PHONE CO. MAKES RAPID STRIDES IN RURAL DEVELOPMENT

Much emphasis has been placed on the development of rural electric service in recent years, and there has been much publicity about the work that has and is being done. But few realize just how rapid have been the strides made in the development of rural telephone service by the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company.

This week, the editor of The News accompanied Forest Riddle, group manager for Fulton, Hickman and Calloway counties, on a tour of inspection. Many pertinent facts were learned during this tour and interview.

Development of rural service started in earnest back in 1940, when a survey was made of this territory, and plans were made to improve the service to rural homes. After a tremendous amount of detail work, interviewing of farm families, in order to arrive at the possibilities of such a program, actual construction work on new lines started June 1, 1940. Mr. Riddle drove the first stake denoting the beginning of a new era in telephone service in this district, on the Norman Road near the country club. Fourteen phones were installed on this loop.

The next phase of the development was along the Martin highway. Three lines were constructed with 21 subscribers. Projects were completed on the Union City highway, the Hickman highway, east and west State Line, the Middle Road, the Beeleron - Metropolis road. Today there are 83 rural subscribers, with sufficient equipment installed to take care of future needs for the next few years. Along most of these routes aerial lines have been installed, but where necessary from an economy standpoint or other reasons, new type underground lines have been buried. To accomplish this kind of installation a tractor pulls a peculiar type of equipment with a needle plow in order to place the wire approximately 18 inches under the surface. It's a new process innovated in this territory in 1940, by the Fulton group. The new rural system is perfected to eliminate static and noises formerly so common in rural districts.

Since conversion from the old magneto system to the common battery system in Fulton back in 1936, there has been a constant program of improvement in plant equipment and transmission facilities. The old confusing method of ringing of rural lines has been changed in an eight party system with four bells on each line, ringing 1, 2, 3, 4 times for the party wanted. The new rural set-up looks to the future with a planned program of rural service, with the 8-party rate as follows:

Within 3 1/2 miles radius of Fulton, $1.50 a month; 5 1/2 miles radius, $1.75 a month; 8 1/2 miles radius, $2.00 a month; all over 8 1/2 miles radius, $2.25 a month. These new rates became effective in 1940.

There has been a steady growth in the number of subscribers or stations on the Fulton exchange, since 1936 when the change over was made from magneto to battery plant. Today there are a total of 1336 stations, with 87 of these rural. In 1936 there were 1052 stations with far fewer rural connections.

C. A. Sawyer, Paducah, district manager, and F. H. Riddle, local group manager, are responsible for the splendid progress that has been made in this section in telephone service. Mr. Sawyer came to Paducah about seven years ago from Louisville, where he was connected with the company for many years. Mr. Riddle came here from Dawson Springs April 2, 1929.

Besides local and rural calls, a free service and toll line is available for Water Valley, Crutchfield and Beeleron, tying in with independent exchanges at those places.

Mrs. Mamie Dull of St. Louis is visiting her brother, John Adams and other relatives in this community.

Waterfield Will Ask For Renomination As Representative

Harry L. Waterfield, incumbent Representative from the First District composed of Fulton and Hickman counties, filed his declaration of candidacy with the Secretary of State last week and announced he would be a candidate on the August ballot for Representative.

Mr. Waterfield said today that his formal announcement would appear in this paper in an early issue.

JOHNS-MANVILLE SCHOOL TO BE CONDUCTED HERE

Plans have been made to conduct a Johns-Manville training school in Fulton for salesmen and managers, representing this roofing company in Western Kentucky and West Tennessee. The school will be held at the Usona Hotel, June 9, 10, 11, from 1:30 to 9:00 p.m. daily, according to C. A. Stephens, local Johns-Manville Guild representative.

Herb Lotz, estimator and Dave Pomerantz, sales manager, will be in charge of the school. The National Housing Guild has streamlined its program for 1941 to consolidate and intensify the results. Besides holding an annual school at Chicago, local schools are conducted throughout the nation. C. A. Stephens of Pierce-Cequin Co., this city, attends the annual school each year in order to keep in touch with the program carried out by this roofing concern.

Mrs. W. L. Morris and son of Crutchfield and Mrs. Robert Daniels and two children of McConnell were dinner guests of Mrs. R. S. Matthews in Forsdale on Tuesday.

QUICK SERVICE INSTALLS HILL STAND AT SAWYER'S

Glenn Walker, proprietor of the Quick Service Refrigeration Co., distributors of Hill display cases, has installed a new refrigerated vegetable stand at Sawyer Bros. Market on Fourth street. It not only is a handsome fixture, but will enable the market to keep vegetables and fruits fresher.

