INTEREST GROWS IN AWARDS BY BAKERY

Interest is growing in the cash and theatre ticket awards being given by the Fulton Bakery each week. H. F. Rucker and Mrs. Carl King were winners last week, having turned in enough letters to spell the word Butternut, that wholesome bread baked by the local bakery.

All may have, if they dare try, a glorious life or grave.

TOBACCO PEDDLERS GIVEN WARNING

For the past two years officers under the direction of Deputy Commissioner D. S. Bliss of the Bureau of Internal Revenue at Washington, D. C., have been conducting investigations in the states of Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky, relating to the unlawful sale of leaf tobacco upon which no tax has been paid. Leaf tobacco has been sold in huge quantities direct to consumers in non tax-paid condition, in place of the legitimate, tax-paid twist or plug. The practice is one which has existed for a number of years and the tobacco so sold has come almost entirely from Western Kentucky.

Investigations are said to have revealed that approximately forty Kentucky men have been prominently engaged in such peddling activities. Investigation has disclosed that peddlers were not growers and that the merchants whom they appointed as agents were not bona fide agents under the provisions of the Internal Revenue laws and regulations. Sales of leaf tobacco made by persons not actually growers, or who have not qualified under the regulations of a bona fide agents of such growers, are entirely illegal.

As a result of the activities of the approximate forty peddlers operating out of Kentucky, generally from Mayfield, Murray, Hickman, Water Valley, Sedalia, Lynn Grove, Hazel, Fancy Farm, Benton, Union Star, Simpsonville, Shelbyville, Paducah, Fulton and Bardwell, based upon facts indicated by the investigation, it is conservatively estimated that the Government has lost over a million dollars annually from sales of leaf tobacco on which a tax was due.

LOCAL BOY ON AIRMEN BASEBALL TEAM

In a recent game to decide the U. S. Government League championship, the Naval Airmen defeated the F. B. I. team 9 to 3. A local boy, Billy Taylor, pitched 7 innings of the game despite the fact that he was hit on his pitching arm soon after the game started.

News Editor Aids In Naval Program

At the suggestion of Secretary of Navy Knox, J. Paul Bushart of Fulton County News has been made Navy Editor, to help the Navy in giving ambitious local young men information about the opportunities the "Two-Ocean Navy" offers them for technical training and advancement as they serve their country in its emergency.

According to an announcement made public in Washington, a limited number of additional men between the ages of 17 and 50 will be given a chance, by enlistment in the Navy or Naval Reserve, to get to the top, with big pay, in jobs which by their aptitude as a result of examination they show themselves fitted, from among nearly 50 different trades and vocations. These include such callings as aviation machinist, dental technician, photographer, diesel engineer, radio technician, electrician, welder, storekeeper, and baker. Enlisted men may also qualify for commissions as officers.

Beginning this week, the Navy plans for a limited time to accept new qualified men for training. These men will be sent to one of four Naval Training Stations and may have a chance to go to a Navy Trade School even before assignment to the fleet. During this period they will be given regular Navy pay and the Navy's free schooling is valued at hundreds of dollars.

"Never in the history of the United States has there been greater opportunity for loyal young Americans to serve their country and build their futures than right now," said Secretary Knox.

In outlining the many advantages offered by enlistment in the United States Navy, J. Paul Bushart, Navy Editor of the Fulton County News said, "It is possible for a bright young man to increase his pay seven times during his first enlistment and he can earn as much as $126 a month. This monthly figure is actually worth much more when it is remembered that the man has few living expenses and is provided with the finest of medical and dental care.

"You have all your food and lodging, and also your original outfit of clothing provided by Uncle Sam free," Mr. Bushart continued. "In addition there are free sports and entertainment—even to the latest Hollywood pictures. On top of this you get free travel and adventure in colorful places—a thing few civilians can afford.

