J. A. HOWLETT IS DEAD IN ARKANSAS

Former Citizen, 87 Years Old, Was Outstanding Mason, Served as Assessor.

J. A. Howlett, 87 years old, former prominent citizen of Calloway county and tax assessor from 1902-08, died September 23 in Cash, Arkansas, of the infirmities of age. Though a native of North Carolina, where he was born on November 17, 1848, Mr. Howlett came to Calloway county at an early age and throughout his lifetime took an active interest in public affairs.

He retained his physical and mental vigor to a remarkable degree and performed practically all his accustomed activities. Just a year or so ago Mr. Howlett picked cotton for one of his sons.

He was intensely interested in the Masonic order and was a charter member of the Temple Hill Lodge. When he left Calloway county he was the oldest living member of that order in the county. He had held practically every office within the gift of the organization.

Mr. Howlett resided in this county for 55 years, moving here with his parents in 1856 at the age of 8. He married Miss Mary E. Vance, on March 29, 1888. She died in August, 1895, and Mr. Howlett never wed again.

Of the 10 children, five are now living. They are Timon Howlett, with whom he had made his home after moving to Arkansas, and Wilson Howlett, both of Cash, Arkansas; Mrs. Nora Wyatt and Mrs. A. C. Jones, both of Hardin, Ky.; and Mrs. A. B. Hay, Chickasha, Okla. Mr. Howlett had many friends, both among the old and young in all parts of Calloway county, particularly in the northern section of the county where he resided so many years, who join the family in mourning his death.

Association Barn Burns; 714 Hogsheads Leaf Lost

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a barn rented by the Western Dark Fired and some 714 hogsheads of tobacco last night. The alarm was turned in about 8 o'clock and the fire then was well under way and had covered much of the interior of the barn and the roof. The barn located next to the Standard Oil Co. tanks was known as the Griffin & Pitt barn and was an old frame structure.

A definite estimate of the loss has not been made but will run into several thousand dollars and included in the weed was the samples of the whole harvest. Only recently a fire had been considered to protect the adjoining gas tanks.

The Association had 583 hogsheads of tobacco in storage and about 131 belonged to the Southwestern Tobacco Co., Hopkinsville.

Information given out at the Association headquarters was that the barn held 714 hogsheads of tobacco, 583 of which was held by the Association and 131 by the Southwestern Tobacco Co., Hopkinsville. The association tobacco was all samples of the 1931-1933 and 1934 crop. The loss of tobacco held by the association was set at $107,400 which was covered at appraised value. Loss to Southwestern Co. not estimated. Building insured for $7,000.

The Murray High School Tigers will go to Mayfield Friday night to meet the Mayfield Cardinals in what should be one of the hardest fought games of the season for both elevens.

The Cardinals are stocky while Coach Holland has a line to place up against the Cardinals that will form a decent comparison. The Tiger lineup is reported to be in fair condition for the game and is expected to carry with it the support of hundreds of fans from the student body, college and town. Director Joe English will take his band and students are planning to go.

Real competition has been evidenced between the two teams and the last three years has seen some thrillers as a 6-0 win for Murray in 1932, a 6-6 tie in 1933 and a 7-6 win by Mayfield last year.

Good old October again is here with its crisp, autumn air, gold and red leaves lazily drifting down and smoke curling from chimney tops reminding us its time to pull the easy chair to the fireside, get out embroidery or quilt pieces, and occasionally a good book or

The Dover fair is over, and by the time this is printed, the last leg of mutton and the last drum stick of the old red rooster will have been eaten at the Baptist Association at Poplar Springs church, meantime "there's a bustle in the kitchen and a smell of cake and pies" in preparation for Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. Nolan died of cancer Sunday morning and was buried near Tharpe Monday.

Several tragedies have occurred over here in the last two months. A Mrs. Green drowned herself in a well at Model, a Mr. McDaniel drowned in Tennessee River, and a Jones boy was knifed to death near Tharpe.

War is again in progress in some countries and we hope they keep it over there but war is not the maker, but I wonder if on that great day when we must go bringing in the sheaves that we have gathered, if it would not be more pardonable to go to the judgment bar facing the charge of having allowed one's family to starve, than to go up leading hundreds of men, boys and even girls whose lives have been ruined and whose souls have been damned by our trade down here.

Well, the president's problem of raising money is settled. Next he has to do is to announce a Louis-Baer fight or a World Series baseball game, I'm about to become a sport fan myself. Listening in on both these big events a few minutes.

