NUMBER TWENTY TWO

John M. Thompson Asks For Election As Sheriff

John M. Thompson, prominent farmer of Fulton county, has authorized The Fulton County News to announce his candidacy for the office of Sheriff, subject to the action of the Democratic primary Saturday, August 2, 1941. It gives us great pleasure to tell the readers of this paper, that Mr. Thompson will make the race for sheriff, for he is a man who stands well throughout the county, and is fully qualified and experienced in the duties he must fulfill as sheriff of Fulton county.

After having been urged by friends throughout the county, Mr. Thompson has decided to seek the office of sheriff. As most citizens of the county know, he has served this county as sheriff before, and he established a record of merit and service that qualifies him again to take up the duties of this office with the support of good citizens and voters. We recommend that his qualifications be weighed and considered before going to the polls to cast your vote in August. He is a man who is fully conscious of his responsibilities as sheriff, and his sincerity and dependability in the administration of these duties is unquestioned.

In making his announcement, Mr. Thompson states that he has already visited many friends in every section of the county, and has met with such hearty reception that he has decided to stand for election. Between now and election day, he shall endeavor to see as many of the voters as possible, but asks that everyone consider this as a personal expression of his appeal for your support and vote, and that your influence will be deeply appreciated by him.

"I am going into this race to win," he remarked this week, while discussing his campaign efforts. "It will mean a lot of work but I am willing to do the job and firmly believe I can win. I am going to do my very best to see every voter in the county, and if elected I will do my best to render real service to the people who choose me as their public servant."

COTTON STAMP SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE

Formation of a Cotton Stamp Committee for Fulton County to cooperate with the United States Department of Agriculture in the operation of the Supplementary Cotton Stamp Plan in this area was announced today by Mr. S. V. Foy, County Agricultural Agent.

Mr. L. H. Weeks was elected Chairman of the Committee; other members include Louis Hornsby, C. M. Hornsby & Sons, Hickman; Joe M. Hall, Little Clothing Co., Fulton; A. G. Baldridge, Baldridge Variety Store, Fulton; and J. C. Wiggins, National Stores, Inc., Fulton.

Mr. Weeks stated that the main purpose of organizing the Committee was to assist the Government in helping to acquaint all retailers of cotton goods in the county with the manner in which they could cooperate and participate in the benefits of the program. He added that at a time and place to be announced later, a Mass Meeting of All Store Operators and their clerks handling cotton products would be held. In stressing the importance of attending the meeting Mr. Weeks pointed out that merchants cannot accept stamps for redemption by the Government until they have completed a "Retailer's Statement" Form entitling them to participate. These forms may be obtained from the County Agricultural Agent and the rules and regulations governing the plan's operation will be fully explained at the meeting.

"I feel sure," said Mr. Weeks, that every retailer of American-grown and manufactured cotton products in Fulton County will want to cooperate wholeheartedly with the Government's effort to aid our cotton farmers and cotton industry as a whole. It's certainly to their advantage to do so and any who do not, would be placed at a distinct competitive disadvantage.

Preliminary information regarding the Supplementary Cotton Stamp Plan will be mailed to the retailers of Cotton Goods in Fulton County during the week of June 23. Any merchant failing to receive material may procure his kit by contacting the County Agricultural Agent.

According to Mr. Foy Cotton Stamps will be issued to farm families and the program will begin operation about August 15.

Fellow Citizens of the First Legislative District

For the past two terms of the Kentucky General Assembly, I have represented the First District composed of Fulton and Hickman counties with the best reason and judgment at my command. In every instance, in casting a vote for the people of this District, I have eliminated partisanship and have conscientiously endeavored to represent the sentiment of the majority of the people. The legislative journals of Kentucky bear that statement and it is upon that record I now ask the citizenry of the District for endorsement and renomination, subject to the Democratic primaries on Saturday, August 2, 1941.

