No Fault Bill Sponsor Says Study Of Costs Is Inaccurate

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The sponsor of Kentucky's no-fault auto insurance bill said Wednesday that an actuarial study of the cost of no-fault is "incomplete and inaccurate."

Sen. Joe Stacy, D-West Liberty, said the study, done by an independent consulting firm, Milliman and Robertson, was based on incomplete information.

The study was made public Friday by the Senate sponsor of another auto insurance bill, Nicholas Baker, D-Louisville.

"I decided the study should not be published until it included all of the information that the General Assembly needs in order to best determine the effect upon insurance premiums that will result from SB 102," Stacy told the Senate.

He said premature release of the study resulted in misunderstandings that might have been avoided.

He said assumptions made by the firm in computing the costs were not valid and said the firm has been asked to supply additional information that would be valid for Kentucky.

Members of Milliman and Robertson will be in Frankfort late next week to testify on cost effects of the bill, Stacy said.

State Trooper Charged With Disorderly Conduct

A Kentucky State Policeman has been charged with disorderly conduct in Benton as the result of an incident during the recent trucker shutdown in the area.

State Police Lt. Harold Watson pleaded not guilty and was recognized on his own $100 bond Wednesday under a warrant taken by Wallace Posey, Draffenville, charging the trooper with disorderly conduct in that he allegedly behaved in a threatening manner.

The charge apparently stems from an incident at Draffenville on Feb. 7 which led to Posey being charged by Watson with disorderly conduct.

According to the Marshall County sheriff's office, Lt. Watson was involved in assisting a truck convoy along U.S. 68 in Draffenville when the incident involving Posey occurred.

The sheriff's office said that Posey apparently was involved in the blocking of the truck convoy and was subsequently charged with disorderly conduct in that he allegedly used obscene language in a public place.

Posey entered a plea of not guilty and was recognized on a $500 bond.

A hearing was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. on Feb. 20 in both cases.

Youth Presumed Drowned After Falling Into Lake

Kevin West, fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cecil West Elm Street, Calvert City, formerly of Murray, presumably drowned at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday at Kentucky Dam.

Lt. Edwin Jones of TVA Public Safety, Kentucky Dam, told the Murray Ledger & Times, this morning that the young boy fell off a wainsail near the west end of Kentucky Dam. West and three companions had reportedly ridden their bicycles using the main highway across the dam when they stopped.

The three companions, David Wysock, age 13, Mike Burns, age 14, and Jeff Mueller, age 16, told TVA officials that they saw West swimming after he fell into the water; but as he was pulled toward the main part of the dam, he disappeared into the swirling waters and was apparently swept over the dam.

Lt. Jones said all twenty-four gates of the dam were open at the time of the drowning. He said the closing of the gates will start at noon today and all the gates will be closed by six a.m. Friday when dragging operations will be started to attempt to locate the body.

The TVA official said the gradual closing of the gates is necessary so as to not let the Tennessee river get too low for industrial plants below the dam.

Lt. Jones said the Marshall County Rescue Squad will be in charge of the dragging operations when they start Friday morning. Rescue squads in surrounding areas, including the Calloway County Fire-Rescue Squad, have offered their assistance to the Marshall County Squad in the dragging operations, said Lt. Jones.

The young boy, a student at the Calvert City Grade School is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cecil West, two sisters, Susan and Samantha West, one brother, Clay West, all of Calvert City; grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Henry West, south 16th street, Murray, and Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Scott of Murray Route Six; great grandmother, Mrs. C.C. West, South 16th Street, Murray.

The young boys were not in school on Wednesday as the schools in all of Marshall County were closed due to the flu epidemic.

Whitten Appointed To State Committee

Robert L. Whitten, director of criminology at Murray State University, was recently appointed to the Educational and Training Coordination Committee of the Kentucky Criminal Justice Educators Association.

Composed of deans and directors of criminal justice programs in Kentucky colleges and universities, the committee is aimed toward the development of a consortium to promote quality and quantity of education and a blending of education and training of police officers and pre-service students throughout the state.

"It is envisioned that the coordinating efforts of this committee will be designed with a view to integrating recommendations in a total criminal justice educational and training plan," Whitten said.

The committee has tentative plans to meet within a month and later to present its recommendations to the annual meeting of the Kentucky Criminal Justice Educators Association.

In addition to Murray State, colleges and universities represented on the committee include Bellarmine College, Eastern Kentucky University, Paducah Community College, the University of Louisville and the University of Kentucky.

AND THE WALLS CAME TUMBLING DOWN—Workmen at Murray State University are shown as they take down the wall around old Cutchin Stadium. The stands on the west side of the field (upper left) will also be razed as the area, to be known as Cutchin Field, is converted to use for physical education classes, intramural competition and other recreational purposes. Cutchin Stadium was the site of Murray State's home football games from 1934 until the Thoroughbreds moved to new Roy Stewart Stadium last fall. (Photo by Wilson Woolley)

Revamping Of Cutchin Stadium Now Underway

Old Cutchin Stadium, the battleground for home football games at Murray State University from the fall of 1934, through the fall of 1972, is changing roles.

Both the west stands and the wall surrounding the familiar landmark in the heart of the campus are being torn down. The large open area will then be used for physical education classes, intramural competition and other recreational purposes.

