THE LISTENING POST

● I rather envied a small boy who came into the office a few days ago. The boy reminded me of some difficult times I have had in past years and he handled himself and his problem so much better than I was ever able to. He came in and asked for a job. As a matter of fact, he was asking only for a job as carrier boy, but what impressed me so much was the manner in which he did this job. He first told me who he was and then quite calmly and in a grownup manner asked if there was an opening for him at the present time. When I told him there was no opening at the time he then suggested that he would be glad to be considered if any opening did develop in the future.

● There was no noticeable embarrassment about him as he talked to me, although he was only a little fellow, and my face grew a bit flushed as I compared his approach with mine many years ago when I asked for a job. Now I have never asked for many jobs, for most of my working career has been spent in family printing offices, but before I decided to become a printer I did ask for a few jobs, such as delivering groceries, cleaning yards and other such things as small boys might do. Later, after I had become an apprentice in a printing office I asked for a few jobs and got some of those for which I asked. But I never could have any ease of manner when applying. I remember the very first job I ever asked for and it is still embarrassing as I remember it. That was what I thought of when this small boy came in and in a smooth, efficient manner put in his application. There was such a contrast in the two incidents!

● I heard there was an opening at a grocery store. In fact, a friend of mine had a job delivering groceries in one section of the town and told me the store was going to put on a boy to deliver in another section. "You can get the job if you will hustle down there and ask for it," he told me. In passing, let it be said that the job was to pay the sum of two dollars a week, and on that salary I felt certain my fortune would be made.

● So I hustled after my fashion. I had an idea I should present my best appearance for this important occasion, and so went home and cleaned myself up as thoroughly as a ten or eleven year old boy possibly could—which was probably not a very good cleaning job. As I washed my face I was already planning what I could do with the wealth that was to be mine, but as I finished there came a feeling of cold dread as I thought of walking into that store and addressing the big and busy man who operated the store. My throat began to swell, and grow lighter as I wondered just what to say. Sudden panic came to me and I wished I had asked my friend to go with me, or at least had asked him what to say. He was gone on his route by this time and I had to do the job alone.

● Walking down to the store I tried to mentally phrase my approach, and finally I thought I had hit on the proper words to say. My throat felt quite queer and dry, but I did not know that my vocal chords had also been frozen. I walked into the store and the owner was busy at the moment. I felt a sense of relief that I could put off the job for a few minutes, but finally the customer left and the grocery operator came to me. "What is it son?" he asked, and I know now that he had a friendly manner and pleasing voice. Then I did not know it, for I was trying desperately to start my speech. I stammered and stuttered and my face grew red and I hung my head, and all told I suffered the tortures of the damned for a few minutes. Out of the torrent of words the groceryman finally deduced I was asking for a job and he tried to

ROOSEVELT ASKS VICE DISTRICTS BE ELIMINATED

Red-Light Zones In Defense Areas Must Go

Washington. —President Roosevelt called on the Nation today to engage in a concerted drive for "total physical and moral fitness," with particular emphasis on elimination of "red-light" districts in war industry areas.

In a letter to Paul V. McNutt, director of the Office of Defense Health and Welfare, the President declared that such districts contributed a major part of the venereal disease infection found in Army camps and naval stations.

Says Everyone Can Help

Asserting the Interdepartmental Committee on Venereal Disease "has made splendid progress in eliminating" these, the President said the campaign must be extended to industrial areas, with the full co-operation of Federal, State and local governments, business and industry, the medical profession, schools and churches.

The President observed that "this is one effort in which every man, woman and child can play his part and share in ultimate victory."

WAR COSTING BRITAIN $37,000,000 WEEKLY

London. —The House of Commons promptly voted a new 1,000,000,000 ($4,000,000,000) credit for war purposes today at the request of Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the exchequer, who said it brought Britain's total authorizations during "the costliest war in history" to 10,650,000,000 ($40,200,000,000).

Britain's rate of government expenditure recently has risen to $4,250,000 ($37,000,000) a week, Sir Kingsley said.

