YESTERDAY was the day when the club was to start its season. The games had been postponed because of the wet weather, but now that the weather was dry, the players were eager to get started. The club was located in a small town, and the players were from various parts of the town. They were all good friends and enjoyed each other's company. The games were played under the watchful eye of the local officials, who kept an eye on the players to ensure that they were following the rules. The team was divided into two groups, and each group played against the other in a series of matches. The team that won the most games would be the winners of the season. The players were all excited to get started and were looking forward to a fun and competitive season.

Feminine Woman

"A woman," observed the spokesman, the higher, pur-sounding man, who didn't look as if he had the slightest hesitation in saying what he thought, "is the life of her and the soul of her husband," and that she was the one who really made the man. And he was a man of the right kind, who was interested in his partner, and who had the patience and understanding of the kind that would make the marriage a success.**

SLANDERS AGAINST SOUTHERN PEOPLE GIVEN THE LIE

The following appeared in the Chicago Chronicle on Saturday, Sept. 8:

In an editorial of the Chronicle he states "the lie that today every man in the north is a drunken, profane, immoral, debased and degraded beast, that every woman in the north is a floozey, and that every Negro in the north is a mongrel, that every Southern man is a lying, cheating, stealing, knavish, emasculated, effeminate, corpulent, cowardly, dissolute, degraded, obscene, depraved, immoral, animal, that the negro is a darling, sweet, innocent, chaste, gentle, pure, refined, and beautiful woman, that the Southern fathers are all foolish, unprincipled, unmanly, licentious, and that the Southern children are all of a very low class, are statements that are so base, so low, and so baseless and without warrant that they should be denounced with contempt and scorn.

This is a lie and the Chronicle is a lie. This is not true and the Chronicle is not true. The Chronicle is a lie, and so is the lie that it is telling.
