Family Food Bill Dropped During April

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

The family grocery bill dropped slightly during April, the second straight month of decline, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

The pattern was the same as the one in March: Sales on meat and eggs offset steadily rising prices on items like sugar and milk.

The AP checked the price of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked at the beginning of each succeeding month, using standard brands and sizes or their nearest equivalents. Items not available on one of the check dates were not included in the marketbasket total.

The latest check showed the marketbasket total declined in eight cities during April, down an average of 3 per cent. It went up in the remaining five cities, generally about 1 per cent. The marketbasket total went down in nine cities during March.

Even with the decreases, grocery bills remained well above the levels of March 1973. The marketbasket bill was higher in every one of the cities on May 1, 1974, than it was 14 months earlier. The average increase was 13 per cent.

Sugar, which has been rising since late last year because of increased world demand and lower supplies, went up again. The price jumped in nine cities, was unchanged in three and down in one.

The average price of a five-pound sack of sugar at the start of May was $1.23, up 5 per cent from the $1.17 price last month and up 81 per cent from the 68-cent price on March 1, 1973.

Eggs were down and in seven cities a dozen medium eggs cost less than they did on March 1, 1973. The price de-

Magistrates Hire Temporary Road Supervisor

The Calloway County Court voted formally to hire Rob Walston as temporary supervisor for a three-month period starting Thursday.

The action fills a vacancy created after the court voted not to rehire former supervisor Ralph McCuiston as their first official action of the new term in January.

In other action Thursday, the court voted to amend the budget for 1973-74 to transfer nearly $125,000 to the road fund, enabling the court to pay for a recently-acquired bulldozer, and providing a means of paying for salaries that were increased earlier by the court.

The transfer was made up of $75,000 in revenue sharing, to pay for the dozer, some equipment rental, and a new truck, and $48,000 to pay operating expenses until the end of the fiscal year.

The court also approved increases in operating allowances for the court house offices amounting to $42,000, including a $16,000 increase for the sheriff's office. The increase, to be used to hire more deputies, doubled the sheriff's allowance to $32,000 per year. Also included in the increases were raises in the funds for operating the county court clerk's office, the judge's office, and the county attorney's office.

Some discussion was also heard on the possibility of hiring a county detective to work in the sheriff's office, but no action was taken, and the consensus of the squires seemed to be that a detective hired should come from the money allocated to the sheriff's office, and that no additional funds should be designated specifically for a detective.

A motion also passed to cooperate with the City of Murray and the state in building access road off old Highway 50 onto an industrial site owned by the Murray Chamber of Commerce, Sager Glove Co. and Forsythe Industries. The action came at the request of John Johnson, executive secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Howard Brandor also appeared before the magistrates, asking the court to consider paying a rental fee for a parking area on South Fifth Street, owned by Brandor, which is being used for parking cars of employees at the County Barn. The squires took the matter under advisement and will look into the matter with Brandor.

The court also voted to close the Shannon Creek Road, leading to the old lime quarry near New Concord. The road will be closed from the point where the school bus turns around at the top of the hill, and new roads will be erected. The squires decided, at the request of John Neubauer, who owns the quarry and surrounding property, that the road is unsafe for vehicles to travel on, due to the danger of the open quarry.

Nixon Envisions New Controls If Inflation Not Held In Check

WASHINGTON (AP)—The next week new measures intended to help the ailing housing industry, which he said is one of the few areas of the economy where the government can play a significant role.

But he said he preferred that government policies to control inflation be confined to responsible fiscal and monetary policies.

A major answer to inflation is more production, he added.

Even as the President was urging restraint in future price increases, the nation's largest steel company, U.S. Steel Corp., said it will have to increase prices despite an 80 per cent increase in profits in the first quarter of 1974.

Edgar B. Speer, U.S. Steel chairman, said the increases will be necessary to finance future expansion. He cited pressures from rising costs of raw materials and the cost of the new wage agreement.

WINS JOE DYER POOL SCHOLARSHIP: Danny Futrell, 17, Hazel, is congratulated by State Senator Pat McCuiston, Pembroke, chairman of the Murray State University Alumni Century Club, after winning the $100 Joe Dyer Pool Memorial Scholarship at the university for the 1974-75 school year. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Futrell, Danny will graduate from Calloway County High School this spring and will major in pre-medicine at Murray State.

Nixon Envisions New Controls If Inflation Not Held In Check

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans will demand new price controls if the country's high inflation rate isn't held in check, President Nixon has warned business leaders.

He said the ending of his widely discredited controls program Tuesday creates a "great responsibility" for both business and labor leaders to use restraint in setting future wages and prices.

"If the fires of inflation continue burning too strongly, the demand for controls will come up again," Nixon told 3,200 businessmen and their wives at a U.S. Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday night.

The White House was scheduled to release a new statement on the economy today.

The President, who did not mention Watergate in his 25-minute speech, was applauded warmly and enthusiastically. His wife, Pat, was by his side. Nixon revealed he will announce next week new measures intended to help the slumping housing industry, which he said is one of the few areas of the economy where "the government can play a significant role."

But he said he preferred that government policies to control inflation be confined to responsible fiscal and monetary policies.

"The major answer to inflation is more production," he added.

But even as the President was urging restraint in future price increases, the nation's largest steel company, U.S. Steel Corp., said it will have to increase prices despite an 80 per cent increase in profits in the first quarter of 1974.

Edgar B. Speer, U.S. Steel chairman, said the increases will be necessary to finance future expansion. He cited pressures from rising costs of raw materials and the cost of the new wage agreement.

Barbara Rowland Honored At Bridal Shower Recently

Miss Barbara Rowland, bride-elect of Terry Lee, was honored with a household shower given by Mrs. Ben Todd, Mrs. Jim Kelly, and Miss Pam Todd at the Community Room of the Murray Federal Savings and Loan.

As the guests arrived their gifts were placed on a table covered with a white cloth. Hanging over the bridal table was a lovely green cloth with one single flower arranged on it.

The honoree was presented a corsage of daisies to match her long blue dress. The hostesses also presented her mother, Mrs. Hilda Rowland, her mother-in-law to be, Mrs. Elvie Thomas Lee, her grandmother, Mrs. Luther Suggs, and her great grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Todd, with corsages.

Games were played and refreshments of cake and punch were served from a table decorated with a green cloth under an oval lace cloth.

Approximately thirty-six persons were present or sent gifts.

Two divorces catch her in the middle

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My brother left his wife and five children and got a divorce. My close friend subsequently divorced her husband. It soon came out that my brother and my friend had been seeing each other for a few years before their divorces. They are presently living together and plan to be married soon. I hope they will find the happiness together they lacked in their former marriages, but there is a problem:

I have always been very close to my brother's wife, and I adore the children. My brother says that his ex-wife is no longer a part of the family, and that if I want to see his children I should do so when he has them for visitation. Brother says that if his ex-wife is invited to any family gatherings, he and his wife-to-be will not come.

I don't want to have to choose whom to invite to my home for a family affair, but I am told that since my brother is closer to me than his ex-wife, he should not have to stay away. During the holidays, I invited everyone and left the decision up to those who wanted to come, but there was side-choosing and ill feelings, so I cancelled the party. My own children are being denied associating with their cousins, and remaining neutral is not easy. Please help.

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Your brother divorced his wife, you didn't, so don't let him dictate whom you shall have in your home. Ask everyone you want, and if Brother doesn't want to come, let him stay away.

DEAR ABBY: Several of us have a question to which we have been unable to find an answer.

When a married man is invited to be the guest speaker for a women's club (business or social), what about his wife?

The affair is usually held in the evening at a motel or hotel beginning with a dinner. What is the speaker's wife supposed to do? Sit home and eat alone while her husband is being fussed over by a bunch of women?

I feel that if a club can't afford two meals, they should get their speakers from the membership.

Also, what if the meeting is out of town over a weekend? Don't you think the speaker's wife should be invited too? Please set us straight on this.

A CLUB DIVIDED

DEAR CLUB: It is customary when inviting a speaker to let him know that his wife is welcome, too. If this courtesy is omitted and the speaker wants his wife to be included, he should say so. Weekends? Absolutely—if the budget permits.

DEAR ABBY: To the lady who was 30 and recently divorced and wanted to know where to go to meet men. Here's what I did at age 36 and newly divorced:

I called around to all the churches (all denominations) and got information on all the religious and social gatherings the churches sponsored for singles in my age group. Then I made a list and took turns visiting all the churches. It took a lot of courage to go to so many strange groups alone, but it paid off because at the Unitarian church I met just the man for me. We have been happily married for 15 years.

