Cook Takes Steps In Court To Get His Name In Primary

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Marlow Cook already has taken steps to go to court to try to get his name on the ballot for the Republican primary May 28 so he can be an official candidate for re-election.

That action became necessary Monday when Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock advised Secretary of State Thelma Stovall of a technical deficiency in his papers.

Within minutes after receiving that opinion, Cook's Frankfort attorney, Ben Fowler, informed Mrs. Stovall he had obtained a restraining order to keep her from certifying any candidates until the issue is settled in court. Cook's suit in Franklin Circuit Court ultimately is aimed at requiring Mrs. Stovall to put his name on the ballot.

Cook filed his candidacy papers with Mrs. Stovall March 22 but failed to include a form designating his campaign treasurer, which is required by law. When Mrs. Stovall reminded him that was necessary, Cook told her he would do it later.

Although both Mrs. Stovall and Hancock are Democrats, each has said partisan consideration had nothing to do with their handling of Cook's case.

Gov. Wendell Ford, the major Democratic candidate for Cook's seat, was expected to give Cook a strong fight in November. Each faces little known opponents in the primary.

Hancock said last Friday that Cook could not be a write-in candidate in the primary because of Kentucky's closed primary law. That law requires candidates to swear they supported their party in the preceding election.

If Cook's bid in court fails, he still could be a write-in candidate in November. But his chances of re-election probably would be hampered by the difficulty of writing in names on voting machines in Kentucky.

Cook submitted the report in question, designating Jack Voigt of Louisville as his treasurer, last Friday. He maintained then he had substantially complied with the state election law March 22 when he filed his notification and declaration papers.

The law requiring candidates to name their campaign treasurer when filing was enacted first in 1966, subsequent to the major part of the election law.

It was strengthened in 1970, two years after Cook was elected to the Senate. Wording added then said that until a candidate named his treasurer "his qualifications as a candidate shall not be complete and his filing papers shall not be accepted by the office with which he is required to file."

Mrs. Stovall said she did not discover that strengthened wording until last Thursday, the day after the filing deadline. Up until then, she said, she had assumed Cook would be allowed to file the report naming his treasurer after the filing deadline, as had been done in the past.

Hancock's written opinion Monday said the 1970 language and previous adjudication on the issue "make it abundantly clear ... that it means exactly what it says."

That meaning is, he said, "if a candidate has not filed his designation of a campaign treasurer at the time and in the office in which he filed his notification and declaration paper, (See Cook, Page 10)

Runoff Election To Determine Faculty Member of MSU Board

Balloting to elect a faculty representative to the board of regents at Murray State University failed to decide the issue Monday—but a surprise move by the incumbent made it certain that the eventual winner will be a new face on the board.

Four candidates who polled the highest number of votes for the three-year term will be involved in a runoff election Wednesday, April 10. The runoff candidates and the number of votes cast for them are:

Dr. Howard H. Keller, associate professor of foreign languages, 80; Dr. Mark Cunningham, associate professor of psychology, 44; and Dr. Rex Alexander, professor of health, physical education and recreation, and Dr. Jack Rose, assistant professor of school administration and supervision, 27 each.

None of the four has previously held the faculty seat on the board.

A runoff became necessary under election guidelines when none of the eight candidates on the ballot had a clear majority. The tie in the number of votes received by Alexander and Rose necessitated a runoff among four candidates instead of three. Dr. M. D. Hassell, associate professor of biology and the incumbent faculty representative, withdrew his name from the ballot before the voting began. Hassell, who has served since the spring of 1971, had earlier filed a petition as a candidate for reelection.

Other candidates on the ballot and the number of votes they received were:

George T. Lilly, professor and vice-chairman of industrial education, 22; Dr. C. D. Wilder, associate professor of biology, 21; Dr. Wayne Beasley, professor of history, 15; and Dr. William Ryan, chairman of secondary education, 12.

Dr. Gilbert Mathis, professor of economics, finished with 18 write-in votes.

Faculty members of assistant professor rank or above will vote in the runoff from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Wednesday in the registrar's office. Paul W. Shahan, associate professor of music and chairman of the faculty election committee, again noted that a clear majority of votes will be necessary for election. A second runoff, if necessary will be held Friday, April 12.

Nine Workshops Planned For Summer Arts Academy At MSU

Nine workshops—four for selected high school students and five for teachers—are planned for the second annual Summer Arts Academy at Murray State University during the summer.

Dr. Joe N. Prince, dean of the College of Creative Expression and academy director, said May 1 is the deadline for applications for both the two-weeks student workshops and the three-day teacher workshops.

Guest professionals, along with the university faculty, will offer student workshops in art; keyboard and theatre and teacher workshops in choral music, marching band, art, guitar and stage band. Prince announced this schedule for students:

June 30-July 12—Art Workshop and Keyboard Workshop; and July 14-26—A second Art Workshop and Theatre Workshop.

He listed this schedule of teacher workshops:

June 20-22—Choral Music Workshop; June 27-29—Marching Band Workshop; July 15-17—Art Workshop; July 18-20—Guitar Workshop; and July 22-24—Stage Band Workshop.

Guest professionals for the student workshops will be:

Jane Peoples Litchfield, well-known art teacher at Thomas Jefferson High School in Jefferson County who has guided numerous students to state and national art awards.

Maurice Hinson, lecturer and professor of church music at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary who is an authority on piano literature and pedagogy.

Betty Ann Leeseberg, formerly an instructor of voice and acting at the University of Iowa who is now appearing in a production of "Medea" in New York City.

Campus coordinators for the student workshops will be: Richard Jackson, art; John C. Winter, keyboard; and James I. Schemp, theatre.

Prince listed the following guest artist-teachers for the teacher workshops:

Mrs. Koska Jones To Be Speaker, Hazel Alumni Banquet Saturday

The annual reunion of the Hazel Alumni Association will be held at the Murray Woman's Club House on Saturday, April 13 at 7:00 p.m.

Dwain Taylor, 1974 Alumni President, urges all Hazel High School graduates to plan to attend and enjoy food and fellowship together. A special invitation is extended to all those who are also eighth-grade graduates of Hazel Elementary School and any other interested persons.

A delicious meal will be served at the cost of $3.20 a plate. Advance reservations must be made no later than Wednesday, April 10, by calling Oneida White, 1974 Alumni Secretary 492-8586.

Other officers for 1974 are Buddy Sykes, vice-president, and Myrtle White, treasurer.

Speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Koska Jones, former graduate and teacher at Hazel. "Her life in this community is an epitome of all the Alumni Association stands for—joyous sentiment of the past, zestful living of the present, and hopeful pride in the scholars of tomorrow. She begins each day with the optimistic question: What good thing will happen to me today? And due to her vast interests in life and in people something usually does, because she seeks it," said Hazel Alumni officers.

One of her former students has written for Mrs. Koska's review on his recently published book of poems, saying, "No name in Calloway County is, I think, more revered than Koska Jones. And I know she is capable and qualified in terms of literary appreciation and ability of self-expression."

