Imes Tries to Revive Vet School Measure

FRANKFORT, KY. (AP)—Rep. Kenneth Imes of Murray is attempting to keep alive the enthusiasm for a sidelined bill that would establish a school of veterinary medicine at Murray State University.

Imes today was passing around copies of a portion of the federal Public Health Service Act, as well as data on construction and operating costs associated with two vet schools located in the South. His purpose he said, was to show that a vet school potentially could be far less expensive to the state than many may imagine.

He said his information points out that the state could build a school and sink as small a sum as $3.1 million of its own funds into the project.

The second-term Democrat had copies of what he said were the actual bid and cost figures of a new vet school under construction at Baton Rouge, La. (Louisiana State University), designed to house an entering class of 80 students. He also had copies of the fiscal 1972-73 operating budget of the University of Georgia vet school.

Imes' figures put the cost of construction of the LSU facility exclusive of architect's fee, soil and site surveys, insurance and inspection at $15,845,000. He cited an amendment to the health service act that permits up to 80 per cent federal fund input into vet school construction costs.

Ideally, he said, should Kentucky construct an identical (in cost) school and receive full federal participation in building costs, the state's share would be $3,169,000. The figures which have been mentioned in debate on the vet school bill range from $25-$30 million.

Imes said today he felt if there was even a possibility that Kentucky could receive 80 per cent federal funding for school construction, the legislature should take a new look at SB 69.

Senate Sends No-Fault Bill To Judiciary Committee For Study

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The Senate voted Thursday to send a no-fault auto insurance bill to the judiciary committee for further study — a move considered the kiss of death this late in the session.

The bill, SB 102, had been reported favorably out of the Senate Banking and Insurance Committee and was posted for passage in the Senate Friday.

The 19-17 vote to recommit the bill came on a motion by Sen. Don Johnson, R-Newport, who said it would be impossible for the Senate to consider the bill in its present form.

He said a total of 26 amendments would have to be discussed and voted on and suggested the judiciary committee could straighten the bill out.

That committee is traditionally a graveyard for no-fault legislation because it is dominated by lawyers. Under the Kentucky no-fault bill a motorist would have to waive his right to sue in certain circumstances.

One of the bill's sponsors, Sen. Joe Graves, R-Lexington, told the Senate the bill is one of the more important of the session and deserves a chance to be considered.

"A vote to send this to committee is a vote to strip it of its no-fault qualities," he said. "I don't think it's fair for the lawyers in this Senate to hold the bill back from a vote," said Sen. Joe Stacy, D-West Liberty, another sponsor. "This is simply an effort of people who have a selfish interest to ruin it."

Senators from both parties agreed the measure should be sent to the floor for consideration.

Some members of the judiciary committee spoke in favor of recommitting the bill and the majority of those voting to recommit the bill are lawyers.

Sen. Lacey Smith, D-Louisville, said "no harm would be done if we took a look at this in judiciary ... I would give my assurance that we would promptly report the bill out."

Sen. Kelsey Friend D—Pikeville, said he had about 18 amendments to file, but promised, "I will vote to bring the bill out."

Sen. Tom Easterly, D-Frankfort, acting chairman of the committee, said it could look the bill over carefully but that "no bill has been more exhaustively studied than no-fault insurance."

"I don't think we ought to make a political football out of it," Easterly announced a special meeting of the committee would be held at noon Monday to consider the bill.

Johnson, who sponsored the motion to recommit the bill, said he wanted to see some of the original provisions restored to it, including a mandatory 15 per cent rate reduction which the bill's sponsors feel is unreasonable. Johnson said he doubted the committee would report the bill Monday.

Sen. Mike Moloney, D-Lexington, said he wants to see the administrative costs of instituting a no fault plan lessened and would like to see the threshold removed from the bill. The threshold is the limit under which a person is reimbursed by his own insurance company but waives the right to sue.

Local DECA Members To Attend Meeting

Five members of the Murray State University chapter of the Distributive Education Clubs of America will attend the State DECA Career Development Conference in Louisville March 8-10 to assist with activities.

They are: JoAnne Roberts, Murray junior; Beverly McKinley, Belleville, Ill.; McKinley, Paul; Rottgering, Paducah senior; Gail Hendon, Murray graduate student; and Sandra Grayson, Greenville graduate student.

Accompanying the students to the conference will be Dr. Albert Chapman, professor of business education and chapter adviser on the campus.

Dr. Chapman said the students attending from Murray State will assist with registration, competitive events, and elections, and conduct a pilot project for DECA dealing with the petroleum industry.

Murray State has the only collegiate chapter of DECA in Kentucky.

Council Votes To Join With County On Ryan Property

After months of controversy, it now appears that the City-County park will become a reality.

The Murray City Council voted 8-4 in favor of the Ryan property at a special meeting Thursday. Following the split vote, all 12 councilmen voted to join with the County Fiscal Court in a 50-50 joint effort to purchase and develop the Ryan property, located north of Chestnut Street.

After much discussion, in which several motions were made and withdrawn, it was finally decided that each councilman would vote for his preferred location for the park. Voting for the Brandon-Flora property, located south of Glendale Road, were Councilmen Paul Mansfield, Fred Workmen, W.R. Furches, and Rex Alexander.

Also voted on was an amendment to a motion by Jo Crass that the city advise the Fiscal Court that the council would join them in the 50-50 purchase and development of the Ryan property. The amendment, as proposed by Councilman Melvin Henley, was that the cooperation of the city in the development of the property be contingent that all present City parks be included in the master plan of development. That passed by a narrow 7-5 margin.

After voting on the amendment, the original motion, to advise the Fiscal Court that the City will join in the development of the park, passed unanimously.

The council narrowly averted further delay in choosing a park site when Councilman Paul Mansfield expressed a desire to wait until a controversy over the Brandon-Flora property could be resolved. The problem involved TVA and REA power lines which crossed the property. A federal grant applied for by the city and county to develop the park specifies that no power lines may cross the property.

Mansfield wanted to delay the vote until it could be determined whether the power lines could be moved or not. However, the council decided to vote on each councilman's choice of sites, and if the majority wanted the Brandon-Flora site, then investigate the possible moving of the lines.

The development and operation of the park will come under the supervision of a city-county board, with advisors and planners to be hired to assist in the planning of the recreational facility.

Bill Offered To Appoint Local Property Valuation Administrators

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—A bill to make the post of property valuation administrator appointive by the state instead of elective locally has been offered by Rep. Joe Clarke, D-Danville.

Clarke, chairman of the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee, proposed December 1977 as the effective final date of the switchover.

Property valuation administrators used to be known as tax assessors. They are supposed to check property values annually and compile total assessments.

The inherent dilemma long has concerned the State Revenue Department and legislative fiscal experts. The administrator must depend on the goodwill of voters to get elected every four years and yet, under revenue department directive, also must assess property at 100 per cent of cash value, thereby angering many voters.

Clarke's measure, HB 809, apparently seeks to resolve the problem by taking the administrator out of politics altogether.

The list of state holidays, shortened a few years ago, would get an addition under HB 808 introduced Thursday by Rep. David Van Horn, D-Lexington.

His bill would designate May 8 as Harry S. Truman Day in honor of the late president.

Twin measures in the House and Senate establishing another holiday are well along the road toward passage. Originally they would have declared a state holiday for the late Martin Luther King Jr., but have been amended to become a civil rights day in general.

Rep. Ray Overstreet, R-Liberty, an outspoken foe of strip mining, introduced HB 810 to tax all mineral deposits at 10 per cent of their assessed value.

This is not to be confused with the current state severance tax of 4 per cent on extraction of minerals.

Overstreet's version would return 90 per cent of all revenue from the tax to the counties where it originated.

SB 316 sponsored by Sen. Tom Ward, D-Versailles, would regulate the storage and disposal of oil, gas and salt water. It apparently is designed to keep such minerals from polluting surface or underground soil or water.

Owners and operators of various storage facilities — ranging from refineries to truck transport — would be required to notify authorities of any condition that might cause leakage.

Sen. Daisy Thaler, D-Louisville, introduced SB 319 to increase the interest rate a credit union could charge for loans.

Currently the ceiling is 1 per cent per month on the unpaid balance. Mrs. Thaler's measure would allow a 1.5 per cent limit.

The proposal bans anyone from conducting or operating a collection service without obtaining a license.

Principals for the junior high schools in Marshall County have been named by the Marshall County Board of Education.

Named as principals are: Benton Junior High, Jack Alexander, the present assistant principal at North Marshall High School; South Marshall Junior High, Bobby Norsworthy, now the principal at Jonathan Elementary School; North Marshall Junior High, Ray Solomon, present principal at Calvert City Elementary School.

Unemployment Rate Holds Steady, 5.2

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's unemployment rate held steady at 5.2 per cent of the work force in February despite the energy crisis, the government said today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics, reporting the surprise statistic, said total employment remained unchanged at 90.5 million while the number of people out of work held at 4.7 million.

Specialists in the bureau could offer no reason for the sudden halt in unemployment, which has risen from 4.6 per cent of the work force since last October, primarily because of job layoffs caused by the energy crisis.

The bureau estimated that from November through February between 125,000 and 200,000 jobs were lost directly because of fuel shortages.

One reason for the apparent strength of employment in February was shown in a separate survey of industry employment, showing that nonfarm payroll jobs posted a net increase of 175,000 last month.

This survey showed that even though 151,000 people were laid off in February in the manufacturing industry, mainly because of the energy crisis, another 218,000 found jobs in service producing industries and 101,000 in the construction industry.

