181 Courses in 13 Departments to Be Offered in Two Sections

EXPECT ENROLLMENT TO BE AT NEW HIGH

One hundred eighty-one courses in 13 departments are listed for the summer session which opens for a 10-week term June 10. Dr. J. W. Carr, president, announced today.

The regular faculty will be in charge during the summer session, the president asserted, pointing out the fact that the session is divided into two terms of five weeks each. The first term begins with registration on June 10 and closes July 15, while the last half opens July 15 and ends August 17.

Although the complete schedule has not been published, the tentative program lists the following departments and corresponding number of courses offered: agriculture 4, art 5, biology 5, commerce 13, education 16, English (including journalism and public speaking) 18, foreign languages 12, geography 7, health education 21, home economics 8, music 28, physical sciences 16, social science 10. Other courses may be added to suit the needs of the students. The total cost for attending the entire 10 weeks, including room and board at the dormitories, incidental fees, books, and sundry expenses should not be more than $88, officials have estimated. Where students secure rooms for light housekeeping, or obtain work for their expenses, the total cost for attending may be reduced to a very few dollars.

J. W. Cannon, of Buchanan, Is Dead

J. W. Cannon, 75 years old, of Buchanan, one of the leading citizens of Henry county and for 40 years a prominent merchant, died Sunday at his home there after a brief illness of pneumonia. Moonshine To Be Poured Out Friday at 2 P. M.

Moonshine whiskey in a lot of over 200 gallons will be poured out Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the nearest sewer to the courthouse—wherever that is.

All whiskey cases before the court have been settled and all of the liquor held as evidence is now of no account to the court. Judge Phillips ordered it poured out Friday. All of the liquor taken by Sheriff King and deputies since Sheriff King's case into office is stored in the vault in the office. This amount represents only the liquor brought in for evidence and not the total amount taken for much was confiscated at the site of capture.

Calloway Democrats in Throng to Hear Gen. Hugh Johnson

Calloway county was liberally represented at the meeting in Mayfield Monday night at which Gen. Hugh Johnson, former NRA administrator was the chief speaker. The rally, sponsored by the Young Democratic Club of Graves county, and receiving the support and cooperation of all Young Democratic Clubs of the Purchase was attended by a crowd estimated at 7,500. An outdoor meeting on the court square was changed by threatening weather to the huge tobacco barn on 12th street.

It seemed that every living person who ever held office in Kentucky, every person who now holds an office in the Commonwealth and every person ambitious to hold a political job, elective or appointive, from constable to Governor was in the huge throng that filled the lobby, along the streets and in the huge warehouse. It was a mighty and diverse crowd, like, as the poet said:

"Shapes of all sorts and sizes,
Gravels of all colors,
That stood along the floor
And by the wall,
And some loquacious vessels were
And some listened, perhaps,
But never talked at all."

The General's speech was a jumble of state to many it appeared nothing more than a re-hash of his past addresses and magazine articles. He spoke for 50 minutes and was warmly applauded. Judge Bunk Gardner, former R.F.C. counsel and recently appointed U. S. district attorney, eloquently introduced the county general who is today one of the nation's outstanding characters. Only a few notable were presented.

The little city of Mayfield was filled with candidates for state and district offices but there was particularly active among the aspirants for the Democratic nomination for railroad commissioner. Three of the candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor were present; Tom Rhea, Russellville; Lieut.-Gov. Dr. Outland and Miss Irvin will be at the meeting to check on eligible boys and girls. The county agent can take six to Junior Week, of which three must be boys. Be sure to attend and see if you are healthy enough to make this trip. The meetings are as follows:

We Go to Press at 10 a. m. Thursday

Last Thursday morning, after the paper had been locked up and put on the press, we had four persons to ask us about getting an article or an item in that edition.

It seems to be not generally known that the Ledger & Times goes to press Thursday morning around 10 o'clock and not after dinner or in the evening.

The city delivery in Murray goes out early after noon and in order to make this delivery we must have the press started by 10 o'clock in the morning.

After all matter for publication has been received, it takes at least an hour or more to get it in type, proofed, corrected, in the form and the form justified. Please co-operate with us by getting your copy in early or telling us in ample time if you wish to get anything in the paper.

MASON HOSPITAL IS HOST SUNDAY

Plan Short Program of Music and Talks on County House Square; Public Invited.

In harmony with the announcements made in all the churches in Murray last Sunday, the Mason Hospital will observe Hospital Day next Sunday, May 12, instead of the thirteenth as stated in last week's Ledger & Times. The fact that President Roosevelt and Governor Laffoon have made proclamations designating May 12 as National Hospital day and by a happy coincidence of Hospital Day and Mother's Day coming on the same date, it has been thought best to celebrate this day by an appropriate religious service.

A short program of appropriate music, words of appreciation by several of the ministers and business men of Murray will be given in an open air meeting on the square in front of the present hospital location.

