TRUCK REGULATIONS AROUSE FULTONIANS

Speaking at the Chamber of Commerce meeting here Monday night, Joe Davis stated that the new truck regulations are working a hardship on operators of farm trucks, and as a result will mean a loss of business to Fulton. K. P. Dalton was selected to look into the matter to ascertain full facts about the law and what may be done about it.

It seems that the law makes it necessary for truck owners to obtain new licenses costing about $100, after having already expended about $40 tax. The bulk of business affected by the law in Fulton is livestock, this city being a large marketing center, doing a two and a half million dollar volume last year. Trucks have been bringing in stock and produce, selling it, and purchasing merchandise from local firms in many instances. Owners of trucks and business interests here are aroused over the imposed regulations.

Bob White Assumes C. of C. Office

Bob White, who was recently elected as head of the Chamber of Commerce here, assumed office Monday night, when a large group of Fulton business men gathered at the Rainbow Room in monthly session. He pledged his best efforts toward making this a year of accomplishments, and named committees for the new year.

K. P. Dalton, named as chairman of the road committee, will seek to obtain state aid to build the State Line road between Fulton and Jordan. He will contact Commissioner Donaldson in the near future.

Joe Davis called attention to the fact that the state tax department is urging that various counties in Kentucky increase tax assessments. The chamber went on record opposing any increases in this county, and the matter will be taken up at Frankfort.

President White announced that the Fulton board of education had purchased 100 feet of Carr Park, to be used as the site of the new school building to replace Carr Institute. College street between Second and State Line will be closed, and a new street opened 100 feet east. The rear of the new building will be erected about flush with the Science Hall building, and will face east.

MATRESS APPLICATIONS TO END APRIL 1

The last community sign-up for cotton mattresses was held in Fulton County on Wednesday and Thursday, March 12-13, and 858 applications had been made. From now on, those people who wish to sign up for cotton mattresses between now and April 1, which will be the last day that applications will be accepted, will have to call at the Extension Office in Hickman, or see one of the Community Chairmen in their community.

Plans will be made to start the mattress project as soon as the cotton arrives. The first center that will be opened will be at Hickman school.

"GWTW" IN RETURN EX- GAGEMENT AT FULTON

"Gone With the Wind," which opens today at the Fulton Theatre, is undoubtedly the most faithful filmization of a novel in Hollywood history. It is Margaret Mitchell's great story of the Old South without deviation and practically without elimination. After this has been recorded, little more need to be said as an unqualified recommendation for the picture. Millions of readers consider the novel one of the greatest stories of all time; a faithful filming of that story must of necessity make the picture one of the greatest of movie history.

The picture is currently being shown in its complete, full-length version—nothing cut but the price—offering those who have not witnessed it previously the entertainment treat of a lifetime.

Each character lives as Miss Mitchell made him and her live in the book. This is a tribute to the production genius of David O. Selznick and the brilliant direction of Victor Fleming, who has never failed in an assignment, and to the players themselves.

APRIL 15 SET AS DATE FOR DRIVE

April 15 has been set as the date for the beginning of a drive to raise funds for the purchase of the old fair grounds. A plan introduced by the Young Men's Business Club several months ago was discussed at the Chamber of Commerce meeting this week. It is proposed that the purchase price be raised by popular subscription. Then the property will be turned over to the city as a permanent park and playground. An option to buy the property for $6,500 has been secured from the Fulton County Fair Association by the Young Men's Business Club.

R. H. Wade, major stockholder in the association, said that the property represented an original investment of $22,000, and that they were willing to carry out the sales agreement, but that prompt action was necessary as steps are being taken to close the business of this corporation.

Smith Atkins expressed the opinion that the property can be purchased under the plan proposed by the Young Men's Business Club, and urged that work be started now to get the job done.

JOE BEADLES IS FAVORITE HALF-MILER

Joe Beadles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beadles of Fulton is currently ranked as the top among Texas half-milers having won this event in the first two major state meets this season. He is a senior at Abilene Christian College.

This past week end Beadles won the college half mile with ease at the annual Exposition meet held in Ft. Worth, running it in 1:58.8 on a heavy track.

The week end before Beadles edged out the favored Unstaddt of Texas university at the Border relays to win the half-mile in the fast time of 1:56.8.