The unemployment rate had been expected to go up again as the economy continued an apparent slowdown and the Arab oil embargo cut into industry production.

One bureau official said that one possible explanation is the margin of error built into the monthly statistics. He said that perhaps the January rise was overstated or the February report understated.

Film Making, Printmaking To Be Subjects Of Workshops Here

Workshops in film making and printmaking, the first in a series of seven special programs to be offered in March and April, will be held on the campus of Murray State University next week.

Co-sponsored by the Kentucky Arts Commission and Murray State, the series opens with the film making workshop March 13-14 followed by the printmaking workshop March 15-16. The remainder of the workshops, lectures and special programs in the series will be held in April.

Supported by a grant of $3,000 from the Kentucky Arts Commission and a matching amount from the university, each session in the series is free to participants and will be taught by professional artists and teachers of widespread recognition.

Jerry DeSchepper, a former faculty member at Murray State and now a doctoral student at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, will conduct the film making workshop, and Dan Kiacz of the University of Oklahoma faculty will be the instructor for the workshop on print making techniques.

Students will meet from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on both days of each workshop, with breaks for meals. Each of the two workshops will be limited to 25 participants with advance reservations to be made on a first-come, first-served basis.

To make reservations to attend the workshops, interested persons should call the art department at Murray State University 762-3784. Richard Jackson and Karen Boyd of the art department faculty are co-directors of the series.

DeSchepper, a native of Garrettsville, S.D., who was on the faculty at Murray State for six years, is working toward Ph.D. degree in comparative arts at Ohio University. He earned the B.F.A. degree at State University of South Dakota, Vermillion, S.D. (See Workshop, Page 12)

The April "Pap" clinic is scheduled for Monday, April 1, and appointment to attend this clinic can be made by calling 753-3381.

If you have never had a "Pap" test or haven't had one in the last two or three years, you are urged to call for your appointment, Cooper said.

Final Verdict Not Yet In On Daylight Savings Time Merits

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal energy officials say they think year-around Daylight Saving Time is helping to save some fuel in the energy crisis, but the final verdict is not yet in.

Energy chief William E. Simon estimated last January that the nation would save some 150,000 barrels of oil daily during the winter months because of the resumption of Daylight Saving Time Jan. 6.

Simon's experts still have no reliable measurement of the fuel-saving effects of daylight saving time but they say it does help. They also say it does not appear to have caused any increase in predawn traffic fatalities.

Douglas C. Bauer, deputy assistant director of energy conservation in the Federal Energy Office, said in an interview that electric power generation appeared to be, on average, about 3 per cent lower than usual during the last two weeks, but it was not clear how much of that saving was due to DST and how much was due to mild weather.

There were scattered reports from individual power companies, however, that the time change was doing what it was supposed to do.

Bauer explained that the main purpose of restoring Daylight Saving Time during the winter was to spread demand for electricity more evenly throughout the day.

Bauer said some peak-shifting has been reported since daylight saving returned, by Potomac Electric Power Co., Florida Power and Light, Consolidated Edison Co., Wisconsin Power and Light, and Southern California Edison Co.

Meanwhile, the National Safety Council has reported that the change back to DST "has had little or no effect on the number of early morning fatalities among school-age children."

A few morning traffic deaths were publicized after DST took effect, but the council said it had surveyed all 50 states and the District of Columbia last January and found no significant increase compared can't increase with January, 1973.

The Transportation Department, reporting on total traffic deaths among pedestrians and bicycle riders, actually found a decrease last January from January 1973.

James Sills Injured, Motorcycle Crash

James L. Sills, Route Five, was critically injured in a motorcycle accident this morning on the Pottersville Road.

Sheriff's officers, who investigated the accident, said that Sills evidently lost control of the bike while going west.

Sills was taken to the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, but a report of his condition was not available at presstime.

For and about Women

Dear Abby

Get off the hook, both of you will feel better

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I was really surprised when Joyce asked me to be maid of honor for her wedding. We've been classmates for years, but go with different kids. I can't understand why she chose me. She has many much closer friends. I accepted because I didn't know how to refuse, but now I'm sorry, and I'd like to get out of it.

I've already paid Joyce's mom for the dress, but it hasn't been altered. My mom and I gave a shower for Joyce. We invited her mom, sisters, aunts and friends, and they all acted like they were slumming. They openly snubbed my mom. I had a lump in my throat the whole time.

My family says if I am in the wedding party they will go to the church only to see me, but not to the reception. My dad says he won't go at all. They didn't invite my steady boy friend to be my escort, so I won't have anybody to talk to at the reception. At the last minute, should I say I have an illness in the family, and can't go? Or just tell them the truth?

DILEMMA D.

DEAR DILEMMA: Don't lie. Tell your friend that you have reconsidered and would like out. From what you say, she'll be as glad to get off the hook as you will.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my 70s and I need some advice. I have four daughters, and if I asked them, I'd get four different answers.

A few months ago I saw in the obituary column where the wife of an old boy friend of mine died, so I waited for what I thought was a reasonable length of time and then I wrote him a note and gave him my phone number and said it would be nice to talk to him some time.

He called me up and we talked for a long time. In the conversation he said he'd like to see me again, but he hoped I wouldn't expect any "kid stuff" in the love-making department. I rather got the idea that he was trying to tell me that he was too old for that sort of thing. Well, I'm not, and if that is what he meant I don't want to waste my time with him as I don't have a whole lot of time left. How can I find out without being too blunt?

OLD BUT NOT TOO OLD

DEAR OLD: I think he was trying to tell you that as far as he was concerned, his love-making days were behind him. Whether they are anybody's guess, but if he thinks they are, they are.

DEAR ABBY: With regard to your reference to the "law" requiring the presence of a nurse during a gynecological examination: An Irish doctor attributed it to the conceit of American women. I am a gynecologist who has practiced for 40 years, and I have always had a nurse present during examinations, but to my knowledge no law exists which requires it.

Physicians in other countries, not being fair game for any and all "suit happy" patients, may have a hard time understanding this necessary precaution. My colleagues in the U. S. A. do. And they had better!

H. H. S. (M. D.)

DEAR M.D.: As I understand it, there is no such "law"—it's just a common practice among physicians. And a wise one, for obvious reasons.

February 19, 1974: In a 379 mile highway test through Arizona and California, supervised by General Environmental Corporation, a Comet and a Capri with standard engines and transmissions delivered the kind of gas mileage you'd like to get. Each car was broken in the equivalent of 6,000 miles and driven by non-professional drivers, never exceeding 50 mph. You yourself might actually average less, or for that matter, more! Because mileage varies according to maintenance, equipment, total weight, driving habits and road conditions. And no two drivers, or even cars, are exactly the same. Our Greatest Resource

In this age of stiff competition between nations, it doesn't make sense to waste effort and resources. When thinking of resources, most people conjure up visions of oil wells, forests, rivers, farmland, mineral deposits and the like.

This overlooks the fact that the most valuable resource which any nation has is the intelligence and ingenuity of its citizens, combined with the ability of its economic system to produce the goods and services that people need.

It is hardly advantageous to have trees in a forest unless someone can make boards out of them to build homes. Oil in the ground, unless there is some way to transform it into gasoline at the local service station pump, is of little use.

U.S.-style private enterprise working with the incentives, as well as the disciplines of the free market, is the greatest device ever created when it comes to providing jobs and turning out things people need to live reasonably comfortable and pleasant lives in the midst of relatively hostile natural surroundings. It is the greatest resource our nation has. We should take care of it.

Wrong Patient

As was prophesied by opponents of gun control laws that would prohibit law-abiding citizens from owning firearms, criminals can always find a gun to commit a crime. Following passage of the 1968 gun-control act, theft of firearms has skyrocketed. Even the U. S. Army has lost about 4,000 guns in major thefts since 1968. In fact, since 1968, gun stealing has taken on the proportions of big business.

Writes Mr. William M. Bulkeley in The Wall Street Journal, "In the aftermath of tightening gun control, gun stealing has become a natural underworld business with ready markets and high profits, law enforcement officials say. Stolen guns now often sell at higher prices than new guns because they can't be traced to the new owner, federal undercover agents say. And numerous burglary and fencing rings specializing in guns have been formed to exploit the new high-profit market, they say. Bureau of Alcohol agents in St. Louis last May uncovered a big, well-organized, three-state ring after buying 18 guns that had been reported stolen. 'It's a very profitable business, and it's going to get more profitable as the law gets tougher,' says Paul J. Lyon of the New Orleans office of the federal agency.

Opponents of antigun legislation have said all along that taking guns away from the lawabiding public in an attempt to curb crime leaves the field of gun possession wide open to criminals who have no intention of obeying the law anyway. The only way to curb criminals is to punish criminals. As many authorities have advocated, crimes committed with firearms should carry heavy mandatory penalties. Disarming those who respect the law is like a doctor trying to cure a patient by pouring the medicine down the next door neighbor's throat.

Laws Go Against Bible

Dear Editor:

There are two laws trying to be passed in Frankfort that are contrary to the law of the Bible. The reason I say this is making abortion legal, to me, is murder and it is taking a life that God has reason for being born and we have no understanding what it is. There is a purpose for everyone in the world, though, the Bible says so.

The women and equal rights. Do they realize what they are saying. In 1 Peter it says to be subject unto your Master? Wives likewise be subject to your husband. I ask that young middle and elders read God's order for women and men. It is in 1 Peter in the New Testament.

I am a very happily married woman, mother of eight children. I enjoy being a woman and I don't want to be equal to my husband or any man. It is not the order that God has for woman.

Let's start letting our Bibles be our guideline for everything we do and say as it has the answer to all things.