The event will be held at 2 o'clock and music will be by the college orchestra. A cordial invitation is extended to every one to attend. As the mailing lists of the hospital were destroyed in the recent fire, it is impossible for the hospital staff to send out personal invitations as in the past. Announcement of the observance of this service can only be given through the newspapers and churches of this territory. Former patients, friends, and townspeople are expected to attend this service from a wide area of western Kentucky and Tennessee, as well as from across the rivers and as far north as southern Illinois.

At the close of this Hospital Day program opportunity will be given every one to inspect the rooms and departments of the hospital. Services will begin at 2:30 p. m. and the hospital will be open for inspection until 6 p. m.

Civil War Fort Was Built Here—No Battle Fought

A Civil War Fort was built in Murray during the fighting between the North and South but no battle was held here, B. F. Schroeder states. The fort, built by Yankees, was located on South Fourth street on the hill just South of the present site of the Murray Consumers.

Residents nearby prepared to move their homes to be out of the expected battle but without notice or ado the troops moved away and no battle was fought. Little sign was left by the troops as intrenchments were shallow and their occupation was short.

Only a few Murray residents know this fact. Mr. Schroeder stated and although little Civil War history was made here, it has historical interest.

EX-LOCAL WOMAN SLAIN BY HUSBAND

Latter Then Commits Suicide, in Texas; Ill Health, Reverses, Said to Be Causes

Mrs. Charles M. Leake, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Farmer, near Hazel, Calloway county, was slain by her husband who then committed suicide in Texas, near San Antonio, Tuesday. Mrs. Farmer was 40 and her husband, a former Paducah employe, was 45. Ill health and business reverses were given as the causes of the tragedy.

Justice of the Peace W. K. Shipman returned a verdict of suicide by gunshot in Leake's case. In the death certificate for Mrs. Leake there was the entry "murdered."

"Don't blame anyone for this," said a note left by Mrs. Leake. In a letter left by Leake, Mrs. Leake's ill health was given as a motive. The couple asked that officers notify Bryan House, a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Leake, R. F. Farmer of Hazel, Ky., and John M. Taylor of the Southern Literary Institute, whose organization was associated with Leake's printing establishment.

Leake, a native of Paducah, Ky., came to San Antonio about 15 years ago and was employed by various printing establishments. Last August he formed the printing company.

Associates said he went to the office Monday morning and found Leake, a native of Paducah, Ky., who has been engaged in the oil business in the Laredo area recently, arrived unexpectedly at noon with his bride of five months.

The son, Charles M. Leake, Jr., who has been engaged in the oil business in the Laredo area recently, arrived unexpectedly at noon with his bride of five months. The son said the elder Leake explained he was making preparations to take Mrs. Leake to see an oculist and would be back later. When the parents failed to return the young couple instituted a search.

The notes were found in a desk. Leake's body, in a sitting posture, was behind the steering wheel of his motor car, with his left arm hanging outside the door and his right hand in his lap. The grip of a 32 caliber revolver lay in the palm of his right hand. Two cartridges had been discharged and between them was a cartridge which had been "snapped." There were three other unexploded cartridges in the chamber. Leake was shot through the right temple.

The body of Mrs. Leake, her heavy pierce by a bullet like caliber, was slumped in the rear seat of the car. The car was parked on the side of the narrow lane. Mrs. Charles S. Livingston discovered the bodies at 9:25 a. m. today. She said she and her 18 months old son had gone for a drive along the scenic lane.

There will probably be a short Mother's Day program at Pleasant Grove Sunday morning immediately following Sunday School. Those who find it convenient please bring flowers.

Keys-Houston Clinic-Hospital To Observe Hospital Day May 12

On May 12, 1921, the American Hospital Association established Hospital Day to commemorate the birth of Florence Nightingale and to call to the attention of the public the great service that hospitals render humanity. All medical men and nurses know the life story of Florence Nightingale and the many hardships she encountered in the establishing of the modern system of nursing.

The President of the United States, the governor of Kentucky, and the American Hospital Association have designated May 12, 1935, as Hospital Day. It falls on Sunday this year. This seems fitting as we can observe the Holy

Day and also commemorate the founding of a Christian service, the modern nursing movement. May it be remembered that Jesus Christ had as one of his objects in life to heal sickness and alleviate suffering.

The staff of the Keys-Houston Clinic-Hospital wishes May 12, 1935, observed with dignity and reverence in message of the Christian service rendered by Florence Nightingale, a person whose life was a perfect example of service without consideration for personal glorification. After a life of noble service, the offer of a burial in Westminster Abbey was declined. She left directions that her burial be of the simplest. She was buried beside her father and mother in the little country church-yard near Ebury. Her monument bears the simple inscription:

May 12, 1820
Aug. 13, 1910

The Keys-Houston Clinic-Hospital wishes to inform the public that it will observe Hospital Day next Sunday, May 12. The Clinic-Hospital will be open from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m. and the medical and nursing staffs welcome all who wish to visit the hospital. By your visit we trust you will better acquaint yourself with the services a well equipped modern hospital is able to render humanity.

