MSU Graduates Urged To Seek Opportunities

Graduating seniors at Murray State University's 51st spring commencement exercises Friday were urged to seek out the opportunities of life, "because they usually never knock."

Charles W. McDowell, mayor of Providence and blinded since age 13 because of a hunting accident, admonished the 859 degree candidates to "look for Opportunity if it doesn't come to you. Keep your eyes, ears and senses open so you'll be ready to grasp it when it does come."

McDowell, a 1962 graduate of Murray State, also told the graduates not to be afraid of life and its challenges, because "life is not a bowl of cherries, nor is it a bed of thorns. The greater the challenge the greater the victory."

The 37-year-old McDowell, now a teacher at Webster County High School near Dixon, gave the graduates a 10-point program for a successful and meaningful life.

Using as the basis for his 20-minute address the word "Graduation," McDowell developed each point around a letter in the word—God, respect, attitude, discipline, understanding, action, tolerance, intelligence, opportunity and noble.

God, he said, must be the center of one's life, because "you can't make it without Him. Then quoting Ecclesiastes 9:10, he said "Whatever you do, do well," and adding Proverbs 29:18: "Where there is ignorance of God, the people run wild." "What a wonderful thing it is for a nation to seek and follow His law."

Attitude, he said, is not inherited, it is learned, and he cautioned the graduates to "be careful of the attitude you learn," and to "develop the kind of attitude that will make you considerate of your fellowman."

As for discipline, McDowell, who also teaches on a part-time basis at the Madisonville

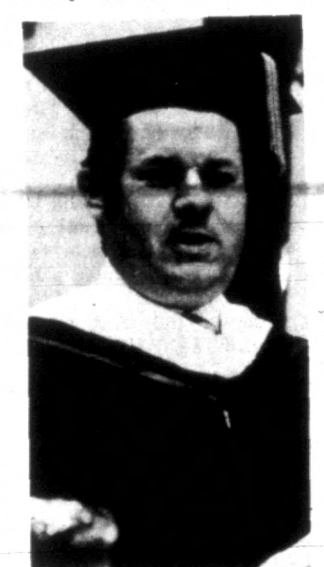

Community College, said "self-discipline is the most difficult discipline of all," pointing out that one must learn to use the word "no" effectively or be prepared to accept whatever is imposed.

"You have to be involved to be happy," said in commenting on the "action" point of his address, "because you simply cannot set aside and grow and develop. Become involved in life as a participator, not as a spectator."

McDowell also holds a master's degree from George Peabody College, Nashville, and has completed 51 hours above the master's at Murray State. He had completed a two-year term on the Providence City Council before taking the oath of office as mayor this year.

Three students shared honors as the top student in the class, each with a 3.94 academic standing out of a possible 4.00 points, and each was given special recognition and applause as they received their diplomas from Murray State President Constantine W. Curris, participating in his first Murray commencement exercise since assuming the presidency last September 15. The top graduates are: Larry Dale Hutchinson, Greenville; Sandra Sue Westerman, Metropolis, Ill.; and Darlene S.

CHARLES W. McDOWELL

Wiman, Fayetteville, Tenn.

Three retiring professors at Murray State also were awarded honorary doctoral degrees during the two-hour ceremonies in the University Fieldhouse.

Dr. Max G. Carman, professor of mathematics, retiring after 46 years, who received a Doctor of Science degree; L. J. Hortin, chairman of journalism, retiring after 26 years, as a Doctor of Letters; and Miss Rubie E. Smith, chairman of elementary education, retiring after 35 years, as a Doctor of Humanities.

Carman was praised as an inspiration to both students and his colleagues, for his academic ideals and diligent concern for the students and for his contributions in the development of outstanding educational programs.

Hortin was recognized for his lifetime contribution to the educational and cultural enrichment of the students at Murray State University and to the people of the region through his untiring energies, enthusiasm and dedication to the dissemination of knowledge through verbal communication and journalistic writing; for his concern for truth and accuracy in his classroom teaching; and for his public service.

Nixon Faces Hecklers In Arizona Appearance Friday

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — President Nixon, faced with hecklers in his first appearance since making public the edited transcripts of Watergate tapes, says it's time to "get on with the business of America."

Nixon was unable to ignore a small but determined band of vocal critics among a by-invitation-only crowd of 13,000 Friday night at a Republican rally in Phoenix Coliseum.

As the critics jeered and shouted hostile remarks, the President said near the beginning of his off-the-cuff remarks:

"In the great American tradition, we have some here who are against us. We have more who are for us. And all of you are welcome."

While the great majority in the audience seemed friendly, the persistence of the hecklers prompted Nixon to remark that the American right of free speech carried with it "the responsibility to keep quiet while someone else is talking."

Referring directly to his Watergate troubles for the first time in recent public appearances, Nixon said he had provided the House Judiciary Committee with "all of the relevant evidence" it needs to complete its impeachment inquiry.

"The time has come to get Watergate behind us and get on with the business of America," he continued. From Phoenix, Nixon and wife Pat were bound today for Spokane, Wash., where the President will formally open the Expo '74 world's fair.

The White House made careful preparations for the two appearances, sending advance men into both cities last week. Security in Phoenix was unusually tight, as many more Nixon critics than were inside the coliseum gathered outside.

The Republican National Committee paid for Nixon's flight from Washington to Phoenix.

Meanwhile, Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., said in a speech to Democratic leaders gathered in Phoenix from 11 Western states that the nation has had more than a year of Watergate because President Nixon "has resisted every attempt" by Congress and special prosecutors to obtain evidence only he can give them.

In a speech billed as the Democratic reply to Nixon's appearance, Udall said he agreed with the President that "we've had enough of Watergate."

"The President's problems have hurt our economy, delayed crucial decisions on energy and foreign affairs, made a joke of our tax laws and spread deadly cynicism across this land," Udall said.

Consistently an Honor Roll Student, Miss Visher ranks fifth in a graduating class of 140. She served during her senior year as editor of The Black and Gold, the school newspaper.

Regents Approve Plan For University School

Murray State University's board of regents dispelled doubts about the immediate future of the University School Friday by approving a plan to improve its financial posture and to make it more accessible to all students.

Future status of the laboratory school, which houses a kindergarten and grades one through six, has been in question since last spring when the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools recommended that the facility be closed or put on a better financial basis.

Recommended by a special committee of the board, the plan for the 50-year-old school specified:

—That tuition be increased to $25 per month for a family with one student, to $40 per month for two students, and to $50 per month for three or more students. The tuition fee now is $12.50 a semester per student.

—That the maximum enrollment per grade, kindergarten through the sixth, be increased from 30 to 40 pupils.

—That enrollment priorities be removed and enrollment within the school be on a first-come, first-served basis.

—That approximately $2,500 be earmarked for 10 scholarships for children of economically deprived families, with preference given to children from families of minority races.

Dr. Charles Howard of Mayfield, chairman of the board committee that recommended the changes, estimated that the plan will result in between $35,000 and $40,000 a year in additional income for the school.

According to Dr. Constantine Curris, university president, tuition revenue for the laboratory school has been averaging about $5,000 a year, while the net deficit for its operation has been about $150,000.

Bicycle Race To Be Sponsored By French Club

The Murray High French Club, along with the co-operation of the Murray City Park System, will sponsor a bicycle race, "Le Tour de Bicyclette de Murray," on Saturday, May 11.

Gary Hohman, director of the city park, and Dr. Jack Baker have helped in mapping the routes for the various races. The main bicycle race will have different age groups. One group will have only 8-9 yr. olds, another will have 10-11 yr. olds, another will have 12-13-14 yr. olds, and the last one will be 15 and up. There is a fifty cent entry fee for these races. First prize is ten dollars and second prize is a gift certificate from Spoke and Pedal Shop.

Another race is the Cyclo-Cross. This race is partly composed of street riding and cross-country. This race is open to all ages. It also has a fifty cent entry fee and the same first and second prize as the main bicycle race.

The last race will be the relay race which can be composed of any four riders. First prize for this race is twenty dollars and second place prize is ten dollars. The French Club urges all school and city organizations to participate. The entry fee for this race is two dollars.

Dipper's Delight will give a 25 cents coupon to each participant in the race.

