Note Book

Guest Column
By Mary Nelle Wright

Dear Friends: This little "letter" that I am about to write to you is really directed to the distant side of the family, because it will contain valuable advice! DON'T make any more New Year resolutions to be "tidier" about your pocketbooks, billfolds, et cetera, et cetera... because... well, I just might as well tell you that I tried it. And it's no good!

Actually, I was a little premature in the housecleaning job of the pocketbook... and the billfold, because about two weeks before Christmas I had a few minutes to spare out at the radio station, so... thought it would be time well spent to get the purse and billfold cleared out, afore Xmas. Well, after examining my billfold, I decided this was the time to throw away the plastic section that holds pictures, business cards, address books, Kentucky Colonel card, stamps, Ladies' Elks cards, social security, Country Club card, charge-plates, courtesy cards, personal cards, notes to myself of "things I MUST do TODAY", grocery list... and driver's license. And so (like the little red hen) I did.

It so happened that a day or two before, I had bought a new section for the old billfold with the housecleaning job in mind. I'd like to pause right now to tell my friends, Exie and William Hill that this is NOT the billfold they gave me after all the trouble I had in Illinois with the cops and the magistrate over my driver's license a year or so ago. I took their fine advice (I thought) so that I'd never have trouble with a neat place to keep my driver's license and would never have to re-live such an experience of seeing myself behind the bars at Chester, Illinois. (Perhaps some of you remember when Jo wrote the story... and we talked about that experience on the My Fair Lady program at WFUL.)

Friends... to make a long story short, I cleaned that billfold out and I put in the shiny new "wind-downs" (or whatever they're called) and I looked at it with such pride... there was my fine son... and my darling daughter-in-law smiling at me every time I opened the billfold. All the cards were in perfect place. It just wasn't any trouble at all to FIND things anymore. It was such fun throwing things away and I prided myself upon the fact that this section was so compact... and I didn't need all of the "debris" that I had collected for a year, anyway. I remembered seeing TWO almost identical driver's licenses... the only difference, one was black... and one was white. So WHAT was the need for TWO... the white one was much more legible and I placed it in the shiny new section in the very front. No ma'ma... I'd never have trouble finding MY driver's license again. NO cop would ever have trouble with ME again.

I remember several times during the Christmas shopping how pleased I was with my neatness... and there that license was, just ready to defy any state trooper!

All went well and then I learned that since my birthday is in January that it was time to renew the driver's license. So... January 5th I started down to the City Hall to see my friend, Ruth Johnson whom, I had learned, was there to give with the driver's licenses. The sun was shining, my car was clean, I had on a fresh suit and blouse... and my "heels"...

...and I tripped gaily down the street toward the City Hall, stopping to chat with friends along the way and just feeling that it was a good day... and glad to be alive.

I opened the door to the building and looked around with a real feeling of pride at the interior of

Power Board Meets KU Today In Louisville

Clyde Williams, Jr., Chairman of the Fulton Electric Plant Board, announced to the City Council Monday evening that the local board has entered into negotiations with Kentucky Utilities Company to purchase the local electric system and on Thursday, January 12—this week—will meet with KU officials in Louisville to further discuss the matter.

Williams revealed that the local Plant Board notified KU of their intent to acquire the local system last November 15th, and that KU has 60 days in which to give an answer. The 60 days will be up January 14, hence the Louisville meeting this week—at KU's invitation—Williams stated.

The Fulton Electric Plant Board

was named by the Mayor two years ago. It has deferred action on acquisition of the local system until now for several reasons, one being a "wait and see" attitude on the KU-South Fulton action wherein South Fulton joined the Weakley County Municipal Electric System in 1959 and overbuilt KU lines throughout South Fulton, in effect cutting KU out of South Fulton, by July 1960.

Now that TVA power is flowing into South Fulton through WCMES lines, and the residents are finding the service excellent and the rates about half what they had been paying, that question-mark is well settled for all Kentucky residents to see. On November 15 the Fulton Board, satisfied, got to work.

Council Sets Highlands Sewer Cost; Gives Housing Authority Funds

Highlands residents will shortly receive notice from the City of Fulton that their assessment on new sewer lines recently completed in that section will figure $3.54 per front foot, the Fulton City Council announced Monday night at their meeting following a completed construction report by the engineers. A hearing will be convened Monday night, January 30th so that all who wish to voice protests or objections can do so at that time.

