THE

● One of the most interesting theories of the war appeared yesterday in Walter Lippman's column. Mr. Lippman is one of the most studious men of the Nation and while not all will agree with many of his theories, it must be admitted that he usually makes a strong case for his beliefs. This was particularly true of this latest theory, and all told, his column was one of the most interesting he has ever written.

● Like other students of the world conflict Mr. Lippman was attempting an interpretation of Hitler's recent speech. Beyond the shadow of all doubt, Hitler's speech was something new for him. Nowhere did he promise victory. Bombast was strangely missing, and not only between the lines, but several times in the open, it was clear that the German dictator was badly worried and also puzzled by certain aspects of the situation. He did not promise even a victory over Russia this summer; on this point he merely said that his armies would be better prepared for the Russian winter next year. He admitted that only by a near-miracle did the German armies escape catastrophe during the winter which is now ending on the long and bitter Russian front. He did promise a full measure of retaliation for the British bombs which are now spattering an ever-widening area in Germany and German-held areas on the Continent.

● Mr. Lippman discussed what he meant by saying that Britain could not stand against Europe, and this is where his theory comes to life. Hitler, Mr. Lippman says, considers himself as Europe. He likes to fancy himself as really being the European continent and its champion. Speaking of the heavy losses the British Empire has suffered, Mr. Lippman points to the hard fact that none of these losses have been inflicted by Hitler. In only the small and insignificant Channel Islands of the coast of France have Nazi troops taken a foot of territory away from England. The heavy losses in territory have been at the hands of Japan only, and as Mr. Lippman points out quite logically, Hitler might claim a little credit for this. Britain has kept her forces at home, in the defense of her own islands and in defense of the conquered free nations of Europe, at the expense of her colonial possessions. This does not prove to the conquered nations that Britain is an enemy of Europe; on the contrary, it proves that she is willing to fight the battle for their freedom. Unless such forces had been kept at home; if great aid had not been given Russia in her epic battle against the Nazi, Britain could have spared sufficient men and ships and planes to defend the Far East and defeat Japan.

● Mr. Lippman professes to see the hidden meaning of some of the things Hitler said. He claims that Hitler's hidden thought is to interest the British in some sort of alliance against Russia and Japan. His idea is to get rid of Churchill and elevate some man on the order of Laval to the British leadership. Then a peace could be arranged which would unite England and Germany against the forces of Russia and Japan. That, Mr. Lippman asserts, has long been the dream of Hitler—to pose as the champion of the white race, as the champion of Europe, against all other races. He realizes that his alliance with Japan, a yellow race, is making ridiculous his strident claims for the supremacy of the Aryan race; and there is no doubt a deep fear that Japan, by her stunning victories, is really building an empire where Germany hoped to build one.

● Naturally no one can say with any certainty what was in Hitler's mind, but Mr. Lippman does present an interesting theory. There is no doubt that a vast change has come over Hitler. The text of the FIXED OVER U. S.

Washington.—Price Administrator Leon Henderson tonight placed a ceiling on the retail price of motor fuel throughout the country. In all localities except for seven eastern states and the District of Columbia the retail price may not exceed the maximum charged by each individual service station during March.

For the Atlantic seaboard states, the maximum price was fixed at the highest rate charged during March plus 4 of a cent a gallon for gasoline and 2 of a cent a gallon for Diesel fuel.

Effective May 18
The new maximums will become effective May 18.

The OPA explained that the increase over March levels in the Atlantic seaboard area was being allowed in view of present transportation conditions.

Ralph K. Davies, deputy petroleum co-ordinator, meanwhile predicted that gasoline rationing soon may be necessary in states outside the East.

At the same time, it was learned the Office of Defense Transportation is considering issuance of an order controlling tank car movements.

Release Requested
Replying to a letter from Senator George (D. Ga.), Davies wrote: "We are calling on those sections which have adequate supplies of petroleum products to assist in our transportation problem through the release of tank cars, barges and other facilities to those areas where shortages exist. Thus, areas not now affected by curtailment may be at an early date."DRYDEN NAMED HEAD OF W. P. A.