Bro. Nelson has changed the fourth Sunday services to First Sunday so we went to church last Sunday. Mrs. Lorene Mason came home with us. Miss Martha Thomas and Leonard Cathey were guests of Miss Helen Ruth Spiceland.

Mr. and Mrs. Linus Salsbery and Mrs. Otis Lovins and children, Tony Lovins, Mr. and Mrs. Noble Lovins, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Allbritton and Mrs. Emma Nance and daughter, Maud, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lovins last Sunday.

Mrs. Nance and daughter from Chicago have been visiting relatives near Concord for about a month.

I have writers' cramp from attempting to answer quilt club chain letters but this is to notify the public I'm now signing off, tho of course I appreciate the interest shown in me.

I'm going to have the prettiest quilt of anybody when all my squares I sent out come home again, judging from the lovely work I have already received. If any of you ladies want some beautiful work for your Christmas gifts, if Mary Olive Mitchell of Hazel can't please you, you're hopeless.

Life's Patchwork
Life is like an old fashioned quilt top.

By some called the sunshine and shade. With half of each block, dark and somber. The other half of bright colors made.

Each life is a block in that patchwork. The sorrows and joys give the hues. And God takes a part in the piecing. Allotting the rose tints and blues. It seems when the dark days are frequent.

And burdens are heavy to bear. That all of our block must be shadowed.

When we grumble that fate is unfair. But we watch and we see the neighbors.

Perchance after years of ease Most finally sew some dark strips. When visited by death or disease. So after each life nears completion Each block has its sunshine and shade. And we see how the dark served a purpose. When the old patchwork quilt has been made.

Weather Records Broken Here

New records have been set in the past few months in the weather department. A new low for August was set on 31st, with 39 degrees, and a new low for previous to October 23 was set with 27 degrees on the morning of October 2, with just a little ice—while on Sunday, October 6, the highest reading was 43, being 5 degrees lower than previously recorded.

All five cool dealers are smiling this week, as in 1930 nothing "unusual" about that? This will make a "news item" for 1930, if put in your scrap book now.

ILLEGAL TO HOLD DRY OPTION VOTE

Court of Appeals Holds State is Still Legally Dry Under Old Law.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Oct. 8.—Local option elections in any county, city, town or precinct may not be held legally in the State while the State prohibition amendment is in the Constitution, Judge James W. Stites of the Court of Appeals held today in enjoining the holding of such an election in Bell County.

Judge Stites' order was concurred in by the entire bench of the Court of Appeals. Similar cases from Lincoln and Mercer Counties are on their way here for determination, and local option elections already have been ordered in approximately sixty of the 120 counties of the State for November 5.

Repeal Vote November 5
Voters of the State on that date will pass on the repeal of the State prohibition amendment.

However, the effect of Judge Stites' order of today is to forbid the holding of local option election until State repeal is voted. The proposed amendment, which would be inserted in the Constitution in place of the present dry amendment, provides for holding of local option elections. The Appellate Court has held that the existing local option clause of the Constitution was repealed by the present dry amendment.

Calloway county had called a local option election for November 5.

New Newspaper To Open in Louisville

A live metropolitan morning newspaper is to enter the Louisville field October 22 when the Daily and Sunday News Enquirer makes its first appearance. While Elam Huddleston, state treasurer, is the prime mover behind the newspaper, it has the endorsement of Governor Laffoon, Thomas S. Egan, Earl Wootton and others affiliated with the present state administration.

Frank Lebus of Cynthiana, member of the state highway commission, is the president.

The News Enquirer plant has been installed in a building at 116 South Brook Street, Louisville. It will have the new telegraphic service furnished by Transradio, and it will carry the features of the United Features Inc. A strong local staff has been assembled, and some idea of the talent employed can be gained from the fact that the desk will be manned by four men who have held managing editorships on well known newspapers. A thirty-two page Goss press, nine linotypes, two Linotype machines, a Monotype and other modern equipment have been installed in the plant. The paper starts off with seventy men on the editorial and mechanical payroll.

'Happy' Chandler Never Knew What It Was to Win Until He Was 30 Years Old, He Says

Now, that Lieut. Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler appears to be within stepping distance of the Governor's chair, inquiries are being made concerning the background of the 37-year-old candidate who wound up a whirlwind primary campaign with the greatest gains ever made in such a contest.

"I was 30 years old before I ever knew what it was to win. I have been losing all my life and am used to it," he said recently when congratulated upon his victory in the primary.

On the surface, it may be explained readily that Mr. Chandler was successful because he won the confidence and friendship of those he met. Children responded at once to his genial, sympathetic understanding of their interests, the overall-clad workman, fresh from his labors found in "Happy" a man who was one of them at heart, business and professional people likewise found in him a man conversant with their problems and sympathetic with their interests.

