THE LISTENING POST

I WAS an involuntary witness and hearer of so much industry yesterday morning that it left me all tired out before the day really started. Watching and hearing others work very hard usually has that effect on me--I do not know what effect it would have if I happened to be actively involved in a lot of hard work. Anyhow, here is the story of how my early morning sleep was disturbed Monday morning.

I really go to town sleeping the last couple of hours of a night and there is nothing I like better than to wake at some unearthly hour, say four o'clock, and realize I have two or three more hours for sleep. This happened Monday morning. Some sudden sound disturbed me slightly and I remember waking for a moment and realizing it was far too early to get up. Ah, me that is the most delicious feeling on earth--to be about half awake and with eyes weighted down with the desire for more sleep and then realizing that one can simply go back to sleep. That happened Monday morning, and before I hardly knew I had wakened I was sleeping again.

I am uncertain whether I dreamed or not. I have a vague feeling that I dreamed I was on some battle front and dive bombers were roaring down on my position in a never-ending stream. I was terribly frightened. That much I know, for when I did wake my heart was pounding from the fright I had experienced. For an instant I had a cold feeling that I had not been dreaming, for just outside my window was the roar of internal combustion motors. True, they did not sound a lot like dive bombers--which I have heard many times in the movies--but they did not have the sound of ordinary automobile motors. I finally decided I was awake and that an unearthly racket was really coming in from quite nearby.

Laboriously and reluctantly, I dragged myself to the window and saw the dim outlines of some sort of automobiles there in the lane. It was too dark to make them out very well, but I also saw the figures of men as they walked back and forth across the headlights which shone from one machine. I decided, with what little evidence I had, that a car had stalled itself in a ditch, and a wrecker was trying to pull it out. And it was then about five o'clock--which is plenty early for such noises.

Well, the work went on and I became wide awake. I finally saw one of the vehicles pull away from the other and start up the lane. Going to the door I saw that it was a wagon-like truck and finally decided that the other machine was a tractor. After another few minutes the tractor eased off on its loud roaring and settled down into a steady beat, and when I looked again the dratted thing was moving up and down the field, and evidently plowing the said field. It had a small light on it, and it made quite a ghostly sight to see it moving up and down that field. Now and then the motor would roar out as the plows evidently struck some hard earth, but in the main that tractor just kept moving up and down that field, and at dawn, when I saw the place, the field had all been plowed over and all signs of the early morning invasion had faded away. There was no tractor and no truck; the only evidence remaining was a field that had not been plowed at dusk

Germany Importing More Slave Labor To Keep Industries Going

Washington. —Germany expects to boost to more than 4,000,000 the number of once-free men and women now working in the Reich under the Nazi system of "slave labor," the Office of Facts and Figures reported Sunday.

Foreign broadcasts monitored by the Federal Communications Commission show that Nazi labor representatives are operating from Riga to Rome to get manpower for Germany, the OFF said.

The crushing need for labor, Field Marshal Goering declared, "will be met by the application of unstable auxiliary laborers from occupied Eastern territories, and by the use of foreigners and prisoners of war." Broadcasts heard from Berlin show that German employment offices are located strategically throughout all of occupied Europe, OFF said. In Poland alone, there are 22 offices, with 70 branches and 500 subbranches. In Russia, more than 140 such offices have been set up to get workers for the Third Reich, OFF declared.

Italy, a recent Berlin broadcast said, sent 300,000 workers to Germany in 1941, 8 per cent of them women. The broadcast also predicted that this figure would soon reach 400,000, OFF reported.

Poland, the largest supplier, has at least 1,100,000 of its people working in Germany. About half of these are working on farms and other agricultural projects. Approximately 250,000 of the total number are women, the Weischel radio stated.

France Sends Many France already has given more than 150,000 workers and "since the beginning of 30 trains with about 1000 workers each have been leaving France for the Reich," the Berlin radio reported.

Ford Spokesman Say Automobile Industry Is Hitting Its Stride

Detroit. —William J. Cameron, Ford Motor Co. spokesman, pledged Detroit industry in a radio broadcast today to the production "in irresistible quantities" of the materials and machinery of war.

