Bicentennial Plates On Sale At Clerk's Office

A limited supply of 600 of the colorful Kentucky '74 Bicentennial license plates is now on sale along with the 1974 Kentucky automobile license plates in the office of Calloway County Clerk Marvin Harris at the county courthouse.

The plates are part of a statewide effort of the 1974-76 Kentucky Bicentennial Celebration and are on sale for $2.00 each. Of this amount, $1.50 will remain in Calloway County to help finance the county's part in the state-wide anniversary observance.

According to Mrs. C. C. Lowry, who along with County Judge Robert O. Miller, is coordinating the county campaign, a number of local events have been planned to mark the observance in this area. Among these in the not-too-distant future are:

The Jackson Purchase Historical Society will salute

the Kentucky Bicentennial in its meeting at Murray State University on March 23.

On April 5 and 6, the West Kentucky Press Association will meet at Murray State and much of its program will be built around the Bicentennial observance.

April 16 at 7:30 p.m., the Murray Woman's Club Music Department will present a concert of music by Kentucky composers at the Murray Woman's Clubhouse as the civic clubs of Murray observe the anniversary.

"The Nathan B. Stubblefield Story," an opera will be presented at the Murray State University Auditorium on April 26 and 27 at 8 p.m. Dr. Joe Prince, dean of the School of Fine Arts at the University, is the campus coordinator for the opera, and tickets, when they go on sale, will be $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for children under 12.

Ford Spokesman Declines To Confirm Or Deny That Ford's Running For Senate

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—A spokesman for Gov. Wendell Ford has declined to confirm or deny a published report that Ford has firmly decided to run for the U.S. Senate.

Thomas Preston, Ford's press secretary, said the story in The Courier-Journal and Louisville Times Sunday indicates "speculation is going to continue as it has for several months."

Preston acknowledged that speculation was fueled by the appearance of U.S. Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., at Frankfort Friday. Jackson publicly urged Ford to make the Senate race.

The Courier-Journal quoted unidentified sources as saying Ford may announce his candidacy within the next two weeks or even sooner if his key bills achieve final legislative passage.

Ford has said previously that he is occupied with the current legislature and Preston said he is especially concerned about bills to implement his budget, his governmental reorganization and his coal research program.

The Courier-Journal said sources indicate Ford would prefer to delay announcement of his candidacy until after the legislature adjourns, but that waiting expands the possibility that other Democrats may enter the race.

So far, the only Democrat to file is state Rep. Lawrence Ray Maynard, D-Louisville.

Republican U.S. Sen. Marlow Cook of Louisville has announced he will seek re-election to a second term.

Red Cross Campaign To Be Launched On Friday

With "Every One A Member" as its theme, Murray and Calloway County's 1974 Red Cross fund campaign will be launched officially Friday, March 1, with a breakfast for workers at the Holiday Inn. It begins at 8 a.m.

Heading this year's campaign, which has a goal of $10,000 the same as last year, will be former Mayor Holmes Ellis and Robert Moyer, retired manager of the Murray Division of The Tappan Company. Moyer now is associated with the I. M. Simon stock brokerage firm here.

Ellis, who also is president of the local chapter, will be the over-all chairman, while Moyer will concentrate his efforts on soliciting contributions through local industry.

County Attorney Sid Easley, treasurer of the local chapter and immediate past president, will serve as the campaign's city coordinator. Coordinating the county campaign will be Harvey Ellis, executive vice president of the Peoples Bank. Both are expected to name their key workers within the next few days.

Heading the campaign on the Murray State University campus this year will be George Stockton, director of personnel services. Stockton, a member of the University's administrative staff for the past nine years, will direct a part of the campaign which normally generates approximately one-fifth of the annual goal.

Mrs. Jean Blankenship is director of the local Red Cross office in the Calloway County courthouse. She has held the post since 1966. Chartered in 1917, the local chapter is the oldest fund campaign in the county, and one of the oldest in the nation.

Teams of solicitors in both the city and county will receive their packets at the March 1 breakfast, according to Ellis. The breakfast is being hosted by the Bank of Murray and the Peoples Bank.

Four Accidents Occur In City Over Weekend

Murray City police reported three investigations over the weekend, as well as four automobile accidents.

Officers investigated the theft of a tape player at 806 Sunny Lane on Saturday. The owner said that the car keys had been stolen the week before, and apparently the thief returned and used the keys to unlock the car, and take the tape player.

Vandalism was reported to the R and R Body Shop at 404 North Fourth Sunday, where someone threw rocks and beer cans through the plate glass window.

Alfred R. Duncan, 1901 Gatesborough, reported the theft of a $130 eight-track tape player from his car, also.

At 3:55 p.m. Friday, cars driven by Charlotte A. Jones, of Princeton, and Lykan A. Ahart, Route One Almo, were involved in a two-car accident at the intersection of Highway 641 and Arcadia Drive, according to police reports.

Investigating officers said the Jones car was going north on 641 and the Ahart car was going west on Arcadia when the accident occurred. Damage to the Jones car was to the right rear, and damage to the Ahart car was to the left front.

At 5:10 p.m. Saturday, a hit and run was reported by Paul R. Gilliam, Route Five. Police said Gilliam was going north on 16th when another car pulled out in front of him, forcing him off the street. The second vehicle reportedly left the scene of the accident.

At 5:30 p.m. Saturday, cars driven by Rebecca A. Dublin, 203 South 12th, and Herman W. Scraggins, Route Two Hazel, collided on the Johnson's Grocery parking lot, according to police.

Officers said the Dublin car was going west on the lot, backing up, and the Scraggins car was going north on the lot when the accident occurred.

Damage to the Scraggins car was to the left side. No damage was reported to the Dublin car.

At 8:55 p.m. Saturday, another hit and run was reported on North 16th by Larry D. Shekell, Route Three. Three was reportedly going south when another car struck the Shekell car in the rear and left the scene of the accident.

County Schools To Close Due To High Absenteeism

The Calloway County Schools will be closed Tuesday and Wednesday due to the high absenteeism at the high school and elementary centers today, according to Supt. William B. Miller.

A total of 693 students out of the total county enrollment of 2,668 was reported absent today making only 75 per cent attendance in the schools.

The decision to close the schools was made at a meeting of the school principals at the office of Supt. Miller this morning at ten o'clock.

High absenteeism at Calloway County High School and the six elementary centers at Almo, Faxon, Hazel, Kirksey, Lynn Grove, and New Concord, has been reported due to the flu epidemic, officials said.

Supt. Miller said the schools will resume classes again on Thursday, February 28, and hopefully the attendance will be higher making it unnecessary to close again on Friday.

The money received by the school system for the Minimum Foundation program of the state of Kentucky is determined by the average daily attendance of the schools during the year and officials said this was the reason for closing of the schools due to the high absenteeism.

Supt. Fred Schultz said the Murray City Schools will remain in session as their attendance today was the best they had recorded since February 13.

Today the city schools reported an absence of 241 students for an attendance of 87 per cent of the student body with none of the teachers absent. On Friday, February 22, the City Schools had 325 absent for an 83 per cent attendance.

Dr. Janice Hooks, director of the Murray University School, reported only four to six students absent from each of the grades there and said this was mostly from chicken pox and flu.

SPEECH TEAM WINS AGAIN—The Calloway County High School speech team won second place sweepstakes honors Saturday in the McGavock-Antioch speech tournament held at McGavock High School in Nashville. Eighteen schools were entered from competition, and the win marked the fourth sweepstakes trophy for the Lakers speech team this season. Individual trophies were won by five members of the team. Tricia Bailey and Jimmy Burken won in humorous interpretation, Kim Grey in Poetry, and Pam Robertson and Jim Davis in duet acting. Other students rated superior in the competition were Teresa Moody, Randy Herndon, Randy McDaniels, Kathy Jackson, Bobby Scott, Juana Stockdale, Krit Stubblefield, George Taylor and Randy Williams. Calloway's two varsity debate teams were four and four in competition Saturday, with Johnny Riley and Quentin Fannin winning over Nashville Overton and Battle ground Academy, and Tommy Riley and Rick Wilkerson won over Madison High and Hillsboro. The team is now preparing for regional and state competition in March and April. (Staff Photo by David Hill)

Original Courthouse Prints On Sale In Purchase Counties

A limited edition of prints of original drawings of the eight courthouses in Jackson Purchase counties are now on sale, according to Pat Owen, president of Carlisle County Junior Woman's Club. The sketches, by Janice Barnes of Paducah, are being released in conjunction with the Bicentennial Celebration now underway in Kentucky.

Ms. Owen noted that only 50 prints of each courthouse will be sold and predicts the prints will become collector's items "in a very short period of time." Individual prints will sell for $10, while a set of all eight will sell for $75, she said. Prints are 20 x 13.

Ms. Barnes did the sketches after visits to the courthouse and from photographs. She explained the referred to photographs of the buildings "for detail I might otherwise miss."

The prints, numbered one through fifty, and will be signed by the artist. Print No. 1 will be presented by the Club to the chief executive officer in each county for display in the courthouse.

Prints two through fifteen will be reserved for purchasers of "sets", while remaining prints will go to individuals who want specific courthouse sketches. Prints may be purchased locally by contacting Mary Beth Valentine, 1605 Magnolia Drive, Murray, Kentucky, telephone 753-7378.

Mail Orders can be mailed to Mrs. Mike Cosby Bardwell, Ky. 42023

Susan Hainsworth, Lisa Winters Named To 1974 All-State Chorus

David L. Davies, Choral Vice-President of Kentucky Music Educators Association, announced recently that Susan Hainsworth and Lisa Winters, choral students of Joan Bowker at Murray High School, have been accepted as members of the 1974 Kentucky All-State Chorus.

Miss Winters, a sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Winters of Glendale Road, and Miss Hainsworth, a senior at Murray High School is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jerome Hainsworth, North Seventh Street.

Singers from 78 high schools across the state will be represented in this All-State Chorus. The Chorus will perform Messe Somnellen (St.

Cecilia) by Charles Gounod at Ramada Inn-Bluegrass Convention Center in Louisville on March 2, at 2:00 p.m.

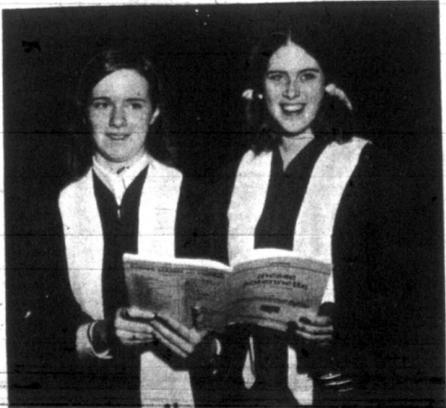

The director of the 1974 chorus will be Dr. Morris Beachy, Professor of Music and Administrative Director of Choral Organizations at the University of Texas. He has held this position for fifteen years. Dr. Beachy's reputation as an outstanding choral conductor has received national recognition through his successful tours, performances at major conventions, and as a

KEEPING GOOD RECORDS HELPS WITH FAMILY SPENDING PLAN A family spending plan can save time, temper and money for members of your family; keeping good records of family income and expenses will help make the plan work for you.

Why keep family accounts? Records will show you where the family income goes and give a basis for planning the amount needed for food, clothing, etc. Records show "leaks in spending"—where money is being spent unwisely—and where cuts and adjustments can be made in present spending to save money. One good reason for keeping family accounts become evident at this time of year, for good records and filed receipts from the past year give you the information to back up deduction claims at income tax time. Due-dates for periodic bills also show up in the records; you can plan ahead to meet them on time.

Who should keep the records? One member of the family should be appointed "Bookkeeper." Record-keeping is not difficult if done regularly. —Mrs. Barletta Wraether, 209 Maple St., Murray.

Use older eggs (not the ones you purchased today!) if you are preparing hard-cooked eggs for salad or for slicing. They are usually easier to peel — Mrs. Patricia Curtisinger, 86 N. Main, Benton.

+++++ The figure you possess is a fact, and it's a fact you take with you when you shop for clothes. You look for dresses that flatter you, realizing smart girls play up desirable figure features and conceal undesirable figure facts. For instance, if your feet are big, wear plain, dark shoes and draw attention to your face with a pretty scarf. Be sure to accentuate the negative in order to minimize the positive. If your shoulders are narrow and your hips wide, wear a small should shaping or attach a large white collar to a dress. Thus, you achieve a balanced appearance. Another important point is to follow a fad only if it flatters you. —Mrs. Catherine C. Thompson, Hickman.

Son's New Year's house party was a sober idea

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our son, Peter, who is 21 and a senior at college, came home for the Christmas vacation. He invited six couples to the house for a New Year's Eve party. My husband and I planned on staying home, altho all the kids were 21 and didn't need a chaperone.

Peter's invitation read as follows: "If you plan to drink, please plan to stay all night. Sleeping bags will be provided."

I didn't like the idea of a coed slumber party, and said that no daughter of mine would be allowed to accept such an invitation—even at 21!

My husband sided with Peter. He had the party, and everybody stayed all night. How would you have voted, Abby? MOM

DEAR MOM: Not with you, Mom. Sorry. All the kids were 21, and I think your son used excellent judgment.