"When you consider the size of this country and the fact that the Navy will select only 15,000 applicants a month from many times that number throughout the United States, the quotation, 'Many are called but few are chosen,' will apply to local young men interested.

"Navy men are a 'hand-picked' lot. Candidates must be men of more than average intelligence and ambition, of fine moral character and must have the written recommendation of at least two local townspeople."

As Navy Editor, Mr. Bushart has just received from Washington a supply of free illustrated booklets for all men interested and, in addition, will welcome inquiries from young men who wish to look into the new and greater opportunities the Navy now offers for training for future civilian careers as they serve their country now in its emergency.

ARMY MANEUVERS COME THRU HERE

Ninety Miles of Troops and Equipment Will Come Through Fulton Early Saturday

Early Saturday morning between the hours of 6:00 and 7:00 a.m., the first of the long procession of Ft. Custer, Mich., troops enroute to war games in Arkansas will start passing through Fulton. About 5,000 troops and more than 700 vehicular units will be included in the movement composing a column about 90 miles long, due to the intervals between machines and sections. It will be several hours before the full procession has passed through the city.

After camping at Paducah Friday night, the first vehicles will leave there at daybreak Saturday morning. Soldiers and equipment will pass through Fulton on Highway 51 down Lake street and out State Line into Tennessee.

"Every effort will be made to protect local pedestrians and motorists," K. P. Dalton, chief of police here said. "But everybody is urged to obey traffic regulations and signals in order that accidents may be avoided, as the passage of so many troops and vehicles through here said. 'But everybody is urged. Although no accidents have occurred here in previous troop movements, several have happened in nearby communities."

Fulton has witnessed the passage of many troops and considerable equipment, both by highway and railroad. But Saturday will mark the largest single movement through this city. Another detachment will start passing through Fulton at about the same hour on Thursday, August 23.

School Grant Is Approved By President

A wire was received Tuesday by J. O. Lewis, superintendent of the city schools, stating that President Roosevelt had signed the WPA grant for the new school building to replace Carr Institute. The grant had been approved by Congress some time ago but the President must sign all such projects before the appropriation is made.

School officials had expected that the construction would begin in June but there has been much delay in getting WPA approval. As soon as the architect can get all details completed and the materials can be secured, the construction will begin.

IF YOU HAVE A FRIEND

If you have a friend worth loving,
Love him! Yes, and let him know
That you love him, ere life's evening
Tinge his brow with sunset glow.
Why should good words ne'er be said
Of a friend—till he is dead?
If you hear a prayer that moves you
By its humble, pleading tone,
Join it! Do not let the seeker
Bow before his God alone.
Why should not your brother share
The strength of "two or three"
in prayer?
If you see the hot tears falling
From a brother's weeping eyes,
Share them! And by kindly sharing
Own our kinship in the skies.
Why should anyone be glad
When a brother's heart is sad?
If a silvery laugh goes rippling
Through the sunshine on his face,
Share it! 'Tis the wise man's saying
For both grief and joy a place.
There's health and goodness in the mirth
In which an honest laugh has birth.
If your work is made more easy
By a friendly, helping hand,
Say so! Speak out brave and truly
Ere the darkness veils the land.
Should a brother workman dear
Falter for a word of cheer?
Scatter thus your seeds of kindness
All enriching as you go—
Leave them! Trust the Harvest-Giver;
He will make each seed to grow.
So, until the happy end,
Your life shall never lack a friend.

Bits of Kentucky Folklore
BY JORDAN WILSON, Ph.D.

MULE DAY

Not often in our time is a new tradition made, right under our own eyes. That such can be done proves how deeply dyed we are in folk ways of doing things. Mule Day in some communities is one of these genuine traditions that have recently come to have even national attention, getting into Life Magazine and the news reels. A great motion-picture actress is induced to come and ride the mule crowned as queen, bands from the town and neighboring towns play and march, there is clowning on the part of school boys chosen for the purpose, and Kentucky burgoo is served to all and sundry. And probably not a dozen of the hundreds who participated in any year's program dreamed that they were acting a part hallowed by ages of folk customs.