His best time last year was running in the third lap on the ACC two-mile relay team when he was clocked at 1:53.8. Incidentally, this relay team won this event at the Kansas relays in 7:48.4, the fastest collegiate time recorded in the nation last year for the race.

Beadles also played football for the first two years but dropped this sport in favor of track. He is a member of the student council, president of the senior class, and a leader in several other organizations. Most of his track efforts this season will be running his event, the half-mile and running as a member of the ACC two-mile relay team which is expected to again rank high among the teams of the nation.

Mayfield Minister Speaks To Rotary Club

Rev. Frank Drowata of Mayfield was guest speaker at the Rotary Club Tuesday and made an interesting talk on "The Might of A Nation." He said that the strength of any nation depended on the willingness of its people to sacrifice and to die for liberty and democracy. He stated that the present war in Europe is being fought for democracy. If Germany wins over Great Britain, the American way of life cannot survive. He urged that all Americans look forward to the American Way as a goal not yet reached and strive to keep this country free for personal liberty and religious ideals for every citizen.

J. R. Hogan was introduced to the club as a new member.

Clinton Takes Regional Tourney

Central High of Clinton tamed the Tilghman Tornado 26-16 in the finals of the First Regional Tournament at Murray to win a berth in the tournament of champions to be held in Lexington March 20, 21 and 22. Weatherford put Central ahead early in the game with a free throw and a one-handed tally from the side lines. Tilghman rallied once in the third frame and once in the last but Central was too far ahead to be overtaken.

Completely outclassed, the Tornado consistently missed its shots and set up a man-for-man defense that was penetrated almost at will by the hard driving Central quintet.

Binford took the scoring honors of the night with 13 points. Captain Young led the Tilghman attack with 8.

Coached by James Phillips, all SIAA guard at Murray, Central never allowed the Tornado to come within four points of the lead that spelled a crack at the state title. The score by quarters was: 5-1, 14-5, 18-13 and 26-16.

Clinton gained the finals by downing Lowes 21-18 and turning back Bardwell in the semi-finals 21-15.

The lineups—
Clinton (26) Tilghman (16)
F-Binford 13 Tunstall 2
F-Creed 4 Gunn
C-Montgomery 2 Singery
G-Weatherford 7 Young 8
G-Morris Randall 3
Substitutions: Tilghman — Temple 1, Hunt 2 and Pippen.

Mrs. Louise Killebrew was in charge of decorations for the occasion. Attractive favors were presented to each one present.

Following the banquet a dance was enjoyed at the Elks Club rooms, with the Murray orchestra furnishing the music.

SERMONETT

Rejoice in the Lord always: And again I say, rejoice.—Phil. 4:4. A few years of revelry, stained with sin.

Leaving us without hope in the end.

Can such a life as that compare With life eternal Christ's love and care?

BASEBALL DIRECTORS PLANS 1941 SEASON

Directors of the Fulton Baseball Association held a meeting at the Rainbow Room Tuesday night to complete plans for the 1941 season, with K. P. Dalton, president, presiding. The season will open officially May 12, with the Fulton team playing Mayfield here on that date. Prospects for the local team are brighter for this year than ever before as Detroit has assured the club of the fullest cooperation.

Eighteen players have been signed for the spring training period here. Moon Mullen will manage the team this year. Jack Tighe, manager of the Muskegon, Mich., team will bring 26 members of that team to Fulton for spring practice, arriving here on April 6.

A motion was made by Bert Newhouse and seconded by H. H. Bugg that the president be named as a committee of one to obtain a man to care for the grounds this year and see that the players' uniforms are laundered. A resolution was passed to have the directors take turns in serving as ticket taker during the season. M. L. Parker was named official scorekeeper. L. S. Phillips was named as ticket seller at the gate, and Charles Holloway was named as ticket taker in the grandstand. The president will later name sellers for grandstand and box seats.

On a motion by H. H. Bugg, seconded by Abe Jolley, the contract for the transportation bus was awarded to Harvey Carney of Latham.

Box seats will go on sale April 26 and the seats sold last year will be held for former holders until May 6, when they will be placed on open sale. Box seats will be sold for $3 for one, or $5 for two. Children's tickets will be $1.50. A proposal was made to encourage a larger negro attendance.

E. N. DeMyer made a suggestion that a tarpaulin be obtained to cover at least the pitcher's mound and the catcher's plate during wet weather. It was decided to let the Young Men's Business Club sponsor the opening day game.