In other actions at Monday night's council meeting:

—An ordinance authorizing purchase of the Siegel factory building on fourth street from the Fulton Improvement Company, and the issuance of revenue bonds to finance the purchase, was read and approved. The building and land are to be purchased for $60,000 and bonds in that amount issued. As a matter of fact—it was learned—the 6% tax-free bonds are already all sold to local buyers. Siegel has a 10-year lease on the building and the rents will retire the bonds in that period.

—The Twin City Home Improvement Company was awarded the job of re-roofing the city hall, being low bidder at $950.00. Other bidders were Builders Supply, Fulton, at $1125.00, and Fulton Roofing and Insulation Company, $2075.00.

—The Ted Climer Company, Union City, was low bidder on installing a new water line on the State Line overhead bridge, being awarded the contract for $1,931.00. Other bidders were Jones and Hoise, Fulton, at $2376.00; Ivey Pipeline, Mayfield, at $3994.21, and W. T. Cutchin, Dyersburg, $7300.000.

—$500 was appropriated for use of the local slum clearance and housing authority, to get its projects underway as soon as possible.

—Notice was issued that city licenses for Fulton are now on sale, and that after a 15-day grace period ending March 15th, a 10% penalty will be added to latecomers who miss the deadline.

—Councilman Ward Johnson was named to replace J. O. Lewis on the Parks committee, and Mr. Lewis charged with drawing up a 1961 budget for the city.

—and Finally, the city decided to add three parking meters on Commercial Avenue, and prohibit parking on the bridge.

State Development Group Undertakes Research Projects Of Vital Resources

Meeting for the first time in Frankfort last Thursday, Kentucky's new Economic Development Commission recommended establishment of a broadly-based Economic Development Council and undertaking by the State of five contract research projects keyed to development of Kentucky resources. Paul Westpheling, publisher of the Fulton News attended as a newly appointed member of the 21-man commission.

Lieutenant Governor Wilson W. Wyatt, Commission chairman, noted that the recommended research projects involve both agricultural and industrial phases of the State's economy. Included are projects concerning sheep, tobacco, coal, and markets for handcraft items.

Funds for the research work would come from $200,000 allocated by the 1960 General Assembly to the Kentucky Department of Economic Development for special industrial and agricultural research programs.

The Council, as envisioned by the Commission's recommendations, would be an advisory body drawing membership from all sections of the State and representing every major facet of Kentucky's economic life. Members would be appointed by Wyatt in his capacity as chairman of the Economic Development Commission.

In making the recommendation, Commission members agreed that formation of the Council would provide an opportunity for many additional business, civic, agricultural, industrial and professional leaders to participate more directly in Kentucky's greatly-expanded economic development program.

The special research projects recommended by the Commission include the following:

1. An applied coal research program for the uses of coal, with the contract to be placed with the Spindletop Research Institute. Initiation of this program may enable the Institute to obtain federal coal research funds. Cost of this project is estimated at $25,000 a year. The recommendation is contingent on federal participation in the program, under the national coal research act.

2. Laboratory testing at the University of Louisville of the theoretical methods of nuclear treatment of coal for chemical usage. A sum of $5,000 for the laboratory phase was recommended.

3. A study of the Kentucky

As Fulton and Surrounding Communities Look To 1961 For Industry Let's See What Industry Wants

What Does Industry Expect of a Community?

By H. Y. BASSETT, Vice President and General Manager, Wolverine Tube Division, Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper Company.

(First in a Series)

In practically every community in this great country of ours there is an intense desire to make that particular community the outstanding one in the area, the state, and the country. Every effort is expended to attract industries to the area. An abundance and a diversification of industries in a community, providing jobs, either directly or indirectly, for citizens of all classes, are insurance against depressions and recessions. Through increased revenues from taxation, the opportunity is afforded to improve the school system, increase recreational facilities, and provide better and more complete city, county, and state services.

To this end civic groups in many communities have been organized. These groups are composed of merchants, industrialists, and civic leaders, who may be representatives of the local chamber of commerce or of similar organizations. Often they represent a number of the business people of the community and have no connection with its civic groups. In most cases their efforts are augmented by county or state organizations. Descriptive literature is prepared outlining the advantages that the town, county, and state have to offer. All are working for the purpose of expanding the community through an increase in its industrial activities. Getting additional industries to locate in the town is the principal, sometimes the sole objective.