Registration for the races begins at 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m. with the races to start at 9:00 a.m. Entry blanks can be obtained from Carter, Robertson, Middle School, Murray High and Calloway County schools. All entry blanks must be in by May 8. Refreshments will be sold at the park, by Mrs. Ruth Howard, sponsor of the French Club.

He added that the SACS had no criticism of the educational program at the school in its report, but took the position that the amount of university expenditure to operate the facility is "money needed elsewhere by the university."

Howard said another SACS criticism is that the University School is virtually a "private school." He explained that children of the university faculty and staff have been given enrollment preference, noting that about 60 percent of the nearly 200 students now enrolled are faculty and staff children.

Curris indicated his support of the move to recover some of the cost of operating the laboratory facility, citing the benefit of the school to the teacher education program. "The University School should be something more than just another elementary school," Curris declared. "It should be a laboratory school where new ideas and new programs are implemented and demonstrated—a demonstration school. This is how it can be justified in terms of educational objectives."

He said the school has a particular value in elementary education because it affords opportunities for "better observation and closer supervision of student teachers."

Established in 1924 as an eight-grade program, the laboratory school program was expanded to 12 grades when the old building was completed and first occupied in 1928. The program was cut back to elementary status only in 1970.

An addition to the original structure was completed in 1969 at a cost of $1,454,020, and the old building has been torn down.

In another action the board adopted an addendum to its tenure policy which excludes faculty members hired primarily as athletic coaches or for other primary assignments related to athletics from eligibility for tenure.

Largest Field Ever To Run In Today's Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Trainer Woody Stephens was to send out Judger and Cannonade today to do battle with 21 other 3-year-olds in the 100th Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

Judger, owned by Seth Hancock, went into the Derby with victories in the Florida Derby and the Blue Grass. John M. Olin's Cannonade, winner of the Stepping Stone Purse on opening day at the Downs last Saturday.

Other top contenders were the Sigmund Sommer entry of Rube The Great, winner of divisions of the Gotham and Wood Memorial in two previous starts, and Accipiter, and Meeke Stable's Agitate, who counted the California Derby among five victories in six races.

The Centennial Derby was the 12th for jockey Bill Hartack, who was to ride outsider Sir Tristram in a bid for a record sixth victory. He was tied with the retired Eddie Arcaro with five Derby victories.

The field of 23, most ever entered for the 1 1/4-mile, Derby was scheduled to go to the post at 5:30 p.m., EDT. Television coverage was scheduled for 5 p.m.-6 p.m. and radio coverage from 5:15 p.m.-5:45 p.m., both by CBS.

It was easily the richest Derby because of a record 290 nominations and sizeable increases in entry and starting fees. Last year it cost $4,100 to run a horse in the Derby, this year $7,600.

With 23 starters the gross purse was $326,500 with $274,000 to the winner.

Past Derby birthday parties have been marked by victories by longshot Donerail, the filly Regret and Secretariat; the stretch battle between Don Meade and Herb Fisher; Bill Shoemaker misjudging the finish line, and the disqualification of Dancer's Image.

Goose to a half-length victory over favored Ten Point in 1913 for a winning mutual payoff of $184.90, highest in Derby history.

Two years later Regret befitted five-eighths of a mile from the finish.

The 1933 Derby certainly wasn't fast — the time was 2:06 4/5 — but it was rough as Meade, on Brokers Tip, and Fisher, on Head Fly, grabbed and slashed at each other in the drive through the stretch. Brokers Tip won by a nose.

There has never been a disqualification in the Derby because of a foul, but in 1968 Dancer's Image was disqualified from first when a post-race test disclosed an illegal medication in his system.

First place went to Forward Pass and first money went to Calumet Farm after Dancer's Image's owner, Peter Fuller, lost a legal battle to keep the purse.

Under present Kentucky racing rules a horse cannot be disqualified if a post-race test finds trace of Butazolidin as long as its use has been reported to the state steward and it has not been administered the day of the race.

Lunar influences highly beneficial. A splendid period for creative interests; for home renovation, refurbishing, restoring. Romance also favored.

Be flexible enough in thought to take in a brand new idea—and make it work! Resist doubting and tendencies toward hypercriticism.

YOU BORN TODAY are one of the most versatile of all our versatile Taureans. BUT—and it's a big "but"—all of your talents will come to naught if you don't learn, early in life, that self-discipline and concentration are the paramount factors in success. There's an element of flightiness in your nature, and a tendency to scatter energies. These traits must be curbed if you would make the most of your many assets. Fields in which you could especially excel: science (especially medicine), the law, statesmanship, painting, music and literature.

Dr. Harvey Elder Speaks On Civil War At Meeting Of Magazine Club

In her beautiful home at New Concord, Miss Maude Nance was hostess on Thursday for the April meeting of the Murray Magazine Club. Twenty-one members were present.

Mrs. Ewen Allbritten, president of the group, presided, and asked the guest speaker, Dr. Harvey Elder to open the meeting with an invocation.

Mrs. A. C. LaFollette, for the Civic Committee, announced the performances of "The Nathan B. Stubblefield Story," and Mrs. Ronald Churchill, courtesy chairman, reported the illnesses of club members.

Mrs. J. A. Outland, scheduled as hostess for the May meeting, announced that it would be held in the home of her brother, Tass Hopson.

Greeting cards being sold by the club, picturing the Calloway County Courthouse, were distributed.

Mrs. Allbritten called attention to the Kentucky Bicentennial observance and to this year's club theme "A Review of our Kentucky Heritage," and asked Mrs. J. J. Livesay, Yearbook Chairman, to introduce the program. Dr. Elder, a native of Graves County, is a teacher in the Mathematics Department at Murray State University. He chose to speak about the early history of Graves County, particularly citing events during the Civil War as they affected that area.

In explanation for the southern sympathy among the residents, Dr. Elder used statistics showing the birth origins of the early settlers, most of them having come from southern states, Tennessee, the Carolinas and Virginia. Their cultural and social bonds were with the south as well as the location of their trade areas. The value of their slaves was an added influence, all of these reasons resulting in nine hundred men serving in the Confederate forces, while only one hundred and fifty from the area were with the northern armies. The first newspaper printed in Mayfield, "The Southern Yeoman," was, of course, pro-Confederates.

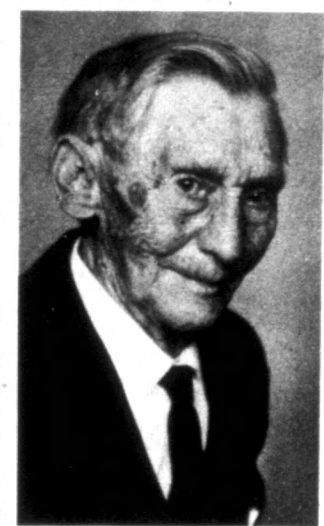

During the early part of the conflict, Camp Beauregard, near Water Valley in the western part of the county, was the principal Confederate Camp, with five thousand men when at peak strength. During this period, many soldiers died of illness and were buried in the area. After September, 1861, Federal forces held Paducah, and Camp Beauregard was abandoned about a year later.

Dr. Elder told of one skirmish in his home town Pryorsburg, and said that guerrillas were active on both sides, with many instances of the brutalities unleashed by war. He gave accounts of events during the so-called "Reign of Terror" under the northern command of General A. Paine, in the Paducah area. During that period a fort for northern forces was built on the square in Mayfield by forced Southern labor. The Hicks monument in Mayfield marks the grave of a south sympathizer who was murdered on what is now West Broadway. Dr. Elder read from a letter of General Grant remarking on the unsatisfactory leadership of General Paine and he was soon removed from the Paducah command.

The hostess was assisted by her sister, Mrs. Livesay, and by Mrs. Hess Crossland, in serving a delightful dessert plate. The serving table was covered with an antique embroidered linen cloth and was centered with a large arrangement in a silver container of iris, tulips, shasta daisies, snowballs and other spring flowers.

Following the meeting the guests were privileged to participate in a conducted tour through the antique shop operated by Miss Nance.

JAMES B. CURD of 912 North 16th Street, Murray, will celebrate his 92nd birthday at his home on Sunday, May 5. He has been a life long resident of Murray and Calloway County. His many friends are invited to call at his home on Sunday in celebration of his birthday.

The thought for the day was "This day is in my hands. You will reap from it after the seeds which you plant."

Mrs. Effie Edwards, secretary, read the minutes and gave the financial report. Each member answered the roll call by "the nicest Easter I ever had."