Admission on opening day, Sundays and holidays will be 35c, and on all other days 30c.

Smith Atkins, Foad Homra and Bert Newhouse were named to arrange a bank night program.

WINDY HIGGINS, FORMER "CANDIDATE" FOR GOVERNOR TO BE ON ORPHEUM STAGE

Pictured above is Windy Higgins, impudent little dummy, and his "voice" Paul Stadelman, who will appear on the stage of the Orpheum Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 25 and 26.

Press comments, and reports from theatre managers all over the country, speak of this act as one of the funniest in America, a constant stream of wise cracks from the dummy keeping the audience in an uproar from start to finish.

This little "mahogany midget" was used as an entertainment feature in two political campaigns in Kentucky and it was inevitable that certain practical jokers would write his name on the ballot; as a result he received fourteen votes for United States Senator, and later won 143 votes for Governor of Kentucky.

Prices of admission will remain the same as always 10c to every one.

SAVING LIVES ON OUR HIGHWAYS

There are, perhaps, many thousands of ways in which an automobilist or a pedestrian can die in connection with highway accidents.

You can't possibly know all of the tentacles that sudden death reaches after you as you speed along the highway, whizzing nowhere in particular at sixty miles an hour.

There is only one defense against all the hazards of motoring, so far as you are responsible for your own safety. That is to drive carefully at all times and obey traffic regulations implicitly.

Of course, many thousands of Americans are killed and injured every year while driving sanely and carefully. They are the victims of careless, irresponsible and lawless drivers who make motoring a hazard.

Pedestrians die by the hundreds every month because they dared to use the highway despite the danger that speeding drivers might not see them as they marched along or crossed arteries of traffic. Some of them invite their fate by taking unnecessary risks, by disregarding regulations designed for their protection and by carelessly risking their lives before speeding vehicles.

It is time for all traffic authorities to make a determined effort to enforce all traffic regulations. No matter how minor a violation may be the guilty motorist should be apprehended and punished. By the same reasoning an offending pedestrian, likewise, should be compelled to obey traffic regulations.

The prompt and permanent enforcement of traffic regulations, including signs along the roadway, would do much to make the public safety conscious. The man or woman, driver or pedestrian, who is fined a few dollars for failure to obey the laws of the road, will soon come to the point of observing the rules, if only to avoid the penalty.

In the long run, such a campaign for enforcement of safety regulations, will do something toward saving the lives of some of the hundred persons who are killed every day on our highways.

The Sailor Judged by Himself

By IRVIN S. COBB

EVERY ocean liner, it seems, adopts a pet or mascot and all the sailors and officers make much ado about it.

Now when the Leviathan was first flying under the American flag, one of the officers had a very fine pet cat. It selected one of the "thousand dollar" staterooms to give birth to kittens. Later, a sailor on board was heard talking to the mother. "You're a fine kitty, ain't you?" he said reproachfully. "You'd ought to be ashamed of yourself—we give you shore leave and then look what happens."

By J. PAUL BUSHART, Editor

A column conducted for news, views and comments, in which readers of The News are invited to participate. Mail contributions care of THE FORUM, this newspaper

I have been impressed with the trend toward diversification and the forming of farm cooperatives in recent years. Farmers of Fulton county have one of the largest Farm Bureaus in the country, and the progress that is being made by this organization has attracted nationwide interest.

There has been a noticeable increase in truck farming in this vicinity in recent years, and there is every indication that this movement is yet to gain more headway. Such crops as tomatoes, cabbage, beans, peas, etc. Under the federal reduction program, many acres have been released for such crops. In many sections of the country, nice cash incomes are realized from truck crops, and there is a definite turn away from surplus crops like cotton, tobacco and wheat. The soil and climate in this section is adaptable to the production of more truck, and for the establishment of good orchards for more fruit.

Farmers up in Lincoln county, Ky., for instance, have organized a sorghum growers cooperative, owned and operated by its membership. It is believed that the farmers, by marketing their products in this way, will secure approximately twenty-five per cent increase in price, and in addition be able to sell unlimited quantities through mass sales.

The defense program is touching the lives of many families in this community. Many young men have entered military service; others have obtained, and are obtaining, employment on jobs in connection with the program. Several young women have secured jobs in Washington, D. C., by civil service appointment.

