HEALTH DEPARTMENT SEEKS RAT CONTROL

Preliminary plans are now being made for a county-wide rat control drive, according to Harry Barry, of the Fulton County Health Department. L. C. Whitehead, district agent, division of predator and rodent control, will be available after April 15, to aid in the program to eradicate rats in the county.

It has been found after a survey of the county that rats are causing thousands of dollars loss to farms, homes and business places. Not only do rodents destroy food, baby chicks, household goods, but are destructive to buildings and hasten depreciation of property.

The rat control program would be a county-wide project, taking in the cities of Fulton and Hickman, as well as the rural sections. War would be declared on rats by county and city officials, and by various organizations like the Hickman Lions Club, Fulton Lions Club, Fulton Chamber of Commerce, Young Men's Business Club, Fulton's Woman's Club, Hickman's Woman's Club, Fulton County Board of Education, Fulton County Farm Bureau, Fulton County Health Department, and Fulton County Extension Department.

IMPORTED GENIUS

Native-born Americans have given to the world many epochal inventions, of which the late Thomas A. Edison contributed more than any other single individual. But America also owes much of its prestige in invention to the genius of foreign-born immigrants who added luster to its brilliant record. A few of these may be mentioned.

Ericsson, who came from Sweden, invented the Monitor.

Alexander Graham Bell, born in Scotland, later lived in Canada, and as a resident of the United States, gave the telephone to the world.

Emile Berliner came from Germany to perfect the telephone and improve the phonograph.

Nicola Tesla from Austria-Hungary invented the induction motor and numerous other epochal electrical devices.

Charles J. Vanderpoel from the Netherlands devised the electric street car trolley.

Charles P. Steinmetz, coming from Germany as a poor, deformed immigrant boy, who borrowed money from a fellow passenger in order to obtain admission to the United States, won universal fame as an electrical wizard.

Michael I. Pupin, a poor immigrant boy from Hungary, made long distance telephony possible.

This by no means exhausts the list of those of foreign birth who developed their great natural talents after coming to the United States, and who became identified with American scientific achievement.

WHAT'S WRONG AT HOME?

After hearing a lot about the waywardness of children of the present, it occurred to Rev. Clinton D. Cox of Chicago to get the viewpoint of the youngsters themselves, which he did through asking 175 boys to write freely their ideas on "What's wrong with the home?"

Among the answers given by these boys, who ranged from 14 to 16 years of age, were the following:

"A boy wants a mother who can keep a secret and not tell the neighbors everything about him."

"The girl's word is always taken and the boy's word is always doubted."

"Home is a court room and every member of the family tries to take a hand in raising the boy."

"Parents never admit it when they are wrong?"

"People who led the wildest life before they were married are the strictest parents."

"Mothers try to hold other boys up as models too much."

These are only a few of the answers, but they indicate that boys believe there are a good many faults on the parents' side of the case, and doubtless that is true.

Young persons will usually acknowledge their shortcomings and accept reproof without resentment if they feel that the parent is right and fair.

But it often difficult for parent and child to see things from the same angle.

To deal with children firmly when necessary, yet without apparent harshness, is not always easy.

THE SEVEN WONDERS

Nearly everyone has heard of the seven wonders of the world, but probably few could name them and fewer could tell what became of them. Those interested in such things might clip this out for their scrap book.

The seven wonders of the world were so named by Antipater, a writer of Palestine, about 100 B. C., as follows:

The Hanging Gardens of Babylon, destroyed in 484 B. C., more than 100 years before they were listed among the wonders.

The Temple of Diana at Ephesus burned in 262 A. D.

The Statue of Zeus at Olympus, destroyed in 408.

The Colossus of Rhodes, sold for junk in 653.

The Lighthouse of Pharos at Alexandria, fell in an earthquake in 1373.

The Mausoleum of Artemisia destroyed in 1402.

The Pyramid of Cheops, the only one of the "seven wonders" still in existence.

Such were the seven wonders of the ancient world. Many lists of modern wonders have been made, but a recent writer selects not the perishable works of man, but the discoveries and inventions which have revolutionized civilization.

He names the radio, the tele-spectrum analysis, x-rays and radium. Whether his list is the best that might be made or not, the wonders mentioned will survive as long as humanity exists.

a $6 a barrel Federal tax on this product. Maybe you like a movie; if so, you pay a Federal tax every time you buy a ticket. And there are many, many more of these taxes.

