THE LISTENING POST

Some of the best humor I have run across in some time is developing from the recent craze for so-called "moron jokes." I have no idea where the idea started, but now in every newspaper, in many of the magazines, on the tongue of every person when stories are started, I run across the latest in moron jokes. Some of them are risqué, it is true, but for the most part they are merely part and parcel of the salty humor which this Nation has always known. Punning the sayings on morons is an added quick which seems to lend spice. As most people know, morons sometimes express great truths in the guise of foolishness, and some of these jokes have this element.

I have not heard all of these, of course, and many do not seem very funny to me. What is funny to one man is unfunny to another and of course all of us have to take our choice. Of all that I have heard to date—and I have heard quite a few—the one about the bananas strikes me as the funniest. I read it several days ago, and several times during the past week I have thought of it, and always a chuckle comes mentally at the pat reply the moron made.

Two morons were passengers on a train. They decided to eat some bananas—after, as the story goes, the news butch had instructed them as to the manner of peeling and eating them. So one of the morons had just about managed to get his banana peeled as the train neared a long tunnel. The train roared into the tunnel, and when it emerged a few minutes later the moron who had started to eat the banana was on his feet vigorously grinding the fruit under his heel. "What's wrong with the banana?" his fellow moron asked in amazement. The moron who had tried the banana continued to grind it under his heel. "Heck," he finally gasped, and there was a strange pallor on his face. "The minute I took one bite I went blind as a bat."

Then there is another along pretty much the same line. Two morons went up in a plane with the intention of making a parachute leap. At the proper height they leaped at about the same time. One opened his parachute and was floating down in a slow and unhurried manner. The other, smarter, no doubt, did not open his umbrella and soon passed his fellow moron. "Sissy," he sneered, as he passed rapidly downward.

All sorts of professions seem to have their morons, and all hobbies and avocations. There is the yarn about the two morons who were fishermen. They went out one day—perhaps to Number Nine Lake, or the Obion River—and had great luck at a certain place. Discussing the matter, the decided they would return to this same spot the next day. "But how will we know the spot?" one moron asked. "That's easy," the other moron answered. "We will just make a cross mark on the side of the boat where we hauled the fish over." The other one thought of the matter for a long time and finally said it would not work. "We might not be able

Washington. — An important conference between President Roosevelt and high government leaders on the question of nationwide gasoline rationing ended today with an announcement that the White House will issue a statement on the situation "in a matter of days."

The conferees, who were summoned to the White House by Mr. Roosevelt, indicated that no final decision was reached today.

While the White House meeting was in progress, an angry bipartisan group of approximately 100 House members unanimously adopted a resolution opposing nationwide gasoline rationing unless a report showing it to be necessary is filed with Congress.

The resolution adopted at the House meeting instructed Rep. Richard M. Kleberg, (D-Tex.), who was elected chairman, to appoint a committee of five House members to confer with a similar committee of the Senate "to take whatever steps are necessary."

The resolution introduced by Rep. John E. Rankin, (D-Miss.), originally proposed that a committee call on the President and protest the rationing proposals. It was modified at the suggestion of Rep. Ed Gossett, (D-Tex.). Gossett's amendment included the statement that the members favored any "sacrifice necessary," but that they opposed general rationing until it was shown by "facts" to be essential.

The meeting ting with denunciations of Price Administrator Leon Henderson, who was described as a "dictator" and a "smart aleck." The outburst against him was quieted somewhat when Rep. Clifford R. Hope, (R-Kan.), observed that the decision for rationing lay with War Production Chief Donal M. Nelson.

Rep. Forest A. Harness, (R-Ind.), shouted, "We have got to take away some of the power of this bureaucratic monster." Henderson. After Hope had pointed out that the control rested with WPA, he said his remarks were intended to apply to "any bureaucrat."

Operation In 1924 To Prevent Bulging Skull Called Success

San Francisco.—A delicate surgical operation designed to prevent children from developing bulging skulls has been pronounced successful after nearly twenty years of waiting for the final results.

This procedure requires the removal of thin strips of bone along the seams of the skull. In normal infants these seams remain open for many years to provide growing space for the skull bones and increasing capacity for the brain, which grows as much as 86 per cent in the first six months of life.