HAPPY IN HOUSTON

DEAR HAPPY: Some people go to church to pray. Others go to pray they meet someone. To each his own.

GREASE AND FLOUR

Recipes sometimes call for "greasing and flouring" a pan. To do this, use a piece of paper toweling and rub solid white shortening over the entire inside surface of the pan; then sprinkle the greased surface with flour, shaking the pan back and forth to coat evenly. Finally, invert the pan and gently knock the bottom to remove excess flour.

It's All In How You Slice It

Imaginative but ambiguous names for cuts of meat such as "his-and-hers steaks," "paradise roast," or "charcoal steak" are fast disappearing from the nation's meat counters, thanks to a most welcome new standardized identification-labeling program.

The program, which is voluntary and has been implemented on a nationwide among meat retailers, reduces the number of names for various retail cuts of beef, pork, veal and lamb from over 1,000 to approximately 300. It is a shopper's dream come true, especially for the young consumer unfamiliar with the subtleties of the meat counter or those new to an area who in the past have so often been confronted with a vast array of meats bearing regional names which sounded delicious but still failed to describe what was being purchased.

According to the National Livestock and Meat board, the majority of meat labels should now show: (1) the species of meat, (2) the primal area, or part of the animal from which the meat was cut, and (3) the recommended retail name.

An example would be a piece of meat identified as species "beef," primal cut "rib," and the recommended retail name, "eye steak," with the label reading: "beef ribeye steak."

That same cut of meat used to be known by such diverse names as "Delmonico steak," "beauty steak" or "Spencer steak," depending on what part of the country you happened to be in, or in some cases, which market you were in in the same town.

The system of uniform meat labeling will be held to eliminate confusion and make better buying decision possible for the consumer, which in this age of ever-rising prices, is more than welcome.

That is good news any way you slice it.

Letter To The Editor

Professor Not Bitter

Dear Editor:

With reference to your editorial of April 30, 1974, I wish to report that I am not bitter over the University policy of not granting raises to those who earn over $19,000 so that lower salaried employees may receive more. My congratulations and best wishes to them for their good fortune.

I do resent the implication that my "high" salary is responsible for their "low" ones. I am also a bit peeved at the many sarcastic remarks, some from my own colleagues, expressing the hope that my standard of living will not suffer. I have always lived within my means, even during those lean years (no reverse pun intended) when I worked for sub-standard wages when I could have been earning more elsewhere.

Be that as it may, it was my decision to stay and I have never regretted it.

Sincerely yours,
Pete Panzera, Chairman
Department of Chemistry — Geology

CRIME

Nogales, Arizona—The U.S. Border Patrol last year set up electronic devices along the Mexican border to scan for illegal entries. The equipment is designed to emit a peeping sound when persons cross certain areas. But the Nogales unit was quiet one recent Wednesday night. Not a peep. Investigation disclosed it was stolen. (Nogales Herald).

Wichita, Kansas—A "quick change" artist apparently got the best of a restaurant cashier here. Police said a man entered the restaurant and ordered a $1.29 sandwich. When he started to pay for the sandwich he gave Constance Lee, the cashier, a $20 bill. Then the man said, "Wait a minute," took back the $20, gave her a $5 bill, said "wait a minute," and took back the $5 and gave her a $10 bill. Miss Lee then told him to wait a minute, he was going too fast, and the man reportedly replied, "Here, just give me eight $5 bills, then I'll pay for the sandwich." He gave her three $10 bills and five $1 bills. Miss Lee then called a fellow worker and the man left. When the money was counted for the day, the restaurant was $30 short. (Wichita Eagle).

Albany, California—When a station wagon carrying two youths ran out of gas about 2:30 a.m. recently, the vehicle was allowed to roll down a hill and stopped in front of 1000 San Pablo Avenue. The boys had scarcely settled down to wait for a filling station to open when the "residents" came out and arrested the young man. The building houses the police, and the station wagon had been reported stolen. (Siskiyou News).

How quickly they forget. In Predappio, Italy, someone took the contents of two offering boxes at the tomb of former Italian dictator Benito Mussolini, police said.

Roll Call Report

WASHINGTON—Here's how area Member of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes April 22 through April 24, the days immediately following Congress' return from its Easter recess.

HOUSE

NUCLEAR RESEARCH—Rejected, 115 for and 283 against, an amendment to authorize an extra $21 million in fiscal 1975 for nuclear fusion research. The amendment was offered to an AEC authorization bill (H.R. 13919), which already contained $91 million for such research.

The $91 million level is $9 million more than the amount suggested by the Office of Management and Budget, but $21 million below the AEC's request for such research. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Existing nuclear power plants generate energy by splitting atoms. Fusion reactors would generate energy by combining atoms. Some experts contend that mastering the fusion process will give the world a virtually unlimited source of energy.

Supporters of the rejected amendment argued that the nation should give the AEC all the money it requested for fusion. Rep. Howard Robison (R-N.Y.) cited "encouraging progress during the past year."

Opponents argued that—while fusion holds long-term promise—the nation should emphasize more immediately available forms of energy production. Rep. Mike McCormack (D-Wash.) said, "We cannot produce fusion just by spending dollars."

Rep. Romano Mazzoli (D-3) voted "yea." Reps. Frank Stubblefield (D-1), William Natcher (D-2), Gene Snyder (R-4), Tim Lee Carter (R-5), John Breckinridge (D-6) and Carl Perkins (D-7) voted "nay."

WEAPONS SYSTEM OVERSIGHT—Rejected, 152 for and 239 against, an amendment to make the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency provide Congress with evaluations of the impact of new weapons development on disarmament policy. The amendment was offered to a bill (H.C. 12799) to authorize fiscal 1975 funds for the agency. The agency formerly headed U.S. negotiations in the strategic arms limitations talks, a role now assumed by the state Department. The agency now serves as an advisor on arms control policy.

Supporters argued that Congress needs to know the impact of weapons development on disarmament policy. Rep. Dante Fascell (D-Fla.) asked, "Now, what is wrong with that?"

Opponents argued that the agency's powers should not be expanded because Congress is considering restructuring it. Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen (R-N.J.) said, "We would be flying blind" to grant new powers to an agency with an uncertain future.

Natcher and Mazzoli voted "yea." Stubblefield, Snyder, Carter, Breckinridge and Perkins voted "nay."

SURVIVOR'S BENEFITS—Rejected, 187 for and 191 against, an amendment to restrict benefits to surviving dependents of police, firemen, prison guards and parole officers who die in the line of duty. The overall bill (H.R. 113216) proposes $50,000-per-family federal grants to such survivors, retroactive to October 11, 1972.

The rejected amendment would have struck the retroactive provision and made the day the bill becomes law the effective date for benefits.

The overall bill was later passed and sent to conference. Its intent is to help surviving families adjust to the loss of their breadwinner. Its estimated yearly cost is $17 million.

Those voting for the limiting amendment were a combination of members totally opposed to the concept of federal benefits and those who felt the October, 1972 date arbitrarily discriminates against survivors who lost their breadwinners before that date.

Rep. Charles Wiggins (R-Calif.) called the overall bill "a miserable piece of legislation...an illustration of gross over-promising" in an election year.

Those voting against any cutback of benefits argued for the retroactive date because October, 1972 was when the House approved a similar bill that later died in a legislative logjam.

Rep. Lawrence Hogan (R-Md.) said the overall bill would "demonstrate that Americans are grateful to those who take the ultimate risk."

Natcher, Mazzoli, Snyder, Carter and Breckinridge voted "yea." Stubblefield and Perkins voted "nay."

SENATE

"THE GREAT CHICKEN MASSACRE"—Passed, 55 for and 31 against, a bill granting federal money to Mississippi poultry producers who were forced by federal authorities to destroy up to eight million chickens that had consumed feed contaminated with a cancer-causing pesticide. Estimates of the losses range from $6 million to $10 million.

The bill (S. 3231) now goes to the House. It also requires the Justice Department to determine responsibility for the contaminated feed. Culpable parties would be liable for damages.

Supporters argued that poultry farmers who showed good faith and destroyed their birds should be granted relief similar to that given hog farmers whose swine contract cholera.

Sen. James Eastland (D-Miss.) said these "small and medium-sized home grown and owned businesses" should be compensated by the federal government "which ordered the birds destroyed."

Opponents argued against granting relief until poultry farmer's claims are scrutinized as closely as other claims for such relief.

Sen. Dick Clark (D-Iowa) said that "90 per cent of the payments will go to just five large producers." He also called it inconsistent to grant full relief to poultry farmers while victims of tornadoes only get loans.

