THE LISTENING POST

● I am beginning to be quite insulted and hurt by the failure of the government to do a certain thing. It seems to me that every man who is in my age bracket, or at least those who are just behind me, has already received his occupational questionnaire and it is beginning to appear that as soon as my registration reached Washington President Roosevelt took one quick gander and ordered it thrown out. I seem to hear him saying: "Here is just another man named Joe who is utterly worthless for the war effort. Throw the thing away and don't waste any more time and postage on him."

● Well, I can hardly blame him if he did say that and order the registration thrown away. After racking my presumed brain and duly thinking the matter over I have also reached the conclusion that there is nothing whatever I can do to help win the war. I am too old for soldering, too out of step with things to hold a political job even if I could get one, too set in my ways to learn any new wrinkles, and experienced in only one thing—and that one thing is something which is no longer needed in this Nation. In the first World War newspapers were looked on as something worth while and needed in the war effort, but in this war they are good only for the official post of whipping boy for various government officials. In the first World War, while I did not render active service, I was asked to attend various meetings in which the matters of public morale and the sale of bonds came up for discussion and I seem to remember that a grateful government awarded me a medal made out of a captured German cannon for more or less meritorious service along those lines. Perhaps the fact that we have not yet captured a cannon accounts for the failure to receive a medal, but I begin to have a deep-seated suspicion that the government is going to wage this war without my services.

● Well, if so, I will have to string along under these circumstances and do the small chores which come up day after day. Thank heaven I still have plenty to worry over in carrying on my alleged business, with an ever-present fear that even this will fail me before many months. I can hardly blame the government for not desiring my services for there is nothing I can think of that I have any talent for. I can run a newspaper along my own ideas, but even here I know there are lots of newspaper men who would say my own ideas are pretty poor. I have a bit of talent for stringing words together, but it is indeed a small talent, and is worth nothing in helping to win this war. I readily see that when this war is over I will have less to talk of than after the last war. Succeeding generations need not ask me for any details of this Global War, for I am only a spectator. True, I may know a little about it, from constant reading, listening and worrying, but from all evidence that is now available I will have no personal part in waging or winning it.

● Yep, I wasted my time in registration a few weeks ago. If I had just failed to register I do not believe that the F. B. I. would have done anything about it. I do not seem to rate even one of these occupational questionnaires.

DAMAGE TO TIRE IRKS MOTORIST IN CRASH

Nashville, Tenn., —Pulling to the curb for a stop, a bus struck an automobile and crowded it into a post.

The bus driver alighted. "Your car's not damaged much," said the motorman. "Darn the car," returned the autist. "Look how you bruised that front tire!"

TIE VOTE BALKS PLAN TO RAISE PAY FOR SOLDIERS

Conferees Are Deadlocked On Proposals

Washington, —A Senate-House conference committee was deadlocked tonight on legislation granting pay raises to service men, and further efforts to reach an agreement were put off indefinitely.

The Senate had approved $42 a month as the basic pay, and the House voted for $50. The present minimum is $21, which goes up to $30 after four months.

Although some talk of a compromise on $46 was heard, Chairman Reynolds (D., N. C.), of the Senate conferees said it might be "some time" before another meeting.

Disagree On Meeting

Senator Johnson (D., Col.), another conferee, predicted nothing would be done before mid-June, although Senator Austin (R., Va.), said he saw no reason why another meeting could not be held next week.

Members reported after today's conference that the eight conferees present voted four to four to accept the $50 rate, with one lining up with three senators for the $42. One senator and one representative were absent.

POLICE COURT

Oliver Walton and Floyd Bradford, both colored, of Wingo were arrested by police last night and charged with breach of the peace. The two Negroes were engaged in fighting in Missionary Bottom when arrested and in trial this morning were given a 30-day suspended jail sentence with orders to leave the city.

Gaylon Weems and Cassey Crowder were arrested Saturday night on a charge of being drunk in a public place. They were also given a 30-day suspended jail sentence with orders to leave the city.