Dr. Chad Stewart, chairman of the department of health, physical education and recreation, said the area will retain the Cutchin name. It will be known as Cutchin Field in memory of the late Carlisle Cutchin, who spent almost three decades as a coach and athletic director on the campus before his death in 1953.

"Availability of the new stadium has necessitated the change," Stewart explained, "but no one has any idea of eliminating the Cutchin name from the area that was dedicated to him years ago." Now the plan is to convert the area to uses that will benefit the entire student body, according to Stewart. He mentioned softball fields, a soccer field and a jogging area as among the intended uses.

He pointed out that the stands on the east side of the field will be retained, along with the lights, for day or night events that will attract spectators.

"Grading and terracing of the slope where the west stands are being razed will add to aesthetic value as well as to the practicality of the area," Stewart said.

Dr. Thomas B. Hogancamp, vice-president for administrative affairs, said he expects most of the project to be finished during the spring semester, with some of the landscaping probably to be done in the fall.

He added that a plaque will be erected in an appropriate location to perpetuate the Cutchin name when all the work is completed.

Murray State played its final football game in 8,000-seat Cutchin Stadium against Western Kentucky University, an arch-rival in the Ohio Valley Conference, on Nov. 18, 1972. All five Thoroughbred home games in the fall of 1973 were played in new Roy Stewart Stadium.

Located not far from the Cutchin Field site—at the intersection of U.S. 641 and the Ky. 121 Bypass on the northeast corner of the campus—Stewart Stadium is part of the $5.3 million academic-athletic complex which seats more than 16,000 for football. It is named in honor of Roy Stewart, retired athletic director and coach.

Cutchin Stadium was built in the lean years of the 1930s as a project of the Works Progress Administration and the National Youth Administration. The WPA built the stands on the west side of the field during 1934 and the NYA built the wall around the stadium in the 1939-40 school year.

Oil Companies Directed To Provide More Fuel For Trucks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Energy Office said today it is directing oil companies to provide more fuel to truck stops immediately and that it has found "atrocious" price-gouging in sales of propane gas.

Deputy FEO Administrator John C. Sawhill told a news conference, however, the FEO is not ready to starting shifting gasoline supplies to alleviate shortages and inequities among the states.

Sawhill said the FEO is sending teams to 19 states immediately to attempt to verify gasoline supply data and to start working with governors to alleviate problems.

In other announcements, Sawhill said: —The FEO directed refineries to increase jet fuel production six per cent and to draw from stocks to provide airlines with their fuel allotment this month.

—The FEO, in direct checks of customs reports, found petroleum imports for last week to be far higher than reported by the American Petroleum Institute on Wednesday. They were running just about at predicted levels of the full impact of the Arab oil embargo, and not some 500,000 barrels per day short as the API indicated.

IRS Reports Price Gouging By Service Stations In State

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Louisville office of the Internal Revenue Service reports a survey of 129 Kentucky service stations reveals about 45 per cent of the operators are over-charging for gasoline.

A price stabilization officer for the IRS said Wednesday he blames constant revisions in the wholesale price of gasoline more than "gouging" by station operators for the higher prices.

Daniel Hawes said those stations found to be charging excessive prices were required to roll back their pump prices and sell gasoline at lower rates until the dollar total equaled the overcharges.

A check of home-heating-oil suppliers revealed eight of 29 in violation of federal price guidelines.

As with the service stations, the heating oil suppliers had to roll back their prices.

The World Is Theme Of Discussion By Mrs. Fred Gingles, Magazine Club Meet

Mrs. Fred Gingles was the speaker at the meeting of the Magazine Club held on Thursday, January 24, at two p.m. at the Murray Woman's Club House with Mrs. E. A. Lundquist as hostess.

Mrs. Fred Gingles

"The World" was the theme of the talk by Mrs. Gingles who read selections from the first chapter of Genesis and said "God made a beautiful world and everything is beautiful in its own way."

Mrs. Gingles gave examples as writers and museums can express. She said God expects every person to do his best with his talents; and all humans are playing in God's orchestra creating with what we have, doing the best we can with materials and talents we have.

She said we fall back on our talents to end our frustrations. The speaker read one of her original stories from a book she had published for her children and grandchildren. She told how when her children were small, she created these stories and told them to her children, and later had the stories published. She closed by reading an original poem she had written.

Mrs. A. C. LaFollette introduced Mrs. Gingles. The president, Mrs. C. C. Lowry, presided. New officers elected for the year 1974 were Mrs. Ewen Allbritten, president; Mrs. Raymond Dixon, vice-president; Mrs. Harry Sparks, secretary; Mrs. Jack Kennedy, treasurer.

A dessert course was served by Mrs. Lundquist.

The next meeting will be a luncheon on Tuesday, February 28, at one p.m. at the Murray Woman's Club House. Mrs. Raymond Dixon will show a film on "Birds of Kentucky."

She's raring to go where the men are

DEAR ABBY: Can you tell me where the men are? Frankly, I'm husband hunting and I'd like to go about it intelligently. I'm not joking. I have only so much money, and I don't want to waste it.

Naturally I want to go where there are a greater percentage of single men. (over 40, please. I am 45.) I've heard that the men outnumber the women in Canada and Australia, so they should be happy hunting grounds, right? What about South American countries? I like Latin types. Any suggestions will be greatly appreciated.