DEAR ABBY: A writer recently inquired about providing a simple funeral for himself even tho his wife insisted that should she survive him, he would be given an elaborate funeral with all the trimmings. You advised him to seek legal counsel.

Abby, the California Laws Regulating Licensed Funeral Directors and Embalmers [Sec. 7100] states that "prior to one's death one may direct by written instruction the type of burial he desires, and those otherwise entitled to control the disposition of his remains shall faithfully carry out his instructions."

I think it would probably be safe to assume that most other states have similar provisions. A. S. H.: LONG BEACH, CAL.

DEAR Mr. H.: Thank you for the information regarding California law. But I have learned (the hard way) that when it comes to state laws, one may not safely assume anything.

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe I am actually writing Dear Abby, but I have a solution for people who want to know how to get off those junk-mailing lists.

Write to: Direct Mail Advertising Association Inc., 230 Park Ave, New York, N. Y. 10017. Request an application form, and it will be sent to you free of charge. Fill it out and return it. I did, and some days, I don't get any mail at all! ANTI-JUNK MAIL

DEAR ANTI: Writing this column has been an endless education. And I'm still learning. Thanks, friend.

DEAR ABBY: Cheers to you, Abby, for telling that bride that merely saying, "Thank you for the lovely wedding gift," when she accidentally bumped into the giver in a restaurant one evening is not sufficient. All wedding gifts should be acknowledged with a written note.

Or to borrow a phrase from Sam Goldwyn: "A verbal thank you isn't worth the paper it's written on." J. B. S.: CHAMPAIGN, ILL.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

"Miss Earl" Wilson accepts a gift of appreciation for her 36 years of teaching at Puryear School from PTA President Mrs. Larry Ray.

Puryear School PTA Honors 'Miss Earl' On Founders Day

Longtime Henry County teacher Miss Edna Earl Wilson was given special recognition for her 36 years service at Puryear School at their recent Founders Day program.

"Miss Earl," as she was affectionately known to her students, was presented a clock by the Puryear PTA during the program, which was held Feb. 14 at the school.

Retiring in June 1973, Miss Wilson began teaching at Puryear School in the fall of 1937 following the consolidation of her one-teacher school, Foundry Hill. She taught at Puryear until her retirement.

Because of her qualifications and "her great love and compassion for all children," the Henry County School Board selected Miss Wilson to teach the Special Children's class for 1954-55 and 1955-56.

"Puryear students have been very fortunate in having a wonderful teacher and friend for 36 years," a school spokesman said. "Miss Earl has devoted much time in making the classrooms and programs more beneficial to the children in all Henry County elementary schools."

"She has helped many children in ways that cannot be realized or measured—all her service and efforts over the years are greatly appreciated."

Divorce Gives Sense Of Personal Failure

By Eve Sharbutt
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Even a "civilized divorce" leaves most people with a deep sense of personal failure, according to Mel Krantzler.

A marriage and family counselor in San Francisco, Krantzler began divorce adjustment seminars at several California colleges.

"My first seminars treated divorced persons with crisis intervention theory," Krantzler said. "Now we look at the emotional truth of divorce and some first aid measures to start a lasting cure for problems that may come to light in the crisis."

Everyone has a feeling that his divorce is unique. Usually those people are surprised to learn at the first session that other people have worse problems.

"We must encourage independent, direct action so that individuals can rethink their values and priorities, learn new ways of relating to people and get professional help if they need it."

Krantzler said that some women who attend his seminars have never driven a car on a highway at night or written a check. It is a struggle for them to attend class and in that sense, he added, it is an achievement, a step toward independence.

More women than men attend the divorce adjustment seminars by four to one. They are not all divorced, the author added. Some are married persons who are contemplating divorce and others are young people living together without marriage.

"The emotional sense of loss is exactly the same for unmarried couples living together should their arrangement break up. For still-married persons, the seminars may point out differences between their expectations for divorce and its reality."

"We have half-hour lectures, then devote the remainder of the class to sharing experiences. Young persons of 20 or so have more in common with those of 60 than there are differences when it comes to the crisis of divorce. It's a comforting element," he added.

Krantzler admitted that he would never have written a book if he had not gone through divorce himself after 24 years of marriage.

"Without that, I was unaware of all the nuances of emotion that enter into divorce. I don't want anyone to get a Dale Carnegie idea of divorce therapy. We must emphasize the complexities. Each person must put a lot of work into self-improvement. Individual responsibility for moving life in a positive direction is a must.

"Many people have a vested interest in remaining the same, repeating the same self-destructive patterns," Krantzler said. "There's comfort in the familiar even if the familiar is miserable. People say they're starting from zero after divorce, living in a new world. It isn't easy, but you can come to terms with the past and learn about resources for self-renewal."

Krantzler is proud of putting a lot of complicated psychological theory about divorce into simple language.

"I sweated blood over the chapter on children," he said. "Children must also mourn the loss of a marriage."

The author says today's climate is "right for consideration of divorce problems. Eventually, he added, a divorce will be looked at in a nonjudgmental way.

"These trends must be reinforced if we are to live lives of more than quiet desperation that Thoreau talks about," he added.

A native New Yorker who moved to San Francisco after college, Krantzler says the future of marriage as it exists today is very shaky indeed.

"But in general I think marriage will continue. There's no alternative structure in the picture yet. The fact that I myself have opted for remarriage is one indication that I find marriage itself neither good nor bad; nor is divorce. It's what we make of it that is central," he added.

Less Pork Produced

Pork production in 1973 was down from 1972 by approximately 400 million pounds (to total 13.2 billion pounds)—resulting in a drop in per capita consumption from 67.4 pounds to a six-year low of 63.2 pounds. Indications are that pork supplies during the early part of 1974 will be down from the fall, 1973 level, but should be about the same as the January-March period last year. The expected drop in supplies for early 1974 is attributed to uncertainties of the market place which discouraged expansion of production earlier in 1973. Output is not expected to turn up from year-earlier levels until the fall of 1974.

Caring For Your New Baby Common Problems and Worries For New Baby Are Discussed

This is the fifteenth in a series of eighteen articles that will inform you of and describe some of the things about normal babies that commonly worry parents—telling you what to do or not to do about them. They should answer many of your questions about what to expect of your new baby, and give simple instructions about solving problems that most parents face during their baby's first year of life. This last section (a total of four articles) deals with common problems and worries that arise after the first few weeks at home and that might continue on after the first year.

SKIN

Baby's skin just isn't as smooth and clear as the advertisements say it is. Almost every baby develops a fine pink or red rash whenever his skin is irritated by rubbing on bedclothes, by sitting up, by very hot weather. Most of all these fine pink rashes will go away promptly if the skin is bathed with clean water whenever it is dirty, and washed with mild soap once a day.

Many babies develop waxy scabs on the scalp and forehead, called "cradle cap" or "seborrhea". Daily scrubbing with mild soap and a wash cloth will usually keep this under control.

Small, red, blotchy "birthmarks" on the eyelids and back of the neck are so common that they are called "stork bites." They usually show up when the baby is between one and four weeks old. They go away by themselves after a year or so, and cause no trouble of any kind. There is nothing to do but wait.

Bright red raised "strawberry marks" are also quite frequent. They appear after one or two months, grow rapidly for a few months, stop growing and gradually disappear. Unless your baby has one that is particularly large or in a spot where it is constantly being irritated, it is best to let it go away by itself.

Large areas of pale blue discoloration, called "mongolian spots" are common, especially on the trunk of dark skinned infants. They become less obvious as the child grows older and have no importance.

Diaper Rash—Urine and bowel movements are irritating to the skin, especially when they stay in contact with the skin for a long time.

Prevent diaper rash by changing diapers frequently, by rinsing the diaper area with clean water at each diaper change, by rinsing diapers thoroughly after washing, and by applying a layer of zinc oxide paste (you can buy it at any drug store) whenever the diaper area appears irritated.

If your baby gets a diaper rash in spite of this, you should:

Leave off the plastic pants (or plastic covered disposable diapers) except when absolutely necessary. Using 2 or more diapers at nap time and at night will make this less messy. Leave the diaper area completely uncovered for a few hours each day (nap time or early evening is most convenient), put a couple of diapers under him to soak up any "accidents."

Apply a thin layer of zinc oxide paste after cleansing at each diaper change. When to Worry—Any pimple or rash that gets bright red and enlarges, or that develops blisters or pus, may be the beginning of an infection that will need medical care. You can soak such a rash with a washcloth or towel wrung out in hot water, and keep it clean by washing with mild soap and water twice a day. If it gets worse, or if it doesn't get better in 24 to 48 hours you should get medical advice.

Any rash that looks like bleeding or bruising in the skin should be seen by a doctor promptly—unless you know it really is a group of bruises).

Peaches Add Summer Flavor

ATLANTA, Ga.—Everyone can enjoy sprightly summer flavor this winter by adding canned peaches to their menus. Preserved at the peak of goodness and ready to serve right from the container, the canned peach is a versatile fruit, for it can be used as a cold dessert, an ingredient in pies and cakes, or in salads with other fruits or cottage cheese.

There are two types of canned peaches—clingstone and freestone. Clingstone peaches have a firm, smooth texture and clean-cut edges. Freestone peaches have a softer texture and raggedy edges. Both types come in different styles: whole (usually spiced), halves, slices, quarters, and mixed pieces or irregular shapes and sizes. Canned peaches are packed in heavy sirup (medium sweet), extra heavy sirup (very sweet), and light sirup (least sweet). They also come in water or slightly sweetened water.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has established grade standards for canned peaches, as it has for many other foods. These may be used by processors in their own quality control programs or applied by graders of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service when official grading services are employed.

U.S. Grade A or Fancy peaches are tender, uniform in color, size and shape, and have excellent flavor.

Grade B or Choice canned peaches have very good flavor and look as good as Grade A. Grade C or Standard canned peaches don't look as good as Grades A and B since pieces may vary in color, size, and shape and may have some blemishes. The degree of ripeness in Grade C peaches may also vary, but this grade is often a relatively thrifty buy.

When you buy canned peaches, suit the grade to its best use, so you get the most for your money.

MARY GREENE'S DRESSING
Our recipe tester makes this for her family.

1/4 cup margarine
2 cups chopped celery, including leafy tops
2 cups chopped onions
1/4 cup bacon fat
Cornbread, see below
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 teaspoon sage
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 egg
1 cup turkey broth
In a large skillet or saucepan in the margarine gently cook celery and onion until wilted, add bacon fat and stir until melted. Off heat stir in cornbread and seasonings; beat egg with broth and add; mix well. Use as stuffing for body and neck cavities of 16-pound turkey and roast.

Cornbread: Stir together 1/2 cups yellow cornmeal, 1/2 cups unsifted flour, 2 tablespoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons sugar. Add 1 egg, 1 1/2 cups milk and 6 tablespoons melted bacon fat. Beat until smooth. Bake in a greased 9-inch square cake pan in a preheated 425-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—25 to 30 minutes. Cool and crumble.

For and about Women

SENIOR CITIZENS and guests fill their plates from the large number of dishes on the potluck luncheon table at the monthly potluck luncheon and social held recently.

Ninety-five Senior Citizens At Monthly Luncheon, Ellis Center

The monthly potluck luncheon of the senior citizens was held at Ellis Center on Feb. 14, with a record attendance of 95.

The Valentine theme was used in the center's decorations.

Senior citizens who served as hosts and hostesses were: Edna McReynolds, Maggie Paschall, Neva Riggins, Jewel Parks, Neva Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Palmer.

Blessing of the food was given by Rev. Steve Davenport, special guest, and chairman of the Senior Citizens Advisory Board. Other members of the advisory board present were Mrs. Lochie Hart and Jules Harcourt.

Some other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. L.D. Miller, Lynn Smith, Marie Coleman, and Ruble Shankle.

Entertainment for the afternoon consisted of several numbers by the Senior Citizens "Swing and Sway" Band. Also, a Valentine game and Bingo, with Brenda Martin, university student, in charge were held.

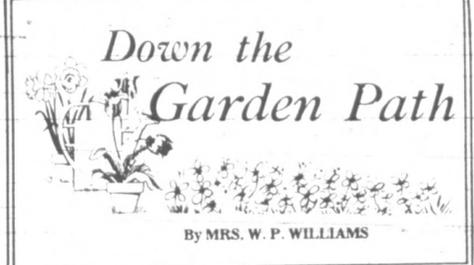

Those attending the day's activities, not already mentioned, were: Hazel Ahart, Lola Hale, Elizabeth James, Elizabeth Miller, Lalla Boyd, Vernon Turner, Nola Chrisman, Alma Cooper, Otie Trevathan, Barney Futrell, Erma Lovett, Treva Washer, Mildred Barnett, Meme Mattingly, Suella Futrell, Rubena Dawes, Hazei Locke, Madie Vaughn, Ardee Riley, Katie Wingo, Erin Reed, Ivy Rogers, Alice Junell, Bessie Miller, Quint Guier, Ruby Harris, Dollie Haley, Willie Mae Morton, Murla Brandon, Lucy Tutt, Ethel Walker, Ambie Willoughby, Mabel Robertson, Beulah Fielder, Ellen McKinney, Ovie Sue Galloway, Nomic Miller, Wallace Dowdy, Ruth Trevathan, Euprey Houston, Grace Barnes, Flossie Snow, Mary Gupton, Lottie Bowden, Mary Lamb, Erma Outland, Lela Culp, Gusie Adams, Mina Waters, Annie Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Naoleon Parker, Ruby Barnes, Cozy Myers, Rebecca Weter, Fannie

Fat in diet

Fats should not be eliminated entirely from the diet because in addition to serving as a carrier for the four essential fat-soluble vitamins (A, D, E, and K), it is also an essential component of tissues and necessary for many bodily processes. Besides reducing the amount of fat in the diet, many physicians feel most Americans should eat less saturated and more polyunsaturated fat.