After having worked for Paul DeMyer on Commercial Avenue for a number of years, Fred Sawyer opened his market in 1932. His brother, Tolbert is now associated with him. As the years slipped by one improvement after another has been made by Mr. Sawyer, including the installation of a refrigerated meat counter and a large, new cooler.

The Quick Service Refrigeration Co. was opened by Mr. Walker July 1, 1937 at 210 Church street. The location was removed a few doors south in October, 1940, when an attractive, modern store was handsomely equipped. This company services Fulton, Obion, Weakley and Lake counties, handling all types of Hill store fixtures.

S. T. (Tommie) ROPER ANNOUNCES FOR OFFICE OF COUNTY JAILER

S. T. (Tommie) Roper, who is well known throughout Fulton County, has authorized The News to announce his candidacy for the office of Jailer of Fulton County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held Saturday, August 2, 1941.

For the past several years Mr. Roper has operated a service station at Hickman, and for a while he was engaged in the same business at Riceville in this end of the county. During that time he has made many friends who will be interested in his race. Nearly two decades ago he served as county clerk, and is thoroughly familiar with county affairs. Mr. Roper's personal statement to the voters follows:

To the Voters of Fulton County: I take this means of announcing my candidacy for the office of Jailer of Fulton county. While I have never done anything to boast of, I have served you as county clerk for several years and I do know that I made you a good accommodating clerk. I went out of that office 24 years ago and have been selling gasoline for the past 17 years. Desiring a change and feeling that my age and experience fit me particularly well for the office of Jailer, I hereby enter the race.

I promise you that if you elect me your Jailer, I will feed well the ones that come my way, treating them kindly but firmly. If you will support me for this office, I surely will appreciate it; but if you cannot conscientiously do so, I will hold nothing against you, remembering there are several other good men out against me.

However, if you do support me and I am elected, I will try to conduct the office and my life in such a way that you will not regret your vote. Thanking you kindly for your consideration in this matter, I am,

Very truly yours,
S. T. (Tommie) ROPER

Defense Costly to Railroads, Too

One of the requirements of our national defense program is considerably increased rail transportation. In the long run, if the demand persists, that MAY mean increased net earnings for the railroads; but FIRST AND FOREMOST it calls for increased expenditures to expand facilities to handle the rise in traffic.

The extent of the total defense demand is hard to predict, and it is complicated by such unexpected and often untimely developments as cessations and increases in production resulting from strikes, the withdrawal of ocean carriers from coastwise trade and the necessity of moving crops from storage right at harvest time.

American railroads are adding approximately 100,000 new freight cars this year. The Illinois Central alone has placed 745 in service so far this year and has 2,515 more on order. These and allied improvements run into money, and that money must be provided BEFORE the added investment has a chance to earn any return.

What that means to the Illinois Central may be seen in the following: For the first four months of 1941, this railroad netted from its operations $3,484,988. In the same period, however, it undertook improvements costing $17,254,307, part of which had to be borrowed.

The Illinois Central will spend to the limit FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE. Other expenditures will have to take their turn.

Malco Fulton Sunday - Monday - Tuesday

The thrum of powerful motors, the shriek of diving planes, is the exciting obligato accompanying the story of romance and adventure to be unfolded when Paramount's air epic, "I Wanted Wings," opens Sunday at the Malco Fulton Theatre.

Produced by Arthur Hornblow, Jr., and directed by Mitchell Leisen, the new film depicts the methods by which American youth are trained in the air, and stars in its brilliant cast Ray Milland, William Holden, Wayne Morris, and Brian Donlevy. With the complete cooperation and resources of the United States Army Air Corps given to Paramount Pictures, the picture was filmed at Kelly, Randolph and March Fields. The last mentioned is the roost of the famous Flying Fortresses in the story. It is the first time that Hollywood has been given these facilities by the Army, and should prove of fascinating interest to moviegoers.

One of the many things for which "I Wanted Wings" has been loudly heralded all over the country is that it introduces an exciting new personality to film fans—Veronica Lake. The word introduced is used, although it is true she appeared in three previous roles, but they were so small practically everybody missed her. Miss Lake has all Hollywood buzzing by her performance in the picture, and there is much enthusiastic talk of grooming her for stardom. Featured with her is lovely Constance Moore, who has been forging ahead steadily in pictures, improving with every new picture.