Doubtless this is only the beginning, for it is likely that the next few years will see many changes in our community, like it will in thousands of others. Uncle Sam must be prepared for the struggle ahead, as voiced by the President in his message this week pointed out. Seven billion dollars has been asked to aid Britain, and it probably will require seven times seven billions before peace comes.

Kentucky has lagged far behind on its tourist business. Other states with fewer and less well known attractions are getting more business by advertising. Now that there is an upward to "See America First" because of war abroad, many thousands of dollars are being expended by tourist travel at home. Kentucky should take steps to get its share. Perhaps some action will be taken at the next session of the state legislature.

Another problem that will face the Legislature will be the tax question, and the loss of industries, or failure to get as many new ones as we should. State, county and municipal taxes should be held to the minimum, and reduced where possible, in order to meet increased federal taxation necessary in the defense program. Opponents of the state income tax declare that it is driving much taxable wealth and industries into other states. The question whether to abolish the income tax will probably come up for a lot of debate at Frankfort.

Candidates for State Senator and Representative are now seeking promises of the peoples vote. Groups interested in obtaining TVA power will endeavor to get these office seekers to declare themselves for the abolishment of a law now on the statutes making it impossible for Kentucky cities to secure current from this source.

Money Talks

By Frederick Stamm, Economist
Director of Adult Education
UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

Several times during the past year I have warned you that prices would gradually creep upward. I want to warn you again, for it now appears that prices will increase at a more rapid pace than we have experienced for some time. Why do I believe this?

First—our national income is now running around 80 billion dollars a year, and if the present pace is continued we shall soon reach the 1929 level of income. A large part of this increase is going into salaries and wages; this in itself means a greater demand for consumer goods—the things we buy.

Second—our defense industries are already taking larger and larger amounts of material which normally go into peace time consumers goods. For example, manufacturers of automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines and such are beginning to wonder if they will be able to get the raw materials they need. This is causing a growing concern on the part of many consumers that supplies of many types of goods may be limited before long.

JUST HUMANS

By GENE CARR

"I'll Never Marry a Talkative Woman"
"Then You're Goin' to Stay Single, Kid"

Third—larger wages and salaries coupled with the fear of shortages and price rise, have caused many people to lay in supplies for months ahead. The scramble for goods has already depleted the merchants' shelves, and they are now bidding up prices in order to replace these goods.

Practically everyone I talk to keeps saying, "Buy now and save yourself some money." Couple this buying psychology with actual scarcity of some few products and you have all the groundwork for higher prices. It is like a snowball rolling down hill—once started it is hard to stop.

Money will buy more goods today than it will a month or two from now. Sound buying now should mean money in your pockets later on. This is one time when I believe goods are better than money.

In this column I have frequently mentioned the absolute necessity of the courts' being strict in their interpretation of the traffic laws.

No safety program in any community can succeed if the courts are lenient. Judgment should be used, of course, in deciding some cases, but frequent offenders merit the strictest interpretation of the law. Here is a story a judge told me recently:

"This is the fifth time you have been brought before me for speeding," said the judge severely.

"Yes, Your Honor," smiled the offender. "When I like a feller, I generally gives him all my business."

Nice business that is, too—endangering the lives of others!

"What did you do with him?" I asked the judge and was glad to hear that the judge gave him the limit the law allowed in order "to prevent a recurrence of some of his offenses against the public on our highways."

We must have strict courts and strict enforcement of traffic laws.

A DOG'S PRAYER

O Lord of humans, make my master faithful to his fellow men as I am to him. May he be open-faced and undeceptive as I am, may he be true to trust reposed in him as I am to his; give him a face cheerful like unto my wagging tail; give him a spirit of gratitude like unto my licking tongue. Fill him with patience like unto mine that awaits his footsteps uncomplainingly for hours; fill him with my watchfulness, my courage and my readiness to sacrifice comfort or life. Keep him always young in heart and crowded with the spirit of play even as I—make him as good a man as I am a dog—make him worthy of me—his dog—Outdoor Guide.

COVER CROPS

How Do Cover Crops Reduce Erosion? Cover crops reduce erosion by furnishing a protective covering which breaks the pound-effect of the rain; they reduce the volume of the run-off and slow the speed of the water, thereby reducing its erosive effect; they hold the snow and slow its melting which thus aids in forming a protective covering for the soil and their roots bind the soil particles together, reducing the amount carried by the moving water.