"It is two years ago," the chancellor added, "since we left behind the actual highest rate of expenditure at any time in the last great war."

Even in the past year, he observed, the daily expenditure had increased by 2,000,000 ($8,000,000).

NON-MILITARY AGE GROUPS TO RECEIVE WAR QUESTIONNAIRES

Washington. —Selective Service registrants in the non-military age group, 45 to 65 years, will receive their occupational questionnaires within the next week or two.

These questionnaires are designed to catalogue skills and work experience.

High Speed Program Is Set For Builders Of Ships In U. S.

Washington. —The House Naval Committee disclosed tonight that this nation has 1,009,245 tons of fighting ships built since 1934 in service and 2,646,606 tons under construction.

The $9,550,000,000 fleet expansion measure would add 500,000 tons of aircraft carriers, 500,000 tons of light and heavy cruisers, and 900,000 tons of destroyers and destroyer escort vessels, together with 1,000 smaller craft, 800 of which would be subchasers and torpedo boats.

In a formal report on the expansion bill, the committee declared it was intended to "utilize the country's shipbuilding program to the fullest extent which does not cramp or hinder other war programs through the calendar year

Washington. —The two Italian battleships damaged by American heavy bombers in the Mediterranean on Monday were identified by the War Department today as the new 35,000-ton Littorio and the 25,000-ton Conte Di Cavour.

In its first official report on the exploits of the big "Liberator" planes operating from North Africa, the department said in a communiqué that "a number of direct hits" were scored on the warships.

Cairo dispatches said one was hit 20 times and the other 15.

The communiqué issued here was based on a preliminary report from Colonel Harry A. Halverson of Boone, Iowa, commander of the bomber force.

Communique

The communiqué said:

"1. Mediterranean theater:

"The War Department has received a preliminary report from Colonel Harry A. Halverson relative to operations of the United States Army heavy bombers in the recent attack on the Italian fleet in the Mediterranean Sea.

"In close cooperation with the British fleet and the Royal Air Force, a formation of United States Army B-24 heavy bombers from Colonel Halverson's command attacked capital ships of the Italian fleet in the Mediterranean. The fleet was apparently en route to attack a large and important British convoy. Our bombers concentrated their attack on the two Italian battleships, scoring a considerable number of direct hits.

Put To Flight

"As a result of this air attack by American and British planes, the Italian war ships were put to flight without attacking the British vessels. Our planes encountered a considerable amount of anti-aircraft fire, which was ineffective.

"On the return to their North African base, our bombers were intercepted by German Messerschmitt fighter planes. One enemy plane was shot down and was seen to explode as it struck the sea. All of our planes returned to their base without being seriously damaged. There were no casualties among our personnel.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Hotels Make Plans For Salvage Of Razor Blades Thrown Away

New York. —The troublesome cast-off razor blade may yet come into its own and make a killing in the war.

Millions are left in hotel bathrooms throughout the country each year, and one New York hotel manager thinks they can be hauled from their repositories and made to "rattle like sabers at the front."

He found 70,504 old blades weighing more than 300 pounds resting behind disposal slits in his 80-room hotel, and immediately went into action.

Checks Disposal Rate

First, Charles E. Rochester checked up and found that there were 1,614,892 sleeping rooms in the 15, 850 hotels of America.

In his hotel alone, he discovered that guests deposited an average of 13.33 old blades in each room each year.

"This leads me to believe," he said, "that there must be upwards of 100 million pensioned-off blades behind the walls of hotel bathrooms throughout the country."

Proposes Another Trimming
"Melted down," they ought to be good for one more good trimming," he suggested.

"We can use them in tank or gun parts to cut down our enemies."

"They've always been a nuisance to householders and hotel operators, but now I think the lowly razor blade will come into its own."

WAGE-HOUR HEARING CALLED FOR FRANKFORT

Women's Pay In Hotels And Cafes To Be Discussed

Frankfort, Ky. —A hearing on wages and hours of women and minors employed by hotels and restaurants in Kentucky will be held before a special board at 11 a. m. tomorrow in the House of Representatives chamber.