Often Causes Blindness
Sometimes these bones grow together prematurely at the seams. The growing brain then expands in other directions of least resistance and many cause bulges at the weaker places in the skull or pop eyes. It often causes blindness and sometimes mental weakness.

Dr. Howard F. Faver, pediatrician at Stanford University medical school, originally advocated this operation in 1923 and the first one of its kind was performed a year later by one of his associates, Dr. Edward B. Towne.

Intelligence Is Superior
Now, 18 years afterward, the patient has attained full growth, the spaces are filled in with normal bone, the skull has normal shape and the individual is rated as having perfect vision and superior intelligence.

Dr. Faver and Dr. Towne recently reported the results to the American Society of Pediatrics. Several such operations have been performed in recent years. The pioneers of the idea withheld final judgment as to its value until their first patient grew up.

Report Half Of Persons 25 Or Older Finished 8 School Years

Washington. — Without mentioning President Roosevelt's surprise at low intelligence ratings among many Army selectees, the census bureau reported today that more than half the persons 25 years old or older in the United States had completed at least eight years of school by April 1, 1940.

The President, disclosing that the government was considering a program of instruction for the under-graduated, told a press conference last week that he was startled by figures showing that an amazingly large number of men were being turned down for military service because they lacked schooling.

The bureau reported the number of persons 25 years old or over in the country was 74,753,336.

Only 3.7 per cent had less than one year of formal schooling, but on the other hand, only 4.6 per cent had finished college. Thus, those with less than a year in school totaled 2,799,923 and those with four or more years college numbered 3,407,331.

Figures showing by states the number of persons 25 or over as of April 1, 1940, the number who failed to complete a year of school the median school years completed, and the per cent less than five years completed, respectively:

Ohio 4,103,918; 82,075; 8.6; 8.4; Indiana 2,004,404; 26,498; 8.5; 7.7; Illinois 4,828,402; 131,567; 8.5; 9.6; Kentucky 1,440,929; 58,533; 7.7; 20.2; Tennessee 1,497,856; 62,452; 7.7; 21.7; West Virginia 928,303; 34,393; 7.8; 16.5.

FIGHT TO STRIP TVA OF ITS FUNDS SHIFTS TO HOUSE

Refuse To Accept Changes Suggested By McKellar

Washington. — A fight to strip the Tennessee Valley Authority of its revolving fund was shifted to the House Wednesday for a formal vote next week, when House conferees refused to accept changes sponsored by Senator McKellar, (D-Tenn.), in the measure containing TVA's appropriation for the next fiscal year.

The House conferees likewise rejected a compromise proposal by McKellar. Under the proposal, TVA's unexpended appropriations at the end of this fiscal year, expected to be approximately $30,000, would be reappropriated for the authority as approved by the House but rejected by the Senate through a McKellar amendment. However, the compromise would prohibit TVA spending on accounts "which have not been examined, audited and approved by the general accounting office."

"It is the compromise proposal provides everything that any honest administrator could ask for," McKellar declared after the conference.

He predicted the proposal would be offered in the House when the Senate amendment is called up for a separate vote in that body.

Representative Starnes (D-Ala.), one of the House conferees, said the compromise was wholly "unacceptable" and would require TVA "to get advance approval from the accounting office for every payment it makes."

STATE UNIVERSITY GLOBE-TROTTERS ARE BACK HOME

University Professor And Wife Return From Trip

Lexington, Ky. — The University of Kentucky's No. 1 globe-trotting couple is back home with "the finest collection of membraeidae—bugs to you—in the Western Hemisphere."

Dr. and Mrs. William D. Funkhouser's latest expedition, of four months duration, took them into the jungles of Central America and the mountains of Western Mexico. They finished off with a side trip through the Western United States.

The 61-year-old head of the university's graduate school since 1925 is regarded as one of the world's foremost entomologists. His wife is his constant companion and helper.

Together they twice have circled the globe, and have penetrated the jungles of Borneo, deserts of Africa and mountains of India, seeking new specimens for their collection of membraeidae.

Funkhouser, also head of the zoology department and professor of anthropology and archaeology, reported travel difficult on their latest trip, made so by wartime restrictions, delayed train schedules and cancellation of ship sailings.