I am not attacking hidden taxes in this article. I am merely pointing out that many of us pay taxes 365 days out of the year and not only on March 15. Very few Americans escape paying taxes and this is the way it should be.

When W. V. Wilson of Kansas City, Mo., discovered the upholstery of his car was on fire, he drove into a fire station, explaining to the firemen, "It was too cold a night to make you fellows go out."

Be gentle, genteel, genuine and generous.

TVA will probably receive major attention at the next session of the Kentucky legislature. Under the law now no Kentucky city can contract for TVA power from either the Norris or Gilbertsville dam, because the regulations of the TVA virtually require that they be allowed to say how, when and where a city shall carry on its business of distributing electricity to its citizens and to itself for municipal purposes. TVA would have final authority on the establishment of rates, operation and installation of equipment. A state law passed in 1932, amended in 1936, gives the right of control, rates, distribution and management to a city utility commission of three members. A new law will have to be enacted by the state of Kentucky before any city in the state can obtain TVA service.

There has been considerable talk of Senator Barkley receiving the appointment to the U. S. Supreme Court to take McReynolds place when he retires in March. The appointment is uncertain, however, because Stanley Reed, a Kentuckian, is already on the court and Barkley's experience is political and not legal. Roosevelt likes Barkley a lot, though, and precedent and sectional representation in appointments influence the president very little. It is believed that if Barkley gets the appointment, the two Senators will be Donaldson and Chandler. The governor's race will likely be between Lawrence Hager of Owensboro, Tom Underwood of Lexington and Rhodes Myers of Bowling Green.

A California resident who was blind regained his sight after an accident, and two days later was blind again. "I don't care," he told friends. "In two days I saw everything and everybody worth looking at."

The New Hampshire legislature decided recently to repeal some old ordinances, including one providing a jail term for "a stubborn child, a stubborn servant or a common fiddler."

Mrs. Eleanor McCaul of Miami, petitioned the court to restrain her husband, Thomas, from visiting their dog, stating that he had never helped support it.

Be happy if you can, but do not despise those who are otherwise, for you know not their troubles.

Money Talks

By Frederick Stamm, Economist, Director of Adult Education, UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

One day a year millions of Americans are made conscious of the cost of government. That day is March 15 when personal income tax returns are due and payable. Most Americans are now figuring how much they owe and, in some cases, how they are going to pay it. To many, this will be a new experience for this year the exemptions were lowered from $1000 to $800 for the single person and from $2500 to $2000 for the married person.

In addition to the income tax, the national government has many "hidden" taxes which we pay every day of the year. These taxes produce two billion dollars yearly. Hidden taxes are added to the price of articles and too often we fail to realize we are paying them. For example, when we buy a ten cent package of cigarettes, we pay a 6 1-2 cent Federal tax. If a pack lasts two days, then we will buy 182 a year and pay a tax of $30.00.

This is a fairly large amount and I am sure that if the government taxed us each $30 once a year for the privilege of smoking we would all set up a howl. But when the tax is hidden and paid in small amounts the consumer does not squawk.

Or you may drive an automobile. The Federal tax is now 1 1-2 cents on each gallon of gasoline. Figure how much tax you pay this way. Or you may like a glass of beer occasionally. There is now

THIS one used to be a classic around the newspaper offices. A reporter who was covering the hotel news for his paper, gathering up gossip of new arrivals and the like, returned to the shop with a story.

"I butted into three traveling-men talking in the lobby," he said. "One of them, an underwear salesman said the hot weather had put him almost out of business. He acted like he wanted to cry about it." The other two listened to his complaint for a while. Then the second one said: "You've got no kick coming. Look at me, cheery and bright. I haven't made a sale since last February and yet here it is the middle of August." "Rotary snow-ploughs." Up to this point the third fellow hadn't said a word. Now he spoke up: "You fellows haven't got a kick coming. Why I haven't made a sale in five years." The other two turned on him: "What's your line?" They asked in chorus. "Suspension-bridges."

HELP FULTON

The editor of THE NEWS, like many of the people of Fulton, sometimes gets tired of reading about war, rumors of war, political intrigues and governmental problems, of hearing about the struggle between capital and labor and the manifold problems which beset the average individual.

