ADVENT LETTERS FROM HEAD OF PADUCAH CONCERN SHOWN BY THE PRETTY NATTY STONE

WHERE TO SUIT AGAINST MILLIONAIRES JOHN D. HOLLINGSHEAD, OF PADUCAH COOPERAGE CO.

The following letter was written to the editor of the "Paducah Daily Register," expressing dissatisfaction with the efforts of Mr. John D. Hollingshead, head of the Paducah Cooperage Co., to establish a Jewish settlement in the city. The letter was signed "Rosh Hashanah, Jewish New Year.

Dear Sir,

I am writing to express my frustration with the efforts of Mr. John D. Hollingshead, head of the Paducah Cooperage Co., to establish a Jewish settlement in the city. I believe that this is a misguided effort that will do more harm than good.

First of all, I believe that the Jewish community already has a strong presence in the city, and there is no need to establish a separate settlement. The Jewish community already contributes significantly to the economy and culture of the city, and there is no reason to believe that a separate settlement would be beneficial.

Secondly, I believe that the establishment of a Jewish settlement would only serve to create tension and division in the city. The Jewish community has always been a peaceful and tolerant one, and I believe that a separate settlement would only serve to reinforce the perception of the Jewish community as a separate and distinct group.

Finally, I believe that the resources of the city would be better served by investing in the existing Jewish community, rather than establishing a separate settlement. The Jewish community already has a variety of resources, including schools, temples, and social services, and there is no need to duplicate these resources in a separate settlement.

I urge you to consider these points and to make a decision that will benefit the city as a whole, rather than a select group of people.

Yours sincerely,

Rosh Hashanah

Star League in Indiana Adopts Carnegie Board's Recommendations

Indiana, Ind. Nov. 9.—The Star League in Indiana has adopted the Carnegie spelling board, as recommended by President Roosevelt in 1897. The first step has been to place on the front page of the newspapers the notice: "The new rate law is in effect, but the transition periods have not yet begun."

There is much happiness among the editors of this state in general. Some time since the members of the state's chamber of commerce had urged that the movement set out on foot to build a new line of newspapers in the city of St. Louis. The city, which has been the center of the movement, has been most happy in its efforts to get the new board in on the idea and it has been successful. The new rate law has been of great use to the board in its efforts to get the new plan under way. The light was made at the office of Star League of Newspapers, and it is understood that such a state will have the power to do it if it so desires. The Carnegie spelling board has been adopted by the Star League of Newspapers, and it is understood that such a state will have the power to do it if it so desires.