Their intentions are good. Unfortunately, in many cases too little thought has been given to that phase of the problem which I believe is the crux of the whole question; namely, what will these industries expect in a community? Keep in mind I said "in a community," not "from a community." Too much thought is given to outlining in detail the advantages prevailing in a community—or those things which in the eyes of the group selling the community appear to be advantages. Not enough effort is made to look at the picture from management's point of view. The community should be developed not only in the tangible things which all industries look for in the selection of a plant location, but in the intangible items which represent in many cases the difference between success and failure in any new venture starting in a community.

It would be well to outline first the problems confronting an aggressive, forward-looking business organization, faced with the ever-growing tendency to decentralize production operations, in the selection of a suitable location for any new or added facilities. The successful and profitable operation of a plant in a new location depends to a large extent on the selection of the town and plant site best fitting the needs of that particular concern. What are the things management looks for when making a survey to determine the area and town in which the new facilities are to be located?

In order to accumulate all of the information necessary to reach the right conclusion, certain basic factors, which in most cases are peculiar to the plant or business involved, must be determined by the management. We will assume that the management has given due consideration to all basic economic factors which will have an effect on the selection of the general area in which the new plant would be located. These normally would include the following, again depending on the industry in question and the type of operation contemplated:

1. Nearness to raw materials
2. Nearness to markets
3. Nearness to suppliers and/or subcontractors
4. Availability of suitable labor supply
5. Requirements for and availability of gas, oil, power, etc.
6. Transportation facilities

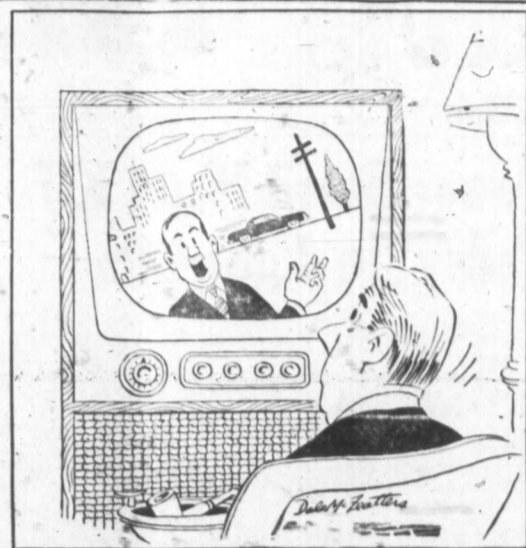

Within the area meeting these needs, the individual communities would be considered in the light of the following qualifications or basic requirements:

1. Availability of good plant sites
2. Experience of industries already located in the community with the utilities (railroads, etc.), and their cooperativeness with these industries
3. Tax situation with respect to local, county, and state taxes
4. Attitude of the townspeople, business leaders, etc., with respect to
- A. Labor and labor organizations
- B. Company policies and practices
- C. Cooperativeness in supplying information relative to plant sites, public utilities, transportation facilities, civic activities, community problems, etc.
5. Ability of personnel to be transferred to the new location to fit into local community life
6. Schools and churches available
7. General tone of state and local politics, and soundness of administration of local government services

Turning Back The Clock--

Jan. 10, 1941

Fulton has steadily grown as a marketing center in recent years, with a large column of business being handled here in livestock, poultry, produce, cream and grain. During the past year more than $5,000,000 have been paid out locally for these products, according to a recent survey made here.

Alton and Harold Riddle have returned to school in Murray after spending the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Riddle.

An area meeting of Boy Scouts of America was held in Paducah, Thursday night, when general officers were elected. Those attending from Fulton were Hendon Wright, Foad Homra, Louis Kasnow, Billie Blackstone and Bertie Pigue.

Mrs. Tom Irby has returned to her home in Shawnee, Oklahoma after several days visit in Fulton.

Miss Kathleen Winters has returned to Murray College after several weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Winters, Fairview Avenue. The Fulton High School basketball team won a double header played in the Cayce gym last Friday night. The Bulldogs beat the Cayce team 27 to 12, with Joe McAlister scoring 16 points.

Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Autrey announce the birth of a daughter, born Tuesday night, Jan. 7, in the Fulton hospital. The baby has been named Esta Beth.

Building activities in and around Fulton during 1940, including the construction of new buildings, improvement and remodeling of others already erected, totaled well over $100,000, according to figures compiled by The News after a survey had been completed.

David Glenn Knighton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Thomas Knighton, Commercial Avenue, being the first baby born in Fulton in the new year, may appropriately be called young "Mr. 1941." He was born at 11:55 p. m., Wednesday, Jan. 1, in the Fulton Hospital and weighed eight pounds.