We sometimes get tired of hearing about organizations, designed to promote this and that endeavor. We know enough about associations, working to stir up the people at so much per head, or to create emotional support for some proposition. In fact, there are so many organizations, associations and professional groups, devoted to various causes, that we yearn for the return of some old-fashioned individualism to promote a more self-reliant attitude in approaching life in all phases.

We Are Organized To Death

This may sound like a strange introduction, but it applies somewhat to conditions obtaining in Fulton county. We have here many organizations, intended to promote laudable enterprises, often in unselfish anticipation of the results. Nearly everybody belongs to some group or serves on some committee, charged with the responsibility of getting something done for some purpose.

We have about reached the conclusion that the population is organized to death. Regardless of what comes up, the cry is raised for an organization, with officers, committees and whatnot. Much energy is wasted in perfecting the group and pressure is put upon reluctant individuals to join the enterprise. By the time it gets organized, the impulse is dissipated and the results are often disappointing.

Avenue Open To Individuals

With these thoughts in mind, we wondered if there was not some avenue of activity open to individuals, permitted to conduct themselves along their own line, in the promotion of the general welfare of the people in this section. Certainly, an individual citizen, without organization and without funds is somewhat limited in accepting obligations, but there are many of us who must look to such a field for making our contribution to humanity at large, and the people of this section in particular.

The prime purpose of any association of human beings is to improve conditions of life. This is the motive that has resulted in great cities and the perpetuation of government throughout the world. In Fulton we have a number of families grouped together to obtain benefits and sharing.

through local government, the expenses involved.

Contribute To Humanity

Life, however, cannot be measured by the abundance of the things that individuals possess. In addition to the material blessings that bring convenience, there must be spiritual growth to promote fellowship. Neighborliness is not a one-man product and it can only thrive in a community where individuals are willing to accept the obligations of society and religion in connection with their association with other human beings.

The development of a friendly spirit among the people of this vicinity is an enterprise deserving the attention of all of us. It is an undertaking that requires wholehearted co-operation. There must be an intent on the part of good citizens to be helpful and sufficient intelligence to direct the impulse. Every man, woman and child within our borders can make a positive contribution to the promotion of good fellowship, true neighborliness and abiding friendship.

Not every individual can hope to come into contact with all the individuals who live here, but every citizen does come into contact with a limited number of his or her neighbors. Most of us in our daily contacts, are inclined to forget some of the niceties of culture, civilization and the practice of religious ethics.

Activity, Not Theories, Needed

None of us will impress our fellow-citizens in the best way unless we make a volitional effort to translate our inherent sympathy for human beings into definite and particular acts. You cannot be a good neighbor theoretically. Your warm impulses must become kindly acts of assistance, encouragement and kindness.

So, if today we were to set out an objective for the people of this community, we would urge every citizen to endeavor constantly as he, or she, goes about the daily businesses of life, to make a positive contribution to the promotion of human happiness.

Here is a field for individual activity that will richly repay everyone. The man or woman who shares his life with other men and women, all engaged in the same enterprise of living, will find that the more generously one gives of himself, or herself, the greater the honor and glory to crown life when one comes to the end of the road.

MAID OF COTTON, 1941

A story book wonderland opened recently for a pretty red-haired Alice, who until a few weeks ago never dreamed that she would be the year's most publicized model.

She is 20-year-old Alice Erle Beasley, daughter of cotton planter near La Grange, Tenn., who entered the contest on a dare and won the title of Maid of Cotton for 1941 in competition with many of the South's most attractive girls.

After her selection she was taken to New York for a course in modeling, and is now on a 50-day tour by air, during which she will appear as guest model in cotton fashion shows in some 20 cities from Dallas to Boston. Praising her fitness for her task, an expert says:

"Alice walks like Diana. Five feet eight inches tall and weighing 120 pounds, she has the slim grace of a born model. Her freckles and bright red hair make her stand out vividly, and her active outdoor life has given her a carriage to delight the stylists who have fitted her with the new cotton creations. The trip is all so new and wonderful to her that she is bubbling over."

Her sponsors on the tour, the National Cotton Council of America, the Memphis cotton carnival association, and the cotton exchanges of Memphis, New Orleans and New York, are betting on her to do the best selling job for cotton fashions in the three-year history of the Maid of Cotton promotion.

FARM NEWS

Continued improvement in demand for farm products indicated. Bureau of Agricultural Economics, in monthly analysis of demand and price situation, says though little change is expected in industrial activity and consumer income during the next few months, gradual improvement in 1941 in domestic demand for farm products is indicated.