Florence Nightingale

Florence Nightingale was born in Florence, Italy, May 12, 1829. She was the child of well-to-do English people and was born while her parents were touring on the continent and was named after her Italian birthplace. Miss Nightingale was always serious minded. While not strictly beautiful, she was remarkable for grace of figure and movement, for a shapely head, a sweet voice and the air of a woman of unaffected high breed.

ing. In repose her features expressed great reserve and self control—there was a certain aloofness. On serious observers, she produced an impression of unusual calm and intelligence and her talk was clever and amusing when she was "tempted to shine in society."

Miss Nightingale had an unusual good and stimulating general education for a girl of her time.

At the age of 17 she was taken abroad and traveled through France, northern Italy, Switzerland, and Geneva. A few years later she spent a winter in Egypt, the spring in Greece and several months in Germany. During her travels she always visited hospitals, watched the famous surgical methods at work and studied the methods of nursing employed in the different countries.

Miss Nightingale's heart and thoughts from early childhood were occupied with religious inclinations. She was early obsessed with the longing to bring relief and comfort to the suffering world. Her first living patient was a shepherd's dog. As she grew older the purpose of caring for the sick and grew more and more fixed. Great difficulties stood in her way of becoming a nurse. The objections were made on moral and social grounds as the work was, at that time, considered unworthy of an educated woman. Her parents strongly opposed her in her desire to nurse.

It was not until the Crimean War (1854-56) that Miss Nightingale got her great opportunity. She was placed by the British government at the head of a unit of forty women nurses whom she took to Crimea. This unusual expedition excited lively interest as the employment of women nurses was entirely novel in this country, as was indeed the placing of a woman in any position of public responsibility except the throne. By the end of the war Miss Nightingale had under her supervision 125 nurses. By this work she had broken down a "Chinese Wall" of prejudice with regard to occupation of women as nurses but nothing permanent had been established. Her work during the war on sanitary and administrative reforms had been useful lessons. She led in the clean-up of hospitals, making wholesome habits of the noxious, pestilential pens of agony, for sick and wounded soldiers, who so loved this gentlewoman, that they affectionately called her "The Lady of the Lamp," and it is said, kissed her shadow as she passed their beds of pain at night.

She collaborated with such men as Lister, Cohn and Parkes on sanitary science. The result was her wonderful program on sanitation and hygiene for the English Army in India, for which work she was called the Health Missionary for India. Her work with the English Government on plans for hospitals and Military Reform is one of her greatest achievements.

At this time she wrote "Notes on Nursing," which is the most remarkable of her works and the least known. The enthusiasm aroused in England by Miss Nightingale's labors was indescribable. In recognition of her services to the British Soldiers in a war on Turkish soil, England ordered a Man-of-War to bring her home and London prepared to give her a triumphant reception, but she preferred to return quietly in a French ship, crossed to England and escaped to her country home before the news of her return could leak out. In 1907 she received the "Order of Merit" from King Edward VII.

After the Crimean War Miss Nightingale established "The Nightingale School for Nurses" with funds known as the "Nightingale Fund" raised by her loyal friends in appreciation of her work in the war. She described her training school thus: "The training school is the home—a place of moral, religious and practical training—a place for training of character, habits, intelligence, as well as nursing." At this time she wrote "Notes on Nursing," a treatise on nursing and the best known of her works. She was officially consulted during the American Civil War.

She is the subject of a beautiful poem by Longfellow—"Santa Filomena," and the popular estimate of her character and mission should be of the simplest. She was buried beside her father and mother in the little country churchyard near Embly, and her monument bears the simple inscription:

For Mother's Day

What could I wish for mothers, My mother, on this day of the year.

The mothers deserve the best. I could wish them sudden riches, Or social success and power, Or that a dip in the fountain of youth.

Might wash away age for the hour. But, no, I would have them contented, Yet motherly old and gray, And not a line from a dear soft face.

Would I wish to have vanish away. But I would wish that all the mothers Could stand and the past proudly view.

And be able to say from the depths of her heart That all of her dreams had come true.

I would wish that not one fallen castle Should litter the travelled way, And that not one thought of a blasted hope

Mother's Day

Hanging moods and passing fancies Mark the course of mortal life. Friendship rare and passion tender Come and go midst cheer and strife.

Yet one emotion lives Eternally. Changeless, endless, pure, sublime, The Mother's love, divine, supernatural, That spells devotion 'till end of time.

The love you gave to lead my life Through ways more full and fine and true Has grown within my heart and now Returns a thousand fold to you.

Wheat Restriction Clause Modified in Corn-hog Contract

The growing of excess wheat is no longer controlled in the AAA corn-hog contract, the College of Agriculture has been informed from Washington. Farmers who signed a corn-hog contract last year and who planted more wheat than they were permitted to harvest under its terms, may now do as they like with this excess wheat without violating their corn-hog contract.