It is noteworthy that the few persons who have attempted to take advantage of Mr. Chandler because of his cheerful nature and innate courtesy have come to grief. It is equally worthy of note that none who so erred has ever been known to hold a personal grudge against him. His training on athletic fields, his contacts with fellow workers at day labor and with politicians in the State Legislative hall, have taught him politeness and strength.

It is a matter of history that the comparatively few experienced political observers who cast their lots with "Happy" were overjoyed when they saw the impression he was making with the people. It was not "thinks" to reason why, but to encourage their champion to make more speeches, to see more people.

But since victory appears in sight for the youthful Democratic standard-bearer, the more serious-minded thinkers of the State are studying the history of the man in an effort to determine what it is that moulds such a man. Their findings disclose a background of poverty, lifelong struggle and a successful struggle apparently against overwhelming odds.

Mr. Chandler was born on a small farm in Henderson County, near Corydon, the son of Joseph Sepsus and Mrs. Callie Saunders Chandler. His father was a descendant of one of the pioneer Scotch-Irish families that settled in Virginia and later moved to Kentucky, while his mother was related to Claude Terrill, former Speaker of the House. Poor health and poverty left young Chandler virtually an orphan at the age of 4.

He and a younger brother were placed in the homes of relatives who had large families of their own. After being tossed from pillar to post until he was 12 years old, Mr. Chandler went to live with an Indiana family, where he was sent to school. Meanwhile, he was doing heart-breaking chores that did not deter him from his determination to "get an education."

Mr. Chandler then returned to Corydon to enter high school. In addition to his chores, he earned money for his expenses by establishing a newspaper route, selling The Courier-Journal and other newspapers. Meanwhile, he had lost his younger brother as the result of an accident.

From then on to the present, Mr. Chandler's life was marked by continuous struggle against heavy odds, but he won. Mr. Chandler determined to continue his education in college after being graduated from high school. "I had a $5 bill and a red sweater and a smile when I reached Transylvania University, a young man, and thank God, I have them all," he said in one of his campaign speeches.

Mr. Chandler paid his way from the first by doing such odd jobs as washing windows, cutting grass and waiting table. Later, he coached basketball in the summer of 1920, played basketball for Mr. N. D. with the Red River Valley League.

An early ambition to be a lawyer came to the surface shortly after he had decided to become a professional baseball player. Mr. Chandler had gone so far as to accept tentatively an offer from the Canadian League at Winnipeg and had played on a special team.

Upon his return to Lexington to continue his studies, Mr. Chandler was tempted again with an offer to sign with the A. G. Fields Minors. He decided to continue his education.

Still earning his way by whatever tasks he could find, Mr. Chandler received his A. B. degree from Transylvania in 1921 and went to Harvard University for a law course. While studying at Harvard he coached the Wellesley High School team to help pay expenses. During the following summer, he handled a pick-up team, and thank God, I have them all," he said in one of his campaign speeches.

them all," he said in one of his campaign speeches.

Mr. Chandler paid his way from the first by doing such odd jobs as washing windows, cutting grass and waiting table. Later, he coached basketball in the summer of 1920, played basketball for Mr. N. D. with the Red River Valley League.

An early ambition to be a lawyer came to the surface shortly after he had decided to become a professional baseball player. Mr. Chandler had gone so far as to accept tentatively an offer from the Canadian League at Winnipeg and had played on a special team.

Upon his return to Lexington to continue his studies, Mr. Chandler was tempted again with an offer to sign with the A. G. Fields Minors. He decided to continue his education.

Still earning his way by whatever tasks he could find, Mr. Chandler received his A. B. degree from Transylvania in 1921 and went to Harvard University for a law course. While studying at Harvard he coached the Wellesley High School team to help pay expenses. During the following summer, he handled a pick-up team, and thank God, I have them all," he said in one of his campaign speeches.

Romantic Film of Mississippi Life Stars Will Rogers

Comedy and Romance Highlight Thrill-Packed Picture of River Action.

Laughter and tears, comedy and near-tragedy follow each other in quick succession and bring drama and suspense to Will Rogers' romantic picture, of Mississippi steamboat life, "Steamboat Round the Bend," which comes Sunday and Monday to the Capitol Theatre.

Two unusual entertainment elements combine to make the great and moving story of "Steamboat Round the Bend." One is the laugh-filled rivalry of Will Rogers and Irvin S. Cobb, America's two greatest humorists as the crusty captains of competing boats; the other is the wistful and tender romance of Anne Shirley and John McGuire.