Let's get word to Frankfort to stop this quickly.

God bless you,
Carol Turley

Littering Should Be Stopped

Dear Editor:

It is with tired, aching muscles that I write this but I felt everyone along Rt. 280 must have looked at the roadside Tuesday morning, March 5, with pleasure. Approximately 25 people volunteered Saturday and Monday to pick up garbage along Rt. 280 from Lakeway Shores to Rt. 94—a distance of some 8 miles.

I was a hard job and everyone from the four-year-old to the Senior Citizen really worked. Highway Department trucks hauled many truckloads of garbage sacks filled to the brim with cans, bottles, paper, and other peoples' tossed out filled garbage sacks.

What can be done? Surely something should be done.

First, can we possible appeal to the individual anymore? Western Kentucky is one of the most beautiful areas anywhere.

People here are warm, friendly and helpful. Why are there a few who throw their bottles, soft drink and beer cans out along the roadside everytime they empty one?

Is it too much to ask everyone to keep cans and bottles in their cars or trucks until they reach a garbage can?

Is it too much to ask that everyone have their garbage hauled to the landfill or take it themselves?

Is it possible that Highway Departments, state and county, don't have the money to provide garbage containers like T.V.A. has and place them in easily accessible places? These are questions we are asking as new citizens of West Kentucky. We love it here and want to do our part to keep it beautiful.

Thank you,
Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Knight

(Editor's Note: Mrs. S. V. Foy of Panorama Shores reported to the Murray Ledger & Times late this week that people have already begun littering Route 280 again, less than a week since it was cleaned up. She appealed to local citizens not to throw their garbage on the roadside.)

WHEN THE SPIRIT FILLS A LIFE

By H. C. Chiles

The presence of the Holy Spirit in the lives of the early Christians had a wonderful transforming influence in their conduct. Because of their commitment to Christ and being filled with the Spirit, they were very effective in their work for the Lord.

Acts 3:1-6

Perhaps Peter and John had been friends from their youth. They were partners in the fishing business. On many occasions, after Christ saved them, they were together in intimate fellowship and Christian service. Here we find them accompanying each other to the place of prayer. They were so different that it is interesting to find them together. Peter was impulsive, bold, energetic, and daring. John was meditative, timid, loving, and dependable. Each had something the other lacked, so they were mutually helpful. Through cultivating an interest in people who are different from us our lives may be enriched greatly. Like all of those who have been a great blessing to mankind, Peter and John loved God and delighted in the privilege of worshipping Him. Even though they were poor, they did not hesitate to wend their way to the temple to pray.

As Peter and John were about to enter the expensive gate of such tremendous beauty, they observed a helpless cripple being placed within a few feet of the entrance to the temple. The condition of this man was not due to an accident or to any sin in his life. He had been helpless from his birth, perhaps due to a malformation or a weakness in his ankle bones. Approximately forty years of age, this man was not only poor but helpless also. Unable to work, he had become a professional beggar. Of such Jerusalem has always had an abundance. Every day dear relatives and friends carried him to this place which was so propitious for begging, inasmuch as the crowds entered this gate to worship at least three times daily.

Understanding the philosophy of benevolence, the cripple knew that the most kind, thoughtful, and sympathetic people pray and worship regularly in the Lord's house. So he knew where to go for alms. Those who love God most dearly are the ones who do the most for their fellowmen. Never expecting to walk a step, and wanting only a little money, this helpless cripple daily sat there by the gate of the temple and held out his hand, beseeching the more fortunate passersby to contribute to his support.

When this man thrust forth his hand to Peter and John, and with the will of a professional mendicant asked alms of them, they stopped suddenly and turned a piercing gaze upon him. As the fire of Christian love flashed through their eyes, his interest was awakened and his hopes were aroused. Speaking for both of them, in a commanding voice Peter said: "Look on us."

Expecting to receive something worthwhile, the cripple responded at once to the command, and his very look revealed his thoughts.

When the afflicted man turned his face in the direction commanded, eagerly expecting to receive a gift, his heart must have sunk within him at the disappointing words: "Silver and gold have I none." However, when Peter continued with the statement: "But such as I have give I thee," his hopes began to rise again. Wondering what Peter was going to give him, the man listened with quickness interest as the Apostle added: "In the name of Jesus of Nazareth rise up and walk." Stooping down, Peter grasped the outstretched hand of the man and lifted him to his feet, whereupon he felt the thrill of power in his feet and ankles.

Acts 4:31-37

The membership of the church in Jerusalem was characterized by a marvelous spiritual unity. In it there was great variety of temperaments, dispositions; and capabilities, but the members were of "one heart and of one soul." Loving the Lord supremely, they were exemplary in their attitude toward Christ and in their devotion to their fellow-Christians. They sought to please Christ. They were victorious over self-seeking, jealousy, distrust, ill-will, and strife. They were delighted to share what they had with those who were less fortunate than themselves. Aware of the distresses and needs of those who were poor before they became Christians and of those who lost their means of earning a livelihood because they had become Christians, they were far more concerned about sharing what they had with them than they were about retaining their possessions. And their sharing was completely voluntary, except as they were prompted by the Holy Spirit.

Another noteworthy characteristic of the members of that church was the fact that at every opportunity they gave personal testimony of what the Lord had done for them. Filled and energized by the Holy Spirit, they boldly and faithfully witnessed for Christ. As a result of their witness concerning the resurrection of Christ, great grace was upon them and tremendous power accompanied their faithful preaching. Their testimony was made effective by the Holy Spirit.

One of the noble and lovable members who displayed remarkable love and demonstrated great generosity was Barnabas. He was a Jew of the tribe of Levi and a native of Cyprus. Evidently he was a man of considerable means. We do not know how much property he owned, but it had a sale value and he did not have any difficulty in disposing of it. In harmony with the decision of the church to place all possessions at the command of the apostles, Barnabas sold his land and brought all of the proceeds and laid them at the feet of the apostles. Thus his liberality was expressed in deed and not in pious words or promises only. Both his life and his possessions were dedicated to the Lord.

JUNCTION CITY, DAns., REPUBLIC: "Gas rationing during World War II got down to two gallons a week for 'A' class sticker holders. Seen & Heard Around Murray

Oscar the fish is twice the size he was when we bought him. He's a striped oscar so naturally we just named him Oscar. Actually he is Oscar II, since we had one once before. Oscar No. I ate all the other fish in the tank including his mate, which shows how short sighted he was.

Oscar number I finally went the way of all flesh.

For every ten letters you mail, that means $1.00. We have hand delivered payment for some bills received, now and then, but by golly we're going to deliver all we can now that stamps are a dime a piece.

We have just been hit with a brilliant idea. Why not have a central point downtown where a person can pay all his utility bills? The bills can be in separate envelopes, addressed to the proper utility, then placed in one spot. This would save a person from going to the phone office, the electric office, the water office and the gas office.

Just to develop this idea further, a deposit box could be placed on a parking meter post on each side of the square. Each day or two, someone from the utilities could drop by, empty the boxes, and distribute the envelopes to the proper utility. This would be a real service to the people of Murray. If you mail the four envelopes, this would cost 40 cents. If you could merely drop the four envelopes into one of the four boxes on the court square, you could pay your bills with little cost and little inconvenience.

Of course central billing would accomplish this too, but the probability of this being initiated anytime soon is rather slim.

We still think it is a good idea.

Sitting on the back step one day this week and a Squirrel jumped from the roof to the twin Post Oak, a distance of about eight feet. He scrambled to a more solid position and proceeded to eat the Hickory Nut he carried in his mouth.

He probably realized exactly what Euel Gibbons is always talking about.

By the way, speaking of Euel Gibbons, we saw a cartoon the other day of a wasteland, the trees, flowers, grass and plants all gone. It was entitled "Euel Gibbons ate here."

AN INVESTMENT IN YOUR FUTURE

ATTEND CHURCH

sure they are! How pathetic to find both good and bad people imprisoned. Some are guilty. Some are innocent. Remember John Bunyan in jail? He gave us Pilgrim's Progress while behind bars. But there is another prison and no error is made in determining it's inmates. It is the prison of the soul, and everyone of us constructs his own cell. The cells of the spiritual prison are intolerance, self-centeredness, hatred, malice and falsehood. The law man will put you in a man-made jail if you break the rules, but you imprison yourself behind bars wrought by your own hands if you allow bad habits to dominate your life. The Bible plainly tells us of an emancipator of souls, who will bring us to freedom and wholesome living if we dedicate ourselves to our highest potentialities. Why not begin this dedication in a visit to His Church.

Timeout With Brandon

Murray State 2-2 In Florida Stand

Murray State Baseball Coach Johnny Reagan called this morning from Florida to report the progress of the Thoroughbreds in their week-long stay at the Kansas City Royals' Baseball Academy.

Thus far, in four games with the professional team, Murray has broken even. In the first game played Monday afternoon, Murray dropped a 3-2 contest.

Reagan reported Murray got outstanding pitching from veteran Greg Englar and freshman Mark Wezel.

Tuesday, Murray shellacked the Royals' Academy 13-2.

Mike Sims and freshman Dana Pearson combined on the mound for the win.

With Murray leading only 1-0 in the fifth inning, the 'Breds got the bases loaded and former Murray High star David Hughes cracked a grand slam homer.

Later in the same inning, Richie White cracked a three-run shot which was good for a triple. Sliding into third base, White injured a knee and he is now on crutches and will probably miss the remainder of the games in Florida.

On Wednesday, it was a turn-about of Tuesday as the Royals pounded Murray 13-1.