Naval Experts Believe U. S. Winning Battle With U-Boats

Washington, —Despite heavy losses inflicted on American coastal shipping by Nazi submarines, naval experts said that the United States was slowly winning the main campaign in the battle of the Atlantic. They emphasized, however, that only steadily increasing production of both war and merchant ships could clinch the ultimate victory.

The greatest present need, it was said, is for more defensive craft—subchasers, blimps and patrol bombers—manner by experienced personnel.

The cold statistical results of the Atlantic battle to date are:

Three convoys of American troops and shiploads of equipment have arrived in the British Isles without the loss of a man.

The supply lines to Russia, Africa, Asia and Australia—springboards for offensive action—are open primarily, naval authorities say, because warships have not been diverted to protecting coastal waters.

On the other side of the ledger, 221 merchant ships of American and other nationalities have been sunk on the American side of the Atlantic since mid-January. Also on the loss side is the torpedoing of two and possibly three destroyers. The Jacobs Jones was sunk off New Jersey in March. The Sturtevant was destroyed by an "unknown explosion," which may have

Washington, —A second front will be opened this week in the war between Philip Murray, the C. I. O. president, and John L. Lewis, Mine Workers' chief.

The C. I. O. National Executive Board will convene Wednesday to thresh over the issues which have enlivened Policy Committee meetings of the United Mine Workers the past week, notably the charges of sabotage and treason to labor leveled against C. I. O. officers.

In addition, the C. I. O. Board will consider the A. F. of L.'s recent bid for "union and solidarity," and a proposal to join the Anglo-Soviet co-operative labor relationship.

There is the possibility of another face-to-face meeting of Mr. Lewis and Mr. Murray, ousted last week from the vice presidency of the Miners' Union. If so, it would be at a meeting conducted, if not dominated, by Mrs. Murray in his capacity of C. I. O. president.

Mr. Lewis and other officers of the Miners' Union have been invited to present to the C. I. O. Executive Board the charges which the miners have uttered at their own meetings against the C. I. O. leadership.

Mr. Lewis has not indicated whether he will accept that invitation. The Policy Committee of his union will reconvene Monday after a week-end recess, and will resume consideration of the issues which threaten to sever the last technical threads tying the miners to the C. I. O. By midweek it is probable the two meetings will be running concurrently five blocks apart.

Leaders of District 50 have accused the C. I. O. chieftains of abuse, injury, slander and sabotage of organization efforts, and treason to the principles of labor.

ATTENTION!

Beginning June 1, we are not permitted by law to send our trucks in the same area twice in the same day. We know Fulton people will gladly cooperate with us in abiding by this law to the letter.

Social Security Board Talks State Jobless Pay Situation

Washington, —The Social Security Board discussed today a situation threatening Kentucky with loss of federal funds for operation of its unemployment compensation commission, but spokesmen said no decisions were made.

Kentucky is faced with the prospect of having $1,040,000 withheld by the federal board from administrative expenses of its commission for failure to meet federal demands for that amount, representing contributions to it by railroad workers.

State officials have declared that they would have to assess Kentucky employers an additional three-tenths of one per cent of their annual payrolls to make up the deficiency if the federal money was withheld.

The $1,040,000 in railroad workers contributions which is demanded by the security board was paid into the state's unemployment compensation fund before the federal government took over the job insurance for railroad workers.

The Kentucky legislatures of 1940 and 1942 passed acts to transfer these contributions to the federal government but both acts were held unconstitutional by the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Security board spokesmen said the board was informed that the Kentucky commission had sufficient funds now to cover its operations until July 1, but would not say that action was postponed merely for that reason.

They declined comment on Kentucky's plight beyond saying that "apparently it will take (federal) legislation or Kentucky will have to overcome its constitutional barriers."

SILVER STOCKS MAY BE USED FOR WAR JOBS

Plants Would Replace Copper With Bullion

Washington, —Three key federal officials asked Congress today for authority to use silver bullion in the Treasury to replace copper in vital war industries, and the sentiment of silver state congressmen to whom they appealed was that they should receive permission.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, and Donald Nelson, head of the War Production Board, made the request.