Down the Garden Path

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

Our Christmas Poinsettias are beginning to drop their leaves and some of the petals. When the petals have gone, keep the plant slightly on the dry side and store in a cool place that doesn't go below freezing. A basement room is fine to keep them especially if it can be placed where it can get some light. The plant is getting ready for a rest of several weeks waiting for frost and snows of winter to be over.

When all danger is past, repot the poinsettia and set pot in the ground up to its neck. Choose a rather shady place for it and leave it there until the frosts of next autumn are about to come again.

February is nearly gone, and that means that the worst month of winter is nearing its end. March will bring us many days that we can spend outdoors, and it is not too early now to start a garden. I know of one person who has planted radishes, onions and cabbages. Really February hasn't been as bad as I expected, and we can plan what we are going to do when spring actually arrives.

What new seed are you going to plant this year? If you have not tried planting any seed

Valentine Party Is Held By Dames Club

The Murray State Dames club held a Valentine party on Friday, February 15, in Hart Hall recreation room.

Rick Weisman won the door prize. Card games, ping pong, and various other games were enjoyed by the couples attending.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tandy, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Shelton, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Jessup, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Vanderveer, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Peach, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ward, and Mr. and Mrs. Rick Weisman.

before, you would be wise to choose some of the hardy ones, the never-fail variety. How about some of the new Zinnias! or Marigolds! They are so pretty that they hardly seem related to the old-fashioned variety, except they are just as easy to grow.

Hybridizers are constantly at work improving the old familiar plants. They are concerned with improving the hardiness, or disease resistance, or the beauty of one plant after another. The Marigold has lost its unpleasant odor and comes in a dozen different sizes and forms. Some of the new Zinnias are so frilly and dainty that they don't in the least resemble their parent plants.

Portulaca is one of the old-time flowers that remains one of my favorites. There are several reasons for this choice. It has double and single blossoms of almost every color and shade. It blooms constantly all summer long and will grow in a hot dry place where nothing else will. It will reseed itself so that you will never have to replace it. The seed are very tiny so that it is better to mix them with a handful of sand to scatter them. The plants form a moss-like cover that is in itself lovely, and the three to four inch flowers are like colorful stars. This makes a wonderful border. I do not mean that they will grow only in a dry hot spot, for they will respond to moisture and rich dirt.

Another little plant I haven't had for several years is the Gaillardia. Started from seed, it will bloom in a few weeks with the flowers shades of yellow from canary to deep gold with bars of red and brown. The stems are long enough for cutting, and the blooms last well in the house. They will sometimes reseed themselves, but it is easy to gather seed and keep over winter.

If you don't want to try some of the newer, less hardy plants, then try some of these old-fashioned flowers that are wearing new dresses. They are almost like new.

Look At The Record

I have no apologies to make for my country or my generation.

Never before in history or in any other land has a people accomplished so much, given so much and asked so little.

Four times in one lifetime we have involved ourselves in foreign wars. We have poured the flower of our manhood and the fortunes of our citizens into these battles against aggression, injustice and tyranny.

In these endeavors, we have never coveted a single acre of land nor sought to add a dollar to our national wealth.

Quite the contrary. We have used our material strength and financial fortunes to bind the wounds of the vanquished and we have given aid and sustenance to the impoverished in a hundred nations around the globe. Friend and foe alike.

We have battled, too, for progress and betterment on the home front.

In one generation we have conquered or controlled diphtheria, small-pox, typhoid, polio, measles, tuberculosis and pneumonia. No longer do these ancient scourges sweep across our land leaving death and tortured limbs and minds and hearts in their wake.

We have built more schools and colleges and hospitals and libraries than all other generations since the beginning of time.

We have trained and graduated more scientists, doctors, surgeons, dentists, lawyers, teachers, engineers and physicists than did our forebears for a thousand years before.

We have raised our standards of living and lowered our hours of work. Luxuries that were beyond the dreams of princes and potentates a generation ago are now available to all our people.

The automobile, the radio, the telephone, the airplane, the computer, television, antibiotics and a hundred other miracles have come to full flower in one generation.

We have taxed ourselves unmercifully to bring hope and health to our sick, our indigent, our young and our aged.

In 1973 our personal gifts to private charities exceeded 22 billion dollars... more than twenty times the cost of running the entire Federal Government the year I was born.

We have done more to bring dignity and equality and opportunity to all minority groups than any other generation has ever done in any nation since the dawn of history.

Now, let me make it clear that I do not minimize the need for greater efforts in these areas.

We have an urgent moral responsibility to move decisively in correcting injustices that have too long prevailed.

At the same time, we must not minimize the progress that has been made.

Today the average Negro in our nation is more likely to go to college than the average citizen-white or black or any color-in England, Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Italy or Spain.

We have more than 300 Negro millionaires in our nation. We have more Negroes sitting as judges... more in Congress... more in state legislatures... more in our city halls... and more and more in positions of power than all the communist nations of the world combined.

Yes, don't let anyone sell you the idea that ours is a sick society. It's far from perfect but it is also far and away the most enlightened, most unselfish, most compassionate in the history of the world.

I know what our generation has done. I'll stand on our record. We may not have scored as high as we hoped. But we scored higher than ever before.

There is still work to be done. There are still challenges to be met. There are still hopes to be realized. There are still goals to be attained.

They'll not be attained by the preachers and teachers of despair. They'll not be attained by sniffing flowers or staging love-ins or hate-ins.

They'll be attained by the unsung heroes of every generation. The workers who can dream by the men and women who honor the Ten Commandments... respect our Constitution... have faith in the American system. Men and women who believe in God and a better and brighter tomorrow and are willing to work to that end.

FFA Thankful For Support

Walter Apperson, Publisher
Gene McCutcheon, Editor

Dear Sirs:

The FFA Members of Calloway County High School have just received the special edition of The Ledger and Times devoted exclusively to FFA. The Calloway Chapter of Future Farmers have been recognizing national FFA week since our school has been in existence (1960). The week is celebrated during the week of George Washington's birthday. We have presented radio programs, published a few articles in newspapers and printed newsletters at our school.

This is the first year our chapter has been honored and recognized to the extent of having a special edition of a local newspaper, sponsored by so many people, printed, and sent to every subscriber. Upon receiving the edition at our school, a spark of excitement, seemed to ignite enthusiasm from the administration and faculty to student body, and more especially FFA members. This is one of the nicest things that has happened to FFA members.

We are proud that people know about us and it gives us encouragement to continue to strive to make our contribution to a progressive Calloway County and surrounding areas.

May we take this means of thanking you and your staff for your efforts in our behalf. We would like to thank the supporting sponsors for their contribution. It is our intent to be worthy of your support.

Yours respectfully,

Calloway County High FFA

Reader Urges Sidewalks

Dear Editor,

Early in the evening on last Thursday, a teen-age girl lost her life walking down the streets of Murray. It was the second such needless accident of late, as in December a young college student was injured early in the morning hour on Chestnut Street and it can be noted just shortly after the change to Daylight Savings Time. Each accident occurred under poor visibility conditions of rain, fog, and darkness it is true, but also in areas where there are no sidewalks. Will it take another life in the middle of a sunshine morning to make it safer to walk in our city?

Those of us who do not drive are very aware of the need for sidewalks at least on one side of each street in Murray. Now, that service stations are closing due to low gas allotments there will be more of us walking and it's good for you, but in Murray on far to many streets—it is not safe. Without sidewalks a pedestrian is forced to cross your lawn or risk his life on the street in the possible path of a car.

What can be done about this deplorable condition in our city? Perhaps use some of the Revenue Sharing Money and match it with that given by residents on each street. It is our duty as citizens to do this, not to do so is an act of negligence on our part for the need is there. How about it? Let's put a "sidewalk on the street where you live," as it could prevent the loss of someone's life.

Sincerely yours,

Dottie L. Farris

Agrees With Editorial

Dear Editor:

Congratulations on your very informative editorial, "A Lot for a Dollar," describing the tax check-off system to finance a nonpartisan Presidential Campaign Fund beginning with the 1976 election.

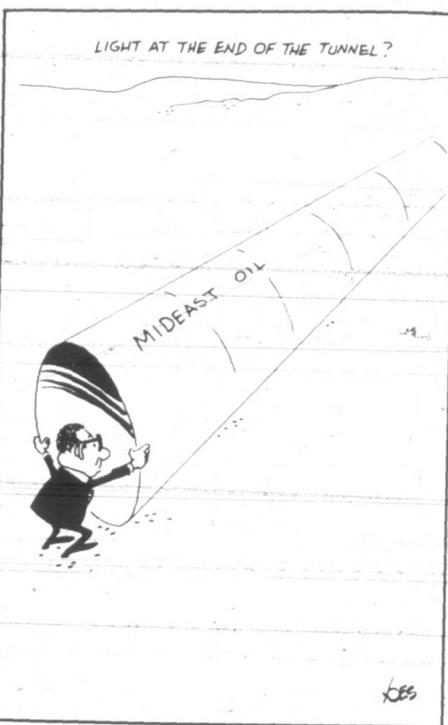

It should also be emphasized that designating $1 (or $2 for a couple filing jointly) does NOT increase your tax or reduce the amount of refund. The check-off simply assigns the $1 or $2 of the tax you already owe - to the Presidential Election Fund.

As your editorial stated, the little box on the tax forms providing for the check-off "led a sheltered life on a separate form last year and was not widely used." The Internal Revenue Service, incidentally, did not bring the little box out of hiding until a lawsuit was filed against IRS by Common Cause, the national citizens' action group.

Public financing of elections is not a new idea. As far back as 1907, President Theodore Roosevelt recommended it and in 1936 a special Senate committee, investigating Presidential and Senatorial expenditures, urged a ban on all contributions from special interest organizations.

Very truly yours,

Mike Bradley

Hoodlums Harm Unions

A rampage by picketing construction workers in Lansing, Mich., resulted in the beating of a nonunion contractor and estimated damage of $10,000 to a restaurant he owned in the vicinity of the construction site.

Several threats have been made on his life and the lives of members of his family.

The incident is the latest in a pattern of labor violence described recently in a series of Reader's Digest articles as prevalent nationwide. Californians were shocked only a few weeks ago when a multimillion-dollar aircraft was burned during an airline labor dispute.

Such wanton disregard for life and property only mars the fine record organized labor has chalked up in winning respect for the working man and in forcing a steady improvement in his living standard.

Union officials must act promptly to police the illegal acts perpetrated in the name of the American worker. Ample tools are available for pursuing labor's goals in a legitimate manner.

Hoodlumism is not by any stretch of imagination unionism.

Seen & Heard Around Murray

By JAMES C. WILLIAMS

We are glad to see that that big hole on Main street, just west of Sixteenth has been filled. A terribly dangerous situation which never should have existed.

We were congratulating ourselves on the Jonquils on the south side of the house beginning to bloom when we drove by Mrs. Leonard Vaughn's house and see that she has a whole row of them in bloom. Right out in the open where they get no protection.

Within a week, however, we should see Jonquils all over town as well as the yellow Forsythias in full bloom. We notice too that the magnolias have big buds on them and if a late freeze or frost does not get them, they'll add to the first blooms of spring.

Japonicas are in bloom or just about anyway.

We have a feeling that there'll be no Grosbeaks this year. If they have stood the winters of the north thus far, we suspect they'll be able to make it for the rest of the winter.

Joe Tom Erwin had a nice article in the Sunday Magazine section of the Commercial Appeal, Sunday before last. It was on the Wildlife in the LBL.

Reading about Socrates and some of his philosophy. Here are two or three of the things he said, just as true as when he wrote them. He was born in the things he said, just as true as when he wrote them. He was born in 470 B.C.

"By all means marry. If you get a good wife, you will be very happy; if you get a bad one, you will become a philosopher." Incidentally his wife, Xantippe, was a bad one.

"There is only one good, that is knowledge; there is only one evil, ignorance."

"The way to gain a good reputation, is to endeavor to be what you desire to appear."

"Be of good cheer about death, and know this of a truth, that no evil can happen to a good man either in life or after death."

"Better to do a little well, than a great deal badly."

"I believe in one God, Creator of the Universe. That He governs it by His Providence. That He ought to be worshipped. That the most acceptable service we render Him is doing good to His other children. That the soul of man is immortal, and will be treated with justice in another life respecting its conduct of this."—Benjamin Franklin

Depths Of Madness

The hair-raising flight in which a serviceman stole a helicopter at Ft. Meade, Md. and embarked on a wild midnight episode that endangered life and property in Washington, D. C. — including the White House itself — is truth in the image of the fictional James Bond.