Thursday, Murray gained a split in the series by winning 7-4. Mike Thieke and Ernie Miksell combined on the mound for the pitching for the 'Breds.

Jack Perconti carried the big stick, collecting four hits in five plate appearances.

Freshman Terry Brown of Maryland, filling in at short for Leon Wurth who is sidelined with a back injury, had three hits.

"I've been pleased with the hitting and somewhat encouraged with our pitching," Reagan said.

"Our defense is also making good progress," Reagan added.

"These are professional players and when you make a mistake, they let you know it by taking advantage of it."

Before Murray came to town, the Royals' Academy had a 31-7 season record and had been playing for well over a month.

Reagan reported that sluggers Rick Weisman and Steve Barrett weren't hitting well yet but when they begin to hit, the offensive punch should be outstanding.

Reagan also said Barrett was nursing injuries and really shouldn't be playing but the senior third-baseman wanted to remain in the lineup.

Saturday will be the final day against the academy and then on Sunday, Murray will be in Mobile to play the University of South Alabama.

Eddie Stanky, former major league manager with the Chicago White Sox, is the manager.

The home season will open next Friday when Murray plays Rutgers in a single game.

Send Message To Jacobs

Not since Tommie "T-Bird" Turner has Murray State had such a good chance of winning an individual championship in the NCAA track meet.

Cuthbert Jacobs, the outstanding junior sprinter from Antigua, will be running tonight in the finals of the 400.

Last Saturday at Middle Tennessee, Jacobs blistered the 440 in 47.3 to set a new Murray State indoor record, breaking Turner's old mark of 47.4.

Jacobs' time is the second best turned in thus far this season in the United States.

Murray State Coach Bill Cornell predicts Jacobs might well be one of the best in the world if he keeps on improving.

The other members of the MSU track team are sending telegrams of encouragement to Bert.

It would be good if some people from Murray wired Bert a note before his appearance in Detroit's Cobo Hall tonight and let him know that we are behind him all the way.

Bert can be reached by sending the wire to Cuthbert Jacobs, c/o Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, Detroit, Mich. 48231.

Spates Leads Falcons To Win

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

Shut a pair of enemies up in a closet, lock the door and sooner or later, one will break loose and leave the other behind.

That's what happened Thursday night in the second evening of opening round play in the First Region Basketball Tournament at Murray State University.

Using the last minute heroics of 6-1 senior forward Sidney Spates, Hickman County slammed the door shut on surging Paducah St. Mary and escaped with a thrilling 60-53 win.

Hickman County, the defending Regional champion who went all the way to the semifinal round of the State Tournament last year, led only 54-51 with 1:10 remaining in the contest.

The Falcons, noted for their slow down type of offense, spread their guards and began to go into a stall.

And suddenly, from out of nowhere, Spates broke loose and took a pass from 5-11 junior guard Ricky Weatherspoon and hit for a crumple to boost Hickman County to a five-point edge.

But Spates' heroics had only just begun.

Spates Strikes Again

Following a layup by St. Mary's Rick Cochran, Spates struck again by hitting on a drive with the assist pass coming once more from Weatherspoon.

That gave the Falcons a 58-53 lead and with only 10 seconds left, Spates delivered the final knockout punch when he again scored from inside to give Hickman County its final seven-point margin.

Hickman County is now 21-7 for the season and will face Murray High tonight in the 8:45 p.m. semifinal game for the right to advance to the championship contest which will be played at 8 p.m. Saturday.

In a previous meeting with Murray High, Hickman County came out on the short end of a 67-45 score.

The final margin of seven points was the largest lead either team could muster in the battle deluxe.

Four times in the first period the lead exchanged hands and four times the count was knotted before St. Mary moved to a 15-11 edge at the end of the quarter.

Spates tied the game for the first time since early in the contest when he hit from 15 feet away to knot the count at 19 apiece with 6:12 left in the opening half.

The score was tied at 21 before a charity toss by Russ Cochran again gave St. Mary the upper hand.

Regain Lead
Hickman County did not lead again until 6-4 sophomore center Tim Larkin scored from eight feet with just 2:27 left to boost the eventual winners to a 25-24 edge.

A 10-footer by Joe Spraggs followed by Spates' two charity tosses gave the Falcons a 29-24 lead, the largest advantage anyone held in the half.

At the end of the first two periods, Hickman County held a 32-28 lead.

Hickman County continued to hold the edge throughout the third period until when with only 1:07 left, 6-2 sophomore Gene Roof tied the count at 42 apiece when he scored from 12 feet on a fastbreak.

The final points of the period were put on the board when Rick Cochran hit from five feet on a baseline drive to boost St. Mary to a 44-42 edge entering the final frame.

With 4:40 remaining in the contest, Hickman County took the lead for good when Larkin scored on a tip to lift the Falcons to a 48-46 edge.

Successive baskets moved Hickman County out to a six-point edge before Roof's two free throws and Russ Cochran's gravis attempt cut the margin to 54-51 and set the stage for Spates' heroics.

Hickman County, who blistered the cords on 27 of 44 for a .613, was paced in scoring by Spates who tossed in 19 while Weatherspoon added 18 as did Larkin.

St. Mary, who closes the season with an impressive 21-13 record, was led by Roof who put in 18 points while Rick Cochran added 13.

The Falcons entered the tournament by virtue of a 53-51 win over Carlisle County for the First District title while the Vikings fell 92-66 to Tilghman in the finals of the Second District.

USC Coach Says Team Overshadowed By UCLA

By RON ROACH
AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Bob Boyd of Southern California says his Trojans are overshadowed by the success of cross-town rival UCLA. But John Wooden casts a spotlight on the Trojans and sees no real weakness.

"Their talent has been overlooked a little bit," UCLA Coach Wooden said of the Trojans, who stand in the way of the Bruins' bid for an unprecedented eighth consecutive national basketball championship.

Third-ranked UCLA and seventh-ranked USC collide Saturday night at the Sports Arena to decide the Pacific-8 Conference title and who advances to NCAA playoffs. Both are 22-3 for the season, 11-2 in the Pac-8.

"I've been quite high on Danny Anderson all along," Wooden said of USC's senior guard.

"They have other players we tried to recruit. People think maybe they're at USC because we didn't want them. That's not true."

What impresses Wooden most about USC, a team the Bruins beat 65-54 with a second-half rally, Feb. 2?

"They have great balance," said Wooden. "Of course, I'm a nut on balance; I'm always looking for balance — balance and quickness. They are very strong inside and outside, with their quick guards. They are strong offensively and defensively."

"I don't really believe there's a real weakness in their team. Certainly there's no weakness in talent."

Wooden and Boyd agree that the difference in the two teams is 6-foot-11 All-American Bill Walton. I understand Boyd has said he wouldn't trade teams with us. We think we have the outstanding man."

The Bruins are seven-point favorites to defeat UCLA 82-62 for the 14th time in 16 meetings since Boyd came to USC eight years ago. The Bruins are 7-0 at the Sports Arena during that period.

Colonels Win Game.
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Louie Dampier had 25 points, including 10 of 11 from the field, as Kentucky rallied to a 103-89 American Basketball Association victory over Virginia here Thursday night.

The Colonels scored the first 8 points of the last half to inflate a 48-41 halftime lead.

Near the midway mark of the last half, Virginia out-scored Kentucky 8-0 to narrow the Colonels' lead to 10, but Kentucky got the next 6 straight and put the game out of reach.

Artis Gilmore had 18 points, 20 rebounds and 9 blocked-shots for the winners while Dan Issel experienced his worst scoring night of the season, contributing only 12 points.

Free throws kept Kentucky in the lead most of the way as Virginia was whistled for 37 personal fouls plus a technical on coach Al Bianchi. Kentucky committed only 16 personals.

George Carter and former Colonel Cincy Powell led Virginia with 21 points each.

GOLF
MIAMI — Tommy Aaron and Jerry Heard matched seven-under-par 65s and tied for the first-round lead in the $150,000 Doral-Eastern Open Golf Tournament.

Maryland And North Carolina Grab Wins In ACC Tournament

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Maryland cruised into the semifinals of the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament Thursday night and Terapsins Coach Lefty Driesell liked what he saw.

"Our players think they can beat anyone in this tournament," declared Driesell after his team's 85-66 rout of Duke.

"We're ready for anyone."

The Terps, ranked fourth nationally, meet North Carolina, rated sixth, tonight in one ACC semi.

North Carolina State, ranked No. 1, goes against Virginia in the other semi.

North Carolina eliminated Wake Forest 76-62 and Virginia got by Clemson 68-63 in other first-round games.

North Carolina State drew a bye.

John Lucas, Tom McMillen and Len Elmore were the main ingredients in the Maryland victory. Lucas had 20 points, McMillen 19 points and 13 rebounds, and Elmore 16 points and 17 rebounds.

The Tarheels, also 22-4, were led by Darrell Elston with 21 points and Bobby Jones with 15 points and 12 rebounds.

Gus Gerard scored 30 points and Wally Walker 22 to help Virginia past Clemson.

The ACC finals will be played Saturday night with the winner getting an NCAA Tournament bid.

The NCAA regionals also get underway Saturday. Penn meets Providence, St. Joseph's, Pa., faces Pittsburgh and Furman plays South Carolina, in the East; Notre Dame goes against Austin Peay and Ohio University plays Marquette in the Midwest; Oral Roberts meets Syracuse and Texas faces Creighton in the Midwest; and Los Angeles State takes on Dayton and Idaho State meets New Mexico in the West.

Also, the Pacific Eight championship will be decided Saturday night when UCLA visits Southern California.