McGuire is a river pilot, nephew of Rogers who owns the "Claremore Queen." In a quarrel over Anne Shirley he kills another man in self-defense.

Rogers is hostile to the girl because of the trouble she has brought to McGuire. But, when the boy is condemned to hang, their love for him draws them together in the fight to save him.

They join in the struggle to get money for the boy's appeal and to find a missing witness who can save him. Their adventure is a wax museum are among the high points of the picture's comedy, their narrow escapes from antagonistic river folks among its thrills.

But the great thrill is saved for the last, when Rogers' boat is involved in the great race down to New Orleans as he is hurrying to save his nephew. How Rogers manages to beat pompous old Cobb and his "Fride of Paducah," and at the same time save the boy, is revealed in a surprise-filled climax.

Ben Lucien Burman's novel furnished the original story for "Steamboat Round the Bend." Producer Sol M. Wurtzel, Director John Ford and scenario by Dudley Nichols and Lamar Trotti, all of whom assisted in the making of "Judge Priest," are again joined with Rogers in "Steamboat Round the Bend."

In the supporting cast are Stephen Fichtel, Eugene Pallette and Berton Churchill, assisting Rogers in comedy characterization.

Candidate for Lieutenant Governor, Editor, Secretary Democratic State Committee

Keen Johnson, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, is publisher of the Richmond Daily Register and secretary of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee.

Born in Lyon County, son of a Methodist minister, the late Rev. Robert Johnson and Mattie D. Holloway Johnson, he lived in numerous Kentucky towns where his father was stationed as a minister. Early boyhood days were spent on a farm in Livingston County.

He was graduated from the common schools in Jefferson County and a boys' preparatory school, Vanderbilt Training School, at Elkton. Later he was graduated from the University of Kentucky with an A.B. degree in journalism and is at present president of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association.

Johnson volunteered for military service immediately after the declaration of war and served two years and a half in the army during the World War, one year of which was in France. He went overseas with the Eighty-ninth Division and has been active in the American Legion.

Upon his return from France he made his debut in newspaper work with the purchase of a weekly newspaper at Elizabethtown, The Mirror. He later sold the property and entered the University of Kentucky to complete work required for a degree, which had been interrupted by the war. While a student he worked as a reporter on the Lexington Herald.

After finishing school he bought the Anderson News at Lawrenceburg in partnership with R. E. Garrison. He later disposed of his interests and acquired an interest in the Richmond Daily Register, of which he has been editor and publisher, associated with S. M. Sautley, the last ten years.

He has been active in the Kentucky Press Association and has served as its president. His candidacy for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor was extensively supported by his newspaper friends. He is a member of the board of directors of the National Editorial Association. He has been interested in public welfare activities and last year was president of the Kentucky Conference of Social Work. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Candidate for Superintendent Public Instruction Qualified By Experience and Training

Varied experience as an educator, through professional training and an intimate knowledge of the educational needs of the State, combine to admirably equip Harry W. Peters, Democratic nominee for Superintendent of Public Instruction, for the position to which he aspires.

Reared on a farm in Marshall County, educated in the public schools and at Western Kentucky State Teachers College, his knowledge of the needs of the rural schools of the State embraces all their problems.

After teaching for five years in Marshall and McCracken County schools he was elected to his first administrative position when he became Superintendent of Schools in Marshall County. In this position he served six years. He was chosen Superintendent of Christian County schools and filled the position for ten years, from which post he was granted temporary leave of absence last September to organize and direct the new division of free textbooks in the State Department of Education.

He won the Democratic nomination for Superintendent of Public Instruction on a definite platform program which was so extensively approved by the educational leaders as to win him almost universal support of this group.

Professor Peters is 41 years old. He is married, has a wife and three children. He is a member of the Methodist Church and the Masonic Lodge. He is also a member of the Kiwanis Club.

Some Wise Burglars

WE WERE TALKING a few days ago with a merchant who has been reading these little stories about the value of good bank service. He told us of an experience he had that shows the value of the checking system.

Burglars entered his store one night and blew open his safe. It contained about $150, but most of this was in checks—less than $50 of cash.

The burglars took every cent of the money but they left all the checks exactly as they found them.

They knew those checks would be worthless to them for if they tried to cash them they would be caught and easily proven guilty of the theft.

This merchant said he received $9 in checks for each dollar in cash and that he always worried when he had much cash on hand.