The winking mailman puzzles housewife

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't laugh at me, but I am a middle-aged housewife and the high point of my day is when the mail carrier comes. He's a cheerful, pleasant man with a wonderful personality, and seems to go out of his way to do things for me. If I don't have stamps, he sells me some. Or if I haven't quite finished writing a letter, he will stop back later to pick it up.

I've invited him in for coffee and we always seem to have a lot to say to each other. He's married, too. So far it's just an innocent flirtation, you might say. Now I feel things may get out of control, and I may be getting more involved than what's good for me because I find myself looking forward to his daily visits.

Every once in a while he winks at me. How would you interpret a wink, Abby? Exactly what does it mean? And how can I find out if he is just a friendly mailman or if he has something more in mind? I don't want to make a fool of myself.

Perhaps your male readers can tell me what a man means when he winks at a lady. LITTLE WHITE HOUSE

DEAR LITTLE: Each man will have to interpret his own wink, but if I were you, I wouldn't ask him. [Maybe he has a nervous twitch?]

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to be married to a divorced man who has grown children. We are both over 40. This will be my first marriage.

The problem: He still wears his wedding band. I once asked him why, and he said because he has gained so much weight he can't get it off. I know it's true because he let me try to twist it off and I couldn't.

Maybe I'm childish, but I don't like to see that wedding ring on his finger. Would I be out of line to ask him to get rid of it even if he has to have a mechanic fix it off?

RING PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: Ask your fiancé to have a jeweler [not a mechanic] remove the ring. You would not be out of line to request it. He'd be out of line to refuse.

DEAR ABBY: I am only 22, and my folks are pushing 50, so I won't have to worry about this for a few years yet, but I would like to pass this poem along for those older parents. [It was taped to my mother's bathroom mirror.]

Also I want my parents to know that when they get old they can depend on me to be understanding and patient.

CARL M.

"FOR FRIENDS OF THE AGED"

Blessed are they who understand my faltering step and palsied hand.
Blessed are they who know that my ears today must strain to catch the things they say.
Blessed are they who seem to know that my eyes are dim and my wits are slow.
Blessed are they who looked away when coffee spilled at the table today.
Blessed are they with a cheery smile who stop to chat for a little while.
Blessed are they who never say
'You've told that story twice today.'
Blessed are they who know the ways to bring back memories of yesterdays.
Blessed are they who make it known that I'm loved, respected and not alone.
Blessed are they who know I'm at a loss to find the strength to carry the Cross.
Blessed are those who ease the days on my journey Home in loving ways."

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR MONDAY, MAY 6, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Be sure that whatever it is in which you invest time, money or energies has meaning — not just for the present, but for the future. Care in handling details! TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) This should be a fruitful day, with some of your more inspired ideas bringing unexpected rewards and recognition. Be discreet in your tactics, however. GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) You could be tempted to turn from a profitable to an obstacle-ridden course. Avoid, by considering the whole picture — especially where the future is concerned. CANCER (June 22 to July 23) Talk controversial issues over in a business-like, objective fashion, not permitting personalities to enter the picture.

But give no heed to those who have proved unreliable in the past. LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) A good day for launching plans for the future, giving consideration to new enterprises. Do not let the pessimism of others dissuade you. VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Excellent aspects encourage clever activity, but don't set up hazards for yourself through impulsiveness, superfluous moves, nonfruitful undertakings. LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Mixed influences. Certain situations may prove confusing, but remain calm. Anxiety or hasty action could further complicate matters. Use your wits. SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) Fine Mars influences! Business and financial interests should go exceptionally well and plans for new ventures should run smoothly. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) Avoid pessimists and trouble-makers, but DO stand up for your principles or you will give them strength through your passiveness. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Good offerings indicated. Stress your competence and do not hesitate to accept others' ideas if practical. Intellectual pursuits favored.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) An excellent day for considering a new business commitment, but keep future objectives in mind. Don't base decisions in the light of immediate gain. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Emotions could get out of hand unless you are determined to keep them under control. Lack of self-mastery could hinder progress.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind, lofty ambitions and remarkable intuition. Always alert to opportunity, you grasp each as it comes — no matter how challenging — and reach top levels with seeming ease. Sometimes the "ease" is but a facade, however, for you have to be constantly praised and encouraged as you go along or you wither on the vine. And adulation is not always forthcoming. In fact, envy and jealousy may follow a swift climb to fame. You MUST learn to ignore this, as a foible of human nature. Keep trying always for, once having found your niche in life and pursuing it consistently, you can find tremendous happiness in the achievement alone — regardless of material gain. Fields in which you could reach your greatest heights: music, literature, the theater, education, science, fashion design, interior decorating and horticulture. Birthdate of: Orson Welles, actor, producer; Willie Mays, baseball great.

American Justice Prevails

The Paris Post-Intelligencer

The American system of justice is still the fairest in the world, although at times we may feel that laws and courts seem to always favor the criminal.

Trial before a judge and a jury of one's peers is the keystone of American justice, and long may it be that way. Laws are made to protect the innocent as well as the guilty, and those charged are still considered innocent until proven guilty. The only standard for conviction is evidence that a crime has been committed. That's the only standard that should be considered.

A federal jury in New York acquitted former attorney general John N. Mitchell and ex-Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans of all nine counts of criminal conspiracy, perjury and obstruction of justice. The jury verdict came Sunday after 26 hours of deliberation by the U.S. District Court panel of nine men and three women. The jury foreman said simply that there was no evidence and that "we didn't feel we could find these men guilty on what we were shown."

There is little doubt but that public opinion was heavily against the two defendants, and in view of the Watergate probe and events that have taken place during the past 14 months there was fear that the judicial process may have been interfered with. The jury verdict shows that it was not interfered with, that jury ignored the pretrial publicity and considered only the facts in the case...only the evidence or lack of it.

Speaking on the American judicial system, assistant U.S. Attorney Richard Buchignani told the Paris Lakeway Kiwanis Club at noon Monday that laws are made by men to protect the innocent, and not the criminal. He emphasized well the point that we are endeavoring to make...that any American citizen is entitled to protection against false charges and protection against a police state. In America police may not search and seize without the proper warrants and authority, whereas in the totalitarian countries police have the authority to do what they please. And those governments likewise have the authority to do what they please with those who fall into disfavor, whether the evidence warrants it or not.

While we have no particular admiration for either John Mitchell or Maurice Stans, we hail the honesty of the jury which heard the evidence in their long trial, and the courage of that jury in delivering a fair verdict based on the court testimony; not on emotion or what they may have read or heard about the two former cabinet members during the past year.

Economic gangsterism Being Fostered In U.N.

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN

Copley News Service
NEW YORK — "The main theme of this assembly," asserted U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, "is to secure the optimum use of the world's natural resources with the basic objective of securing better conditions of social justice throughout the world."

Decoded from the diplomatic double-talk that has characterized past U.N. pronouncements what Waldheim really means is the United Nations, in holding a special assembly session on natural resources during April, officially embarked on economic gangsterism. Specifically, the underdeveloped nations, following in the footsteps of the successful Arab oil boycott, plan to use the natural resources of their respective countries as a political weapon against the Western industrial nations.

Not since the founding of this world organization has the United Nations sanctioned so audacious and dangerous a doctrine. In effect the sponsors of this U.N. convocation hope to achieve official U.N. sanction for the nationalization and seizure of all existing Western-owned companies in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

Heading up this audacious economic gangsterism is the volatile anti-Western president of Algeria, Houari Boumedienne. Circulated here at U.N. headquarters before his speech to the assembly was an unpublished memo calling for "an end to all forms of foreign domination and exploitation through an exercise of permanent national sovereignty over natural resources."

The meaning of this effort for Western industrial nations, and this nation particularly, can be grasped if you think back to the economic effect of the Arab oil embargo and the serious problems it created.

The United States is dependent in 12 areas of natural resources from abroad, ranging from bauxite to zinc. In the future — if the trend continues — this country will be more dependent for raw material imports in other critical areas.

The U.S. delegation here has, from its very inception of the idea for an U.N. special session on raw materials, looked on the idea with considerable disdain. However, as in the past, the U.S. delegation has done little, such as ending its large economic support of the United Nations. Congress must look on what is happening in the United Nations as a clear declaration of economic warfare against the West in general and the United States in particular. However, it is likely that Congress, in the wake of the oil embargo, will not cut off U.S. foreign aid to those nations that voted for a resolution calling for the nationalization of foreign enterprises.

