THE LISTENING POST

• Easter must have been quite successful, so far as the old Listening Post can judge. To begin with, and this is not one of the most important angles, it seems to me that local stores must have had pretty good business. I know that Saturday and Saturday night seemed quite a bit like Christmas Eve, with what appeared to be good cash and credit customers crowding in to the various stores all day and late into the night. While all this has no apparent connection to the celebration of the Easter Sunday it makes business men feel a lot better and may have a bearing on collections at the various churches. This is purely a personal idea I have and is not offered as proving anything at all.

• Then there is the weather. Many times Easter Sunday is (a) cold; (b) rainy; (c) snowy. When any of these weather complications come it more or less interferes with Easter, but this year the weather was splendid. A warm sun shone all day and the only faint resemblance to winter was a gusty March wind that blew the greater part of the day. It did no particular harm, merely causing some of the Easter bunnies to blow off now and then, or threaten to blow off. (A cynic might say that it would have been a blessing had some of them blown off and been blown far away, but I am not a cynic. I only know that there were many new bunnies on display—some quite fetching, others not so fetching, but I learned long ago that bunnies will continue to be odd and wonderful things, without much rhyme or reason.)

• Whether being good and everybody having new clothes conspired to just about set new records in the various churches, and all reports I have received indicate that all churches had glorious services. The fashion parade between Sunday school and churches was one of the most colorful seen here in recent years, and I had a lot of fun trying to recognize certain people some distance away. Many times I failed utterly; in fact I believe I missed more than I hit, for there is something about this sudden transition from winter clothing to summer outfits and from one style to another that is baffling. I can usually recognize the men I know afar off, for there is little basic change in men's clothing, but the ladies, bless them, can change so radically and so completely that I think I am looking at a perfect stranger only to realize as they approach that I know them quite well. Perhaps it is the hat which makes all this change; perhaps something else, but I know that my batting average was not high in recognizing many of the ladies at some distance.

• It seems to me that never before did I see so many well-dressed and fine looking youngsters, both boys and girls, as this Easter. The boys, it seem to me, now get better looking clothing than ever before. When I looked at these well-dressed, comfortable appearing boys of high school age, I had a painful recollection of my own youth. In those days about all one could say of new clothing was that it was new. It was stiff and uncomfortable, the suits never fitted with any degree of accuracy, and it used to be such a relief to get through with the morning hours and then go home and hang up the new clothes and get into something old and comfortable. Particularly was this true of new shoes. They always squeaked loud-

BAPTIST ENJOY A GREAT EASTER SUNDAY

There were 850 persons attending the preaching service at the First Baptist church Easter morning. The entire building was filled with a packed balcony and chairs in all available places. It was the largest Easter ever witnessed in our church and we want to thank all those who had a part in making this such a fine day.

There were 570 present in Sunday School which was an all time record for our Sunday School. All classes and departments were well over filled with a large number of visitors. Thanks to the fine teachers and officers who worked and prayed, making it possible to have this record crowd. 570 is a great school for any church to have and we are proud of it. We give all honor to our great God who gives the increase. You are invited to come to our Sunday School every Sunday morning if you are not connected with any other school or if you are not attending any Sunday School remember we want and need you and your family.

Dr. House has been a wonderful blessing to all of us and to every phase of our church life. He has led us in a fine way and we have really enjoyed a great revival. We can say in all meekness that we have had one of the best revivals with his coming that we have ever had in our church. We all feel stronger and closer to God than at any time before. We have had many additions to our church, both for baptism and by letter, for which we do thank God. Let us all as God fearing people join hands and march together to win the lost and make this a city wherein God is followed and Christ is honored.

TWO SERVICE CLUBS WILL HEAR DR. POGUE

Dr. Forrest Pogue, head of the History Department of Murray State College, will address a joint meeting of the Rotary and Lions Clubs here at noon tomorrow. This will probably be the last appearance of Dr. Pogue, as he is expected to be called to military duty at any time. He holds a commission in the Army Reserve and his call to active duty is expected at any time. He has appeared here several times, before many different groups, and is always popular with Fulton people.

U. S. Developing Long Range Weather Forecasting System

Washington.—The United States is developing a long range weather forecast system for its fighting forces that is expected to match the efficiency of Hitler's secret system. A Weather Bureau staff expert said today.