The day when his pledge will be fulfilled is at hand, Cameron declared, adding: "Things could be and will be better, but there is nothing to justify the notion that the country is lagging away behind."

Thus dismissing what he called "the controversies of sidewalk superintendents," Cameron turned to a guarded discussion of the war production achievements of his own company.

"When I say the Ford Motor Company is all out for war production, I don't mean the company you used to know—the company that made motorcars," Cameron said.

"I mean a company—or rather a plant—that was not in existence a year ago, a plant that has actually doubled in size to take care of war work and is doing things it never did before, some of which a year and a half ago were deemed impossible. x x x

"There are, of course, restrictions on what we can tell you about this work. But we can say that an aircraft engine plant, built in one winter, is now and has been for months producing aircraft engines. And we can say that, where one year ago there was a long stretch of woodland—thick woods inhabited only by birds and the denizens of the undergrowth—there is now the largest bomber plant in the world, in which parts of giant planes are beginning to take form and move in orderly procession toward becoming the completed weapon.

"And we can say that these are only two of twenty distinct types of war work undertaken by Mr. Ford and his staff.

Cameron's address was one of a series by Detroit industrialists for weekly broadcast from radio station WJR over a nation-wide (CBS) hookup and to other countries by short wave.

Profits Curb Support Appears To Be Strong Enough For Success

Washington. —Senator Thomas (D., Okla.), today claimed broad congressional support for a sliding scale of limiting profits on war contracts as the Senate Appropriations Committee considered this newest proposal.

"My proposal would amount to a cost-plus-fixed fee basis for all profits," Thomas said. "It would give the little fellow a higher limit than the multi-million-dollar contracts."

The Thomas proposal came before the Appropriations Committee as it considered recommendations for a new $18,300,000,000 wartime appropriation measure which passed the House carrying a rider limiting war contract profits to a flat 6 per cent.

O. K'D In Principle Thomas said his proposal was approved in principle by an appropriations subcommittee and ordered combined with a profit limit provision by Senators O'Mahoney

Washington. — The Japanese hurled wave upon wave of assault troops at Lieutenant General Jonathan Wainwright's American-Filipino forces today, and gained ground in the third day of fierce fighting on the Bataan peninsula.

A late day communique from the War Department said "the enemy made some gains," although paying heavily in casualties. Anti-aircraft gunners shot down one dive bomber, the second they have bagged in two days.

On the east coast of the peninsula, where the Japanese have been repulsed twice in the last 72 hours in attempt to land troops for flank attack, enemy artillery harassed the defenses, firing from barges in Manila Bay. Most of the shells fell short of their targets, the communique said.

Seventh Drive The action reported today was the seventh massed drive against the Bataan defenses in less than two weeks. Since Saturday the hammering at the right center of Wainwright's line has been almost continuous.

A morning communique, covering the fighting of yesterday, had reported the Japanese unable to gain and related the frustration of the second attempt to land troops from barges on the peninsula shore.

Light artillery fire from the beach defenses had broken up this landing attempt, a department communique said, and the Japanese, despite the tremendous power of the attack on the Bataan line, were unable in several hours of savage fighting to extend the slight gains they had made in a similar attack the day before.

The repeated heavy Japanese drives at the American-Filipino line were taken by observers in Washington as meaning that Lieutenant General Tomoyuki Yamashita, the Japanese commander, was determined to force his way through the line at that point, regardless of the cost in men and equipment.

May Force Withdrawal

This grim view of the situation was accompanied by predictions that, if Yamashita was willing to disregard casualties, he probably would be able eventually to crush the stout opposition and force a general withdrawal by the defenders to new positions farther down the peninsula, possible even to a last-ditch stand at Corregidor.

(D., Wyo.), and Overton (D., La.), also offered as a substitute for the flat 6 per cent limit voted by the House.

The sliding scale provision would allow a profit up to 10 per cent on war contracts of $100,000 and less, and the profit ceiling would decrease on larger amounts until contracts for $50,000,000 would carry a profit limit of 3 per cent, with 2 per cent on all above that amount.

Details Not Solved Chairman McKellar (D., Ten.), of the subcommittee which held hearings on the new appropriation and profits dispute told reporters the latter question was undecided and "will be left up to the full committee or the entire Senate."