Kentucky's poet-laureate, Jesse Stuart could have been writing of her when he wrote of teachers who "spread the flame of learning to the world," for

Mrs. Koska Jones

Mrs. Koska's imagination and individual encouragement has fired many a timid, unimaginative mind, the Hazel spokesman said.

A prepared slate of officers for the coming year will be presented for approval by the association.

Vocational School Students Take Top Honors At Contest

Murray Vocational School students brought back three first place medals and one second place at the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America Skills Olympic Contest for the state level, held at the Bowling Green Vocational Center last week.

Out of 600 students participating in the event, Jerry Downey, Richard Scott, and Lynn Rogers placed first in their respective events, and Gary Page placed second. Downey, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Buford Downey, took top honors in the appliance repair contest at the state competition. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Scott, placed first in the job interview competition. Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip G. Rogers, took first in auto body contest. Page, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Page, placed second in auto body competition. Howard Newsome, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Newsome, placed first in the appliance repair contest at the district level, and participated in the state competition.

Although there is no national contest for appliance repair, Lynn Rogers and Richard Scott will participate in the National VICA Skills Olympics Contest to be held June 9-12 in San Antonio, Texas.

The students were accompanied to Bowling Green by James Lawson, school principal, Dan Harrell, auto body instructor, and Bruce Shaeffer, auto mechanics instructor, and VICA advisor. Art Jewell is the appliance repair instructor.

Police Search For Suspects In Attack

A Murray State University coed was treated and released at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital after being the victim of a reported rape-robbery Monday night while baby-sitting.

Murray City Police said the young lady was attacked while baby-sitting at a home on North Seventh St., but said only that an investigation is continuing.

Police said that $20 was taken by the assailants, both of whom were armed, and one of whom was a woman.

Local Man Charged In Marijuana Sale

A county man has been named in a warrant in connection with the sale of marijuana, according to city and county officials.

Michael J. Lassiter, Route One, Almo, has been charged with the sale of marijuana and trafficking a controlled substance.

Lassiter is free on $5,000 bond, and a date for a preliminary hearing has not been set. City, County and State authorities cooperated in the arrest, made Monday at Lassiter's home.

PLAY TO BE PRESENTED—The Calloway County High School drama department will present award winning play "Up The Down Staircase," at Jeffrey Gymnasium April 11 and 12. Based on the bestseller by Bel Kaufman, the play is about the problems of a 21-year old school teacher in an overcrowded New York school. The doors will open at seven p.m. and curtain time will be at eight p.m. both nights. Admission prices are 75 cents and $1.00. All proceeds will go to help finance the senior prom at Calloway High. AID FOR TORNADO VICTIMS—Several persons helped load this truck with food and supplies for victims of last week's tornadoes in central Kentucky. The supplies were donated by area residents in response to a campaign conducted by radio station WNBS and the Murray Ledger & Times. This load was taken to Brandenburg Monday. Persons wishing to donate additional items should take them to the radio station on the south side of the court square.

Search For Cat That Bit Local Girl Underway

A young Murray girl, bitten by a cat last Saturday, will be forced to undergo a series of anti-rabies shots if the cat is not found within the next two to three days.

The girl, Jackie Marie Lackey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hecht Lackey, 1702 College Farm Road, was bitten by the cat Saturday in the vicinity of Calloway and Kentucky Ave. The cat was described as a large grey tomcat, with scarred ears. The cat's eyes were described as "looking infected."

Anyone spotting the cat, or having knowledge of where the cat might be found, is requested to call Dr. Lackey at the Comprehensive Care Center, 753-6622 or the Calloway County Health Center, 753-3381.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

She's had 27 children — Where did love go?

DEAR ABBY: I am 44 years old and pregnant, but that's not my problem. I have had 27 children. I was married the first time when I was 14. I had three by my first husband and 24 by this one, and it seems that the more children I have, the less interest my husband has in me.

I wrote to you a year ago and you told me to get my husband to go to the priest with me. I knew he'd never go, and I was right. He hasn't set foot inside a Catholic church except for our children's christenings and weddings.

The priest told me to pray to God that my husband would see the light and fall in love with me again, but I know that is never going to happen.

He's a good man in many ways. He has never raised his hand against me. He has worked steady and doesn't owe anybody a dime, but he is not nearly as loving as I used to be. And I miss that.

Can you help me? Could it be because he was born and raised in Mexico, and I was born and raised in Texas?

TEXARKANA: Maybe. Most Mexican-born men have the old world Spanish attitude about women—they should be seen and not heard, should always have a baby in their arms and another on the way, stay home, and never complain.

DEAR ABBY: I am being held prisoner against my will in the Oklahoma State Penitentiary in McAlester, Okla. Please send hacksaw blades, files, jeweler's string, and instructions on how to saw through 1/4 inch steel bars, making the least possible noise. I'm serious.

NUMBER 87226: Sorry, but if I help you get OUT, I'll end up IN!

DEAR ABBY: A widow wrote you about not receiving any wedding anniversary cards after her husband had died. I lost my husband before our 24th anniversary and would like to tell you what happened on my silver anniversary. I received red roses from my three children [all college age] plus they had reservations for the four of us at one of our better restaurants. This was a total surprise to me.

From our best man and maid-of-honor, I received lovely notes saying their thoughts were with me on that day.

Sure, it revived memories—but what pleasant and lovely ones!

I do not believe anniversary cards should be sent after one's mate dies, but please don't say the anniversaries cease. You may not count them aloud, but you can't turn off the memory of the happiest day of your life.

Mr. Hughes is a 1972 graduate of Murray State University and is employed by Radio Station WNBS.

A garden wedding is being planned at the home of the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. N. L. Frazier, Kirksey, on Saturday, June 8, at six p.m. Only out of town invitations are being sent and all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Wasting precious time on this fine day would be unworthy of you — and your talents. Note what is needed in all matters; get in there — and pitch!

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21)

Steady does it — or else you will upset the fine balance now existing in so many situations. Perceive thoughtfully, listen carefully, brush up on an unused talent.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

Now you have a chance to display your showmanship and your gift for being able to come up with a switch in tactics that changes the humdrum into the lively.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

Many persons will try to deter you from your true course and beliefs if you permit. Don't listen. In business, be concise, sure of facts.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

You may have to face some unfriendly dispositions, even downright hostility, so take yours firmly in hand and direct YOUR efforts and intentions discreetly.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

In general, do chores as indicated by authority. However, suggest other methods where you see fit — but not brashly. Gains from past endeavors indicated.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A new surge of energy should carry you far along the road to success and recognition. But be sure of your goals. Don't scatter energies.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

The efforts you put forth need not be so hectic that you run down your health. But needless late beginnings could have an ill effect on your endeavors.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Don't rock the boat or push anything (or anyone) too far — or you could regret it. Study causes, effects, and people themselves. Use your canny judgment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Without realizing it, you may be a victim of your own fears and misgivings. This is a day for deep thought and definite action. Delays could prove costly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Especially favored now: The initiation of new methods, travel, cultural interests.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Make time count now. Whether handling large or small matters, don't let nonessentials get in the way of steady progress.

responsibility and courage that is outstanding. You are extremely ambitious but, in the pursuit of your goals, must curb tendencies toward overaggressiveness and excessive volubility. You MUST train yourself to think before speaking and to be more diplomatic when you DO speak. Your impulses are humanitarian and you're liable to take up more than one "cause" in your life — but be sure that your zeal is not misdirected. Here again, your impulsiveness plays a strong part. Fields in which you could excel: literature, education, art, statesmanship and the law. Birthdate cf: William Hazlitt, British critic, essayist; William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army; Clare Boothe Luce; author, playwright, stateswoman.