It has been the custom of the Democratic party to endorse faithful public officials. I am ambitious to again represent the people of this District because I have undertaken to serve faithfully and to reflect the sentiment of the people. I believe my experience as your Representative will be of great value in the performance of future service and I shall bring the knowledge I have gained to bear in my efforts to represent this District, if in your wisdom you choose to endorse my record and return me to the General Assembly. To substantiate this statement, I point to the outstanding legislators of Kentucky who have been permitted to serve, by the people of their respective districts, a reasonable time and in many instances from 5 to 8 terms or from 10 to 16 years.

There has been some evidence that individuals, high in State and party affairs whose duty it is, under party rule to mold and bring about party harmony, not partisanship and factionalism, are holding councils and instructing certain people as to whom they should support. Notwithstanding this, a recent news dispatch from Frankfort stated that "the Administration does not feel that it should interfere or take part in county political contests."

I have not been advised by Gov. Keen Johnson to what extent the Administration will participate in this local election. I do know that I am a Democrat and want to see the present, as all other, Democratic administrations succeed in rendering such service to the people of Kentucky as will merit their respect and confidence. There is not a single instance in which my actions have been unbecoming to genuine interest and loyal cooperation to the Administration. I have had, as a member of the General Assembly and as a citizen, every desire for the success of the Administration rendering just service to the people of Kentucky.

I know, and feel that people generally agree, that in order for a representative to perform and render a laudable service, in such a Government as ours, the people shall not be ruled but represented by public servants. In the General Assembly, and in representative members of it, is vested the authority and power, under the Constitution, to enact such laws, or vote according to such principles, as in their wisdom might best serve the public welfare. The Executive Department of State Government manifestly is assigned the responsibility of executing laws as is the Judicial Department delegated the authority to interpret the laws and determine their constitutionality.

I have a high respect for Democratic Government. I have here-

ALCOHOL AND DEFENSE

John Barleycorn's fifth columnist activities are particularly apparent in the mills and shops on Monday morning, when more workers are absent or slowed-up because of over-indulgence than any other day of the week, according to a report by C. D. Cunningham, director of the alcoholic research department of the Keeley Institute, Greensboro, N. C.

A survey of effects of alcoholism on industry is being conducted by the parent Keeley Institute of Dwight, Illinois, in cooperation with the Greensboro Institute.

According to the report, much valuable man power that could be of use to the country in the national emergency is being destroyed by the disease of alcoholism.

"To legislate against liquor is not the answer to the problem," stated Mr. Cunningham. "Alcoholism is a disease, and it is medieval to punish the alcoholic with threats, jail sentences, or social ostracism. Various cures which cause extreme nausea are also harmful as they can cause severe shock to the system. An alcoholic is sick enough without being made sicker. Scientific treatment, including medication and psychology, should be used."

Statistics assembled by the Keeley Institute over a period of sixty years, show that three out of every hundred persons who drink eventually become chronic alcoholics.

A CAUTIOUS COURSHIP

Lorenzo Dow, an American evangelist who went to Ireland in 1799 to endeavor to convert the Catholics of that country to Protestantism, was a bold spirit in many respects, but it appears that he was extremely cautious in matters in which women were concerned.

His tentative proposal of marriage, written to a young woman of his acquaintance, is a masterpiece of conservatism. He wrote as follows:

"If I am preserved about a year and a half from now I am in hopes of seeing this northern country again; and if during that time you live and remain single, and find no one that you like better than you do me, and would be willing to give me up three years out of every four for travel in foreign lands (for if you should stand in the way I would pray God to remove you, which I believe He would answer) and if I find no one I like better than I do you, perhaps something further may be said upon the subject."

It is safe to say that the young lady could hardly have gotten a breach of promise verdict on the strength of a letter like that.

A Philadelphia firm twice robbed quit business with the explanation: "What is the use of carrying on a business for the benefit of robbers?"

How is it possible to expect that mankind will take advice when they will not so much as take a warning?—Swift.

Idle days are nearly always long days. Busy days are short.

With IRVIN S. COBB

The Cockney and the Lady

By IRVIN S. COBB

MRS. PAT CAMPBELL has rather a caustic wit, as her friends—and more especially her enemies—can testify. On one occasion an interview with her was besought by a London playwright for whom personally Mrs. Campbell did not care very deeply. The playwright in question was a self-educated cockney and sometimes in moments of forgetfulness he lapsed into the idioms of his youth.