Wheat Marketing Quotas Proclaimed

A wheat marketing quota, designed to divide a limited market among all growers and to keep part of the surplus off the market until needed, was proclaimed May 10 by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard. The quota will be effective on the 1941 crop if approved by a two-thirds majority of farmers voting in a national referendum to be held May 31.

Each farm's quota is equal to the actual or normal production, which is greater, of the farm's wheat acreage allotment, plus wheat from any previous crop. Since the national allotment is calculated to provide enough wheat for normal domestic needs, normal exports, and a 30 per cent reserve, officials point out that consumers will have plenty of wheat at reasonable prices.

The proclamation was made under provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933 which calls for a quota when the estimated wheat supply exceeds a normal year's domestic consumption and exports by more than 35 per cent. The 1941-42 wheat supply is estimated at 1,236 million bushels and exceeds the marketing quota level by 217 million bushels.

"In times like these, common sense dictates that we should have a larger reserve of wheat on hand," Administrator R. M. Evans of the AAA said in connection with the announcement, "and the people of the country can be assured by the fact that we have larger reserves than ever before in the Ever-Normal Granary. But common sense dictates just as emphatically that we provide orderly handling of our reserves. Only in that way can the producer prevent his abundance from bankrupting himself and only in that way can the consumer be assured of wheat at a fair price."

The wheat supply total used in the quota determination includes an estimated 1941 crop of 858 million bushels. The July 1, 1941 carry-over is estimated at 390 million bushels, including crop insurance reserves of 12 million bushels. The "normal year's domestic consumption and exports" amounts to 753 million bushels. This is made up of the average domestic consumption of 698 million bushels and exports of 55 million bushels for the 10-year period ending June 30, 1941. The addition of a 35 per cent reserve makes 1,013 million bushels, the marketing quota level.

Under the quota all farmers will be able to sell or feed without penalty all they raise on their acreage allotment, plus any old wheat carried over from previous years. This means farmers whose wheat acreage is within their allotment may sell or feed all their wheat. They will also be eligible for a wheat loan. The small number of farmers who have excess wheat may avoid penalty by storing the excess and are eligible for a loan on this part of their crop at a rate lower than that offered cooperators.

If the marketing quota is voted down, the act provides that no Government loans can be made on the 1941 wheat crop.

The wheat marketing quota referendum will be conducted in every community in the Nation. Resident wheat farmers will be in charge. Each wheat grower affected by the quota will have the opportunity to vote by secret ballot.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

In all Christian Science Churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, June 8, 1941, on the subject, "God The Only Cause And Creator."

The Golden Text will be "Great and marvellous are thy works, Lord God Almighty; just and true are thy ways, thou King of Saints" (Revelation 15:3). Bible selections will include the following passage from Psalms: "Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things" (Psalms 72:18.)

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, also will be included, which reads as follows: "There is but one creator and one creation. This creation consists of the unfolding of spiritual ideas and their identities, which are embracing in the infinite Mind and forever reflected" (p. 502 and 503.)

THE AVERAGE WOMAN

Some facts and fancies about the average woman were recently compiled by a writer in Your Life magazine, but we do not undertake to vouch for which of his statistics, if any, are accurate. Anyway, he asserts that the Average Woman:

Is five feet, four inches tall, and weighs 112 pounds until she begins to get careless about her figure.

Marries at the age of 24, and lives five years longer than her husband.

Quarrels with her husband at least twice a month.

Threatens eight times to go home to her mother, but never does.

Spends three years and eight months talking on the telephone.

Attends 3,027 movies, and listens to them double features, and listens to 18 radio serials a week.

Spends a year and a half in beauty parlors, and four years washing dishes.

Is positive that her children are better than the brats next door.

Devotes the best seven years of her life to trying to make her husband over, but without success.

Occasionally wishes she had married someone else.

And makes a darned good wife at that.

Where's the best place to choose your new car?

ON THE ROAD!

WELL MATCH the "showroom value" of the Ford with anyone... but if you want to know how great a car this is, take one out on the road!

TEST THE PERFORMANCE... IN ACTION. There never was another low price engine like this 90 horsepower Ford V-8. Take it out in traffic—then step out on the open road—challenge the toughest hills. Draw your own conclusions!

TEST THE RIDE... IN ACTION. Ride on the pavement, then ride the roughest road you know. You'll find the new Ford ride is the kind of "ride" you like. Smooth where the going's good. Soft and steady over the bumps.

TEST THE ROOM... IN ACTION. Measurements show

this Ford greatest in its whole field in actual passenger space. A ride will show what this means. Bigness counts and here it is!