That the spectacular incident was not a professional, planned foray with a defined motive is beside the point. Far more important is the fact that it could have been. In our open society, thousands of citizens have the skill to fly a small airplane and the ready ability to lay their hands on one.

Plainly it is unlikely that the White House can be guarded on the ground by much more than shotguns carrying members of the Executive Protection Service unless it is made into a fortress — nor should we construct surface to air missile sites on the White House lawn. This certainly is not the American way.

However, the incident should cause us to increase security and vigilance in the areas where it is so obviously needed, while we pray that Pfc. Robert K. Preston's rash behavior will exhibit to Americans the depths to which madness has gripped the nation.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Take nothing for granted and don't jump to conclusions. What seems a "sure thing" could be otherwise. One more admonition: Don't try to force issues.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Routine will probably bore you now, but don't idle time away. Get busy on one of your pet creative projects. Influences stimulate original ideas.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

A good day for finalizing agreements. Some unusual background activity will provide the spark that hurries matters through more quickly than expected.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Friends will be especially helpful — not only in supplying some required data, but in giving you certain objective insights which will prove useful later.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Some puzzling situations indicated. If you can touch bases with certain people outside your immediate field, however, you can work things out.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Don't let rumors and idle speculation cause you to become restless and (or) indecisive. Carry out your plans as scheduled. Things should turn out well.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

New offerings should not be rejected until they have been thoroughly studied. Neither be too quick to accept. Emphasize prudence, forethought.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Strong Mars influences should boost your morale, help in work issues, generally aid in your advancement. Both old and new ventures favored. Pitch in!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Take tips from the experience of others and listen to good advice. There is never an end to discovery — new knowledge which will help you to achieve top records.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A fine day for advancement along lines important to you. Don't veer off on tangents, however, or good effort will be wasted.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

New vitality and incentive should mark this day. Especially favored: literary and artistic endeavors, community interests.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Slated for advancement under benefic Neptune influences: science, invention, maritime interests and pursuit of investigations into the occult.

YOU BORN TODAY are extremely versatile, and are willing to give readily of your abilities and energies to any worthwhile project. Your personality is an outgoing one and you make, and keep, friends easily. You are artistic by nature and always like your surroundings to reflect beauty — whether at home or at work — but even if they don't you are philosophical about it. You may have an extraordinary interest in the occult, which would make a fine hobby for you. Birthdate of: Victor Hugo, Fr. author; Jackie Gleason and Tony Randall, entertainers.

59 Per Cent Shooting Is Not Enough As Racers Fall 90-79

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

Heaven Lee, the Nashville strip tease artist who brought the crowd to its feet in Murfreesboro last year at a football game, was one of 6,000 people at Murphy Athletic Center Saturday to watch the basketball game between Murray State and Middle Tennessee.

But this time, she didn't put on her show. Instead, it was the Middle Tennessee basketball team who thrilled the crowd as the Blue Raiders stripped down Murray 90-79.

Middle Tennessee moves to 9-3 in the conference and 18-6 overall while Murray drops to 5-7 in the league and 11-12 overall. The Raiders play at Austin Peay tonight with the winner taking over sole possession of the lead.

It was the same old story for the Racers. Middle Tennessee wasn't able to pull away until the final minutes of the contest.

Hot Shooting
Murray shot 35 of 60 from the field for an unbelievable .583 clip. The Racers were out-rebounded by only one, 40-39. But as it has been all season, the effort wasn't quite enough.

The difference in the game was at the free throw line where Middle hit 20 of 24 while Murray shot just nine of 18.

With only 2:38 left in the contest, Middle Tennessee led just 81-75 and it seemed as if the Racers might have a chance to revenge an earlier 74-71 loss suffered at Murray.

But with 1:39 left, Marcelous Starks was whistled for his fifth personal foul, one he thought he shouldn't have drawn.

In anger, Starks slammed the ball to the floor, Murray was slapped with a technical and the Raiders hit all three shots at the free throw line.

After getting the ball back inbound, Middle was again fouled, this time Steve Barrett picked up the personal.

Two free throws by guard Fred Allen boosted the advantage to 86-75 and the Racers were saddled with another loss.

Lead Once
Only once in the entire contest did the Racers ever manage to hold the lead.

That came with 13:28 left in the opening half when Mike Coleman fired in a 20-foot jumper to give Murray a 14-13 edge.

Jimmy Powell, the 6-5 senior workhorse of the Raiders, then came a layup and Middle regained the lead.

With 8:39 left in the half, the Raiders were coasting along with a 30-20 bulge and threatening to blow Murray off the floor.

But Coleman hit a jumper, Adell scored on a fastbreak, Starks hit a tip and Coleman followed with another long shot and suddenly with 7:20 left, the Racers trailed only 30-28.

Twice in the half the Racers managed to tie the score, at 38 on a jumper by Barrett and at 40 on a 25-footer by Coleman.

But by intermission, the Raiders had pulled back and had a 46-40 edge.

Coleman and 6-5 George Sorrell of Middle Tennessee had a shooting contest in the half. Coleman hit on 10 of 16 shots and had 20 points in the period while Sorrell hit on seven of 11 from the floor and seven of seven at the line for 21.

In the second half, the closest the Racers could come was two points and that was at the 13:25 mark when Barrett's layup trimmed the Middle lead to 57-55.

On four occasions, Middle Tennessee led by 10 points, the last coming with 3:19 left when 6-5 Jimmy Martin scored on a break to boost the Raiders to an 81-71 cushion.

A bucket by Coleman and two charity tosses by Starks trimmed the lead to six before Starks fouled and was whistled for the technical and then Middle rattled off five consecutive points to put the game out of reach.

Coleman Superb
Coleman finished the game hitting 15 of 25 from the field and three of six from the line for 33 points in one of his best season performances.

Coleman also pulled down a game-high 14 rebounds.

Starks, who had 12 rebounds, finished with 12 points while Adell, who connected on five of six from the floor, added 12.

Sorrell scored just eight points in the final period and finished with 29 to pace Middle. Powell added 22 while Martin tossed in 15.

Murray must now win its next two remaining games or finish under .500 for the first time in 15 years.

The Racers host Western Kentucky tonight before closing the season Saturday with a noon contest at home with Austin Peay.

Timeout With Brandon

By MIKE BRANDON
Sports Editor

It more or less all boils down to tonight in Clarksville when Austin Peay and Middle Tennessee, the co-leaders in the Ohio Valley Conference, meet for the second time of the season.

When the two teams played in Murfreesboro, Austin Peay had a six-point lead with only 17 seconds left but lost the game 90-87 to Middle.

A victory tonight by Middle would but clinch the championship, and it would be official if they were victorious at Western Kentucky Saturday night.

On the other hand, a win by Austin Peay would give the Governors the edge as they have only to play Murray here Saturday afternoon.

So, although Morehead is 8-4 and only a game behind the leaders, it seems tonight's game at Clarksville will probably determine the champion.

I still can't believe the day I had Saturday. It began early in the morning at the pancake breakfast at Murray High and ended the next morning.

While at the Murray game in Murfreesboro Saturday, my party had the chance to talk to the famous stripper, Heaven Lee. And after the game, we attended a get together at Alpha Kappa Psi and who but Heaven walked in.

We all had our pictures made with her and she, being very knowledgeable of public relations, invited us down for her show sometime.

After that, we went to Bowling Green and watched that unbelievable game between Western and Austin Peay.

In one day, I had the opportunity to see half the conference teams play.

And those four teams I saw, all of them will be playing each other tonight and Saturday.

I must say that Western Kentucky has tremendously improved since Murray played them last in Bowling Green.

The Hilltoppers have new faces in the lineup and have found much more speed with that crew.

And the Western press that was employed against Austin Peay in the final minutes of the game was unbelievable.

To get to the point, Murray is going to have to play a super game tonight to defeat the Hilltoppers.

The Western Kentucky fans made a special presentation Saturday night to Howard Jackson of Austin Peay.

Jack, as he is called by his teammates, was an All-OVC performer last season and would have been starting this year.

But a fall at 75 feet during a construction job nearly claimed his life and did end his playing career.

Jack is now living with Austin Peay Coach Lake Kelly.

Last week, the students at Western combined efforts and made a giant card for presentation to Jack.

Several thousand students at Western signed their name to the card, and on the front it read, "To Howard, the Man."

I would urge the student body of Murray State to also follow Western's step and make a presentation to Jack.

It would be a shame if this outstanding young man was not presented to the crowd on hand Saturday.

Austin Peay And Middle Meet For League Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 1974 Ohio Valley Conference basketball title race enters its final week tonight with Austin Peay and Middle Tennessee playing for sole possession of first place.

For defending champion APSU, it will be the second time in three weeks that the Governors find themselves in a tie for the lead—and a game with the other occupant of the first-place position.

The Gavs dropped into the tie Saturday night, falling 84-82 to Western Kentucky while Middle Tennessee was handing Murray a 90-79 thrashing.

In other OVC games, cellar-dwelling Tennessee Tech saw a lead evaporate in the final few minutes to accept a 91-90 defeat from third-place Morehead and Eastern Kentucky dumped seventh-place East Tennessee 87-67.

Both APSU and Middle Tennessee have 9-3 OVC records and .750 averages. The Blue Raiders have a better overall mark—18-6 to the Gavs' 16-8.

In third place, with a chance to move into the lead should disaster befall both APSU and MTSU, is Morehead with an 8-4 conference mark. Eastern Kentucky, at 6-6; Western Kentucky, 6-5; Murray, 5-7; East Tennessee, 3-9; and Tech, 2-10; fill out the conference standings.

Carl Brown hit 24 points and Robert Brooks added 23 as Eastern Kentucky whipped East Tennessee. The Bucs, playing on their home court, had a 22-17 lead in the first half but developed shooting problems and never got back in the game.

Tennessee Tech also saw a lead evaporate as they allowed Morehead to sweep to a 91-90 win at Cookeville.

Leonard Coulter, the game's high scorer with 30 points, put Morehead on top 87-85 with three minutes left after the Golden Eagles led by as much as 11 points for most of the game.

Morehead had four players in double figures. Tech was led by Frank Jones and Howard Miller, each with 24 points.

Alabama Hands UK Worst Home Defeat In History

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) —

Kentucky basketball Coach Joe B. Hall said his own team's rebounding was a major factor.

"We went to the boards so well, we moved so well on the fast break, we did all the things you have to do to play a great basketball game," he said.

The Tides' Charles Cleveland said defense was the key.

"We might be 23 points better than anybody when we apply the defense like we did. Kentucky has some guys who really can play, but we got the ball out and ran with it," he said. "I don't think they expected that to happen."

Alabama Coach C.M. Newton said his own team's rebounding was a major factor.

"We went to the boards so well, we moved so well on the fast break, we did all the things you have to do to play a great basketball game," he said.

Lakers Keep Playoff Hopes As Hairston's 24 Paces Victory

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was, as Coach Bill Sharman noted, a good weekend for the Los Angeles Lakers. Coach Dick Motta of the Chicago Bulls had other thoughts.

Embroidered in the tightest fight for a division championship in the National Basketball Association, the Lakers won their third game in as many nights with a 100-90 victory over Chicago Sunday night.

That left the Lakers 1 1/2 games behind idle Golden State in the Pacific Division while Chicago dropped 3 1/2 games behind Milwaukee in the Midwest.

Because of poorer won-lost records, only the winner in the Pacific may make the playoffs while the top three in the Midwest should go.

"If we expect to make the playoffs, we have to play each game like it's the seventh game of the finals," said Sharman.

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday, the capital Bullets stopped the Detroit Pistons 94-84; the Boston Celtics defeated the Atlanta Hawks 111-96; the Milwaukee Bucks trimmed the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 100-93; the Cleveland Cavaliers up-ended the Phoenix Suns 101-97; the Houston Rockets bombed the Portland Trail Blazers 133-115, and the Seattle SuperSonics bested the Philadelphia 76ers 115-105.

It was the fourth time in five games Los Angeles has defeated Chicago this season and the 12th time in a row the Lakers have whipped the Bulls at the Forum. Chicago has not won a game in Los Angeles since October of 1971.

The Bulls and Lakers were tied at halftime and again going into the final quarter. Then Happy Hairston took charge, scoring half of his 24 points and the Lakers stopped the Bulls 23-12 in the fourth quarter to win.

Gail Goodrich scored 28 for Los Angeles and Bob Love had 23 for Chicago despite being shut out in the fourth quarter.

Bullets 94, Pistons 84
Phil Chenier played just 15 minutes, but scored 20 points including eight in the closing 57 seconds — to carry Capital past Detroit.

Celtics 111, Hawks 96
John Havlicek sparked a 16-3 Boston scoring outburst early in the second half and finished with 32 points to lead the Celtics past Atlanta.

Bucks 100, Kings 93
Lucius Allen scored 31 points and Bob Dandridge had 27 to spearhead Milwaukee's triumph over Kansas City-Omaha.

Cavaliers 101, Suns 97
Len Wilkens' 19 points, including the layup with 29 seconds remaining which secured the Cavaliers' lead, carried Cleveland past Phoenix in a close game.

SuperSonics 115, 76ers 105
Spencer Haywood talked 37 points — 15 in the third quarter and pulled in 20 rebounds to carry Seattle past Philadelphia.