He desired an opportunity to tender Mrs. Campbell a play he had just completed and in which he hoped she might consent to take the star role. She sat in attentive silence while he read the script, act by act.

When he had finished he looked up, expecting some word of approval or at least of comment from his auditor. Mrs. Campbell, with a noncommittal look on her face, said nothing at all. An awkward pause ensued.

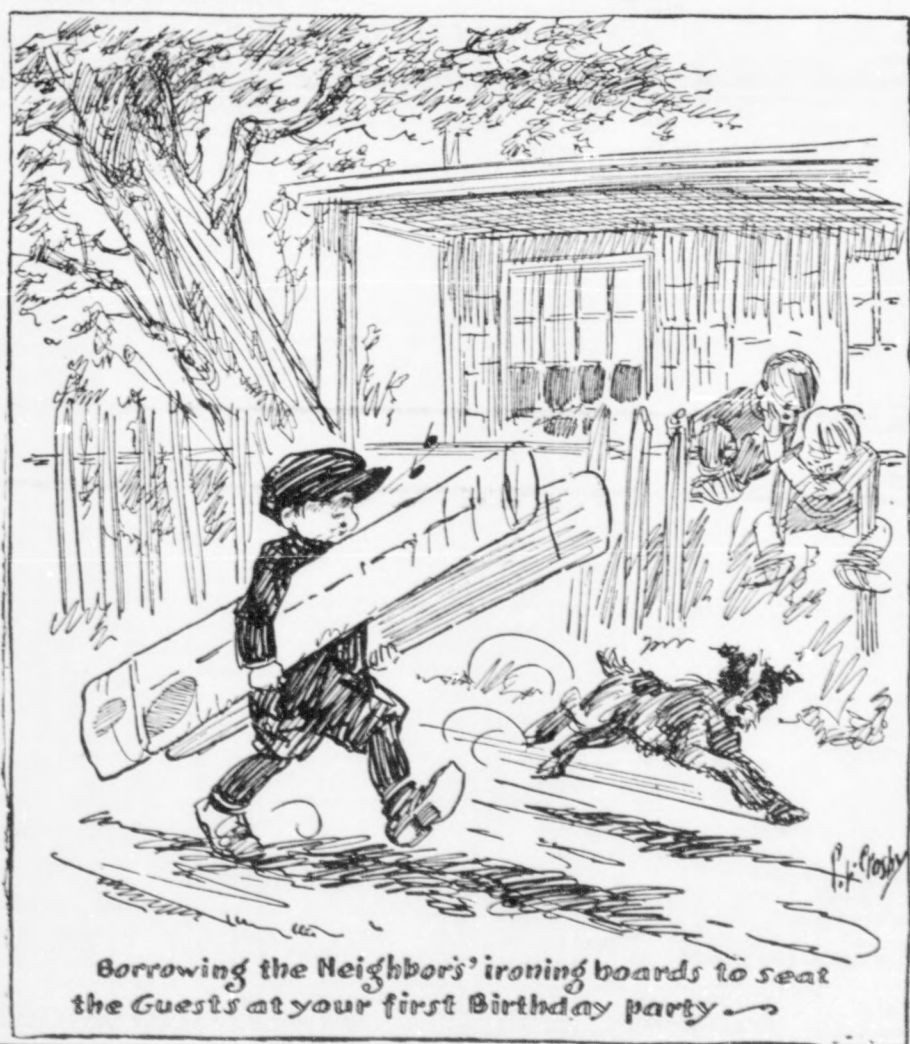

"Ahem," said the dramatist at length, "I'm afraid my play seemed rather long to you?"

"Long? Well, rather," drawled the lady. "It took you over two hours to read it—without the h's."

WHAT'S YOUR SCORE ON THIS QUIZ?

Like to do questions and answers? Run through this 2-minute quiz—it's fun, and full of facts we think you'll be glad to know. No fair peeking at the answers until you've tried!