Sen. Walter Huddleston (D) voted "yea." Sen. Marlow Cook (R) voted "nay."

AIR FORCE PROMOTIONS—Approved, 51 for and 36 against, the promotion of Allen D. Slay (Randolph, Tex., AFB) to the rank of Major General in the Air Force.

The promotion was controversial because Slay served under Gen. John D. Lavelle, who was drummed out of the Air Force for allegedly directing and covering-up the Lavelle's deputy for operations, Slay was in the direct line of command during the bombings.

After approving Slay's promotion, The Senate also approved — by a slightly larger margin — the promotion of Charles D. Gabriel to the level of Major General. Gabriel also was a Lavelle subordinate.

Supporters argued that neither man was responsible for the illegal raids or the cover-up, and therefore, should not be denied their promotions.

Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.) said "the sole responsibility" rests with Gen. Lavelle. Sen. Howard Cannon (D-Nev.) said, "The basic issue is whether every subordinate commander...is to be charged with the responsibility of second-guessing" his superiors.

In opposing the promotion, Sen. Harold Hughes (D-Iowa) said the Senate should not sanction a system that makes "obedience within one's service more important than adherence to the highest principles of law and civilian control of the military." Hughes also argued for sending "a message to the Pentagon that in cannot make John Lavelle a scapegoat."

Cook and Huddleston voted "nay."

MOTORCYCLE INSURANCE—Passed, 72 for and 11 against, an amendment to exempt motorcycles from nationwide no-fault insurance legislation.

The no-fault measure (S. 354) would require all states to develop no-fault insurance plans that meet certain minimum federal standards.

The amendment to exempt motorcycles limited the federal requirements to vehicles with at least four wheels, thus changing language that called for no-fault insurance on all registered vehicles.

Supporters argued that no-fault insurance rates on motorcycles would be prohibitively expensive and make motorcyclists a vanishing species.

Opponents argued that the amendment violates the thrust of the bill: to develop a uniform code for no-fault insurance for all vehicles.

Cook and Huddleston voted "nay."

Tiger Track Team In Triangular Thursday

Local track fans will get their first chance to see Murray High Thursday as the Tigers are at Calloway County for a triangular with the Lakers and Heath.

Murray opened its season last Friday in a triangular at Fort Campbell with the host Falcons and Hopkinsville.

The Tigers, who finished third in the meet, had several outstanding performances.

Enthusiasm for the track program is high as the Murray High track team will soon have its own track ready.

Tiger Coach John Hina said that much of the new equipment is already in and that there is a chance the Tigers could well have a home meet within the next week or two.

In the 120-high hurdles, Dean Lanning and Kim Grogan will be the two entrees for the Tigers.

Last week at Fort Campbell, Lanning won the event, the only first for Murray, as he recorded an outstanding 16.9.

Dale McCuiston and Alan Jones will give Murray a fine 1-2 combination in the 100.

McCuiston was clocked in 10.6 in the opening meet and Jones in 10.7.

James Fenton will double and run both the 880 and the mile. In the mile-run last week, Fenton recorded a fine 5:13 in the opening meet and in the 880, he and junior Eli Alexander should make the Tigers a good pair. Alexander recorded a 2:10.8 in his first race in the 880.

In the 180-low hurdles, Alan Lemons has a 23.4 to his credit and Kim Grogan will also be entered in the event.

Dewey Seigler is the two-miler for the Tigers and he has ran an 11:30.

Again, McCuiston and Jones will combine in the 220 for another strong event for Murray High. McCuiston ran a 23.2 and Jones a 24.0 last week.

The 880 relay team was clocked in 1:45 last week. Members of the team are Alan Lemons, Tony Thompson, Jones and McCuiston.

Mark Peebles, Alexander, Todd Harrison and Lanning will run legs in the mile relay.

The Tigers have a lot of young talent in the high jump event. Sophomore Todd Harrison cleared 5-8 last week as did freshmen Richie Richardson and Barry Wells.

Dean Lanning had an outstanding 19-9 1/2 last week in the long jump and Randy Orr and Thompson will join him in the event.

Thompson and Andy Ryan will be the Tiger entrees in the triple jump.

Junior Steve Porter threw the shot 44-0 in practice this week and should be a threat in the Regional Track Meet.

Tim Lane, a freshman, and "Fee" Dibble will also be entered in the shot put competition.

Porter will be the top man in the discus event for the Tigers and Ryan and Lane will also be entered.

Murray will not have anyone entered in the pole vault competition.

"The team is young and willing to work hard. We still don't have the overall depth though to be a strong contender in the Region," Hina said.

"We do feel though that we have enough outstanding young people in the program at the Middle School plus with the completion of our facilities coming soon that we should have a good future in track in years to come."

Next Tuesday, the Tigers will be at Trigg County for a triangular with the host Wildcats and Hopkinsville.

Then on May 11, the Tigers and Murray State will host the WKC Meet in Stewart Stadium.

The Regional will be May 18 at Fort Campbell with the State Meet scheduled for May 24 and 25 at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green.

Lolich Stops Royals

"I hate to catch a guy who is 0-4 like Lolich was," said Kansas City Manager Jack McKeon. "You know that a good pitcher's going to win sooner or later. You just know it...."

If McKeon was worried before the game, he was convinced afterwards. Lolich, working mostly with off-speed pitches, scattered eight hits as Detroit dumped the Royals 7-2. Aurelio Rodriguez keyed the Tiger attack with two singles, a double and two runs batted in.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angels blasted the Boston Red Sox 16-6; the Cleveland Indians downed the Minnesota Twins 8-3; the Texas Rangers outlasted the Milwaukee Brewers 12-10; the New York Yankees edged the Oakland Athletics 4-3, and the Baltimore Orioles 2-1.

Lolich, a portly left-hander, has lost a little something off his fastball of late and has changed his style of pitching.

"I'm 33 so I throw a lot of sliders and a lot of knuckleballs. I had a good curve ball tonight but the velocity wasn't good," he said.

The hard-hitting Kansas City Royals normally would look forward to facing a pitcher who's winless in four decisions and has allowed 5 1/2 runs a game. But not when his name is Mickey Lolich.

Angels 16, Red Sox 6
Fire-baller Nolan Ryan struck out a season-high 15 batters but his performance was marred by a fastball that got away in the first inning and hit Boston second baseman Doug Griffin just above the left ear. Griffin was carried unconscious from the field and hospitalized with a severe concussion.

Indians 8, Twins 3

Charlie Spikes stroked a two-run single to extend his hitting streak to 19 games as Cleveland won its fifth straight. Fritz Peterson and Fred Beene, both acquired from the Yankees last week, combined on an eight-hit-ter. Bobby Darwin homered twice for Minnesota.

Rangers 12, Brewers 10
Jeff Burroughs, Jim Spencer and Cesar Tovar hit home runs for Texas. Burroughs and Spencer hit theirs consecutively in the eighth-inning to put the Rangers ahead for good. Johnny Briggs drove in three runs for Milwaukee.

Yankees 4, Athletics 3
Back-to-back home runs by Roy White and Chris Chambliss in the eighth inning gave New York the win. Mel Stottlemyre picked up his fifth victory against one loss. Vida Blue dropped to 0-3 for Oakland.

White Sox 2, Orioles 1

Ron Santo's first American League homer, a two-run shot, accounted for Chicago's victory. Stan Bahnsen tossed a seven-inning shutout for the White Sox, besting Jim Palmer. Bobby Grich singled home the lone Baltimore run.

Aaron Smacks 720 But Cardinals Win Contest

Vic Raschi and Lynn McGlothen are from two different baseball eras, but Hank Aaron bridged their generation gap Tuesday night.

Babe Ruth was a seemingly unreachable 713 homers away on April 23, 1954, when Aaron started his homer brigade in St. Louis, belting No. 1 off Raschi.

Twenty years, 719 home runs and 1,399 extra base hits later, St. Louis was the site of another Aaron home run, this one served up by McGlothen.

"Why should I worry about his 720th," said McGlothen, who helped pitch the Cardinals to a 7-2 victory over the Braves. "He'd hit 719 of them before."

Red Schoendienst has had to play and manage against Aaron. He has seen many of the 45 homers Aaron has hit off St. Louis pitching.

Astros 4, Cubs 2
The Astros scored 14 less runs than they did Monday night but still had enough to win the game.

Johnny Edwards' single knocked in Lee May with the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning, sending the Cubs to their seventh loss in eight games.

Mets 8, Dodgers 7
The Mets frittered away a 6-0 lead, then held on to snap the Dodgers' seven-game winning streak.