RARIN' TO GO

DEAR RARIN': Try Alaska. There is a shortage of women there like you wouldn't believe. And if you should get lucky, the nights are six months long.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both 30, happily married, and heterosexual. His sister is 24 and an admitted lesbian.

Several months ago she told my husband she was "attracted" to me, and given the opportunity she could enjoy a romantic relationship with me. [Her favorite expression is: "You haven't tried it, don't knock it."] My husband and I are both quite upset because we can't imagine why she would consider me a candidate for a romance with her.

We have tried to forget it, but she has become very affectionate too, kissing me, and pawing me in a way I do not like at all.

She is not a stupid girl. I can't imagine what she's trying to accomplish. How should this be handled?

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Handle it just as you would handle the situation were she a BROTHER in law who started making improper advances. Tell her you are not interested and to keep her distance. And if that doesn't work, avoid her.

DEAR ABBY: I am an unmarried Latin American woman of 26, which means I'm an old maid by Latin American standards.

All my life I had been fond of a gentleman who was a friend of the family. Now that he is a widower I realize that I am in love with him and have been since I was 14.

He is 67, a retired professional man, vigorous physically and intellectually, and handsome. He's from a good family and is well-to-do. [So am I. My sister and I will soon inherit 5 million American dollars.]

I want to marry this man, but presently he has a middle-aged Indian housekeeper who is also his mistress. [I am very jealous of her.]

Should I propose marriage to him? Or should my father tell him how I feel?

J

DEAR J: First, tell your father how you feel, and ask him to find out how the gentleman feels about YOU. Don't be too optimistic. He may be quite satisfied with his present arrangement. Sabe?

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: Today is St. Valentine's Day, so be a sweetheart, and do something thoughtful for a shut-in. Flowers? A visit? Or just a phone call would mean a lot to some folks who don't get out much.

Action Commendable

We wish to commend our First District Congressman Frank Albert Stubblefield for his refusal to go with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to sign any new treaty with Panama. The "statement of principles" were to be signed and these would supposedly guide treaty negotiators. Rep. Stubblefield is truly a man of principles and could not see joining in the efforts to turn over complete control of the canal in return for nothing but "emphoral favor in Panamanian and world opinion."

Our congressman called on President Nixon to terminate the piecemeal surrender of the Panama Canal and Canal Zone. The tiny country exists only because of the Panama Canal zone and its record is one of political unrest and governmental instability. Only four Canal Zone presidents have completed their constitutional terms in office (four years) in the past 70 years.

The story is the same. It is the cry by Latin American regimes of American sovereignty Yankee colonialism. The original treaty written by Theodore Roosevelt in 1903 awarded the United States sovereignty over the zone "in perpetuity." If we move out and the design proves to be the same, as it has been in similar situations, then we will be told to stay out and Communism will move in. We carved it out of disease infested jungle when no others words. It is ours. Let's hold it.

'BUT I DON'T WANT TO BE RESCUED'

GOVERNMENT ROLE OMINOUS

Health plan has pitfalls

We doubt if many Americans could quarrel with the principles set forth by President Nixon when he sent his health insurance proposals to Congress. He believes too many people are being denied decent health care because they cannot afford it. He also believes the government should stay as much out of the picture as possible in trying to remedy that problem. The "key element" in his plan, says Mr. Nixon, is that doctors should work for their patients, not for the government.

The nation's long experience with private medical practitioners and privately managed group health insurance fully justifies the President's determination to build on what is successful in our health care system rather than tear it down and start over. In essence, his program calls for making it mandatory that employers provide health insurance for their employees and pay most of the cost. The government would help pay the premiums for people with low incomes or who are on welfare. The coverage would be extensive and would be the same for all.

Clearly this does not inspire the dread we associate with "socialized medicine" nor does it contemplate a major new tax program. Thus on the face of it the Nixon plan is far more preferable than the outright surrender of health insurance to the federal government as proposed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. However, there is no glossing over the fact that even the low profile which the government would maintain under the President's plan is a major step away from the traditional rights of choice in the way our health care needs are satisfied.

The plan would bring millions of Americans into new insurance programs and broaden the benefits available to millions more whose present coverage falls below the minimum standards the government would prescribe. The total outlay for medical care paid by the American people would increase sharply. Because these costs would be met by employer-employee contributions to a privately administered insurance fund, the program does not require an increase in "taxes." As we have learned from our mandatory "contributions" to Social Security, however, a tax by any other name is still a tax.

Doctors are also learning that they do not have to "work for the government" to feel the intrusion of bureaucracy into their relations with their patients. They are currently smarting under a new rule that a committee must review their decision to send a Medicare or Medicaid patient to the hospital, a step which the government says is necessary to deal with excessive hospitalization of patients whose health insurance is provided through Social Security and welfare programs.

If private insurance programs providing benefits mandated by federal law get into the same kind of over-utilization problems and runaway costs that have beset Medicare and Medicaid, who is going to step in to straighten things out? The government, of course. Those "utilization review committees" now only concerned with Medicare and Medicaid patients may then be scouting around for additional help.