To What Extent Does A Good Growth of Cover Crop Reduce Erosion? This depends upon several factors; the percent slope, the length of slope; the texture of the soil, amount of rainfall, etc. Cover crops drilled on the contour, following row crops also planted on the contour, are more effective than cover crops drilled with the slope of the hill. A good growth of cover crops properly planted may prevent the loss of many tons of soil per acre.

How do cover crops reduce Leaching? Cover crops reduce leaching by decreasing the amount of water that passes thru the soil, and by utilizing the soluble plant nutrients that become available.

To What Extent Does A Good Growth of Cover Crops Reduce Leaching? The amount of leaching depends to a large extent upon the fertility of the soil and the amount of available nutrients in the soil when the cover crops are planted.

On a fertile soil at the Experiment Field at Lexington a luxuriant cover crop of barley has taken up the equivalent of about 1000 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre which, without a cover crop, would have been lost. Losses of calcium, potash and magnesium by leaching are also greatly reduced by good cover crops.

What Is the Value of Cover Crops For Grazing? A luxurious cover crop provides large quantities of very palatable and nutritious food, rich in protein and high in vitamin content. An acre of good cover crop is estimated to be equivalent to one acre of corn when used for pasturing hogs as a supplement to a suitable grain ration. Luxurious cover crops have saved the equivalent of $15.00 an acre in concentrates and hay when used for dairy cattle. Sheep raisers of the central Bluegrass recognize that good cover crops are almost essential to profitable lamb production, and poultry producers credit cover crops with greatly increased egg production in the fall and winter months when egg prices are high.

When Should Cover Crops Be Turned Under? Small grain cover crops should be turned under before they reach the "jointing" stage, or when they are from six to twelve inches high. Legume cover crops should be turned as late as possible consistent with the proper preparation of the ground for the following crops.

Do Cover Crops Add Fertility To The Soil When Turned Under? The principal value of the small grain cover crops is to prevent the loss of soil and plant food and to supply pasture. Little or no increase in crop yields can be expected from plowing under small grains. Winter legumes (vetch and crimson clover) add large quantities of nitrogen to the soil if a good growth is turned under. These crops when used as green manure often add many bushels per acre to the yield of corn. Mr. L. C. McIntyre, of Trimble County, produces nearly a ton of Burley tobacco per acre as a result of his soil-building program in which vetch has an important place.

Christ's Commission

By CHARLES L. HOUSER
Minister Church of Christ, Fulton, Ky.

Christ's Commission is to be the subject of the Sunday School lesson Lord's Day, March 30th. Since this is a lesson of profound importance, and since much that Christ's Commission includes is not even mentioned in the various quarterlies, I deem it pertinent to write this supplement to the lesson.

Be it remembered that after the Lord had selected the twelve and the seventy disciples, that he sent them upon the limited commission. It is called the limited commission because they were to preach the preparatory gospel only to the Jews. Matt. 10:5-7. "These twelve Jesus sent forth, and commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into any city of the Samaritans enter ye not: But go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. And as ye go, preach, saying the kingdom of heaven is at hand." Luke 10:1. "After these things the Lord appointed other seventy also, and sent them two and two before his face into every city and place, whither he himself would come." Matt. 10:24. "But he answered and said, I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

It was not, therefore, until after our Lord's resurrection that he gave the unlimited, world-wide, commission, records of which are found in Matt. 28:18-20, Mark 16:14-20, Luke 24:44-53. Under this new, world-wide, unlimited commission the apostles were to preach the gospel to "all nations," to "every creature."

When one sums up the contents of these three records of the Lord's commission, he finds that there are certain commands to be obeyed, and certain promises to be enjoyed. Not all of Christ's commission applied to the same people. Only a part of it was binding upon the apostles, the rest applied to the lost world. The apostles were commanded to GO, PREACH the GOSPEL, and to BAPTIZE the believing penitents. Jesus promised the apostles that He would be with them, that He would send the Holy Spirit unto them which would enable them to perform miracles, and that they, by the performance of miracles, might confirm the word.

The lost of the world are commanded to BELIEVE the gospel, to REPENT of their sins, and to be BAPTIZED for the remission of their sins. They are promised forgiveness-salvation. By summarizing these three records of Christ's commission one is impressed with its simplicity. The commands and promises included therein are thus clearly seen and appreciated.