Washington.—F. H. Dryden, 51, Deputy Commissioner of Works Projects, became acting head of the W. P. A. today, to serve until President Roosevelt names a successor to Commissioner Howard O. Hunter, who announced his resignation in New Orleans last night.

Dryden, a native of Pocomoke City, Md., formerly served as Maryland W. P. A. Administrator and as the agency's regional head for several Eastern States. He was an officer of engineers during the first World War and before entering W. P. A. work was a consulting engineer.

MacKenzie Says U. S. Hope Not Based On Nazi Internal Unrest

Gadsden, Ala.—Despite signs of discontent in Germany, the Allied nations must not tie their fortunes to the uncertain hope of an internal collapse there, DeWitt MacKenzie, Wide World war analyst, says.

In an address last night before the annual Alabama Rotary Convention, the veteran news writer said that "in considering this possibility, there is one thing we mustn't overlook."

"Quite apart from the privations which most certainly are descending on the German people, they have no great spiritual cause for which to battle. They know in their hearts that the war of their fuhrer is the way of an aggressor."

Canberra, Australia.—Australia's leaders gave their continent the heartening news today that many more U. S. troops, tanks, planes and guns have reached these shores, but they warned the people earnestly that the threat of Japanese invasion remains very real.

Prime Minister John Curtin and Air Minister Arthur S. Drakeford, in parliamentary speeches, said frankly that Allied air blows had not yet loosened the Japanese grip on the islands to the north, northeast and west, and that these were being reinforced with sinister purpose.

Private advices from an advanced Allied base bore them out, and so did Tokyo's own utterances.

Expect Attack

The Allied base dispatches said a full-scale Japanese attack on Port Moresby, Australian outpost on New Guinea to the north of the continent, might be expected within two weeks. At least 15 enemy ships were reported concentrated at Rabaul, New Britain, with others off Lae, New Guinea. The Japanese also were reported massing new and better warplanes in the northern islands.

Tokyo broadcasts yesterday reported the occupation, as of April 19, of "all strategically important bases" on the northern side of Dutch New Guinea and in the Molucca Islands to the west, all of which might be used for attack on the North Australian coast.

U. S. fliers raided the airdrome at Lae again yesterday, destroying an ammunition dump, and fought off eight bombers and 14 fighters which attacked the Allied airdrome at Port Moresby.

Telling of the newest contingent of the A. E. F., the prime minister said:

"Strong additional United States reinforcements, which are well equipped and which include important technical units, have arrived."

Better Equipment

"The equipment position, has materially improved. In addition to acceleration of local production of munitions, supplies of tanks and guns are arriving from overseas in increasing numbers, and quantities of vital war equipment have been received from ships originally destined for the Dutch East Indies."

"Supplies of modern United States aircraft have made possible reinforcement of our northern air bases, resulting in constant raiding of the Japanese bases in New Guinea, New Britain and Timor."

May Affect 50,000 Persons If
FDR's Salary Limit Is Adopted

Washington.—At least 50,000 persons, including President Roosevelt himself, have incomes over $25,000 a year—the figure which the Chief Executive said ought to be an individual's maximum after payment of taxes.

In 1940, last year for which income tax studies are available, 50,747 persons reported incomes of $25,000 or greater. However, probably no more than half that number at most had $25,000 left after paying the tax collector.

Under present tax laws, a person can earn up to about $40,000 a year, after paying federal taxes, stay within the President's limit. But in about half the states, state income taxes also take a chunk out of large incomes.

President Roosevelt's salary is $75,000 and he has addition income from personal property. He pays federal and New York state income taxes.

Incidentally, in connection with the talk of salaries, White House officials said today the Chief Executive is a poorer man than when he became President. While his mother left him the major portion of an estate of more than $1,000,000, it was explained, he will not come into possession of it for another year because it is in process of settlement.

Treasury reports—the latest available—show that 41 persons paid tax on 1939 incomes in excess of $1,000,000 but do not disclose their names.

There is a long list, however, of corporation executives, movie and radio stars who, it is known, will be hard hit if Congress enacts Mr. Roosevelt's proposal.

Here are some salaries paid to individuals in 1940 as disclosed by the corporation reports to the securities and exchange commission.