Cardinal undiminished

For 25 years Josef Cardinal Mindszenty has been a symbol of resistance to Communist efforts to suppress the free exercise of religion. There is no reason why his forced retirement as primate of Hungary at the age of 81 should diminish the significance of his defiance of a government that sent him to prison and finally drove him into exile.

The spirit of detente now flowing between East and West may improve the world's chances for peace, but it will be for future generations to decide whether all of the costs were worth it. One of the costs is that the repression of freedom in Eastern Europe is being accepted by most of the world as a status quo. Cardinal Mindszenty's story, however, will always speak for itself. No amount of diplomacy can change a word of it.

OPEN FORUM

Nostalgia

(Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writer and do not necessarily reflect the editorial views of the Murray Ledger & Times. Readers who would like to express their opinion on the issues discussed in this column are encouraged to respond with a "Letter to the Editor.")

By Mike Brandon

It seems that in the past year the movie and television industries have been trying to recapture nostalgia.

First came the motion picture "Summer of '42" and then it was the "Class of '44" that warmed the hearts of American movie fans. The '50's were depicted in "The Last Picture Show" and now the latest hit is "American Graffiti" and its television sequel, "Happy Days."

America has come a long way since the days of Roosevelt, Eisenhower and Kennedy. And problems that once seemed major are now a part of history.

The American society today is a troubled one. Indeed, democracy in the United States may be standing on its last leg.

It is refreshing to see this type of movie and again recall what were "the good old days."

There's only one problem. What are the film makers of the late 1980's and the early 1990's going to do to capture nostalgia of the '70's?

In the '50's, it was hot-rod cars and bobby socks. In the '60's it was the Beatles, the twist and the New York Mets.

What has happened to the youth of today? This generation has not only adopted alcohol and tobacco from the previous one, it has added something.

What it has added is the giant social problem in America today. A social problem that costs the American taxpayers millions of dollars to combat.

It's now the time to do at parties. Twenty years ago, it was spin the bottle and post office.

Today it is empty the bottle, free love and drugs.

When the moviemakers of the future try to recapture this generation, they will be showing as nostalgia what is the sickness today.

Letters To The Editor

Readers Question Count

Dear Editor:

We here at the University are deeply concerned with truth in advertising in the nation's news media. In the February 6, 1974 edition of your paper an advertisement appeared on page 6 stating that you were saying "thanks" 8,160 times. This ad led one to believe that the word "thanks" was printed on the page 8,160 times.

After counting the number of columns and the number of thanks in each column we determined that even counting the area behind the two large circles it was possible for there to only be 7,888 thanks. The ad also stated that you were experiencing your largest circulation in history and were thanking your subscribers. For those 272 who have not yet been thanked we feel thanks are in order.

We would deeply appreciate an expression of your thanks for those of us who have been loyal subscribers to your paper for the past several years. "THANKS" for your consideration in this matter.

Sincerely,
Two concerned readers,
Joseph W. Park
John P. Young, Jr.

Skylab 3 blazes new trail

The return of Skylab 3 astronauts from their record-breaking stay in space is an occasion for rejoicing. While manned orbital flights have become almost routine in the public mind, each mission continues to present dangers and new challenges.

The courageous crew of Skylab 3 had its share of unforeseen malfunctions of equipment. Each situation was met with confidence and determination to complete the experiment despite obstacles.

Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue share the plaudits of their countrymen for a complicated and painstaking assignment well fulfilled.

Neither they nor the scientists who guided them, however, can fully appreciate the impact of their 84 days in America's orbiting space laboratory. Several years will be required to assimilate and interpret the enormous volumes of data accumulated.

But it is certain that the mission completed by these intrepid pioneers will answer many riddles of space. And, more importantly, that the information obtained will have a profound influence on life on earth.

Knowledge of the earth, its weather and its resources will be immeasurably increased to the ultimate benefit of all who inhabit the planet so thoroughly surveyed from a vantage point of 270 miles into the threshold of the universe.

Beyond that, the payload contains some 75,000 photographs of celestial objects including the sun and the comet Kohoutek, all taken from the clear, unobstructed viewpoint of the orbiting platform. Massive quantities of recording tape and medical samples await the eager assessment of scientists.

For the crewmen, this marks the end of still another incredible feat of daring and endurance. They must feel a justified sense of accomplishment, along with the exhilaration that comes from a safe return home.

Indian Ocean outpost

British approval of a buildup of facilities for the U.S. Navy on Diego Garcia Island in the Indian Ocean is an important piece of good news.

Thanks to Henry Kissinger's negotiating success in the Middle East, the Israeli army is withdrawing from the banks of the Suez Canal and that waterway, after being closed since the 1967 Egypt-Israel war, is expected to be open soon.

Probably among the first vessels to transit the newly reopened canal will be fighting ships of the Soviet Union. It will greatly shorten their naval supply line to the Indian Ocean and the Persian Gulf.

Unchecked, the Soviet Navy could open a new era of gunboat diplomacy and intimidation in that oil-rich and highly strategic area.

Maintaining the balance of forces requires a stronger presence by the U.S. Navy in the Indian Ocean.

Expanding base facilities for ships and submarines on Diego Garcia is an essential step toward keeping the peace.