Guest Editorial

Here Is One Pro American

(Editor's Note: The following guest editorial, written by Gordon Sinclair, a news announcer and commentator for Canadian radio station CFRB in Toronto, is being reproduced here following several requests by Murray Ledger & Times readers. Sinclair originally broadcast the commentary in the summer of 1973.)

The United States dollar took another pounding on German, French and British exchange this morning, hitting the lowest point ever known in West Germany.

It has declined here by 41 per cent since 1971 and this Canadian thinks it is time to speak up for the Americans as the most generous and possibly the least appreciated people in all the earth.

As long as 60 years ago, when I first started to read newspapers, I read of floods on the Yellow River and the Yangtze. Who rushed in with men and money to help? The Americans did.

They have helped control floods on Nile, the Amazon, the Ganges and Niger.

Today the rich bottomland of the Mississippi is underwater and no foreign land has sent a dollar to help.

Germany, Japan and to a lesser extent Britain and Italy, were lifted out of the debris of war by the Americans who poured in billions of dollars and forgave other billions in debts.

None of those countries is today paying even the interest on its remaining debts to the United States.

When the franc was in danger of collapsing in 1956, it was the Americans who propped it up and their reward was to be insulted and swindled on the streets of Paris.

I was there. I saw it.

When distant cities are hit by earthquake it is the United States that hurries in to help. Managua, Nicaragua, is one of the most recent examples. So far this spring, 59 American communities have been flattened by tornadoes. Nobody has helped.

The Marshall Plan, the Truman Policy, all pumped billions upon billions of dollars into discouraged countries. Now newspapers in those countries are writing about the decadent war mongering Americans.

I'd like to see just one of those countries that is gloating over the erosion of the United States dollar build its own airplanes.

Come on let's hear it! Does any other country in the world have a plane to equal the Boeing Jumbo Jet, the Lockheed Tristar or the Douglas 10?

If so, why don't they fly them? Why do all international lines except Russia fly American planes?

Why does no other land on earth even consider putting a man or woman on the moon?

You talk about Japanese technocracy and you get radios. You talk about German technocracy and you get automobiles.

You talk about American technocracy and you find men on the moon, not once but several times, and safely home again.

You talk about scandals and the Americans put theirs right in the store window for everybody to look at.

Even their draft dodgers are not pursued and hounded. They are here on our streets.

Most of them, unless they are breaking Canadian laws, are getting American dollars from Ma and Pa at home to spend here.

When the Americans get out of this bind—as they will—who could blame them if they said the Hell with the rest of the world. Let someone else buy the Israel bonds. Let someone else build or repair foreign dams or design foreign buildings that won't shake apart in earthquakes.

When the railways of France, Germany and India were breaking down through age, it was the Americans who rebuilt them. When the Pennsylvania Railroad and the New York Central went broke, nobody loaned them an old caboose. Both are still broke.

I can name to you 5,000 times when the Americans raced to the help of other people in trouble.

Can you name me even one time when someone else raced to the Americans in trouble?

I don't think there was outside help even during the San Francisco earthquake.

Our neighbors have faced it alone and I'm one Canadian who is damned tired of hearing them kicked around. They will come out of this thing with their flag high. And when they do, they are entitled to thumb their nose at the lands that are gloating over their present troubles.

I hope Canada is not one of these. But there are many smug, self-righteous Canadians.

And finally the American Red Cross was told at its 48th annual meeting in New Orleans this morning that it was broke.

This year's disasters—with the year less than half over—have taken it all and nobody has helped.

Drama is returning to radio. The question is whether the TV generation will know where to look when there's no picture.

Budget Reform Needed

Though the nation is plunging deeper into debt and liberal politicians in both parties favor more deficit spending, the cause of budgetary reform is by no means hopeless. Significant stirrings are taking place at the grassroots.

In Oklahoma this spring, State Sen. James Inhofe scored an important victory for the taxpayers when he led a successful drive to win the Oklahoma legislature's endorsement of the Curtis-Spence constitutional amendment for balanced budgets.

In Nebraska, State Sen. Gerald Stromer sought to achieve the same objective. Unfortunately, the resolution he introduced was killed in committee. But there is hope that the resolution will be introduced again in the future. Similar resolutions are being advanced in Florida and Alaska.

The Curtis-Spence amendment, named after its sponsors—Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska and Rep. Floyd Spence of South Carolina, meets a vital public need. The amendment requires that if a President submits a deficit budget, Congress must either find other ways of financing the deficit, reduce expenditures, or implement a surtax to cover the deficit.

The need for mandatory budget balancing was clearly set forth last December in a report entitled "Federal Spending And Budget Control." Jerry P. James, president of The Heritage Foundation, pointed out that "approximately one-fourth of our total national debt (that is, the debt incurred over the span of our entire history as a nation) has been incurred in the last four years." He concluded that the pattern of federal fiscal policy is "one of constantly increasing expenditures which have out-raced population growth, inflation, and affluence, regular deficits, and accelerating national debt."

It would be absurd to think that the American people will escape injury as a result of the massive national debt. U.S. Rep. George H. Mahon, longtime chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, has rightly said: "No government, not even the richest on earth, can continue to over-spend or under-tax by multi-billions of dollars nearly every year and still not eventually plunge itself into financial disaster."

Concerned Americans such as Sen. Curtis, Rep. Spence and State Sens. Inhofe and Stromer clearly understand that budget reform must have top national priority. Unfortunately, Congress is vulnerable to pressure from special interest groups such as the welfare organizations which demand more abundant food stamps and other handouts. As Mr. James noted in his study for the Center for The Public Interest, Congress is subject to "unrelenting pressure from the public media which has tended to equate 'concern' with new legislative initiatives and 'success' with the number of dollars appropriated."

At the moment, the Curtis-Spence amendment languishes in the Senate Judiciary Committee. To get action on the amendment will require continuing efforts at the state level, such as State Sens. Inhofe and Stromer have initiated. It is very important that state legislators use the resolution process to memorialize Congress on the need for budget reform. If they require any justification for such action, they can turn to the words of Thomas Jefferson: "To preserve our independence, we must not let our leaders load us with perpetual debt. We must make our election between economy and liberty, or profusion and servitude."