Rockets 133, Trail Blazers 115
Houston grabbed an early lead and continued to pull away behind the 28-point shooting of Rudy Tomjanovich and 24 points by Calvin Murphy.

Leonard Thompson Claims Win In Gleason Golf Tournament

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Lee Trevino's bubbling little fuss with a national television network almost overshadowed Leonard Thompson's victory — and subsequent $10,000 charitable contribution — in the Jackie Gleason Inverrary Golf Classic.

Scott and Frank Chirkinian, producer-director for the CBSTV crew that provided national coverage of the rich event, said it was all a misunderstanding joke. While Trevino and the television people were involved in their contempments, Thompson was rejoicing in his first professional victory, following a final round 68 and a 278 total, 10-under-par.

He donated $10,000 of his total purse of $52,000 to the Boys Club of America — "Winning means a lot more than $10,000 to me," he said — after defeating Hale Irwin by one stroke. Irwin also had a closing 68, four-under-par, and a 279 total.

"This is something I dreamed about as a kid," said the slow-talking native of Lumberton, N.C., a former assistant pro at the Pousum Trot Golf Club in Myrtle Beach, S.C.

A half-dozen players either led or shared the lead in the last round — and Jack Nicklaus made a comeback bid that once got within two strokes of the top spot — before Thompson clinched it with long, crucial lag putts for pars on the last two holes.

Julius Boros, 53, who made a bid to become the tour's oldest winner in history, finished third with a final 67 and 280 total.

Lanny Wadkins, Trevino, Nicklaus and Andy North were grouped at 281. Wadkins and Nicklaus each had seven-under-par 65s in the last round, North shot a 68 and Trevino, the defending champion, took a 69. Johnny Miller, winner of three titles and more than $100,000 this season, managed a 68 but was well back at 288. He said he was taking three weeks away from the tour to seek relief from a respiratory problem that has bothered him since last fall.

Sam Snead, the 61-year-old marvel who had been in the thick of the scramble for the first three days of the tournament, could do no better than par 72 in the near-perfect weather of the last round and tied for 15th at 285.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. — When James "Fly" Williams of Austin Peay State University walked onto the floor of Diddle Arena Saturday night at Western Kentucky University, the sophomore scoring sensation held up his index finger to let the crowd of 13,500 know who was number one.

But when Williams and his teammates walked off the floor after being stunned 84-82 by Western Kentucky, the Hilltopper fans waved flyswatters and the famous red towels as a parting farewell to the fallen Governors.

The loss for Austin Peay drops the Governors to 9-3 in the Ohio Valley Conference and in a first place tie with Middle Tennessee who will be in Clarksville tonight for the showdown which will determine the league leader.

When the Hilltoppers visited Austin Peay earlier in the season, the Governors, playing the entire second half without Williams, squeaked to a 97-96 win over Western Kentucky.

Fly Is Swatted
Again, Williams played only about half the game because of foul trouble and finished with only 11 points as the Hilltoppers' box-in-one defense kept the conference's leading scorer from getting the ball.

Austin Peay trailed for much of the second half before battling back and regaining the lead midway through the 20-minute period.

And with only 3:49 left in the contest, the Governors seemingly had the contest safe in hands with a 79-71 cushion. And then Western Kentucky

Coach Jim Richards reached into his bag of tricks and pulled out the "magical" solution, a vicious half-court press and a pair of super-quick guards named Johnny Britt and Chuck Rawlings.

Britt, who scored 11 of the final 13 Hilltopper points and had three steals in the final minutes, combined with Rawlings on the press to completely shut off Austin Peay.

Three consecutive times the Governors failed to get the ball past the mid-court stripe and three consecutive times Britt, a 6-2 sophomore from Oakland, Ky., scored on fastbreaks.

And then with 1:27 in the contest, junior Mike Odems picked off a pass and fed to Britt who canned a 12-footer to knot the score at 79 apiece and sent the Western fans into an explosion of noise that hasn't been heard since the days of former great Jim McDaniels.

On the play, Britt was fouled and his free throw cut the cords and the Hilltoppers had an 80-79 edge.

Austin Peay tied the count at 80 apiece when Percy Howard hit a charity toss with 1:41 left and then with 1:27, the Hilltoppers again took the lead when Rawlings hit on a pair of free throws.

Death Blow
The deathblow for Austin Peay came under their basket with 20 seconds left when in a battle for a loose ball, the Governors knocked the ball out of bounds.

Western took the ball down the floor and spread the offense and as the clock ticked away precious seconds, it became evident that Austin Peay was about to go down to defeat.

With only four seconds left, Britt broke free and hit from under to boost the Hilltopper lead to four. A 20-footer by sophomore Danny Odums cut the final margin to two points.

Close Game
In the first half, the lead changed hands eight times and five times the score was knotted.

Austin Peay's largest lead of the opening period was five points.

The lead changed hands for the final time in the half with 3:19 remaining when Rawlings popped an 18-footer to boost Western to a 38-37 edge.

Five consecutive points moved the Toppers to a six-point spread before 6-6 Joe Johnson hit from 15 feet out for the Governors to trim the Western lead to four at 43-39.

Western scored the final four points of the half to take a 47-39 cushion at intermission.

Western led 57-51 with 14:59 left in the contest but the Governors struck for 10 consecutive points in the next three minutes and moved to a 61-57 lead.

Austin Peay held the lead until Rawling's two free throws with 1:27 left gave Western the lead for good.

Kent Allison paced the Hilltoppers with 24 while Britt tossed in 23 and Rawlings and Odems each had 16.

Percy Howard led the Governors with 25 while Robert Turner had 16, Fly Williams 11 and Odums 10.

Western outrebounded the Governors 41-36 as Odems and Allison had 14 and 10 caroms respectively.

Western is now 13-10 for the season and 6-6 in the conference. The Hilltoppers visit Murray State tonight before returning home Saturday to host Middle Tennessee.

Austin Peay is 16-8 overall entering tonight's encounter with Middle. The Governors will close conference play Saturday afternoon at Murray in the televised OVC Game of the Week.

NFL Will Postpone A Possible Expansion

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) — Phoenix, Seattle, Memphis and Florida may have to wait at least another year. It appears the National Football League, opening its annual winter meetings today, will postpone expansion.

The big matter being taken up today is whether New Orleans will get to keep Super Bowl IX. The speculation is that, because of the delays in completing the Louisiana Superdome, the NFL is going to take away the 1975 championship game and give it to Los Angeles.

Should the league do so, Miami still will be the site of the 1976 title game, and New Orleans almost surely would be awarded Super Bowl XI in January 1977.

Only a few months ago, expansion appeared a likely proposition. The big question, it seemed, was not which two cities would join the league soonest, but which one would get a franchise along with Seattle.

The city which, for one less than successful year, had a major league baseball team, appeared to have the inside track on expansion, probably as a National Conference entry.

As to which city would become the 28th in the NFL, behind No. 27 Seattle, the opinion was divided almost evenly between Phoenix and Memphis.

A Florida entry — an Orlando-based group currently plastering the NFL facilities here with "Rise With the Sun" stickers — figured to be the outside candidate this time around.

But since the expansion talk got serious, just before the 1973 season, the nation has been hit by an energy crisis and the league has been hit by enforced television and a challenge from a new league.

These three factors, it appears, will put the damper on expansion for several months

Waldrop Breaks The Four-Minute Barrier Fourth Consecutive Time

By ANDY LIPPMAN
AP Sports Writer

Tony Waldrop said last month that he didn't think he could be considered a first-class miler until he had proven his consistency.

There was little doubt about either his consistency or his class Saturday night, as the North Carolina senior broke the four-minute mark for the sixth straight time indoors this season at the Atlantic Coast Conference track championships in College Park, Md.

Waldrop, who had shattered the world indoor mark with a 3:55 time at San Diego on Feb. 17, set another record, breaking the conference mile mark with a 3:56.4 clocking. The old ACC record was 4:03.2.

Maryland won its 19th ACC track title with 88½ points, with North Carolina second with 45.

Meanwhile, Belgian champion Emiel Puttemans set two world records Sunday in a meet at Vittel, France.

Puttemans was clocked in 13:05.2 over three miles, two seconds less than the previous mark of American Tracy Smith. He also ran a 13:30.8 time in the 5,000 meter, 3.4 seconds less than the previous record of Mirus Yifter of Ethiopia.

George Woods and Francie Larrieu also proved they are consistent winners, at the Knights of Columbus games in Winnipeg. For the third straight year, Woods, of Long Beach, Calif., beat Al Feuerbach and won the shot put.

Woods, who set the world record of 72 feet, 2½ inches two weeks ago, won with a heave of 69-9¼. Feuerbach finished second.

Miss Larrieu, of Sunnyvale, Calif., who set a world indoor record in the women's 1,500 meters a week ago in Toronto, easily took that event again, this time in 4:14.9.

Jim Bolding of the Pacific Coast Club won the 600-yard run in 1:11.9 over Winfred Alexander of Florida, while teammate and world record holder Dwight Stones won the high jump at 7-2¼.

In other meets, Northeastern's Michael Hickey set a meet record in the 800 and led his team over defending champion Connecticut in the sixth annual New England indoor championships at Storrs, Conn.

Hickey's 1:53.8 time was one of six records set during the meet.

The Pouncy brothers of Southern Methodist University set meet records in the Southwestern Recreation meet at Fort Worth, Tex.

Joe Pouncy posted a time of a 20.8 seconds in the 220 and brother Gene flashed to a 9.2 clocking in the 100.

At Irvine, Calif., Southern California captured nine events during a four-team outdoor meet.

Steve Williams of San Diego State, however, put a damper on Southern Cal's domination when he blasted past the Trojans' anchor man and gave the Aztecs a victory in the 440-rely, 40.8 seconds to 40.9.

Another strong finish by Williams fell short in the mile relay which Southern Cal captured with a time of 3:09.9, nearly five seconds in front of San Diego.

Field Trial
The Calloway County Field Trial Club will hold an amateur field trial at the Kentucky Wildlife Management area near Paducah March 8, 9 and 10.

The judges for the event will be Greg St. John of Fulton and Hugh Montgomery and Calhoun.

All members are urged to enter their dogs early as there will only be enough openings to accept for three days.

J. B. Bell of Murray is the secretary for the club.

Indiana Takes 107-102 ABA Win Over Virginia

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"My guys gave it everything," said Virginia Coach Al Bianchi. "They just didn't have anything left."

But the Indiana Pacers did — and that was the difference in their 107-102 American Basketball Association victory over the Squires Sunday.

"We got some good jobs from guys coming off the bench," said Indiana Coach Bobby Leonard, "and that pulled us through."

George McGinnis and Billy Keller led a fourth-quarter rally that sewed it up for Indiana. Keller scored 13 of his 15 points in the last quarter, including two free throws that iced the game with seconds remaining. McGinnis finished with 23 points, including the last six before Keller's free throws.

In Sunday's only other ABA game, the Denver rockets trimmed the Utah Stars 103-91.

The Pacers had a tenuous 80-78 lead going into the last period before McGinnis and Keller led the charge. Mel Daniels topped the Pacers with 26 points and 18 rebounds, although sitting out the fourth period with five fouls.

Jim Eakins led Virginia with 27 points while George Carter added 23 and Cincy Powell, 20. Rockets 103, Stars 91. Steve Jones scored 23 points to lead Denver's victory over Utah. The Stars could only make 36 per cent of their shots in the first half and trailed 47-34 at intermission.

Then in the third period, the Rockets ran off 16 straight points behind their high scorer to put the game away. Mike Green had 14 points for the winners while Dave Robisch and Willie Long scored 12 each.

Johnny Neumann led the Stars with 23 points while Willie Wise added 16.

In Saturday's ABA games, it was: Memphis 102, New York 97; Indiana 108, Virginia 101; Carolina 121, Denver 117, and Kentucky 108, Utah 96.

Sunday's National Basketball Association results: Boston 111, Atlanta 96; Milwaukee 100, Kansas City-Omaha 93; Capital 94, Detroit 84; Cleveland 101, Phoenix 97; Houston 133, Portland 115; Los Angeles 100, Houston 90; and Seattle 115, Philadelphia 105.

Saturday's NBA games: New York 98, Atlanta 90; Cleveland 104, Capital 101; Detroit 119, Phoenix 107; Golden State 125, Philadelphia 106 and Los Angeles 118, Seattle 116.

Bob Gibson Inks With Redbirds Peterson Signs With Yankees,

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Yankees have a new "rookie" in camp — Fritz Peterson. "I'm anxious to get going," said the veteran Yankee left-hander, who has to prove himself again this season.

After suffering through a sub-par year in 1973, a trim, apparently, well-conditioned Peterson took a cut in salary Sunday with little resistance.

"I got a little bigger cut than I expected," said Peterson, whose salary was shaved from $72,000 to about $63,000. "But they convinced me that I can get it back next year."

More than anxious to show he still can pitch after an 8-15 season, the one-time 20-game winner checked into camp in good physical shape — 194 pounds.

"Nobody talks about your weight until you have a bad year," said Peterson, who finished 1973 at 214 pounds. "I think my problem last year

Torres Wins Three-Mile At Weekend Invitational

Sam Torres of Murray State claimed first place and fourth places finishes in events over the weekend at the Ohio State Invitational.