Change the calendar a little, and Franklin's Mule Day is Corpus Christi Day in some English village or town four or five hundred years ago. Since the Church was the center of interest in those times, you might expect it to be in charge, actively and passively. But the church soon lost its hold on what started as a sacred procession, and the guilds or labor unions took over. The day becomes an occasion for a great splurge by the businesses of the city; the plays, depicting various scenes from the Bible, get mixed up with folk elements until Adam and Eve, Samson and Delilah, Noah and his quarrelsome spouse (an addition of the players), ranging Herod, and the rest were just contemporary characters, as real as the boys and men acting the parts. Clowns passed through the crowd, getting off many shady jokes that used to make the circus memorable. There was food to eat, there were numerous extra forms of entertainment, and even the sharper was around, ready to take his toll of gape-mouthed yokels.

The circus as an institution seems to have practically passed, and with it passed a whole series of events that are distinctly folk in flavor. After all, though, the circus was an outside influence, not really typical of the community except in the throngs that attended and made it a great festival. It does me good to see these folk things, like the Franklin Mule Day, coming into increasing popularity, to take the place of the late-lamented circus and to let us know, too, that the folk are neither dead nor sleeping. The old things may not please any more, but we are too basically folk not to be thrilled by Mule Day or a Tobacco Festival or a Cotton Carnival or a Livestock and Poultry Exposition, or whatever else has grown up as a community business advertisement for distinctive products. Some have felt that there are too many such days, but I believe that every town owes itself a festival of some sort, a twentieth-century version of the mediaeval folk plays.

That such things have possibilities has been illustrated in recent years by the Washington Post's annual Folk Festival, held each spring in Washington. Miss Gertrude Knott, formerly of Paducah, started this movement in 1934 and held folk festivals in many parts of the country. The Washington Post, realizing the advertising value of such an appealing program, took it under its protection. Annually there are dozens of groups of people from every part of America who travel to Washington for this event, to exhibit their songs and dances and folk industries and yarns and other means of entertainment. Indians, lumbermen, Cajuns, Spaniards from New Mexico, cowboys, quaint religious sects, mountaineers from the Appalachians and the Ozarks—the list could be extended indefinitely—live again their folk customs for the thousands who attend. Isn't that a fine thing for us as Americans to do, to show through our many endowments we are basically one? and Mule Day in our state is just another fine folk custom of recent origin that should be continued for its own sake and for the similar things it may help to bring about.

HOW TO TOUCH A WOMAN

A woman is like a piano. She may be a "little upright" Or she may be "Table Grand." But in any case she is a mixture Of black and white notes, Of vanity and humility. Of selfishness and self-sacrifice. Intensely intolerant. Trustingly simple— It all depends how you play on her: Whether she will produce harmony or discord. Some women seem often out of tune Probably because they are continually being thumped on By some inexperienced player. But, actually, All they need is a rest. A woman responds readily to the touch of an artist Therefore, it is up to the men To learn to play intelligently For it all depends On how you strike a woman Whether she will be sharp, Be flat, or be natural.

Money Talks

By Frederick Stamm, Economist

UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

The improved condition of the country is reflected by a recent report on the farm real estate market issued by the Department of Agriculture. This report shows that the Federal Land Banks now hold less than $100,000,000 worth of farms which is a low record since 1934. Tenant farmers constituted nearly one-half of all the buyers the first six months of this year as compared with only 16 per cent last year. Better prices for farm products have made it possible for tenants to acquire the farms on which they have been working.

Another indication of greatly improved agricultural conditions is the fact that during the first six months of this year the Federal Land Banks foreclosed on only 3,044 mortgages which marks a decrease of 40 per cent from the foreclosures of the first six months of 1940.