It should be remembered, says the College's statement, that the corn-hog and wheat contracts are independent of each other and that the provisions of the other, according to a farmer who has signed both a corn-hog and a wheat contract should, be planning that his wheat contract permits the harvesting of excess wheat only if he signs a supplementary contract in which he agrees to increase his 1936 reduction to correspond to his excess harvesting this year.

J. J. Moore Cuts Action of Wife Beating Hambone

Hambone is getting a deserved or undeserved beating from a rolling pin in the hand of his wife in a clever wood carving made by J. J. Moore. The device has a 4-blade propeller which operates it in a modest breeze.

The carving is about a foot long and perfect in every detail. It was accomplished by Mr. Moore, now retired but in his time one of Murray's best carpenters, in just a few hours. The colored gentleman taking the rolling-pin lacing from the mammy is unmistakably Hambone, the famous character created by the late J. P. Alley of the Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

CHILDREN EAGER FOR BLUE RIBBONS

Time Extended Until Last of May; Mrs. Helm's Class Makes Good Showing

Children of the Murray High School and the Murray Training School are working eagerly to secure blue ribbons. The blue ribbon awards are usually given on May 1, but the interest of the children has prompted Dr. J. A. Outland to extend the time until the last of May. In the work accomplished to date, the Murray High School has some 82 eligible for blue ribbons and the Murray Training School has 53.

Sixth Grade Good
The sixth grade of the Training School was in good shape on the first inspection with sixteen eligible for blue ribbons. The grade is under the supervision of Miss Emma Helm and Miss Helm has an inspection of the children daily by a student inspector. The class could become 100 per cent with the exception of probably one student.

Call on Dentists

The children are calling on dentists this week as this is one of the greatest evils in the getting of a blue ribbon. Reports are that they are rushing dentists in an effort to get these faults corrected.

Children of the county are asked to call at the office of Dr. J. A. Outland on Saturdays to receive their blue ribbons. Children in the city who have not been inspected or who have not registered are asked to come to the office of the county health department on Saturdays.

A May day program was held at the Murray High School last Wednesday and blue ribbons were presented to a number. Dr. H. M. McElrath spoke to the group.

DESTROY STILL

Sheriff Carl King and Deputy J. I. Fox and Albert Parker destroyed a still early Monday morning located in the northeast part of the county about four miles east of Elm Grove church. The still was secreted in a woods almost a mile from the highway. No liquor was taken but two barrels of mash were destroyed.

The outfit was one of the cheapest construction destroyed in the county, officers said. Steel was used in many parts which should have been copper and only necessities of distilling were present.

Whitley county farmers hauled 200 tons of limestone from Mt. Vernon in Rockcastle county for use on pastures.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dill are the proud parents of a baby girl. The infant has been named Ronetta. Misses Rebecca Cook and Hosen Barrow motored to Murray Wednesday.

Woodrow Dill of Murray college spent the week end at home.

Jackson's Youngest Pastor

Although young in years, the Rev. W. Q. Scruggs, 23, pastor of the Highland Heights Methodist Church, is old in experience since he has been preaching for the past six years with marked success. He came to the Highland Heights Methodist Church in November, 1933, and his work there has been outstanding, according to members of the official board of the church.

Highland Heights is one of this city's most active suburban congregations and the members worship in a modern and well equipped church building erected only a few years ago.

Rev. Mr. Scruggs attended public school at Hazel, Ky., then at Murray State College and then the Junior College at Martin before coming to Lambuth College in this city. While in Lambuth College he made a splendid record and was selected as president of the Ministerial Brotherhood of the college.

His first appointment in the Memphis Conference was at Shiloh Battle Ground where he preached for three years, his next was a station charge near Martin and from there he went to Troy and Rives.

A number of members have been added at Highland Heights during his ministry there and the work of the church extended along all lines. The church at this time is engaged in a revival campaign of interest with large congregations attending the services twice each day—Jackson, (Tenn.) Sun.

C. D. Vinson Jr., is spending the week with his grandfather, G. T. Nolin of Tharp, Tenn.

Paul Dill, who has secured work at Murray, is planning to move his family there soon.

The Christian Endeavor and young people of this community are giving a Mother's Day program second Sunday night in May. Everyone is invited to come and be with us.

Mrs. Ida Barrett is spending this week with her son George Barrett, and family of Byrd's Creek.

Solon Barrett, who has been attending Falks Business College, Nashville, Tenn., has secured work as bookkeeper for the Firestone Tire Company. We wish for him great success.—Topsy.

CITY TO APPEAL MOVIE HEARING

Vote to Take Case to Court of Appeals Friday; Vote Two Amending Ordinances.

The Murray City council voted to appeal the hearing of the case the City of Murray vs. the Columbia Amusement Co., in regard to the showing of Sunday movies in Murray. The decision was given by Circuit Judge Ira D. Smith in the November term of court that the city could not prohibit the showing unless the city showed that the showing contributed to disorder, disturbing of peace or worship or to be a nuisance.