PASSOVER - THE LAST SUPPER

Mark 14:17-25 & John 13:34

From The Living Bible

On the first day of the Passover, Jesus arrived with the other disciples, and as they were sitting around the table eating, Jesus said, "I solemnly declare that one of you will betray me, one of you who is here eating with me." A great sadness swept over them, and one by one they asked him, "Am I the one?" He replied, "It is the one of you twelve eating with me now. I must die, as the prophets declared long ago; but, oh, the misery ahead for the man by whom I am betrayed. Oh, that he had never been born!" As they were eating, Jesus took bread and asked God's blessing on it and broke it in pieces and gave it to them and said, "Eat it - this is my body." Then he took a cup of wine and gave thanks to God for it and gave it to them; and they all drank from it. And he said to them, "This is my blood, poured out for many, sealing the new agreement between God and man. I solemnly declare that I shall never again taste wine until the day I drink a different kind in the Kingdom of God. And so I am giving a new commandment to you now - love each other just as much as I love you."

State Government Report.

State Agencies Working To Assist Tornado Victims

MAYFIELD, Ky.—State government agencies are working to assist thousands of homeless Kentuckians as a result of the tornadoes which hit Campbellsburg on Tuesday of last week and then struck again the following day in the state, demolishing Brandenburg, then touching down later at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center in Louisville, and then zig-zagging through east Louisville and eastern Jefferson County and several other sections of Kentucky, including the capitol city of Frankfort.

Funerals for 72 Kentuckians killed by the tornadoes were still in progress early this week.

Approximately 1,500 homes in Louisville and Jefferson County are uninhabitable.

Gov. Wendell Ford and several state officials have toured the most damaged areas with assurances of relief from state government.

The entire state was declared a disaster area by President Richard Nixon and 16 Kentucky counties are eligible for federal aid through the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration.

Other areas hit the hardest were Richmond, Elizabethtown, Bardonia and Stamping Ground.

The Kentucky National Guard is on duty in Louisville and Jefferson County with one of its duties to keep out from the wrecked areas hundreds of curious persons who would swarm the areas if allowed to visit.

The busiest state agency is the Department of Insurance, which is flooded with telephone calls and visits from tornado victims. April 3, 1974, will probably be remembered as Kentucky's most tragic day in history.

One bill helpful to farmers which will be come law June 21 is House Bill 356, a measure extending the power of the Kentucky Farm Development Authority to guarantee loans to farmers for the purchase of farm machinery and livestock.

Previously, the agency's authority had been limited to guaranteeing loans for the purchase of farm land and the construction of buildings on the land.

The 14-point legislative program of the Kentucky Education Association, detailed earlier in this column, scored 9 passed the 5 failed during the 1974 Kentucky General Assembly.

The annual KEA convention is scheduled for April 17-19 at Louisville's Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center and no doubt the state's educators will discuss their fate in the recent legislative session.

Bills which the KEA endorsed and which will be come law related to sick leave, salaries, 30-year retirement benefits, election day being a holiday for teachers, school board policies, fair demotion and teacher tenure. Legislation which the KEA promoted but which were killed during the session included public employees' bargaining rights and professional negotiation rights for teachers.

Among the bills signed into law last week by

Gov. Ford is House Bill 68, which will tighten Kentucky's election and campaign-spending laws. The legislation, which will go into effect June 21 (ninety days after adjournment of the legislature), will require candidates to report the identity of all contributors of more than $100 rather than the present $500 maximum, will prohibit cash contributions of more than $100, will limit to $3,000 the amount an individual may contribute to a candidate, and will require that unopposed candidates file reports of their contributions.

Among the bills vetoed by Gov. Ford is House Bill 22, the open records bill, which would have broadened a 1968 law to include local as well as state agency records and would have lifted the present law's limitation which says the records should be open only to "interested persons." Ford claimed the bill would have allowed inspection of pupil records at school and certain business and tax records that competitors might have used unfairly.

As of July 15, 1975, Kentuckians will have recently passed no-fault automobile insurance law which then becomes effective. The no-fault plan, House Bill 314, narrowly escaped defeat in the last hours of the session on March 22. It requires all motorists to have liability insurance coverage and provides a fine of from $50 to $500 for motorists driving without it.

Under the legislation, motorists would take bodily injury coverage that would provide up to $10,000 in injury and loss-of-work benefits unless they reject that type of insurance in writing to the person's insurance agent and to the state Department of Insurance.

Under no-fault, the injury and work benefits would be paid by the policy-holder's own insurance company regardless of who was at fault for an accident. The measure contains a mandatory rate reduction of up to 10 per cent the first year for persons who now carry full bodily injury coverage. The commissioner of insurance would set any future rates under the procedure now used for setting rates—he decides the rates after a public hearing.

SB 73, the girls' basketball bill, was passed by the House and has been signed by the governor. The bill withstood opposition from several representatives who wanted to amend the measure to make high school basketball for girls permissive rather than mandatory.

Stricter regulations for Kentucky boaters will be effective immediately, says Doug Shoulders, administrators of the Division of Water Enforcement, Kentucky Department of Transportation. For the first time, boaters will be required to comply with the federal boating regulations of October 1973, which require a wearable personal flotation device for each person on board a boat 16 or more feet in length and at least one throwable buoyant device to be on board.

HB 229, a bill permitting fiscal courts to set up a small-claims court for cases involving amounts up to $200, was vetoed last week by Gov. Ford.

Vocational Schools Are Under Study

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Two Kentucky vocational schools have been chosen for an "on-site" survey being conducted by Development Associates, Inc., a Washington, D.C., based management and government consulting firm for the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Hazard Area State Vocational-Technical School and the Bell County Area Vocational Education Center are among 25 schools in the Appalachian Region selected for the study.

Dr. Carl Lamar, assistant superintendent, Bureau of Vocational Education, Kentucky Department of Education, said the study will determine the impact of funds granted by the 1965 Appalachian Development Act on the manpower and economic development of the Appalachian Region. The regional includes 49 counties in Eastern Kentucky.

The annual ARC appropriation to Kentucky's vocational education program has ranged from $1.8 million to about $3 million. It will be slightly less than $2 million in fiscal year 1974.

The study will attempt to relate the state's goals for social and economic development of the Appalachian Region to the effectiveness of the efforts made in utilizing facilities, programs and services supported by the Appalachian Redevelopment funds to alleviate such chronic problems as unemployment, inadequate educational opportunities and limited employment opportunities.

Almost one-fifth of the world's trumpeter swans winter on Vancouver Island.

Downtown Bike Race, Louisville

City streets aren't the usual locale for a championship bike race—except downtown Louisville at Derby Festival time.

The Kentucky Derby of Cycling, part of the festivities that precede America's greatest turf classic, will feature 150 or more top U.S. amateur bike champs barreling over a special rectangular course of downtown streets cleared of all vehicles.