Q: How much more electric light do you get for your money today than you got 10 years ago?

costs only about a nickel to burn a 100-watt light all night—and maybe it scared a burglar away."

A: Lamp bulbs give about twice as much light with the same amount of electricity as they did 10 years ago. And you get, for the same money, about twice as much electricity as you did then. Twice as much electricity for twice-as-good lamps means 4 times as much light for your money!

Q: How much per day does the average family using lights, vacuum cleaner, radio, toaster, spend for electricity?

A: In most cases the average cost is less than 10 cents a day.

Q: What do you say to a husband (or wife) who bawls you out for letting a 100-watt light bulb burn all night?

A: "Don't get excited, dear. Believe it or not, it

Q: Who owns the electric company?

A: You do. Every family who has a bank account or a life insurance policy is part owner of some electric company. The money you put in the bank, or pay to an insurance company is invested in various businesses, including electric companies. This makes you one of the millions who have a stake in the electric companies.

Q: Just how dependable is electric service?

A: It is just short of perfect. Last year, except for a few areas where there were unusual storms, power plants were giving uninterrupted service 99-99 1/2% of the time.

Yes, there's no question that electric service has constantly improved and electric rates have steadily gone down. Remember that this improvement at lower cost to you has been brought about by your present electric company—a business operation . . . the only kind of operation in which initiative, planning, and hard work are given an opportunity to benefit all!

EARLY RISING

Our lives have become so complex that regular hours for everybody are no longer possible or advisable. But when most of us were farmer folk or very closely allied to them, things were different. Consequently what was the standard for a community became almost as severe as the laws of the Medes and Persians. To deviate very much from this standard meant that one was deliberately lazy. The matter of early rising became almost a fetish. Just what was or is the correct time to rise I have never known. But the idea Mrs. Chris Damiano and son, Chris, Jr., returned Wednesday morning from Baton Rouge, La., where they visited friends for several days. Mrs. Ardelle Sams, Mrs. JoAnn

RETONGA A BLESSING DECLARES HOME SUPT.

Was Answer To Her Prayers For Relief In Own Case, She States

Declaring Retonga brought her happy relief after every other means she tried had failed, Mrs. A. E. Wilson, superintendent of Gospel Mission Home at 1051-2 Highland Ave., Jackson, Tenn., gives the medicine her unqualified endorsement.

"I wish I could tell everyone about Retonga," declared Mrs. Wilson. "I suffered from acid indigestion until food just seemed to lodge in my stomach in a solid mass and generate so much gas that it nearly cut off my breath. I often thought I would have to give up my work at the Mission. Nights I would drop into bed feeling almost like a nervous wreck. Constipation and toxic wastes clogged my intestines, and my muscles and joints ached and often I seemed to hurt all over. It took every ounce of energy I could summon to keep going, and I hoped and prayed for relief."

"If it hadn't happened to me, I couldn't believe anything could bring the relief, comfort and joy Retonga did. I can hardly wait for mealtime, now, my nerves are calm and the pains in my muscles are relieved. I do not have to take harsh purgatives and sleep comes naturally. I feel fine every day. Retonga was surely the answer to my prayers for relief."

Retonga is a purely herbal stomachic medicine, combined with Vitamin B-1, for nerves, strength and digestion. Thousands praise it. Retonga may be obtained at DeMyer Drug Co.

of getting up before the sun, even in the long days of summer, seems to have been the least that one could do. To rise, like the woman in the Proverbs, "while it is yet night" seemed to be most virtuous.

Some of our neighbors regarded this in the same light as ringing the farm dinner bell some hour earlier than any one else. You could get up any time after three o'clock in the morning and see the lights in the cottages, where the woman of the house was cooking breakfast, while out at the barn the glow of the lantern showed that the man of the house was feeding the stock and milking the cows. When I taught my first school, I boarded with a farm family that always ate both breakfast and supper by lamplight. The 4:05 train used to pass while we were at breakfast. I do not know to this day when the housewife slept, for she was up washing dishes when I went to sleep and up with breakfast prepared when I awoke. The neighborhood seemed to demand this killing routine, and my landlady and landlord would have broken statute laws more quickly than neighborhood customs.