John Milner cracked a tie-breaking, two-run double in the top of the ninth to snap a 6-6 tie.

Phils 6, Giants 5
Mike Schmidt doubled home

one run and scored another on Bill Robinson's single to give Philadelphia the victory over San Francisco.

Padres 2, Expos 1
Derrel Thomas doubled home the tie-breaking run in the sixth and Bill Greif teamed with Vincente Romo on an eight-hitter, pacing San Diego the victory.

Greif, 24, pitched into the ninth and Romo got the final two outs with the bases loaded, striking out Jim Lytle and inducing Ron Hunt to ground out.

Bucks Rip Celts In Extra Period

By MIKE O'BRIEN
AP Sports Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Boston Celtics' pressure defense was all but impregnable for almost 52 minutes Tuesday night, but when a crack finally appeared Cornell Warner was ready.

Warner drove the lane for a pair of dunk shots, adding a free throw after the first one, in the last 34 seconds of overtime. His second basket gave the Milwaukee Bucks a 103-96 lead en route to a 105-96 victory, squaring their National Basketball Association championship play series at 1-1.

The Celtics battled from a 16-point deficit early in the third quarter to tie at 90-90 on two free throws by John Havlicek with 58 seconds left in regulation, the final points until the five minute extra period.

The Celtics had two more chances to win in regulation and thus take a 2-0 lead in the best of seven series back to Boston. However, Milwaukee's 7-foot-2 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar blocked a shot by Dave Cowens with 10 seconds left, and a jump shot by Havlicek rolled off the rim as regulation time expired.

The next two games will be in Boston, starting with game three Friday night.

The Bucks, leading 98-96, called time with 39 seconds left in overtime. Oscar Robertson passed inbound to Warner near midcourt when play resumed. Warner wheeled past Paul Silas, drove the lane and stuffed in the game's biggest basket. Cowens, who scored 17 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, fouled out on the play and Warner converted the free throw.

"It was the biggest dunk of the year. Baby, what a play," Bucks' Coach Larry Costello shouted.

"It was a beautiful move, a move a player should react to instinctively," Costello said. "He's supposed to forget the play we called when that happens and take the basket. He had the basket."

The 6-foot-9 Warner, who scored only 11 points but contributed 13 rebounds—eight more than in the Bucks' 98-83 defeat Sunday—said he knew he could beat Silas as soon as he took Robertson's pass.

"I was supposed to give it back to Oscar, but he was covered," Warner said. "I saw the layup and just decided to take it."

Coach Tom Heinsohn said he was proud of his Celtics.

"We didn't play our best game and it still took an overtime to beat us," Heinsohn said. "In two games, we won one big and lost the second in an overtime."

Tiger Golfers Tie In Triangular Match

Murray High and Mayfield tied for team honors in a triangular golf match held in the rain Tuesday afternoon at Fulton.

The Tigers and the Cardinals both had scores of 174 while Fulton was 14 strokes back at 188.

Lee Stewart of the Tigers claimed medalist honors with a 41, which gives an indication as to the toughness of the course and the weather conditions.

Gary Sullivan had a 42, David Frank a 45 and Tim Philpot a 46 to round out the top four.

Murray is now 7-1 for the season and will play at the Murray Country Club today in a triangular with Mayfield and Paducah Tighman.

Many Notables Among 3,200 Invited To Governor's Derby Breakfast

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — If you're among the 3,200 persons invited to the Governor's Derby Breakfast Saturday, you can walk away with a small souvenir of a mint julep — but you can't drink the real thing on the premises.

Aides to Gov. and Mrs. Wendell Ford said Tuesday that for one thing, it would be too much of a burden to fix juleps for such a tremendous crowd, several hundred more than were invited a year ago.

Comedian Bob Hope and his family will be among the guests at the traditional breakfast in the executive mansion.

Hope will be accompanied by his wife, their two children and her mother. They also will share Ford's box at the Kentucky Derby.

Dorothy Lea, secretary to Mrs. Ford, said Dr. Michael DeBakey of Houston, the famous heart surgeon, had to cancel plans to stay overnight Friday at the mansion.

DeBakey was Ford's physician when the governor underwent vascular surgery at Houston a few years ago.

The guests have been invited in hourly shifts from 8 a.m. until noon, when the customary caravan will form to drive to Churchill Downs at Louisville with a state police escort.

The ballroom of the limestone mansion holds only about 100 persons for breakfast, but a huge red and white striped tent set up in the rear can handle several hundred more.

Mrs. Lea said guests will be able to take home three mementoes: the silver-appearing plastic julep cups used for coffee, little silver pins showing a miniature julep cup and mint and the menus, which identify food with past derby winners.

There will be bubbling over orange juice, Pensive Scrambled Eggs, His Eminence Kentucky Country Ham, Majestic Prince Bacon, Dark Star Sausage, Wintergreen Fried Apples, Gallahdion Grits, Behave Yourself Biscuits and Whirlaway Coffee. (Horses' names precede menu items.)

To feed the guests the mansion has ordered 1,000 assorted Danish pastries, 45 country hams, 300 pounds of bacon, 300 pounds of sausage, 700 dozen eggs, 16 bushels of apples, three cases of grits, seven cases of orange juice, 6,000 biscuits, 100 pounds of sliced butter and 150 pounds of coffee. Melon balls, though not on the menu, also will be served.

Entertainment will be provided by the Lakeside Singers, a group of college students who work in state parks during the summer. Two banjo players in appropriate costume will accompany them.

The area will be decorated throughout with red roses, and two huge replicas of horses, with halters and blankets, have been placed on either side of the peppermint striped tent.

The overnight guests Friday will be Mr. and Mrs. William Dexter of Owensboro — she is the Fords' daughter, Steve Ford, their son, a University of Kentucky student, plus Mr. and Mrs. Hoover Neel of Owensboro, Parents of Mrs. Ford.

THE HALLMARK QUARTET of Paducah will present a concert of gospel music at the Kirksey United Methodist Church Friday May 3, at 7:30 p.m. They are seen regularly on television on channel 12 and channel 29. There is no admission charge and the public is cordially invited to attend, a church spokesman said.

Bob Arnold Candidate For Post

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Bob Arnold, former director of the Kentucky Office of Youth Affairs, has announced his candidacy for president of the Kentucky Young Democrats.

A Frankfort native, Arnold, 26, is a graduate of Franklin County High School and the University of Kentucky. He was named a director of the Kentucky Youth Development Foundation in 1973; and is also currently serving as province director of Theta Chi, a national fraternal organization.

In announcing his candidacy, Arnold stated, "I will be a full-time, working president for the Kentucky Young Democrats. Our goal for 1974-75 will be to actively seek the participation of more young Kentuckians in the Democratic party."

He said his experience in the Office of Youth Affairs where "I was surrounded by other young people working for young people has enabled me to stay in touch with the needs and goals of young Kentuckians."

Tobacco Men Fear Crop Will Not Meet Demands

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Tobacco farmers and warehousemen from the eight-state Burley Belt are expressing fears that the 1974 burley tobacco crop may fall below world demands.

Several of the tobacco men meeting here Tuesday at the Burley Leaf Tobacco Dealers Association predicted the current year's crop will not exceed 600 million pounds in the Burley Belt.

It was estimated that demand for the leaf would top 620 million pounds. Some tobacco men considered that figure too low.

Under the federal quota program, farmers could market as much as 706 million pounds this year: 604 million pounds allowed in the 1974 national quota, and another 102 million pounds carried over from last year's weather-shortened crop.

Albert Clay of Mount Sterling, chairman of the board of the Burley Auction Warehouse Association, said he feared farmers wouldn't meet the national quota this year. He added that an increasing number of tobacco farmers are talking of quitting the crop altogether.

Their reasons for doing so, he said, are rising production costs, short profits and labor shortages.

"The most critical thing now facing us is getting enough tobacco grown to supply the trade," said Clay.

World demand for the leaf continues to mount. Total world cigarette output last year was 3.5 trillion—up 4 per cent, according to LeRoy Hodges of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agriculture Service.

Hodges told the tobacco men that U.S. cigarette output, domestic consumption and exports all set record highs in 1973. U.S. cigarette production, he said, jumped by 7.5 per cent to 644 billion and cigarette exports increased by 20 per cent to 41.5 billion.

J.D. Johnson, Jr., with the Burley Stabilization Corporation in Knoxville, Tenn., said he had "never seen so much tobacco for lease, and it's cheaper (to lease) this year than ever before."

The price needs to be higher if farmers are to be encouraged to stay with the crop, said William Balden of Danville, chairman of the Council for Burley Tobacco.