Thursday we were so glad to see Hal Riddle of Hollywood and his mother, Mrs. F. H. Riddle of Mayfield. They were in town for lunch. Hal has been home for the Christmas holidays and on the 15th he and his parents are leaving on a three-weeks' vacation in Florida.

Hal said when he came back from Florida he would return to Fulton and catch me up on all he's doing since I saw him last. "In our short visit I did learn a few things about what Hal has been doing out in Hollywood. Well, one thing, Hal missed out on being in Pat Boone's latest picture, because of Hal being ill at the wrong time. The former Fulton boy (Hal, I mean, in case you newcomers don't know it, Pat Boone was born in Fulton—so that makes him a former Fulton boy, too!) But, Hal's producer told him not to worry, there would be other pictures coming up.

Hal said he received a card from Jack Lemmon the other day, and he is doing big things. Hal and Jack, now famous, were roommates in New York.

Incidentally, Jack is single and has a big lovely home out in Hollywood.

Hal was telling us that a friend of his we met on Warner Brothers Studio lot back about three years ago—he's a young TV star, but at moment his name escapes me—had divorced his wife. When we were out there, he had just married a famous young starlet. Hal was also telling us of the TV show of another friend of his who married Miss America of 1944. (Best I can remember, Hal was best man in their wedding a few years ago in San Francisco.)

The former Fulton boy has just completed a number of TV shows, and said that he is enjoying his movie and TV work in Hollywood very much.

Also Thursday we ran into Billy Parton and it was very nice seeing him. He and his little daughter were passing through enroute to his Marine base in North Carolina. His wife didn't make the trip as their older child, a son, was in school. Billy said that he would be stationed in North Carolina for at least six months. Up until being sent there he has been working out of Washington, with the State Department, flying all over the country—Paris, London, etc. Billy said that of all the places he had been, he liked Switzerland best.

Had a card from my cousin, Edwin Hamlett, who has been singing over the holidays in Greenland. Writes Edwin:

"... We are in an Air Force C-97, 8,000 feet up—flying over cold barren Labrador wastes.

"We have just come from Sandstrom and Thule, Greenland and Harmon A. F. B., Newfoundland. We really liked Thule. We didn't see the sun for four days—only a faint glow at noon. But it was tremendous. I'll tell you more when I see you."

So sorry to hear that Mr. W. A. Jones is a patient in the I. C. Hospital in New Orleans.

Was so glad to see Jack Stewart the other day. Jack came up for a short visit, while vacationing in Memphis. As you will remember, Jack used to work out at Radio Station WFUL. He's now in Meridian, Miss.

At times there must be confusing in the Gene Gardner home. The reason? Well, the WFUL announcer's wife's name is also Jean. Of course, her name is spelled a little different, but is pronounced the same.

For several days last week Jean held down the office, while I was out collecting. Sure wish she could be around more often. She certainly is a nice person to work with.

It was nice to see Buddy Swift in town.

Speaking of collecting, I really covered the town last week. I think that I called on practically every business place in town. And I thoroughly enjoyed it! We have a mighty fine group of business people here, and instead of collecting being a task, it is quite enjoyable.

It's nice to have Mr. J. O. Lewis back at work at WFUL. He was sorta under the weather over the holidays.

The Rev. H. L. Hardy Jr., of Fulton, missionary to Chile, was the guest speaker at 11 Sunday morning in the First Baptist Church in Union City.

Mr. Hardy, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hardy, Sr. of Second Street, Fulton, was in Chile when the recent severe earthquakes brought millions of dollars in damage and took many lives. He was on hand to help distribute clothing, blankets and food sent to the South American Nation by people of the United States.

Mr. Hardy was graduated from Fulton High and Murray State College and is a past state president of the Baptist Student union in Kentucky.

The missionary is planning to work on his doctorate in theology in the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, beginning in February. "Happy New Year!"... and this year you can write it just the same right side up or upside down.

The last time one could write the year "up-or-down" was 1881 and the next one will be 60009.

We would like to wish Happy Birthday to Miss Linda Cardwell. Linda, who has been in a cast from head to foot, for several months at her home, observed her 15th birthday Monday. Mrs. Elizabeth Shankle, who is forever doing something nice for someone, baked Linda a big, beautiful birthday cake. Monday morning the cake was auctioned off over the Radio Polio auction.

Mrs. Jewell McClain, who underwent surgery at General Hospital in Jackson Friday, is doing fine and will return home this weekend.