Addressing a meeting of the American Geophysical Union at Georgetown University, Charles F. Series, assistant chief of the bureau's technical services, told of the setting up of the new system, but for military reasons, disclosed little of its method.

He did, however, refer to the fact that the Weather Bureau now prepares daily a five-day forecast for the entire North American continent and the North Atlantic. Weather, Series said, can be broken into five-day types by analyzing weather records for many years back.

Washington.—A group of senators, rebelling against Administration wishes, began organizing Sunday for an effort to force Senate action on the question of suspending the 40-hour week and restricting union activities in war industries.

Members said the group, headed by Senators Pepper (D., Fla.), and Lee (D., Okla.), hoped to bring to the Senate floor within two weeks a measure bearing indorsement of a relatively large number of Democrats and Republicans.

They would attempt, it was explained, to by-pass the Senate Education and Labor Committee, whose chairman, Senator Thomas (D., Utah), has opposed enactment at this time of any labor legislation. Senator Thomas has been supported in this stand by Democratic Leader Barkley of Kentucky.

Despite this opposition, members said that if they could get an appreciable number of senators to agree on the general principles of a labor measure, they would have a fighting chance of getting it passed.

Opportunity to get such a bill before the Senate may be presented April 20, when the Chamber will consider a motion to take up a bill by Senator Connally (D., Texas), authorizing the Government to operate strike-bound war plants. The Connally measure would freeze working conditions in those plants but would permit adjustment of wages by a special board.

There have been indications that the Administration hopes to obtain before Senate action on the Connally Bill voluntary agreements between labor and management on lengthening of the work week.

However, Senator Pepper told reporters he believed the public would not be satisfied until legislation was enacted definitely establishing the 48-hour week and prohibiting collection of excessive initiation fees by unions.

Delaying a post-Easter vacation, the Senate will consider Monday a $19,212,000,000 War Appropriation Bill, to which the Appropriations Committee authorized offering of an amendment limiting war profits.

Report U. S. Prisoners Of War Being Well Treated By Japs

Washington.—The 366 United States prisoners of war who were captured on Gilbert, Wake and Guam Islands by the Japanese and interned at Zentsuji island of Skikoku, are being well treated, the International Red Cross reported in a cablegram made public today by Rep. White (D.-Idaho).

However, the men want more entertainment, fancies food and mail from the folks back home. This was the most detailed account received through neutral sources to date on the welfare of men who fell into enemy hands. Rep. White was chosen to release the report, presumably because many of the soldiers and civilians captured in the American outposts were residents of Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Civilians from these and other western states were engaged in military construction work on the captured islands. The cablegram from an agent of the International Red Cross was transmitted to the Navy Department here and then turned over to White.

He made it public as follows: "Have visited camp for prisoners of war at Zentsuji March 12, accompanied by aid from the information bureau and the Japanese Red Cross. Camp on large island of Skikoku in the north near inland sea on fertile plain between hills covered with pines; good climate; no endemic diseases.

"Market town of Zentsuji with 25,000 inhabitants nearby. Camp covers six acres surrounded by barbed wire and a wooden fence. Two army barracks, two stories high, well ventilated, 12,000 cubic meters in all.

"Daily rations 300 grams of bread, 300 rice, 160 wheat plus potatoes, sweet potatoes, green vegetables, fish eggs, etc. Total 3,200 calories. Meat, sugared food and in this season, fruits, are rather rare. Young and active prisoners are losing weight; old and idle prisoners gain weight.

"Cooks chosen from prisoners work separate kitchens which are large and clean.

"Tobacco ration is 10 cigarettes per one to three days according to rank.

"Prisoners wish books, equipment for sports and games, piano, typewriters. Principal need is that of corresponding with families. Letters not sent in view of lack of communications. At beginning of March officers authorized to send personal messages to their families in America by radio but remain without any answer."

GRATTAN QUILTS OVER CHARGES OF PRO-NAZISM

Washington.—C. Hartly Grattan, saying that "libelous statements" made about him on the floor of the House by Representative Voorhis (D., Calif.), had ended his usefulness to the government, resigned today from his position as an economic analyst for the Board of Economic Warfare.