A Twist of Law

A striking example of the frequent variance of the law with the facts is found in the ruling of the Kentucky Court of Appeals that counties in the state cannot vote on local option on November 3 because the commonwealth is legally dry. Of course, that Kentucky is dry is merely a legal fiction brought about by an effort of the legislature to circumvent the law in keeping with what is believed to be a reversal of public sentiment as indicated by Kentucky's approval of the Federal law repealing the 18th amendment.

The old state prohibition law, enacted during the Stanley administration, has never been repealed. Liquor, wines and beers are now sold by law, passed by the 1934 general assembly, which permits a person to prescribe for himself. One is supposed to sign a blank stating that the liquor he is purchasing is to be used for "medical, sacramental or religious purposes." Of course, everybody knew that was merely a legal device of the old Kentucky prohibition law and the practice of requiring the customer to sign this prescription soon died out because everybody took it as a joke, which it was.

So Kentucky is legally dry while for all practical intents and purposes it is sopping wet. And the learned judges say it would be impossible to vote whether a county shall be wet or dry because the law says it is already "dry."

And the only way the drys can get a legal local option election is to have Kentucky's state-wide dry law wiped off the books and make the state wet again so that we can make it dry again. No wonder the law is so helplessly confusing to the layman—and not infrequently also to the lawyers and the judges.

Where I Stand

There seems to be some confusion in the minds of some as to where I stand inasmuch as I filled a few minutes on the program both at a dinner of Democratic editors with Mr. Chandler in Louisville last Saturday evening and at a dinner in personal company to Mr. Thomas S. Rhea in the same city on Monday evening.

To those who know me, no explanation is necessary. To those who do not wish to understand me or desire to misinterpret me no explanation is desired.

I have no apology to make for my participation in these two affairs. I attended the dinner with Mr. Chandler and the Democratic editors supporting him because this newspaper and I are supporting the Democratic nominee as we pledged we would prior to the first primary. More than three-fourths of the editors present at that dinner did not support Mr. Chandler in the primaries.

I attended the dinner for Mr. Rhea and paid him a personal

Democrats Should Contribute

There should be hearty response to the appeal that has been made by the Democratic State Headquarters in Louisville for individual contributions through newspapers or sent directly by mail to Frederick A. Wallis, Finance Committee Chairman, Democratic state headquarters, Louisville, Ky. Democrats believe that public officials should owe their loyalty to the electorate. In order that this may be an actual fact it is far better that campaigns should be financed by the rank and file rather than through large contributions from those who might have interests of a selfish nature.

Lieutenant Governor Chandler has refused to make any commitments to him or to promise any appointments in advance. This, of course, makes the raising of campaign funds more difficult.

However, it gives Mr. Chandler a better opportunity to serve the people who should gladly offer their contributions to promote government in their own interest.

Keep Us Out of War

President Roosevelt's unequivocal pronouncement in the West last week that America would remain at peace with the rest of the world is cheering indeed as wars and rumors of wars run amok in Europe. It is indeed fervently hoped that no unforeseen circumstance will arise to relieve President Roosevelt's words as occurred in 1916 when Mr. Wilson was elected on the platform of "He Kept Us Out of War" and less than six months later we were embroiled in the greatest war of all time.

It is too broad a statement to say that America "will not go to war." Sometimes war is unavoidable but often we have not taken sufficiently effective means to avoid it when we have been crying "Peace, Peace!"

The course of international affairs is unpredictable. And it would be a foolish policy to declare that under no circumstances will we go to war except upon the invasion of our own shores. It is entirely possible that such a late resort to armed conflict might be too late. No war was ever won fighting defensively and if we get in a war we want to be mighty sure that we win it. Costly as is a victorious war it is not comparable to a defeat.

One thing America must remember. And that is that the development of transportation and communication have materially reduced the size of the world for all practical purposes. Even since the last war the earth is measurably smaller in those particulars. Year by year, the great natural protective barriers of our oceans grow smaller and smaller.

America must be not "too proud to fight," but "too smart to fight." It must not only avoid partiality but the very appearance of partiality in any conflict, minor or major.

In the meantime, if the uncertainties of the world situation, not only now but also for the future, require that we maintain an adequate national defense. Even though the possibility of war is extremely remote, even though every effort may be made to avoid conflict, the risk of unpreparedness is too great to run.

Waging war is one of the most difficult of all arts and soldiers can't be made merely by putting uniforms on the bodies and rifles in the hands of men. Eighteen months after war was declared in 1917, and with an additional year of warning that was imminent, American soldiers in the Meuse-Argonne in the fall of 18, asked their officers how to fire a rifle.

All the military experiences of the ages are in direct proportion to the lack of training of combatants. If we should become involved in war, it is too late then to start our preparations.