The automobile of Sonny Cummins of South Fulton was broken into on a parking lot in Memphis last week and a camera, and two pair of pants were stolen. The burglar must have attempted to steal Sonny's suitcase also, as it was near the car and had been run over by an automobile. A front window in the car was broken out so that the burglar could enter the car.

Sonny had parked the car in Memphis, then went to Drew, Miss. He returned to Memphis for it Saturday morning.

Kentucky Windage

By P. W.

A chamber of commerce official has estimated that "seekers after greener pastures" carry ten to twenty percent of a community's wealth into larger cities—often into other states.

"The sad part of this drainage on the community is that, more often than not, the long-distance shopper spends more than he would at home," he said.

This comment did not refer to extra money spent on travel costs and the value of wasted time. The speaker was talking about the cost of goods purchased.

What is the explanation for the shopping wanderlust which plagues so many communities?

There are several explanations: Some people just want an excuse to go somewhere. Some people think it is smart to say that they went shopping in—or

Some just insist on doing things the hard way.

But most of the wandering shoppers are just ordinary hard-pressed consumers who honestly believe the grass is greener over the hill. The realistic local merchant should try to understand the basis for this latter class of out-of-town shopping. It is a situation in which he shares the blame.

Out-of-town shopping is most often the result of advertising which comes into local community in regional publications.

The local merchant who neglects his advertising should not be surprised when potential customers look to outside firms which do provide essential shopping information.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

Will The Earth Explode?

By Harry L. Golden

WE HEAR that the way to prevent hunger in the world is to prevent people.

This kind of thinking maintains that unless we have a massive, worldwide program of birth control we will soon face starvation; that there will not be enough food in the world to take care of the increase in our population. Such thinking goes contrary to everything learned in philosophy for the past 4,000 years.

Diary of Doin's

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

Ever since the gracious and charming Mrs. John Sherman Cooper visited in Fulton a few years ago, the News has been privileged to receive a weekly letter from the Senator's wife and we enjoy reading it as though it were a personal letter written in her own hand-writing. This week's letter captured our interest as we read of the fabulous events in the lives of the Coopers and envied them some. We thought you would also like to get caught-up in the gay whirl in which the Coopers live so we're publishing her letter this week. It follows:

Washington, D. C.
January 5, 1961

Dear Mrs. Westpheling:

Happy, Happy New Year. We got back to Washington on the 28th and found the house bright with Christmas cards, and the good wishes and holiday greetings from our friends made us very happy.

We spent a very gay week in England before sailing for home on the S. S. America, where we caught up on all the sleep we had lost during the campaign and our travels. London was wonderful just before Christmas. The big sooty city was alight with Christmas trees and sparkle, and a great change from Moscow where Christmas isn't celebrated at all.

John has a good many friends in the English Parliament and they gave a luncheon in his honor at the House of Commons. He was also asked to address a large group of members from every British political party who questioned him about our election and what he had seen in India and the Soviet Union. I was very much amused by a remark made by one of the members who said to me, "I hear you have very fine wine in Kentucky and that a vintage called 'Grand Old Dad' is particularly good."

We went to the opening of Ambassador and Mrs. Whitney's collection of paintings which is at the Tate Gallery until January 29th. Sir John Rothenstein says that the present exhibition affords the British public the privilege of seeing, on the eve of its return to its home in the United States, what is beyond comparison the most splendid collection of impressionist and self-impressionist paintings in these islands in private hands. The collection of these paintings has received the highest acclaim all over Great Britain and it does great credit to the United States to have its Ambassadors have his collection of pictures shown where everyone can enjoy them.

I went to the Senate on opening day to see the senior Senator from Kentucky, who has now been elected four times, sworn in for his first six year term. The galleries were packed as usual with proud wives and children, and there was a burst of applause when newly re-elected Senator Margaret Chase Smith from Maine accompanied newly elected Senator Maurine Neuberger from Oregon to the podium. This is the first time in the history of the Senate that there is a woman Senator in each party.

These days all the entertainment is either a welcome or farewell party. The Women's Press Club gave their annual dinner the night of the opening of Congress to welcome the new Congressional members and everyone was trying to memorize the names and faces of the new Cabinet members and newly elected Senators and Congressmen. Tonight we are going to a dinner that Senators Dirksen and Bridges are giving to say goodbye to President Eisenhower.

I am learning that you cannot have an honor without headaches to balance it. I was so happy when I was elected president of the Republican Congressional Wives Club last May, but having just come from our first meeting this morning, I now realize what a job I have taken on for the next two years. I am burdened with detail, superstitious without wanting to admit it, so you know how I feel that our big opening meeting is to take place on Friday the 13th. Please cross your fingers for me!