Louis B. Mayer, $679,048 as managing director of production for Lowe's Inc., motion picture company; Eugene G. Grace, $478,144 as president of Bethlehem Steel Corp.; George W. Hill, $456,415 as president American Tobacco Company; Hunt Stromberg, $332,667 as supervisor of production for Lowe's; Nicholas M. Schenck, $318,881 as president Lowe's.

ROBERT W. BURROW
ELECTED PRESIDENT OF YOUNG MEN'S CLUB

Succeeds R. E. Sanford, Who Resigned

Robert Wells Burrow was elected president of the Young Men's Business club for the ensuing six months, succeeding R. E. Sanford, who resigned, at the meeting of the club Tuesday night at the Rainbow Room. Harold Thomas succeeds Mr. Burrow as vice-president of the club. Other officers are: M. L. Parker, secretary, J. Paul Bushart, assistant secretary, and B. J. Pigue, treasurer. The Board of Directors is made up of Guy Fry, Hendon Wright, James Meacham and Foad Homma.

The key award, which is given to a YMCA member every six months for outstanding civic service, was presented to Robert W. Burrow, for his work in organizing the Red Cross First Aid classes.

James Meacham, who has charge of the committee for retaining the Fulton High band during the summer months reported that it was probable that the money would be raised for the band expenses during the summer. He stated that all the groups had been heard from except the Chamber of Commerce and it seems likely that the money will be available.

M. L. Parker, chairman of the recreation center committee, reported on the progress being made for starting a recreation center for the service men, who are in Fulton between trains, etc. He is being assisted on this project by Mrs. Pete Roberts, American Legion Auxiliary and G. F. Landsen, American Legion.

After the business session a Quiz program was put on by Harold Thomas, W. L. Holland and M. L. Parker.

LABOR ACTION FOR INDEFINITE TIME

Washington.—In a move generally interpreted as paralyzing congressional action on any labor legislation for the present, the Senate today indefinitely postponed debate on the Connally bill authorizing the government to seize and operate strike-bound war plants.

The Connally bill provided for freezing labor conditions in such plants, and authorized a special board to adjust wages. If the chamber had opened debate on the measure, several Senators were prepared to offer amendments establishing a forty-eight-hour week at regular pay in war industries, freezing open and closed shops, limiting union initiation fees and outlawing jurisdictional strikes and boycotts in war plants.

Notion Withdrawn

Declaring that he did not wish to be cast in the role of carrying on "an apparent controversy with the President of the United States," Senator Connally (D., Texas) withdrew a pending motion to bring his measure before the Senate.

Senator Byrd (D., Va.), protested vigorously that this action "means the death of the Connally bill and perhaps any other labor legislation," but his attempts to persuade Connally to preserve his right to revive the motion after a week's delay were unavailing.

The House naval committee scheduled a vote tomorrow on a bill by Representative Vinson (D., Ga.), to suspend the forty-hour week, freeze union status and limit war profits, but congressional leaders said it was obvious that the Senate was in no mood for early consideration of this or any other labor measure even if the House should pass one.

America Is Now Losing War,
Capt. Rickenbacker Declares

Chicago.—Capt. Edward V. Force establishments. He reported Rickenbacker asserted tonight that the United States was losing the war and that Americans would have to develop "a new combat spirit" if they hoped to win it.

The World War flying ace, in an address before the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, contended that since December 7 America has been losing the war "every day, every week and every month."

"In five months our military failures have already prolonged the war two years beyond what it should have been," he asserted. "Whether we like it or not—the next six months will tell the story, whether we are to remain free men and women or are to become slaves."

Visits Air Bases
Rickenbacker, president and general manager of Eastern Air Lines, Inc., recently returned from a 15,000-mile tour of Army Air

Washington.—Manila Bay forts, blasting at the Japanese with heavy artillery fire, sank an enemy ship in the bay and silenced some of the gun batteries in Cavite and Bataan, the War Department reported today.

A communique containing the department's first report on the Philippines in two days, said also that the forts, replying to heavy shelling from the Japanese guns, broke up troop concentrations on both sides of the bay.

The ship, an armed vessel operated in the bay by the Japanese, was described in a report from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Australia as of medium size.