Thomas told reporters a number of details were involved in his proposal, but confidently asserted that these would be worked out by the Senate-House committee which must adjust differences in the legislation.

AN OUTRAGEOUS BLOB OF NON-SENSE

There are a few feeble signs of something doing about the horde of press relations agents and the tons of useless printed matter congregating in and emanating from Washington. This business runs from the top to the bottom of government and it has infested the Army and Navy.

Every newspaper desk in America groans daily under this load of "hokey." You get everything on the mail desk from close-ups of big shots, fit to scare little children to death, to willow wampuses guaranteed to get the "crick" out of grandfather's back, together with reams on what Mr. Whoosis and Mrs. Whoosis think about everything from soldier nutrition to the folding of three cornered underwear.

One American newspaper, which had the time to do it, figures that its own receipts cost the taxpayers a good $100 a day just for pictures of do-dads and do-nothings. 95 per cent of which went into the wastebaskets, already stuffed with undelivered congressional speeches and dollar-a-year bleats. Few newspapers have checked this closely, for in practically every office the mass of the stuff goes unopened to be returned to the government as waste paper, infinitely less valuable than it was in its pristine state, but definitely more valuable than the stuff imprinted on it.

The general public simply cannot conceive of the amount of waste that goes into this uninformative mass, nor can it possibly figure the millions of dollars that are rolled out in the payrolls for these "press agents," many of whom never saw a newspaper office except from the outside, who have no conception of what is and is not news and are actually only concerned with being able to show the higher-ups how many cart loads of junk they had penned and how much of it they hoped had been printed.

This may sound like a little thing but it isn't unless we consider nothing below a billion worth looking at. Such waste is not new. It has gone on for years. Congress was formerly the chief culprit but since the day when bureaus and commissions and the alphabetical superlatives began to bloom like the lilies of the field the whole Washington kaboodle has stuck a hand in it.

It is the most expensive memorial to pompousness and fatuous ambition ever erected and if anyone has an urge to tell his Congressman something besides what he is saving up for him he would do well to stick this in.

When your favorite newspaper or magazine has to curtail its size because of a paper shortage it will be very consoling, we are sure, to know that this assiduity is still being indulged in for the sole entertainment of the wastebasket. Sun-Democrat.

the night before was now fully and completely plowed.

"I do not know why the work was done so early. I presume that the man who owned the tractor probably had a full day's work somewhere else and decided to knock off this little field before starting on the real day's work. There are only two items which I am certain are true. The first is that the field was plowed between sundown and dawn; the other is that for a few minutes I was scared out of my wits. A remaining certainty is that I was tired before I got up and lost a couple of hours of the best sleep I ever get.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH PAY OFF EN-TIRE CHURCH DEBT

On Easter Sunday the First Christian Church raised the balance due on the Church debt. A special service is being planned for Sunday, April 26, to burn the $10,000 mortgage which was negotiated in 1928 when the present beautiful building was erected.

All year the local congregation has had as its goal "Out of Debt by Easter 1942." The realization that the goal actually had been reached brought an added note of reverence and joy to the Easter service, which was attended by one of the largest audiences at a regular service in several years. More Than $4300.00 has been paid on the Church Debt by the small congregation in less than a year, and they are glad to be able to present their worshipful sanctuary to the community free of all indebtedness.

The present Church building was erected at a cost of $32,000.00 in 1928 after a disastrous fire destroyed the former church building early on Sunday morning. In addition to the Insurance they raised $12,000.00 in cash and secured a loan of $10,000.00 from the Board of Church Extension. Soon after the building was finished almost a third of the congregation was scattered to other communities when the Illinois Central railroad shops were moved from Fulton. In spite of the handicap caused by the loss of so many active members, and the added burden of a long depression the local congregation had remained faithful to the Church and finally has completed the worthy goal of paying off of its financial obligations in full.

Sheppard Field, Texas. —Recently a Sheppard Field cadet made a long distance telephone call. He told the folks back home that he was being sent to the hospital with a case of mumps. But then the medical officers told him that he didn't have them.