Indications were that labor representatives would seek to wet a ruling that tips no longer be counted as part of wages and would ask an advance above the scale now paid, while employers may ask reductions in pay or extension of hours for some.

The board, composed of three representatives each of employers, workers and the public, is headed by Thomas H. Stokes, Murray, a public representative. The board was appointed by Gov. Keen Johnson. Restaurant and hotel employees, covered by the state wage-hour law, now work under the general state-wide regulations.

ALASKA ROAD PROBE REFUSED BY SENATORS

Langer Resolution Is Rejected By Committee

Washington. —The Senate Foreign Relations Committee unanimously rejected today a resolution by Senator Langer (R., N. D.), calling for a senatorial investigation of the choice of an inland or "prairie" route for the military road now being constructed across Canada to Alaska.

Chairman Connally (D., Texas) said the committee felt that since the most easterly route of three was chosen by the army general staff and work started, the project should be completed "regardless of what ultimately is done about other routes."

Called Work Difficult

Langer had charged in his resolution that the "prairie" route was "an engineering monstrosity," contending that its construction would be difficult because part of the route passed over the Muskeg swamp.

Langer said he was "very well satisfied" with the hearings and did not believe a "further investigation is necessary at this time." The North Dakota senator said he was most pleased to know that President Roosevelt had "apparently become aware of the situation" and last Sunday sent his uncle, Frederick A. Delano, to Alaska to study all five points.

Cooling-Off Time Is Urged As Prelude To Making Final Peace

Baltimore. —Summer Welles, undersecretary of state, advocated tonight a cooling-off period after the war before final peace terms are made.

In an address prepared for a United Nations rally Welles recalled the "tragic experiences" which humanity underwent after the last war, stressed that co-operation was no less essential in maintaining peace than in winning the war, and declared:

"The final terms of the peace should wait until the immediate tasks of the transition period after the defeat of the Axis power have been completed by the United Nations, and until the final judgments can be coolly and rationally rendered."

Washington. —Winston Churchill, Britain's wartime prime minister, has crossed the Atlantic once more to sit down with President Roosevelt and chart plans for crushing the Axis—perhaps by opening a second fighting front in Europe.

A brief White House announcement tonight disclosed that Churchill had reached this country secretly and safely for immediate conferences with Mr. Roosevelt. It kept his exact whereabouts secret. It also said nothing about his mode of travel to this country, but the British censorship passed a London dispatch saying that he came by air.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early told reporters without the slightest degree of qualification that he thought speculation was "perfectly justified" on the possibility of the heads of the two great Allied powers would touch on a second front.

Talks Begin Immediately

"The conferences will begin immediately," Early asserted. "The subject of the conferences will be, very naturally, the war, the conduct of the war, and the winning of the war."

Conjectures about a second front developed rapidly, inasmuch as Russia's foreign commissar, V. M. Molotov, had just returned to Moscow from highly important parleys in London and Washington which brought about a complete understanding among the United States, England and Russia on the "urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942."

Leaders of the more powerful of the United Nations, including the President himself, have been speaking frequently of assuming the offensive, and it appeared to be entirely within the range of probability that Churchill had come to discuss that problem.

Shipping Question
Linked with it, of course, would be the question of shipping, which is so essential to transporting the arms and men to actual combat stations.

Shipping was discussed yesterday when the Pacific War Council met with President Roosevelt. New Zealand's minister to the United States, Walter Nash, remarked that the shipping situation was looking better and there was a possibility of "real good news" about it.

A Roosevelt-Churchill decision on the time and place for a second front would remain, naturally, the greatest of military secrets. Such a decision, furthermore, would take into consideration the views of the military experts of the two countries. Churchill brought some of his experts along with him.

Asserting that organization for preserving a sound peace should go hand in hand with the war, Welles pointed to the master lend-lease agreements thus far reached with Great Britain, China, Russia and Belgium, pledging freer international trade after the war as a possible basis of economic recuperation of the world.