Still Resisting

In Panay, American and Filipino troops still were resisting fiercely the enemy drive for control of that rich central island. Fighting was reported in the vicinity of San Remigio, in the west coast province of Antique, and near Alibunan.

Japanese forces in Panay have been concentrated largely in the ports and in the coastal areas, the communique said, and there has been a noticeable increase in enemy naval strength off the waters of Panay and other islands in the central Visayan group.

These factors, plus the continuing fighting on Cebu and the recently reported aerial reconnaissance of the island of Negros, appeared to be part of a concerted Japanese drive to break up inter-island communications and to find and destroy any remaining air fields in the islands which might be used by American planes.

Guerrillas Carry On

The communique disclosed also that the Japanese had been unable to stamp out resistance on the main island of Luzon, despite the collapse of large-scale opposition with the fall of Bataan.

Although Corregidor and the other island forts at the entrance to Manila Bay have been shelled heavily by Japanese guns in Cavite and Bataan, the department reported that the intensity of air attacks had diminished recently, most of the raids in the last two days being made by dive bombers.

THE ECONOMIC BATTLE GETS UNDER WAY

President Roosevelt has outlined with the great clarity of which he is capable the economic facts of American life in wartime as they apply to the individual home and pocketbook. He has presented to Congress a program which has the important virtue of being comprehensive, though it is certainly stronger in some points than in others. Since it covers in one way or another just about all of the ground, it offers an excellent starting-point in the difficult battle which must be waged against inflation and against profiteering.

And to the latter, the country will, of course, support the most drastic measures. A $25,000 limit on personal net incomes, or whatever limit is found practicable and fair, would reassure the people, but it would not protect them from the grave danger of inflation. It is, as one commentator writes, "a means of getting a little more money for the Treasury, but its chief sanction is that it is good for the morale of the people." However, no tonic to the popular morale would prevail against the debilitating effects of continued price rises, and here is where we wonder if the President is drastic enough.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(April 30, 1927)

Mrs. C. H. Black, mother of Mrs. T. J. Kramer of this city, died last night at her home in Fairfield, Ill. Fulton High students finished second in the interscholastic typing contest held yesterday in Paducah, with schools from West Kentucky and Illinois competing. Tilghman won first place with 34 points, Fulton having 32.2 points. Fulton contestants were Mildred Witt, Elizabeth Butt and Carline Moore.

Miss Rachel Howard, who underwent an operation Monday in a Paducah hospital, is reported improving.

Robert Crowe, Democratic candidate for governor, was in the city today.

Tomorrow is Go to Sunday School Day in Kentucky, and all churches are making plans for enlarged attendance.

Miss Laverne Browder was hostess to the regular meeting of the Lotus Club yesterday at her home on the Hickman road. Mrs. George Hester had charge of the program.

The flood relief fund raised in Fulton now amounts to more than $800. Yesterday students of Grade 4-A of Carr Institute raised $4.00 for the fund.

Secretary Hoover was in Memphis today and stated that he would come back in a couple of weeks to make a further survey of the flood situation. He added that President Coolidge might come to the South this spring to make a personal inspection.

Dr. C. H. Warren begins his ninth year tomorrow as pastor of the First Baptist Church.

pointing out that the 1943 national income, according to various estimates, will be from 27 to 36 billions of dollars more than it was in 1940. That is, the people will have from 30 to 40 per cent more to spend. And by far the larger part of this huge sum will be in the hands of lower-income people—three-fourths of it, our guess is, in the hands of families whose annual earnings are below $2,500 a year. The President said nothing about extension of taxes on the smaller incomes. But the total of these incomes will have a vast effect upon the radically diminished supply of the things people buy and will contribute importantly to the pressures that will work for black markets and the like and against the price ceilings Mr. Roosevelt would apply. There is the real inflationary peril.