FULTON HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By Karen Dublin

On Friday afternoon, the lower-classmen elected the students in their class who were "Best All-Round". The honored students were: Clela Beggs and Butch Sandling, juniors; Pam Homra and Don Burnette, sophomores; and Mary Grant DeMyer and Duane McAllister, freshmen.

More of the pictures for the 1961 Gr-r-rowl will be taken on soon. The senior who's-who pictures will be made, and some really clever ideas will be used. Also, the athletic teams have theirs made, and the lower classmen who's who will be taken.

The Carl Hurst Benefit Game, held Tuesday night, proved to be a big success. A large crowd attended the game and all proceeds went to the game and the concession stand went to Carl Hurst, senior, who was badly injured in the Fulton-Martin football game in September. Carl has just recently returned to school.

Semester exams will start on Tuesday afternoon and last through Thursday. There will be no school on Friday, but teachers will be in the building, grading exams and figuring grades. Six weeks tests were held this week. The KENNEL's second semester ad sales began on Monday and progressed smoothly during the week. Thanks to all the merchants of Fulton who have supported the KENNEL so wholeheartedly!

Tentative plans for the annual KENNEL banquet have been set up. The guest speaker will be Mr. L. H. Edmundson, head of the Journalism Department at Murray State College. The banquet will be held on February 25, at the Park Terrace. Staff members, class officers, and faculty members are the invited guests.

bers are the invited guests.

Also, the annual Citizenship Awards will be presented at the banquet to a Fulton High boy and girl, who are chosen for their leadership, scholarship, and citizenship qualities. They are chosen by a secret committee of KENNEL staff and faculty members, and their names are kept secret until the night of the banquet.

The Bulldogs meet the strong Hickman County Falcons in a very important battle on Friday night. The Falcons took third place in the Paducah Christmas Tourney, and if the Bulldogs can beat them, it would help their regional standing a whole lot.

Some of the students seem to be apprehensive of the game, because it's on Friday the 13th! But the No. 13 has proved to be very successful for the team this year. They beat a strong Benton team on December 13, and then they topped Calloway County by 13 points. And also, last year, the Bulldog football team beat a highly favored Mayfield team 7-6 on Friday the 13th! So maybe 13 is the LUCKY number for Fulton.

ton. Let's hope so!!!

The seniors at FHS are really beginning to think about colleges and higher education now. Many students have already selected their college, and have their applications in. At least five are planning to go to U. K., and several other have chosen Murray State. Others have picked from colleges scattered all over the U. S. A few of the boys are planning to join the service as soon as graduation is over. Nursing and business schools have also been selected by many girls.

This past week, several students were down in the school basement looking at some of the old class pictures. Many well-known Fultons were there, and we had quite a time laughing at the wild hairdos and at the way people had changed over the years! Then we had a very sobering thought—in about ten years, there will probably be some kids looking at OUR pictures and laughing at US!!!

Once again, don't forget the Fulton-Hickman County game Friday night, 7:00, at Carr Gym. Let's show our neighbors to the north, that we really know how to support our Bulldogs!!!

Miss Betty Powell Becomes Bride Of James Britt On December 23

Greenery, gladioli and white burning tapers beautifully arranged about a long low fireplace provided the setting when Miss Betty Ann Powell exchanged wedding vows with James Rogers Britt Dec. 23 at four in the afternoon.

The setting was in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powell of South Fulton. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Owen Britt of Decaturville.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Linda Rogers presented a solo, "I Love You Truly."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in white satin, the street length hemline gradually scalloped in front to reveal Chantilly lace from under the folds of the full skirt. The fitted bodice was designed with a low rounded neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. A waist length veil of bridal illusion was attached to a crown of pearls. Her only jewelry was a tear drop pearl on a gold chain, and white satin shoes completed her attire. She carried a white orchid arranged with white net and white velvet roping.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Linda Morris of Ripley.

Miss Debbie Britt, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Fred Keeton of Decaturville was best man and Michael Powell, brother of the bride served as ring bearer.

A reception, immediately following the ceremony was held in the home, hosted by Mrs. Jamie Wade, Mrs. Hillman Collier and Mrs. Bill Rogers.

our City Hall. I paused briefly to smile at our Mayor... and the policemen (they're nice people to be friends with) and opened the door to the City Clerk's office. I was greeted by the nice "gals" in there, Martha Smith, Shirley Hawks, Ruby Winstead and Sue Byars.