The implication left by Voorhis Grattan said, "is that I am a Nazi sympathizer." Denying this flatly, he added:

"I challenge Mr. Voorhis to come out from behind his Congressional immunity and repeat the charges made in the Congressional Record. I shall then take suitable legal action so that the issue may be settled in the courts of law. My record as an opponent to Fascism is crystal clear and I shall vindicate that record."

Book Is Defended

Grattan said Voorhis' speech "contained a flagrant untruth with regard to the contents of my foreword to a book published in 1940." "The untruth is found in Mr. Voorhis' charge that 'this foreword consists all the way through of a vigorous denunciation of this country's foreign policy of support of England and France'."

BILL FIXES FINE FOR "OPPRESSIVE LABOR PRACTICES"

Measure Is Introduced By Senator LaFollette

Washington.—With the assertion that labor needed to be assured that the war emergency would not be used to deprive it of its rights, Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.), introduced a bill today fixing criminal penalties for "oppressive labor practices."

LaFollette, chairman of a labor subcommittee that made a four-year investigation of anti-union activities, took cognizance of other pending labor legislation, including proposals to suspend the 40 hour week, when he said:

"If the nation has time for consideration of any labor legislation, then, by all means, this proposed act should be carefully weighed."

The measure, an amplified version of an oppressive-labor-practices act which passed the Senate in 1940 only to die in the House labor committee, sets maximum penalties of a $10,000 fine or six months imprisonment for prescribed acts. These include the use of strike-breakers, private armed guards, the possession or use of firearms or tear gas during labor disputes, and interference with peaceful picketing.

In addition, the principle of the Wage and Hour Act is applied so as to make it criminal for an em-

Washington.—Lieut. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright's Philippine fighters, battling furiously against a grand scale Japanese sea and ground offensive, have smashed a heavily armed enemy invasion fleet seeking to land troops and guns on Bataan Peninsula from Manila Bay.

A War Department communique announced Sunday night that a large flotilla of barges, carrying troops and 75 mm. cannon, attempted to storm American positions on Bataan's east coast after the defenders had been forced to give ground before a savage infantry and artillery assault along the peninsula's jungle battlefield.

Jap Barges Retreat Approaching the shoreline under cover of darkness, the enemy fleet was greeted with blistering salvos from American and Filipino artillery which inflicted a heavy toll of dead and wounded on the invaders and destroyed several of their barges. The other barges retreated without effecting a landing.

On the peninsula, the Japanese attacked in full force, throwing heavy concentrations of infantry into the battle.

After furious fighting throughout the day, the Japanese sustained heavy casualties at the hands of the bitterly resisting American and Filipino Army. Nevertheless, the momentum of their savage drive carried the Japanese a short distance into the defenders' territory. America's Manila Bay Gibraltar of Corregidor enjoyed its first respite from aerial bombardment since March 24, while the major enemy drive on Bataan was underway.

A Lot Of Fellows Would Like To Take Fido's Place In This Test

Boston.—A method of getting over a jag three times quicker than is now possible was described Thursday to the nation's leading biologists—but wait a minute, chums,—the technique so far is limited to your dog Fido.

Three Harvard physiologists told the American Federation of Societies for Experimental Biology that they had administered a chemical to a group of dogs a few hours after getting them bleary-eyed drunk, and found that the sobering-up process was three times faster thereafter than during the period before the chemical "pick-me-up" was given.

Doctors W. W. Westerfield, Elmer Stotz and Robert Berg said the substance used was sodium pyruvate, and they declared its role was to "burn" the alcohol in the system, thus speeding a return to sobriety.

The dogs really "tied one on." They were given shots of straight alcohol (wow! and bow wow!) in amounts equivalent to the alcohol consumed by a 130-pound man who takes a half pint of straight whisky without stopping for a breather.

When the pups were properly plastered and apparently not caring if they ever shagged a bone again, the doctors made blood tests and measured the alcohol concentration periodically—both before and after serving the chemical "chaser."

While they offered no suggestions that human bar flies take a lesson from the dogs, the doctors pointed out a relationship between the chemical used on the Bowers and the chemical reactions that take place in the human system when a man eats a good meal of carbohydrates before doing any elbow-bending.

