MHS Commencement Begins With Baccalaureate Sunday

Commencement activities at Murray High School begin with Baccalaureate services at 8 o'clock Sunday evening at the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Hollis Miller, minister of the University Church of Christ, will deliver the sermon for the 138 graduates, their families and friends. Rev. Chuck Moffett, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, will give the invocation and benediction.

The Mixed Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Joan Bowker will present special music. Ushers for the evening will include: Ginger Gilliam, Lynn Hewitt, Jana Jones, Karen Jones, Donna Knight, Debbie McMillen, Benita Smith and Vickie White.

Commencement will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, May 30, in Holland Stadium weather permitting. Addresses will be given by the Valedictorian Trina Nicks, Salutatorian Maggie Battle, and Superintendent of Schools Fred Schultz. The invocation will be by Kathy Watson, third honor graduate. Susan Hainsworth, fourth honor graduate, will give the benediction.

Special music will be by the Senior Ensemble directed by Mrs. Joan Bowker. Principal Eli Alexander will recognize honor students.

Dr. C. C. Lowry, Chairman of the Murray Board of Education, will present the diplomas. The Murray High Band, under the direction of Mr. Joe Sills, will play for the processional and recessional. Ushers for the event will be Eli Alexander, Johnny Cannon, David Gore, Stan Hainsworth, David Lyons, Phil Miller, Tim Philpot and Lee Stewart.

Sen. Cook Virtually Assured Of Spot On Ballot In Primary

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Sen. Marlow Cook is virtually assured he will stay on the ballot for Tuesday's primary election, with the court of appeals to decide later whether he was a valid candidate for re-election.

Secretary of State Thelma Stovall's legal fight against his candidacy progressed another step in the high court Tuesday but there apparently is no way it can take up the case before election day.

Cook is all but certain to be an easy winner then over two unsuccessful perennial candidates—William Klein of Louisville and Thurman Jerome Hamlin of London.

Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs ordered Cook's name on the ballot last month after Mrs. Stovall, a Democrat, had refused to certify him because he was two days late in naming his campaign treasurer. Mrs. Stovall had acted upon the advice of Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock, also a Democrat, and went to the court of appeals when Meigs ruled against her.

Gov. Wendell Ford is the major Democratic candidate for Cook's Senate seat and should be an easy winner over Harvey Brazin, a political newcomer from Frankfort.

The high court approved Tuesday a motion by Mrs. Stovall's attorney, Joseph Leary, to allow the case to be heard on the original circuit court record, which then was ordered to be sent up to it.

It also approved Leary's motion to consolidate Cook's case with that of Lyle Willis, a Democratic candidate for Congress for the staunchly Republican 5th District. The GOP incumbent there is Rep. Tim Lee Carter of Tompkinsville.

Willis had designated himself as his campaign treasurer in a letter which Mrs. Stovall received on the April 3 deadline but did not so on the form prescribed by law until two days later. Hancock advised Mrs. Stovall that Willis' filing was invalid but Meigs subsequently held that he, like Cook, had substantially complied with the filing law and should be on the ballot.

Miss Hearst And Comrades Face Additional Federal Charges Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Patricia Hearst and two comrades faced additional charges today stemming from two alleged kidnappings as hundreds of police searched for the three believed to be the remnants of the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Heavily armed police swarmed into the Los Angeles suburb of Van Nuys and into a neighborhood in Sacramento Tuesday night in response to reports claiming to have seen Miss Hearst and two SLA members, William and Emily Harris.

Neither report checked out. But FBI agent Charles Bates, in charge of this case since Miss Hearst was kidnapped 3½ months ago, said early today a tip will check out sooner or later. He appealed to the three surrender to avoid more bloodshed.

A youth who said Miss Hearst and the Harrises kidnapped him last week was quoted by the Los Angeles Times today as saying the 20-year-old newspaper heiress told him she joined the SLA of her own free will.

Tom Dean Matthews, 18, reportedly said Miss Hearst told him she had nothing to do with her kidnapping, but decided to join forces with her abductors because of dissatisfaction with her father's sponsoring of a $2 million food giveaway that was lift a pair of 49-cent socks last Thursday. That episode, in which police allege Miss Hearst sprayed the store with automatic rifle fire, started police on an intensive manhunt in Los Angeles. Friday, six SLA members died in a fiery shootout.

A spokesman for Catherine and Randolph Hearst said the parents feel "it's going to end soon, that it's going to be resolved imminently."

Council Scheduled To Hear Cycle Ordinance

The first reading of an ordinance designed to control the operation of motorcycles within the City of Murray is scheduled to take place at the meeting of the Murray Common Council Thursday night.

