would wear a uniform, receive pay on a scale similar to that of the Regular Army, starting at $21 a month, and would live in their barracks under Army discipline.

Glass Fiber Board May Solve Insulation Shortage In U. S.

New York. —A new war material, glass boards, made of glass fibers finer than any human hair, was announced here today by the Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corporation.

These glass boards are intended as substitutes for cork, which comes from Spain and Portugal and is getting short. The new glass may not make good bottle corks, but it will replace cork for very cold refrigerator insulation and for roof insulation.

Fiber Extremely Fine

Both purposes directly affect the war effort, the low temperature refrigeration for military and civilian food preservation and the roofing material for war factories. New roofs are expected to require 300,000,000 board feet of insulation in the next two years, mainly for war plants. Refrigeration will take over 200,000,000 board feet this year.

The glass fibers are finer than anything existing in nature except eiderdown. They are so fine that laid end to end the fiber produced in the United States in one day would reach to the sun and back again.

Pressed Into Boards

They are pressed by machinery into the shape of boards one to two inches thick, a foot wide and three feet long. The edges and corners are as true as those of well sawed wooden boards. The glass is finally coated with asphalt, to make it impervious to water.

These boards can be sawed with an ordinary saw dipped in kerosene to keep its teeth from clogging with asphalt.

Rats and mice can't gnaw them, bugs don't like glass, they won't rot or decay.

MRS. LON SEAY DIES IN MAYFIELD

Mrs. Clint Howell received a message this morning that her cousin, Mrs. Lon Seay of Murray, Kentucky, formerly of Fulton, died at the Mayfield hospital this morning at seven o'clock. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the First Christian church of Murray.

Mrs. Seay lived in Fulton many years ago and will be remembered by many friends.

FDR OPPOSED TO NEW LAW AGAINST FOUR HOUR WEEK

Says Things Are Going Pretty Well At Present

Washington. —President Roosevelt indicated today that he thought there should be no legislation immediately on the 40-hour week issue because, he said, things are going pretty well now. The President had conferred earlier in the day with chiefs of the American Federation of Labor and the CIO, who constitute a labor war board.

There had been discussion of the 40-hour week problem the President said, and he remarked that there has been "an amazing state of public misinformation" about this problem. He authorized a direct quotation.

Regulation Later

When reporters inquired whether he thought legislation was not needed on this problem and on strikes, he responded that some might be required in time. But don't let's rush things when they are going pretty well, he suggested.

He said he would rather see instead a few more parades, and a few more bands playing because he thought it was time to wave the flag. And get a lot of enthusiasm into our work.

Congress can't pass a law, Mr. Roosevelt said, to make a man produce more.

With reference to public misinformation, Mr. Roosevelt said that he had received five letters from editors of small newspapers asking why it was that the law did not permit anyone to work more than 40 hours a week.

They had received that impression he said, from things they read and from speeches in Congress.

Never Any Limit

We all know, the Chief Executive continued, that there never was any limit on the work week and that nearly all munitions plants now are working much more than a 40-hour week. Some, however, are working only 20 or 30, he went on, because they are unable to obtain materials. He added he thought it was only fair to tell the whole story.

ADMIRAL ANDREWS IS MADE COMMANDER OF EASTERN SEA FRONTIER

Washington. —The Navy announced today that Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews had been assigned to "exclusive duty" as commander of the eastern sea frontier being replaced as commandant of the Third Naval District at New York by Rear Admiral Edward J. Marquart.

The change in the Third Naval District command was announced in a brief communique.

What's New In U. S.? Americans In Russia Would Like To Know

Moscow. —Shucks, folks, what's new in the old U. S. A.? We're just now reading about the last World Series.

It's a very strange feeling to be cut off from home news. Sitting in the United States these may seem little things, but suppose you didn't know.

Whether American sidewalks are filled with uniforms, what the folks are talking about at home, whether people still are working the five-day week, whether the Rose Bowl game was played, whether there will be any baseball this year, whether there is rationing at home and what ships the United States lost in the war.

What About Jazz Bands? Do jazz bands still play? How seriously are people taking the war? Does Congress meet five days a week or seven? Do factories hum by night? What's happened to the dollar? Are there blackouts? Have there been any air raids in the United States?

Members of the American colony know virtually nothing about happenings in the United States.

"I figure we must be more cut off from home news than any United States garrison in the world," said a member of the U. S. military mission.

Cables Costly

Your only contact is cable. You send twenty words for about five dollars but seven words go for ad-dresses—and you figure out how much you learn this way.

There are two foreign news sources in Moscow—the papers, which seldom if ever deal with U. S. domestic news, and the British radio, which when heard, infrequently carries U. S. reports. The U. S. State Department radiocasts never are heard here.