TEST THE VALUE... IN ACTION. Stop with the biggest hydraulic brakes anywhere near the price. Rest your toe on the pedal of a five-car type of semi-centrifugal clutch. Flick through the gears with the easy, silent kind of finger-tip shift that high-priced cars use.

GET THE FACTS AND YOU'LL GET A FORD!

KENTUCKY FARMERS REPAY $144,132 OF 1940 WHEAT LOANS

Kentucky farmers repaid through April 15, $144,132.90 in Commodity Credit Corporation loans on 189,394 bushels of the 1940 wheat crop, repurchasing the wheat for sale on the market or for their own use, the State AAA office announces.

This amount represents loans on 1940 wheat crops of 421 Kentucky growers under the crop loan program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Operation of the loan program as a part of the AAA program for parity, conservation, crop insurance, and marketing quotas, has assured an adequate supply of wheat in the Nation's Ever-Normal Granary and has supported higher prices received by growers, according to H. M. Pewitt, Chairman of the Fulton County Agricultural Conservation Association.

This price support during the three years' operation of the loan program has meant higher prices to all wheat growers, those who did not store their wheat receiving in-

PUTTING ON DOG

Since most of our actions and even our thoughts have become standardized, it is pretty hard to do something new and strange and "shock the natives." Almost everybody knows all of our tricks and can play them as well as we. Few have had more experience and few have had less experience than we; hence we cannot take our neighbors by surprise any more. It was not like this in old Fidelity for our range was so narrow that we could be shown a thing or two by the merest novice.

Most of our putting on dog came about when we went into a strange neighborhood, up the creek or out in the flatwoods. We could attract attention by our rubber-tired buggies and prancing steeds (often with trace-chain rubs on their sides.) As far away as we were at Fidelity, there were places still farther from the center of population; into those places we could go and "strut our stuff." Though a church service was likely to be the occasion that took us into strange and remote places ten miles or more away from our sleepy little village, we were often quite un-Christian in our trying to make others break the 10th commandment by wishing for our snappy clothes and our horse and buggy. If we had a girl in that strange neighborhood, we ran the risk of stirring up some fierce local jealousies among the swains less favored than we. I have known of buggy fixin's pretty badly cut up by jealous rivals when we went to the church away up the creek, where I took my first date.

All things even up pretty well, in the metropolis or at Fidelity. We suffered from our own showing off by having lordly young squirts from other neighborhoods come in with finer buggies than we could afford and with louder clothes and redder oxblood shoes and attract the attention of the staid Fidelity girls. After some such humiliation, we sat and listened rather well to the preacher, who lamented the tendency to worldliness among his congregation. Humble though we may have been at church, we wished devoutly that the outsiders would come to grief and that our neighborhood girls would learn that Fidelity boys were always the best and safest.

Occasionally real city fellows came into our neighborhood and amused us greatly. We could hardly be jealous, for they felt above our girls quite as much as above us. One such city fellow came to conduct the singing during the protracted meeting at our little Methodist church. He had the sophistication of the typical small town dude, but we thought him to be exquisite. He could speak without breaking all the rules of grammar, he had pressed trousers and he had a way with the ladies, even the mothers and old maids. He had polish, I suppose. Some of us fell for him and felt that life would be tragic for us if we never attained to his urbanity and polish. Some others sneered at his affectations and heartily wished he would fall down in the mud around the church and spoil his fine clothes. It was hard for us to see that we might have cut a figure somewhat similar when we went far back into the sticks with our outfit and our rubber-tired buggy.

Mark Twain once said that in all of his travels he had never seen any one as a new type; in his earlier life along the Mississippi he had known every conceivable sort of person. I have been tempted to say that I have never yet, in the thirty-four years I have been away from Fidelity, seen a new person. Somehow, tucked away among the hills, there lived in the last years of the nineteenth and the first few years of the twentieth century within a ten-mile radius, with Fidelity as the center, every known variety of the genus Homo, "as big as life and twice as natural."

ANNUAL MEETING AT BOSTON JUNE 2, 1941

Some 6,000 Christian Scientists from many parts of the world gathered in annual meeting Monday at Boston, Mass. The membership of this religious organization were called upon to consecrate themselves to the defense of the democratic system of government as the best human instrument for preserving the basic rights of mankind to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

ANNOUNCED FARM PRICES ARE FLOORS, NOT CEILINGS

The average at which the United States Department of Agriculture recently announced it would support prices for poultry, dairy, and pork over farm prices, says H. M. Pewitt, Chairman of the Fulton Agricultural Conservation Association.