But since there are those who misapply a portion of Christ's promises, further discussion becomes necessary. It is sometimes claimed that Christ promised the Holy Spirit, the power to work miracles, to all believers. While the fact remains that not one soul, since the days of the apostles, has received the baptism of the Holy Spirit—not one mortal man, since that early age, has been able to perform miracles.

The Holy Spirit was sent to the apostles to comfort them in the absence of the Lord, to cause them to remember all that He had taught them, and to guide them into all truth (John 14:25-26, John 16:7-13); and they were to receive power (miraculous power), after that the Holy Spirit had come upon them. (Acts 1:1-8.)

Miraculous power was received in two different ways; by a baptism of the Holy Spirit (Acts 2:16), and through the laying on of the apostles' hands (Acts 8:14-17.) Hence, since none have received a baptism of the Holy Spirit since the days of the apostles, and since only the apostles had the power to impart spiritual gifts through the "laying on of hands," when the apostles died, and all others of that early age died, the performance of miracles ceased.

Read closely the following quotation which was written by one of the world's best Bible scholars, "The object of miracles has always been to confirm revelations made by God. When God has revelations to make, he works miracles. When revelations closed, no miracle has been wrought and will not be unless God has new revelations to make. Since the last revelation through inspired men was made, no miraculous power has been possessed by mortal men. Not a soul since the days of the apostles has been able to work miracles."

Certainly there are those who ask, "What about Mark 16:17?" "And these signs shall follow them that believe . . . ?" To ascertain the meaning of this scripture, it is necessary to understand a common rule of English, namely, "a pronoun must agree with its antecedent in person, gender and number." In order, therefore, to learn to whom the pronoun "them" in Mark 16:17 applies, one must "back track" until he finds a noun that agrees with it in "person, number and gender," and that noun is found to be "the eleven" mentioned in Mark 16:14. The fact that all believers, in the apostolic age, were NOT given the power to work miracles, shows conclusively that the promise was NOT made to all believers.

"The signs were proof that the apostles were God's messengers, and that the message delivered by them was God's message." Faith, today, is produced by the reading or hearing of God's written word, and NOT by signs or miracles (John 20:30-31, Romans 10:17.)

A comparison of Bible facts with the presumptions of men should prove beneficial. When the apostles spoke with "new tongues" more than a dozen different nationalities understood simultaneously (Acts 2:6-18.) When men attempt to speak in tongues now, no one understands. When a serpent bit Paul, he suffered no ill-effects (Acts 28:3-6.) when a poisonous reptile bites a man today, he becomes swollen and suffers agony, even if he recovers. When the apostles healed, the patient fully and completely recovered before the Lord's servant's (Acts 9:36-43.) while today patients tell so-called divine healers "I feel a little better." If the enemies of Christianity attempted to poison the apostles, the Lord assured them that it would not hurt them (Mark 16:18.) How many who claim to have miraculous power believe that they can drink a bottle of poison and suffer no ill-effects? God's word is true, even if men do not always tell the truth. (Romans 3:4.)

PROPER FOOD CURES DISEASE

What you eat and the quantity thereof probably measures the length of your life.

The importance of diet in the well-being of individuals has been increasingly recognized in recent decades although one easily wonders why, for so many years, no one seems to have undertaken a real study of the food content of the human body.

There are wise people who believe that, given a proper diet, the individual would avoid disease. Of course, proper diet, spread over several generations would be necessary because of physical weaknesses that are transmitted.

Doctors have learned that lack of certain substances in food are responsible for some of our ills. The same discovery may be made about other scourges that inflict suffering and death upon human beings.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE, MR. TAXPAYER

... between an unregulated traffic contributing nothing in state, county or local taxes, and Kentucky's $20,000,000 legalized beer industry which has paid more than $6,000,000 in taxes to the state alone during the past six years!

But occasionally some people, losing sight of this difference, would unwittingly deprive state and county treasuries of this revenue, thereby increasing their own tax burdens as well as inviting a return of the anti-social conditions resulting from unlicensed, unregulated outlets.

Through our Committee's self-regulation program, the Kentucky beer industry is cooperating with law-enforcement officials to preserve these benefits by helping maintain wholesome conditions in the retailing of beer. YOU can help by patronizing the law-abiding beer outlets in your community!