A BRIGHTER OUTLOOK IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC

The shock from Sunday's tragic revelation that the United Nations had lost five cruisers and at least six destroyers in the closing days of the fateful Battle of Java was greatly relieved by Monday's announcement by the War Department that American troops and aviation "in considerable numbers" had arrived in Australia. It was turned into something akin to exultation by yesterday's official word from Washington that Gen.
Douglas MacArthur had reached Australia and would assume supreme control of the Allied forces in the Southwestern Pacific. The long awaited reinforcements from the United States had completed a 12,000-mile voyage through submarine-infested waters and the hero of Bataan Peninsula—the only military leader thus far who has been able to hold back the tide of Japanese expansion—is to defend the last great bastion in the Pacific except Pearl Harbor.

The United States is getting into its stride. The promise of men and guns, of planes and tanks is being fulfilled despite the enormous difficulties of time and space. The enemy is being opposed wherever he may be. In little more than three months we have not only produced, we have delivered the goods and it is to be hoped in sufficient quantity to turn the tide which has already engulfed the greater part of the Far East. And an endless stream of men and material will flow to the beleaguered land down under.

To lead the forces of the United Nations in offense or defense General MacArthur is the ideal commander. He is the idol of the American soldier and the American Nation. He is the choice of the Australians. Few have a broader understanding of modern warfare and none is more familiar with the Japanese methods. He is a fighting general, one of our best in the first World War and the outstanding one in this. It is difficult not to indulge in exaggeration
where MacArthur is concerned.

In taking over his new post he is not deserting the Philippines. The Philippines are still under his command. The organization that he built up can function just as well whether he is on Bataan Peninsula or in Australia. The plan of campaign which he worked out can be carried out in the same brilliant fashion whether he is near the front or far from it. It was perhaps with the understanding that he continue to command the forces in the Philippines that he accepted
the request of the Australians

SPORT TALK

The schedule for next fall's football activities shows some minor changes, with two teams being dropped and one added. As a result, eight games will be played,
as compared to nine during the last season. Marion, Kentucky, has been dropped, as has Lexington, Tenn., and Dawson Springs has been added to the list of teams to be faced. This gives the same number of Conference games, as the Lexington game was merely an extra game and had no bearing on the Conference standing. Four of the games will be played at home,
with four away teams coming here
this year are Union City, Murray, Dawson and Russellville. The games away from home will be the opening game at Martin, Paducah, Trigg County and Mayfield. An open date appears the week before the Mayfield game, which this year will be played on November 13. A game may be carded for this open date, or it may be deemed best to have an open date in order to try to ready the team for the always-tough Mayfield game.

Conference games will be Murray, Trigg, Dawson Springs, Russellville
and Mayfield. Paducah is also a Conference game, but it has no bearing on the standing, according to arrangements made some time ago. The games to be played are

THE FILE, KNOTTED SHEET METHOD WORKS, EVEN FOR FORMER FRENCH OFFICIALS

London, —Pierre Mendes-France, former undersecretary and state treasury in the French republic, disclosed apologetically and belatedly Monday that he used a file and knotted sheets to escape from prison at Clermont-Ferrand last June.

"I have no imagination," he said in explaining why he stuck to the tried-and-true methods of popular fiction.

Mendes-France, now a pilot officer in the free French air force, was under six-year sentence by the Vichy government on a charge of fleeing to North Africa.

Supplied with money, false papers and the file by friends outside, he worked several nights on the cell bars, timing his filing with the snores of the guards.

Finally the bar parted, he slid down his knotted sheets, crossing the yard and gained the top of a 24-foot wall, intending to clamber down a tree on the other side.

A GOOD TIME TO REBUILD OR REMODEL

Building material in many lines is difficult to secure right now. Next spring it will probably be more difficult and higher in price. Paint will be hard to secure next year and the price may be higher. If your home needs repairing and repainting this spring it is a good time to do the work.

If you lack money our service opens the way for you. We make prompt appraisals and action on loans is taken speedily. There is little red tape involved and if you will bring your problems to us we think we can solve them.

Remember that painting and repairing this year will prolong the life of your home.

We now have Defense Bonds on Sale at our Offices.

W. P. B. HALTS
PRODUCTION OF VENDERS

Curtailed Output To End On April 30th.

Washington.—The War Production Board today halted the manufacture of vending machines, which dispense beverages, cigarettes, food, candy, nuts and chewing gum, effective April 30.

The industry, composed of about seventy plants with a $10,000,000 annual business, had been operating since January 1 on a sharply curtailed production schedule.

The action followed by a day W. P. B.'s order to manufacturers of pinball, weighing and amusement machines and the "juke box" type of automatic phonograph to cease production May 1.