"Thus, in effect," he said, "five of the world's great nations have become partners with full equality of status, in a new world understanding—an economic understanding, open to the participation of all other nations of like mind—an economic understanding which may well become the nucleus of a United Nations organization for the relief and economic reconstruction of the post-war world."

CONFUSED COMMAND

(From The Beaumont Journal)

There are so many war secrets nowadays that the layman cannot apply intelligent perspective to the few military facts he does learn. Therefore it is difficult to appraise properly the disturbing criticisms made by Col. Hugh J. Knerr, U. S. A., retired, in the June American Mercury. Colonel Knerr charges flatly that, in spite of promises made to the public, our "supreme commanders" in the Canal Zone, in the Southwest Pacific, at Pearl Harbor and other strategic places are being hamstrung by split authority and divided responsibilities. These, he intimates, are potentially as harmful as the "Alphonse-Gaston disaster at Pearl Harbor." They result from the same indefensible jealousy among the armed services that added months or years to this war by permitting the Japs temporarily to wreck our Hawaiian fighting plant.

There is nothing academic about the problem which Colonel Knerr discusses. If what he says, based upon facts which have appeared in print or are "quite generally known" is true, we may be heading for another debacle worse even than Pearl Harbor. After Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, a capable airman, had been given "full responsibility" for defense of the Canal Zone, Colonel Knerr says, the Navy "went to work and stripped him of control over certain outposts without which the canal cannot be properly protected. The Navy acquired command over operations in the Winward Islands area, from Puerto Rico to Trinidad, through which a hostile plane carrier would have to sneak by daylight in order to reach the canal at night for a dawn attack."

On the Pacific side, Colonel Knerr claims to know that "the Navy has at times even refused to give General Andrews information essential for his defense plans." General Andrews is responsible, but does not control the scouting services without which he cannot know when and by what type and by what strength of force an attack is upon him. General MacArthur has "supreme command" and "full responsibility" in the whole Australian sector. Colonel Knerr argues that the likely Japanese approach is by way of New Zealand. So the New Zealand sector has been given into Navy jurisdiction.

Even in Pearl Harbor itself, Colonel Knerr alleges, there is a three-way split in command notwithstanding the lesson we supposed we had learned from the episode which resulted in charges against Admiral Kimmel and General Short. If even half of what Colonel Knerr states as published or "quite generally known" fact is true, no American can rest easy until President Roosevelt takes drastic action. This is not a game between Army and Navy, with the loser's goal posts as prize. This is total war.

put me at ease. "Son," he said, "I have already hired a boy for the job. I'm afraid if you can't talk any better than you have been talking for the last few minutes you would not help the store much when you had to talk to your customers. But try again some time, and remember that there is nothing remarkable about asking for a job."

Well, I remembered his words and later did manage to ask a man for a job in a sort of intelligent manner. But to tell the truth, I have never enjoyed asking for a job, and I envied this boy who asked for one the other day in his ease of manner.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE FINDS 11,401 BERRY PICKERS IN PURCHASE

Frankfort, Ky. —Jobs were found for 22,903 persons during May, the United States Employment Service for Kentucky reported today, compared to 5,312 in April of this year and 5,168 in May last year.

The increase was explained as largely due to agricultural placements, including supplying 11,401 strawberry pickers for the Paducah area.

Total agriculture jobs filled were 12,462 during May, and the remainder for various non-farm work.

Director W. H. Fraysure reported that the service's active files now contain the names of 82,911 job seekers, a decrease of 6,646 during May, and that Louisville's decrease in applicants was 3,000. He added that Louisville remains the largest single labor source in the state, however, with approximately 20 per cent of the job applications coming from there.

MOVEMENT OF FREIGHT UNBALANCED ON RIVER

St. Louis. —The Government owned Inland Waterways Corporation reported Tuesday the war had accentuated a problem of unbalanced movement of freight by the Federal Barge Lines.

Of the 2,567,030 tons handled last year, 69 per cent moved northbound and 31 per cent southbound. This unequal movement resulted in tows going one way lightly loaded or empty.