Agricultural prices have moved up to a point where farmers can make some money. With wheat selling around $1.10; soy beans at $1.40; hogs $11.50 to $12.00; veal calves $14.50; etc, farmers should make an effort to pay a little more on their mortgages or put some money in the bank. Prices are not always going to stay on this war time level, and I believe this is the time to sacrifice a little to get out of debt.

JUST HUMANS

By GENE CARR

"I HOPE IT'S THE SCHOOL!"

The last world war should be a lesson to us. Farm prices rose to the highest levels we have ever seen but many farmers bought more land at high prices and mortgaged it to the hilt. Then during 1921 and 1922 when farm prices collapsed, mortgages were foreclosed and farmers lost. If farmers use this high-price period to get their "financial house" in order, rather than to speculate in land, they should be in excellent shape to withstand a post war fall in prices. "To make hay while the sun shines" holds good just as much in money affairs as out in the hay or wheat fields. Pay off that mortgage while prices are high and free yourself of many financial worries later on.

Cop: Don't you know what I mean when I hold up my arm?"
Old Lady: "I ought to, I was a school teacher for 30 years."

Visitor (in County Jail):
"What terrible crime has he committed?"

Sheriff: "He didn't commit any crime. He saw a man shoot another and is held as a material witness."

Visitor: "Where is the man who committed the murder?"
Sheriff: "He's out on bail."

Laughing Around the World

In Other Words a No-Run Tie

By IRVIN S. COBB

YEARS ago I knew a man who had a right, if ever a man had, to be called a character. He loved baseball with a love which passed understanding. Any time there was a game between scrub teams anywhere in our country you could count upon Uncle Giles being among those prominently present. A close play left him practically incoherent with joy and excitement.

Late in life he made his first trip outside the boundaries of the state. He took advantage of a popular excursion rate to go over to St. Louis where he remained for two crowded and thrilling days.

Upon his return I met him at the depot. I was a cub reporter then on a local daily; and for purposes of publishing his impressions, which I knew would be picturesque, I proceeded to interview him.

"Uncle Giles," I said, "what was it you saw on your trip that struck you most forcibly?"

"Well, son," he said, "if I seen one interestin' sight I must a-seen a thousand. When I seen 'em sellin' watermelon by the slice, and hit the middle of August, I says to myself that wonders will never cease."

"But son,"—and here his old eyes brightened with a reminiscent gleam—"I reckon the greatest thing I seen was a baseball game day before yesterday. Twa's a game between these yere St. Louis and them there Detroit. Son, them boys played 'leven endin's and they wasn't ary one made ary one."

Stimson's Apology to Wheeler Begs Issue-'Fight for Freedom'

WASHINGTON (Special)—War Secretary Stimson's retraction of charges that he wronged Senator Wheeler, isolationist America First leader, must have the effect of creating doubt in the country over who runs the War Department.

This was pointed out this week by officers of the Fight for Freedom Committee. The War Secretary recently apologized publicly to the America First leader for stating that he was using the mails to provoke discontent among the nearly million selectees in uniform.

The Fight for Freedom Committee, whose membership is expanding by thousands daily, according to officers here, sent the following telegram to Secretary Stimson:

"We note with mixed emotions your statement in regard to Senator Wheeler. We are proud of your fairness and magnanimity, but we regret that you have allowed Senator Wheeler to maneuver himself into a position in which the issue was narrowed down to a question of whether or not he had intended his postcards to reach the men in the armed forces. This seems to us beside the point. The issue is not what Senator Wheeler intended to do, but what he has done.

"Early this year Senator Wheeler accused the President of wanting to 'prowl under every fourth American boy.' This was a malicious and untrue statement designed to frighten the American people and destroy their confidence in their President.

"Later, Senator Wheeler spread the ridiculous story that the Army was purchasing a million and a half coffins—again an attempt to frighten the American people.

'Incitement to Mutiny'

"In April, speaking at an America First rally in Chicago, Senator Wheeler said: 'The President may have the power—if the Army and Navy obey—to send convoys.' This was incitement to mutiny.