No. 18 Louisville was the only other top 20 team in action, the Cardinals dumping Detroit 89-74. Junior Bridgeman scored 22 points for the NCAA-bound winners who are 21-5.

Lionel Billingley collected 19 points and 13 rebounds to lead Duquesne past Xavier of Ohio 73-40. It was the final game for Dukes Coach Red Manning who has been named athletic director. He retires after 16 years with a 247-138 record.

Barry's 31 Is Key For Warrior Win

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

Gimpy Golden State, a resting place for the National Basketball Association's walking wounded, still has at least one thing going for it — Rick Barry.

Barry, currently the NBA's hottest hand, scored 31 points including the game-winner at the buzzer Thursday night to give the Warriors a 97-95 victory over the peerless Milwaukee Bucks. In his past six games, Barry has shot at a 34.5-point clip.

"It took an extra effort by everybody to pull off a big win," Barry said, "but the fact is, now is whether Cazzie (Russell) and Nate (Thurmond) are going to be able to play for us."

Thurmond left the game in the second quarter after aggravating an arch that's been slowing him up for some time now, and Russell has a sore leg that's cutting into his playing time.

Celtics 99, Suns 97

Both coaches complained they missed too many shots in the fourth quarter, but Don Chaney hit one — a 12-footer with 48 seconds left — and it was all the Celtics needed.

Spurs 98, Cougars 90

Trailing 67-66 late in the third period, San Antonio got five quick points from James Silas and jumped to a 77-70 lead going into the final frame. George Gervin led the Spurs with 26 points.

Colonels 103, Squires 89

Lou Dampier was the driving force with 25 points in Kentucky's victory. He hit 10 of 11 attempts from the floor and got help from Artis Gilmore, who had 20 rebounds and 18 points, to lead the Colonels to an easy victory.

Nets 114, Rockets 100

Denver pulled to within one point at 91-90 in the fourth quarter before John Williamson reeled off eight straight points and put New York out of danger. The rookie guard had 29 points in the game, supplemented by Julius Erving's 12 rebounds and 23 points.

Waldrop Is Favorite At NCAA Track In Detroit

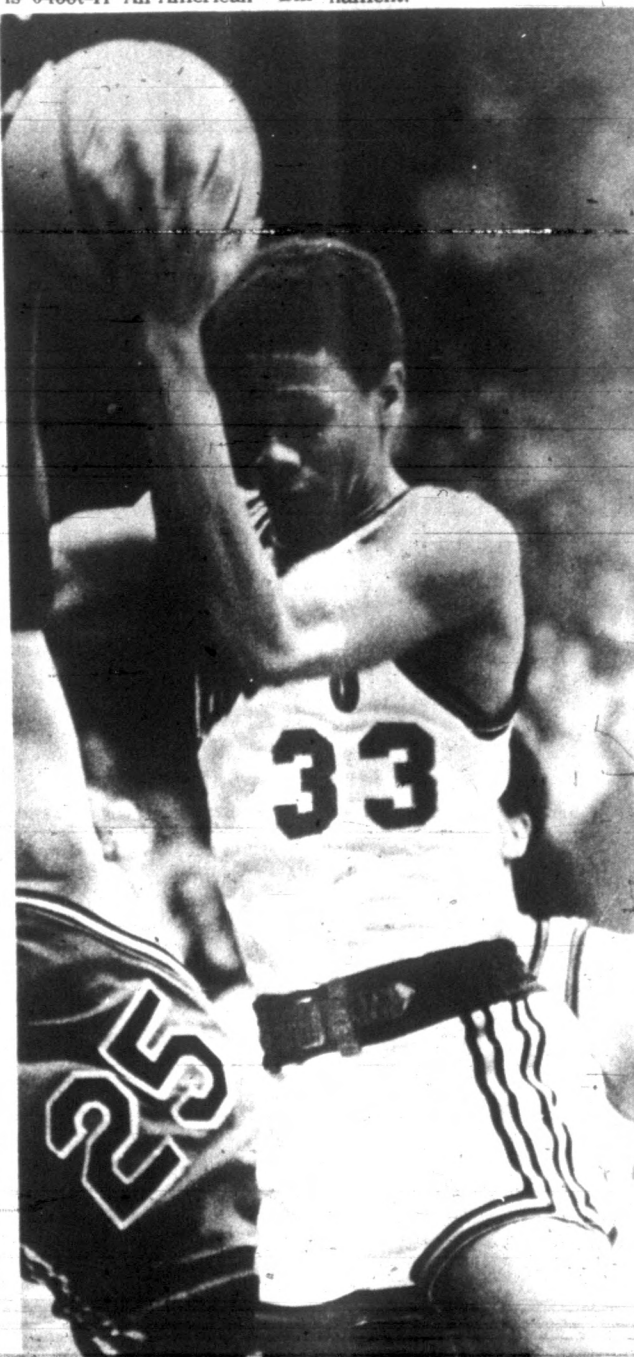

DETROIT (AP) — Sizzling miler Tony Waldrop of North Carolina, a whopping collection of seven-foot high jumpers and an expected wide-open team title battle highlight the NCAA Indoor Track Championships starting today.

Waldrop, who has shattered the four-minute barrier six straight times this season, will do his stuff at the meet's opening session in Cobo Arena as he confronts a 50-50 field in the trials for the mile finals on Saturday's windup program.

Today's action, calling for finals in seven events, also includes qualifying for the high jump, in which probably half the impressive list of 18 seven-foot leapers will be eliminated before Saturday's finals.

Manhattan took last year's team crown with a total of 18 points, but the championship appears up for grabs among such other contenders as Southern California, ICA champion, Villanova and Texas in the scattered field of 144 schools.

The wide distribution of individual talent always makes it tough for one school to muster enough points in the 18 championship events to make a runaway of the team competition.

NOTHING DOWN THERE—Tyrone McCulston pulls off a rebound and seems to be studying the floor in the Tigers' 76-53 win over Symsonia Thursday night. McCulston put in 18 points and grabbed off seven rebounds. (Staff Photo by Mike Brandon)

80-Year-Old Well Into Second Career

By JERRY BLICK
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — At 80, most people are well into retirement. At 80, Mrs. Fix is well into a second career in television commercials.

Mrs. Fix, a retired Indiana schoolteacher, moved to Hollywood in 1969 to be near her son, Howard, who is now a producer of television commercials.

"Let's Make a Deal," she says, "is the only commercial I've ever been in."

But she couldn't stay in Hollywood. After she retired in 1959 after 40 years of teaching, she couldn't quit. She was a substitute teacher for 10 more years.

Once out here she enrolled in two commercial training courses. After that she got an agent and on her fifth interview was hired for a commercial.

"My first big one was for a supermarket chain," she recalled proudly. "I was the head of the household."

The attractive, white-haired Mrs. Fix has been in more than a dozen television commercials and magazine advertisements since 1969. Recently she spent three days in Santa Rosa, Calif., filming a motorcycle commercial.

They're bringing grandma and grandpa in more and more commercials," she said.

"There's a trend now toward the family in commercials. That wasn't true a few years ago."

For Mrs. Fix it's a show business career long deferred. She said, "My senior picture at DePaul University said, 'The stage, my kingdom for the ages.' And I never got near it for years."

After graduation in 1916 she married Julian Clevie Fix and traveled briefly in the Midwest with two male singers as Two Hits and a Miss.

In 1918 she began her long teaching career, although she continued to write and direct plays, skits, radio and television.

"I was making $22 a day as a substitute teacher in Indianapolis," said Mrs. Fix, "whose husband died in 1941. I thought I could never come out here and earn a dime. I've made more last year than I've ever made in my life. It's a dream come true. But I never thought it would come true. I'm just beginning."

Mrs. Fix said, "I never knew anything but work. My father never let us play. I don't know how to retire. The women's clubs told me I'd never be learned to play bridge. If that's what it takes, I'll never be wanted or needed. But I'm taking bridge lessons."

"I love working. They sold me all the time because I go, go, go, do, do, do. But that's what keeps me healthy. I love this new career."

Quit music field too early -- Heidt

HOLLYWOOD — "I got out of music too early, at the age of 55," Horace Heidt said. "That was one of the biggest mistakes I ever made."

"I should have stayed in it as a director or producer. My good friend Dick Powell told me I should, but I had some other interests and got out."

However, Heidt, a major star of the Big Band era, creator of the Original Youth Opportunity Program, recipient of dozens of awards for his civic and patriotic as well as his creative work, isn't out of the music field entirely.

He is advising and watching with a fond father's eye his 26-year-old son, Horace Heidt Jr., who's beginning his career as a singer.

"He's the joy of my life," Heidt Sr. says of the young man. "He's already played the Drake and Arlington Park

Exorcist Has Office Hours

PARIS (AP) — The exorcist has office hours.

And a big waiting room, too, and a carpeted consultation room, and a pretty good working relationship with the devil.

Enclosed in glass and steel and two floors down from the headquarters of the archbishop of Paris, Francois Cardinal Marty is a once-a-week world of talk of spells and demons.

The "possessed" begin lining up at 8 a.m. on Wednesday, waiting for the Rev. Henri Grelaud, 66, to arrive for work at the antiseptically modern building of the Paris Roman Catholic archdiocese.

A small, grumpy man with a white trim of beard along his chin, Father Grelaud slips behind his chair and begins a day of listening. He is the Church's official exorcist for the Paris region, but as far as he is concerned the devil is a rare visitor.

"Since my appointment in 1968, I've had more than 3,000 consultations," the priest said. "There have been four cases of what I believe to be demonic possession."

In a normal day of devil-chasing, the Father Grelaud sees up to 25 visitors who wait patiently for their turn.