"We (as farmers) are not going to produce it unless something is done to change the situation," Balden said. He cited not only rising production costs and labor shortages, but the average age of the burley grower (55 years) as factors discouraging tobacco production.

Ford Announces Campaign Posts

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Wendell Ford has announced that his chief administrative assistant is taking a leave of absence from that position in order to serve as co-chairman of his campaign for U.S. Senator.

In announcing the appointment of William Wester, Ford said he may name another co-chairman after the May 28 primary election.

Wester, 41, of Frankfort, has worked for state government since 1959 when he joined the Finance Department as principal budget analyst. From there he went to the Health Department as executive assistant and deputy commissioner. He became assistant Legislative Research Commission director in 1968 before joining Ford as administrative assistant in the lieutenant governor's office in 1969.

Ford also announced the appointment of Larry Greathouse as campaign treasurer and legal counsel. Greathouse, 32, an Owensboro native, resigned April 1 as Ford's chief legal advisor in the governor's office, a post he had held since 1972, immediately after Ford assumed the governorship.

Ford named H. (Mike) Molloy of Lexington as finance chairman.

Molloy, 40, manages Mt. Brilliant Farm. He is a former executive director of the Bluegrass Boys Ranch, Inc., and served on the board of directors of Spindletop Research and St. Joseph Hospital, Lexington.

Charges Made In Stabbing

Charges have been made in connection with a stabbing here last weekend that left a Ft. Campbell soldier hospitalized.

County Attorney Sid Easley said Pearly Mae Musgrove has been charged with malicious cutting with the intent to kill after she allegedly stabbed James Epps, a Ft. Campbell sergeant.

Bond was set today at $1,500 by County Judge Robert O. Miller, Easley said. The case will come before the May Grand Jury.

Steamboat Race Set For Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The starting cannon was scheduled to boom at 5 p.m. today, marking the start of the 11th steamboat race between the Belle of Louisville and the Delta Queen.

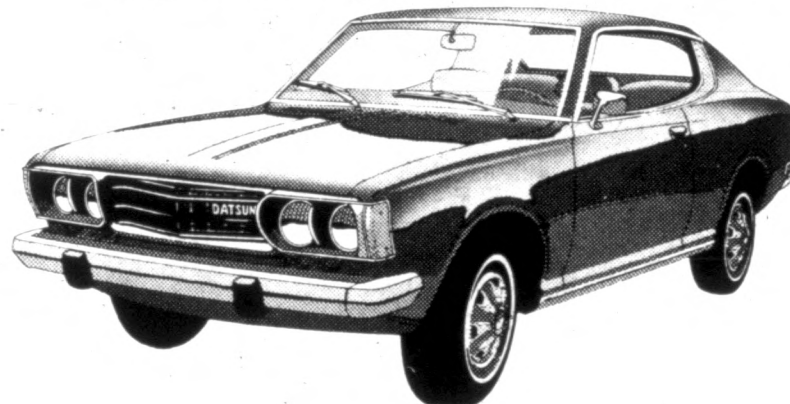

The contest was tied 5-5, although the Delta Queen lost by default in 1971.

The Ohio River race was to begin just west of the Clark Bridge at the foot of Fourth Street. The boats were to steam upriver to buoys placed just west of Six Mile Island, turn around, and race back to the finish line at Towhead Island near the mouth of Beargrass Creek.

The Delta Queen had a new feature this year—a bow-thruster—a reversible propeller near the bow that is supposed to make turning easier.

The heavier, less maneuverable Delta Queen has more power and speed, but turning is more difficult than for the more agile Belle.

Hardin Elementary Site Groundwork Begins On Hardin Center, Park

By BOBBIE FOUST

HARDIN—A delegation of Marshall County officials and senior citizen representatives met in Hardin, Wednesday morning with Charles Wix, project officer of Purchase Area Development District to lay the groundwork to establish a community center and park.

County Judge Mike Miller and Senior Citizen's Project Director Bill White along with Aging Commission members Darwin Lee and Lophus Hiett discussed with Wix the possibilities of obtaining a federal grant under the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation to develop land adjacent to the Hardin Elementary School.

Under present plans, the Marshall County Fiscal Court will acquire the school property and develop it into a community facility which will accommodate the South Marshall Senior Citizens' Satellite Club as well as other organizations. Judge Miller hopes to turn a portion of the building into a recreation center for young people. The Citizen Band Radio Club is also interested in using a part of the facility as is the county library.

"I see unlimited possibilities for this building," the judge commented. "We would like to get a health clinic set up, too," White added.

If the adjacent property can be obtained, it can qualify for matching funds of 50 per cent of its appraised value, Wix explained. "However, applications must be in the office by June," he added.

He further explained a plan of proposed property development and activities must be submitted.

To submit application for matching funds, the group must provide measurements of both sites, a rough site map and property surrounding it. In addition, a three-year history of conveyance and a list of proposed improvements and additions must be submitted. A county park board will need to be appointed and another meeting with local leaders will need to be arranged, according to Wix.

After touring both the school property, containing approximately four acres, and the adjacent two-acre tract of land, as well as other recently sold property, the men estimated the site should be worth about $25,000.

"Hardin Mayor Bobby Lee Puckett is very interested in the project but due to his work schedule was unable to attend the meeting," White said.

The delegation will meet with Wix again Friday at 2:00 p.m.

More Meat Expected In Markets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government market experts say consumers will have no trouble finding relatively large supplies of meat at supermarkets next month but warn that a little searching will be needed to find canned vegetables and some other food items.

Generally, says the Agriculture Department, shoppers will have enough of most items to go around during May shopping trips. The preview of next month's grocery store situation was announced today in a "Food Marketing Alert" by the department.

The brief report was confined only to what USDA experts see as the food supply situation and did not include predictions on prices or over-all grocery costs.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told a news conference last week, however, that consumers already have seen two-thirds of this year's food price increase occur. Prices are expected to go up "a bit more," he said, but not at the rate of recent months.

Butz said he thought an earlier prediction by his department that 1974 grocery store food prices most likely would go up 12 per cent from last year's average still was valid. The 1973 increase was 16 per cent from the previous 12-month average.

The alert report, distributed to large-volume food buyers such as hotels and restaurants, said beef and pork production in May is expected to exceed year-earlier levels. Broiler chickens, turkeys and eggs also are expected to be in larger supply.

"Canned vegetable supplies stay well below normal," the report said. "Early March canners' stocks of snapbeans, sweet corn and green peas ... were 9 per cent less than a year earlier. Frozen vegetables, while moving faster than last year, are generally adequate."

Potatoes, which have soared to record prices the past season, will continue to be "lighter than normal" in store supplies, the report said.

Dairy products generally are expected to be ample, but non-fat dry milk may continue "fairly tight" next month, the report said.

"Dry bean and split pea supplies, in general, are inadequate because of strong demand and less output in 1973 than in 1972," the report said, but added: "May supplies of lentils for all uses are highest in four years for the month."

Stolen Art Collection Insured At Low Premium

DUBLIN, Irish Republic (AP) — The paintings worth an estimated $20.4 million stolen in the world's biggest art robbery were insured for barely one-tenth of this amount, their owner an ounce today.

Sir Alfred Beit, a South African diamond and gold mining millionaire, told newsmen the paintings stolen Friday were insured for less than $2.4 million because of high insurance costs.

An annual premium for the paintings cost between 2 and 3 per cent of their value. On $20 million worth of paintings this would work out at between $400,000 and $600,000 a year.

Beit defended his decision to underinsure the paintings, saying: "They do not represent money to me and no amount of money can compensate me for the loss of such beautiful objects."

The paintings also had little security protection in Beit's 100-room Georgian mansion near the sleepy village of Blessington. An alarm system rang in the local police station, but it was closed at the time of the robbery.

All of the paintings stolen, including works by Vermeer, Goya, Velasquez and Rubens, still are missing. So is the gang that took them—four youths and a brunette woman with a French accent who screamed insults like "capitalist pigs" during the raid.

James White, director of Dublin's National Gallery, where the paintings often were exhibited, estimated their value at $20.4 million. Beit said he thought a more realistic figure would be $8.4 million.

The previous largest haul was the 1966 theft of $7 million worth of paintings from London's Dulwich College gallery.

Beit's insurance company offered a reward of $240,000 for the recovery of the paintings, but stressed it would make no deal with the thieves.

Police have taken descriptions of gang members and fingerprints from the getaway car. They have setup roadblocks, conducted house to house inquiries in the Blessington area, and watched harbors and airports. But the motive for the robbery remains as mysterious as the whereabouts of the paintings and the raiders.