"A short time ago, Senator Wheeler endangered the lives of American sailors and marines by prematurely disclosing the departure of the Iceland expedition. We do not think he did this for the traitorous purpose of informing our enemies, but the fact is that he did so inform them.

"Senator Wheeler's postcard campaign may not have been intended to reach men in the armed forces, but the fact which you yourself state is that it did reach them.

"The issue seems to us to be this: Whether intentionally or not, the fact is that Senator Wheeler has aroused unwarranted fear among the American people, has sown distrust of our President, has incited the armed forces to mutiny, has made available to our enemies secret military information, and now recently has undermined the morale of our armed forces. One may assume that he has done none of these things intentionally. The fact still remains that he has done them.

"Habitual carelessness with firearms does not make a man an intentional murderer. But the fact that a man has one shooting accident after another 'because he did not know the gun was loaded' does make him a dangerous citizen.

Cost to Taxpayers

"We note that the America First Committee has demanded an apology from you. You will know best how to deal with this piece of impudence. Whatever may have been the intention of the joint postcard campaign of Senator Wheeler and the America First Committee, these facts stand out with complete clarity. It cost $1,000 to print a million postcards. This sum was refunded to Senator Wheeler by the America First Committee. It cost $10,000 to send out a million postcards. These $10,000 were not provided by the America First Committee's contributors, whose names it declines to disclose, but by the taxpayers of the country through the abuse of Senator Wheeler's franking privilege.

"It seems to us that if any further apologies are in order, one apology is due to the American people for the misuse of their funds, and another is due to you for the untrue and derogatory statements made by Senator Wheeler in regard to your competence to fulfill the duties of your high office."

Following the Fourth of July week-end death toll in America, I picked up a prominent daily newspaper and read the headlines "America Bent for Destruction." This story told of the terrific death toll of the Fourth of July week-end holiday, in which the automobile took first place.

Labor Day week end will be here soon, and again the newspapers in America will play up the fact that 500 to 700 people were killed over the week end. We do not need a war here to kill people. All we have to do is turn them loose on our highways, and they will do the job themselves.

Do you know why?

HOW CAN I ???

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I drive a nail into plaster without marring the wall?

A. This can be done without crumbling the plaster if the nail is placed in hot water for a few minutes, or dipped in melted paraffin.

Q. How can I launder a man's ties successfully?

A. Before washing the ties, baste them carefully to prevent the lining or padding from becoming lumpy. Remove the basting before ironing and the ties will look as when new.

Q. How can I make a good toilet perfume?

A. A good toilet perfume can be made by mixing two ounces of alcohol with one-half ounce of orrisroot. Keep in a bottle tightly corked, and shake well before using.

Q. How can I test eggs for freshness?

A. Place the egg in a pan of water. If fresh, it will lie on its side. If a few days old, it will tilt upwards. If stale, it will stand on end. If very old, it will float.

Q. How can I separate a water glass that has become stuck inside of another glass?

A. Pour cold water into the upper glass to contract it, and then immerse the lower glass into warm water to expand it. They can then be separated very easily.

Q. How can I make a good furniture polish?

A. A furniture polish can be made of one part vinegar, with equal parts of linseed oil and turpentine.

Q. How can I remove a broken cork that has slipped down into the bottle?

A. Pour in enough household ammonia to float the cork, let it stand for a few days, and the cork will break into fine pieces, which can be removed without difficulty.

Q. How can I tighten the handle of an umbrella that has become loose?

A. Fill the hole in the handle with powdered resin, heat the rod, and then press firmly into the hole.

Q. How can I remove a rusty screw?

A. Heat a poker or spike red-hot and apply it to the head of the screw. When the screw has become hot, it can be removed very easily.

Q. How can I relieve sunburn?

A. One of the very best remedies is to mix two parts of lime-water with one part of linseed oil, beat it to the consistency of cream, and apply.