Torres, a senior from Flint, Mich., captured top honors in the two mile run with a fine 8:56.4 and in the mile, Torres 4:13.7 earned a fourth place finish.

Junior Cuthbert Jacobs turned in a personal best indoor time out of the blocks in the 440 and finished second with a 48.3.

In the longjump, freshman Patmore Chatum, recorded a personal best of 23-0½ to earn a third place finish.

Sophomore Craig Segerlin placed fourth in the pole vault competition with a 14-6.

In the 600, two Murray State runners placed and recorded their best efforts of their careers.

Sophomore Lester Flax finished fifth with a 1:13.2 while Mike Campbell was in sixth with an effort of 1:13.4.

This weekend the Racer track team will be at Middle Tennessee for a five-team invitational. Included in the field are Murray, Middle Tennessee, East Tennessee, Tennessee Tech and Morehead.

Vandy And 'Bama Tied For Conference Lead

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports-Writer

"I have felt all along it would go down to the last week of the season," Coach C. M. Newton of Alabama said Sunday regarding the Southeastern Conference basketball race.

"I've told our guys all they can do is the best job they can, try to win all you can and see what happens," Newton added.

Alabama, ranked eighth nationally, has won all but two in the SEC, but its hopes of a title appeared dim when Vanderbilt rolled to two straight regular season victories over the Tide.

Things have changed, however, going into the final three games of the season. Tennessee upset the fourth-ranked Commodores 59-53 Saturday night and suddenly Vandy and Alabama were tied for the lead with 13-2 records.

Vandy still holds the upper hand if anyone does because a title tie would give the Commodores the SEC berth in the NCAA playoffs for having won the two heads-up games with the Tide.

However, Vandy faces a tougher schedule down the stretch than Alabama. The Commodores must play at Mississippi tonight, loser of only one home game this year, Kentucky on Saturday and visit Florida one week from Saturday.

Alabama entertains Georgia tonight, visits Florida Saturday night and closes with arch-rival Auburn at home one week from tonight.

"The pressure is really on us now," said Vandy Coach Roy Skinner. "We have to win, it's as simple as that."

Tennessee retains a mathematical shot only since the Vols are three games down.

Coach Ray Mears of Tennessee said, "I don't know that anybody has the upper hand. I don't know Alabama's schedule. Vanderbilt has a tough schedule. I've said all along Alabama has the best material in the league. They've got tremendous talent."

In other games tonight, Tennessee is at Mississippi State, Florida at Kentucky and Auburn at Louisiana. Independent Jacksonville entertains Cincinnati.

Tennessee bolted to a 12-point halftime lead and saw Vandy stage one of its patented comebacks, closing to 54-53 with less than two minutes to play. The Vols then got four free throws from Rodney Wood to put the game on ice.

The defeat snapped Vandy's 11-game winning streak and ended a 19-game home court winning string for the Commodores.

Ernie Grunfeld tallied 23 for Tennessee and Jan van Breda Kolff 15 for Vandy.

Charles Cleveland's 24 point sparked Alabama to its convincing victory over Kentucky, which got 18 from Boy Guyette.

"We did all the things you have to do to play a great basketball game," said Newton.

Other top scorers in SEC action Saturday were LSU's Collis Temple with 21 and Glenn Hansen 19, Georgia's Billy Magarity 27, conference scoring leader Chip Williams of Florida 23, Ole Miss' Walter Actwood 17, State's Jerry Jenkins 25 and Auburn's Eddie Johnson 16.

Secretariat Has Until August 1 To Produce

PARIS, Ky. (AP) — The president of Claiborne Farm says Triple Crown winner Secretariat has until Aug. 1 to prove he can get at least 60 percent of the mares bred to him in foal or a $60.8 million syndication agreement is void.

Seth Hancock, syndicate manager, said Sunday that revised agreements were mailed over the weekend to the 32 syndicate members.

The original agreement called for an initial investment of $19,000 by each syndicate member, which has already been paid, and another $28,500 due April 1.

Under the revised agreement, the syndicate will stand and each shareholder will be liable for a total of $190,000 if Secretariat gets 60 per cent or more mares in foal during his first year at stud.

If he fails, the syndicate will dissolve. However, the agreement provides that any breeder whose mare is declared in foal will pay an extra $50,000 stud fee.

Secretariat, syndicated for more than any race horse in history, succeeded in getting his first two mares in foal, but a third came up barren, Hancock said.

The question arose on the syndication agreement when a panel of veterinarians said they could not certify his fertility because of the presence of immature sperm cells in his semen. The syndication agreement called for such certification by March 1.

The veterinarians agreed, however, that the only way to be sure of the horse's fertility was to give him one full breeding season and see how many mares were declared in foal.

The revised agreement on Secretariat is similar to one issued for Reviewer, whose first foals are yearlings of 1974, when he arrived at Claiborne Farm with a problem similar to Secretariat's. Reviewer proceeded to get 72 per cent of the mares in foal the first season.

Meadow Stable, former owner of Secretariat and major shareholder in the syndicate, purchased fertility insurance as a precaution against a failure on that score, which means a failure might mean the insurance companies would end up owning the horse.

Seventh-Rated Pitt Shocked By Penn State As Streak Is Ended

Ron Brown wanted to beat Pitt — for revenge. John Bach wanted to beat Pitt — for recognition.

Although for different reasons, both player and coach got what they wanted after Penn State upset the seventh-ranked Panthers 66-64 in college basketball Saturday.

"It was a personal revenge I had with Billy Knight (the Pitt star)," said Brown after his shot at the end stopped the Panthers' marvelous, 22-game winning streak.

Brown played Knight one-on-one and overshadowed his opponent, scoring 32 points, including his dramatic game winner at the buzzer.

Brown connected on 14 of 20 shots from the floor while Knight could only manage 5 of 16 and 12 points.

"They said Knight had a bruised shoulder, but he didn't do anything out there today," said Brown.

If Brown exulted in the victory, so did Bach. He's been trying to put Penn State in the spotlight ever since he left Fordham several years ago.

"In all my 24 years of coaching, I can't remember anything which has meant more to a team than this," said a happy Bach, whose club has a modest 14-10 record this year.

Pitt wasn't the only one in the Top Ten who lost. Vanderbilt, the nation's No. 4 team, was upset by Tennessee, 59-53.

Top-ranked North Carolina State, meanwhile, beat Clemson 80-75; No. 2 Notre Dame blasted West Virginia 108-80; No. 3 UCLA ripped Washington 99-65; fifth-ranked Maryland trimmed Duke 64-61; No. 6 North Carolina turned back Virginia 94-61; No. 8 Alabama topped Kentucky 94-71; No. 9 Marquette beat Detroit 61-53 and 10th-rated Indiana defeated Minnesota 73-55.

In the Second Ten, 12th-rated Southern California defeated Washington State 86-59; No. 13 Long Beach State beat UC-Santa Barbara 98-61; Hawaii upset No. 15 Creighton 61-60; 18th-ranked Kansas State trimmed Oklahoma 90-67; 19th-rated Michigan crushed Purdue 111-84 and No. 20 Louisville outscored St. Louis 93-85.

In a game Sunday, 14th-ranked South Carolina defeated Duquesne 67-57.

North Carolina State had to put down a spirited performance by Clemson before collecting its 22nd victory in 23 games this season. David Thompson scored 35 points for the Wolfpack.

Adrian Dantley scored 41 points to lead Notre Dame to an easy victory over outmanned West Virginia.

UCLA beat Washington behind a 31-point performance by Keith Wilkes. It was the Bruins' final home game of the season and their 65th straight victory there.

Ernie Grunfeld scored 32 points in Tennessee's upset of Vanderbilt. The loss was only the Commodores' second in 23 games this year and stalled their drive toward the Southeastern Conference championship.

Len Elmore fired in 22 points and collected 17 rebounds to pace Maryland over Duke. Bobby Jones scored 18 points and sparked a tough defense to pull North Carolina past Virginia.

With Charles Cleveland scoring 24 points, Alabama handed Kentucky its worst defeat in 24 years at home.

Stan Smith Finally Is On Win Track

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took seven months and three disputed calls, but Stan Smith finally is back on the winning track.

The fifth-seeded Smith, of Sea Pines, S. C., won a 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 decision from Australia's John Newcombe Sunday in the $50,000 World Championship Tennis Blue Group tournament, but those disputed calls made the outcome questionable for a while.

The victory, worth $10,000, was the first triumph since July for Smith.

The triumph lifted Smith into second place in the WCT Blue Group standings with 165 points — three more than Russia's Alex Metreveli and 42 fewer than the first-place Newcombe.

Billie Jean King won $10,000 for her 6-1, 6-1 victory over Rosemary Casals on the women's pro circuit stop in Detroit. The match was witnessed by 9,123, and the winner said the attendance was instrumental in her victory.

"They really turned me on," said Ms. King after the easy triumph over Ms. Casals.

"My whole game was going well, but particularly my low-ball game and my serves."

The decision raised to $37,900 Ms. King's earnings on the tour — her third in four attempts this season.

In Salisbury, Md., Jimmy Connors continued his domination of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association indoor circuit with a 6-4, 7-5, 6-3 trouncing of South Africa's Frew MacMillan — Connors' second consecutive U. S. National Indoor Open victory.

MacMillan, 31, lost a 4-1 lead in the second set and Connors took over from there to gain the $9,000 winner's share.

The 21-year-old "from" Belleville, Ill., became the seventh player in history to win back-to-back titles in the National Open, and the first since Charlie Pasarell in 1966-67. Only Gustav Touchard, from 1913-15, won three in a row —

Painting Worth $4.5 Million Stolen From Museum In London

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard is expecting a demand for ransom for one of the most valuable paintings in the world, Jan Vermeer's "Guitar Player," which was stolen from a London museum during the weekend.

"We are looking for either a master thief or a madman," said a spokesman for the Yard. "It could be the work of some one who does not know what he has done or has no idea of the value of what he has got. But so far we think it is a master thief who has planned the operation over a number of years."

Police officials said they expected a ransom demand. One leading London art dealer, Hugh Leggatt, said the picture by the 17th century Dutch master is "so famous that it could not possibly be sold."

Estimates of the painting's value ran as high as $4.5 million, but Leggatt commented that it "is really priceless ... of immense international artistic importance." Vermeer is considered one of the greatest of the Dutch masters, less than 30 of his works are left and none has come on the market in years.

"The Guitar Player" was taken just before midnight Saturday in a 60-second raid on Kenwood House, an 18th century mansion in suburban Hampstead that is owned by the Greater London Council and contains a valuable collection of paintings. The house and the collection were given to the nation in 1929 by the family of Lord Iveagh, the Guinness brewery magnate.

The police said the thief or thieves smashed through a window and a shutter with a sledgehammer, seized the 18-by-20-inch painting from its frame and escaped as the alarm system went into operation. A night watchman heard the crash of the window, but by the time he reached the scene, the thieves had gone, a spokesman said.

The Greater London Council, the city's municipal government, said the museum was equipped "with the most sophisticated burglar alarm system." A spokesman said officials would have to "re-examine" the security setup.

Heart Attack Early Warning Signs Meet With Doctor-Patient Approval

(This is the last of eight articles about the EARLY WARNING SIGNS of heart attack.)

"Early attention can mean prevention," Dr. Willard Krehl, Chairman of the Department of Community Health and Preventive Medicine, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, made that statement during a 1967 visit to the midwestern area where an early warning signs public education project, now under way, was being planned.

The quote has become a theme for the project, financed by a state affiliate of the American Heart Association and operated with continuous collaboration of AHA experts.

"Heart attacks don't just happen," said Dr. Krehl at that time, "they develop." How well is the Early Warning Signs program working? How well is it heading off heart attacks before they develop into disabling or fatal episodes?

Surveys of 159 heart patients at one hospital, before and after the program began, show that reaction time has been almost halved. Average time from onset of symptoms to starting to the hospital dropped from 13 1/2 hours to 7 1/2 hours.

At the same hospital, the number of heart patients increased significantly after the program started compared to a similar period before the program.

"These factors — shortened patient reaction time, more patients and a greater number who arrive at a hospital before the heart attack fully develops — must surely mean that many lives have been saved in just this 18-county area," said a member of the Early Warning Signs Committee.

Modest cost of the program, the Committee member said, is more than offset by savings for society through the earning power of patients saved from a disabling or fatal heart attack.

As an added dividend, Heart Fund contributions in the 18-county area rose from $62,363 in the year before the education program began to $90,500 in the ensuing year, an increase of $28,137 or 45.1 percent.

How is the program being received by physicians and hospital officials? Of doctors who responded to a questionnaire after the project had been in operation a month, 94 percent did not find the program had overloaded them or their staffs.

More than half of the hospitals in the project area responded and of these 97 percent said facilities had not been overloaded. Even though the project had been in effect for only 30 days, a number of hospitals were noting increased heart admissions.

"It is obvious the program is working," commented one emergency room nurse in answering the questionnaire. She added that facilities had not been overloaded, and that patient anxiety had not been excessive. One physician, a heart attack patient himself, reported on the questionnaire that "Having experienced acute coronary thrombosis personally, the animated presentation of points of discomfort, pain, etc. was very real to me."

Patients' comments, quoted by doctors responding to the questionnaire, included — "They feel that the messages are helpful and educational."