Police favor the theory of a political motive by the IRA or some extremist group. They expect Beit to get a ransom note soon.

Oldsters To Celebrate Birthdays With Marriage

SEATTLE (AP) — George Starr will turn 90 Wednesday. Florence Lidren turns 81 the same day. They're celebrating by getting married.

Starr, who retired 14 years ago as chairman of the King County Democratic committee, was supposed to be guest of honor at a birthday party thrown by his old friends.

"I laughed when they told me," Starr said. "I said 'I'm going to get married.'" So the party was switched to Tuesday.

Starr and Mrs. Lidren met briefly 26 years ago. Mrs. Lidren, a widow, wanted a job in the postal service. Starr, who was Seattle postmaster at the time, got her a job at a post office contract station.

But they didn't see each other again until about three months ago, about a month after Starr's second wife died. He initiated the romance by calling Mrs. Lidren to ask if he could pay her a visit.

"I thought about it for a little while and said I guess it couldn't hurt anything," she said.

He began visiting once a week. Each time, they sat on her large davenport and talked. She said that each time they sat a little closer.

A month ago, he popped the question.

"I was shocked," she said.

He wasn't all that sure himself. He said he thought it might be a little soon to marry a third time, only five months after his wife's death.

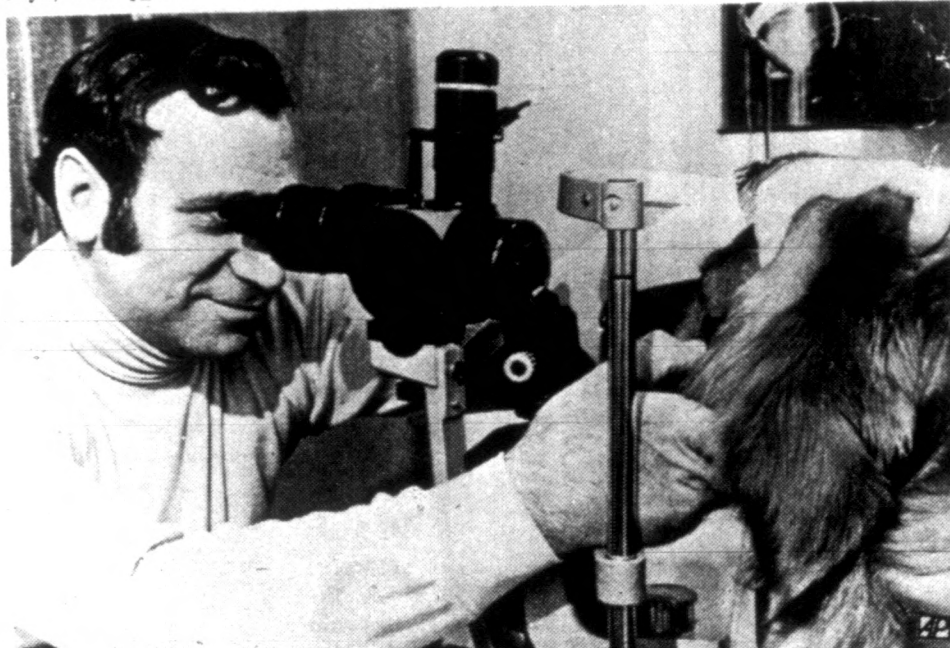

But the reservations didn't bother one of Mrs. Lidren's sons, the Rev. Clay Cooper of Spokane.

"Well, you're not kids anymore," he said. "This is the third time for both of you."

The honeymoon will be in Tahiti.

Networks Say Administration Threatened Them With 'Ruin'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Administration spokesmen threatened CBS-TV and its White House correspondent with government retaliation and corporate financial ruin if the network continued "anti-Nixon" criticism, according to sworn court documents filed by CBS and ABC.

The documents, filed Monday in response to a government antitrust suit, claimed network executives were "quietly and privately threatened" beginning in 1969 by Nixon officials including Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, former Nixon adviser John D. Ehrlichman and former Special Presidential Counsel Charles W. Colson.

CBS' White House correspondent, Dan Rather, said in a sworn affidavit that in February 1971 "Ronald Ziegler ... said to me that the television networks were 'anti-Nixon' and that 'they are going to have to pay for that, sooner or later, one way or another.'"

Rather added, "On at least one and perhaps two occasions, John Ehrlichman ... stated to me, in words or substance, that 'the networks will get theirs, of that you can be sure.'"

Attorneys for CBS and ABC noted in their legal brief a previously released report that Ehrlichman once met with CBS News President Richard S. Salant and urged that Rather "should be transferred or fired."

In another sworn affidavit, former CBS President Frank Stanton said, "In early November, 1972, Mr. Colson called me on the telephone and said in substance that unless CBS substantially changed its news treatment of the Nixon administration 'things will get much worse for CBS.' He also said, in substance, 'you didn't play ball during the campaign.... We'll bring you to your knees in Wall Street and on Madison Avenue.'"

CBS and ABC brought up the incidents in legal briefs urging U.S. District Court to throw out the antitrust suit on grounds it was instituted for political retaliation, an unconstitutional purpose.

Woman Balloonist Reports No Evidence Of Discrimination

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Nikki Caplan, a devoted newcomer to ballooning, says she finds no overt discrimination against women in that field.

"Actually, I don't give a damn if someone opens the door for me, I can do it myself," the outspoken St. Louis mother of three said. "I just want them to be considerate and polite."

She adds that the Balloonists' Federation nationally has been proper in all respects, registering a handful of women among their 450 members.

"There is one champion," she said, "and no women's division."

Mrs. Caplan, who grew up at Mount Vernon, Ill., near a dirt airport where her father often flew planes, became enamored by ballooning after reading a magazine article.

Two years ago she began to fly, enter competition, attend rallies and make efforts to know her colleagues around the country.

"The rest of the world considers balloonists weird, atavistic creatures," she said. "It was gratifying to find this ugly duckling was not alone."

In fact, several straight businessmen here were among the eight competitors who joined Mrs. Caplan in the second annual Kentucky Derby Festival Rally Saturday.

She was not among the top three to put down near the "hare" balloon in southern Indiana an hour later, and her balloon landed in an almost inaccessible area after grazing some trees. It took a couple of hours to reach her.

She also sprained an ankle climbing over a barbed wire fence to reach a farmhouse one mile away.

"It was not one of my more successful trips," she acknowledged. "On the other hand, any landing where you can walk away can be considered a success."

Fresh in her memory is a near disaster a few weeks ago over St. Louis with two men in the gondola. The balloon struck a power line — perhaps the most dreaded hazard — and the gondola was almost severed from the balloon.

"Thirteen thousand volts went off in my face," she recalled, "and I told the men to get down. I never saw two men get into such tiny balls in that gondola."

Mrs. Caplan's successive reactions may give a clue to her character and outlook about ballooning.

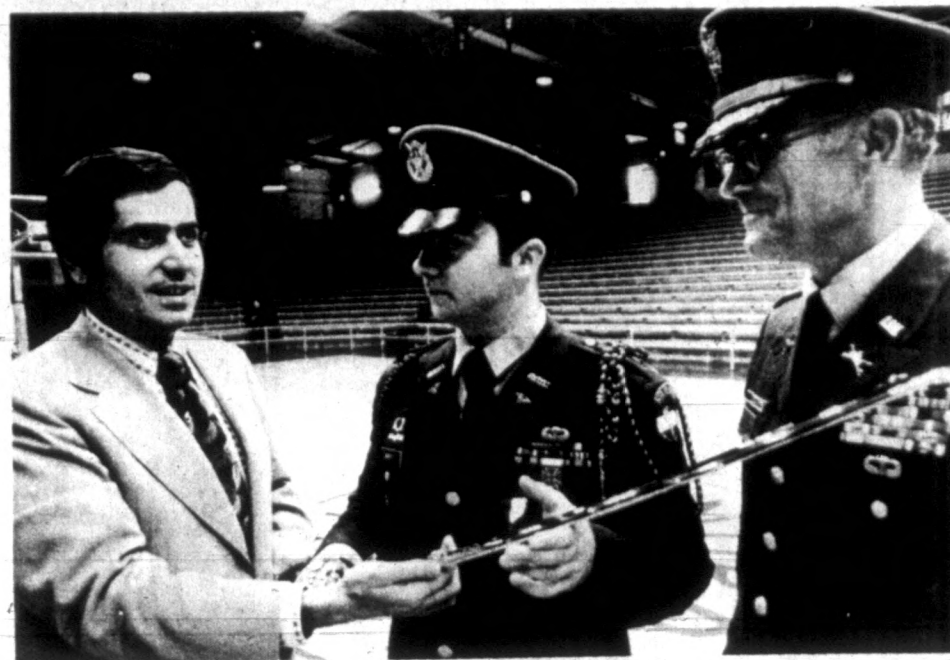

"First, I thought of my incompetence, then I thought: 'I've killed my balloon' as I watched it burn," she said. "Then I thought of my passengers. Finally, I thought: 'What have I done to ballooning's image in St. Louis (a pioneer ballooning city)?"