They explained that sodium pyruvate is the same chemical that is produced as one of the breakdown products when carbohydrates like sugar are consumed in the human body.

Other doctors at the meeting said the report left the inference that the sodium pyruvate, if taken in properly controlled quantities, might effect sobriety more quickly than does the ordinary hearty meal.

PRESSURE OF ARGENTINA SWAYS CHILE'S POLICY

The presence of the Argentine Foreign Minister, Enrique Ruiz Guinazu, at the inauguration of Chile's new President, Juan Antonio Rios, goes far toward explaining the declaration of Rios that he has no immediate plans to break with the Axis. At Santiago as at Rio de Janeiro earlier this year the Argentine diplomat was exerting his influence to block a united front on the part of the American republics against the Rome Berlin-Tokyo combine. At the Chilean capital he no doubt used every argument at his command to prevent Chile from siding with the nineteen other American countries which have served relations with the totalitarian powers for in that even Argentina would be left completely out in the cold protected only by the flimsy covering of a self-proclaimed neutrality.

And Argentina was combating its old enemy, the United States. A few days ago when the Inter-American Defense Board was set up in Washington it was announced that only those nations which co-operate with the United States for the defense of the Western Hemisphere would be given the weapons of defense and the benefits under the Lend-Lease Law. An exception, however, was made of Chile because its coastline was highly vulnerable and because the people were believed to be overwhelmingly opposed to the aggressor nations. In preventing an anti-Axis declaration by President Rios, Argentina has scored a temporary victory over the North American republic and gained a companion in its isolation.

But President Rios is a champion of democratic principles. His election platform declared, "Democracy must be maintained by a government founded on public order and discipline." In his inaugural address he intimated that he would break with the Axis if the "national will" calls for it. But since the Rio de Janeiro conference there has been no expression of the public will except to elect Rios who came out strongly for inter-American solidarity. Congress is yet to convene to pass on the recommendations of the Rio de Janeiro meeting.

For the present therefore Chile is playing Argentina's little game of not antagonizing the Axis nations in the hope of trading with them in the event of their eventual victory. Like Argentina Chile's trade is largely with Europe. Because of its wealth of copper and nitrates it has been especially courted by the Nazis but the country is unmistakably anti-Hitler. It is also anti-Axis but it is seriously menaced by Axis organizations. When Congress speaks it may be a different language from that of President Rios and the influence of the Argentine Foreign Minister may be of no avail.—Courier-Journal.

• The downtown section was crowded all Sunday afternoon, with picture shows having good crowds, and many out of town people seemed to be here during the afternoon. There was really more automobile movement than for the past few weeks, with many cars rolling along the highway streets and not seeming to be trying to save rubber. Perhaps it was just the restlessness which comes to all of us in the spring, and perhaps a lot of these travelers felt that they might just as well use rubber on this beautiful Easter Sunday even if tires gave out later.

TAFT WOULD CREATE BOARD TO FIX PROFITS CEILING

Administration Leaders Move To Compromise Matter

Washington, —Senator Taft (R., Ohio), proposed today creation of a board to fix ceilings on war profits, while administration leaders moved to compromise a 6 per cent profit limitation inserted by the House in a pending military appropriations bill.

Taft told reporters he had little doubt that the Senate appropriations committee would strike the House amendment out of the $18,301,000,000 military measure. However, Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board and Army and Navy officials were working to present to the committee.

Nelson was reported to have told the committee yesterday that flat limitation was unworkable. Agreeing with Nelson's conclusion, Taft said he was drafting an amendment which would set up a board of Army, Navy and war production experts, charged with fixing the margin of profit that could be made on individual military items.

"I don't think you can successfully set a flat profit limitation on everything," Taft said. "In some instances, 2 per cent might be a very fair profit for the amount of capital necessary to manufacture a

ASLEEP UNDER BED BOYS LOST TO HOURS

Chicago, —Harry Nelson enlisted the aid of police officers and neighbors during his ten-hour search for his son, James 7.

The searchers went to movies, candy stores and other places a youngster with a quarter might be. James left home at 11 a. m. with twenty-five cents he got from his grandfather.