At the same time, attention must be paid to improving our international relations with all countries in Africa and Asia that border that strategic ocean.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

D.C. BICENTENNIAL MURAL OFFENSIVE

Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes (Fla.) ... The D.C. Bicentennial Building is disgusting and an affront to this Nation and its people.

While we were in recess, the building was opened with a great deal of hoopla. The Mayor of Washington dedicated the office. A representative of the White House was there.

Apparently the officials didn't see, or ignored one of the principal features of the room: a mural painted around its ceiling. This disgusting piece of trash glorifies Karl Marx, Friedrich Engels, Joseph Stalin, and Mao Tse-tung.

For good measure the President of the United States is depicted wearing a mustache and clad in the costume of a movie gangster. His daughter has an Afro hairdo and a portrait of an avowed Communist Angela Davis is thrown in for no understandable reason ... Joe Stalin ... is cleverly disguised with mutton chops ...

The Bicentennial is to celebrate 200 years of a nation that was built by men and women who longed to be free. Down through the ages there have been men like Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, Lincoln, Roosevelt, and Truman who built on that dream. Women like Betsy Ross, Florence Nightingale and Clara Barton dreamed of a land where every person could live good and productive lives ...

Washington D.C. is not just another city. It is the capital City of the greatest nation on the face of the Earth.

The spirit of the Bicentennial is disgraced by a hideous mural from the brush of a man who apparently feels that it is clever to insult the flag that allows him to be free. His mural defames the names of the tens of thousands of men who have given their lives in the service of this Nation for the cause of freedom ...

What is worse nothing is being done about removing this bathroom graffiti from the walls of an office that should serve as a model as America prepares to celebrate its Bicentennial ...

Isn't It The Truth!

By Carl Riblet Jr.

Millions of fearful, decent citizens have been intimidated by agents of the Internal Revenue Service into signing waivers and other hold-still papers that subsequently enslave them to the tax collectors. What all Americans should know is that nobody in the IRS has the right to make anybody, anywhere sign anything but his tax return.

"...There are more instances of the abridgement of the freedom of the people by encroachment of those in power than by violent and sudden usurpations."

Mayfield City Council Urges Central School

The Mayfield City Council has adopted a resolution favoring the location of an area vocational-technical training school in the Mayfield-Graves County area.

The site of the proposed $3 million center has been announced as Paducah, however the council believes a more central location would be beneficial to more people.

Mayfield mayor John Boyd has directed that letters of the council's endorsement of a more central location be sent to State Senator Carroll Hubbard, Jr., and State Representative Lloyd Clapp.

Clapp said during an interview Wednesday it was doubtful the site could be changed since the money has already been budgeted for the Paducah installation. Clapp said a survey taken several years ago revealed the site just north of Mayfield would be the most central location for the proposed school.

As recommended in the governor's budget, the new school would replace the West Kentucky Vocational technical School, founded in 1909, and would be designed to serve residents of the eight-county Purchase.

Ford Predicts Nation Will Be Over Hump By Mid-summer

LONDON, Ky. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford predicts the nation will be "over the hump" by late summer or early fall in dealing with economic problems, including the energy crisis and spiraling food prices.

Speaking before a Lincoln Day dinner crowd of 2,000 here Wednesday night, Ford said peace and prosperity will be key issues in next fall's general elections. He said he believed "economic problems will be of short duration."

"I believe that by late summer or early fall we'll be over the hump and those are the basic issues."

He said he did not believe Watergate would harm Republican candidates.

Ford said administration policies on prices "are designed to combat inflation by increasing the food supply."

He said the administration is also striving to end the Arab embargo on oil shipments to the United States while at the same time seeking cooperation from other nations which are also in short energy supply.

On the administration's search for peace, Ford said, "We can have no real security in the world unless we are all secure. We seek cooperation, conciliation and moderation."

He told newsmen earlier that when Republican candidates seek election next fall these advances should override such incidents as Watergate.

Timeout With Brandon

By MIKE BRANDON
Sports Editor

One prediction for Friday night that is sure to be correct.

Come early or you may not get a seat.

As far as predicting the outcome of the game, I won't. But I will offer my views on the contest and how either one of the teams could win.

I think the offensive rebounding is going to be the point to watch.

If either team is able to move inside under its own boards and put in a few offensive rebounds, that team is going to be the one who will win the game.

Murray High has been getting better of defensive rebounding than have the Lakers.

With Hudspeth and McCuiston under the basket, the Tigers have an excellent chance of getting a tip in or a putback. And with Bob Wilder coming under and with Lane or Jackson coming back to follow shots, the Tigers have at least four men on the boards at all times.

Calloway County is just beginning to get the offensive rebounds.

Greg Howard and James Wells have been doing the offensive rebounding for the Lakers. Sheltón and Futrell have been getting several secondary rebounds and then feeding the ball back inside.

There's no question about it. If the Lakers can keep Wells in the game and out of foul trouble, it's going to be quite a game.

But if Wells should get in foul trouble or foul out early, the Lakers cannot possibly rebound with the Tigers because of the devastating MHS strength.

There's also no question that the Lakers have vastly improved.

But here's something else nobody has given much thought to.

As Tyrone McCuiston's knee grows stronger, so do the Tigers.

"I've come a long way since that first time we played them at Murray State," Tyrone said.

"My knee is a lot stronger and I'm able to move around now a lot more than I used to."