Harsh taxes on incomes that already afford little more than the necessities of life are inviting to nobody. The President hopes to drain off part of this excess purchasing power through savings—that is, by a wide distribution of war bonds. This newspaper believes that the most just and certain way to insure such savings.

which are vital to the welfare of everybody now and after the war, is to make them compulsory. The President and the Treasury Department think otherwise, however, and the voluntary plan is to have further trial. This must be a fair and earnest trial. All engaged in the promotion of the sale of war stamps and bonds, and The Courier-Journal regards itself as one of that number, must redouble their zeal and energy making sure that every citizen realizes just what this great investment is and what it means to him. No patriotic service on the home front is more indispensable.

Concerning other points of the President's message, it is obvious that his legislative road would have been made easier if he had been as specific in his wage-ceiling recommendations as he was in his very sound proposals regarding farm-price ceilings. Mr. Roosevelt was courageous in not yielding to the hue and cry about the 40-hour week, still he might have been more definite about wage stabilization. However, half of the whole economic battle lies in getting the country to understand what the problem, and the President contributed to this magnificently, in his message to Congress and again last night. He told the story so well that the average response was probably not dread of sacrifice ahead but surprise, somewhat regretful, that his proposals are not tougher than they are. Certainly, however, they lay the groundwork for a tougher program.—Courier-Journal.

MUSIC AND OUR CULTURED DEFENSES

(Submitted by the Music Department of Woman's Club in observance of National Music Week May 3-9.)

The term "cultured defense" as used in the slogan "Build America's Cultured Defense," is a new one in our musical life, a by-product of the international situation. "Cultured defense" may mean many things. In the nature of things, it does not represent for us such desperate battles to preserve our traditions in the field of the arts as it does for the subjected peoples of Europe who are desperately seeking means to preserve their treasurers of centuries. There is in this county a growing need to build a wider consciousness of our own art. In music, our best cultured defense, is the recognition and furtherance of our native artists, organizations and institutions. America has been listening to the music of German masters for over a century and audiences have never given a sneer for their political or racial notions. Their music has won and held their places purely as music and it is fantastic to regard their compositions as subversive, merely because some of his colleagues happen to have a personal obsession for it. Let us give America its due, hold tight to all that we have inherited, since it is our own and therefore American, in the same sense that our foreign-born citizens are our own. The music that we have adopted and "naturalized" makes a part of our cultured life.

TIGERS WIN OVER
UNION CITY 16 TO 2

In the first exhibition game of the training season played here the local team defeated Union City Greyhounds yesterday 16 to 2. The second game of the series will be played tonight in Union City. The Greyhounds played poorly, with numerous errors in the infield aiding the Fulton cause. While no accurate score was kept it is likely that the Hounds were guilty of at least eight errors and many of them proved quite costly. The Union City pitching was not anything to write home about, but it was not as poor as the score indicates. The Tigers did do some lusty hitting at times, with Manager Mullen contributing a towering 357-foot home run with two men on base.

Barger pitched the greater part of the game for the Tigers, allowing nine scattered hits in six rounds. Thomasson finished without any scoring charged against him and both pitchers had plenty of stuff.

Joe Pollock in left field made a big hit with local fans. Pollock is one of the fastest men seen here in several years and once or twice outfooted ordinary infield rollers. He is said to be a crack track man from a championship Cleveland, Ohio, high school team, running the 440, and 220 and 100 yard dashes. Without doubt he appears to be the fastest man Fulton has had in a long time. Derrick played a whale of game at short, and Davis, a left handed pitcher playing in right field, gave signs of being a power hitter.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Troop 44 met at Scout Hall Wednesday night, April 29, 1942. Twenty-three boys were present. The Scoutmaster and Assistant Scoutmaster were both present. Mr. Billy Blackstone was also present. Willingham, Jack Merryman, Billy Johnson, L. C. Bone and Jimmy Carter.

L. C. Bone, with 680 merits, received a 500 merit pin. R. B. Willingham with 536, received a 500 merit pin, and Jimmy Carter with 647 received a 500 merit pin. The meeting was closed with the Scoutmaster's Benediction and "Taps" was blown by bugler C. D. Jones.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Monday, April 13, the Girl Scouts had their regular meeting at the library. We stood and sang "God Bless America," and said the Girl Scout Promise and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. The roll was called and dues collected. The minutes were read by Mary Lee Haws and there were a few corrections. We talked of where we were going to put our defense boxes. We planned to take a hike soon.