Q. How can I remove the socket of an electric light bulb, when the glass bulb has broken off?

A. This can be done by pressing a large cork firmly into the socket. This will enable you to unscrew the metal part.

Q. How can I mend a tear in a kid glove?

A. Buttonhole around the edge of the tear before drawing together. Then over-sew the buttonhole together and the repair is substantial.

SWEEPING CHANGES IN I. C. SERVICE

Sweeping readjustments of Illinois Central passenger train schedules and equipment, to improve service and to meet the needs of national defense, were made effective Sunday, August 17, according to J. V. Lanigan, passenger traffic manager. One result will be to release for special movements, such as the carrying of troops, fifty-one additional passenger-train cars—more than enough equipment for three full troop-trains daily, practically doubling the railroad's excess capacity available for such purposes.

Notable among the service improvements will be a further separation of the passenger business and the mail and express business through establishment of a special mail and express train. Largely relieving train No. 3, The Louisiane, of such double duty, this change will make possible the speeding-up of No. 3's schedule by nearly two hours between Chicago and New Orleans, the new time being 23 hours and 35 minutes. Other Chicago-New Orleans schedules will be improved to lesser degrees. Connections will be safeguarded, and times of departure and arrival will be made more convenient.

In addition to the speeding-up of certain trains, the "tuning-up" process of the Illinois Central passenger service will include the pooling of cars between separate runs for more efficient use, the discontinuance of the handling of passengers on so-called "mixed" trains and the abolition of schedules on which dwindling patronage no longer justifies the retention of cars. Besides releasing needed equipment for troop-train use, these changes will reduce track occupancy and contribute to more expeditious movement of the remaining passenger trains and all freight, according to Mr. Lanigan.

"The problem of so utilizing railway capacity as to handle the traffic coming up this fall will call for a higher degree of cooperation than ever between the railroads and their patrons," said Mr. Lanigan. "The actions we are taking are based upon a general program formulated by the railroads as a whole to keep pace with the needs of national defense."

The Song of the Angels

ONE of the sweetest songs ever heard on earth is surely that one sung by the heavenly host of angels (Luke 2:14), "On earth peace, good will toward men." The occasion of the song was the birth at Bethlehem of the babe Jesus.

The prophecy of peace made on that brilliant starlit night will some day be fulfilled universally, since a desire for peace has ever been cherished in the hearts of men. We may ask why it is, then, that this desire is not being more speedily realized. The reason undoubtedly is that men have looked for peace where no peace is to be found. No merely material system, supported by physical force, can offer lasting peace.

Today, many earnest endeavors are being made to reconcile men and nations, and to bring to all a fairer share of the earth's goods, thus eliminating, in some degree, the evils that tend to foment the worst passions in men, which often reach their climax in war. But material methods, even those motivated by unselfish desires, cannot bring about permanent peace, for this peace is found only in the realm of Spirit.

To reach a scientific, right conclusion we must of necessity start with a correct premise. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mary Baker Eddy writes (p. 492): "For right reasoning there should be but one fact before the thought, namely, spiritual existence. In reality there is no other existence, since Life cannot be united to its likeness, mortality." We learn from the Scriptures that God created all, "and, behold, it was very good" (Genesis 1:31). The universe and the inhabitants thereof, then, are perfect, like their creator, and God's law of peace and harmony reigns supreme. This is spiritual fact.

The mist or Adam dream, of which we read in the second chapter of Genesis, presents the falsity that man is mortal and material, created out of dust and governed by various so-called powers, claiming to be both good and evil. From this false premise arise the claims of misunderstanding, rivalry, greed, strife, sickness, chaos, and war. This false premise implies also that man can be the football of chance and change, which is of course a lie. . . .