The situation was attributed to a shipment of grain, which normally

President Chester C. Thompson said if freight were more balanced, nearly double the tonnage could be carried by the barge lines at little increased expense. He pointed out transportation costs averaged 2 1-2 times higher upstream, against the current of the rivers, than downstream.

Mr. Thompson reported to Secretary of Commerce Jesse H. Jones that operations of the barge lines and the Warrior River Terminal Company showed a consolidated deficit of $190,561 in 1941, as compared with a loss of $273,725 in 1940.

What Price Victory

No one doubts that the cost to defend the Freedom we love is going to be staggering. Some Americans are paying the cost with their lives; others are buying War Bonds, regularly. But to be able to speak and pray and think as we please . . . did you ever hear anyone question the cost?

American industry is humming to the tune of war. Of course, the cost of Victory is going to be great, but the loss in defeat would be far greater. So, wherever we go, whatever we do, let's find a place in this fight to preserve our greatest heritage . . . the Liberty, the Freedom of America.

TART APPLE NUGGETS ENJOYED BY ARMY

Boston. —The latest thing for Army menus are dehydrated apple nuggets which look like popcorn, but can be eaten "straight" or turned into succulent pies or sauce.

The Quartermasters first order was for 1,000,000 pounds. The apple nuggets are made from tart apples—Baldwins, Winesaps or Rome Beauties.

They have a superior taste to dried apples and also are much lighter in weight, since dehydration takes out more water than does drying.

Any given weight of dehydrated apples will make about seven times that much sauce or pie filling.

PLENTY ARMORED UNITS PROMISED BY DEVERS

Dallas, Texas. —Maj. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding officer of the Armored Forces, Fort Knox, Ky., said today an increase in armored divisions of the Army could be expected right away.

Such divisions now number eight. "There's plenty coming up," said General Devers, "but any further announcement should come from Washington."

Washington. —The twenty-four hour clock system has been adopted as the official time system for all Army official messages, dispatches, orders and reports.

Time is expressed by a group of four digits running from 0000 to 2400 for the twenty-four hours after midnight, the first two numerals representing the hours after midnight and the last two the minutes after the hour. For 6:25 a. m., the figures would be 0625.

The V Means Something

Yes, the V means something—it means Victory, no matter what the cost. The Old Gentleman who shows in the background with his sleeves rolled up also means something—he means the personification of might and power which will bring victory.

Our business is helping people own homes and we have been working at this for a long time. Right now we urge you to take proper care of your home; if you need money for this we can help you. We also are glad to sell War Bonds at our offices and think in both we are aiding in the all-out war effort.

FULGHAM NEWS

By Miss Docie Jones

The meeting at Mt. Pleasant was a revival in reality. Rev. Wayne A. Lamb, the guest preacher from McKenzie, Tenn., is an evangelist with a contagious spiritual power. Another factor of importance was the personal contacts made. He and the pastor, Rev. H. F. Clayton, visited men in the field and the result was conversions. It was a great week to some and a great loss to many who were unable or else failed to attend. It was a busy season with the men. Had a threatening cloud every afternoon preceding the night service. Rained Friday night and Saturday morning but no service was missed, even with the gravel road in only one direction. In addition to three mother members, Mrs. George Humphreys, Mrs. Ross Jackson and Mrs. Emma Bone were seriously ill in their homes. The services closed Sunday morning with five additions to the church—Claud Lock, Mrs. Lock and three children, Elmo, Doris and Shirley Lock. Grate Vaden professed during the meeting and will join at Salem later. Many members testified as to blessings and reclamations.

Bethel
Billy Parrott's pastor, Rev. Stephen Cobb, has invited him to preach at Bethel Sunday, June 21, at 11 a. m. and at New Harmony, near Paducah Sunday night. Bethel invites you to hear him.

Baptizing

The Jim Kimbell Pond was the scene of two baptisms Sunday afternoon, one for the Mt. Moriah Baptist and one for Mt. Pleasant Methodist. Four candidates for each church.