Only strict neutrality and adequate preparedness will keep us out of it if another general conflagration gets under way. That is the only course open to us so long as America feels that it knows the answer to the question: "Is life so dear or peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains of slavery?"

At a good Democrat I support Mr. Chandler and his ticket without reservation. Mr. Chandler understands my position and holds no prejudice against me for it.

As I have been absent for a long time, I will join the happy band of writers once again.

We had our first frost Sunday morning but have had no rain in ages.

J. T. Nolin of Tharpe passed away October 5, following a long illness of cancer. He is survived by several children and a host of friends who mourn his passing.

A wedding of much interest to their many friends was that of Miss Ida Evelyn Barrett to Castle McDougal, which took place at Dover, Tenn., October 5. The Frosts of October 1 and 6th damaged cotton, sorghum and pastures. However, there is a time to all things, cry and laugh—old "Eagle" prefers hilarity—done quit bawlin'!

Bernard Jones' colt show resulted in Connie Mills 3 year old mule getting the prize, the same animal winning it three years ago. "Pete" Crouch was awarded blue ribbon for best baby mule colt. All the colts on exhibition were just fine. Carl Lockhart, Ed Watson, and Arthur Butterworth were the judges.

A very large crowd celebrated Mrs. Lizzie Bazzell's birthday Sunday. I don't know her age and I'm afraid to guess at it. Cliff Gup-ton had a surprise birthday dinner last Sunday, and I reckon he is past 50. You ask how old I am; I ask how old you is?

Chandler gave Swope a blessing order for adopting all of his platform. All promenade!

Mrs. Pearl Fendergrass informed me of the death of John A. Howland of Paducah while the bride is the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barrett of this community.

Woodrow and Brandon Dill of Murray spent the week end at home.

The Stewart County Fair has just closed with many revealing blue ribbons and cash premiums for their many different exhibits.

J. D. Dill and Lloyd Vinson were business visitors in Clarksville one day last week.

Mrs. Nettie Vinson, who recently underwent an operation the William Mason Memorial Hospital of Murray, has been admitted again for treatment.

Tommie Vinson, Miss Euphie Dill, Mrs. Alpha and Dorothy Vinson motored to Paris, Tenn., Sunday to attend the all day singing.

The school of this community is progressing nicely under the management of Miss Louise Acree.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Vinson and family spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Joe Dill, and Mr. Dill of Model, Tenn.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Barrow is visiting her brother, Grover Barrow and family of Dover—Topsy.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

New Wheat Program

This office has received word of a group conference Friday of this week and information pertaining to the new wheat contract for the next four years will be available at the office by Tuesday, October 15. All wheat producers interested in the new contract should come in at once and get started on the contract. Old wheat signers will be sent a letter as soon as their contract is ready for them to sign.

New Tobacco Contract

The county agent and the tobacco committee will go to Mayfield Monday, October 14, to learn about the new tobacco program that is to be in effect the next four years. Producers will not have an opportunity to sign the new contract for some time yet. Letters will be sent to all contract signers as soon as the contract is ready. The 1935 rental checks amounting to more than $18,000.00 have been received for those contracts that have received second adjustment payments. Checks received are not for the Rider and 35 contract signers. These should be in by the latter part of the month. Cards have been mailed to those receiving the checks.

4-H Clubs

All club members should finish their projects and books as soon as possible. The year is about over and work must be finished. The club work should be bigger next year. The organization of clubs for the new year will be some time this fall and before that time achievement cards for those completing their projects will be awarded. Be sure to complete work so your card will be presented on achievement day.

Some time ago the county agent and a group of tobacco growers made a tour of the county to study the curing of tobacco. For the last several years the farmers have made trips to other counties because they were so far advanced in curing methods. That was not the case this year. A large number of barns were cured with the latest methods this time in this county. The tobacco is being cured forward step made in the curing of tobacco in the county. To get back to my story—the best way to study curing methods is to go to the barn when the crop is curing. Thus we did on this day and late that afternoon I took a farmer home. He had said very little all day, I did not see him for several days and when I did he said, "I would give $50.00 to have made that trip before I cured my tobacco crop. I have another firing of late tobacco and I am going to follow as close as I can the methods I saw the other day."

Another year is to come. Perhaps others feel the same way about their trips because there were many more than the one farmer on several trips. Why not all tobacco producers follow the example of the leaders in the county in the curing of the biggest cash crop. Even the best crop of tobacco when put in the barn may come out very poor if not handled properly. Watch the sales and try to produce tobacco like the man that sells for the highest price year after year.