Tentative plans for wheat quota referendum. Agricultural Adjustment Administration reports tentative plans for quota referendum among wheat growers May 31 approved by Secretary Wickard. Quota would become effective when announced and to continue through 1941-42 marketing year unless opposed by more than 1-3 of growers. Present estimates indicate 1941-42 wheat supply in excess of probable marketing quota level.

Commodity Credit Corporation reports on 1940-41 cotton loans. Through February $144,699,973 on 3,004,737 bales.

Prices of meat animals and livestock products advanced 2 per cent in 1940. Higher prices for livestock products offset small declines in prices for meat animals and work stock.

Farm Credit Administration reports farmers in 1940 obtained nearly 161,000 emergency crop and feed loans for $19,470,625, an increase of 15.4 per cent in number and 29.1 per cent in amount over 1939.

War cuts exports of U. S. crops but expands agricultural imports. In 1940 U. S. farm exports declined 21 per cent in value compared with 1939. Agricultural imports increased 15 per cent, though increase was entirely in products such as rubber, needed for national defense and not produced in the U. S. Foreign consumers unable to buy normal quantities of U. S. farm products because of shipping and credit difficulties. Farm exports in 1940 valued at $517,000,000 compared to $655,000,000 in 1939, most of decline being in last six months of 1940.

Record set in materials used for soil-building practices. Farmers obtained record amounts of materials for soil-building practices; ordering 3 1-4 million tons of liming materials, 177,000 tons of concentrated superphosphate, 38 million pounds of Austrian winter pea seed, 5 million pounds of hairy vetch seed, 510,000 of Italian rye grass seed, and 3 million seedling trees.

War influence seen in large pure bred livestock importations. 16 per cent more purebred livestock were certified for entry in the U. S. in 1940 than in any previous year. Increase is attributed in part of breeders' desire to prevent loss of pure stock through war.

Celluloid Collars and Cuffs
Being dressed up used to be much harder on us than it is now. For one thing, it was gross bad manners for a gentleman to be without a collar, and thin summer suits were not then the rule. Besides, thin underwear had not come in, either, so that when one was bundled up in his Sunday best, he was about the most wretched of mortals. To add insult to injury, there was the very stiff and high collar, starched to the stiffness of a piece of iron, that is, until the intense heat of the sufferer wilted the collar and allowed the starch to ooze delightfully down one's neck. To drive across several miles of dusty road on Sunday morning to get one's girl, then several more miles to church sit in public view and fan the girl until one got as hot as when cutting tobacco, my! what misery. If the weather was intense, you had no time to stop fanning the girl to wipe your own streaming face and head off a river of sweat making for the freshly laundered collar. When services were through so were you, a bedraggled thing, with a collar that looked like a poorly wrungout dishrag. And all the rest of the day, with dinner on the ground, you had to wear that abomination, which lost more and more of its respectable appearance. By the time the wet collar had gathered the dust of the miles back home, it looked more like a scrub rag than an ordinary dishrag. But society will hear no objections to its decrees; to be dressed up, one just had to wear a collar and a coat and all the rest of the hot clothes and feel humiliation. We had one man in Fidelity that I always envied on Sunday morning; he couldn't sweat, and though it was pretty hard on him when he got hot, most of the time when the rest of us were about to sweat, he sat as cool as a cucumber and did not wince when the preacher spoke of eternal hotness elsewhere.

AROUND TOWN

Smith Atkins, K. P. Dalton and H. H. Bugg, Fulton's spontaneous baseball fans, are as pleased as a speckled puppy over the new suits for the players this season. Fifteen have arrived from Detroit, of which the Fulton Tigers are proteges.

The parking and drinking situation is becoming a little mixed. A driver so drunk that he had no business being on the streets much less under a wheel, was seen trying to get his car out from a parking zone. He smashed into the car behind and crushed the radiator shield, then he pulled forward and crinkled a rear fender for the car ahead. Finally he got out. What happened later is not known.

Bob White, new president of the Chamber of Commerce, is a package of vitality. His abundance of pep and vigor bides well from the program to be carried out by the civic body this year. With all the fellows pitching in and working together for the good of the community, many worthy projects should be completed.