"Considering the energy crisis, we may be seeing the wave of the future in downtown traffic," laughed John R. Guthrie, executive vice-president of the Kentucky Derby Festival Committee that puts on the annual week of fun and frolic.

Set to begin at 1 p.m. Saturday, April 27, from Sixth and Chestnut at Louisville's new downtown green space, Federal Square, the Derby Cycling is sponsored by Miller High Life and is officially sanctioned by the Amateur Bicycle League of America.

Four separate events are scheduled between 1 and 4 p.m.: the most important are a 10-mile junior race, and the main event—the 30-mile 'Run for the Roses,' where the big names in bike racing will compete. A children's 'Bike Parade' and a celebrity race are also planned to add variety to this salute to pedal-power.

Amateur bike racers from another league take the spotlight next day, Sunday, April 28. Students from the University of Louisville and local high schools put on their own annual Derby Pedalathon at the Fairgrounds Speedway. The event begins at 1:30 p.m., with eight-member relay teams competing for trophies and plaques.

It's not all hot competition, though. UL coeds live up the proceedings with a race for tricycles only. You might call it the Run of the Rosebuds.

Airborne Photos Are State's Aerial Snoopers

FRANKFORT, Ky.—For the past 20 years, a crew of aerial photographers have been prowling the skies of Kentucky. Not concerned with the private affairs of mortal man, these high-flying snoopers seek information about the terra firma of Kentucky.

At 14,000 feet, a specially-equipped aircraft banks sharply and prepares to make another pass over the rugged mountains of Eastern Kentucky.

In the co-pilot's seat, Jim Blackburn, an aerial photographer for the Department of Transportation's Division of Photogrammetry, makes a lense adjustment on a $30,000 camera.

"It's funny," Blackburn remarks, as he prepares to shoot a photo sequence of the Pikeville cut-through project, "that this division is named photogrammetry, which means to make maps through the use of photographs. Mapmaking doesn't nearly entail all the jobs of this division."

The variety of assistance that Photogrammetry can offer is best exemplified by the great demand for its services.

A look at the division's flight log reveals that in the past few months the division has photographed potential industrial sites for the Department of Commerce, scouted possible camping areas for the Department of Parks, photographed various Kentucky roadways for a Bureau of Highways safety study, investigated flood conditions in Western Kentucky and photographed landslides in Northern Kentucky.

As sought after as their services are, not everything is up, up and away for the flying photographers of Photogrammetry.

"The main problem is that weather hampers our operations so much. In a year we're lucky to get 50 perfect days for shooting. The rest of the time is spent dodging clouds and bad weather," Blackburn states.

With good aerial photography conditions at a minimum, priorities are important when future photogrammetry projects are discussed. Robert Trimble, an engineer with the division explains, "Naturally the most important and the greatest money-savers come first. That's why we do so much flying for the Bureau of Highways."

"From our aerial photos the Bureau's engineers can determine which proposed highway corridor will be the easiest to build, most beneficial to the communities involved, and least expensive to the taxpayers. Besides that, our aerial photographers can accomplish in a few hours a job that would take a field crew several days."

But the photographers deal with detailed groundwork, also. For each trip aloft, untold hours must be spent at the Photogrammetry offices developing, identifying, comparing and filing photographs.

"Once the photograph is developed, we compare it to previous maps and aerials to determine if there has been any landscape change or new construction. Generally each photograph is reliable for about ten years," Blackburn continues.

Regardless of the "sky is the limit" attitude that reigns in the Division of Photogrammetry, some help from above is on its way.

During a recent pass over the United States, the cameras of Skylab II were paying particular attention to the Bluegrass State. Once NASA's scientists are finished with their examinations, the photographs will be placed in the Division of Photogrammetry's extensive file collection.

King Henry: The One And The Only

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP)—Henry Aaron, refusing to yield to the pressure that had to be gnawing at him, erased baseball's unreachable standard Monday night when he smashed the 715th home run of his career. "I feel I can relax," said the 40-year-old Atlanta Braves slugger after leaving behind the ghost of the great Babe Ruth with his two-run, fourth-inning blast off left-hander Al Downing of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I feel my teammates can relax and I think I can have a great season," he said.

The icy-nerved veteran of 20 major league campaigns became the game's all-time home run king the same way he had ended his chase of the legendary Ruth with his record-tying 714th homer on opening day by hitting out the first pitch he swung at in the game.

The historic shot triggered 11 minutes of bedlam in Atlanta Stadium as a standing room only crowd of 53,775 cheered the soft-spoken Alabama native who claimed baseball's most cherished record.

A call of congratulations came from President Nixon while the famous No. 44 was still in the game. Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who ordered the Braves to play Aaron in Cincinnati Sunday called him "one of the greatest we have ever seen."

"If God didn't see fit for me to hit the home run here, then I would have hit it somewhere else," Aaron said at a post-game news conference.

"This would have to be my top thrill in baseball," said the man who holds more than a dozen major league records.

"It wasn't one of my better ones, but the wind helped to carry it," he said. "I hit it fairly good. It was a fast ball. It was inside, but I think he wanted it further inside. He just hung it a little."

Downing, a 13-year-veteran who had yielded only two other homers to Aaron, left the game after walking the next two hitters following Hammerin' Hank's blast that drew the Braves even at 3-3. Atlanta went on to win the game 7-4.

The Dodger hurler vanished from the ball park, leaving behind only a tape-recorded message in which he said, "Like a great hitter, when he picks his pitch, he's pretty certain that's the pitch he's looking for and chances are he's going to hit it pretty good."

The flamboyant Ruth, whose feats will still live forever in baseball lore, hit his final three home runs for the Boston Braves against Pittsburgh on May 25, 1935. He died of cancer in New York in 1948.

The Babe's widow, Clare, had not watched her husband's record tumble even though the game was televised nationally.

But she heard about it almost immediately and dispatched a telegram of congratulations to Aaron at the stadium.

The historic home run left the jam-packed stadium just in left field. It came after Darrell Evans had reached first on an error.

Aaron rounded the bases in his normal manner, although two young spectators charged out of the stands and ran beside him between second and third base. He said he never saw them.

When Aaron reached the plate, his teammates had poured out of the dugout and sprinted in from the left field bullpen to offer their congratulations. They drank champagne toasts to the new homer king in the dressing room after the game.

Aaron broke away from his mates and rushed to a special box adjacent to the Atlanta dugout, where his family watched the dramatic event.

He embraced his wife, Billye, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Aaron of Mobile, Ala.

"I never knew she could hug so tight," Aaron said of his mother.

Herbert Aaron, a retired shipyard worker, had thrown out the ceremonial first ball almost an hour earlier. He jumped out of the box to join his famous son on the field during the 11-minute interruption.

A massive fireworks display was ignited amid cannonlike explosions in the rain-chilled air.

Then came the only boos of the celebration.