Mrs. Hancock gave us a talk on troops at Detroit, Michigan. She is the assistant scoutleader of Troop 264 in Detroit. We enjoyed her talk very much.

We were sorry that it were present, leaving 15 absent. That has not happened in a long time.

We went out in the yard and played games. We first played "Fishing Net" and then "Three Deep." We came back in and discussed going to Columbus. We decided where we were going to put our boxes.

We dismissed by singing "Taps." Helen Shelton, Scribe.

SPORT TALK

Harry Bolser, Louisville Courier-Journal staff man of Paducah, was recently denied the privilege of being a hero—at least he was deferred. He joined up with Uncle Sam's team, but when the medics looked him over they discovered that a broken leg which he suffered a few months ago had not healed sufficiently for him to make a good soldier. Therefore he was sent back home, with the half-promise that if the leg healed properly during the next few months he might make it by the examiners next time. So it is presumed that Harry will be on the job again this summer and perhaps next fall handling sports for the Louisville newspaper. While he is in charge of the news bureau at Paducah and handles all general news from West Kentucky for the Courier-Journal, he is primarily interested in sports, and has quite a following down in this end of the state.

Not many people may know this, but this writer feels certain that during the past two or three years Harry has really done a fine job of getting publicity for sports affairs in West Kentucky. The time has been, not so long ago, that sports down here did not get much space in the Louisville papers. Tilghman usually got pretty good publicity, for Tilghman has been big time for a long period. Hopkinsville also received considerable publicity, but not as much as Paducah, and Mayfield usually got a pretty fair share. But other towns, such as Fulton, Murray, Russellville, Cadiz, Marion and many other smaller towns which had pretty good school teams rarely received much notice upstate. For the past two or three years Bolser has really done something about this matter, and the West Kentucky conference football teams have all received considerable publicity in the Louisville newspaper. He has also done a good job of selling the Kitty League to the Courier-Journal and was always careful to see that all the league members came in for their share of notice. I know that Fulton football and basketball teams have received vastly more notice in the Courier-Journal during the past two years than ever before, and I give Bolser credit for this.

I notice also that Bolser has been breaking into the Sunday magazine section quite a few times in recent months. Recently the Courier-Journal has started a new publication which is quite a good publication. It replaces the old roto section as well as the former Sunday magazine, and in the first issue of the new magazine, Bolser had a feature story which concerned a Wickliffe man. Personally I am glad that Bolser was deferred, for we will need him during the coming baseball and football seasons.

Sports columns remind me of a funny story I read the other day. It seems that a certain well known New York sports writer was promoted to the head of the department. Previous to that time he had written only baseball, but as an extra chore he wrote a sports column under another name. The man's name is Parker, and he wrote the column under the name of Jack Tracy. After he became sports editor he continued to write the anonymous column, but after several months decided to write it under his own name. His boss told him that should be done, so he started writing the same stuff in the same manner, the only difference being that he signed his own name instead of the mythical Jack Tracy.

After a couple of days a flood of letters began pouring in from sports fans. "Get rid of this guy Parker," the letters urged. "He is certainly lousy. Get Jack Tracy back on the job, for this fellow Parker can't do the job."

Whether Parker took the hint I do not know. I guess, however, that the boss ordered him to write Don't wait till it rains to patch your roof!

Remember that story about the fellow whose roof never got mended because when things were dry it didn't need it, and when it was raining it was too wet to go out?

Pretty much the same thing goes for your automobile. The time to take care of it is before it starts to show signs of wear, not after costly trouble has started.

But the way to do that is to become one of our regular customers and let our C-Y-C service remember what your car needs, and just when it should be done.

You pay for nothing that wouldn't have to be done in any event—in short, our service conserves your car.

It all starts with a FREE appraisal of your car's present condition, just to make sure it doesn't need a lot of overhauling to bring it up to par. Come in and get that free appraisal and learn how C-Y-C service can help you.

Yes sir, you can take a tip from Mammy . . . for Mammy isn't a "toast nibbler"; nor does she use an extra amount of sugar on cereals for breakfast. She still bakes a big pan of those hot biscuits just as she did 'way back when.