Church Program

Mt. Pleasant church school program will be observed the fourth Sunday morning. Committee in charge of the children's department—Mrs. Jack Vaden, Mrs. Boyce Story and Mrs. Jimmie Moore. Women's class—Docie Jones and Mesdames Will Pharis, Vernon Humphreys, Von Armbruster and Claud Lock. Men's class—Edward Kimbell, Vernon Humphreys and Boyce Story. Mrs. Len Barclay and Mrs. E. J. Bennett will be in charge of the music.

Out of Business

Turner Clark has closed his grocery store near Jackson Chapel and will devote full time to his farming as his son, Lois, will leave for the army soon. He sold his stock to Covington Brothers at Mayfield.

Attends Funerals

Mrs. Otis Farmer and P. J. Vaughan attended the funeral of Mrs. Lonnie Via Friday at Pinegar near Duketown, Tenn. Mr. Via is a brother-in-law of Mr. Vaughan and was a former resident of this section.

Arthur Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Lois Clark, Mrs. Noah Clark, Mrs. Elbert Clark of Hickman, Mrs. Lloyd Dew, Mrs. Pete Kell and Misses Evie Jackson, Martha Nell Crooks and Ozella Kimbell attended the funeral of Alton Hayden Wednesday at Obion, Graves County. The deceased was a son-in-law of Arthur Clark and a former resident.

With The Sick

Mrs. Emma Bone has been worse for the past week, following a heart attack.

Elwood Clark and Pete Kimbell, who were injured in a car-truck accident last Saturday night week, are both improving. Elwood returned to Fulton hospital three times last week for face dressing and treatment.

Mrs. George Humphreys is resting better, but condition unchanged.

Mrs. Cortez Bone has returned home from Riverside hospital with little improvement.

Mrs. Ross Jackson is no better.

Oilers Blank Tigers 7 To 0 As
Final Game To Come Tonight

Owensboro played sparkling and errorless ball last night, with Ray Reiber holding the Tigers to four hits and won easily 7 to 0 for one of the few shutouts suffered by the Fulton team this year. Barger gave eleven hits, and his mates contributed five errors which did not help him any. Four of these came in the sixth inning to give the Oilers four unearned runs.

The last game of the season will be played in Owensboro tonight. Hopkinsville and Union City agreed to close with last night's game, while Bowling Green and Jackson and Owensboro and Fulton will play tonight. Bowling Green definitely clinched second place last night by whipping Jackson. It is understood that Manager Vince Mullen and Pitcher Thomasson may join the Quebec club which is managed by Mel Simons, Fulton player.

game tonight, will be the last set for these two clubs, while swan songs of the other four clubs—Jackson, Fulton, Bowling Green and Owensboro will be sung on Friday night.

Peace maintains that Cecil Moss, president of the Union City club, threw the first monkey wrench in the machinery when he announced Union City was ready to fold, without consulting any of the league owners, or President Peace.

All Union City players are under contract to the St. Louis Cardinals, and will be re-claimed by that organization.

Other clubs in the league are not so lucky. Some of the clubs have working agreements with major league organizations, and the major teams re-claimed all the players sent by them. All the others, including plenty of players that would have brought cash to failing club owners, become free agents, and may sign with any club they choose.

AN EYE FOR BUSINESS

Los Angeles, —A Los Angeles firm has purchased 14 buggies, surreys and two-wheel carts as an investment. The vehicles were resurcted from a Central California storehouse where they've been gathering dust these many years. Two of the buggies were manufactured in 1900. The company recently sold nine buggies and surreys and expects to sell all it can acquire.

Along thousands of miles of coast lines, in lonely country areas and crowded cities, our men and guns are on guard to see that our land is defended against all foes.

At home it is our duty to conserve and protect the things we have. Insurance is one of the safeguards which provides this protection. Let us help plan your protection.

And in the meantime, all of us need to buy all the War Bonds we possibly can. In that way we who stay at home are providing the things for our men to use in battle.