The thing that always amused and somewhat angered me when I was a farm boy was that we got up just as early when there was nothing to do as when the farm needed our every attention. On Sunday mornings, when we could have had a beauty nap of several hours in length, we were roused out of our warm beds to feed the stock and eat breakfast just as if it were a morning that would see us starting with a load of tobacco to the county seat or a morning when hog-killing was the order of the day. We boys always declared that our fathers got us up earlier on the mornings after we had been to a party or had called on our girls up the creek and had thus got home late.

The strength of such social customs as early rising is much greater than that of mere superstitions. I have never known a superstition that was believed by a whole neighborhood; some skeptic would laugh at it and live to tell the story. But hundreds of these same brave souls were afraid to dare social custom by staying in bed after sunrise, or serving any kind of breakfast except the standardized one of the community, or having meals at times other than at the foreordained and predestinated hours. A dinner served in the evening would have branded the woman doing such a rash thing as either affected by Northern novels or as showing signs of mental decay. It just was not done in respectable families.

KEN MAYNARD TO APPEAR TUESDAY

Ken Maynard who appears here in person Tuesday afternoon and night at the Orpheum Theatre with his horse Tarzan, has one of the most unique collections of photographs in existence. Pictures of Jesse James, two of them made after he was dead, Billy the Kid, and Pat Garre, his murderer, Robert Ford, who shot Jesse James; the younger brothers, both dead and alive, Wild Bill Hickock, Sam Bass, Pat Masterson, The Dalton gang before the Coffeyville Bank, Justice Roy Bean and his famous bar, "Law West of Pecos," and "Calamity Jane." All hang on the walls of Ken Maynard's den.

These photographs are all originals and came into Maynard's possession through a man in Texas, who collected them for the University of Texas, planning to leave them to the school after his death. Ken met him and persuaded him to sell the collection in fact. The following day the man died and Maynard found himself in possession of the pictures.

Maynard was born in Mission, Texas, and spent his early life on a ranch. He rode horses when he was hardly able to sit on one. His early love of animals, interested him in track riding, and he was identified with most of the circuses in the land before he started in pictures. Maynard has saved his money and is financially independent. His hobby is flying. He has his own plane and a government pilot's license. He recently flew to Mexico, Central America and the Canal Zone, making the trip alone.

APPROVAL OF WHEAT QUOTAS MAKES NEW PROVISIONS EFFECTIVE

Marketing quotas approved by the wheat growers of the nation for their 1941 crop put into effect recent amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act that apply to quotas and crop loans. H. M. Pewitt, chairman of the Fulton County Agricultural Conservation Association, announced today.

The amendments exempt from quotas all wheat farms planting 15 acres or less of wheat, raise the marketing quota penalty on wheat from 15 cents a bushel to 50 per cent of the basic loan rate offered cooperators or about 48 or 49 cents a bushel, and set the basis wheat loan rate at 85 per cent of the parity price or 97 cents a bushel.

In addition to farmers growing 15 acres or less of wheat, farmers with more than this average but with a normal production on the planted acreage of less than 200 bushels are exempt from quotas. Mr. Pewitt said. All farmers with more than this acreage or production may sell or feed without penalty all the wheat they produce on their acreage allotments plus any old wheat carried over from previous crops.

"This means that farmers who seeded within their wheat allotments this year may market all their wheat free of penalty," Mr. Pewitt said, "but all farmers with more than the minimum acreage and production who have seeded wheat in excess of their allotments will be subject to penalty on the normal or actual production of the excess acreage, which ever is smaller." The quota is effective until June 30, 1942, he said.

Farmers with excess wheat may handle it in one of three ways under quotas, Mr. Pewitt said. They may store it under bond and become eligible for a wheat loan at 60 per cent of the regular rate on the excess wheat. They may deliver the excess to the Secretary of Agriculture through the county AAA committee and sell the remainder of their wheat without penalty. Or they may market all their wheat by paying the penalty on the excess.