Wells will be the man to watch for the Lakers and McCuiston for Murray High.

They will be matched up on each other and the one who wins the personal duel will play on the winning team.

Not necessarily by outscoring the other man, simply making his presence known by playing aggressive basketball under the basket.

Sombody will win the game by more than 10 points. But at this time, I'd be afraid to make a guess who it will be.

Tired Ali Backs Out Of Fight Set For May With Jerry Quarry

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm tired. I need a rest. I'm going back to Chicago," said Muhammad Ali. And with that, the former heavyweight boxing champion backed out of a match with Jerry Quarry for the second time in three days.

The on-again, off-again May 13 bout was about as on again as it could be Wednesday — until it came time for Ali to make it legal. Then, apparently thinking once more about a possible bout with current champ George Foreman — and the millions that bout would rake in — Ali did a fast shuffle.

"Both Ali and Quarry said they were ready to sign," said Teddy Brenner, president and matchmaker of the Madison Square Garden Corp. "We had Quarry's name on paper and then went to Ali's hotel to get the same from him."

"We went to Ali's hotel with the contracts and felt sure there would be a signing. Ali's lawyer, Bob Arum, was there and so was his manager, Herbert Muhammad, and Don King, who manages Ernie Shavers."

Brenner said that, with Ali about to sign for the Quarry bout, "King interceded, saying to Muhammad, 'You would be crazy to sign for this fight and risk the $5 million you could get from fighting Foreman. I know you beat Quarry twice, but Quarry is a different fighter now. I know what he did to my boy, Shavers.'"

Ali, apparently having second thoughts, refused to sign the contract, said Brenner. Ali said he was tired. "Okay," Brenner replied, "we'll postpone the date of the fight."

Foreman's Divorce May Force Postponement Of Fight

By JIM BARLOW

Associated Press Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — George Foreman, the heavyweight champion of the world, presented the almost classic cliché Wednesday of the boxer who finds himself lost in the business world, as he testified at his divorce hearing.

Foreman, through his testimony and through a statement of assets given to the court by his lawyers but not entered into the records, indicated he was in debt. As a result, he may not be fighting Ken Norton as scheduled March 26 in Caracas, Venezuela, and indeed, may soon have his championship taken away from him.

Under the Texas community property law his wife, Adrienne Foreman of Minneapolis, is entitled to half of the assets acquired during their marriage. Foreman testified in a short hearing Wednesday that he may be forced to skip his scheduled fight with Norton if the divorce hearing drags through Tuesday.

If this court continues to Monday or Tuesday I won't fight," Foreman testified. "I would have to break training." Foreman said he couldn't go into the ring against Norton if he was not in shape. But he added that if he doesn't defend his title soon, he may be taken from him by boxing authorities for non-defense.

"I know I will have to give my title back if I don't fight," he said.

However, after the court recessed, Foreman refused to answer a reporter's question about not fighting. "I wasn't talking to a reporter then," he said about his testimony.

Both Foreman and his wife have agreed on the divorce and custody of their 13-month-old daughter, but are hung up on a property settlement.

At issue is how much money Foreman has made during their just over two years of marriage, and whether money from the Norton fight should be included in the property settlement, if the divorce is granted before the fight.

Foreman testified Wednesday he knew little about business affairs, had frequently lost business records in the past and made deals which hurt him.

"Fighting demands so much of my concentration so I push the business off on other people," he testified.

The financial statement submitted to the court claims that Foreman has assets of $145,000, including $110,000 in cash in three different bank accounts. But it also claims that he or his company, George Foreman Development Corp., currently owes $173,001, and that Foreman is actually $27,601 in debt.

Foreman did not say how much money he was to receive from his scheduled March 26 fight with Norton but did say the promoters had put up $275,000 in advance payments. That money would have to be repaid if the fight was called off, he added.

Indianapolis Wanting NFL Franchise

By JERRY GARRETT
AP Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Indianapolis has joined Seattle, Phoenix, Memphis and Honolulu in the chase for a National Football League expansion team. Although the Indianapolis entry is late compared with its rivals, a task force of Indiana business leaders claim they have an edge.

"Indianapolis is the largest U.S. city without an NFL franchise," said Robert V. Welch, one of the task force's co-leaders. "There are 14 cities smaller than Indianapolis that now have NFL franchises."

"The NFL knows this and is very interested in the city."

A report commissioned by the league to find the most suitable sites for expansion gave Indianapolis "a fantastic rating," Welch said. One problem keeping the Hoosier capital from an NFL team earlier has been the lack of a stadium. The NFL requires at least a 55,000-seat stadium for each of its teams. But Indianapolis banker Frank J. McKinney Jr., whose family formerly owned baseball's Pittsburgh Pirates, told a news conference here Wednesday he will make sure the city has a stadium that meets NFL specifications within two years.

Welch and McKinney met with Dan Rooney of the Pittsburgh Steelers and head of the NFL Expansion Committee Monday and received sufficient encouragement from Rooney to proceed with the project, Welch noted.

The league is committed to expand by four teams by 1976, possibly sooner, McKinney said. Indianapolis currently has an American Basketball Association franchise and plans to field a World Hockey Association club this fall.