The council also voted two amending ordinances adding to scope of present city laws. The first-amended regulation of occupation and privilege taxes and extended same to include tax on sale of beer both wholesale and retail, paint and paper stores, grocery and meat market combined, automobile passenger, coal retailers, bakeries. The second amended the regulations of building within the fire zone and the principal provision was to include the firm, worker or contractor of the building or repair in liability in the violation of present ordinance regarding proper building and roofing materials in this zone. Heretofore only the owner was liable in case of conviction for violation. Repairs may be made to a shingle roof but a new roof entirely of wood shingles cannot be built in Murray. Five clauses set forth the new regulations and a fine of not less than $5 or more than $15 was set for each offense.

PARIS GETS T. V. A. SURVEYING OFFICE

Locating Party Will Mark Contour Lines for Lake, Paris Paper Says.

(Paris Post-Intelligencer)
Henry Pittman, part chief in charge of surveying the contour lines for Aurora dam on the Tennessee river for TVA stated today that a building has been rented from Sam Jones, local business man, and offices was opened here on Wednesday of this week.

The work the surveyors are doing at this time consists of marking the contour lines for the lake which will be formed by the dam and a means of determining what lands the government will have to take over for overflow.

Options on river lands to be affected by building the dam are held by the Southern Utilities Co., a private concern which has entered a claim against the government for expense of obtaining them and also for other expenses involved in establishing Aurora Landing as a suitable dam site, and a hearing on this claim is said to be scheduled before the Federal Trade Commission on Wednesday, May 8.

It is understood that only a limited number of the applicants for jobs who took the examination last year will be given employment at this time, but if the same system is used here that prevailed at Pickwick most of those eligible will be put on when actual construction is begun.

The Young Men's Democratic Club of Calloway County started off with their re-organization at their meeting Friday night with an attendance from every magisterial district and a representative group of young voters which named M. O. Wraether, county superintendent, to lead them until the election in November.

Wraether won over Wells Overbey in the presidential voting and Overbey was named secretary-treasurer over MacThomas Tarry, Dexter. The meeting opened with M. O. Wraether as temporary chairman and the purposes of the club were explained and the constitution read and adopted.

Three vice-presidents were named: Owen Billington, Claude Miller and Jack Kelley. A board of directors composed of seven, one from each magisterial district elected by representatives from the respective districts were: Wells Purdon, Murray; Charley Denham, Hazel; Rex Watson, Brinkley; Guy Billington, Liberty; Luck Burt, Swann; Mac Thomas Tarry, Wadesboro; Cleo Grogan, Concord.

The board of directors will meet Friday night, May 10, to name precinct committeemen with an organization to reach each of the 23 voting precincts in the county. This organization will be more complete than any had by the club heretofore.

The next meeting of the club will be Friday night, May 17. With the naming of the precinct committeemen and the work being done by the board of directors and officers an excellent attendance is expected. No program for the meeting has been announced.

RALPH'S RANGLES

With a cold, North wind sailing across the Murray Municipal Softball park last Friday night it would ordinarily seem that everything would be "cool" on the day and calm foot-paths of the base lines of the newly acquired sport of Murray. However age-old traditions were swept aside by the treacherous and mighty sounds of the terrific gale which fell upon the ears of the staunch and brave few that bravely battled the cold winds. The "holly" few were brought to their feet as lightning like flashes in the form of "Thy fellow baserunner shall not pass thy fellowman," which, in a flash of an eye, was lifted skyward and rolled and groaned, reaching higher and higher notes that were wafted on in a great crescendo that "het" things up to a "biling" point even though the mercury was hovering down around the freezing mark.

The above scene recalled to my memory a little episode that happened last year in a neighboring city, it too, being on the softball diamond. A certain young man, that is constantly telling the youth of western Kentucky the keynotes in sportsmanship and etc., (who by the way was a member of one of the clubs) suddenly became enraged and was transformed into a roaring demon and

I readily agreed that diversified farming paid off in a big way and with a twinkle in his eye he bid me good day. After he left me I wondered if I was a "sucker" or if I had just been "hooked."

When June rolls around I am going down to look over his diversified program.

CAMP MURRAY CHATTERS

By Wm. H. Martin, Jr.

The newer members of the company having been "conditioned" and outfitted began their field work Monday. Once more the work crews are normal size and routine seems to rule.

Quite a few of the recent replacements have enrolled for work in the educational program. Elementary courses and business classes are the most popular and several have applied to be enrolled in the fall typing course.

The Rev. O. A. Marrs of the Methodist church, opened the month's program of morning worship. Attendance was above the average. Music was under the direction of Gene Boyd.

Lieut. R. E. Smith, camp commander, and family departed for a few days leave to their home in Owensville, Indiana and Lieut. A. G. Shipley, camp adjutant, has assumed temporary command.