During the congressional debate over whether the international oil companies deliberately conspired to create the oil shortage, various foreign countries announced they would nationalize American oil holdings and no one in Congress raised a voice of protest. The same was true when Chile nationalized the American-owned copper mines.

The growing antibusiness climate in this country and in Congress will make it doubly difficult for a clearheaded appreciation of what was staged here. It is nothing less than the start of economic global warfare waged by the nonindustrial nations of the globe.

The Soviet Union has, from its very inception, utilized economic warfare as companion to its political campaign against the "capitalist" system.

During the recent Arab oil embargo the Kremlin sought to pressure the Arab nations to keep the embargo on longer.

The U.N. members favoring this conference on natural resources as a disguise to nationalize foreign companies have the blessing of the Soviets. It is, therefore, a legitimate question for Congress and the White House to ask: Is detente with the Soviets and the Chinese possible when both Moscow and Peking look upon this special U.N. session with great relish? Too, can Congress grant favored nations trade status to the Soviets when they and their allies in the United Nations hope to use economic warfare against us?

Other American companies must now do what the oil companies have already started to do, begin planning for the development of synthetic substitutes for those raw materials on which we are now dependent. Unless they do, we shall all become the victims of those nonindustrial nations that seek to bring the United States to its knees by bringing its industry and economy to a halt.

The start of that strategy has commenced here with the U.N. special session on raw materials.

Letter To Editor

Objects To Editorial

Dear Editor:

Your editorial of March 28 ("Inflation Gun is Loaded") contends that the AFL-CIO has set a 12 percent pay raise goal for 1974.

That is not correct. The AFL-CIO does not set wage controls. The members of each affiliated union set the goals for that union.

The AFL-CIO said that fairness would mean wage increases matching both increases in productivity and increases in the cost of living. That totals 12 percent and reporters translated that into "a goal."

My most important objection is to your conclusion that workers, rather than seek wage increases necessary to meet an annual inflation rate of 10.8 percent, should bite the bullet of restraint.

Since 1971 workers have been restrained by wage controls which were inequitable and one-sided. Their wages were checked but there was no effective restraint on prices or rents and none at all on profits and interest rates. After such inequity, you suggest the American worker should be patient when wage-price controls expire, despite the fact that inflation has washed away most of his wage gains in the last three years.

Well, the American workers have been patient, have been badly treated by their government and need to catch up to the cost of living. And, I think, most Americans would consider that to be only fair.

Sincerely,
Albert J. Zack, Director
Public Relations Department

Community Thankful For Aid

Dear Editor:

Since the tragic night of April 3, 1974, the citizens of Kentuckiana have been under tremendous strain both physical and mental, in coping with the most tragic disaster to confront our nation in 49 years.

The assistance and concern of the press has been instrumental in helping curbing the normal development of anxiety associated with catastrophes.

Your continual publishing of the services and opportunities open to affected residents has been a major aid in allowing the federal and voluntary agencies to assist the tornado-scarred residents.

We of the American National Red Cross and the agencies represented by the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration are deeply indebted to your community commitment. Without your cooperation the feelings of bewilderment and confusion would continue to exist in much of Kentuckiana.

And while our task is still not completed, we want to take time to say thank you and may all future relief operations we are involved in have a medium as understanding as your press corps.

Sincerely,
John P. Coleman, Asst. Director

FRANKFORT—No sooner is the excitement of the 100th Kentucky Derby over than Kentuckians will be faced with political races that are bound to stir heated political interest.

The Derby race this fall will be between Gov. Wendell H. Ford and incumbent Republican Marlow Cook since neither is expected to have much of a contest in the May primary election May 28.

While U.S. Representative races don't usually engender much interest, at least two of them are forecast as heated affairs. State Senator Carroll Hubbard of Mayfield is challenging veteran Congressman Carl Albert Stubblefield in the First District.

Republican Congressman Eugene Snyder in the Fourth District is being strongly challenged in the fall race by Democrat Kyle Hubbard of Louisville, a brother of the Mayfield Democrat challenging Stubblefield.

Gov. Ford said last week he will do everything possible to help Senator Cook get on the Republican ballot if the Court of Appeals doesn't uphold Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs' ruling that Cook has substantially met filing requirements although he did not name his campaign chairman before the statutory time required was ended.

Already surfaced as one of the key issues between Ford and Cook for this fall is the Red River Dam. Ford has come out in support of the dam while Cook opposes it. This is a hot issue between conservationists and supporters of flood control and recreational lakes, particularly for fishing.

Another conservation issue that may surface is the building, or proposed building of a ski lift of scenic Cumberland Falls. Ford hasn't made up his mind on what to do about it, but Parks Commissioner Ewart Johnson has already granted a contract to Marvin Music of Prestonsburg to build the lift. Trees already have been cleared for the route. Robert Blair, one of the original forces in the preservation of the natural beauties of Cumberland Falls, has called the clearing of the trees as "a rape" of the natural beauty of the area. Blair wants to keep the falls in its original state.

Blair was one of the leaders in the fight in the late 1920s and early 30s when the Samuel F. Insull interests wanted to dam up the river above the falls and building a generating plant there. Blair and his supporters won that fight.

Again, a few years ago, there was some talk of diverting part of the stream around the falls, and Blair's group won that fight.

Ford has said he is not going to make Watergate a chief campaign issue. He figures that already has been aired enough and the people are well versed on this issue. He said state of the economy and inflation will be one of his key issues. This indicates the campaign will center around the difference in philosophy of the Republican and Democratic parties.

Ford has the advantage of having the Democrats in control of state government and Jefferson County, Kentucky's largest metropolitan area where about 23 per cent of the vote is found. Jefferson County is Cook's home base but Democrat control of local government would appear to favor Ford.

Responsibility Is Key

The freedom of information committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors views 1973 as a year of "damaging blows" to press freedom. This seems ironic, since the press has also received praise for its role last year in helping smoke out the alleged Watergate cover-up.

The proposed legislation and court decisions which threaten press freedom are not unrelated to the performance of the news media in the Watergate case, however. And some of the biggest Watergate headlines were based on leaks of information from prosecutors who were violating ethical standards by disclosing it. Reporters for one Washington newspaper have admitted they tried to get grand jurors to violate the law by discussing the Watergate case with them.

Watergate brought a flood of unverified rumor and unsubstantiated charges into the news. It is not surprising that some judges and legislators would be attracted by the idea of restraining the press or trying to impose a "fairness doctrine" upon it by law.

To try to make the press more responsible by curtailing its First Amendment rights would be pursuing a worthy end with the wrong means. A free press has to be its own conscience and watchdog. That the ends do not always justify the means is also something to be remembered by newsmen. Even if there turns out to be fire where Watergate reporters smelled smoke, it does not excuse some of their excessive zeal in rushing into print or on the air with "news" that was only rumor and suspicion. Responsibility must be the watchword of the press.

Pasadena, Texas—Ernest Young has lived with an 8 mm bullet lodged in his right shoulder since he was wounded 28 years ago during World War II. Saturday, he coughed it up. Young said that after breakfast he started coughing and gagging. He walked to his bedroom to lie down and began coughing blood. "I bent over and coughed and that thing fell out of my throat," he said. When he felt the weight of the object, he said he knew what it was—a German sniper's slug. Young said he was wounded Jan. 16, 1945 as his unit pushed forward after the Battle of the Bulge. Doctors at Bayshore Hospital said the bullet had worked its way into a lung, then up a bronchial tube to Young's throat. (Dallas News)

Comments from Others

WINSTED, CONN., CITIZEN: "Both expert study and casual observation suggest that most of us drive so as to use more gas than we need to. Quick getaways, revving up to roar around the car ahead, rushing up to red lights only to wait for the green—anything in short, that involves a heavy foot on the gas pedal wastes fuel. A lot of other common practices let gas dribble away. Allowing the motor to idle while you're chitchatting, for example. Using the car's electrical appliances sparingly saves gas because the engine recharges the electrical system. Flooring the pedal to get up to the speed limit in a hurry uses more fuel than building speed gradually: as one expert reminds us, 'It takes more gasoline to get going than to stay going.' With a little care, a tankful of gas can be made to last a good deal longer than it otherwise would."