Recently, with French newspapers reporting on America's interest in the film "The Exorcist," waiting lines have grown.

"It's pretty much the same thing," Father Grelaud explains. "I let them talk, and I listen. A large proportion of my visitors think someone has placed a spell on them."

"I give practical advice in most of the cases," are you eating enough? I might ask. And then I might suggest that they see a general practitioner or even a psychiatrist."

Father Grelaud has no special training for the exorcist's job, but after returning from 30 years in Ceylon as a missionary who assisted another priest in helping a woman who thought she was afflicted by devils when the exorcist in charge resigned, the diocese called on Father Grelaud.

"The choice," according to the Rev. Roger Moutier of the diocese headquarters, "was dictated by Father Grelaud's personality, more than any other factor. He is an understanding man, a patient man, who can listen and calm people."

But for all the "huzzos" the priest's expression for jokers — that he sees, there have been four cases where the exorcist recites the 11th of the saints and the 3rd Psalm, where he splashed holy water over the possessed and ordered the spirits to flee and not return again.

Strangely, Father Grelaud's most convincing struggle with demons involved two 13-year-old girls — about a year older than the preteen-ager played by Linda Blair in the film, which has not yet been shown in France.

Fourth Quarter Splurge Gives Murray 76-53 Win

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

It's a cold winter morning and the fire in the old stove is all but gone.

You get up, put in some more coal, and soon the heat comes and everyone is happy.

The stove was the Murray High Tigers, the person putting in the coal was Coach Bob Toon.

And the result was a 76-53 triumph for Murray High over Symsonia in the first round of the First Region Tournament Thursday night at the Murray State Sports Arena before a crowd of approximately 5,000.

Like the stove which cooled down over the night, the Tigers caught on fire late in the game and burned the Rough Riders.

But during the first half, it seemed the flicker might die away as Symsonia outplayed Murray High and threatened to pull off the upset of the season in the Region.

At halftime, Murray High led only 32-26 over the Rough Riders, who earned the berth in the tournament last Saturday as they finished as the runnerup in the Third District, losing 78-44 to Mayfield in the title game.

But when the Tigers came back out at halftime, it was a different Murray High team.

Defense Switched

Switching from the 2-3 zone defense employed in the first two periods, the Tigers switched into a 1-3-1 zone in the second half.

And all the defense did was to completely shut off the Symsonia offensive attack.

"The 1-3-1 zone put pressure on them and they weren't able to get through and get the second shots at the basket," Tiger Coach Bob Toon said.

"We made them run with us in the second half and that's what we wanted them to do, to play our type of ball game," the Tiger mentor added.

Senior forward Danny

Hudspeth hit on a rebound shot to open the second half scoring and lift Murray to an eight-point edge.

Tyrone McCuiston followed with a drive and senior guard Ray Lane added a free throw.

Tigers Coasting

By the time Glenn Jackson hit on a rebound of his own shot with 5:36 left, the Tigers were coasting along with a 39-26 cushion.

But it was the defense that turned in momentum of the game around.

Symsonia was unable to do anything on offense except pass the ball around, and sometimes that didn't even work.

The Rough Riders couldn't get near the basket and the large throng of Murray High fans, who stood for the entire game, cheered the Tiger defense on.

By the end of the third period the Tigers were holding a 47-35 margin.

Sophomore Bob Wilder and 6-2 junior Ricky Holland traded buckets at the outset of the final period.

And then came the heat! Glenn Jackson, who had a terrific night from the floor, canned a 15-foot jumper.

He then followed with a 12-footer which resulted in a three-point play following a foul.

The defense got the ball back again for the Tigers and again Jackson scored, this time on an assist from Lane.

Lane again found an open man with a pass, this time Tyrone McCuiston, and his basket with 5:48 remaining in the game gave Murray High an overwhelming 58-37 bulge.

Largest Lead

The largest lead of the game came when Lane hit on a break with 2:23 left to give Murray High a 72-45 bulge.

For the first six minutes of the contest, it seemed the Tigers would put the game in the win column by halftime.

After leading just 8-6, the Tigers zipped eight quick points, four by Jackson and four by McCuiston, and scooted to a 16-6 lead with 1:48 left in the period.

By the end of the quarter, Murray High led 20-10.

But late in the second quarter, with the Tigers holding a 30-21 lead, Symsonia rallied for five consecutive points and pulled to within four at 30-26 with just nine seconds left in the half.

But just before the half ended, Jackson scored on a fastbreak and the Tigers took a six-point lead into the dressing room at intermission.

And then, the strategy was switched as Murray High came out in the second half with a new defense and a new air of aggressive basketball to wipe out the Rough Riders.

Jackson tossed in 11 of 21 shots and hit for a game-high 23 points while McCuiston fired in nine of 12 and hit for 18.

Ray Lane added 13 while Danny Hudspeth contributed 10.

In the rebound department, Hudspeth grabbed nine, Jackson and McCuiston had seven apiece and Wilder pulled down five.

Curtis Hobbs, a 6-3 leaper, paced the Rough Riders with 19 points while Robert Whittemore added 12.

Symsonia closes the season with a 9-18 season mark.

Murray High, riding a 15-game winning streak, is 24-2 on the year and will meet Hickman County at 8:45 p.m. tonight.

The first semifinal game this evening will find Tilghman and Carlisle County tangling at 7 p.m.

Tilghman advanced to the semifinal round by thumping Calloway County 60-46 while Carlisle County knocked off Mayfield 65-52 in the first round.

Bill On Girl's Sports Delayed

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Senate wrangled for half an hour Thursday over a bill requiring schools to field girls' golf, tennis, track and swimming teams if they have such teams for boys.

The net result was one day's delay in considering the measure. It is to come up for passage Friday-right after the administration's budget bill, which is first on the list.

SB 276 is similar to a basketball bill already passed by the Senate and sent to the House. It merely adds the four sports.

Sen. Gene Huff, R-London, an opponent, suggested the logical next step is to include girls' football, wrestling and boxing teams.

In view of the basketball bill's smooth passage, SB 276 stirred an unexpected debate.

Sen. Carroll Hubbard, D-Mayfield, said his colleagues "ought to give a careful look" at the measure. He said it was somewhat vague and would place too great a burden on schools.

Sen. Denver Knuckles, R-Middlesboro, said the Louisville school system is broke and begging for merger with Jefferson County, partly because of the expense of constructing sports facilities.

Sen. Tom Ward, D-Versailles, the sponsor, said the bill does not deprive anyone of rights.

Sen. Lacey Smith, D-Louisville, said that despite some banter about the measure, it basically is a serious attempt to grant equality to females.

Sen. Walter Strong, D-Beatyville, said the sports bill should be made permissive, instead of mandatory.

Strong, a minister, also expressed concern the measure might lead to mixed bathing in schools, and called for a prohibition on that.

"I don't endorse mixed bathing," Ward answered. "Or streaking, for that matter."

Sen. Doug Moseley, R-Columbia, another minister, said he voted for girls' basketball, but if that bill came up again he would vote no. He said such measures take too much authority away from local school boards.

Before the arguments began, the Senate amended the bill to delete basketball because that had been handled in the measure already passed.

OSLO — Bill Koch, of Gilford, Vt., timed at 49 minutes, 47.4 seconds, was runner-up to Tore Neby, of Norway, by 24.7 seconds in the 15-kilometers ski race for juniors, the best American placing ever in the Holmenkollen cross country ski festival.

Sen. Doug Moseley, R-Columbia, another minister, said he voted for girls' basketball, but if that bill came up again he would vote no. He said such measures take too much authority away from local school boards.

Before the arguments began, the Senate amended the bill to delete basketball because that had been handled in the measure already passed.

Sen. Tom Ward, D-Versailles, the sponsor, said the bill does not deprive anyone of rights.

Sen. Lacey Smith, D-Louisville, said that despite some banter about the measure, it basically is a serious attempt to grant equality to females.

Sen. Walter Strong, D-Beatyville, said the sports bill should be made permissive, instead of mandatory.

Strong, a minister, also expressed concern the measure might lead to mixed bathing in schools, and called for a prohibition on that.

"I don't endorse mixed bathing," Ward answered. "Or streaking, for that matter."

Sen. Doug Moseley, R-Columbia, another minister, said he voted for girls' basketball, but if that bill came up again he would vote no. He said such measures take too much authority away from local school boards.

Austin Peay And Notre Dame To Clash On Television Saturday

By MIKE HARRIS

AP Sports Writer

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Can Austin Peay put a "Fly" in Notre Dame's ointment? Or can the second-ranked Irish bounce back from the adversity of losing to a team other than UCLA?

Those are but two of the burning questions on the minds of basketball fans waiting for Saturday's nationally televised NCAA Midwest Regional first-round doubleheader here.

Ninth-ranked Marquette and Mid-American Conference champ Ohio University open the proceedings at 1:10 p.m., EST, followed by the imposing Notre Dame-Austin Peay collision, scheduled for 3:10 p.m.

A funny thing happened to the Irish Monday night as they rolled along toward another in a long string of victories. They got beat 97-82 by a Dayton team also headed for the NCAA tournament—but a different regional.

The loss ended a 12-game winning string and ended their regular season with a 24-2 mark, the only other loss a 94-

75 revenge triumph by UCLA. That is the most regular season victories for a Notre Dame team since the 1908-09 team went 33-7.

But Austin Peay—the Ohio Valley Conference co-champion—is no slouch, either. Led by super sophomore Fly Williams (averaging 27.5 a game), the Governors reached Terre Haute on a 17-9 season record and a 10-4 conference mark, including a pair of victories over co-titlist Morehead State.

Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps says his players are ready to forget about the Dayton game and concentrate on Austin Peay.

"This is what we've been working for all season long," said Phelps. "We've been in some tough battles at home and on the road and I think we'll be better off for them."

Of their first foe, Phelps said, "Austin Peay is a team with excellent quickness. Williams is one of the great college players in the nation and (sophomore guard Danny Odum) is a good outside shooter."

"This team is capable of the big game as it proved in last year's NCAA by beating Jacksonville in the first round, then taking Kentucky into overtime before losing."

Governor Coach Lake Kelly said, "I'm sure the loss to Dayton will make Notre Dame anxious to bounce back strong. It certainly didn't help us."

Colin Stewart, Kelly's assistant, scouted the Irish at Dayton and added, "Despite the loss, I could still see all that talent Notre Dame has and it certainly is awesome. We've got to pressure them and try to deny them the ball game inside."

Simon Moves To Better Distribute Gas Supplies

By DON WATERS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal energy chief William E. Simon has moved to better distribute and increase gasoline allocations across the nation, but his action has failed to prevent protests from the two most populous states.

Simon announced Thursday that each state this month would receive gasoline equal to at least 85 per cent of its consumption in the March 1972 base period. The national average is to be 89.6 per cent.

The increases, unveiled at the National Governors Conference here, average only about 2.9 million gallons a day—a boost of approximately one per cent over February.

The boosts were concentrated most heavily in states with poor supplies and long lines at service-station pumps and also took into account the growth of motor vehicle registrations. Gasoline reserves are to be tapped to provide some of the additional motor fuel.

Despite the increases, the March allocations failed to satisfy a Democratic congressman from California and New York Gov. Malcolm Wilson.

Rep. Glenn Anderson contended that California's March allocation of 85 per cent of its 1972 use shortchanged the state by 42 million gallons, when compared with the national average.

Wilson, attending the governors conference, said he was unhappy with a March allocation for New York of 468.5 million gallons that was just 18 million gallons more than the February amount and actually amounts to less fuel per diem than last month.

Meanwhile, the American Petroleum Institute reported Thursday that gasoline production decreased by about two per cent last week, equal to a drop in refinery input of crude oil.

Cattlemen Charge They Are Being Run Out Of Business By Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cattlemen say they are being run out of business by high feed costs and fat profit margins by middlemen who they contend are charging consumers more for beef than necessary.

And to prove their case a group of Iowa cattle feeders—those who fatten animals for the consumer markets-plan to sell beef on New York City streets at 15 per cent less than supermarkets are charging.

Glenn Gregg, president of the Sioux County Cattlemen's Association, said Thursday the New York beef sale may even result in tailgate hawking from a truck chartered by angry Midwestern beef producers.

The plan, he told a news conference, is still to be worked out. But it involves trucking Iowa beef to New York at only the cost of slaughtered beef animals, transportation charges and a $25 per carcass markup.

Gregg said the idea of the New York demonstration, tentatively set for March 15, is to show city consumers that middlemen are taking huge chunks of the beef dollar.

Clarence G. Adams, president of the National Association of Food Chains, said retail profits are dangerously low and that recent declines in cattle prices are temporary.

"The implication that retailers are profiteering is a gross misstatement and one I deeply resent," Adams said.

His comments followed a statement Thursday by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz that middlemen have not passed on to consumers recent declines in cattle prices. Those dropped from $48 per 100 pounds in late January to around $43 this week.

Figures by USDA show feed prices have doubled since a year ago while prices for live cattle are about the same.

Butz said consumers paid a record $1.48 per pound on an all-cut basis for beef in the week ended Feb. 9 and that increased further to $1.53 by Feb. 16. Meantime, he said, live cattle prices dropped two cents per pound.

The Iowa group said it was considering antitrust lawsuits against meat packers and chain stores.

Bill Would Require most Public Agencies to Have Open Meetings

By WILLIAM BRADFORD
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Most public agencies would have to meet in public except for informal sessions under a bill passed by the House.

House bill 100, which now goes to the Senate, was passed 80-6 Thursday. But first, an amendment was added on a 68-16 vote to have it apply only to regular and special meetings.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. Terry McBrayer, D-Greenup, said he did not fully endorse the amendment but accepted it in order to get the bill passed.

Opposing the amendment, Rep. Joe Clarke, D-Danville, said it weakened the bill substantially and "would allow private caucuses as long as they aren't named official meetings."

HB 100 would not apply to meetings of the governor's cabinet, grand and petit jury sessions or when discussions were of such things as personnel matters or buying land.

It would apply to school boards, city and county governing bodies and state agencies. Besides meeting only in public for formal sessions, those agencies would have to notify the news media in advance of their meetings.

McBrayer asked his colleagues to consider HB 100 "in light of recent events in our national political life that place the prestige of government in general at an all-time low."

"Closed doors breed distrust," he asserted. "And more distrust is something, at this point in history, we don't need and more importantly cannot afford."

Rep. Nicholas Kafoglis, D-Bowling Green, said 90 per cent of public officials were honest and "one way to show this is to open meetings and open campaign financing to let the public see."

The House defeated, 57-29, HB 480 which would have licensed radio and television repairmen. Rep. Lloyd Clapp, D-Wingo, said the bill "would just be creating another board to run someone else's business."

Other measures passed and sent to the Senate included:

HB 529, prohibiting sex and age discrimination in credit transactions and in service at public facilities. It was amended to delete a prohibition against discriminating against women in bars and to delete a provision for awarding damages for humiliation and embarrassment. HB 529 passed 59-15.

HB 579, making several changes in the Teachers' Retirement System and implementing 30-year retirement at age 55, passed 89-0.

HB 595, requiring, rather than allowing, the State Police to conduct driver's license tests, passed 58-23.

HB 627, redefining subdivision, for the purpose of planning and zoning regulations, as division of a piece of land into three or more parcels instead of two parcels, passed 44-37.

Several legislators said the bill would allow for circumvention of zoning regulations but backers said it was needed in rural areas.

HB 581, making several changes in the State Retirement System and making service in that system reciprocal with the Teachers' Retirement System, passed 83-0.

HB 570, allowing all cities except Louisville to publish their annual financial statements in summary form instead of in full. A complete statement would have to be kept on file.

Amnesty Hearings Begin In Congress

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—13 months after the Vietnam War cease-fire, Congress is beginning its first full-scale hearings on legislating amnesty for at least a quarter million deserters and draft resisters.

Nixon administration officials were among lead-off witnesses today at a House Judiciary subcommittee hearing, along with spokesmen for national organizations campaigning for amnesty.

Organizations campaigning for amnesty claim the desertion figure is far too low, contending half a million men deserted during the Vietnam War years.

Kastenmeier said another 545,550 men the Pentagon reports got less than honorable discharges during the 10 years would get amnesty under several of the bills before his subcommittee.

Chairman Robert W. Kastenmeier, D-Wis., said in a prepared opening statement that the Jan. 27, 1973 Vietnam cease-fire accord was signed more than a year ago and the last American prisoner of war came home a year ago this month.

"Now that some time has elapsed, it ought to be possible to examine rationally the question of whether or not amnesty should be granted to those who refused to serve," Kastenmeier said.

The chairman said government figures show 206,775 men were accused of draft law violations in the past 10 years and 9,167 of them were convicted. Another 28,000 were accused of deserting, he said, and 4,000 of them were convicted.

Eight-Year Old Kidnap Victim Freed After Ransom Is Paid

An 8-year-old Long Island boy kidnapped as he walked home from school Wednesday was released unharmed early today after a ransom was paid, authorities said.

Officials refused to reveal the amount of the ransom, but there were reports it amounted to $50,000.

John Calzadilla of Dix Hills, N.Y., walked into a Holiday House restaurant on the New Jersey Turnpike near Secaucus about 1:10 a.m. after being released from a black sedan, authorities said.

"The boy is fine. I thank the FBI for a fine job," said Michael Calzadilla, the youth's father, in a brief statement. Calzadilla is a tire salesman.

The boy, appearing in good spirits, was cradled in his father's arms in the back seat of a car. "I feel fine," John told newsmen.

The boy said he thought he had been held captive in a hotel or motel but did not know the locality.

The boy also said there were three people in the black sedan that let him off in front of the restaurant — two men and a red-headed woman, Cox said.

In developments on other recent kidnappings:

Another massive distribution of free food to San Francisco Bay area poor takes place today, the fourth financed by newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst in an effort to free his daughter, Patricia, from kidnappers. The 20-year-old coed was kidnapped by the Symbionese Liberation Army Feb. 4, and there has been no word from the kidnappers since Feb. 21.

A Ludlow Kramer, executive director of People in Need, which is handling the food distribution, said Thursday "as of today, more than 80,000 food packets costing $416,820 have been distributed."

Kramer estimated the original $2 million commitment from Hearst and the William newspaper's owners paid a $700,000 ransom.

In Roanoke, Va., Betty Ann Van Balen, kidnapped Wednesday and released Thursday after payment of a $25,000 ransom, says one of her abductors formerly worked for her husband, Mrs. Balen's sister reported. The FBI today refused comment on the report.

The kidnappers remained at large. The FBI said Thursday night that they were looking for a man and a woman.

Mrs. Van Balen was released in West Virginia, and local authorities were checking motels and hotels in the Fayetteville and Charleston areas for the two suspects.

Senate Passes Minimum Wage Bill Second Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate for the second time in this Congress has passed a bill raising the minimum wage from $1.60 to $2.20 an hour for 56 million U.S. workers.