Also at the meeting, which will be held at 5 p.m. rather than the normal starting time of 7 p.m., the council will hear the first reading of an ordinance designed to raise water and sewer rates of the Murray Water and Sewer System.

The council is scheduled to open bids on two refuse vehicles for the sanitation system; discuss an amendment to the dog ordinance and be presented with the contract for the joint operation of the new tennis courts to be constructed at Murray High School.

Also on the agenda will be two resolutions, one dealing with the recently announced airport expansion and one on former councilman Paul Mansfield.

Permission will be asked to send two firemen to a fire fighting school.

CALLOWAY COUNTY High School elected new officers for the Student Council for the year 1974-75. They are, left to right, Randy Herndon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Herndon, reporter, Peggy Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rogers, treasurer, Sandra Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Duncan, secretary, Vicky Butterworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Butterworth, vice-president, and Bob Hargrove, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hargrove, president. Outgoing officers are Tim Belcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Belcher, president, Quentin Fannin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Fannin, vice-president, Lynn Erwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buren Erwin, secretary, Vicky Butterworth, treasurer, and Cindy Mills, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Mills, reporter. The new officers will be installed on May 28 at the Awards Ceremony in the school gym. The new officers are standing in front of the new trophy case in the school lobby, a project of this year's Student Council with the assistance of the student body and other clubs.

Nixon Offers One Edited Transcript In Response To Request For 66 More Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Nixon today offered the House Judiciary Committee one edited transcript in response to its request for 66 tapes dealing with the dairy industry and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Nixon's lawyer, James D. St. Clair, said the President feels he has already given the committee everything else it needs for that phase of its impeachment inquiry.

St. Clair also said Nixon would respond later today to a subpoena for 11 Watergate tapes he has been ordered to deliver. There was no indication he would comply with the subpoena, which set a deadline of 10 a.m. today for compliance.

St. Clair said many of the 66 conversations sought by the committee in connection with the ITT and dairy industry matters were not recorded and that others were not pertinent to the committee's inquiry.

All that will be supplied, he said, is a partial transcript of an April 4, 1972, conversation between Nixon, former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and former White House aide H. R. Haldeman. Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. told reporters Tuesday that a significant portion of a March 17, 1973, White House transcript may be missing.

Rodino said the tape recording representing that transcript apparently includes a discussion by Nixon of the possibility of White House involvement in the Watergate cover-up. Nixon has said he first learned of the cover-up on March 21, 1973.

Rodino said the committee had been given a tape by the Watergate grand jury that records a conversation between Nixon and Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler on June 4, 1973, after Nixon had spent several hours listening to tapes of other meetings.

Rodino said one of the meetings they discussed was on March 17, between Nixon and then-White House counsel John W. Dean III. According to Rodino, it included "a discussion of the Watergate matter and the possible involvement of White House personnel and others."

Anniversary Opens Dr. Hardy To Deliver Sermon At 1st Baptist

Dr. Hubert L. Hardy, Jr., associate director of missionary orientation at Callaway Gardens, Pine Mountain, Ga., and a former missionary to Chile, will deliver the sermon tomorrow night as the First Baptist Church opens three days of special services in observance of its 128th anniversary.

Also participating in the opening service, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m., will be Dr. H. C. Chiles, who served as pastor of the 1,850-member congregation for 22 years until his retirement in 1970.

Also taking part will be Rev. Harry F. Hampsher, the church's first full-time minister of music, who will present a solo.

Friday night, Dr. J. D. Grey, pastor emeritus of the First Baptist Church, New Orleans, La., and twice president of the Southern Baptist Convention, will deliver the sermon. A native of Princeton, Dr. Grey was raised in Paducah.

Sunday's morning worship service, with Dr. Baker J. Cauthen, executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board in Richmond, Va., delivering the sermon, will climax the observance. This service will be followed by an "old-fashioned dinner on the grounds" at the church.

Dr. Hardy, the opening speaker, is a native of Fulton and holds a bachelor of science degree from Murray State University. He also received the bachelor of divinity and master of religious education degrees from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort (See Baptist, Page 12)

Dick Refutes Charge Made By Candidate

A Bank of Murray official has refuted a charge by Congressional Candidate Carroll Hubbard that a postage meter owned by the bank was misused by incumbent Congressman Frank A. Stubblefield for mass-mailing purposes.

Joe Dick, president of the bank, said this morning that campaign workers for Stubblefield did run letters through a postage meter machine owned by the bank, but that the Stubblefield committee was charged the actual cost of the postage.

"This is a service which the bank provides," Dick said, "and we would be happy to provide it for anyone, including Sen. Hubbard." Dick emphasized that the charges made to individuals or companies using the postage meter are exactly what it costs the bank; the bank does not make any money, nor does it lose any.