Deer Sportsmen In Action

By Butch Greer

Western Kentucky's need for an organized effort to curb deer poaching has been undertaken by the Calloway County Deer Sportsmen, an affiliate of Deer Sportsman of America and The League of Kentucky Sportsmen. DSA is an organization of management and conservation minded deer hunters and sportsmen who are actively fighting the anti-hunting legislation and are responsible for setting up poacher control programs.

With the aid of DSA, the Calloway County Deer Sportsmen were able to present a proposed "poacher patrol" to the Department of Fish & Wildlife Resources in which selected members would aid the local conservation officer in the performance of his duties. The members of this patrol were not to carry firearms and would not receive any wages.

Upon reviewing the details of the proposal, the Department readily accepted the plan as a worth while endeavor and granted the Calloway County Deer Sportsmen a probationary period of one year to prove their program for controlling poacher activities.

For the past six months, they have been actively working under the direct supervision of Jerry Maupin, the county's conservation officer. Officer Maupin has nothing but praise for this group of truly dedicated sportsmen in their efforts to protect their wildlife resources. He states, "They have readily absorbed extensive technical and field training and, in having exercised the principles of their training, they have definitely been an efficient and effective deterrent to the poaching situation." Maupin further claims that the entire membership has provided "an abundance of more reliable and usable information than I have ever had." In addition, they have been instrumental in aiding in the apprehension of several game violators, and on several occasions, have been directly responsible in holding a violator until Officer Maupin arrived on the scene from another stake out area.

The membership of this organization is very close knit. Prospective members are screened by the entire membership, and Officer Maupin aids the club in a thorough background check. A 100 per cent membership vote is required for admittance, followed by a 30 day probationary period. It is understandable why the membership takes all of the precautionary measures.

A complete set of by-laws are followed with particular attention to the objectives listed below:

A. To control poacher activity through the authority of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

B. To set up an active program for reducing the stray and wild dog populations.

C. To report all violations of law and regulations of the Ky. Dept. of Fish & Wildlife Resources to the State Conservation Officers.

D. To make the hunting and general public aware of the advantages of wildlife management procedures in an effort to encourage support for these programs.

E. To acquaint each member with management and conservation problems which can be solved and/or alleviated through the endeavors of this organization.

F. To learn a safer approach to hunting.

G. To promote better club-sportsman-hunter-landowner relationships.

H. To be a leader in promoting conservation programs.

I. To provide an effective program for increasing and developing a more healthy deer population in Calloway County.

The Calloway County Deer Sportsmen club is a non-profit organization which supports its objectives from membership fees and fund raising activities. Public relations plays a large role in this organization and much is done to gain support from the general public.

A massive advertising campaign has recently been designed and will soon be launched to make the public aware of the poacher activities and the consequences everyone pays.

The primary reason for forming the Calloway County Deer Sportsmen was to curb the deer poaching activity in Calloway County - which they have been doing. However, their continuing success has led Officer Maupin and the "poacher patrol" to surrounding counties to aid other officers.

Poachers are more reluctant to make their moves now that they know the patrol covers a wide area and is not restricted to night time hours. This is not to say that the poaching has stopped - it has not. But the patrol is providing a deterrent, by apprehending violators and, thus, putting the fear of being caught into others.

The job the Calloway County Deer Sportsmen in undertaking is a tremendous task, but their persistence and determination is paying off. Trusted residents of several areas have notified Officer Maupin and the Deer Sportsmen that jacklights and gunfire in the middle of the night have sharply declined. It is noted that prime poacher activity is in the fall, slacking in late spring. However, it is estimated that the poaching has decreased two-thirds from the same time period in 1973. This is a remarkable feat for this young organization and proves what sportsmen can do to protect their hunting privilege and wildlife resources when they join together in a common effort.

Camping Tragedy By Loyd Ford

Few campers know of the potential dangers of poisonous plants. The pits or seeds of plants like the wild cherry or choke cherry are extremely poisonous. The fruits of these plants are edible and very tasty, except for the pits which release cyanide. There have been cases where children of campers have eaten large amounts of these berries without removing the stones with death being the result.

There are many plants which poisonous nature of which people are not aware of. Some of these are the castor bean, stems of elder berry, leaves of rhubarb, oak acorns, the bark and seeds of the black locust, cherry trees twigs-leaves-and pits, peach pits and leaves, and the choke cherry. Potato and tomato vines may cause rashes due to their Steroid Alkaloids, and death if the sprouts are eaten in the case of the potato.

Eight castor beans, the same as the ones used for castor oil can kill a man. Children have poisoned themselves with the stems of elder berries when using the stems of this plant for "blow guns." A very small quantity of rhubarb leaves can prove to be fatal, as was found in World War I England when an official recommendation was publicized that persons utilize the blades as well as the petioles, several cases of severe poisoning and death resulted. The acorns of oaks, and the seeds and bark of the Black Locust are poisonous tannic acid is thought to be responsible for acorn poisoning but the Black Locust poison hasn't been isolated. Wild Cherry, Choke Cherry, Peach, and Apple seeds are cyanogenetic, in other words they contain cyanide. In one accident a man who thought apple seeds to be a great delicacy saved a cup full of them, eating them one at a time he was killed by cyanide poisoning.

Carelessness and ignorance could cause a camping tragedy. Don't eat berries or forest plants unless you are completely sure of their nature. Many of these plants are like the Poke Weed which can be a tasty southern dish when its a small shoot, but as it matures, it's roots become very poisonous. Incomplete knowledge of plants and so called "nature foods" can cause poisoning accidents. Living off the land takes an expert not someone who wants to experiment with the latest Eluel Gibbons recipe.

Fins 'n Feathers

Outdoor Editor

For you outdoor enthusiasts that like to know about the books you are going to buy or would like to know what is available in the outdoor book world we will review books of your choice. Simply drop us a card if you would like a book reviewed in the Fins 'n Feathers.

Outdoor Photography - This book states its purpose on the cover, especially for hunters, fishermen, naturalists and wildlife enthusiasts to learn the art of photography.

The subject is covered very thoroughly for a beginning outdoor enthusiast for which the book was intended. The average sentence length conforms to the level of 10th grade with average word per sentence length of 19 words per sentence. Word choice is excellent and conforms to the author's style.

The creativity of the author is limited to his own personal knowledge, but the subject is well covered for the beginning photographer.

The basic sentence structure is at a level low enough that a high school student may fully understand every word. Form and style conforming to a unique, general form that holds the interest of the reader while it flows from one subject to another with each lead setting the pattern for introduction into a new phase.

The book, a paper back, is a publication of Outdoor Life, Harper & Rowe Publishing Co. of New York and is explanatory.

The author, Erwin Bauer, in the introduction explains that it is necessary for any outdoorsman, not just outdoor writers to know the qualities of good photography.

He relates outdoor experiences of discovery with the enjoyment of photography in a fashion that would appeal to almost any outdoorsman.

The first portion of the book deals with the selection of a camera and the many models available. The right camera for outdoor photography is stressed. Lens differences and reasons for selection due to quality are given as are lens speeds and advantages of shutter speeds. He explains for the beginning photographer the camera in general. Shutters are shown by illustrations. Illustrations are generally line drawings but many outstanding black-and-white photos are used to promote a point.

View finders are explained as are their built-in features, such as light meters. Size of camera is stressed for the outdoorsman as well as the film types. Cameras for other uses are briefly mentioned in respect to all around uses.

Color film is also discussed along with exposure, sensitivity to light and several tips on handling film and storing of film are pointed out.

One chapter is devoted specifically to accessories, but in a very general way. Adapter rings and lens shades are discussed along with filters. Filters are said to be used for a certain distinct quality or effect when using certain films. Close up attachments for ranges of 6 inches to 2 feet along with exposure, light meters are also touched upon with a general mood.

Farther along, the book deals with the composing of the photograph. The author lets loose with informative material that allows the beginner to focus in on a picture before it is actually snapped by the shutter. He does this by explaining center of interest, photo level, and lighting effect. Achieving contrast and depth were two of the major points pursued by the author.

