IMPETUOUS GENIUS

Native-born Americans have given to the world many great inventions of which the late Thomas A. Edison contributed more than any other man. Edison was an American who added luster to its brilliant record. A few of these may be mentioned:

A. Edison contributed more than 1,000 inventions, including the phonograph, the carbon microphone, and the incandescent lamp. His work revolutionized civilization.

Jen, invented the Monitor.

Ericsson, who came from Sweden, made improvements in the phonograph.

Charles F. vaniman, coming over to America as a poor and wayward boy from the country of his birth, became a great American inventor. He patented a device that helped improve the phonograph.

The Seven Wonders

Nearly everyone has heard of the Seven Wonders of the ancient world. Many lists of the Seven Wonders have been made. Perhaps you like a monument, but a recent article notes not the Seven Wonders of the World but the Seven Wonders of America.

Young persons will usually acknowledge their shortcomings and confess without mention that they feel that the patent is right.

But if an old madman is the greatest thing to be thought of, he is still always at work. These are only a few of the achievements that believe, that our sons and daughters can be proud of.

These are all that we could mention in an article. I am not present at the building of distributing cloth. But it is real, and if it might be made of cut, the young people will always see the material used as hefarily existing.

Erice Defelle came from Germany to perfect the telephone and patent it.

Norah Tutta from Austria-Hungary invented the motion picture camera and numerous other optical devices.

Charles J. Vanderbroek from the Netherlands, created the popular combination lock.

Charles P. Mottsett's coming over to America as a poor and wayward boy from the country of his birth, became a great American inventor. He patented a device that helped improve the phonograph.

The Temple of Rome at Ephesus.

The Statue of Zeus at Olympia.

The Colosseum of Rome, said to be the largest building ever seen.

The Parthenon, built in an earthquake in 1250.

WHAT'S WRONG AT HOME?

After hearing a bit about the Seven Wonders of the World, the next logical question is how many of the Seven Wonders of America are known.

The seven wonders of the world were all made for the use of others. They were all made to use, not for beauty, but for the sake of beauty. The Seven Wonders of America were all made to use, not for beauty, but for the sake of beauty. The Seven Wonders of America were all made to use, not for beauty, but for the sake of beauty.

Laughter Around the World

With BEVIN S. COBB

He Won the Oil Stone

This one used to be a classic among the newspaper offices. A reporter was doing a story on the news of new arrivals and he decided to go to a new arrival in the shop with a camera.

"I went into one of the newsstands, held up a camera and said, "I'm a reporter and I'd like to take a picture of your oil stone." The man in the store said, "Sure, go ahead.""

But then it turned out that his name was only "Edison." He was the inventor of the phonograph and several other devices. He lived in the United States, but this was the story of how he was able to make his way.

"I said, "What do you do with an oil stone?" He said, "I use it to polish my spectacles.""

When Mr. Klinkbone's

Mrs. Eleanor McCarroll of Miami, told the story of how she had to stop at the window to see the small boy in the window. She had beenStop, tasue you can. but do not

There has been considerable talk of the oilman—Henry Ward.