God, the divine Principle of man, perpetuates man as His reflection. It is not true that the child of God is both good and evil, peaceful and discordant, loving and hateful. These are but false beliefs of mortals, which are dispelled when we realize that man is what the Scriptures declare him to be, the image of his creator. Our freedom comes, then, as we recognize and acknowledge our true relationship to the Father, gratefully perceiving that "now are we the sons of God" (1 John 3:2)—now, not sometime in a vague future, in a far-away place, but here and now. As children of God we dwell always in unity and peace.

All will agree that peace is a quality of divine Mind. Then it logically follows that peace is inherent in man, the representative of God. Peace cannot be lessened or destroyed, for it is now and forever established. And Love is awakening human consciousness to this great spiritual fact.

In the proportion that they understand the truth about God and man, men learn to trust in God more fully, and fear, suspicion, selfishness, and hatred correspondingly decrease. This Christlike understanding is expressed in the love which knows no destructive criticism, no greed, no resentment; in the joy which knows no gloom; in the gratitude which knows no fear. As the vision of spiritual good is cherished in individual consciousness, it serves as a beacon light to brighten our pathway in our ascent above mortal, material sense and testimony. As "every kindred, and tongue, and people, and nation" (Revelation 5:9) learns to turn to God, Spirit, as all-power, universal peace will be demonstrated in human experience. May our prayer be that peace be not only talked, but so lived that the passerby will feel its holy influence. Mrs. Eddy says in "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellaneous" (p. 279), "The First Commandment in the Hebrew Decalogue—'Thou shalt have no other gods before me'—obeyed, is sufficient to still all strife. God is the divine Mind. Hence the sequence: Had all peoples one Mind, peace would reign." When the world has learned to obey the one Mind, God, then we shall be able to sing with the angels, "On earth peace, good will toward men," in perfect confidence that permanent peace has been established.—The Christian Science Monitor.

BLUFFERS ALL!

The dog that barks, but doesn't bite.

The man who boasts, but doesn't fight.

The hen that cackles, but doesn't lay.

The man who promises, but doesn't pay.

The boy who learns to tote a gun.

The girl who flirts, but "just for fun."

It isn't any wonder a girl is dizzy if every fellow in town has given her a whirl.

The longer the courtship, the longer the marriage.

Few people can think evil thoughts, without expressing them.

It is far better to say something good about a bad fellow than to say something bad about a good fellow.

Your superiors are those you delight in catching in error.

"I've named my new airplane, Poison."

"Poison? Why?"

"Because—one drop and you're dead."

"What did you say to your husband when you caught him fooling around with all those other women?"

"I told him to come home and tend to his own business."

No fortune tellers have ever been able to tell what sentence the judge is going to give them after they have been pinched for telling fortunes.

What Shape the World?

Before the discovery of America the earth was thought to be flat. Columbus proved that it was round.

More recently, the evidence has shown that it is crooked.

.... that's about the bargain
electricity under business operation gives you now

1 Twice the speed. Electric appliances breeze through a day's housework in less than half the time it used to take—at about half the cost. Your bill is probably about the same or perhaps a bit more than it has been, but you now get the extra advantages of these modern appliances, plus better lighting, for little or no more than you used to pay for lights alone.

3 Twice the light. No blackouts here! Today you can enjoy twice as much light as you used to, for the same money; electricity today costs you only about half as much. (Light bulbs are twice as efficient, therefore you get four times as much light today for the same money.)

2 Twice the labor saving. Ask the woman who owns a washing machine what electricity has done to ease that once-dreaded household task! Best of all, you can afford to use a flock of modern appliances because electric rates today are only about half what they were 10-15 years ago, and today you get about twice as much electricity for your money.

4 Twice the comfort. You don't have to simmer this summer. Turn on your fan and bask in cooling electric breezes. It's cool comfort, too, to realize that today you can cool off in front of your electric fan at about half the former cost!

The credit for steadily improved service at steadily reduced rates is due the employees of this company and other electric companies run on the American way of business operation. It is our job to give you better service at lower cost. We have been doing it. We are going to keep on doing it.