METHODIST CHURCH OFFERS BEAUTIFUL SACRAMENT SERVICE

Number Of Communicants Had Greatly Increased Recently

The First Methodist Church provides a dignified, beautiful and impressive Order of Worship for the celebration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. The number of communicants has greatly increased and tardiness has decreased. Each first Sunday over two hundred and fifty have knelt at the altar and received the elements. Half of these have been young men and women.

Concerning the observance of Holy Communion the pastor stated, "Tomorrow Methodists have an appointment with their God at the altar of Christ's Church. God makes many appointments with His child, but His child can ignore them all, except the last! His invitation to meet Him finally becomes a command, and every man keeps that appointment however else he may plan. The heartfelt acceptance of the invitation while the appointment with God is still on a voluntary basis."

"Then too, if the appointment is worth keeping, it is worth keeping punctually. It is quite the thing to enter the theater late, and after the curtain rises, in fine attire and affectation move to a reserved seat. Thus one impresses the lesser breeds. Here there are no lesser breeds, no reserved seats, your robes are fifth and your position that of a dependent. Let us humbly keep our appointment on the Sabbath, on time, in the House of God and at the altar of Christ's Church."

HOPE TO BEGIN PAY CHECK DEDUCTIONS FOR TAX BY JAN. 1

Collection Of Income Levy At Source Is Considered

Washington. — Secretary Henry Morgenthau, Jr., said today the treasury hopes to begin deduction of income taxes from pay checks next Jan. 1.

He explained at his press conference that collection of income tax at the source after the first of the year would eliminate double tax collection, which otherwise would be the case in most instances if the collection were begun during the current year when wage earners are still paying last year's taxes.

The Treasury Department had proposed that 10 per cent of the taxable income be collected at the source and the proposal now is under consideration by Congress.

Morgenthau reiterated his view that source collection of income tax, plus compulsory savings in the form of enforced War Bond purchase, plus social security taxes, would be about all the deductions persons in the lower income bracket could stand at this time. He defined the "lower income bracket" as "$5,000 down."

The Secretary emphasized that his views on the total amount of deductions which the average lower income worker could meet was "as of today." The Treasury Department is studying this question and has asked other governmental bureaus and agencies to give their views.

LIONS CLUB SEES PICTURES OF FOOD HANDLING

At the regular meeting of the Lions Club yesterday Harry Barry, county sanitary inspector, presented a film showing the proper and improper handling of food in public eating places. Using two waitresses, the picture showed one using the proper methods, such as wearing a hair net, keeping hands and fingers out of food containers and the food itself, the other committing many of the faults mentioned. At the conclusion of the picture Mr. Barry told briefly of the work of health authorities in efforts to properly safeguard the public, and asked the cooperation of the club and the public in general in these efforts.

Bob Binford of Huntingdon, Tenn., a former member of the club, was a guest and spoke briefly. Ernest Fall, Jr., who was recently elected president of the club, took over his duties at the meeting yesterday and his many friends are certain that he will carry the club forward and upward.

Navy Plans Program To Keep Its Pilots Away From Hospitals

Washington. — Worried over the nervous strain the war is inflicting on its pilots, the Navy is about to embark upon a recuperation program it hopes will keep its fighting men out of hospitals.

Approximately $1,800,000 for this purpose was voted by the House in a naval appropriation measure now before the Senate.

It will be used, the appropriations committee was told by Commander J. L. Reynolds, to provide comfortable places of relaxation, such as the Royal Hawaiian Hotel in Hawaii, for Navy personnel "showing nervous strain and breaking down."

Pressure On Men Cited

Reynolds said commanders afloat have found that personnel assigned to aircraft, submarines and destroyers have been working under "tremendous pressure" and are

Honolulu. — A great air and naval battle, possibly with the possession of Midway Island at stake, presumably was in progress today off the low-lying outpost north-west of Hawaii, following an attempt in force by the Japanese yesterday to raid the strongly fortified base.

The enemy ran into a hot reception, said a communique by Admiral Chester N. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, and suffered direct hits on at least one battleship, an airplane carrier and possibly other warships. In addition, the defense forces took a heavy toll of attacking warplanes.