Hendon Wright, president of the Young Men's Business Club, retires soon at the semi-annual election of officers. Hendon has made a good leader of this organization, and his regime has been marked by unusual activity by the club. There has been a steady growth of co-operation and development of civic activities that speaks well of the officers and members of the organization.

Already there is quite a lot of talk around town about the next election. Several persons are being mentioned for various offices in both the county and municipal races. Competition for the office of sheriff and county judge is likely to prove most interesting. The mayor's and council's race in Fulton is stimulating interest, with indications that at least two men will make the mayor's race, and more than one ticket out for council.

Sport fans are beginning to wake up again to the baseball season, which is just ahead. Some of the cities having Kitty League teams have had little trouble getting ready this year. But, fortunately Fulton will be off to a good start, for the president and his aides have been playing baseball all winter. Plans and finances were well organized weeks ago. But, naturally, as the season progresses, there will be other problems to face. "Moon" Mullen, popular Kitty league pilot, will manage the Fulton club this year, and there is every indication that the local aggregation will make a better showing this year.

Work at the garment factory here has been steady during recent weeks, after a slack period caused by inability to obtain materials due to readjustments as a result of the speed-up necessitated by the defense program. At present about 400 employees are working. The annual payroll ranges in the neighborhood of $200,000 and $300,000. Plans are being discussed for another smaller addition to the stock room in the near future.

Nearly 5,000,000 people are on the public payroll, with $33,000 persons in the executive branch of the federal government alone. Think of it. And this excludes Congress and its employees, all federal judges, marshals, and clerks; everyone connected with the army and navy; all persons on relief; all farmers drawing subsidy checks; all contractors working for Uncle Sam; it excludes all employees of the 175,000 state, county, city, town and township governments which have the sovereign power to levy taxes. All told, and for all governments, for 1937-38, there were 3,788,616 persons employed by government and paid with tax money, not counting WPA workers and farm subsidies. In the past two years another million has been added to the public payrolls, to make it nearly 5,000,000 persons receiving their pay from taxation. Is it any wonder that the poor taxpayer gripes about taxes?

If somebody proclaimed the ultimate truth today, he would not live to see it accepted, even by the intelligent who seek it.

The human races owes most of its progress to the lives of obscure men and women, like the ordinary folks of Fulton.

Youngsters Need No Stimulants!

A born idiot has dignity, but one artificially created by alcohol has none, Angelo Patri wrote recently in a column for young people.

Writing for the Bell Syndicate, he said:
"The reforming of grown people never interests me. If we teach children what is good for them and do our best to protect them from evil we will not have too many adults to reform. That is why the cocktail hour that offers stimulating drinks to young people in their late 'teens and early 20's seems so dangerous to me."

"Young people are stimulated by the wine of youth. There is no drink as heady as that with which nature has stimulated them. It takes all they have to keep an even balance without taking on additional stimulation in the form of a cocktail.

Not A BEAUTY PARLOR

A W. C. T. U. Temperance Poster

"The afternoon gathering and the need for relaxation and gaiety are set in the day's routine by nature. Cocktails are not nature's way of relieving the situation and we who are in any way responsible for the welfare of young people should be quick to save the situation by providing the needful elements without falling back on stimulants."

"Music will help tremendously provided it is selected with an eye to its effect. Tea is a good stimulant. A good drink—tasty, sparkling, snappy—can be made by combining tea, fruit juices and ginger-ale. It can be lovely in color and when served in dainty glasses is quite as attractive as any cocktail. It will smell better and taste as good and it will do its work without robbing youth of its charm and its brains."

"A body without its mind is an awful sight, especially when that body is usually occupied by an intelligent, able mind. . . . It's an awful sight and one no young person would wish to imprint on friends' memories."

Drinking Women

Many thousands of women, in these post repeal years when drinking is temporarily fashionable to some, have climbed down off woman's age-old pedestal to clamber up on tavern bar stools.

Referring to this new drinking woman as Jane Barleycorn, the Anderson (South Carolina) Independent and Tribune wrote editorially:
"Her old father, John Barleycorn, has been widely known for many years. . . . 'Nobody' likes her. She makes an insufferable nuisance of herself. Her father, John, at least knows how to go about in dignity phase . . . he isn't as loud as he used to be."

"Jane Barleycorn, however, thinks it is smart to drink. . . . To Jane's mind since drinking is smart, to get drunk seems even smarter and to make a nuisance of herself is the top of sophistication."