Mrs. Caplan deflated the balloon and, with some cords still attached to the flaming envelope, landed safely.

She had no hesitancy in going up again, and a woman passenger commented favorably on her coolness Saturday when the gondola went into the trees.

Mrs. Caplan thinks her reception here was heartening and plans to return.

After all, she promised Mrs. Viola Baldwin of Watson, the farm owner who fed the two women after they landed in the Indiana wilds, she'd be back for lunch next year.

MILITARY SCIENCE AWARD—Cadet Captain Mike Garrett, a senior biology major at Murray State, receives the Outstanding Military Science Student Award at the 1974 President's Review. Making the presentation is Murray State University President Constantine W. Curris. Looking on is a professor of military science, Colonel Palmer A. Peterson. Garrett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Garrett of Reidland.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Don't let your enthusiasm get the better of you. Your ambitions should be controlled if the course they take makes you ruthless with others.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

You rarely muddle through things in inefficient fashion, but may now tend to be disenchanted, capricious, careless in word or deed. Curb such inclinations.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

A potent Mercury day stimulates your versatility, ingenuity and general mental alertness. Cooperate with helpful influences and it will pay off.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Do not undertake enterprises which you cannot possibly handle nor make promises which you can't fulfill. Curb overoptimism and handle "musts" before taking on new obligations.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Planets benefic, generally sponsoring new advances. A chance to exercise your gift of enterprise, which is considerable.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Skepticism could defeat the fully charged action this day deserves. Believe in yourself and in your goals — and keep forging ahead.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Avoid being led astray by those who are heedless of circumstances, careless of responsibilities. You will face more distractions than you think, so keep up your guard.

POCKET WEATHER
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The latest local weather forecast can come right from your own pocket any time of day or night even if you're visiting some 70 cities around the country.

Since the National Weather Station broadcasts emergency bulletins, forecasts, current conditions and travel conditions on an around-the-clock basis in some 70 localities of the nation, RCA has developed a pocket-size radio that tunes in this information at the push of a button. The small receiver is also an AM-FM radio operating on a nine-volt battery.

BIRTHDAY TRIP — Henri LaMothe celebrates his 70th birthday by diving 40 feet into a 12-inch-deep pool of water.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Command" Performance

Three days before concert time, a rock singer informed the promoter that he had changed his mind about doing the show. The promoter hastened into a local courtroom for help.

"I want a court order commanding him to perform," he said. "That is what he agreed to do when he signed his contract."

But the court denied the promoter's request. The court said it had no authority to force an unwilling man to sing.

This is the law's usual attitude with regard to contracts that call for personal service of one kind or another. Although the courts may award dollar damages for breach of contract, they generally won't force a singer to sing, a painter to paint, or a baseball player to play baseball.

Why? Because, say the courts, it would be too hard to tell whether the performer—acting under compulsion—was really doing a good job or was only going through the motions.

Furthermore, a forced performance is considered too close to involuntary servitude. Courts are reluctant, said one judge, to "turn contracts of service into contracts of slavery." (In that case, he refused to force a dancer to dance.)

Sometimes, however, a court will put indirect pressure on the performer by at least forbidding him to "do his thing" for anybody else. Thus, a basketball star who broke his contract was ordered by a court not to play for another team.

But even this lesser form of pressure is used only if the performer's services are unique—that is, if his employer cannot find a reasonably satisfactory substitute. For example:

A piano company went to court to prevent a disgruntled salesman from going to work for another firm. But the court decided that the circumstances did not justify such a drastic order. The court said the company was not facing any "irreparable harm," since it could hire another salesman to do pretty much the same job.

GOOD NEWS Hundreds of pets rescued

By FRANK MACOMBER
Copley News Service

If you're a pet lover, or even a fancier, Billy Gross will warm your heart.

Billy, whose real name is Mrs. Wilhelmina Gross, simply can't abide orphaned pets, especially dogs and cats. The result is that in the last 10 years she has rescued hundreds of pets from the pound and eventually placed most of them in homes of other pet lovers.

Mrs. Gross' concern for animals, coupled with support from many of her friends, accounts for a unique humane shelter and clinic in North Hollywood, Calif.

During the mid-1960s she heard a kennel was being shut down by the Animal Regulation Department because many of the animals were sick and kennel bills hadn't been paid in months.

Billy, as her friends call her, stepped in, paid all the bills and arranged for health care for the animals.

Eventually she "inherited" more than 100 animals from the defunct kennel.

"For awhile I boarded the dogs with my veterinarian," she recalls. "But it got to be quite expensive. I started looking for a kennel."

The upshot was that six of Billy's friends each put up $5,000 to help her buy an El Monte, Calif., kennel. Later it was moved to the North Hollywood site. By then the Holiday Kennel and the non-profit Holiday Humane Society were in business.

Today hundreds of animals which otherwise would be orphaned and disposed of by the pound are boarded at Holiday. Most of them come from owners who are moving and can't keep their animals.

Once Again America Listens To Nixon, Designer Halley Cuts Price

Once Again The Reactions Are Varied

By JIM WILLSE
Associated Press Writer

In the Oval Office of the White House, Richard M. Nixon gazed into the eye of the television camera and promised America that the pile of loose-leaf folders to his left would, finally, "tell it all."

In Hallandale, Fla., Harold Harris gazed back at the President of the United States. "He's lying," Harris said, puffing on a cigar. "The accused shouldn't be the one to decide what is relevant."

A continent away, in Santa Monica, Calif., Sydney Albright munched a tossed salad as he watched Nixon on a small black and white TV. "I knew in time the other side of the story would be told. I hope the President's actions tomorrow will indeed be the other side of the story."

Once again, President Nixon turned to the national broadcast media to present a defense of his role in the Watergate scandal. And once again, America listened.

Seated at his desk, the camera panning periodically to the stacks of black notebooks containing transcripts of taped White House conversations, Nixon placed his case in the hands of the public.

"In giving you these—blushes and all—I am placing my trust in the basic fairness of the American people," he said. "... I was trying to discover what was right and to do what was right. I hope and trust that when you have seen the evidence in its entirety, you will see the truth of that statement."

But for Bill Sweeney, an executive with an electronics firm, the President's plea was not enough.

"I'm so sick of all his difficult days and all of his trusted friends and all of his transcripts," the 36-year-old father of six said in the family room of his home in Arlington Heights, Ill.

Nor was it enough for Don Peterson of Pleasant Hill, Iowa. "He's just trying to get more sympathy," Peterson said as he watched the speech with a neighbor, Bill Sinnott.

Nor for Walter Juskiewicz, a salesman from Cape Elizabeth, Maine. "I don't think he ever had it in his mind to turn over the tapes," Juskiewicz said. "He's trying to run the investigation himself."

And from Bruce Pemberton of Alexander, Ark.: "Richard, you just took too long."

Nixon spoke 13 hours before the deadline set by the House Judiciary Committee for delivery of White House tapes the panel says it needs for its impeachment inquiry. The President said he would provide the committee—and the public—with transcripts instead, with portions he deemed not relevant to Watergate edited out.

"I think in the long run it will clear a lot of air," said Al-bright, a 42-year-old apartment manager and self-described

Nixon supporter. "But in the short run it's going to create a storm brewed primarily by his detractors."

Bill Sweeney remained generally silent during the speech, but when Nixon again asked that Watergate be left behind, he interjected: "Oh please, don't give me that again."

Later, he took out an envelope on which he had scribbled a passage from a book one of his children was reading. It was the eulogy Nixon had delivered for the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"His life is a reminder to us that there is a moral force in the world more powerful than the might of armies or the wealth of nations," Sweeney read. Then he added: "Why couldn't this man have shown that moral force he talked about?"

Juskiewicz, a 35-year-old salesman, said Nixon should have complied fully with the subpoena. "I think he's trying to be an honest guy, but he's going about it in the wrong way."

The Nixon speech did nothing to shake the opinions of Harold Harris, an 83-year-old retired diamond merchant. "You know the old saying, 'If at first you do deceive, what an awful web you weave.'"