The quotas, approved by approximately 86 per cent of the wheat growers voting in Kentucky and by about 80 per cent of nation's growers voting in the referendum, is designed to divide among all farmers the limited market now available, Mr. Pewitt said.

Mrs. Thomas Allen will spend Friday in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cloys, Mrs. Hal Kiser, Miss Lily B. Allen and Miss Polly Cloys of Water-Valley spent tofore and will hereafter undertake to contribute what I can toward making each branch, and especially the Legislative, deserving of the confidence of the people and in its proper place in the scheme of our ideas of Democracy. In this State and National emergency, in this crisis of world affairs, and in time of war, it seems to me this Democratic fundamental is essential if we are to survive. I make no criticism of any administration unjustly, when I point out that the people do not intend to elect legislators for the purpose of acting as "rubber stamps" or as ratifying agents. I believe that any legislator should be sympathetic and cooperative to the broad program of Government of any administration and I know the people have full knowledge that I have been so considerate in reflecting their sentiment.

If reelected, I shall be found ready to cooperate with the Governor and his Administration in accomplishing any and every reform promised the people and to assist in every way possible in preserving good wholesome laws and Government found only in a Democracy.

I must in all candor say that I cannot promise to vote for every bill that may be sent to the House by the Administration, or sponsored by the Administration. I shall be guided by the sentiment, as I have in the past, of the people and shall vote their interests as I believe they would have me vote. I have no selfish ends to serve. I do not want a State job for myself or any relative and am not interested in patronage. When I shall return from Frankfort I want to be able, again, to look every man and woman in Hickman and Fulton counties in the face with the realization in my heart and conscience that I have served their interest, that I have done something to contribute to the welfare of the people of the District and State and with that I shall have achieved the ambition that motivates me in asking for renomination and reelection.

I introduced the first bill to provide a maximum pension of $30 per month to the aged, and at the same time a bill to raise the revenue to pay it. Last year, I supported, and believe it should be paid to deserving recipients, a bill to raise the maximum pension to $30. My stand and action in behalf of the farmer, teacher, laborer, needy blind and dependent children is well known. There is nothing that could change my attentive concern for these groups.

Figures have been published to bolster the fact that sufficient funds are available to pay the State debt. It will, doubtless, be paid this year. There are now sufficient revenues to operate a debt-free State without additional taxes, and I shall oppose any. If reelected, I shall do all within my power to turn the attention of your State Government to county debts. The State has principally reaped the financial reward from highway revenues in Kentucky counties. Our enormous county bonded indebtedness was incurred when our first State and Federal highways were constructed. With the State debt paid, I believe attention should then be turned to assisting counties in liquidating their debts and to that end I shall work.

I desire to express my profound gratitude to the people for their confidence already manifest in my previous nomination and election. If reelected, I shall strive to merit your endorsement by devoting myself unselfishly in an effort to promote the best interests of the people. I earnestly solicit the support of every voter in the District and I assure you that if I represent you I shall return my commission unspent and unstained.

Respectfully submitted,

WHO SAID IT FIRST?

"Verify your quotations" is old advice, but the advice is sometimes difficult to follow. In the case of many famous sayings it is hard to find out who really said them first. There are many instances of striking phrases which have been attributed to prominent persons who had really borrowed them from others.

For example, Lincoln's reference to a "government of the people, by the people, and for the people." Almost identical words were used by John Wycliffe in the 14th century, and by Robespierre, Thomas Cooper, Joseph Story, Daniel Webster and Theodore Parker long before Lincoln uttered them at Gettysburg.

Even the Golden Rule, which appears in two forms in the New Testament, was expressed by Confucius five centuries before Christ, and by other ancient teachers.

Perhaps the most catchy phrase ever uttered by the late William Jennings Bryan contained his "crown of thorns and cross of gold" metaphor, which is credited with securing his nomination for the presidency in 1896. It has been and still is generally believed that the phrase was original with Bryan, but the Congressional Record shows that it was spoken by Congressman Samuel W. McCall in a speech several months before.