"Old John Barleycorn should spank his daughter. . . . A lot of people would like to spank her."

Other writers, eyeing present conditions, have reminded women that early in the Middle Ages woman had achieved equality with men in business and social life. Then women invaded the taverns and went so far beyond men in embracing drunken and unsocial conduct that society revolted and built anew the restrictions which kept women imprisoned until the late Eighteenth Century.

Declaring "Temperance a Vital Need," the Sault Ste. Marie (Michigan) News editorialized:

"The most rabid anti-prohibitionist will not loudly contend that the present situation with regards to liquor is satisfactory or is conducive to the greatest advancement, morality and prosperity of the people of America."

"The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, first and most persistent of the foes of alcohol, performs a distinct service to its country in pointing out, without ceasing, that we cannot drink ourselves into prosperity or happiness or sound citizenship."

PRINTING THE NEWS

When to print a disagreeable story and when to leave one out of the paper is one of the most troublesome problems of a small-town editor. In the case of a person who is unfaithful to a public trust, or one who is guilty of serious crime, it is not difficult to decide, because the public interest as well as the public's right to have the news, demands that it be printed.

There are some cases, however, in which the offense is entirely of personal nature, and in which publishing the story would bring sorrow and embarrassment to innocent persons without serving any beneficial purpose. In these the making of a proper decision is often not easy. If the story is printed, relatives and friends of the person concerned will feel that it is unnecessary; if it is suppressed, the scandal-mongers will be disappointed, and many will insinuate that the editor was "bought off."

These same scandal-mongers would howl the loudest, however, if their own shady actions were held up to public gaze.

So it's hard to please everybody and no editor of sense tries to please everybody. He must let his own judgment and his own conscience be his guide.

If he errs on the side of kindness and sympathy for the unfortunate, his error will be forgiven by the more enlightened readers of his newspaper.

Everybody wants a government that can operate without taxation and give the people the benefits of modern times.

How can you expect government to solve the world's problems when it is impossible to enforce parking regulations?

Who can remember when it took all day to ride twenty miles to see a friend, who always invited you to spend the night?

People who mind their own business successfully are too busy to stick their noses in that of their neighbors.

PROMINENT BUSINESS WOMAN REGAINS 15 lbs.

Distress From Indigestion, Nervousness, and Muscular Pains Promptly Relieved. Mrs. James Says Retonga Worth Hundred Times Its Cost In Her Case.

"Nervous indigestion—gas on the stomach." Few people suffer greater misery than victims of this terrible affliction. Retonga has won the gratitude of hundreds of well known men and women by bringing them prompt relief from such suffering. For instance, Mrs. L. H. James, well known business woman of Crossville, Tenn., recently stated:

"Retonga was worth a hundred times its cost to me. I hardly see how I lived through the past several years. Food just seemed to lie in my stomach and sour and burn like acid, and gas would bloat me so bad that often I would almost gasp for every breath. I felt so nervous I was sometimes too restless to sleep, but just catnapped in a chair. I lost weight and strength till I could scarcely walk a block. I took purgatives every day for constipation. I had frequent splitting headaches, and I ached and hurt till often it didn't seem like I could stand it.

"Retonga brought such grand and prompt relief for these distresses that I could hardly believe it. Now I eat anything I want and I sleep fine. I have regained fourteen pounds and feel better than in years. I wish I could tell everybody suffering as I did about Retonga."

Retonga is a purely herbal stomachic medicine combined with Vitamin B-1 for strength, nerves and digestion. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at DeMyer Drug Co. —Adv.

Frequently in this column I have given credit to the splendid publicity given the subject of "Safety" by the American press.

I have just finished reading an article by Mr. Cy Douglass, bureau chief of The Associated Press in which he states that safety is big news.

Mr. Douglass goes on to say that safety is big because it is a vital factor in the daily lives of all citizens, motorists and pedestrians alike. Safety, therefore, has become a personal matter with us.

The American editors have seen fit to give safety equal consideration with the tremendous world news that finds its way to the front pages of our newspapers.

Safety is your problem and my problem. It belongs to us; it is a part of us; therefore, we should pay attention to safety requirements in our daily lives.

When your community can go a year without a fatality on its streets, that's not an accident—that's news.

It's smart to drive carefully.

What Mean These Things?