This plan would permit the Treasury to make available to the defense plant corporation which Jones heads, for transmission to the W. P. B. for allocation to industry, 53,000 tons of silver held in the Treasury as backing for silver certificates.

Nelson has said that about 39,000 tons of silver now in the Treasury could be used to replace copper needed in making butadiene from alcohol, a step in the production of synthetic rubber.

Title to the metal would remain in the Treasury, under the plan. Of 100,000 tons of silver held by that agency, 42,000 tons of "free" silver—not backing currency—already has been made available to industry for bus-bars in aluminum plants, saving approximately 47,000 tons of copper and leaving about 5,000 tons of free silver in the treasury.

TIGERS ENTERTAINED BY LOCAL FANS AT DINNER LAST EVENING

Manager Mullen and his league-leading Tigers were entertained with a pleasant dinner last evening at the Rainbow Room, being guests of local baseball enthusiasts. About 45 men were present, all players except two being in attendance.

President Dalton presided over the meeting and introduced the various players. Short talks were also made by various business men and fans. The players all pledged their best efforts to keeping the team at the top of the standing, and all spoke highly of Manager Mullen and his ability in handling the club.

Among those who spoke were R. E. Sanford, Smith Atkins, Clarence Maddox, Winfrey Shepherd, Ernest Lowe, L. Kasnow, Hillard Bugg, Bert Newhouse, Frank Beadles, George Beadles, Walter Evans, L. J. Carney, and others.

SAYS LOCAL OPTION ELECTIONS PLANNED IN 27 OF COUNTIES

Porter Urges Liquor Dealers To Clean House

Frankfort, Ky., —The Anti-Liquor forces in Kentucky have prepared the groundwork for local option elections in 27 more counties this year, C. M. C. Porter, a member of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control board, told. Franklin county beer and liquor retailers in a scolding lecture here Wednesday.

Citing the progress of dries, who have now voted alcoholic beverages out in 60 of Kentucky's 120 counties, Porter declared "The dries did not win these elections, they were won by liberal, fair-minded citizens who were outraged by the disgraceful nuisances operated by some beer and liquor dealers."

Porter charged that a few illegal operators beer and liquor establishments in a county bring discredit on all the county's establishments "and the good ones get voted out with the bad ones."

He suggested that citizens who find fault with certain roadhouses and other drinking quarters should report them to the county enforcing officers or to the state control board. "We have the law which can drive the bad ones out of business," he said.

"Since the liquor control laws went into effect four years ago, the board has revoked a beer or liquor license somewhere in the state at least once every four days," he stated.

"Kentucky is heading for prohibition, just as it dried up during the last war when 111 counties voted out liquor before national prohibition took effect."

TENT MEETING BEGINS TONIGHT

The ten revival begins tonight at Riceville, sponsored by the Baptist Brotherhood. Rev. E. A. Autrey, local pastor will preach each evening at 7:30, assisted by Rev. S. L. Price, Association Missionary of West Kentucky Association. We have a large tent located across in front of the Methodist church. There is room and welcome for all and we want you to make this your meeting. Come and help us have a great meeting each night this week. You will hear good singing and will be asked to help sing good Bible songs. We are depending on our local people to do most of the singing and personal work so take your place and win some one to Christ.

Regardless of what church you attend we are not interested in that. We want all who are friends of the Christ to help bring our city nearer God. This is a time when we all must join hands and hearts and do our best to bring about a great revival. We need not expect God to bless us and give us victory in any way until we do this, so why not get to work now, win the lost, renew our lives to God and help get this old world in better shape. MORGENTHAU SAYS BUSINESS MEN TRY TO ESCAPE TAXES

Asserts Costs Of Business Are Boosted To Avoid Taxes

Washington, —Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau declared Thursday night that some corporate officials had engaged in "particularly unpardonable attempts to escape war-time taxation," and he announced that the Treasury was revising the tax assessments of offending corporations to force payment of taxes.