The Camp Murray Cubs are scheduled to meet their old rivals, Columbus, here Sunday. Practice has been curtailed for the last few days on account of other uses of the gymnasium. The Cubs, with Williams catching and Cunningham and Brown on the pitching staff, are hopeful of another winning team this season. The Cubs met the Murray High School in a lively practice tilt last week. Foreman Conrad Glens will coach the Cubs this year.

Ray Kuykendall's softball team will also meet Columbus on this date. This organization has been at steady practice for the last two weeks when the weather permitted.

The name of this column is to have a double meaning in camp journalism. An editorial staff composed of Charles Fugazzi, Edward James, Melvin Drelis, Walter McIntosh and A. J. Carlisle has been faithfully at work for the past week in order that Camp Murray's newspaper may go to the press Friday.

DIME LETTER DAY

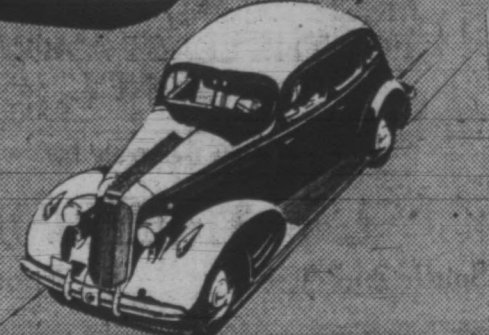

Monday was dime letter day evidently in Murray—as the first reports of any came Monday and several were known to have received them. And it seems that the promoters' nerves are strengthening as two were known to have received one with the ante raised to a dollar.

No doubt the dime racket works much better as the thought comes to the average mind is, "well a dime isn't worth much and I might cash in." Statements by Murray receivers indicated that they were being poorly received. They ask you to spend three cents and return the letter if you don't want to play ball. A question asked was how the promoter ever got hold of the money. A question to be asked is how the contributor can get hold of any.

Dime-Me, Gim'me

"Brother, can you spare a dime?" has been controverted into "Brother, will you send a dime?"

From the four corners of the earth there have been swirling for the past few days a swarm of letters sent "in the hopes that it will bring PROSPERITY to you."

The scheme is too well known to its many recipients, which includes about every person with a known postal address, to need any explanation.

The "send-a-dime" chain letter idea is simply a gambling proposition without any special "take-out" except the postage which goes to assist Gen. Jim Farley in his ambition to wipe out the annual postal deficit caused principally by the never-ending stream of flotsam and jetsam from Washington and Federal bureaus that goes under the general title of "franked mail."

Nobody will get any more dimes than somebody sends. For every dime you or anybody else gets, somebody sends it. When all the books are balanced, some have lost and some have gained and the total of the losses and the aggregate of the gains balance absolutely.

The beginner probably have profited. It's too late to get into the game now. An unbroken chain is figured to bring the instigator a total of $1,500-odd dollars but a single break in the chain plays havoc with the mathematics. Several darn near ruin the total.

There's no point in arguing the legality of the chain "send-a-dime" letters for no one appears to give much a hoot about the legality of that or anything else. The only argument we have in suggesting that you throw all such letters in the wastebasket is that you'll probably send out more dimes than you get in return.

But it's your money and if you choose to send your dimes to an utter stranger it's no business of ours and we have no complaint to make.

"Brother, can you spare a dime?"

JUST JOTS

By Joe

Our neighboring state of Tennessee, some odd things it refuses to legalize and tax liquor when the state is overwhelmingly in debt and its citizens are helping its neighbors which have liquor pay their obligations by swarming over the borders in hordes to buy hard drink. And then, the legislature repealed its modern marriage law, so that now a girl of 12 and a boy of 14 may again be legally married in Tennessee.

Politics is so dirty because so many dirty people dabble in it.

And people make politics dirty instead of politics making people dirty.

As commander of the Murray Post of The American Legion I feel that an explanation is due some concerning the appearance of the Wallace Shows in Murray last week under the auspices of The Legion when there were so many local attractions at the same time. When the carnival was booked, back during the winter, the Legion did not know that Music Week at the college, softball games and other attractions had been scheduled. The show was coming to Murray anyhow and the mere fact that the Legion gave the carnival its auspices did not bring the show here as a counter attraction to anything else. The show would have been in competition to other events whether or not. The American Legion had anything to do with it.

State Tax Problem

The report from the State Examiner and Inspector show an increased indebtedness of the state since the sales tax started last July of $2,622,421.38. The amount collected from sales tax to date, (10 months) is $7,145,551.78.

The sales tax was a new tax from a new source for revenue collected from the poor and those who have only small incomes and from children who buy candy and other childish presents, often paying 10 per cent or $10.00 on the one hundred dollars spent while large interests, rail roads, utilities, distilleries and others pay only five cents on the hundred dollars and do not buy at retail.

Who voted to place this burden upon you? Not I. Who has a right to criticize this more than one who fought to prevent it.