Kentucky State Keeps Streak With 78-71 Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky State's Thorobreds rolled to their 12th straight victory Wednesday night as Arthur Box scored 18 points in a 78-71 decision over Tennessee Wesleyan.

Tennessee Wesleyan out-shot the nation's leading college division field goal percentage squad with a 54.8 per cent mark to Kentucky State's 48 per cent.

The game may have been won on the boards, however, as the Thorobreds out-rebounded the Tennesseans 53-25.

John Paul Ely led Tennessee Wesleyan's scoring with 18. Kentucky Wesleyan's scoring punch of Steve Walker and Jyronna Ralston proved the undoing of Bellarmine as the Panthers picked up their eighth win in a row 100-84.

Walker had a game-high 27 points and Ralston added 23. George Duncan had 24 for Bellarmine and Jim Hall 21 as the Knights suffered their 11th loss of the season against 9 victories. Kentucky Wesleyan is now 16-3.

Rio Grande of Ohio came back from a 44-38 halftime deficit and led by Ron Lampert, belted Pikeville 93-81.

Lampert had 31 points to lead all scorers as Rio Grande recorded victory number eleven out of 21 starts.

Pikeville's Joey Osborne connected for 21 points to lead his team's scoring.

Solzhenitsyn Remains At Home Of Novelist In Germany Today

LANGENBROICH, Germany (AP)—Exiled Soviet author Alexander Solzhenitsyn remained in semiseclusion today at the country home of German novelist Heinrich Boll.

"You must understand my situation," Solzhenitsyn told the hundred newsmen who rushed Wednesday night to the little village of Langenbroich, 18 miles southwest of Bonn.

"I cannot hold a conference and answer your questions now. Now I simply have to collect myself and to understand my situation."

Boll, a Nobel prizewinner like his guest, indicated Solzhenitsyn would make no further statements until his wife and three children got out of Russia.

Following the writer's expulsion from his homeland Wednesday, Tass, the Soviet news agency, announced that his family could join him "when they deem it necessary." But Boll said Solzhenitsyn was suspicious of this.

Solzhenitsyn left the newsmen to telephone his wife, with whom he had not talked since his arrest at their Moscow apartment Tuesday. After a 15-minute conversation, she told newsmen in Moscow he was tired but in good health.

"We intend to follow him, certainly," she said, "but when, where ... we just don't know."

The 55-year-old writer was arrested after a six-week campaign of vilification in the official Soviet press for the publication in the West of his documentary book on the Soviet network of labor camps, "The Gulag Archipelago." It was the fourth of his five major works published abroad in defiance of Soviet bans.

Evidently fearing the repercussions in the West if it put on trial a man recognized abroad as one of the greatest living writers, the Kremlin stripped him of his Soviet citizenship, put him on a plane to West Germany and banished him to live abroad on the large fortune that his books have accumulated for him in Switzerland.

The banishment decree said he was guilty of "systematically performing actions that are incompatible with being a citizen of the Soviet Union and detrimental to the U.S.S.R."

U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, British Prime Minister Edward Heath and a West German government spokesman said Solzhenitsyn and his family would be welcome to make his home in their countries. But Dr. Fritz Heeb, a Swiss lawyer who has been the custodian of his fortune, said he expected him to leave West Germany for a northern European country.

Soviet sources in Moscow claimed that Solzhenitsyn, although he had vowed never to leave Russia voluntarily, had changed his mind and agreed to be exiled after talking with the state prosecutors Tuesday night and Wednesday. There was no immediate comment on this from Solzhenitsyn, but Boll told a television interviewer the Russian writer had been forced to leave against his will.

Not in 44 years had a Soviet citizen of any magnitude been forcibly deported; the last previous one was Leon Trotsky, in 1929.

Measure Would Divert Funds Of Severance Tax

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—One-sixth of all money the state collects from the coal severance tax would go into an economic development fund under a bill introduced by Rep. L. T. Hardin, R-Inez.

Fifteen colleagues cosponsored HB 522, which provides that the state would apportion the money among the counties from which coal was produced.

The 1972 Legislature imposed a 4 per cent tax on minerals and the state receives about $35 million a year from it.

The levy was intended in part to compensate for the money to be lost under exemption of most food from the 5-cent sales tax, another move of the 1972 assembly.

There have been repeated suggestions from representatives in the mountains that some of the money be returned to local governments.

Another bill touching on eastern Kentucky was offered by Sen. Kelsey Friend, D-Pikeville.

It would establish the Special Fund as a separate and independent agency of state government to handle Workmen's Compensation claims, the bulk of which are in black lung cases from miners these days.

Currently the fund is part of the state labor department and claims are handled through a five-member Workmen's Compensation board.

SB 218 would authorize the governor to name a fund director who would have to be an attorney.

Nation's Service Station Operators Threaten To Sell Out And Close Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Faced with federal fines for exclusive sales to regular customers and a federal price freeze on gasoline, service station operators are threatening to follow the truckers' suit and strike. Some already had closed their pumps, and others said they were prepared to do so. Bill Victory, head of a Washington state retailers association, said "Dealer after dealer has called to say, 'If the truckers can do it so can we. Let's pump out our gasoline allocations and close down.'"

Invoking the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act of 1973, federal energy chief William E. Simon directed service stations to treat all customers alike or be fined up to $5,000.