Morgenthau read a detailed statement to the joint House and Senate committee on internal revenue taxation at an unusual night session, and asked the legislators to back up the Treasury effort.

He listed seven unidentified instances in which he said company officials tried to cut down corporation income and excess profit taxes by paying themselves, relatives or friends, excessive salaries or other sums. He added, that he was inclined to announce the names of the corporations and officials but would leave that decision to the committee.

The instances occurred during 1941 before the United States entered the war, but Morgenthau said that made little difference because the country was engaged in the defense program at the time.

In one case, he said, the owner of a company making airplane parts hired himself as the company's sales representative and paid himself $1,656,000 in salary and commissions. The Treasury has revised this company's tax assessment and is asking for an additional $1,117,000 in income taxes.

In another case, he continued, a corporation asked for a tax deduction because of $1,900 paid for football tickets, $14,000 for banquets and $4,000 for photographs of social functions.

Sub Officer Who Blames FDR For War Enters News Again

Kes West, Fla., —A submarine commander who blamed the plight of his torpedo victims on President Roosevelt bobbed up for the second time within a week in survivors' stories of the sinking of a United States merchantman off the southern coast of Cuba May 23.

Five members of the sunken ships crew told from hospital beds here how the submarine surfaced after the attack and the captain came on deck to express regrets in broken English and suggest there was "no one to blame but Mr. Roosevelt."

The submarine came to the surface half an hour after the attack, Ome Cady, 17, of Denver, Colo., related.

"The captain and crewmen came up on deck and the submarine commander waved for our lifeboat to come alongside, demanding the name and tonnage of the sunken vessel. He said it was a pity what

London, —The greatest air armada ever mustered, about 1250 planes, poured out of Britain Saturday night in history's most devastating air raid all but blasted and burned the German industrial city of Cologne off the map with 6,720,000 pounds of bombs.

Evidence mounted Monday that Cologne, city of 768,000 and heart of Germany's Rhineland war industry, was dealt a mortal blow. Seven-eighths of the metropolis was aflame when the last of 5000 Royal Air Force men broke off a 90-minute bombardment, and at dawn hours later smoke and flames visible 150 miles east a funeral pall 15,000 feet high.

The R. A. F. Fleet, which bored into one of Germany's most heavily defended areas at a cost of 44 planes or less than 4 per cent of its total, was twice as large and carried four times the weight of bombs of any previous raiding force the world has ever known.

Giant planes swooping in at intervals of six seconds pumped in bombs at a rate of 33 tons a minute. They left the city of factories, heavy industry, chemicals and precision instruments a raging inferno.

Speculation ran high over whether United States bombers took part in the raid, as Prime Minister Churchill said recently they would do when the R. A. F. campaign hit its stride. But tight lipped officials referred the question to American authorities.

All told an army of 135,000 men carried the war to Germany's vital 5000 pilots and crewmen who flew over Cologne in defense-swamping array and 130,000 ground workers who groomed the gleaming warbirds for their most ambitious flight under a brilliant moon.

The Air Ministry announced that three German planes were shot down by British bombers in the Cologne attack and a fourth destroyed by fighters over Holland, fighter escort for the bomber fleet, but it was unclear whether the relatively short range fighters made the round trip of 600 miles or more, or only accompanied the mission over the closer reaches of the continent.

More than 1000 of the raiders were giant bombers, including four-motored Stirlings which carry eight tons of bombs each. They were strung out in single file for the attack, so that one bomber hit the city every six seconds to distract German guns and searchlight crews so they could not concentrate on any single plane for any appreciable length of time.

he had done but we had no one to blame but Mr. Roosevelt.

"Someone in the lifeboat asked for drinking water and cigarettes and a member of the crew started below for some, but he was called back on deck by the captain, who said, 'Let Roosevelt supply them!'"

"The only thing they would give us was the time," commented Herbert Sellers, 18, of Jacksonville, Fla.

The sinking was announced Thursday by the Navy. Only two were believed to have been lost from the crew that included 39 merchant sailors and a naval gun crew of 15 enlisted men and an officer.