"Observed heart program, need checkup."

"Surprised that symptoms could be so extensive."

"Now I am worried about pains I took for granted as nothing."

"I wouldn't have known the pain might be serious."

Project planners view its results as a tribute to the power of the press and radio and TV. A survey of 91 heart patients at one hospital in five months after the program began showed that up to 25 percent were prompted by the news media to seek medical aid. Later interviews indicated an even higher percentage.

One physician recalled a 1967 newspaper story, quoting a speech he had made that mentioned heart attack warning signs.

He feared colleagues would scold him for seeking publicity or scaring the public. Instead, he encountered four persons on the subsequent weekend who had read the warning signs and wondered if they were experiencing them. It turned out that they were having attacks, and quick treatment prevented heart damage in two.

A three-year statistical study of the continuing education program is trying to come up with answers to a number of questions touching on the amount and quality of care that heart patients can expect to receive. One question is, what public education program works best with persons of varying ages and levels of schooling? Another asks how doctors can best handle telephone calls to expedite care of patients and to insure priority for emergencies. Other queries include the best methods of patient transportation; the safe distance heart victims can travel; where initial care can best be given; and whether the decision time of doctors and patients can be shortened by education on early warning signs.

The study has already shown that the education program has had a number of beneficial results. Improvement of ambulance service; more prompt and effective emergency room treatment; better facilities for subsequent care; improved ability of health professionals to recognize early warning signs, so that nurses and receptionists, for instance, can expedite emergency calls.

The project lists the warning signs as pressure, fullness, squeezing or aching in the center of the chest, where the heart is located; in the arms, neck, jaw, back or upper abdomen, with possible shortness of breath, sweating, nausea or vomiting.

Recognition of, and reaction to, these symptoms can fulfill Dr. Krehl's 1967 slogan: "Early attention can mean prevention."

Hearst's Vigil In 10th Week

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — Randolph A. Hearst's tense vigil marked its third week today as "People in Need" geared up for another effort to distribute food to the needy, a precondition for the release of his kidnaped daughter.

Donations poured in over the weekend to PIN, the organization set up to meet the demands of the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army. It claims to be holding Patricia Hearst, 20, kidnaped Feb. 4 from her Berkeley apartment.

Organizers promised that Tuesday's distribution of food from centers in the San Francisco Bay area would be more orderly than it was Friday.

"The response has just been super," said Peggy Maze, PIN's acting director. "People from all over the country have been sending bread, milk, frozen food, money and love."

The distribution program is funded with $500,000 from Hearst and $15 million from the nonprofit Hearst Foundation. However the SLA has demanded $4 million more from Hearst personally.

In response to that demand, Examiner publisher Charles Gould said the Hearst Corp. would put up another $2 million immediately if Miss Hearst is released unharmed and promised $2 million more in January 1975. The SLA has not responded to that offer, the FBI said.

PIN's first attempt to distribute food Friday to meet the initial demands of the SLA was marred by violence, looting and confusion when thousands jammed four centers. Thirty persons were injured and 35 arrested.

"A great many mistakes were made," said A. Ludlow Kramer, Washington secretary of state who organized the program. But he said 14,000 persons received food.

Grand Champion Boar Sells For Record Price

By VICKI RUSSELL, Sun-Democrat Staff Writer

MURRAY, Ky., Feb. 23 — The grand champion boar sold for a national record — breaking total of $8,500 as the auction at the National Spotted Swine Winter Conference got underway at Carman Pavilion here Friday.

Held for the first time in Western Kentucky, the sale totaled $123,155.15 at the end of the day. The average sale was $641.21.

The $8,500 sale set a record for the spotted breed, according to Bill Cherry, chairman of the agriculture department at Murray State University, which hosted the sale.

The boar was owned by Carroll "Shorty" Anderson of Anderson Spot Farm in Kellogg, Iowa, and was purchased by Bernie Jansen of Dunnell, Minn.

Grand champion status was awarded Anderson's boar after the judges studied length, growing ability, soundness, and other qualities. Serving as judges were Harold Hodson, Mac Whitaker, and Ed Lidvall. Rick Maloney was general manager of this conference.

The reserve champion, owned by Charles Curtis of Churdan, Iowa, and sold to Listen and Kysela of Moore, Okla., went for $6,000.

The winter conference began Wednesday with Class II bred sows, Class I bred sows, Class IV open gilts, and Class III open gilts were judged after registration. Judged Thursday were Class II open gilts, Class I open gilts, and Class IV boars.

A parade of champions was held at 4 p.m. Thursday with a conference banquet being held in the MSU Student Union Ballroom that night.

Charles Chaney of Murray was in charge of local arrangements.

"We had twice as many exhibitors this year as we had in 1973," said Maloney, secretary of the National Spotted Swine Record, Inc. "This was one of the finest displays of spotted breeding stock ever assembled."

Entries in the sale totaled 379 head of stock — 196 boars, 152 open gilts and 31 bred sows. Seventy breeders from 13 states were scheduled to participate at the beginning of the conference.

Former Nixon Attorney, Kalmbach, Pleads Guilty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert W. Kalmbach, a former personal attorney to President Nixon, pleaded guilty today to charges stemming from his activities as a Republican political fund raiser.

Kalmbach pleaded to a technical charge stemming from the distribution through a dummy political committee in the District of Columbia of $3.9 million to Republican congressional candidates in the 1970 elections.

The felony charge of soliciting political contributions and making expenditures through a committee for which neither a chairman nor treasurer had been named carries a maximum penalty of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Kalmbach also pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge stemming from his promise of an ambassadorship to a political contributor.

That charge carries a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica deferred sentencing until a probation-department report is submitted.

The charge filed by the special Watergate prosecutor's office alleged that on Sept. 16, 1970, Kalmbach met with J. Fife Symington of Lutherville, Md., then U.S. ambassador to Trinidad and Tobago, and that Symington promised to contribute $100,000 if assured he would be appointed ambassador to a European country.

The prosecutors said that Kalmbach called the White House and got the assurances and that Symington contributed $50,000 to Republican candidates in 1970 and $50,000 to President Nixon's 1972 campaign.

Symington never got the job he sought and Kalmbach later offered to return his money, the court papers said. Symington refused to take it back.

Kalmbach appeared in court at the start of a week during which, special prosecutor Leon Jaworski has said, grand juries will be ready to return indictments in a number of Watergate cases.

In a letter to Kalmbach's attorney dated Feb. 13, 1974, Jaworski said that the charges to which the 52-year-old Newport Beach, Calif., attorney pleaded "will dispose of pending or potential charges based on matters presently known to this office."

The letter also disclosed that Kalmbach has promised to cooperate with the prosecutors, that he may testify at future Watergate trials and that he may be named later as an unindicted co-conspirator.

Kalmbach told the Senate Watergate Committee last summer that he raised $220,000 which then was passed to the defendants in the original Watergate break-in case.

He said he raised the money to pay the legal expenses and to support the families of the defendants "to discharge what I assumed to be a moral obligation."

Kalmbach said he undertook the assignment at the request of then-White House counsel John W. Dean III, who called him on June 28, 11 days after the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters at the Watergate office-apartment complex.

The charge filed by the prosecutor's office today said that the conduit political committee, formed on or about March 1, 1970, was set up at the instigation of three members of the White House staff. They were not identified.

Kalmbach solicited $2.8 million in the form of pledges from contributors who subsequently were contacted and told which Republican candidates should be sent the money.

The charges said an additional $1.1 million was received from an individual, who was not identified.

The money went to Republican candidates in 19 states, it said.

Several former high-ranking Nixon administration officials have been identified as targets of other grand-jury investigations expected to bear indictments this week.

Jaworski had said in December indictments should be returned by the end of February. He has several times since repeated that deadline.

Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, already on trial in New York on charges stemming from a secret $200,000 contribution to the President's re-election campaign, is believed to be a central figure in the Watergate cover-up investigation.

Mitchell told the Senate Watergate committee last July that he was aware that a Nixon campaign official planned to lie to a grand jury.

John J. Wilson, attorney for former White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, said he would not be surprised if his clients were indicted.

Another possible target was Charles W. Colson, former White House special counsel and political troubleshooter, who was excused from testifying before the Watergate committee last fall on the grounds he believed he would be indicted.

Busy Gettysburg may be 'most visited' battlefield

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — The Civil War purist who comes here seeking vibrations must compromise between the nation's greatest military shrine and a tourist attraction geared to amuse those with thin historic interest.

There are about 20 museums, many unrelated to the Civil War. On busy days the visitor who comes to imagine how it was in July, 1863, must contend with sight-seeing helicopters, horn-blowing buses, and camper-trailers at the high watermark of Pickett's charge.

In the National Park Service visitor center there is a painted circular-panorama of the battle. "We are about to witness a vision of the past," says the narrator. Fifes tootle a march, and purple and pink lighting dramatizes the ebb and flow of the battle.

Gettysburg is probably the most visited battlefield in the world — four and one-half million annually — and before 1980 it's projected to be 10 million. It's also the most memorialized field of conflict. There are more than 800 plaques, statues, and little edifices of remembrances. At dusk neighboring silhouettes seem to gather in illusory conversation. In the bushes, stone faces with walrus moustaches play peekaboo.

Even a Union Army dog is memorialized. Some memorials are grotesque little temples. The grave markers in the cemetery look like rows of worn-out dice on the lawns. One reads, "George Nixon Co. B Regt. 73." He was an ancestor of President Nixon, killed fighting with the Ohio infantry.

Statues are still being installed. One of the most recent in the Confederate lines is a Donald DeLue statue costing $85,000 and honoring Louisiana soldiers.

Under some trees where Pickett's charge began, sculptures of giant rebels spring heroically toward the high watermark of the Confederate advance which is across a plowed field. In the distance the statue of Gen. George Meade, the Union commander, appears to be rallying a battalion of tourists looking at the battlefield from the northern lines.

The trees at the high watermark are reputed to be the same ones around which the two armies fought.

Many visitors ask to see particular parts of the battlefield where their ancestors fought. By interesting coincidence the ranger who showed me around, Bill Hubbard, a Virginian, had a rebel ancestor captured at Pickett's charge. He had the same name.

One of the favorite Civil War personalities of the rangers at Gettysburg is Union Gen. Daniel E. Sickles.

Hubbard, who has since been transferred to Fort Sumter, carried a picture in his breast pocket of Sickles' leg, amputated after a wound and preserved in an Army medical museum in Washington.

"Gen. Sickles had a peculiar sense of humor — he told doctors he wanted the leg pickled so he could show it to his friends," said Hubbard when describing a former Union strongpoint, Little Round Top. From there can be seen Devil's Den, the Peach Orchard and wheat field, where Sickles' men were jumped by "all the Confederates in the world," as Hubbard put it.

Some Civil War buffs say Sickles didn't have much on the military ball, or he would have stayed up in the rocks on Little Round Top, firing down on the rebels. They point out that every kid who ever visited Gettysburg knows it's the nearest place on the battlefield to play "Civil War."

But the rangers at Gettysburg have a soft spot for the general. "You could say we owe our jobs to him — he brought a bill before Congress that started this park," one ranger said. There is a marker on the spot where Sickles was wounded. He actually hobbled to the place after the war to tell them where to put the stone.

The National Park Service, the town of Gettysburg and surrounding Cumberland Township are already cooperating with plans for "controlled development" of the historic area.

A 2,000-car capacity parking lot is envisioned near the battlefield.

A large tour center is projected, plus satellite centers around the battlefield area, and an "environmental study program" for children probing man's effects on the Gettysburg area from earliest times.

Rev. French Dies Saturday; Funeral To Be On Wednesday

Rev. Hillman Brown French, 1319 Robertson Drive, Murray, died Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was 54 years of age and had been suffering from a heart condition.

The deceased attended Bethel College, McKenzie, Tenn., and served as a Methodist minister for 25 years before retiring due to ill health. He was a veteran of World War II. Born December 4, 1919, in Henry County, Tenn., he was the son of the late Lonnie French and Tizzie Campbell French.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Mary Lamona Edwards French, three daughters, Mrs. Judy Bobbitt, Miss Pamela French, and Cynthia Kay French, all of Murray; two sons, Michael French of Murray and Ricky French who is serving with the U.S. Marines in Okinawa; four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at two p.m. at the Manleyville United Methodist Church in Henry County, Tenn., with Rev. L. A. Smithmier and Rev. Jerry Hendly officiating. Pallbearers will be George Key, Larry McCarty, Dale Sykes, Noel Edwards, Lucian Smith, and Ben Allen. Burial will be in the Manleyville Cemetery.

Friends may call at the McEvoy Funeral Home, Paris, Tenn., until the funeral hour.

W. B. Wilson Dies At Local Hospital; Rites Held Sunday

W. B. (Bill) Wilson, a retired farmer of Sedalia, Route 1, died at 11:20 p.m. Friday at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was 61 years of age.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Thelma Boyd Wilson, a son, Ronnie Wilson, of Sedalia, Route 1, and two daughters, Mrs. Gilliam Guthrie, Vienna, Ill., and Mrs. Ray Hendon, Sedalia.