So... after the greetings... I asked for Ruth Johnson... as I wanted to renew my driver's license. And they told me that Ruth had just left... and they suggested that I wait until next Thursday when she came to Fulton again... and I could save a quarter. But I told them I'd rather pay the extra quarter and just have the whole thing over with. And I opened the billfold with the driver's license in such perfect place. Shirley looked at it and said, "Mary Nelle," this is your TEMPORARY license. Where is your permanent license?

Is there need to say anymore? My mind wandered back to that day at the radio station when I was mesmerized (a good word) with neatness, tidiness, et cetera, et cetera. And I'm here shuddering over the fact that I have been driving for the past three weeks WITHOUT a legal driver's license... and visions (not sugar plums) of having to take a driver's test dancing in my head. I DO mean dancing in my head!

Please, Mister Custer, I don't want to go... I'll just get a bicycle and ride up and down the West State Line Road with my little friends, Mary Jo, Carmen, Marianna and Caroline!

This would involve, primarily, developing byproduct uses of tobacco stalks and stems—of considerable interest to the Kentucky burley tobacco industry. Estimated cost of a one-year study of this kind was set at $20,000. This research would be performed under a contract with the Spindletop Research Institute.

5. The Commission recommended allocating $5,000 to finance a pilot sheep-evaluation station at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The 21-member Economic Development Commission was appointed last month by Governor Bert Combs. It replaces separate Department of Economic Development boards for industrial and agricultural development. The new advisory body will assist all of State Government—not just the State development agency—in promoting improvements of the whole economy of Kentucky. Economic Development Commissioner E. B. Kennedy is secretary of the Commission.

The Commission members met at the Old Governor's Mansion where they were luncheon guests of Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Wyatt.

F. C. H. S. CHATTER

By Martha Earl Cox

After a long vacation and a merry Christmas, F. C. H. S. students reported to school Jan. 2 very refreshed and ready to be in work. All students were served cokes and refreshments that were supposed to have been our Christmas treats on dismissal day. The snow on Tuesday caused us to get out one day early.

Tuesday night, Jan. 3, the Pilots played Fancy Farm at home. The Pilots won easily over the Gophers by a score of 79-57.

I can not fail to mention the ride F. C. H. S. has in the Pilots, he bringing home of the Mayfield Christmas Tournament Trophy was the most exciting event of the year. The entire county is glorying in pride in the boys who definitely deserve it for their excellent effort and victory. The boys and cheerleaders were presented miniature golden basketballs inscribed with "Champions of the Mayfield Christmas Tournament 1960." Congratulations Pilots, cheerleaders and Coach Harold Garrison!

The Newspaper Staff had its picture made for the annual Jan. 4. By the way, the annual staff boasts this year's annual as "the best ever." With the assistance of Mr. Franz Miller, our own personal photographer who also teaches at F. C. H. S., it should be an excellent annual.

On Friday night, Jan. 5, the school cafeteria was the scene of a semi-formal dance sponsored by the FHA and FFA. A large crowd attended and everyone thoroughly enjoyed the event. Sponsors were: Mrs. King Davis, Miss Agnes Sublett, Mr. Harold Shaw and Mr. Ralph Bugg. This dance was previously scheduled for Dec. 21, but was postponed because of the bad weather conditions.

This is exam week at F. C. H. S. and everyone is cramming and on his best behavior. You'll hear from me again next week if I along with all the other students and faculty, pull through everything successfully.

VETERANS CORNER

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to questions of interest from former servicemen and their families:

Q—I went on VA's pension roll this year, under the new system effective July 1, 1960, and I understand I will receive an income questionnaire soon, which also will ask about my net worth. Will you explain this term for me, please?

A—Net worth for VA pension purposes is the market value of all the property you own except your home and personal belongings necessary for your day-to-day living, such as your automobile, clothing, household furniture, jewelry and the like—anything necessary for your day-to-day living.

Q—Does the VA have any sort of a Christmas gift certificate arrangement whereby I could give a patient friend the certificate and let him choose a gift himself, up to the value of the certificate?

A—Yes, only the certificates are coupons, sold in books. The Coupon Books are sold for as little as fifty cents, or as much as five dollars, for each book. The patient spends the coupons at his hospital canteen, picking out whatever pleases him. Just write a letter to the Manager of the VA hospital your friend is in. Tell him what you want.

Q—Are there any restrictions on GI insurance that would make the policy invalid if the veteran is engaged in a hazardous occupation?