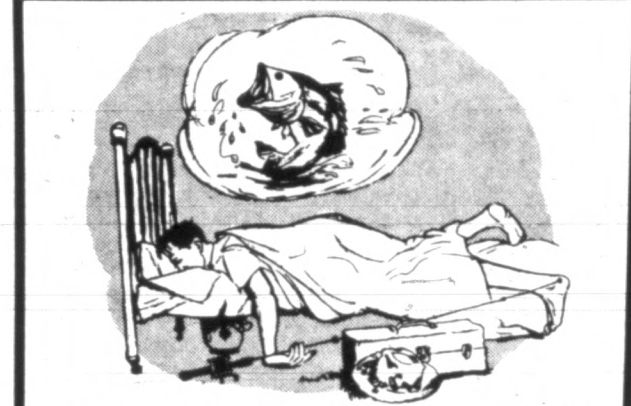

Chapter five deals with photographing outdoor trips. The author explains that photos of the local area are a necessity as are the action shots of those involved in the outing. Action of photography is the point the author stresses in detail. Care of camera equipment is stressed and types given as to the proper handling. Idea lists are given for the novice that may cover a complete trip with photos.

Selling for only $1.50, this book is most informative for the novice and could be money well spent for the outdoor enthusiast with a camera.

"FISH TALK" By Don Latta

PREDICTION: A NEW WORLD RECORD BASS

Every dedicated bass fisherman has dreamed of catching the biggest one of all. Now, for the first time since the record of 22 pounds 4 ounces was set back in 1932, this dream may become a reality. In 1960, California stocked a number of Florida bass in several lakes near San Diego. For years the experiment seemed hopeless but suddenly in 1968, a 20 year old state bass record was broken and the fish found to be a Florida transplant! Every year since, the Florida strain has set new state records. The last one, in June 1973, was a whopping 20 pounds 15 ounces - just 15 ounces shy of the world mark! And hold on to your hats - the lucky angler landed his trophy using a "dime store special" rod and reel and a live night-crawler! So, there's little doubt that a new world's record is now swimming around in a California lake just waiting to be caught. (Hope it has the courtesy to wait until this column appears!)

We can make a prediction, too. That if you start now depositing a small part of your paycheck in a savings account, it will grow into a substantial "nest egg" much faster than you might believe!

'Breds OVC Baseball Champs

Weisman Blasts Homer To End 13-Inning Marathon

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

"Who's going to pitch tomorrow?" a Morehead fan shouted as big Randy Oliver walked on the mound in the 11th inning to face the toughest pitching assignment of his career.

But Randy Oliver wasn't worried about who was going to pitch today or any other day.

Earlier in the afternoon, the sun was shining brightly and spirits on the Murray State baseball team were high as the 'Breds took a 6-1 win over Morehead in the opening game of the best two of three series for the Ohio Valley Conference Championship.

But when Oliver walked to the mound with one man out and the bases loaded, the darkness of the graduation Friday was moving in on the dusty field like a ghostly fog, stalking across deep water.

A fly ball was all it would take for Morehead, who was the home team in the second game, to win and force a third game to be played today to determine the conference champion.

With a count of 2-1 and freshman Gary Cisco of Morehead at the plate, the most exciting play in the game of baseball took place.

Cisco squared around, Oliver blistered a high fastball to the plate and the ball hit the bat and bounced off the wood, harmlessly into the air.

Oliver zipped off the mound, caught the ball, turned and whirled to third for the almost unbelievable doubleplay and the inning was over.

And finally, about 30 minutes later, Oliver was jumping off the mound into a mob of teammates as he had just claimed the mound win with a 3-2 victory in a four-hour, 13-inning marathon.

And for Murray, it revenged last year when the 'Breds were bumped by Morehead in the third game of the conference playoff and lost the crown many people thought the 'Breds should have won.

It was the eighth conference championship for Murray under head skipper Johnny Reagan, the first for the 'Breds since 1970.

And although it was an experience Reagan had been through many times before, the joy of winning was just as new as the first time.

"Oliver did just a superb job for us," said Reagan, who was all but out of breath from yelling encouragement to his team.

"He did everything I asked him to."

"That's the hardest he's thrown in a long time...that fastball really had good life in it."

But of course the best pitch Oliver made all day was when he fired the high, hard one to Cisco on the suicide squeeze.

"The last thing I told Randy when he was on the mound was to be alert for a bunt and to make sure and throw the ball high."

It seemed natural enough that the man who would end the game for Murray is the man who blasted a homer in the first game of the season, Rick Weisman.

Weisman, a senior from Otwell, Ind., who is the co-holder of the season homerun mark along with former high school teammate Steve Barrett, officially ended the marathon in the 13th inning.

It was a 2-1 pitch, down the gutter. And Weisman nearly hit the ball down a gutter on Chestnut Street!

The ball wound up deep in centerfield, easily clearing the 360-foot sign in the deepest part of the park.

"I felt like it was gone when he hit it," Reagan said.

"At that stage of the game, you knew the way Randy was throwing that one run would do it for us."

Oliver finished in the bottom of the 13th inning in pro fashion. He retired the first two batters on strikes.

Then the third hitter, senior second baseman Jim Baron, drilled a shot that plugged the gap in leftcenter.

Sophomore centerfield David Hughes and Terry Brown, who was in left, nearly crashed head-on and the ball wound up on the ground and Baron on second.

After getting ahead 0-2 on the final hitter, Homer Cablish, Oliver was able to walk off the mound with the win when first-baseman Don Derrington scooped up a hard grounder and stepped on the bag.

A large crowd, which stayed on hand throughout the long afternoon, erupted into a roar and the 'Breds, who have been a closely-knit unit all season long, began the preliminaries to their celebrations.

At one point Oliver threw 12 pitches, 10 of which were strikes.

In his two and a third-innings of work, he allowed two hits and sent down four men on strikes as he had pinpoint control with his blazing fastball.

A total of 36 men were left on base in the game, 21 by Murray. Mike Sims started on the hill and went eight and one-third innings before being lifted in the bottom of the ninth when Morehead scored a run and tied the game at 2-2.

Both teams had what seemed like a dozen opportunities to score.

From the 10th inning on, Murray had at least two men on in every frame.

Each team scored a run in the third, Murray's coming on a bases-loaded walk to Barrett with nobody out and Morehead got their tally on a double by Cablish.

The next run came in the top of the eighth when Murray scored on an RBI single by rookie catcher Mike Cathey, a Murray High graduate.

Cathey drove in pinch runner John Howland, running for John Eradi who had reached on a walk and was sacrificed to second by David Hughes.

The 2-1 lead held for Sims until the ninth inning when he finally ran out of gas and the Eagles loaded the bases with one out.

Bill Emerson and Dana Pearson each threw two pitches to allow a run to be forced in to tie the game and then freshman righthander Mark Wezet came in.

Wezet got the next two men out and stayed on the mound until he ran into trouble in the 11th and then Oliver came in and got the doubleplay on the suicide squeeze.

In the 10th, Murray loaded the bases and had a man forced out at home.

Two men were on in the 11th and the 'Breds had runners on at second and third in the 12th with just one out but still couldn't get the big hit.

After Oliver came in, Morehead batters saw only a trail of smoke and it was only a matter of time until Weisman drilled the homer and gave Oliver, a native of Hazel, his second win of the season.

Leon Wurth, Weisman and Cathey all had two hits while freshman Terry Brown and Sims hit safely.

In the opening game, it was all Greg Englar as the junior righthander ran his record to 9-2, tying a school record for the most wins in one season.

Englar was in trouble only in one inning, that being the first when the Eagles scored their only run of the game on a double by Cablish, who carried a .333 average into the contest.

The 'Breds gave Englar all the run production he needed in the first inning when three runs came across the plate.

The first five men up in the inning all reached safely.

Brown led off with a single and Jack Perconte followed with a screamer into leftcenter, good for a triple and a 1-1 tie.

Then third baseman Steve Barrett ripped a shot down the line in right for a two-run blast and the 'Breds led 3-1.

Murray scored single runs in the second, fifth and eighth innings.

On a double steal of second and third in the second inning, the catcher threw the ball wild in attempt to get the lead runner, Perconte, who came in to score.

Wurth singled in the fifth and scored on Steuber's single to right and then in the eighth, Brown walked and later came home on Barrett's single.

Wurth's two hits in the final game lifted his season hit total to 51, breaking the previous Murray record of 50 held by Barrett and Steve Coulson.

Murray banged out 10 hits in the game including two apiece by Perconte, Barrett and Weisman. Brown, Wurth, Steuber and Derrington all had a hit apiece.