He also leaves two brothers, Ernest Wilson, Mayfield, Route 3, and Eulice Wilson, Detroit, and four sisters, Mrs. Alfred Pittman, Mayfield; Mrs. Christine Dick, Mrs. Howard Cobb and Mrs. Rube Ward, all of Sedalia. Another sister, Mrs. Johnny Webb, is deceased.

Also surviving are four grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were conducted at two p.m. Sunday at the Byrn Funeral Chapel, Mayfield, with Rev. Glenn Terry and Rev. Thomas Grubbs officiating.

Burial was in the Baptist Cemetery at Lynnville and nephews served as pallbearers.

Poll Shows GOP Strength At Low Level

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup poll shows Republican strength for this fall's congressional elections at the lowest level in the 38 years the Gallup organization has been taking such surveys.

The polling organization asked a total of 3,183 registered voters in two national surveys in January which party they would rather see win the congressional election in their home districts.

The Democratic party enjoys a 2-1 lead, 58 per cent to 29 per cent, with 13 per cent undecided. A Gallup spokesman said the results indicate the GOP would suffer a loss far greater than the average 29-seat loss suffered by the President's party in off-year elections in this century.

The pollsters said the national nature of the survey makes it impossible to determine how many House seats each party might occupy after the next election. But they said the margin could be wider than the 295 to 140 majority the Democrats held after the landslide victory of Lyndon B. Johnson in 1964.

The Gallup organization pointed out that previous surveys have shown the Republican share of the vote increases as voter turnout decreases, which it often does in off-year elections.

Dr. Richard Hutson Speaker For Nurses

The Community Continuing Nursing Education meeting, sponsored by the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, will be held Tuesday, February 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the Hospital Conference Room.

Dr. Richard Hutson is associated with the Houston-McDevitt Clinic, and will be speaking on "Headaches." All community and hospital nurses are invited to attend, a hospital spokesman said.

LUNCHEON MEET
The ladies day luncheon at the Murray Country Club has been cancelled for Wednesday, February 27, due to the illness of the hostesses.

Alumni Council Endorses Vet School At MSU

The proposed establishment of a school of veterinary medicine at Murray State University has been strongly endorsed in a resolution passed Feb. 16 by the 29-member Alumni Association Council.

With reference to Kentucky Senate Bill 69, sponsored by State Senator Pat McCuiston (D-Pembroke), a 1939 graduate of Murray State and 1974 chairman of the association's Century Club, the Council, which represents more than 20,000 alumni, strongly urged the Kentucky General Assembly to pass the bill and Gov. Wendell H. Ford to sign it.

The resolution, signed by former State Senator William Logan, Madisonville, the alumni president, and James H. Johnson, assistant superintendent of schools at Owensboro, the vice-president, the resolution re-emphasized the need for a school of veterinary medicine in Kentucky.

Forty-four counties in the state have no veterinarians living within their boundaries, and at least 275 additional veterinarians will be needed in the next six years to fill needs, the document pointed out.

In addition, the resolution stressed that many of Kentucky's qualified students are unable to be admitted to out-of-state schools of veterinary medicine.

Panel Program For Ministry Luncheon

"Ethical Problems in the Delivery of Health Care" will be the subject discussed by a special panel at the United Campus Ministry luncheon this Wednesday.

Among the panelists of health professionals will be Stuart Poston, Administrator of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, Dr. Edith Hood, the University Physician, and Dr. Hal Houston, Surgeon at the Houston-McDevitt Clinic.

Previous luncheon presentations by Dr. Beulah Miller, Associate Professor of Nursing Education and Dr. Clegg Austin, local Pediatrician, have focused on the moral issues involved in health care delivery.

The luncheons are open to all members of the university community and the public. For information or reservations, call 753-3531.

Spanish Officials Keep Up Search For Balloonist

EL AAJUN, Spanish Sahara (AP) — Spanish military officials kept up the search today for American balloonist Thomas Gatch Jr. despite diminished hopes of success.

After extensive searches by airplanes and helicopters Saturday and Sunday, officers in this Spanish territory in Africa reported no trace of Gatch or the pressurized gondola that took him on a try for the first Atlantic crossing by balloon.

An army officer said military officials have little hope of finding Gatch or his gondola, "but we will continue searching for him all Monday."

Contact with Gatch, a 48-year-old bachelor, was lost Wednesday, but Spanish news agency reports in Washington said the Spanish freighter "Meridian" had sighted the gondola at an altitude of about 1,000 feet near the coast of the Moroccan-Spanish Sahara border last Thursday.

Also U.S. weather experts predicted Gatch's last known course would put him into the Spanish Sahara or perhaps south Morocco.

Helicopters and planes based here have searched the 300-mile Moroccan-Spanish Sahara frontier without a sign of the balloonist.

All army and police posts in the Spanish Sahara were also alerted for Gatch. They broadcast on the same frequency that Gatch was using but reported no word of him.

Gatch left Harrisburg, Pa., eight days ago in a bid to become the first person in history to cross the Atlantic Ocean by balloon.

Skip Hamra, a junior from Murray and Mike Stallings, a sophomore from Owensboro, placed first in duo dramatics at the Magnolia Speech Tournament last weekend in Columbus, Miss., qualifying them for the National Forensic Association's Individual Events Tournament to be held April 19-21 in Plattsburg, N.Y.

MSU Forensic Team Does Well At Magnolia Tourney

Murray State University proved to be one of the best forensic teams at the Magnolia Speech Tournament held last weekend in Columbus, Miss., when it missed the coveted sweepstakes trophy by only five points and qualified both of its duo dramatic interpretation teams for the nationals.

The Racer debate team also advanced to the semi-finals before losing to Western Kentucky.

The Racer duo dramatic team composed of Mike Stallings, Owensboro, and Skip Hamra, Murray, took first place honors while their teammates Cindy Sexton, St. Louis, and Brad Holbrook, Lexington, finished second. Each qualified for the nationals, making the second straight year that Murray has had entries in the prestigious tournament.

Jan Hammond, who is now a graduate student at Northwestern University, was Murray's entry last year. She placed fifth in the interpretation of poetry.

Polly Zanetta and Dr. Jerry Mayes, both coaches, for the forensic teams, agreed that competition was rough. "The toughest event at the tournament was dramatic duo," Dr. Mayes said. "We weren't expecting it to be that rough but overall I'll have to say that as a forensic unit we made our best showing of the year."

Murray debaters Keith Russell, Belleville, Ill., and Steve Darnall, Cadiz, competed against 28 other schools and were the only junior varsity team to reach the semi-finals. They had wins over Southeast Missouri, Louisiana Tech, Pearl River College in New Orleans.

Gatch were down. Temperatures are about 40 degrees Fahrenheit at night and 80 in the daytime.

Sirocco winds capable of burying a truck under the sand in minutes are not due to begin for about two weeks.

Military officials speculated Gatch could have fallen into the sea or, perhaps, in the vast unpopulated stretches of north-west Africa.

Arriachment Scheduled In Chicken Fights

CENTRAL CITY, Ky. (AP) — Arriachment was scheduled in Muhlenberg County Court today for 26 persons charged in a raid by state and county officers at a chicken fight Saturday night.

State Police said charges range from setting up and operating a chicken fight to chicken fighting, gambling and operating a concession stand without a license. All those charged were free on bond.

Detective Ray Albro said about 12 state troopers and detectives and sheriff's officers conducted the raid at the old Batsel Packing House plant on the Old Stringtown Road. He said about 200 persons were present when officers converged on the area.

Albro said the raid stemmed from an investigation that has been underway for several weeks and indicated more arrests may be forthcoming.

Several trailers and spurs were confiscated.

Albro said officers moved in on a sign from an undercover officer who carried a transmitter to enable officers outside the area to record the proceedings.

Environmental Bills Expected To Go To Senate Floor This Week

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Two environmental bills which could have an effect on strip-mine operations in Kentucky will go before the Senate this week.

Both measures were reported favorably out of the Committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources but could face a stiff test on the Senate floor.

SB 82, which barely squeaked out of committee, would give a citizen the right to sue an agency or an industry to protect the environment.

The measure was amended in committee to safeguard potential defendants and to guard against frivolous suits.

The bill would require plaintiffs filing such a suit to post a $2,000 bond to cover legal costs and for the losing party in such cases to bear court costs if the interests of justice require it.

An amendment will be filed on the Senate floor that would severely limit the bill's effectiveness; it would require a plaintiff to reside in the circuit court district in which he is filing suit.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Lacey Smith, D-Louisville, said the original intent of the bill was to give every Kentuckian the privilege to go into court and ask for a judgment on whether agencies charged with protecting the environment are doing their job.

Under present Kentucky statute for an individual or group to have standing in court, the environmental problem must affect him personally—either he must be a contiguous landowner or his air or drinking water must be affected.

Smith said the floor amendment requiring residency in the circuit court district would make the bill nearly worthless.

He said sponsors of that amendment had visions of some "long-haired immigrant hippie-environmentalist" coming into a local community to disrupt industry.

Smith said the bill had enough safeguards built in to make a potential plaintiff pick his target carefully because if he lost the case it could cost him thousands of dollars. One provision of the bill would require a plaintiff to post bond for the potential losses of the defendant if the court ordered a preliminary injunction but later the case was thrown out.

If passed by the Senate, the bill will go to the House. Similar legislation was approved by the Senate in the last session but failed in the House.

The Senate will also consider

House Bill 249 which would raise the bond requirement for strip-mined land. It was passed 83-12 in the House.

Four amendments have been attached to the bill, including one which would make the amount of bond even higher.

As passed by the House the measure would have required strip-mine operators to post bond of from $500 per acre of land to $1,500, with a minimum bond of $5,000. Current law requires a bond of $200 to $1,000, with a minimum of $2,000.

One Senate amendment would raise the bond amounts to $900 to $2,000. The bonds are required to cover the cost of strip-mine reclamation. In the event that a miner fails to reclaim the land he must forfeit his bond.

clinician and lecturer throughout the country.

A well-known author, his articles appear frequently in the professional choral journals. With degrees in performance from Colorado State University, the University of Oregon, and the University of Southern California, Dr. Beachy also has broad experience as a performer in opera and oratorio.

Rehearsal accompanist for the chorus is Mrs. Earl Bell of Harla. A group of Louisville area musicians directed by Professor Peter McHugh of the University of Louisville will accompany the chorus in performance. The chorus will perform for the final session of the Kentucky Music Educators' Convention.

Additional Fuel Scheduled For Southeast States

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Federal energy officials revealed Sunday night that seven of eight Southeastern states—all but Georgia—will be getting additional fuel for the month of March.

Regional energy administrator Kenneth L. Dupuy told a meeting of state officials and oil corporation executives here that he received word of the extra allocations in a telegram from Washington the night before.

Florida is to receive an extra 29.48 million gallons, the largest extra allocation in the region, the third largest in the nation.

Kentucky is to get 10.40 million gallons; Alabama, 10.78; Mississippi, 8.00; North Carolina 16.85; South Carolina, 9.09, and Tennessee, 15.26.

Georgia received an extra 5 per cent allocation in February. The state's energy chief, Mike McGuinn, said he thinks the state can "squeak through" March without an additional allocation.

Rare etchings were best '73 investment

Pick's "World Currency Report" estimates that 1973 world auction levels for choice etchings stood 400 per cent above 1972 prices making them the most profitable field for speculative investors.

Etchings are followed by surrealist art, drawings and pastels, rare stamps, clocks and watches and antimony.

Dr. Keller Awarded 10-Week Exchange To The Soviet Union

Dr. Howard H. Keller, an associate professor in the Department of Foreign Languages at Murray State University, has been awarded a 10-week summer exchange to the Soviet Union by the American Council of Learned Societies.

This will be Dr. Keller's second consecutive summer to study in Russia. Last year he was in Moscow and Leningrad on a two-month grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities doing research work on the changing Soviet attitudes toward Russian Authors.

Although he managed to meet and speak with several Russian writers, a high point of his 1973 trip was a visit with Alexander Pasternak, a brother of the late Nobel Prize Winner Boris Pasternak, who wrote "Dr. Zhivago."

This year, he will be one of a group of American professors of Russian who will study at Moscow State University. A comparable group of Russian professors of English will visit the United States for study at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Both the U.S. State Department and the Soviet Ministry of Higher Education will conduct the visiting professors on study tours inside the host country, Dr. Keller said, emphasizing that the opportunity to see Soviet regional universities first-hand is a valuable experience. Russian universities not normally are accessible to foreigners.

On Dr. Keller's Russian itinerary also will include a visit to a new system of self-contained research communities called "academic villages" near Akademgorodok. These research enclaves, he pointed out, are made up of scientists and professors and are located near the larger cities of central Russia and Siberia.

The ACLS exchange program is part of the expanded cultural relations agreement signed in June, 1972, by President Nixon and Russian Party Leader Leonid Brezhnev. "The dramatic surge in trade with Eastern Europe has led to greatly increased interest in the study of the Russian language in American colleges," he said.

A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., Keller joined the Murray State faculty in 1970. He received his undergraduate degree at Fordham University and his doctorate at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C., in 1967.

ALMOST FINISHED—The last concrete for the Canadian National Tower has been poured, putting it at the 1,464-foot level. All that remains to be done is the restaurant and communications mast to put it at a total height of 1,085 feet. It will be the world's tallest free standing structure.