"But I tell you, he's smart and clever," added Harris, who watched the speech in his apartment 15 miles north of Miami. "I'd hate to see him impeached. I'd rather have a smart crook in the White House than a dumb one."

Pemberton, 29, general manager of a consulting firm, said at one point, "He's either naive, or he thinks everyone else is. He let it drag on too long. But I think he's taking a good step."

While he spoke, his wife Linda, also 29 and registered an independent as her husband looked again at their large color television set in their suburban Little Rock home. "The past couple of years have really aged him," she said. "It seems so noticeable."

NEW YORK (AP) — The same inflation that is forcing middle-income Americans to switch from steak to casseroles is causing upper-crust consumers to cut back on the luxuries of life—those $3,000 evening dresses, for example.

That's why designer George Halley, who showed his fall collection on Monday, slashed prices drastically, cutting them by 90 per cent at the wholesale level.

Halley's prices used to start at $800—wholesale: Posh clothes with four-figure price tags that drew widespread publicity.

The expensive dresses just weren't selling well in recent years, said a Halley spokesman.

"Women are not spending that kind of money for clothes—no matter how much they have," the spokesman said.

Wholesale prices for the new Halley collection start at $79 and go up to $300. That means retail prices of from $150 to $600.

The designer managed to keep the expensive look that characterized his more costly clothes. A parade of models, led by actress Alexis Smith, displayed a series of dresses and pants with a soft, swingy look. There were lots of autumn colors—rust, dark green and maroon—for day and plenty of sequins for evening. Hemlines

Pipeline Work Gets Underway

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Nearly six years ago, oil companies announced plans for an 800-mile pipeline from Alaska's oil-rich North Slope to the ice-free port of Valdez.

On Monday, after winning battles over environmental protection, state and federal right-of-way permits and labor union contracts, the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. announced the formal start of work on the $4 billion project.

The announcement came just hours after an agreement with union leaders on a labor pact which includes a no-strike clause and covers work on all pipeline-related projects — roads, 12 pumping stations and the Valdez tanker terminal. Actual pipeline work comes under a separate agreement.

Alyeska says a short span of pipeline will be laid soon in the rugged Keystone Canyon area, but most work will be held off until next summer.

The first project will be a 360-mile state road from the Yukon River north to Prudhoe Bay, to transport men, materials and machinery to construction camps in the remote northlands.

Builders say they'll need 30 million cubic yards of gravel for the road, which will have 17 bridges. It will cross the Brooks Range at 4,800-foot Dietrich Pass.

Some 1,200 workers and several hundred pieces of heavy equipment had already been assigned to 11 remote construction camps to prepare for the big push. They are now assigned to work on the road.

JUMPIN' JOE—Thirteen-year-old Joe Carlisle believes he is the world's champion pogo stick rider at Santa Barbara, Calif. Joe did 15,000 hops, surpassing a 14,000 hop record set by someone whose name already has been lost to history. (AP Wirephoto)

Hundreds Of College Couples Now Live Together On Campuses

BOSTON (AP) — Almost every night a student named Jeff stuffs a toothbrush in his shirt pocket and walks across the courtyard of his Harvard dormitory to spend the night with his Radcliffe girlfriend.

At Beloit College in Wisconsin, 19-year-old Charlie and his girlfriend, Sue, have pushed their single beds together. They've lived in her dorm room for almost a year.

A 21-year-old athlete and his sophomore girlfriend at the University of Louisville in Kentucky have lived in her dorm room since last summer. They rely on their friends not to snitch on them and on a resident adviser who agrees to look the other way.

The college couples are among hundreds of students from Boston to Berkeley — and a lot more conservative places in between — who are living together on campus.

Most of them insist it's no big deal and that seems to sum up the general attitude. The couples, however, requested anonymity, citing possible sanctions or embarrassment for parents.

Interviews with scores of students and administrators at more than a dozen colleges and universities across the country indicate that although living together is rarely discussed in the college catalogue, it's become a popular way of life for some on campus.

It isn't as widespread as the "going steady" craze of the 1950s and early '60s, but almost all students interviewed could name at least two or three couples living together on campus. They saw nothing wrong with it.

The trend raised many eyebrows among parents, alumni and school officials when it appeared in the mid-60s and there was public outcry about campuses becoming dens of vice and sex. But most of that has disappeared.

"Most couples living together in the Harvard dorm have a very serious relationship," said a graduate student assigned as resident adviser to one dormitory, or "house" as it's called at Harvard. "It's a very acceptable thing."

"It's ordinary," said a Harvard housing official. "I don't know how the university could intrude. You couldn't possibly do a thing like bed checks."

When today's seniors were freshmen, living together — regularly spending the night on campus with someone of the opposite sex — was taboo at most schools, including Harvard. If caught, they could have been expelled. These days, it's not so risky.

None of the couples living together on campus had been assigned to the same room by the college. In fact, they use both rooms for the sake of appearance, mail, more storage space — and privacy when they want

"He only sleeps here when my roommate is away," said a chubby freshman at Indiana University. "But we eat together, study together and think about getting married some time, but not right away."

Her boyfriend reached over and took her hand. "As far as personal relations are concerned," he said, "you can learn a lot about each other this way. You can cope with problems better and understand each other better. It was a long time after we began spending most of our time together that we thought about sex, four or five months. Our relationship isn't just to sleep together."

College administrators, with an eye on possible public relations problems with the state, community, parents and alumni, said schools try to offer students a choice of living arrangements, ranging from one-sex corridors where someone of the opposite sex dare not tread, to dormitories allowing complete freedom.

"For a whole set of reasons, you're dealing with a very diverse group of students in terms of levels of maturity, past experience, personal needs and hometown environment," said Thomas C. Schreck, dean of students at Indiana where students can choose dorms with closed, limited or open visitation policies. "If you try to force them all into a set mold, you're not addressing yourself to the differences people possess."

A study of 482 member institutions of the Association of College and University Housing Officers shows that 70 per cent of the nation's colleges offer some type of co-ed housing to students. Only 15 per cent of the schools offer men and women rooms on the same floor or in the same suite. The study was produced by David A. DeCoster, an assistant dean of students in charge of residence life at Indiana. He said there is no evidence that co-ed housing or visitation has increased sexual activity among students.

"Literature shows that attitudes have changed dramatically in a liberal direction," said DeCoster, who is recognized by many college and university officials as an expert on campus housing. "They are more accepting of peer behavior. But there is no documentation that there are differences in their own behavior. And there is a false interpretation that liberal attitudes mean liberal behavior."

Don, a 22-year-old senior at Tufts College in Medford, Mass., agreed.

"This idea that everyone has lost his virginity at the age of 10 isn't true," he said. "A lot of people here haven't had intercourse by the time they're seniors. Everybody puts on a big show."

"But for those who do choose to start a relationship, it isn't scandalous. It isn't talked about. It's accepted." Don said he had lived with a girl in his dormitory for several months, but they had broken up.

"It's hard when everyone knew you were together, then everyone knows you've split," he said.

SLA MESSAGE AND POSTER—The poster and the second half of Patricia Hearst's drivers license, along with a taped message from Patty, was received by San Francisco's Police Community Relations Director Rodney E. Williams. The second portion of Patty's license is attached to the poster which reads, "Change is a law of nature. Death to the Fascist insect. New life to the people." In the tape Patty claimed she willingly robbed a bank with her SLA comrades. (AP Wirephoto)

J. W. (Bill) Carneal of Owensboro and Frank Paxton of Paducah were named Wednesday to four-year terms on the Murray State University board of regents by Gov. Wendell H. Ford.

They replace H. Glenn Doran of Murray, chairman, and Harry Lee Waterfield of Frankfort, whose terms have expired. Carneal and Paxton will be administered the oath of office at their first meeting with the board.

Carneal, a 1940 graduate of Murray State with majors in agriculture and physical education, is the vice-president for public affairs with Texas Gas Transmission Corporation of Owensboro.

Paxton is the president of the Paducah Bank and Trust Company, a position he has held since July, 1972. He is a 1948 graduate of the University of Notre Dame.

Carneal, 55, has held a variety of positions with Texas Gas since he joined the firm in 1949. He became a vice-president in 1963.

A native of McCracken County and a graduate of Barlow High School in Ballard County, he was an outstanding basketball player at Murray State. He served as captain and led the team in scoring his senior year.

Carneal has remained active in alumni affairs at Murray State down through the years, serving as president of the Alumni Association in 1967-68. He was also instrumental in founding the Century Club, an organization which supports a scholarship fund for deserving students.

A former member of the city commission and major pro tempore in Owensboro, Carneal