Sponsors said this time, however, they believed there was a fair chance either President Nixon would sign the legislation or that his veto could be overridden.

Nixon vetoed the 1973 bill, almost identical to the one passed Thursday, and was sustained in the House by a comfortable 23-vote margin.

But a number of Republicans who voted to uphold him last year reportedly have changed their minds.

The 69-to-22 vote sent the legislation to the House, where a Labor subcommittee already has approved a similar measure.

Its version would fix an eventual $2.30 minimum but its steps would be more gradual than under the Senate bill.

The full House Labor Committee and then the House itself are expected to act soon on the legislation.

The Senate vote for the bill was substantially greater than the 64-33 margin by which the 1973 bill passed.

In addition to raising the wage floor, the bill would extend coverage of the wages and hours act to seven million additional workers, repeal overtime pay exemptions which apply in several industries and tighten present law on child labor on farms.

In three days of Senate debate, Republicans made several attempts to alter the bill to make it conform to Nixon's views but all of their amendments were defeated.

Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., chief sponsor of the bill, said the present wage floor leaves millions of families in poverty. Even the $2.20 minimum would not quite lift a family of four to the poverty level, he said.

Republicans argued that the increase actually would deprive marginally trained workers of job opportunities.

The new coverage in the bill would include five million state, federal, state and local employees including firemen and policemen, one million domestics, and an additional 600,000 retail store workers.

Nixon opposed all of the new coverage. In addition, he insisted that the bill include a youth differential permitting lower wage rates for 16- and 17-year-olds, but the sponsors would not agree to this.

Thousands Participate As Streaking Craze Continues

By The Associated Press

Thousands of skinny, fat, goose-bumpy, sweaty bodies, all nude, are competing with the heroes of college athletics for the title to biggest spectator sport in the country.

Thousands upon thousands of collegians, male and female, stripped to the buff Thursday night for a zany frolic of "streaking" that provided more entertainment than television or the local movies.

The craze of romping around campus in the nude has been building in numbers and imagination for weeks, but the fad burst into unprecedented dimensions Thursday as new-style nudists ran, danced, parachuted, biked, walked and played on campuses across the country.

Some of the bigger and more outlandish nude events:

At Athens, Ga., a University of Georgia streaker proclaimed, "We've got the record," after as many as 1,000 nude bodies raced around the campus. A school patrolman estimated that there were probably more than 20,000 spectators. "I wish I had the courage to join them," said one elderly lady. "They look like they're having a swell time."

The Georgia claim, however, will certainly be contested in Colorado. Around 1,200 naked students dashed around a quadrangle at the University of Colorado, campus police said. The au naturel sprint was witnessed by an estimated 6,000 students and Boulder residents.

Hundreds of students at Stephen F. Austin University, in the heart of East Texas' Bible belt, stripped to their birthday suits and joined a crowd of about 2,000 in a "streak dance" to the accompaniment of a sock concert.

Four "bare-a-chutists" bailed out over the University of Illinois wearing only parachutes, helmets and shoes. They landed in the quadrangle near the Illini Union as some 6,000 persons applauded and screamed "Streak! Streak! Streak!" The naked men scrambled 300 feet to a waiting car and were whisked away.

Sweet Briar, Va., College president Harold B. Whiteman Jr. stood on his porch and applauded as some 50 ceds streaked by his house. About 200 students from the women's college took part, led by about 15 to 20 seniors wearing their commencement robes fastened at the neck only.

Five naked ceds at Vassar College discovered that streaking is fun until the boys start chasing. "They ran for about a block up to the Geology building and then five guys started chasing them," a local newsman said. The women managed to get their clothes back on before the guys caught up with them.

Eight were arrested and four policemen were hurt when a "streak-in" at the University of Delaware drew about 1,000 spectators and turned into a free-for-all.

In Orange County, Calif., three high school students performed what might be called a "blue" streak. The three lads dashed across campus and back in a chilly rain before realizing that they'd locked their car — where they'd left their clothes — with the keys inside.

One of the 20 streakers at the University of South Florida showed up on crutches.

Senate . . .

He said he and Stacy might consider withdrawing the measure if it is no longer a workable no fault bill when it reaches the Senate floor.

Meanwhile, House bill 314, a companion measure to the Senate no fault bill, was shelved Wednesday. It may be brought up for another vote by a majority of the members.

Opponents hoped the delay would kill the bill, while proponents wanted time to mobilize support for an amendment deleting a mandatory rate reduction of 15 per cent.

Energy Crisis To Be Topic Of Seminar Here

"The Energy Crisis—An Authentic or Industry-Created Problem?" is the title of a seminar to be held on Wednesday, March 13, at 3:30 p.m. in Room 104 of the Murray State University School of Business. All interested university faculty, staff, and students and citizens of Murray-Calloway County are most cordially invited to attend.

The pro and con of the energy-shortage controversy will be presented briefly by Dr. Jim Thompson and Mr. Bill Pinkston, faculty members of the Department of Economics. Following these brief statements, open discussion of the issues of the energy crisis will be encouraged from those attending the seminar.

Professors Thompson and Pinkston will serve as discussion leaders, but it is felt that full and open participation will afford each person in attendance a better insight into the energy crisis than he possessed prior to the seminar. Please attend and bring along your questions, comments, and curiosity!

To include from four to eight girls next year, the majorette line will be featured with the band at all appearances. Majorettes execute feature numbers during each show and are encouraged to present solo routines at home basketball games, as well as participating in precision routines with the band.

"All positions in the line are open each year," Reichmuth emphasized. "Auditions consist of a solo routine from three to six minutes long involving the basic skills which the girls feel they execute best, and each girl is also asked to march to the band's percussion cadences and to learn an impromptu routine taught at the audition."

Judging is based upon showmanship, routine variety, speed control and precision, smoothness and gracefulness and general appearance. Reichmuth added. Two professional twirling teachers will assist him in the judging.

He said the auditions are being announced several weeks in advance to give candidates time to work on routines and to make arrangements to attend the tryouts.

Interested girls who would like applications of further information should contact: Roger Reichmuth, Marching Band Director, Third Floor, Prince Doyle Fine Arts Center, Murray State University, Murray, Ky., 42071 (telephone 762-4151).

Other members of the committee are: Dr. Jack Rose, assistant professor of school administration and supervision; Dr. Jack Baker, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation; Janette Thurman, instructor of business education; and Rex Thompson, director of business affairs.

A total of 195 pupils from kindergarten through the sixth grade are presently enrolled at the University School.

OSHA SEMINAR—Two of the participants in the OSHA Seminar at Murray State University March 5-8 size up the program for the meeting focused on both U.S. and Kentucky occupational safety and health laws. They are: Bill Halford (left), personnel director of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital; and Stuart Polston, Hospital administrator. The seminar is designed to assist business and industry, in the area in coming into voluntary compliance with the laws.

Nixon Proposes New Limits On Financing Of Campaigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today proposed new limits on campaign financing and prohibitions on so-called "dirty tricks," saying that "campaign abuses recently publicized . . . proclaim that the electoral process needs reform."

"I am doubtful that any legislation can provide the panacea that some seek to guarantee absolute integrity in the electoral process," the President declared in a message to Congress.

But he proposed a series of reforms — and stated his opposition to some other suggestions that would change the face of American elections.

Nixon said campaign financing is "the most important area for reform and the area in which reform is most urgently required."

"I conclude that the single most important action to reform campaign financing should be broader public disclosure," he said.

Nixon's eight-page message listed these specific financing proposals:

—No individual contributes more than $3,000 to any presidential candidate. These limits would apply separately in primaries, runoffs and general elections.

—No cash contribution above $50, no donations from foreigners, no loans and no donation of such non-money assets as stocks would be allowed.

Senate Passes Bill To Revamp Structure Of State's Courts

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Senate approved 24-13 Thursday and sent to the House a "proposed Constitutional amendment" revamping the state's court structure. If finally approved, it would be on a November 1975 referendum.

One main segment is creation of an intermediate court between circuit courts and the court of appeals, the state's highest tribunal.

The other is creation of a lower court, to be known as district court, replacing quarterly and police courts and justice of the peace courts.

The court of appeals would become the supreme court and the new intermediate court would be called the court of appeals.

The principal focus of debate was on the fate of the county judge under the new setup.

Opponents said he would lose his judicial powers. Advocates said that should happen anyway because the county judge is meant to be an administrative officer, not a jurist.

Other measures passed: SB 72—requiring vehicle license plates to be issued every two years instead of annually. By voice vote a section requiring reflectorized licenses was deleted.

SB 280—starting a new method of state aid to public schools in 1975-76 if a surplus of funds exists.

The change would be from the allocation per classroom unit to an allocation based on the cost of educating certain types and grades of children.

HB 40—requiring a handicapped child to attend school, over objections it would be hypocritical to pass because it could not be enforced.

SB 295—transferring to the Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection certain pesticide functions now handled by the University of Kentucky.

Hardin Residents Protest Move By Board, Trustees

Several Hardin residents and others attended the regular Hardin Board of Trustees meeting held Monday night to protest a recreation room recently established in that city.

About thirty-five persons, five of them area ministers, appeared to voice the pros and cons of the recreation hall.

The "Family Recreation" building was opened recently by board member Glenn Henderson and contains pin-ball machines and billiard tables.

In a recent meeting, the Hardin board repealed an ordinance which, although didn't bar billiard tables or halls in Hardin, placed a high fee on each table and each successive table in the establishment.

Most of the thirty-five attending the meeting protested the repeal of the ordinance and Henderson's recreation room which has been operating for the past few days.

Bobby Puckett is mayor and John Salyers is judge of the city of Hardin.