Mr. Pewitt this week received a copy of a letter by Leon Henderson, Administrator, Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply, in which he assured Representative Cannon of Missouri, that he concurred with Secretary of Agriculture Wickard on steps to increase immediately the price of hogs and at the same time give a long-time guarantee of prices for pork products, dairy products, and poultry products.

Mr. Henderson said: "On anything so vital as our food supply we can afford no gamble with an under estimate of our needs. Our policy here parallels that which has been followed by the Government in minimizing the risk of industrial plant expansion for defense purposes—in other words the Government rather than the individual farmer is underwriting the risk of the expansion of output."

"This is not a price-fixing measure. . . . The guaranteed prices are minimum prices, and no maximum prices have been agreed upon. Should there be a speculative advance in these or any other prices which unreasonably anticipates heavy domestic or British buying, then action will be taken. We will take it with the speculator rather than the farmer in mind."

Hermogenes Corpus of San Francisco was so elated over his recently acquired citizenship in this country that he informed his friends of it through an ad in the newspaper, also stating his desire to do his part in civic affairs.

Money Talks

By Frederick Stamm, Economist

UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

There is hardly a day in which I don't hear some one say that the chain stores are driving the independent store out of business.

It has always been my contention that the aggressive, wide awake independent merchant who has modernized his store and who has accepted modern merchandising methods can compete successfully with the chains. There is plenty of proof for this statement. In the last five years I have traveled in every state east of the Mississippi River and have failed to see one town in which there was not at least one prosperous independent merchant.

It is the unprogressive independent who sees the chains come in but who fails to modernize his business methods who has passed out of existence.

The Department of Commerce recently released some very interesting figures supporting my argument. Its figures show that in 1939 independent stores accounted for 74.4% ($31,409,559,000) of the retail sales distribution, while chain stores accounted for 21% ($9,105,825,000.) All other types of distributors (cooperative stores, mail order, door-to-door, etc.) accounted for only 3.6%. This indicates very clearly that the independent stores are still the most important retail distributive agency in this country today.

It is true, the chains have made tremendous strides in the past several decades. They have done so because they have adopted the most modern merchandising methods so far developed. But in spite of their large capital, wide advertising campaign, and large purchasing power, independents still continue to do the lion's share of the retail trade.

The record of the progressive independent merchant has been excellent and he can continue this, I believe, if he is willing to keep up to date in all merchandising methods. The day of the independent is not gone; it is here.

Ten million persons, or about 1-3 of the nation's farm population, live on farms where cotton is grown.

"Food, food raised by American farmers, may yet win the war and decide the peace—and decide it in such a way that this thing cannot happen again."—Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard.

On May 20 America will honor its dead. Memorial Day is a day set aside for this purpose, and all veterans' organizations prepare special programs in honor of their dead comrades.

This isn't the case with traffic fatalities. Instead of honoring the dead on Memorial Day, automobile traffic makes it a special day to increase the number of people killed by automobiles. Each year the day's toll has increased. The toll on May 30 will in all probability be higher than on last Memorial Day.

Don't you be a victim. If you must be out on the highways, get out before the rush starts. Come home before the rush gets under way. If there is no need for you to be on the roads, then walk, but be sure that you pay attention to the safe way of walking. It's smart to be careful.

A boy like this will be running this company
some day!

Whose boy? We don't know.

He may be yours. Or your neighbor's.

But he's somewhere in this neck of the woods—on the farm or in town—burning with the grand old American urge to try his wings in the exciting life of business.

One day he will join us. As a clerical worker. Or a lineman. Or perhaps a meter reader.

It doesn't matter what the job is. He will do it well. And he will climb.

For, to a boy like this—intelligent, clean-eyed, strong, unafraid—a job is a challenge. He will meet it and he will win.

It's the American pattern. The stuff American industry is made of. The pattern that has built free enterprise in this country.

And (this is important) because this boy is of the people, he will know best how to serve the people.

That is why we like to pick likely youngsters, and let 'em grow up in this business. That's the way most of us who work for this company started in.

The result is that we have a group of experienced people who have spent their lives in this business. Because they know our customers' needs, they have been able to improve our service and reduce the rates.

Electric service is better than it has ever been. Today you get twice as much electricity as you did 10 to 15 years ago for the same money.

The people who work for this company will keep on giving you better service and more for your money. That's their business. Their aim is to keep on bringing you more and more of the benefits of electricity at less and less cost.