A—There is no such restriction on GI insurance. The veteran may engage in any occupation, no matter how hazardous, without altering the terms of his policy or the amount of his premium.

Q—I understand that by a new law a World War II veteran now has until July 25, 1962, in which to file an application for a GI loan. Just what steps toward getting a loan have to be taken by that date?

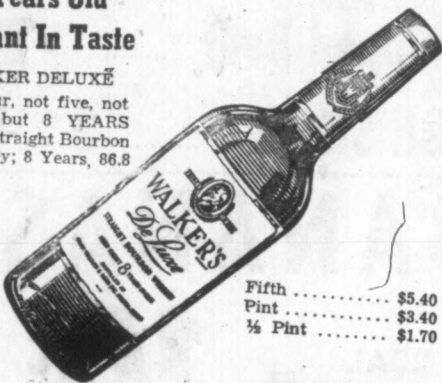

A—By that date, a lender must at least have agreed to make the loan and must have requested VA's approval. The new law places no limitation on the time needed to complete the deal, once your lender has agreed and asked for VA's approval.

Kentuckians no longer pay the surtax on state income taxes.

and I've earned one week's cost of cooking electrically!"

"My wages for the time to check out three well-filled market carts pay for a week's operation of my electric range," says Mrs. Stanley Curtis of 740 Lynne Drive, Lexington, Ky.

"I welcome bargains, and electricity is the biggest bargain I know of. Electric help at home is certainly a blessing, too, after a busy day at the store."

"I'm as keen about electricity as Mom," says daughter, Rosmary, pictured at left with her mother at the electric range. "With Mom working, us kids pitch in, and my job is getting dinner started. And, gee, it's easy and foolproof with our automatic electric range. Cool and clean, too, and I feel safer somehow because it's flameless. When I get married, you can bet I'll keep right on cooking electrically."

Chan Covington Named Betty Crocker H'Maker

The 1961 Betty Crocker Home-maker of Tomorrow for Fulton high school is Chan Covington. Having received the highest score in a written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating seniors in her school, she becomes a candidate for the state Homemaker of Tomorrow award which will be announced in March.

Each school Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive an award pin, manufactured by Jostens and representing the slogan, "Home is Where the Heart Is." The examination papers of school Homemakers of Tomorrow will be entered in competition to name the state's Homemaker of Tomorrow.

The $110,000 homemaking education program sponsored by General Mills offers a $1,500 scholarship to the first ranking girl in each state and $500 scholarship to the state's second ranking participant.

State Homemakers of Tomorrow and their faculty advisors receive an expense-paid educational tour to New York City, Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D. C., April 8-13, the trip culminating in the announcement of the All-American Homemakers of Tomorrow whose scholarship is increased to $5,000. Second, third and fourth ranking Homemakers of Tomorrow in the nation will have their scholarships raised to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively.

The testing and judging is conducted by Science Research Associates of Chicago. With a record 402,786 girls in 12,633 of the nation's schools participating this year, the Betty Crocker Search has enrolled more than two million girls in its seven-year history.

Industrial Directory Is Published

The Kentucky Department of Economic Development this week began the month-long job of preparing and publishing the 1961-62 edition of the Kentucky Industrial Directory, the "Who's Who" in Kentucky manufacturing.

Approximately 4,000 questionnaires are going out to manufacturing plants to secure up-to-date information for inclusion in the new edition.

The book will give company names and addresses, employment figures, products, names of key personnel, and—for the first time—home office addresses and parent-company names where applicable.

The new edition is the seventh Kentucky Industrial Directory to be compiled by the State development agency. Orders for the current 1959-60 directory have come from 37 states and a number of foreign countries.

The new directory is expected to come off the press in September.

Col. Ivey Speaks Of France At Rotary Meeting

Charles Cannon had charge of the program at the regular Rotary Club's luncheon meeting at the Park Terrace Tuesday, and introduced the guest speaker, Col. Hank Ivey of Fort Campbell, son-in-law of Norman Terry of Fulton.

Col. Ivey made a very interesting talk on "France", telling of the French people's customs and of the country's problems. Col. Ivey and his family were stationed in France with the Army for quite some time.

Col. Ivey's talk was very interesting and informative.

There were several visiting Rotarians present and the local Rotarians were issued an invitation by a Paducah member to attend the Inter-City meeting there next Thursday.

As local members will attend the Paducah meeting, there will be no Rotary meeting here next Tuesday.

The speaker at the Paducah meeting will be a refugee from Hungary, who was formerly a high-ranking official in that country.