Midway's defense continued the attacks on the enemy, Admiral Nimitz said, leading to comment by naval experts in Washington that the ensuing engagement may have been one of the greatest battles of the war in the Pacific so far.

These sources went so far as to say the outcome may determine the enemy's ability to strike again at Pearl Harbor, at Alaska, the west coast of the United States or even the Panama canal. That the enemy had in mind no mere taken raid, like the five previous slashes at Midway, they pointed out, was indicated by the presence of capital ships, carriers and cruisers in the attacking force.

First official reports of the attempted raid on Midway, located some 1,150 miles northwest of the Hawaiian Islands, did not mention casualties but said damage to material installations had been small. All armed forces were represented in the action, it was announced, indicating the garrison of tough marines was supported by naval units and air forces.

When the enemy struck shortly after dawn yesterday he found an island alert and ready. Forewarned by the earlier attacks on Dutch Harbor, Alaska, and inspired by the historic defense of Wake Island, the defense forces replied savagely. Five times previously they had beaten back enemy attempts to take the island, the last previous one in March.

decreasing in their powers of coordination." The purpose of the rehabilitation centers, he explained, is to provide a place where an exhausted fighter can, on the orders of a physician, spend a week or ten days of quiet rest "to prevent his being hospitalized."

Six Under Consideration
Six of the recuperation centers are under consideration, Reynolds said. Present plans are for the Navy to rent resorts or hotels with the regular management continuing to operate them.

The Navy already has contracted for use of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel at a cost of $17,500 a month. Enlisted men are operating the hotel. A daily average of approximately 300 Navy men are recuperating at that center, Reynolds told the committee.

JAPAN SEEKS BASES FOR DE- FENSE AND OFFENSE

Wednesday's raids on Dutch Harbor by Japanese bombers and fighter planes came as no surprise.
 Only last Thursday Secretary Stimson warned that an aerial attack on the United States was inevitable as the result of General Doolittle's recent flying visit to Tokyo.

But the Japs were not out merely to save face. If that were the case, the air waves now would be cluttered up with "banzais" and extravagant boasting. As it is Tokyo maintains as stolid a silence as Washington maintained following the raids on Tokyo. There is a more practical object in view.

Following General Doolittle's surprise visit, the Japs launched the present offensive in Central and Southern China in conjunction with its drive up the Burma Road.
 Primarily that offensive had for its object the knocking of China out of the war but it seeks also to seize potential air bases from which attacks may be made on the Japanese Islands.

The raid on Dutch Harbor follows in logical succession. If successful in taking over that strategic outpost off the coast of Alaska, Japan would gain a double and even a triple advantage. It would remove a threat to Tokyo, 2,547 miles away; it would obtain a springboard for aerial assaults on San Francisco, slightly more than 2,000 miles to the east, and it would be easy striking distance of the Russian air and naval base at Petropavlovsk, less than 1,500 miles distant, just in case of a Russo-Japanese conflict.

And Japan has bigger ideas even than the occupation of Dutch Harbor. It wants all of Alaska. As a matter of fact it must have Alaska to bring to realization its dream of domination over Asia. Our vast northern territory is too close to Japan for comfort and likewise are Vladivostok and Eastern Siberia.

The attack on Dutch Harbor may therefore be regarded as the initial blow in the attack on Soviet Russia. As such it may draw the United States and Soviet Russia into actual collaboration in the war with Japan. It may further the day when American bombers can take off at Vladivostok for daily and nightly raids on Japan's industrial centers.—Courier-Journal.

 some other fellow might get the boat and know exactly where to catch all these fish." At last reports the two morons were earnestly debating on the proper method of marking the spot where they had such good luck. Vernon Owen says that this tale is slanderous on all fishermen. "No fisherman is ever a moron" he said. "Every one is crazy, all right, but none of them have sense enough to be morons."

● Vernon added this priceless gem of moron yarns. Several morons were discussing what they would like to be if they had their choice.
 The last one said he would like to be a vitamin. "What in the world do you want to be a vitamin for?" one of his companions demanded.
 "Well," answered the meek moron,
 "I have been reading all the advertisements and they all say vitamin B-1."