Who prevented many students from entering college? The cost of sales tax to the family.

Who caused business to leave the state? The ones who voted for the law.

Real estate was relieved of $3,500,000—not the farmer because he has to buy at retail—but the distilleries and whiskey interests who do not buy at retail were saved $5,000,000; other interests, amusement and etc., were saved $2,500,000. These three items would equal sales tax.

Who are responsible for this reckless expenditure of the tax payers money? Not us fellows who wanted to place the burden on whiskey and non-essentials.

HOTEL SEELBACH Fourth & Walnut Sts. My Old Kentucky Home in LOUISVILLE leave one afternoon last week and I was reminded of other spring-times and those good old horse and buggy days when people took time to live.

I was made to wonder recently if the Good Samaritan had had a car would his story have been the same. I had heard a sad story of a poor man and his two orphan daughters and I had hoped that sometime I might have the opportunity of meeting them and helping them somehow. Then one day we were going to Dover and just as we swiftly rounded a curve we passed three people trudging along, and before we could stop we were out of sight around another curve. My conscience hurt me then when I learned that I had passed up my first opportunity to give the man and his daughters a lift, but when two hours later I returned and met them still trudging on wearily I knew not how far, I was miserable with remorse. Hambone said, "The sermons that do us most good are those we preach to ourselves." My text to myself that day was, "Inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me."

Of course all hitch hikers don't affect me similarly, for some leave their car at home, and it would be dangerous to take in all strangers, but "the least of these" are the words that trouble me.

"The least of these" are often richer in some respects than those who keep up with the times. I was present at a club meeting some time ago and the home demonstration agent, while talking of wild flowers, wished that somewhere she could find Lady's Slipper for her garden. The hostess amazed me by knowing the very spot in the woods where the plant grew abundantly.

The most of us shut our eyes to the beauty around us and look for it afar.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Adair and Mary Frances of near Midway, spent the week-end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Newell Johnson and family.

Mrs. Garnett Luten of near Murray spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Poole.

Several folks from this neighborhood attended the funeral services of Mrs. Richard Wilcox at Murray Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cochran of near Coldwater were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Harris.

Hardy Culppepper of Detroit, is spending a few days with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ben Culppepper and family.

John Edd Johnson is spending this week with his sister, Mrs. Hardy Adair, and Mr. Adair, near Midway.

Across the River

I have to send a letter in one week to have it reach its destination the next, so the only time my news isn't stale is when I act as prognosticator and tell what I think is going to happen, and then very often.

People are at last getting started to farming and though there are many obstacles, worries and disappointments in store for those who follow this occupation, it's a great life work.

Mrs. Cornelia Kirks writes that so far, she is liking hotel life fine. Wouldn't most any of us consider we were vacationing if we could have our meals served awfully without planning or cooking.

Mr. and Mrs. Eleanor Vincent's infant daughter, Eleanor June, was buried in the family cemetery Wednesday.

Mrs. Gracie Cook is still unable to bend her knee, so, she remains in bed where she has been since her limb was broken almost two months ago. When we feel the blues coming on the best cure that I know is a visit to some one less fortunate who can make us count our blessings.

We attended the senior play at Dover High School Friday night. Congratulations to two more old school acquaintances, Miss Lassiter and Mr. McCutcheon. May your futures be so well arranged that you would never have them changed.

I came down the old Concord

Hazel Route 3

This is blue Monday for the farmers as it has rained for three days and they're left behind with their work.

Mrs. J. N. Wilson is suffering from a severe attack of malaria. Mrs. Hurtle Craig is recovering from an operation for appendicitis. She was removed to her home last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Craig and son, Benton Graves, visited Mrs. Julia Clark Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Clark has been confined to her chair for over a year.

Mrs. Johnny Stubblefield is at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Molly Bane, of Centerville, Tenn. Mrs. Bane is very low of paralysis.

Mrs. Annie Wilson and son and grandson, Otis and Albertis, attended the singing in Paris Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Garlon Clark and daughter, Lola Pearl, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Tosco Wilson visited Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Wilson Sunday afternoon.

Hoping to have better health to report next week.—Tilda.

Fight This Destructive Wheeler-Rayburn Bill!

THE Wheeler-Rayburn utility bill now pending in Congress would damage the service of customers, just as it would ruin the savings of investors. This fact is recognized by one State Public Utilities Commission, which declared in a telegram sent to Representative Rayburn:

The act is fundamentally unsound in the statement of alleged evils it seeks to cure and in the methods suggested to accomplish its purpose.

It will impose unnecessary burdens on legitimate operators, which will be borne ultimately by utility customers and innocent investors.

The act offers no satisfactory remedies for the recognized abuses not already available by existing laws.

Every utility customer should become aroused against this bill. The bill proposes to wipe out utility holding companies and to place local electric and natural gas companies, engaged in interstate commerce, under stifling bureaucratic control from Washington. It brushes aside States' rights, ignores State utility commissions, and places local situations under distant Federal control.