Scatter-Brain's News

Monday morning, and the sun is shining brightly but Jack Frost visited us last night and left a white blanket on Mother Earth and finished turning things brown.

Miss Eva Lamb, Miss Margaret Gilson, and Miss Roberta Smith spent Saturday night as guests of Misses Evelyn and Pauline Alton.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Thompson had as their guest Sunday Joe Bruce and Sadie Nell Wilson of Concord.

Mr. and Mrs. Vonnell Clark and children Vonnell and Joan of Bruceton, Tenn., visited Mrs. Clark's mother and sister, Mrs. Myrtle and Lillian over the week end.

A large crowd attended the picnic supper given at White Oak school Saturday night. There was a contest for the prettiest girl and ugliest boy. Miss Charlene Henry won the girl's prize, a large box of fruit, and Wendell (Bear) Allbritton, as the ugliest boy, won a similar prize.

News is scarce, the weather is cold and it is time for the mail. I'll be back later if nothing happens.—Scatter-Brains.

Hazel High News

F. F. A. Initiation Party

The members of the F. F. A. organization of Hazel High School held its annual initiation party recently. After the party the new members feel that they well deserved to be a part of the club—and no wonder!

Those who were raised to the degree of "Green Hands" were: John Melvin Morgan, Earl Knight, Wilton Holland, Dallas Miller, Hugh Randle Miller, David St. John, Albee Watts, Lester Farris, Tom Turnbow, Houston Hawley, Thomas Herndon.

After the "fun" (mostly enjoyed by old members, I imagine) watermelons were served.

Cotton Town Minstrel

The basketball squad of Hazel High school is presenting a negro minstrel, "Cotton Town", Saturday night, October 12, at the Hazel High auditorium. A pleasant evening of good, clean fun, of excellent singing and dancing will be assured by the boys.

The boys are hoping that there will be enough money taken in to cover the expense of basketball jackets that they want. Last month they took in enough money at the fiddlers' contest to buy their suits. Well—here's hoping them luck.

Mistake Corrected

Last week the reporter jumbled the names of the society basketball captains. Robert Miller was elected captain of his society's team and Milstead James, captain of the other societies. The reporter regrets his mistake.

Home Economics Girls Entertain

The Home Economics class of Hazel high will entertain the T. A. with a tea, Thursday afternoon, after its regular meeting. This is a project they had planned in their hospitality unit.

We had some light showers of rain scarcely enough to lay the dust. Cisterns and ponds are dry. Stock water is scarce.

Aubrey Culver hauled water for the school house cistern Wednesday, October 3.

Mr. Moore and Burnie Jones are having stables erected. T. A. Jones and Toy Jones are preparing to build stables soon.

"It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in man." Psalms 18:8.

Johnnie Ramsey and brother, Robert Burkeen, are hauling logs near Almo.

Johnnie Gus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Walston, has entered high school at Almo. Ed Culver is in his third year of high school work at Almo. He is the son of Lowell Culver near here.

Miss Lucile Walston is progressing nicely with her third school here.

Hatlan, Joe, and Clyde Nanney of Temple Hill and sons of Jim Nanney deceased, came to the Curd Graveyard November 2—to clean off their father's grave and to visit their uncle, Bill Nanney who is seriously ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Myrtle McClain, near the Curd Graveyard.

The Rev. Blankenship, pastor of the church here, preaches at this place every third Sunday at 11:00 a. m. and every first Sunday night. Prayer meeting is held every Saturday night.

Jeff Nanney of Fulton arrived October 6 to attend the serious sickness of his brother, Bill Nanney.

OVER 30,000 KENTUCKY PEOPLE

OVER 30,000 Kentuckians owe their sole employment to the distilling industry in Kentucky.

Over one hundred million dollars are invested in this same industry—enough to make a path of dollar bills over 10,000 miles long.

Unless you vote "Yes" to Repeal the State Prohibition Amendment on November 5, most if not all these 30,000 people will be deprived of employment, and a $100,000,000 industry will be driven out of Kentucky.

Why It Is Necessary to Vote on November 5

Prior to 1933, Kentucky was dry under both the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, and a State Constitutional Prohibition Amendment.

In 1933, national repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment legalized the distilling industry only so far as the Federal Government was concerned.

National Repeal still left Kentucky with State prohibition laws which, under our State Constitution, could not be repealed until the November election of 1935.

Pending that date, the Legislature in 1934 passed an act known as the Liquor Control Act, which now permits (as an emergency measure) the sale of alcoholic beverages.

The Liquor Control Act, which is merely an emergency measure enacted pending the repeal vote, must not be confused with the State Constitution's Prohibition Amendment.