● I suppose that the war has caused this great rush of moron jokes. Pinning the sayings on morons is something new. Years ago we used to call them, I believe "Irish Bulls." For example, there is the old classic of the Irish cavalryman who was riding a spirited horse. In his bucking and leaping the horse finally caught his foot in one of the stirrups. The Irishman observed the predicament and remarked: "Faith, if ye wish to get on, I'll get off."

Paper Stock Is Undergoing Many Changes

Paper for letterheads and envelopes is slowly undergoing many changes.
 Bond papers will be dingier, will lack the white crackling finish they have known for many years. Probably the price will be higher also.

We still have some stock on hand of the better finish. Better order some letterheads today.

Training For Defense

By Rufus T. Strohm

WITHOUT an intercommunicating system consisting of cables and wires, the modern battleship would be all but worthless. The wiring is just as important as the gun turrets or the steam power.

Today thousands of men are working in the New York Navy Yard, busily engaged in building this nation's two-ocean navy. These men are given opportunities to advance to better jobs. The task demands skilled technicians and mechanics. Every department must have highly trained men to direct those who build and fit together the parts of gigantic battleships.

The Navy is proud of the spirit of the men who build ships, but that is not enough. Such workmen must be perfectionists. There is not much time to train men, but every effort is being made in that direction.

The big jobs in the shipyard, like those in any other great American industry, are handled by those men who are properly "wired" to work with speed and efficiency. You have the "know how!"

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Belew of Detroit, Mich., arrived last night for a visit with the former's brother, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Belew, Vine street.

SUIT CALLED THREAT TO PRISON PROGRAM

Frankfort, Ky.—The State's $3,000,000 rehabilitation program for hospitals and prisons would be "wrecked" if the courts hold the 1942 appropriations bill unconstitutional, Welfare Commissioner W. A. Frost believes.

He expressed that belief in commenting on the suit of Attorney General Hubert Meredith challenging validity of the act and another bill empowering State agencies to employ their own legal counsel.

The Governor has retained Clifford Smith and J. J. Leary, Frankfort attorneys, to defend the suit.

Frankie Faudem Clouts Two Homers In Win Over Hoppers

Frankie Faudem, the mighty little man who patrols left field for the Tigers, contributed the margin of victory last night in the second game of the Hopkinsville series. Frankie poled two mighty homers over the right field wall, blasting in three runs, and this margin enabled the Tigers to take a 9 to 6 victory, with the final game to be played tonight. Faudem's first homer came in the fifth, with one aboard and the other in the ninth with the bases bare.

Tommy Thomasson was pitted against Faust last night and neither hurler proved very mysterious to the hitters. Thomasson was effective at most stages, but Tony Kvedar proved to be his nemesis, as he drove out a single, a double, a triple and walked twice. Incidentally he blasted in three runs. McQuillen also had three blows for the Hoppers and Salters and Conohan had a pair each. On the other side of the ledger, Faudem and Peterson had three blows, while Derrick and Mullen had two each. Mullen bounced one over the fence near the scoreboard on a hit and run play, and Derrick almost took the boards from the fence with one long double.

Some pretty good fielding also was revealed in the game, with Manager Mullen making a great catch of a Texas leaguer back of second base that was a real home. Faudem also fielded his position well, fielding several hard-hit drives through the infield and driving runners back to first. Peterson handled four chances in right and Pollock, back in center after a day's rest, handled three chances.

Thomasson struck out eight men, but ran into trouble in the seventh inning, when a combination of hits and errors scored three runs for the Hoppers. In the ninth a freak hit gave the visitors another tally. With runners on first and second Salters hit a perfect fly ball towards center. Two were out and the runners set sail around the bases. Pollock was under the ball, when it struck the wire which crosses the field just back of second and fell straight down for a clean hit. One runner scored, but Thomasson then bore down grimly for a strikeout on the final out.

Faudem was a bit richer after his two homers, as Joe Browder had promised a dollar for each home run. He went to the bench on both occasions and gave Frankie his dollar, and other fans were also observed rewarding the speedy little outfielder.