Nelson made frequent return trips home, hoping James would be there. James had returned, however, when no one was home and crawled under his bed and went to sleep. He didn't wake up until 9 o'clock last night.

SPORT TALK

It begins to seem that the Kitty League will again face the barrier with the same eight clubs which finished a successful season in 1941. Last minute wire-pulling seems to have awakened the Paducah folks to a belated belief that this year might be a big year for the Indians and over the past few weeks some real work has been done in getting things under way there. Mayfield has the necessary money on hand and is only waiting to see what Paducah will do. The Browns will be ready as soon as Paducah really proves that a team will be entered in the league, for Mayfield was only being dropped to bring the league down to six clubs in the event Paducah dropped out. The Browns had failed to post the forfeit money and at the meeting here a week ago it was decided that Mayfield would be dropped if it was necessary to form a six-club loop. Now it is believed that both teams will be ready.

Greatest obstacle in Paducah now is securing a manager and players. So much delay has been encountered that all of the prospects for managers have been taken on elsewhere, and a lot of men who might like the job of managing the Indians may be scared to take over a club which has no players and the season's opening only a few weeks away. However, if financial arrangements are finally perfected it seems probable that manager and players can be secured. Mayfield has none of these problems, for the Browns are hooked up with the St. Louis Browns and this big league club has always managed to get a good manager and good players for the little Browns. Right now it seems a certainty that the Kitty will start with the same eight clubs which made up the circuit last year. All of the towns except Paducah and Mayfield have made their plans, and Mayfield has only to tell the parent club that things are ready and they will get a manager and players. Training opens at the local park on the 20th of April and Manager Moon Mullen will bring several players here from Winston-Salem North Carolina, who are under Detroit contracts. Others who are not under Detroit ownership will report directly to Fulton.

Coach Garrett will get his Bulldogs down to real practice this week, for he has a practice game scheduled for them on Friday afternoon in Tiptonville. While these practice games mean little, the local mentor would like for his boys to make a good showing, and also would like for them to get the feel of actual contact in real play. The local squad never has enough material for real scrimmage and only by these practice games can the coach give the boys the game training they will need. Little is known of the Tiptonville team, for the Bulldogs have not played that team in several years. As a general rule Tiptonville has a pretty fair team, and last year had a rather strong outfit. They defeated Martin and Union City during the '41 season, but it is understood that the team was largely lost by graduation and must be built from the bottom for next fall. The backfield is said to be rather light, but fast, with an average line, but the Bulldogs will play the game with a large number of boys who have never played a game before.

One or two days last week the Bulldogs looked pretty good in their practice sessions, according to Coach Garrett. He is still putting in a lot of time teaching fundamentals of tackling and blocking, but started the boys last week on some of the running plays which will be used next year. Frankly the boys have not learned those plays effort.

This conclusion was reported at Northwestern University today on the basis of nation-wide survey among 9,354 high school pupils. The cross-section of opinion was taken mainly among seniors in both rural and urban areas, and was regarded by the University spokesmen as a definite indication of the attitudes toward educational speed-ups held by the approximately 1,000,000 forthcoming June high graduates.

"Soundness" Seen

University spokesmen said the students queried said they preferred one of three types of accelerated programs to the traditional four-year course with annual summer vacations, leading Dr. Franklin B. Snyder, Northwestern's president, to say:

"Two significant facts emerge from this poll. First, the younger generation's willingness to break with tradition even in such a conservative field as higher education. Second, and even more important, is the soundness of American youth, and its grasp of the realities of today in education as well as on the production line."

Fifty per cent of the boys and 45 per cent of the girls favored accelerated college programs, and it was indicated many of the boys voted against speed-ups only because they felt they must work during summer vacations.

Speed-Up Plan

Evanston, Ill. —Almost half of the Nation's high school students prefer to speed up their college education—even to forego their traditional summer vacations—to any too well, and many times some of them got their assignments mixed up. However, this will come along faster this week, and Coach Garrett hopes the boys will have two or three running plays with which they are familiar by Friday afternoon.

It is hoped that one or two other practices games can be arranged, for Coach Garrett is anxious to give the boys all the real game practice possible this spring. There will be about three weeks next fall for practice before the first game, and the coach wants the boys to learn as much as possible this spring.