To save his folks worry, the soldier called home again and reassured them that he did not, positively did not, have the mumps.

Right now he would like to phone home again. You see . . . now he does have the mumps.

GERMAN SEA RAIDER IS BACK FROM DEAD

Vessel Was Believed Sunk Month Ago in Battle

A German war reporter's story broadcast from Berlin Sunday said the formidably armed Nazi surface raider Kormoran, which the German High Command once admitted had been lost in the Indian Ocean, was loose on a mission in the Atlantic in the company of other powerfully armored naval forces.

Describing a casual rendezvous of the Kormoran with German submarines, the war reporter, Fritz List, said "some time ago we were lying side by side with a German heavily armored giant"—phraseology which might be used to describe the 35,000-ton battleship Tirpitz or some of Adolf Hitler's other battleships, pocket battleships or heavy cruisers.

The 9,000-ton Kormoran figured in one of the most tantalizingly mysterious episodes of the war last November when it fought a blazing duel with the gallant Australian Cruiser Sydney in which each apparently was sunk by the broadsides of the other.

All that ever was learned of the battle by the Australians was from two boatloads of survivors from the Kormoran who said their own ship was blown up and that the last seen of the Sydney was when she went over the horizon with a fire blazing amidships. No survivors of the Sydney were found.

The German High Command, claiming a victory over the Sydney, nevertheless admitted that their own ship "had to be abandoned."

It is quite apparent now that there will soon be restrictions on building and remodeling of private homes. Shortages of critical materials bring this to the Nation, and plans are already made for reducing the use of these materials.

SPORT TALK

Interest in golf is beginning to pick up quite a lot here and many players were on the course Sunday afternoon. As yet little work has been done on the grounds, but already the fairways are green and inviting, and it does not seem that a great deal of work will have to be done on the greens this year. All of them seem well covered in grass right now and with the moisture that has soaked into them from the heavy rains, plus the water that will be available this year from the two fine wells, it seems certain the local course can hope for far better greens this year than usual. Last year, when the new well was put into service and the greens were kept well watered, many of them came back after they had seemed burned out. It has been the theory of many that the great need for the greens here was plenty of water, and perhaps this theory can be tested this year. The Fulton course has always had the best fairways in this entire section and strangers who play the course for the first time are always enthusiastic over this feature. Poor greens are an abomination to all golfers, but the magnificent fairways here made players frequently forget the poor greens. Perhaps this year we can add good greens to the many other attractions and if so, Fulton will have the best golf course to be found anywhere, bar none.

Reports from Mayfield and Paducah indicate much interest in golf there. Mayfield has a large number of Army officers in residence there, these being the overflow from the Army camp in Paris, and many of these are interested in golf. The Mayfield club hopes to get many new members from among these Army men, and this will be a big help to the club there. Naturally every town is losing many younger players as the armed forces take them away one by one, but in Mayfield there are enough new citizens to more than make up for this. Paducah is also expecting the same thing to happen on a large scale. Within a few weeks work will start there on the huge ordnance plant, and this work is expected to bring eight to twelve thousand new citizens to the Mcracken County metropolis. Naturally not all these will be golf players, for this is first a construction job, with its accompaniment of trailer camps and swiftly changing workers. However, there will be hundreds who will be interested in golf, and later there will be many permanent citizens who will come in to operate the plant. It seems certain that all this will mean tremendous help to golf in those two towns. It will be remembered how the golf course boomed at Humboldt last year with the building of the shell loading plant at Milan, a considerable distance from Humboldt. The Humboldt course did a land office business on Saturdays and Sundays all last year and it was not possible for the club to have its regular tournaments with neighboring towns—at any rate, these could not be played on Sundays. It seems likely that the same thing will be repeated in Mayfield and Paducah.

This same feature is also figured to help the baseball team in Paducah this year, for with ten thousand new citizens it seems reasonable that there would be many baseball fans among them. All told, it seems that sports should do pretty well in Mayfield and Paducah this year—even through the football season next fall. Particularly will this be true in Mayfield and Paducah came up with championship grid squads, as seems more likely just now.