Hartford, Conn. station operator Alex Rokycky said, "Simon's guidelines are terrible. Our regular customers have been loyal to us for years. If we have to sell to strangers, our regular customers will have a grudge against us."

An officer of a Washington state service station association said his members were eager to see a gasoline price increase which they claim Simon promised them last December.

Organizations representing about a third of California's 22,000 service stations scheduled a meeting today to discuss the federal price freeze on profit margins.

"We're going to have to get some firm and decisive commitment from the federal government, or a large portion of the industry will just fail," said Ray Ashwill, acting chairman of the California Coordinating Council of Service Station Associations.

Wayne Gilbert, president of a Greenville, S.C. chapter of a dealers' association, said unless the government grants a two cents per gallon price increase by Friday, stations in his state will close down.

Statewide shutdowns were also being talked about in Oregon and New York.

cellent compliance," said Ira S. Loeb, chief of the IRS energy branch and the man in charge of supervising government enforcement of price controls on gasoline and diesel fuel.

Loeb said in an interview that the IRS has investigated 19,900 of 31,479 complaints about price and posting violations at gasoline stations and truck stops nationwide in the past month, and found 4,494 price violations.

But Loeb said only 1,806 of these stations had price roll-backs of more than $500. "We really haven't seen a lot of price gouging," he said. "We haven't seen a lot of black market." In the past, he said, the IRS has brought about price roll-backs totalling $2.4 million, with $2.2 million of the overcharges occurring at gasoline stations and the remainder at truck stops.

While Loeb said that compliance over-all has been good, he indicated that the agency may have more trouble enforcing a new rule that bars gasoline stations from selling only to regular customers.

"We're going to enforce it vigorously," Loeb said. "The practice would have become quite widespread if the Federal Energy Office had not acted." Loeb said that one of the most common violations is tie-in sales, in which a gasoline station forces a consumer to have his car washed or buy some product in addition to gasoline.

For those in violation, the IRS is insisting on price reduction rather than gimmicks in which stations give away free gasoline until the amount to be refunded is made up.

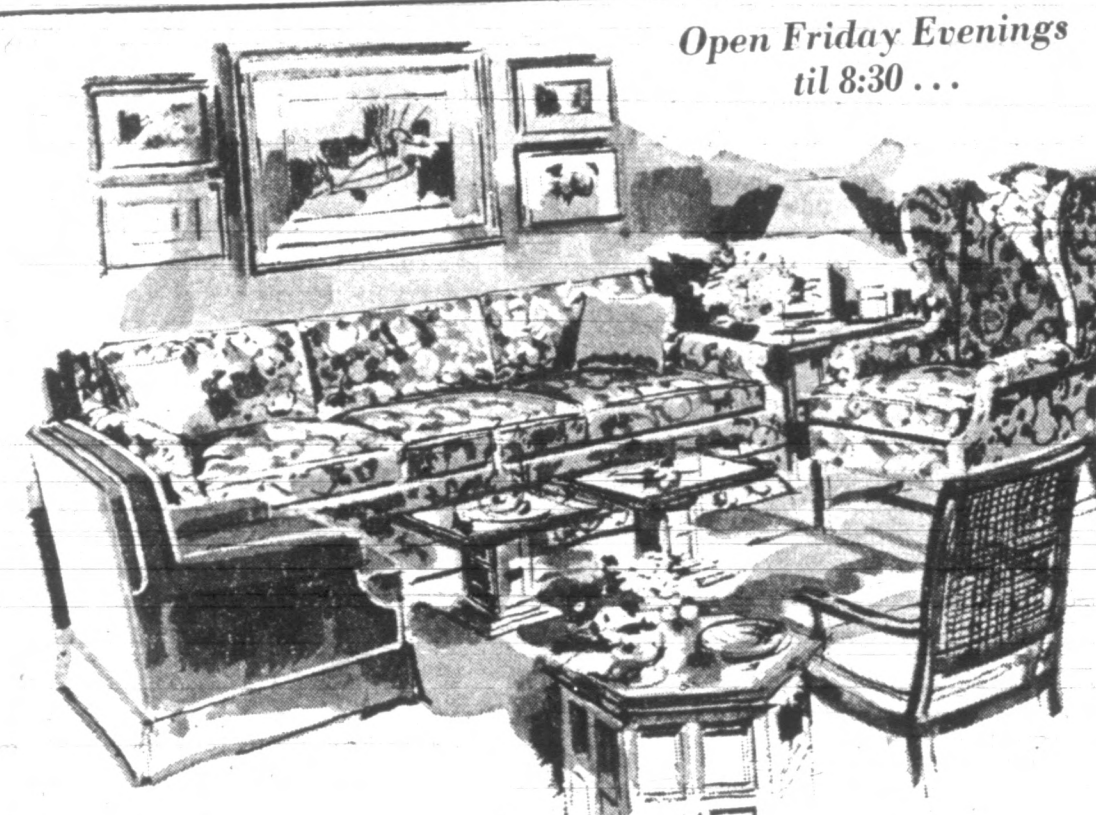

Loeb said that a number of stations across the country are insisting on minimum sales to customers, for instance, $3.

This practice is legal, he said, but if a motorist drives in merely to top off his tank and doesn't come up to the minimum, the gasoline dealer can't charge him the minimum.