Monte Irvin, an aide to Kuhn, said into a field microphone, "The Commissioner's office..." He got no further.

Aaron smiled. The fans were irked over the commissioner's order that Aaron had to play in Sunday's

Big Gilmore Crushes Cougars To End Series

By ANDY LIPPMAN
AP Sports Writer

It was easy to describe Artis Gilmore's performance in the American Basketball Association playoffs between Kentucky and Carolina.

"He completely crushed us," said Carolina Coach Larry Brown after the Colonel center had posted the coup de grace by scoring 33 points in Kentucky's 128-119 Monday night victory over Carolina.

The victory moved the Colonels into the ABA semifinals against the New York Nets, who finished their playoff series with Virginia in five games by winning 108-96.

The Utah Stars finished their playoff series with San Diego, defeating the Q's 110-99 for a four games to two edge.

There was no National Basketball Association action scheduled.

Gilmore, who finished the four-game sweep with 119 points, was dominating off the backboards.

Gilmore finished the game with 20 rebounds and the 7-foot-2 pivot man, who hit 14 of his 20 shots from the field, also blocked three shots.

The Colonels, trailing most of the first half, surged ahead just before intermission and rebounded to a 20-point lead midway through the fourth quarter.

Mac Calvin led Carolina with 31 points while Ted McClain added 23.

"We played tough, really tough," said Colonels Coach Babe McCarthy. "The Cougars were hungry but when they get behind they tend to press a bit and that helped us."

"The main thing now, of course, is we'll have to stop Dr. J."

Nets 108, Squires 96

Dr. J., otherwise known as Julius Erving, had only an average day—for him—in the final game against the Squires.

Erving scored 21, but it was Brian Taylor who came alive in the second half, scoring 18 points after the intermission and igniting a third-period scoring burst which gave New York the lead.

Jim Eakins topped Virginia with 36 points and 21 rebounds, while Larry Kenon led the Nets with 22 points.

Stars 110, Q's 99

Veteran forward Willie Wise scored 21 points, 11 in the final period, to advance Utah into a second-round playoff date with either the Indiana Pacers or the San Antonio Spurs.

Wise, held in check through three periods, came alive in the final period, hitting three quick baskets to help Utah pull away.

The Q's were not able to play Coach Wilt Chamberlain, after being refused earlier Monday by a Los Angeles court in their attempt to overturn an injunction that prevents the former Los Angeles Laker star from playing.

Wins Award

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Pete Mara, of the Des Moines Capitals, Monday was awarded the Gatschene Trophy, as the most valuable player in the International Hockey League.

Mara led the IHL in total points with 115, and his 71 assists made him the league's top playmaker.

The 26-year-old Point Edward, Ont. native outpointed Muskegon goalie Bill Hughes and Columbus defenseman Steve Lyon in balloting for the Gatschene Trophy.

Willis Speaks To Murray High Basketball Banquet

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

An audience estimated at over 200 persons attended the annual Murray High Basketball Banquet which was held Monday night in the Student Union Ballroom on the campus of Murray State University.

The event, sponsored by the Murray-Calloway County Jaycees, featured Kayo Willis as the main speaker.

Willis, the former freshman coach at Murray State who four years ago guided his team to a perfect 21-0 season, is now the varsity coach at the University of Alabama in Huntsville.

Several times in his speech, the eloquent Willis left the audience in hushed silence as his touching subjects captured the attention of every individual.

"People are always looking for someone to idolize," Willis said.

"We all have persons we idolize and I guess mine would be Hank Aaron.

"But last Sunday in church, the minister delivered one of the best sermons I've ever heard. He said 'Why don't we idolize Jesus Christ?'"

As Willis spoke of his experience of last week in which he sat through a tornado that demolished many parts of Huntsville, a ghostly silence filled the room.

"People who had lost their homes got up in church and sung and they thanked God that they were still alive. There is nothing in life more important than faith.

"Great runners who have failed have dropped to their knees and thanked God for giving them the strength to participate.

Earlier in his speech, Willis pointed to dedication and desire as being two of the most important words in summing up athletes and athletics.

Willis offered his congratulations to the team for its first trip to the State Tournament and then spoke briefly of his hometown's high school team, Ridgway, Ill.

"Last year, I spoke at their banquet after they had won the State Tournament. And now this year, I am here in Murray. I can't imagine two things as great as these happening to me within a period of a year.

"And then this year, Ridgway wasn't given much of a chance of going back to the State Tournament. But they went; they didn't win it but they were in the final eight. They did it because they had the determination and the desire, and above all, because they had faith."

Following the speech by Willis, Murray High Coach Bob Toon presented letters to members of his State Tournament team.

Two members of the team, Glenn Jackson and Ray Lane, were honored for being chosen All-Purchase and another member, Tyrone McCuiston, joined them in being All-Region.

Six special awards were presented by assistant coach Jerry Shelton.

Ray Lane was presented with the free throw award and the assist award, Tyrone McCuiston with the rebound award, Glenn Jackson and Johnny Shelley with the hustle awards and Danny Hudspeth with the award for the highest field-goal percentage.

Also honored at the ceremony was senior Phillip Adams, who has been the manager of the Tigers for the past three seasons.

Tiger Coach Bob Toon was given the final award of the evening, that being the Coach of the Year in the First Region.

The Navy has a job that will pay you more than $75.00 a week to start, plus...

Probably a lot more than you could earn in a run-of-the-mill job when you think that $75 a week is just spending money... when you don't have to pay for food, housing, medical or dental bills... when you get some of the best job training in the world free... when you can travel to places like Hawaii and the Caribbean.

Navy money's pretty good. So are the jobs and the travel and even the food. The Navy's got a lot of new programs that can help you go places inside the Navy, and when you get out. Like the join-now, report-up-to-six-months-later program. Like the Naval Reserve two-year active duty plan.

Downing Vanishes Into Darkness Of The Night

By TOM SALADINO
AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — Al Downing vanished quickly into the Atlanta night, leaving but a brief tape-recorded message in his wake after surrendering the historic shot.

Reporters rushed to the Los Angeles Dodgers clubhouse Monday night at the end of the National League game in which Henry Aaron slammed one of Downing's fastballs 400 feet away for No. 715, but the little left-hander was nowhere to be found.

"Downing left 10 minutes ago in a taxi cab," said the visiting clubhouse man Mark Gladolich. "I don't know where he is," said Los Angeles Manager Walter Alston. "He's probably going to get something to eat then go back to the hotel."

But the 32-year-old journeyman pitcher of 13 major league seasons did tape a brief interview shortly after he was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning when Aaron connected for his 715th homer.

The two-run homer keyed a four-run inning as the Braves went on to a 7-4 victory before a record Atlanta Stadium crowd of 53,775 and a national television audience. The home run, on a 1-0 pitch, came at 9:07 p.m. EDT.

Downing, who went into the dugout during the respite, promptly walked the next two batters and was removed from the contest.