Virtually the same statements were attributed to a submarine commander by crewmen of another ship which went down exactly a week earlier about 125 miles from the scene of the later sinking.

THE WAR IN THE DESERT OF VITAL IMPORTANCE

The strategy behind Gen. Erwin Rommel's belated campaign in Libya is beginning to unfold. The resumption of the war in the desert just as the torrid summer season is about to begin has for its object the capture of the new historic port of Tobruk. If Tobruk can be captured, the Nazis in North Africa will have a springboard for another drive against Egypt and also will be in aerial contact with the German air force based on Crete only 200 miles away. If this contact is maintained, Malta which has heretofore obstructed the sending of reinforcement and supplies to Africa from Italy may be isolated and the Middle Mediterranean may become an Axis lake.

That, however, is but the preliminary objective. With a steady flow of supplies into Libya unimpeded, Rommel may seek to push to the Suez Canal counting on superiority in manpower and equipment to carry him through. It was no doubt with this thought in mind that a German Lieutenant told a British Army photographer that "they had Churchill by the throat this time."

And the forces in Crete would not be idle. Recent reports from that quarter have revealed that Germany has massed large numbers of glider planes and barges there and also on the Italian Dodecanese islands. The purpose of these concentrations is for a possible invasion of Syria and a junction with Rommel at Suez. But Cyprus stands in the way. The two-pronged attack, the main object of which is the oil of Iraq and Iran, is not an easy matter. A year ago, following the occupation of Crete, such a pincer movement seemed inevitable and almost certain of success, but Hitler turned aside to launch his invasion of Soviet Russia. Such a success would have resulted in the British being driven out of the Mediterranean and in German control of the Near East and North Africa, within easy striking distance of India, Russia and South America. The darkest hour for western civilization was in the closing days of May, 1941.

Writing from Cairo, Richard Mowrer declares that the loss of Libya and the Suez Canal would mean a total Axis victory. That is reminding us of what we knew a year ago but it is a timely reminder. Some people in the United States are critical of the war effort. They believe we are scattering our forces, here, there and everywhere. They are bored by the indecisive see-saw struggle in the desert. Incidentally we have no troops in Libya, only technicians and observers. They want action and action in some one place. Mr. Mowrer emphasizes the fact that in global warfare every front is a part of the world conflict and that the Middle East is particularly vital to the Allied cause.—Courier-Journal.

W. F. B. STARTS STUDY OF AIR FREIGHT NEEDS

Washington. — The War Production Board has started a preliminary study to determine whether air transport facilities are adequate for the wartime needs of the nation, it was learned today.

The broad study of the air transportation problem, it was indicated, probably would include consideration of the needs for more air cargo space. This might entail the building of cargo planes substantially larger than any now in use.

CANNED CITRUS JUICES EX- EMPTED FROM PRICE CEILING

Washington. — Canned citrus fruits and citrus juices were exempted today from the price ceiling.

Announcing the action, Price Administrator Leon Henderson said study indicated that the March price ceiling levels did not reflect sufficiently high prices to citrus fruit growers.

The exemption order does not apply to canned fruit salad or fruit cocktail of which oranges and grapefruit are ingredients.

Hounds Stage Ninth-Inning Rally To Down Tigers Yesterday 6-4

Staging a ninth inning rally here yesterday afternoon, the Union City Greyhounds sunk the Tigers 6 to 4 and registered their first victory over the Fulton team this season. Previously the Tigers had won six straight games from the Hounds. The Hounds presented several new faces in the lineup, and determined efforts are being made to get a team together which can go in the Kitty League.