With a pair of wins, Murray is 32-11 for the spring and will visit Abe Martin Field in Carbondale Sunday for a 2 p.m. game with Southern Illinois University.

A large crowd is expected to be at the contest which will pit the nation's 17th-ranked team, the 'Breds, against the Salukis.

The game will end the regular season for Murray but there is an excellent chance of the 'Breds receiving an at-large bid to play in the NCAA Regional later in the month at Starkville, Miss.

The man who will pitch against SIU Sunday is the man who would have faced Morehead today, had a third game been necessary to determine the conference champion.

And that man is senior Mike Thieke, in case there are any curious Morehead fans left in town.

Honor Csonka

NEW YORK — The New York chapter of the Pro Football Writer's Association said today it will honor Miami Dolphin running back Larry Csonka May 20 at its seventh annual dinner.

Csonka, hero of Miami's victory against the Minnesota Vikings 24-7 in the National Football League's Super Bowl VIII, will receive the Super Man Award to mark his winning performance.

DOWN THE GUTTER—Mike Sims displays his fine pitching form as he throws a strike down the middle to Morehead's Jim Brochman. Sims hurled eight and a third innings in the nightcap in which Murray eventually won 3-2 in 13 innings.

Tiger Track Team Wins Meet

Murray High opened its new track on a successful note Friday afternoon as they took an easy 83-44 win over Calloway County in a dual meet.

The Tigers claimed top honors in 10 events.

Dale McCuiston and Steve P orter both scored double wins for Murray High.

McCuiston turned in his personal best effort of his career in the 100 where he won with a 10.4 with Alan Jones in second with 10.5 and Ronnie Olive of the Lakers third with 10.6.

In the 220, McCuiston won with an outstanding 23.5 while Howard Jinner of Calloway was .1 second off the winning pace.

Mark Cavitt of the Tigers was third in 24.4.

Porter, a junior, won both of his firsts in field events.

He had a personal best in taking the javelin with an effort of 129-4. Freshman Tim Lane was second with 103-7 while Russell Hopkins of the Lakers was third with 100-10.

Porter and Lane finished first and second in the shot where Porter won with 40-3/4 while Lane had a 38-8. Fee Dibble of Murray completed the sweep as he was third with 36-4.

Murray won both of the hurdling events as Dean Lanning ran away with the 120-high hurdles in 16.8 while Quentin Fannin of the Lakers was second in 19.5 and David Pledger of Calloway third.

In the 180-low hurdles, Alan Lemons of the Tigers won in 23.3 while Pledger was second and Kim Grogan of the Tigers was third. Pledger was clocked in 23.9 and Grogan 24.2.

In a close battle for first, Eli Alexander of the Tigers nipped freshman Tommy Futrell of Calloway in the 880.

Alexander had a 2:12.3 while Futrell was just .3 second behind the winning time. Randy Orr of the Tigers was third.

Dewey Seigler of the Tigers won the two-mile in 11:47 while Barry Braboy of the Lakers was second and Randy Williams of Calloway third.

Murray won both relays, taking the 880 in 1:36 and the mile relay in 3:48.

Tony Thompson, Jones, Cavitt and McCuiston ran legs in the 880 while Dean Lampkins, Todd Harrison, Alexander and Lanning each ran legs in the mile relay.

Calloway County won five events in the meet.

Futrell won the mile as he had a personal best of 4:59.4 while James Fenton of Murray High was second in 5:01.6 and Mark Peebles of the Tigers was third. Ronnie Olive turned in a splendid effort in the 440 where he had a 54.0 to win while Lanning was second with 54.6 and Harrison third in 56.1 for the Tigers.

In the high jump, Kip Dyer of the Lakers won with a clearance of 5-5/8 while Richie Richardson of the Tigers was second and Harrison third.

Kenneth Cleaver of Calloway took top honors in the triple jump with a personal best of 37-7/8 while Thompson was second in 36-9/8 and Andy Ryan third for Murray with 35-6.

The top individual performance of the day was in the long jump where Howard Jinner of the Lakers went 20-6, which should make him one of the best in the First Region.

Lanning had an excellent 20-0 for a second and a personal best while freshman Randy Orr was third with 18-3.

The next meet for the Lakers will be Monday at Ballard.

Murray High is at Trigg County Tuesday for a triangular with the host Wildcats and Hopkinsville. The Calloway girls did not run yesterday.

Joe Simons New Leader In Classic

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — "Aspirin makes me jittery," said blond Jim Simons. But popping the painkillers has had no visible effect on his performance in the $150,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

Simons, the former amateur sensation from Wake Forest, said he takes a minimum of eight aspirin a day to ease the pain from a case of tendonitis in his left shoulder.

He showed no signs of stress Friday as he slashed six strokes from Preston Trail's par with a 65 for a 133 total and a two-shot lead at the halfway point in the battle for the $30,000 first prize.

RECORD-TYING WIN—Greg Englar picked up his ninth win of the season for Murray and tied the school record. Englar pitched and won the first game of the twinbill with Morehead yesterday, giving up just five hits in a 6-1 victory.

Joe Hoerner Gives Lift To Wrong Team

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Joe Hoerner came out of the bullpen and gave the New York Yankees a lift. Trouble is, he pitched for the Kansas City Royals.

The reliever astonished almost everyone in Royals Stadium — including himself — by hitting two consecutive batters to help the Yankees forge a 5-4 victory Friday night.

"I never did that before in my life," said Hoerner after his second hit batsman forced in the Yankees' go-ahead run in the seventh inning.

The loss dropped the Royals deeper into the American League West basement.

White Sox 10, Brewers 3

Brian Downing's three-run homer highlighted a seven-run third inning, leading Chicago over Milwaukee. The victory was the ninth in 12 games for Chicago, which jumped on Brewer loser Clyde Wright, 3-3, for eight runs before he left with one out in the third.

Tigers 4, Twins 3

Willie Horton cracked a three-run homer in the sixth inning, leading Detroit past Minnesota.

A's 3, Indians 1

Run-scoring singles by Joe Rudi, Gene Tenace and Ray Fosse in the seventh inning lifted Oakland over Cleveland.

Loser Jim Perry, trying for his second shutout in a row, yielded only one hit over the first six innings — Reggie Jackson's leadoff single in the second.

Los Angeles after seven consecutive setbacks dating back to last Aug. 11.

Schueler was forced to leave in the eighth with two split nails on his pitching hand. Watt came on to start the ninth and Steve Garvey and Ron Cey, the first two batters, singled. Tom Paciorek hit into a force at second but Joe Ferguson walked, loading the bases.

However, Bill Russell grounded to shortstop Larry Bowa, whose throw home forced Garvey. Wynn then struck out to end the game.

A four-run burst off Atlanta's Roric Harrison in the third inning enabled Pittsburgh to turn back the Braves. Reuss started the uprising with a walk, went to third on Richie Hebner's double and scored on Al Oliver's infield out.

The other runs crossed on Willie Stargell's double, Dave Parker's triple and a wild pitch by Harrison. Reuss survived a two-run double by Rowland Office in the sixth.

It was Hank Aaron Night at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium, but baseball's all-time home run king remained in the Braves' hotel with a touch of the flu.

Angels 2, Orioles 0

Rookie left-hander Frank Tanana stifled Baltimore on three hits, none until the sixth inning, and then needed last-out help from two relievers to preserve California's victory over the Orioles.

Home runs by Bob Oliver and Tom McCraw accounted for all the scoring. It was the fourth victory in a row for the Angels while the Orioles have lost three straight.

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Some people — like pitchers Eddie Watt of the Philadelphia Phillies and Jerry Reuss of the Pittsburgh Pirates — are never satisfied.

"It's one you can't throw too often and get away with it up in the strike zone," reliever Watt said of the pitch he threw past Jimmy Wynn of Los Angeles with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning Friday night to preserve the Phils' 2-1 victory over the Dodgers.

"I've had better stuff as far as velocity is concerned," said Reuss, who scattered eight hits and posted his first triumph of the season in the Pirates' 4-2 decision over the Atlanta Braves.

Astros 4, Cardinals 1

Doug Rader's two-run single in the seventh inning broke a 1-1 tie and Claude Osteen stopped St. Louis on eight hits. Bob Watson and Lee May singled to begin the rally against Alan Foster and, after an intentional walk to Milt May loaded the bases, Rader drilled his single for a 3-1 lead. Mike Garman replaced Foster and Tommy Helms singled for another run.