This bill means more government in business, more red tape, more costly commissions. Government in business has been a failure for 100 years.

Why Service Would Suffer

A maze of bureaucratic red tape would replace the skill and experience of trained men long connected with electric and natural gas utility companies engaged in interstate business.

A Federal agency would have the sole power to issue orders for service extensions and improvements in facilities of such utility companies.

A Federal bureau would decide upon their rates and general business practices.

A Federal agency would control their construction, engineering, research, purchasing, and other technical functions.

A Federal agency would have the sweeping power of disapproval or modification over all contracts entered into by any such public utility company.

The net result of all this Federal control is more politics in business. When you mix politics with business, then business suffers. States' rights will be crushed and State utility commissions will ultimately be compelled to surrender practically all their powers to distant Washington bureaus. Service cannot be maintained, much less improved, with all the initiative and flexibility of action snuffed out by bureaucracy. Rates would probably rise.

Protect Your Service and Your Savings

You who are utility customers and those of you who have invested your money in utility stocks and bonds should oppose this unnecessary and destructive bill. It is a threat to your service and to your savings. Ask your Senators and Representatives to vote against the Wheeler-Rayburn Bill, and to write you promptly, telling you whether or not they will do so.

CAMP MURRAY

Stella Gossip

The storm of May 2 blew down tallest apple tree on the hen house, and etc. Lightning hit radio wire, excited ole Eagle, you bet! Wind blew a window out of Carl Christensen's house. Carl jumped up out of bed barefooted and rain knocked him down while he was stopping the window up with a feather bed. That's all I want to know!

Last week's Ledger & Times was a "jimdandy". Jots by Joe, "Bob Parker, about fruit crop shortage, yes our cider apple trees are making almost a failure (three years straight), but our peach crop is fine. I always read our county agent's notes. John Rudy Gury, fish and game warden had a good piece. I have never seen a quail this spring, all of them have been assassinated.

J. I. Slaughter of Blytheville, Ark., was the guest last week of his son, Alvie Slaughter, and family of Coldwater. Irvin and 'me' were brought up together. Slaughter, "We played the fiddles and went to brand dances, and every thing. He is now about 76. See how this world has made a change."

Mrs. Nannie Pullen, a true and faithful member of Coldwater Church of Christ, is a regular attendant. Have seen her come to church, afoot, through rain, with her two granddaughters, even if she is 70 years of age. Time would fail me to tell of Gideon, Jeptha, David, also the prophets who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness and obtained promises. Heb. 11.

Mr. John Morgan is afflicted with pain in his back. I told him to put a medicated "porus" plaster on his back. I am even capable of telling a doctor what to do when he gets sick. I cured one doctor sound and well.

We all took dinner at Con's Sunday. Had honey, strawberries and etc. Our patch has "come in". This rainy weather requires Muncie Clark to drag our highway oftener to keep her in shape.

We will not hear the auctioneer on the loose leaf floors until next December in his singing, unknown tongue. Here is what I made out: "We believe in the doctrine of original sin; that all of Adam's posterity are sinners by nature, have neither will nor power to do a frazzlin thing, awkk!—Eagle."

Obituary

J. Mack McClure, son of Elijah and Ann McClure, was born July 29, 1860, departed this life April 4, 1935; age 74 years, 8 months and 7 days. He was married to Louisa Orr August 12, 1911. To this union two children were born, both of which have gone on before him to the Great Beyond. He professed faith in Christ at an early age and joined Beech Grove Church and lived a faithful member until death.

He leaves a wife, two brothers, and two sisters and a host of relatives and friends to mourn his death. But grief is not as those who have no hope for he left this glorious assurance that all was well and that he was just waiting the call to come to the home prepared for the redeemed where there is no more pain and suffering. Having suffered untold agony for three months, but bore his suffering with great patience.

A precious one from us has gone. His voice we love is still. A place is vacant in our home. Which never can be filled.

KIRKSEY SENIORS TO GIVE PLAY SAURDAY NIGHT, LITH

By special arrangement with the Dramatic Publishing Company of Chicago, the senior class of Kirksey High School will present a drama in three acts entitled "The Mill of the Gods" by Eugene Todd.

The cast is composed of four men and four women. You will find yourself falling in love with dear old "Selma" from the rise of the curtain. "Patty" (who is she?) is a very lovable character. "Lawrence," the smooth tongued villain, causes plenty of excitement. "Terry," the tramp, is a puzzling, yet highly interesting type. All the parts are good. Bring along your pencils and paper, for between tears you'll be trying to figure what is coming next.

On Friday evening, May 10, Max B. Hurt will deliver the commencement address to the Kirksey High graduating class.

Fifteen acres of low, wet Carter county land were drained with the help of the county agent.

Orders for 3,000 pounds of Lespedeza seed were pooled by Magoffin county farmers, and a reduced price obtained.