That there will be a decided shortage of golf balls seems certain. I hear of many persons who have ordered balls without success, and right now it seems certain that losing a ball this summer will be on the order of a major tragedy. The public course at Paducah has ordered all rough cut as closely as possible in order to make finding balls easier, and there plans have been made to have many old balls recovered.

The Lewisburg Prison factory has just been awarded an Army ordnance contract for manufacture of fins for aerial bombs, the Justice Department announced Sunday. James V. Bennett, director of prisons, said factories in some penal institutions were working two and three shifts a day on goods used by the Army and Navy. As examples of the stepup in production, he said that during the four months ended Feb. 28, compared with the corresponding period a year earlier, sounded along the New England coast today, but was called off two hours later by what army officials termed "evaporation of the suspicious circumstances which caused it."

Spokesman for the New England sector of the coastal defense said the alert was a routine test, called as a precaution whenever the army is investigating a report, rumor or suspicious circumstance along the shore.

ARMY WILL STEP UP JAPANESE REMOVAL

Potential Evacuees Warned To Get Affairs In Order

San Francisco, —Army officials Sunday night said removal of enemy aliens and Japanese-Americans from military zones will be stepped up and warned potential evacuees to put their affairs in order immediately.

Three new sites, Tranforan Race Track at San Bruno, Calif., the Los Angeles Fairgrounds at Pomona, and the Golden Hop Yards at Toppenish, Wash., were added to more than a dozen other assembly centers to which Japanese will be assigned pending their transfer to Manzanar, Calif., and other induction centers.

Carl B. Anderson, directing the removal task, ordered evacuees to make arrangements immediately for disposal of their property through the Federal Reserve Bank and Western Civil Control Administration offices in more than 60 cities.

"Neglected personal and property matters will not for one moment obstruct the removal," he said.

In addition, job training programs are underway at some institutions. HOME FOLKS SPEED WAR EFFORT

THIS IS AN "ALL-OUT" WAR; everybody has a hand in its conduct. One of us points the direction. Another puts his shoulder to the wheel. Still another does his duty—and a full one—by merely stepping out of the way.

Which is why we of the Illinois Central would like to thank some unsung heroes among the home folks. We'd like to pin a few congratulations on those among our customers who are helping the nation by helping us to render better and faster transportation. Such transportation is an absolute essential for the support of the boys in camp, as well as those who are over there—and there—and there.

Worthy of special mention because the general public so seldom sees their contributions are the shippers and receivers of freight who are speeding up their loading and unloading of cars, forecasting their needs, loading cars more heavily, organizing for better shipping and greater efficiency in freight practice all around.

In passenger service, too, our patrons are showing their desire to further our war effort in a number of ways. Noticeable on our trains is the tendency to travel with less baggage—to take along only those things that are essential to the trip. This means more room in baggage cars, coaches and sleeping cars, greater comfort, more pleasant and less expensive travel.

Passengers are additionally helpful, too, by making reservations well in advance, by taking space that is immediately available rather than waiting for preferred space, by arranging their itineraries to avoid periods when travel is heavy, such as week-ends. Thanks are due especially for the prompt cancellation of reserved space when change of plans must be made.

The Illinois Central is determined to continue to provide the most comfortable, safe and convenient transportation it possibly can throughout this great emergency. The consideration our patrons are so liberally giving us is immensely helpful to that end.

AIR-MAIL FOR ADOLF!

When that special-delivery bomb drops on Berlin, it will probably be marked "Made in U.S.A." No other country can compare with America's war production, now that we're really rolling. No other has the men, the machines—or the electric power. It takes a tremendous lot of power to turn the wheels that turn out tanks, planes and ships for all the United Nations—but America is power-full.

You can thank the men and management of America's electric companies for that.

They looked and planned ahead. They were really ready when war came—with more electric power than Germany, Japan and Italy combined. They were able to meet sudden military and industrial demands all over the map.

Here is a business built the American way—by local enterprise and individual investment—dedicated to defending the American way until the last bit of air-mail has been delivered to the last dictator!

Our own electric power stations and transmission lines now supply more than one million kilowatt-hours every day (over 30,000,000 kilowatt-hours a month) to make planes, guns, tanks and other weapons to whip the Japs and Nazis.