Cubs 6, Reds 5

Rick Monday of the Cubs slammed a two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning after Pete Rose had put the Reds ahead 5-4 with a three-run homer in the top of the ninth.

Joe Hoerner Gives Lift To Wrong Team

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Joe Hoerner came out of the bullpen and gave the New York Yankees a lift. Trouble is, he pitched for the Kansas City Royals.

The reliever astonished almost everyone in Royals Stadium — including himself — by hitting two consecutive batters to help the Yankees force a 5-4 victory Friday night.

"I never did that before in my life," said Hoerner after his second hit batsman forced in the Yankees' go-ahead run in the seventh inning. The loss dropped the Royals deeper into the American League West basement.

White Sox 10, Brewers 3
Brian Downing's three-run homer highlighted a seven-run third inning, leading Chicago over Milwaukee. The victory was the ninth in 12 games for Chicago, which jumped on Brewer loser Clyde Wright, 3-3, for eight runs before he left with one out in the third.

Tigers 4, Twins 3
Willie Horton cracked a three-run homer in the sixth inning, leading Detroit past Minnesota.

A's 3, Indians 1
Run-scoring singles by Joe Rudi, Gene Tenace and Ray Fosse in the seventh inning lifted Oakland over Cleveland. Loser Jim Perry, trying for his second shutout in a row, yielded only one hit over the first six innings — Reggie Jackson's leadoff single in the second.

Angels 2, Orioles 0
Rookie left-hander Frank Tanana stifled Baltimore on three hits, none until the sixth inning, and then needed last-out help from two relievers to preserve California's victory over the Orioles. Home runs by Bob Oliver and Tom McCraw accounted for all the scoring. It was the fourth victory in a row for the Angels while the Orioles have lost three straight.

AP Sports Writer
Some people — like pitchers Eddie Watt of the Philadelphia Phillies and Jerry Reuss of the Pittsburgh Pirates — are never satisfied.

"It's one you can't throw too often and get away with it up in the strike zone," reliever Watt said of the pitch he threw past Jimmy Wynn of Los Angeles with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning Friday night to preserve the Phils' 2-1 victory over the Dodgers.

"I've had better stuff as far as velocity is concerned," said Reuss, who scattered eight hits and posted his first triumph of the season in the Pirates' 4-2 decision over the Atlanta Braves.

Los Angeles after seven consecutive setbacks dating back to last Aug. 11.

Schueler was forced to leave in the eighth with two split nails on his pitching hand. Watt came on to start the ninth and Steve Garvey and Ron Cey, the first two batters, singled. Tom Paciorek hit into a force at second but Joe Ferguson walked, loading the bases.

However, Bill Russell grounded to shortstop Larry Bowa, whose throw home forced Garvey. Wynn then struck out to end the game.

A four-run burst off Atlanta's Roric Harrison in the third inning enabled Pittsburgh to turn back the Braves. Reuss started the uprising with a walk, went to third on Richie Hebner's double and scored on Al Oliver's infield out.

The other runs crossed on Willie Stargell's double, Dave Parker's triple and a wild pitch by Harrison. Reuss survived a two-run double by Rowland Office in the sixth.

It was Hank Aaron Night at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium, but baseball's all-time home run king remained in the Braves' hotel with a touch of the flu.

Astros 4, Cardinals 1
Doug Rader's two-run single in the seventh inning broke a 1-1 tie and Claude Osteen stopped St. Louis on eight hits. Bob Watson and Lee May singled to begin the rally against Alan Foster and, after an intentional walk to Milt May loaded the bases, Rader drilled his single for a 3-1 lead. Mike Garman replaced Foster and Tommy Helms singled for another run.

Cubs 6, Reds 5
Rick Monday of the Cubs slammed a two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning after Pete Rose had put the Reds ahead 5-4 with a three-run homer in the top of the ninth.

distinguished professional career in which devotion and dedication to the educational and moral development of hundreds of students is brilliantly reflected by their successes.

Six graduates in the class were commissioned by Col. Palmer A. Peterson, professor of military science, as second lieutenants in the U. S. Army through the University's ROTC program. The new officers are:

Thomas G. Corcoran, Louisville, David W. Galloway and Gregory L. Mills, both of Owensboro; Steven J. Payne, Murray; Benny R. Pitt, Benton, and James S. Rutland, Cadiz.

Special music was provided by the Murray State University Wind Sinfonietta with Prof. Paul W. Shahan, director of bands at the University, as conductor. The group played "Festive Overture, Op. 96" by Dmitri Shostakovich in addition to the processional, "Academic Procession" and the recessional, "Crown Imperial."

Genealogical Society To Have Organizational Meeting Monday, May 13

An organizational meeting for a Genealogical (Family Tree) Society for the Jackson Purchase will be held at the Graves County Courthouse at 7 p.m. on Monday, May 13.

"Due to the geographical nature of the Purchase and with so many families having relatives in more than one county," a spokesman said, "it is felt that a genealogical society for the entire Purchase would serve a better purpose than one for each county. It is planned to hold meetings monthly and in a different county each month."

Don Simmons of Murray will be in charge of the initial meeting and anyone interested in his or her family tree or desiring to learn more about genealogy is invited to attend.

Offer Of $4 Million For Return Of Patricia Hearst Expires Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A $4 million offer for the safe return of Patricia Hearst expired today with no sign of the newspaper heiress kidnapped three months ago.

The money, placed in escrow a month ago by the Hearst Corp., reverted to the corporation when the Symbionese Liberation Army, which said it abducted the 20-year-old University of California student from her Berkeley apartment Feb. 4, ignored Friday's midnight deadline.

Miss Hearst's father, newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, went to bed at his Hillsborough home two hours before the deadline. A family spokesman described him as disappointed.

The SLA made no mention of the offer in its last taped communication April 24.

The development came a day after police and FBI agents located an abandoned apartment that apparently was the hideout of the kidnapers for two months.

Just 14 blocks from FBI headquarters, the cockroach-infested flat contained car keys and coats the FBI said might have been used in the SLA bank robbery in which Miss Hearst carried a gun. The robbery came less than two weeks after she said in an April 3 communiqué that she had joined her kidnapers.

Charles Bates, FBI agent in charge of the case, said one of the keys fitted a 1973 green Ford station wagon seen leaving the bank. The car was found abandoned several blocks from there.

Agents said the apartment yielded clothing and acid-stained documents that could be used as evidence.

Acids had been poured into the bathtub and efforts had been made to destroy papers, authorities said. The FBI took virtually everything out of the apartment for analysis.

Friday at a court appearance for Larry C. Green, 22; J. C. Simon, 29, and Manuel Moore, 29. The three were ordered to enter pleas May 9.

The mayor has blamed a fanatical group of "Death Angels" for 80 killings in California, including 13 random slayings here in a case police have code-named "Operation Zebra." Seven persons have been wounded in the "Zebra" attacks in San Francisco.

But other California law enforcement authorities say they have no evidence that any such gang exists outside San Francisco.

Four men arrested in the case were released Thursday night for lack of evidence. They were Tom Manney, 31, San Francisco State football star in the early 1960s; Clarence Jamerson, 37; Dwight Stallings, 28, and Edgar Burton, 22.

Chief of Inspectors Charles Barca said release of the four "does not preclude any prosecution in the future if we develop additional evidence."

Regents . . .

Members of the faculty, under the terms of a policy approved by the board in 1969, are eligible for tenure after six years of probationary service. If not granted tenure, a faculty member will be issued a one-year terminal contract.

Tenure decisions on all faculty members who have been at the university since 1969 and who do not now have tenure will be made next year when the policy is fully implemented. Tenure faculty cannot be removed except for incompetency, immorality or failure to perform duties satisfactorily.

Reorganization of the board was deferred until the two new members appointed by Gov. Wendell H. Ford earlier in the week attended their first meeting. Neither of the appointees, Frank Paxton of Paducah or J. W. (Bill) Carneal of Owensboro, was able to be at the Friday meeting.

Howard, the vice-chairman of the board, presided during the meeting. H. Glenn Doran of Murray, formerly the chairman, was one of the two board members whose term had expired and who was replaced by the latest appointments.