"It was a fast ball, right down the middle of the upper part of the plate," he said of the blast.

"I was trying to get it down to him but I didn't get it down, and he hit it good, as he would. I didn't have good control, when I got behind him, I was just trying to get the ball up. It didn't bother me though."

Joe Ferguson, the Dodgers catcher, said he asked Aaron his first time up if he could concentrate and Aaron replied, "Not too good."

But he certainly did his second time up after drawing a walk in his first plate appearance.

The pitch landed in Atlanta relief pitcher Tom House's glove after it cleared the left-center field fence.

"That's the highlight of my career," said House. "It's something I can tell my grandchildren when I get old."

Bill Buckner, the Dodger left-fielder who made an acrobatic leap which fell some 20 feet short, said in admiration of Aaron:

"It seems like he can hit a home run anytime he wants to. The only thing that brightened up the game was Henry's home run. The noise from the crowd was super loud. It was the loudest applause I've ever heard."

Pony League Tryouts

Committee Refuses To Up Taxes On Oil Companies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has refused to drain an extra $2.1 billion from the petroleum industry's profits for 1974 and 1975.

Committee Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., cast the deciding ballot Monday as the tax-writing panel voted 13-12 against an amendment aimed at boosting the oil industry's taxes.

Oil-state forces on the committee thus scored a significant victory. They have been fighting to allow oil companies to plow back into exploration and development money which the federal government otherwise would be collecting as a proposed new windfall profits tax.

Besides the windfall profits levy, the oil tax reform bill being written by the panel also would eventually phase out the petroleum depletion allowance and would revamp the tax treatment of American oil company income earned abroad.

According to new figures from the committee's expert tax staff Monday, the bill would gain $16.8 billion in additional federal revenue from the petroleum industry through 1979.

The amendment proposed by Rep. Joseph E. Karth, D-Minn., would have added $2.1 billion to this amount for this year and next year.

The Karth amendment would have let the government collect 100 per cent of the revenue generated through this new windfall profits tax this year. For next year, the government would have collected half the revenue raised by the new tax — with the other half going toward plowback. For the three remaining years that this tax would be on the books, the industry could have 100 per cent plowback.

Prior to the vote, a Treasury official told the panel that total industry profit on domestic production could rise from an estimated $3.7 billion last year to $9.4 billion this year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kentucky's two U.S. Senators were among those who met with members of the Senate Disaster Relief subcommittee Monday which is considering a bill to liberalize disaster benefits.

Sen. Walter D. Huddleston, a Democrat, asked the subcommittee to re-instate low interest and forgiveness features of special loans.

The existing federal disaster loan programs require five per cent interest and no forgiveness. One feature of a former disaster loan program included a $5,000 grant to persons led in need because of a storm-damaged house or small business.

"Anyone who has seen the disaster which struck Kentucky and other states cannot deny the need for restoration of the $5,000 forgiveness and one per cent financing," Huddleston said.

The bill being considered by the subcommittee would provide federal funds to local governments with no operating money.

Sen. Marlow Cook, a Republican, and his staff reportedly told the subcommittee that towns such as Brandenburg, Ky. would need even more than the proposed 10 per cent of their annual operating budgets, if governmental services were to be provided.

Tornadoes Strike Again In Four Southern States

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes have struck again at four Southern states, killing one person and injuring more than two dozen. Widespread damage was reported.

The twisters hit sections of Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama and South Carolina on Monday, less than a week after a savage outbreak of tornadoes which claimed more than 300 lives in 11 states and Canada.

Sandra L. Sell, 23, was killed and her husband and two children were injured when a tornado smashed their mobile home at Lester, in southwest Georgia.

The National Weather Service said it may have been the same tornado that then hit seven other communities in a 100-mile march from west to east.

The Alapaha, Ga., police station was blown over by a twister, and five other persons were injured.

Extensive property damage was reported in Anderson County, S.C., where several mobile homes were overturned and a house was ripped from its foundation.

A twister skipped through the York County, S.C., town of Fort Mill, uprooting trees, damaging a grocery and overturning two mobile homes. Police said there were no injuries.

Eight persons were treated at hospitals and released after a tornado struck the northern part of Gainesville, Ga. Several homes and businesses were damaged.

A twister also slashed into Athens in southeast Tennessee, damaging eight businesses, 15 cars, 10 homes and a school. Only minor injuries were reported.

Another tornado struck Tarrleton, Tenn., lifting a house off its foundation and setting it down in an adjacent field. There were no injuries.

Lexington, in West Tennessee, also was hit. Several businesses and homes damaged. One injury was reported.

In the Midwest, strong northeasterly winds pushed Lake Erie waters over shorelines Monday, sending hundreds of residents scurrying for safety.

Flooding was reported at Port Clinton and in the Toledo area in Ohio and in Monroe County, Mich., north of Toledo.

The death toll from last week's tornadoes stands at 317. The American Red Cross said a survey of areas hit by the tornadoes last week showed 21,451 dwelling, mobile homes, farm buildings and small businesses were damaged or destroyed.

It said 3,770 persons were injured and that of these 1,117 required hospitalization.

Ford Calls On Agency To Cut Red Tape On Aid

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Wendell Ford Monday night called on the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration (FDAA) to "cut the red tape" he says is holding up acquisition of mobile homes for Kentucky tornado victims.

In a message which Ford personally drafted, the governor said: "There are mobile homes at the Blue Grass Ordnance (depot) in Central City which ought to be released immediately" to storm victims around the state.

Ford's press secretary, Thomas Preston, said there had been word that mobile homes could be shipped to Kentucky from Pennsylvania, but Ford argued that would take too long.

Earlier in the day, the state secured an agreement from the FDAA for procedures to be used in setting up trailer homes in the state. The agreement, Preston said, allocates responsibility for approving the sites, anchoring the trailers properly and connecting utilities.

Ford said federal officials have been cooperative since they arrived in Kentucky after last Wednesday's barrage of tornadoes, but added: "I feel it is incumbent on me to keep pushing hard for every possible item which will help those affected."

Cook

said papers cannot legally be accepted for filing and he cannot become a qualified candidate entitled to have his name placed on the ballot.
"The statute absolutely prohibits the secretary of state from accepting a candidate's filing papers until the designation of his campaign treasurer and it necessary follows that the secretary of state cannot take any action that would abrogate these legal requirements," Hancock said.
"At most, by retaining the notification and declaration papers of the candidate in question (on March 22), the secretary of state was acting only in the capacity of a custodian since the law clearly prohibits the documents from being accepted."
Hancock cited a court of appeals case in which it was held that "nominating papers that were patently insufficient on their face cannot be made sufficient by supplementation after the deadline for filing."
From comments made by Cook and others last Friday, one of his grounds for the lawsuit might be that Mrs. Stovall should not have accepted his papers at all until he named his treasurer. Mrs. Stovall acknowledged she erred in doing so because she was unaware of the 1970 law.