With his pitching staff badly worn from three games in two days, including a night 14 inning tilt, Manager Mullen threw Frankie Faudem, left-handed outfielder, in to the rifle pit for the Union City game. Faudem pitched a creditable game and with better support would have won easily. In the first inning loose playing gave the Hounds a run on only one hit, and for seven innings Frankie held them to two hits. In the ninth, three errors, coupled with three or four hits, enabled the visitors to register four runs. Until the eighth the Hounds held a narrow 2 to 1 lead, and in the eighth the Tigers really worked on "String" Beane, Union City right-hander, to score three runs and take a 4 to 2 lead. It looked like the ball game at the time, for things had been going pretty well. In the ninth, however, Pavoris erred on a ground ball, with the runner reaching first. A hit into right followed and the throw to third had the runner out, but Pavoris dropped the ball and men were on second and third, with no outs. Manager Mullen shot down one man at the plate on a nice throw, but Burgess, who had relieved Faudem after two men were on, walked a man. From the stands it appeared that he had him struck out, but the umpire ruled otherwise and the bases were filled. Schmidt, Hounds first sacker, lined a hit into center, which hopped over Pollock's eager hands, and cleared the bases. Wehust finished the game, retiring the Tigers in order in the ninth.

The Tigers appeared a bit stale in the game, and did not hit Beane with any telling effect except in the eighth. The tall right-hander had eleven strikeouts, as his curve ball broke with abrupt hops for many called third strikes. Peterson led the Tigers in hitting with three blows.

TIGERS TAKE DOBLE HEADER SATURDAY NITE FROM HOPKINSVILLE

After playing a 14-inning tie game in Hopkinsville Friday night the Tigers rallied and swept the Memorial Day double bill there Saturday, taking the first game 9 to 7, and the nightcap 6 to 4. The Hoppers outthrew the Tigers by a pretty wide margin, 13 to 8, but Pavoris, Pollock and Peterson hit for the circuit, battling in six runs. Pavoris alone drove in four runs. Bishop was the Tiger pitcher and held the Hoppers at crucial moments.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

Dean, International Correspondence Schools

WITHOUT an intercommunicating system consisting of cables and wires, the modern battleship would be all but worthless. The wiring is just as important as the gun turrets or the steam power. The ship might have all the appearance of a first class performer, but she would be of little value in action.

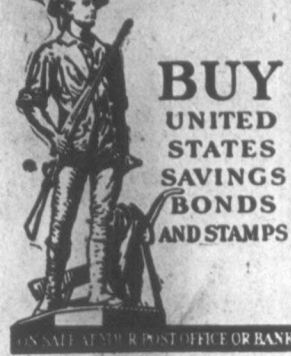

Some men are like an unfinished ship. They have the potentialities, but without skill they are not capable of doing a job that requires responsibility. They are mere shells of efficiency until the "wiring" or training is acquired.

Today thousands of men are working in the New York Navy Yard, busily engaged in building this nation's two-ocean navy. These men are given opportunities to advance to better jobs. The task demands skilled technicians and mechanics. Every department must have highly trained men to direct those who build and fit together the parts of gigantic battleships.

The Navy is proud of the spirit of the men who build ships, but that is not enough. Such workmen must be perfectionists. There is not much time to train men, but every effort is being made in that direction.

The big jobs in the shipyard, like those in any other great American industry, are handled by those men who are properly "wired" to grow with speed and efficiency. You have the "know how!"

FRIDAY NIGHT GAME

In the Friday night tie game Manager Mullen forced to use three pitchers, with Barger, Burgess and Thommasson seeing service. The Hoppers touched the trio for eighteen hits, while the Tigers were collecting 13. The Tigers had a 6 to 5 lead in the eighth but the Hoppers tied in the last half of that frame and no scores were made by either club in the final six innings. Hopkinsville made several threats, but the Ti-

SECOND GAME

In the second game of this Memorial Day doubleheader, the Tigers gave Fisher tight support and held the Hoppers runless until the ninth inning. In the meantime timely hitting and built up a lead of six runs, and the usual Hopper ninth-inning rally plated only four runs. For a few seconds the game looked a bit stormy, but after the Hoppers had bombarded Fisher for four tallies Johnny Barger was rushed in and managed to put out the fire. Fisher had fanned six Hoppers, but the ninth brought trouble to him and Barger came to the rescue.

Joe Pollock had four hits in the game, including a double, and fielded sensationally in handling four chances. Faudem also fielded well in left field and Mullen and Peterson had two hits each.