No one whose words have been appropriated by another could have shown a better spirit toward his imitator than McCall showed toward Bryan in this instance. When questioned about it later, McCall said:

"Yes, Bryan borrowed it from one of my congressional speeches. And probably I stole it from somebody else."

Mrs. Hartwell Brooks of Hollywood, Mrs. Paul Workman and children, Pat and Joe, Mrs. G. W. Rucker and Mrs. B. O. Copeland left Thursday for Youngstown, O., where they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rucker for several days.

189,136 KENTUCKY FARMERS IN 1941 AAA PROGRAM OPERATE 95 PERCENT STATES ACREAGE

The State AAA office has announced that 189,136 Kentucky farmers have signed farm plans in the 1941 AAA program. H. M. Pewitt, Chairman of the Fulton County Agricultural Conservation Association, said today.

This is an increase of more than 10,000 over the number of farmers in the 1940 program when 179,690 signed up. The increase in Fulton County was 18 to raise the number of county farmers in the AAA program to 803 for this year, Mr. Pewitt said.

The 189,136 farmers in the 1941 AAA program in the State are 92 per cent of the number eligible to participate. Cooperating farmers make up about 95 per cent of Kentucky's cropland.

Virtually all farms growing crops like wheat, corn, tobacco, cotton and commercial vegetables are in the program this year, Mr. Pewitt added.

Leading all other counties in the percentages of eligible farmers participating in the program is Robertson county where 96.3 of 504 eligibles signed up. Other counties with more than 99 per cent of their farmers in the 1941 program are Morgan, Anderson, Shelby and Woodford. There are 78 counties in the State with 90 per cent or more of the farms being operated in the program. The percentage of eligible farmers participating in Fulton County is 97.8.

All soil-building practices in the 1941 program are to be completed by June 30. Mr. Pewitt said, and farm supervisors will start checking on work carried out on cooperating farms by July 7th.

The report from the State AAA office shows, Mr. Pewitt said, that more than 165,000 of the Kentucky farmers in the 1940 program filed applications for payment for soil-conserving and soil-building practices carried out during the year.

Besides the retirement of a percentage of farm cropland from soil-depleting crops, soil-conserving and soil-building practices carried out by Kentucky farmers in 1940 included seeding of 2,126,723 acres of legumes and grasses, turning under 251,920 acres of green manure crops, planting 1,537 acres of forest trees, improving stands on 11,257 acres of farm woodland, spreading 1,193,212 tons of agricultural limestone, applying phosphates equivalent to 168,719 tons of 20 per cent phosphate fertilizer to pastures, meadows and new seedlings of legumes and grasses, spreading 50 tons of potash and building 829,200 feet of erosion control terraces.

A FEW WORDS AAA-WISE

Drought Threatens Food Program
Severe drought in the eastern Ohio valley threatens in some degree Kentucky's contribution to the food-for-defense program, according to reports from most sections of that State.

Farmers should realize that this is no "just another dry spell" and plan their work accordingly. AAA officials suggest the following precautionary measures. Avoid seedlings until there is sufficient moisture so that seed and labor will not be wasted. Plan now for substitute seedlings after drought is broken. Make every effort to use hay, pasture and other foods before these are made unfit for use by drought.

Better Gardens, Better Bread
Food defense now being improved by encouragement of more and better home gardens, may be further improved by use of new "enriched" bread or "enriched" flour in baking. This "enriched" flour and bread, now on sale at many stores, contains such vitamins and minerals as thiamin chloride (vitamin B1), nicotinic acid (pellagra-preventive factor) and iron. Two other ingredients that may be in "enriched" flour are calcium and riboflavin.

In looks and taste "enrich" flour cannot be distinguished from plain white flour except when milled to keep a larger part of the grain. In that case the flour will be a light creamy color.

Milk and yeast used in baking also "enrich" bread. Milk adds calcium and riboflavin, and yeast is a valuable source of vitamin B1.

Import Quotas Protect Market
Import quotas for wheat and wheat flour, announced May 29 by the President, put into operation another farm program measure to protect farmers from the effects of large surpluses of wheat in other countries.