Bethel Church To Hold Revival Meet
Bethel United Methodist Church will have a Pre-Easter revival on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 11, 12, and 13, with services each evening at 7:30.
Rev. Steve Cavitt will be the guest evangelist at the church located three miles east of Murray.
Special music will be presented each evening with the Gospel Troubadors to be featured on Friday night. A Bible will be given away Saturday night to the person bringing the most visitors with a minimum of eight, a church spokesman said.

Services Planned At South Pleasant Grove Church
Pre-Easter services will be held at the South Pleasant Grove United Methodist Church on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings at seven p.m.
Speakers will be Rev. Glen Hill of Paris Circuit on Wednesday, Rev. Charles Yancy of Kirtsey on Thursday, and Rev. Bill Hart of Lynn Grove and Goshen churches on Friday.
Special choir music will be presented each evening and the public is invited to attend, according to Rev. A. H. McLeod, Jr., pastor of the church.

Mrs. Billington's Services To Be At Sinking Spring
Funeral services for Mrs. Marvin (Willie Mae) Billington will be held at the Sinking Spring Baptist Church where she was a member on Wednesday at two p.m. with Rev. Lawson Williamson and Rev. Terry Sillis officiating.
Burial will be in the Lone Oak Cemetery, Calloway County, with the arrangements by the Max Churchill Funeral Home where friends may call.
Mrs. Billington, age 56, died suddenly from an apparent heart attack at her home on Monday at 3:45 a.m. She was the daughter of the late Elmer and Lovie Rogers Richerson.

Spring Intercession To Offer 48 Classes

A total of 48 classes have tentatively been scheduled as offerings during the three-week spring intercession at Murray State University May 6-22.

Dr. William G. Read, vice-president for academic affairs, said students who plan to enroll in the short session between the spring semester and summer term should notify the registrar's office in person or by telephone before April 18.

"Registration materials will then be prepared for an official pre-registration April 22-26," he added. "Since a minimum enrollment is required before a class is offered, it is important for students to follow the schedule for notification and pre-registration."

Late registration for students who have not pre-registered will be held in the Registrar's Office at 1 p.m. Monday, May 6, according to Read.
Courses in 22 subject matter areas will be offered during the intercession. They are:

Administrative management, biology, criminology and corrections, elementary education, English, geography, geology, guidance, home economics, history, industrial education, journalism, physical education, philosophy, political science, psychology, rehabilitation, secondary education, sociology, speech, social work and vocational technical education.

Highly concentrated in nature, classes during intercession generally meet three hours daily for 15 days for three semester hours of credit.

Read noted that most of the courses during the spring intercession may be taken for undergraduate credit, with 26 for undergraduate credit only and 18 for either advanced undergraduate credit or graduate credit. Four are for graduate credit only.

Workshop . . .

—Olaf Christiansen, conductor emeritus of the famed St. Olaf Choir and an internationally known conductor, composer, arranger and clinician.

—William Swor, director of bands at Louisiana State University for the past 10 years, who has produced several bands of national recognition.

—Frank Wachowiak, professor of art at the University of Georgia and a co-author of two art education texts, "Emphasis: Art" and "Art in Depth."

—Elmo Reed, guitarist with professional solo and ensemble experience and widely-known teacher in schools in Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee.

—Jamey Abersold, a teacher at Indiana University Southeast and well-known jazz alto saxophonist, pianist, conductor, arranger, theorist, clinician and author.

Campus coordinators for the teacher workshops will be: Robert K. Baar, choral music; Paul W. Shahan, marching band and stage band; Thomas Spoerner, art; and Leonard Whitmer, guitar.

Emphasizing the May 1 deadline for application to the workshops, Prince gave this explanation of each:

Students in grades 9-12 during the 1973-74 school year may apply for their choice of workshops, each of which will culminate in an exhibition, concert, seminar or production. The cost of each workshop is $70 for tuition and supplies. If a student chooses, he may pay an additional $60 fee for supervised dormitory accommodations, meals and a coordinated program of recreational and social activities.

Teacher workshops, which will deal with current and significant methods and materials in the teaching of the arts, cost $23 each, with an additional payment of graduate tuition if the teacher wishes to acquire one semester hour of graduate credit. Dormitory accommodations are available for $2.50 a night.

Application forms are available through arts teachers or by writing to: Summer Arts Academy, Murray State University, Box 1029 University Station, Murray, Ky., 42071.

NAME NOT INCLUDED
Skip Phillips, senior at Calloway County High School, was named to the honor roll for the second nine weeks period. His name was not included in the list submitted.

Hopkins . . .

Ford's guidance in keeping the public out of House and Senate rules committee meetings.

—Passage of the bill allowing overweight trucks and twin-trailer rigs to travel on two lane state maintained roads "at the expense of the taxpayers' safety and pocketbook."

—Ford's veto of the small claims court bill which Hopkins termed the paramount consumer bill of the session.

"I don't believe the few above mentioned examples establish that the 1974 General Assembly showed any 'over-concern about reestablishing creditability,'" as stated in the news account, Hopkins said.

He also said he hoped a similar seminar would be held in his area so "citizens and perhaps members of the minority party might have an opportunity to participate."

A seminar of Eastern Kentucky AP editors already has been scheduled for Lexington on April 20. One of the participants will be state Sen. Joe Graves, a Lexington Republican.

Other lawmakers who attended the Murray seminar were: Sen. Carroll Hubbard, D-Mayfield, who discussed campaign financing; Rep. Richard Lewis, D-Benton, on the penal code, and House Speaker Pro-tem Billy Paxton, D-Central City.

Kentucky Chamber Postpones Meeting

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The annual membership meeting of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce scheduled for Wednesday in Louisville is being postponed because of last week's tornadoes.

President J. Ed McConnell said full attention was being given to aiding commercial and industrial firms needing assistance as a result of damage caused by the storms.

McConnell also announced the postponement of the board of directors meeting, the state-wide student-teacher-achievement-recognition luncheon, the annual travel council meeting and the annual banquet.

Danny Cleaver Will Be Hickory Grove Church Speaker

A gospel meeting will be held at the Hickory Grove Church of Christ from Thursday, April 11, through Sunday, April 14, with Danny Cleaver of Boone, N. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cleaver of Murray Route Two as the speaker.
Cleaver graduated from Calloway County High School in 1965. He attended Murray State University and later Freed-Hardeman College, Henderson, Tenn., where he received his Associate of Arts Degree. He later received his Bachelor of Arts degree from David Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tenn.
Bro. Cleaver began his ministry in February 1967 while a sophomore in college. He was minister at the Pasquo Church of Christ, Nashville, for 3 1/2 years. He is now working with the congregation at Boone, N. C., and the Green Plain congregation here supports him in this work. He and his wife, the former Shirley Golliver of St. Louis, Mo., have two children, Lisa, 3, and Kevin, 1. Services will be held each evening at 7:30 p.m. with a singing to be held Sunday at two p.m.
The public is invited, a church spokesman said.