The Tigers go to Owensboro tomorrow for one game, coming back to open a series in Union City Monday night. There will be no more games at Fairfield after tonight until Sunday, June 14—the longest absence of the team for the season.

REVIVAL CLOSING

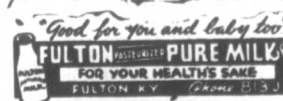

SUNDAY NIGHT

The revival which comes to a close Sunday night at the Church of the Nazarene marks a high point in the upbuilding of the church. Never have we had a more capable, hard working, Spirit filled evangelist than Rev. Bettcher and D. F. Slack. We are happy to report a goodly number saved and Christians entered into the blessing of the recorded will of God, "even your sanctification." One outstanding feature of the service last night was a family of Father, Mother, Son and Grandson joined the ranks of the Christian family by uniting with the church. Sunday we expect the greatest day of the revival, closing in a blaze of glory.

At the Sunday school hour, 9:45 a. m., Rev. Bettcher will deliver a discourse on crime. He lived with in a few miles of the Dillinger family, was acquainted with enemy number one John Dillinger, and will include much of Dillinger's life in this discourse. Miss something else but don't fail to hear this discourse 9:45 a. m. Evangelistic sermon 11 a. m. Baptizing 2:30 p. m. in Obion river. 7:30 p. m. Young people service led by Gospel Singer D. F. Slack. Closing sermon of the revival by Rev. Roy Bettcher. A cordial invitation extended to all.

GAS RATIONING FOES TO MEET IN PROTEST SESSION

Washington. — A fresh outburst of congressional opposition to nationwide gasoline rationing—on which a decision is expected this week—was climaxed Thursday night when Representative James O. Scrugham (D., Nev.), invited his colleagues to a protest meeting Friday.

This development came as the Office of Price Administration empowered local rationing boards in 17 Eastern states and the District of Columbia to call in holders of any type gasoline card for personal questioning and require they surrender the card if it was "obtained by mistake or fraud."

The drastic ruling applies to holders of a three-gallons-per-week as well as X (unlimited) cards and the three types of B cards. Mr. Scrugham said in calling the protest meeting that "the threatened nationwide rationing of gasoline without regard to the availability of local supplies imperils our whole domestic economy."

Meanwhile, Senator Richard B. Russell (D., Ga.), urged nationwide rationing on grounds that "any form of regional rationing is undemocratic and all burdens should be borne equally by every section." He criticized "conflicting statements" by agencies administering rationing—a view also endorsed by Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), who said "Congress ought to fix rules under which these things are done."

WE'LL GO AS FAR AS NEEDED

FAILURE is a luxury we may indulge in time of peace, but not in war—especially that failure, most ignominious of all, which comes from lack of trying. In peacetime far too many of us are prone to say: "Thus far we can go, and no farther. That can't be done. Why should we attempt the impossible?"

But not in war. In war we strive to excel in all things, even in sacrifice. The men in our armed forces offer up the most—their jobs, their comforts, their liberties, their lives. At home we pay our taxes, lend our money, give our money, deprive ourselves of many a possession deemed necessary in time of peace. Thus bound together in a brotherhood of sacrifice, we exercise anew our privilege to pledge—as did the founding fathers in 1776—not only our lives and our fortunes but also our sacred honor.

To do consistently more than is expected of them, rather than less, is a point of honor with the railroads. Even before the war they were fighting off the manifold discouragements of the depression, striving to maintain their properties in readiness and schooling their organizations for an increased traffic that at times threatened never to reappear. Thus fortified, they have successfully weathered up to now their wartime tests, facing traffic levels and tendencies dismayingly unprecedented. They have even met with composure the recent ruling that further expansion of the railway plant would have to be limited by the greater priority of supplies for our fighting forces.

Faint heart might have considered that the final blow and the one great justification for doing a poor job or a small one. Yet the railroads say: "We're not going to be licked. We have discovered wells of capacity within our plant which we did not know existed. We have found new car space and new power in the planning of our government and our managers, in the loyalty and inventiveness of our family of workers, in the co-operation of our customers, in the consideration of our courts and commissions, in the public's will to win. We'll carry on to victory—and beyond."

And that's the kind of productiveness—under difficulties—that will win both the war and the peace.