The executive order provides restrictions on imports so that they cannot offset price support measures in the United States.

Further Milk Production Needed
Additional efforts to increase production of milk in those areas where cheese and evaporated milk plants are in operation have been called for by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The Secretary said, "Recent information indicates that, while there appears to have been a satisfactory increase in the total milk production, the current rate of producing milk for cheese and evaporated milk is considerably below that necessary to furnish sufficient quantities of these two products for Lend-Lease purchases and for our own people as well.

"Our ability to supply these quantities will depend a good deal upon increasing the supply of milk in those areas surrounding cheese and evaporated milk plants."

Mrs. Edith Connell and Miss Bessie Lee Armbruster spent Monday afternoon in Mayfield.

Money Talks

By Frederick Stamm, Economist Director of Adult Education UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

Great Britain recently announced that it would be necessary to ration wearing apparel of practically all kinds. To insure fair distribution she has issued ration cards to the entire population.

In the U. S. we have no rationing of important commodities. At least we do not call it rationing. But we do have priorities. The Office of Production Management has given notice to iron and steel manufacturers to fill defense orders first. The same is true in the copper and aluminum industries.

Automobile manufacturers are cutting production of the 1942 model at least 20 per cent in order to manufacture more tanks, airplanes, and armament.

The government recently (June 10) gave consumers notice that they must step aside until defense needs are met on a long list of everyday items, ranging from woolen and cotton socks, mattresses, wool, cotton, flannel, and other types of cloth, wool and leather gloves, to cameras, motion picture machinery, and fire extinguishers. In all there are now approximately 300 commodities on the Office of Production Managements list of "critical items."

This list of "critical items" should bring home to the private citizen how widely the requirement for an all out "total defense" program may affect the routine of his daily living.

Many government officials have already indicated that before the defense program has run many more months, numerous items formerly obtainable in any specialty or department store will be hard to find at any price.

Rationing has not been used in this country. But we do have priorities and "critical items," and total defense justifies these measures. All citizens should realize what is going on and that war, or the preparation for war is a costly procedure. Rationing and priorities are of the same family. They are different methods of accomplishing the same thing.

It is estimated that 50 per cent of the American boys being rejected in the draft have nothing wrong with them but the effects of poor diet.

The number of young chickens on farms May 1 was 10 per cent larger than a year ago, according to a report from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

First Year Results of the Kentucky Beer Industry's "Clean Up or Close Up" Campaign

One year ago our Committee was organized to cooperate with law enforcement officials in eliminating the small minority of beer retailers permitting unlawful conditions or anti-social practices in their places of business.

Continuous activity on the part of our Committee, which included investigation of more than 1,300 retail beer outlets, has resulted in definite progress toward that objective.

To date, on our Committee's recommendation to state and local authorities, 18 beer retailers have lost their licenses, 2 others have had their outlets padlocked and 6 have had their licenses suspended because they would not conduct their places of business in accordance with public sentiment and with the high standards of Kentucky's $20,000,000 legalized beer industry.

As we enter our second year, we renew our pledge to the public and our offer of assistance to law-enforcement officials. We are determined that conditions in retail beer outlets shall be as wholesome as beer itself.

By restricting your patronage to reputable beer retailers, YOU can help to preserve the social and economic benefits of beer—a beverage of moderation—which provides 15,000 jobs for Kentuckians and pays State taxes totaling more than $1,000,000 a year.

Children and a few relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams on the Martin highway Sunday to honor Mr. Adams on "Father's Day" and in celebration of Mrs. Adams' 74th birthday. Each guest brought a covered dish and a delicious dinner was enjoyed, served buffet style.

All of Mr. and Mrs. Adams' children were present, except three who live out-of-town, and they received many lovely gifts. The biggest surprise to all was a telephone call from the daughter who lives in St. Louis.

Out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Adams and children of Fulton, Route 3; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Adams of Martin; Mrs. Charles Lowe, Mrs. Jack Lowe and Mrs. Bud Stem of Pierce.