By E. A. Autrey, Pastor

Many people are asking today "What mean the unusual happenings throughout the world?" They realize that we are living in a critical period of time when almost anything could, and is, happening. The vast majority of people are indeed puzzled and bewildered, not knowing the meaning of present day events.

Many wonder if Dictatorship is to spread to all parts of the world and if many more millions of men will be compelled to give up their liberties and become Dictators' slaves, and if so, what will become of our loved and cherished institutions. They are asking if God's word gives any light on these tragic and peculiar days. I want to assure you in this article that these days are meaningful and that the Bible has plenty to say in this connection.

We are now approaching the end of the Age, not the end of the world for there is a vast difference between the end of the Age and the end of the world. The end of the Age will come first. Jesus will appear in the air, calling all Saints, both dead and alive, out of the earth. This will mark the end of the Age. The end of the world will not come until after the tribulation, the thousand years reign of Jesus and his saints upon earth and the battle of Armageddon, then comes the renovation of the earth with fire which marks the end of the world. Now all the peculiar happenings of the day point to the end of the Age.

First let us notice the happenings in the world:

1. The rise of Dictatorship.
2. World wide distress.
3. Wars and rumors of wars.
4. Pleasure made generation.
5. Materialistic minded men.
6. Lovers of self rather than God.
7. Heart failure from fear of events.

These are some things that are happening in the world today that the Bible says will happen near the end of the Age. So to all the people that wonder about these tragic and peculiar events remember that they are only the fulfillments of Prophecy.

There are some things happening in the Church, that are quite alarming, which many do not understand:

1. Denying God given faith.
2. Forsaking the God given commission.
3. So-called Christian scoffers.
4. Running after false "isms" that arise.
5. Seventy percent of Church pews empty.
6. Anti-God, antichurch, anti-Christian and anti-Christ opinions loose throughout the churches.

These are something that are happening in many churches today that God said would happen near the end of the Age.

Therefore, according to the signs of the world and in the church, we are approaching the return of our Lord to earth.

There are many signs among the Jews in Palestine that reminds us, that God will soon call "time out."

1. The Jew is persecuted almost everywhere in the world at this hour.
2. God is re-assembling them by the thousands in Palestine.
3. Palestine is being restored by the hand of God.
- A. The rainfall has doubled since 1860.
- B. The soil has become fertile and productive.
- C. Dead Sea has a deposit of minerals fourteen times the value of the U. S.

These signs are also predicted in Prophecy. God said they would occur near the end of this Age, and their happenings reminds us today, that the Gentiles' Age will soon be gone.

It behooves every Church to become active in proclaiming the Gospel and in the salvation of our time, realizing that our opportunity will soon be gone. It also reminds every sinner, out of Christ, that he or she should make peace with God immediately by accepting Jesus as a personal Savior, thus adequately preparing for the great and notable day that we feel is so near at hand.

SILO SIMPKINS SAYS

A great stimulant to courage is the knowledge that one's opponent won't fight.

The "in and out" never makes much out of the livestock business. Studies show that farm women walk from 10-12 miles daily while performing ordinary house-keeping tasks.

Is there a better way to teach a boy to raise crops or livestock than by letting him do it as a 4-H Club project?

It doesn't take a vivid imagination to see red clover and alfalfa in the lime and phosphate being spread by farmers this spring.

More than six million farmers, operating 82 per cent of the cropland in the U. S., participated in the AAA Farm Program last year.

The difference in prices received for choice lambs over good lambs would pay the taxes and purchase some much needed supplies on many Tennessee farms.

Too much hay and pasture is usually enough.

Lime and phosphate are the powder and lead in our soil defense program.

Idleness—idle men, idle land, idle mules, idle machinery—is a leading cause for idle bank books.

Spring oats seeding time is here. Columbia and Kanoto varieties are recommended for Tennessee. Seed 1½ bushels per acre.

Lespedeza offers new hope for "sorry" land. Seed Kobe, Korean, Tennessee 76, and Common during the month of March, using 25 lbs. per acre for a full stand or 5 lbs. to get a start.

For many years two peaks in the price of hogs have occurred annually, one in March or April, and the other in August or September. Advantage can be taken of these peak prices by having the hogs ready for market within 180 days or less from birth.

Among the atrocities of war are some of those sweaters which amateur knitters knit.

Anyway, three-year-olds do not bore us by telling of cute things their parents say and do.