The Prohibition Amendment is a permanent part of our State Constitution unless the people of Kentucky vote to repeal it on November 5.

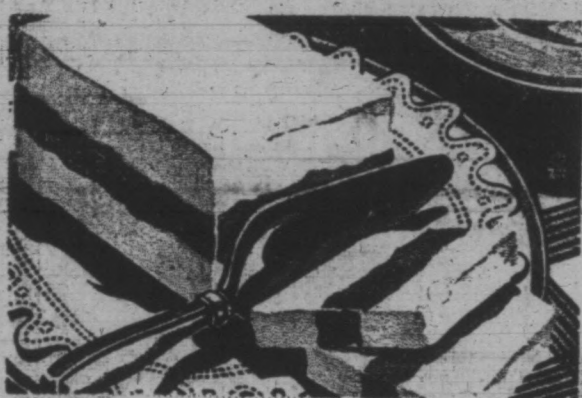

A vote for Repeal in November is NOT a vote to repeal the Liquor Control Act now in effect. It is simply a vote to put an end to Constitutional Prohibition in Kentucky, and to replace it with a system by which each county, city, town or precinct may determine for itself whether or not alcoholic beverages may be sold therein.

If you wish to help over 30,000 Kentuckians to keep their sole means of employment—if you wish to help keep thousands of honest workers off the relief rolls—

'BREDS CRUMBLE UNDER SPRING HILL ATTACK 33-0

While fans wondered what had happened to the Thoroughbred moral and co-ordination, the Spring Hill eleven continued a lashing attack of passing and running which opened in the first of the second to crush the Murphys 33-0. Admittedly the visitors held a better clicking eleven, there seemed to be something missing in the Murray camp. Opening with a strong offensive attack that netted them three first downs and a defense that held the visitors practically gainless, the Thoroughbreds seemed to have the situation well in hand until Traynor intercepted a Murray pass in the first plays of the second frame. A series of effective passes by Traynor took the ball from the 47 to the 8 yard line where he reversed for the touchdown after an attempt to pass.

The Murray College gridders probably took the worst drubbing ever given a Murray college team in a single quarter in the second in which Spring Hill charged and passed effectively against a completely rattled Murray eleven to make 20 points. Traynor tossed a lateral wide to Donohue after two passes for better than 20 yards had placed them in scoring position. Donohue eased through Murray for 27 yards and the marker. Shortly after Traynor passed to Lawley for 30 yards and the third touchdown. Traynor kicked two of the points.

Spring Hill's first touch of the ball in the second half metted a touchdown when Donohue printed 60 yards with Greenwell's kick for the touchdown. Murray seemed to strengthen after this and held the Alabamians to a single first down for the quarter and netted one to their credit.

The fourth was a miserable affair with Spring Hill returning a punt to Murray's 46 and with a series of passes reached the 8-yard strip where Ziemann went over. Murray grabbing at hopes through an aerial attack of scoring tossed pass after pass into the air with Me-

Cracken throwing wildly and failing to connect with the receiver. Spring Hill rushed for 188 yards to Murray's 123 and completed 6 of 11 passes for 84 yards while Murray attempted 22 and made only 37 yards on 3 completed ones. Spring Hill intercepted 4 passes. Murray's kickers, Greenwell, McCracken and Elder outperformed Traynor, considered one of the best in the South by a slight margin. Spring Hill averaged 40 yards down the field and made 10 first downs to Murray's 8.

Coach Stewart used 16 substitutes in an effort to stem the tide and the center of the line was usually found solid. The fast backs, Donohue, Traynor aided by Dolan Ziemann were well supported by blockers in their marches off tackle and around end. Yarbrough turned in a nice defensive game and Elder figured in defensive work. Curran and Henderson were seen to break through as was Land and Mullins.

OUR income isn't as much as other folks'—but we can at least enjoy an electric range just as they do.

"Goodness, I've had to save on household expenses wherever I could. That's why we installed an electric range.

Now even though I buy less expensive cuts of meat they are delicious. That's a saving, too.

"My advice is see your dealer and find out how economical it is to own an electric range."

Almo High School

The F. F. A. boys entertained their girl friends with a welter bout at the school building Friday night. Games were played inside and later the welter bout was roared out behind the school building. At about 10:00 o'clock everyone left expressing themselves as having had an enjoyable time. We are hoping that there will be some other source of entertainment from them soon.

Now the people of the lower grades can enjoy their studying a great deal better, since their new window shades have come. We are hoping that shades can be afforded for the other class rooms before long.

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Gaudin, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my times until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt wonderful. I gave Cardui to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."