Dick compared the service to another of the bank, that of making copies for individuals or companies. "If an individual wants one or two copies made of a document or paper, we usually don't charge for it. But if he wants 30 or 40 copies, then we charge exactly what it costs the bank for the materials."

The bank official said the meter had been used in the past by other agencies wanting to make mass mailings, including the Dale Carnegie Foundation and Purdom and Thurman Insurance Agency. These companies were also charged for the service, but only to the extent of what it actually cost the bank.

Dick added that none of the bank's staff had participated in the Stubblefield campaign mailing work on company time. "They had a volunteer staff, and none of our staff helped," he noted. The bank president said both the postage meter and the copy machine are available to any individual or company for use and it is strictly a matter of convenience provided by the bank.

Although Dick would not reveal the amount of the postage bill which he presented to the Stubblefield committee, Mrs. Marty Hardin, aide to Stubblefield, said yesterday that the campaign headquarters had received a bill from the bank Tuesday morning for the use of the postage meter totalling $3,670.48.

Dick repeatedly emphasized that the bank neither loses nor makes money off the postage meter or copy machine. "It is just a convenience we provide (See Dick, Page 12)

Health Clinic Planned At Douglass Center

The Calloway County Health Department will have a Health Clinic at the Douglas Community Center on Wednesday, May 29, from 8:30 to 12:00 A.M.

HOT WEATHER—We forget so quickly, but the hot days of summer are still here, even though today's rain has erased the memory of earlier this week. Mrs. Pam Cartwright's class was forced out of the building by the hot weather yesterday, as their studies continued on the front lawn of the school.

Starks And Craig Vows Read

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig

Miss Dorinda Starks became the bride of Charles Craig in a spring wedding with the beautiful impressive candlelight ceremony being performed at the bride's home near Almo with Bro. John Dale officiating.

The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. Clara Starks and the late Charles D. Starks of Almo. Mr. Craig's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Craig of Puryear, Tenn.

The wedding vows were exchanged before a fifteen tiered floor candelabrum intertwined with pink carnations, baby's breath, and plumosa fern. Other decorations were arrangements pink snapdragons, carnations, and baby's breath. The mantle was decorated in harmony with the other wedding decor.

Randall Starks, brother of the bride, and Ken Craig, brother of the groom, lighted the candles preceding the ceremony.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Mauritta Rickman, pianist. Selections include "Close To You," "Bridal Chorus," and "The Wedding March."

Bride's Dress
The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Gene Starks, wore a white re-embroidered silk organza floor length gown accented with Venice pink lace. The fitted bodice featured a scoop neck and wide pink organza waist. The long fitted sleeves ended with wide pink cuffs, tiny satin covered buttons, complimented with a sheer organza ruffle and pink Venice lace. The demi-bell skirt was enhanced with a sheer organza pleated hemline.

Her headpiece was a white ripple brim picture hat of Swedish straw with pink satin ribbon accented on either side with apple blossoms. She carried a sweetheart cascade of pink roses and white starburst carnations sprinkled with baby's breath. Her only jewelry was a diamond pendant, gift of the groom.

Miss Vickie Bailey was the maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. She wore a floor length dress accented with orchid flowers and carried a nosegay of orchid daisies.

Wayne Holsapple was the best man for Mr. Craig.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Starks wore a street length dress of blue knit. Mrs. Craig, mother of the groom, wore a pink knit dress. Both mothers wore corsages of white orchids.

Mrs. Bion Poyner, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a grey knit dress, and Mrs. Raymond Starks, paternal grandmother of the bride, was attired in a blue and white ensemble. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

Reception
Following the ceremony the reception was held in the home.

The bridal table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink snapdragons, carnations, and baby's breath. Flanking the centerpiece were pink candles in silver candelabra.

The wedding cake featured a petal base of three layered cakes accented with pink roses and green leaves. The top layer was separated by white swans and filigree columns, accented by tiny pink roses, miniature white doves, and topped with the traditional bride and groom statuette.

Crystal and silver appointments were used to serve the pink punch, pink and white mints, nuts, and the wedding cake.

Serving the guests were Alice Craig, sister of the groom, Rose Starks and Bobbie Elkins, aunts of the bride. They wore corsages of carnations.

Rice bags of pink net and tied with pink satin ribbons were distributed to the guests and showered upon the couple as they left for a short unannounced wedding trip with the bride wearing a three piece pant suit of beige linen and the corsage worn by her mother at the wedding.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Craig are now at home in their new mobile home near Puryear, Tenn.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I was quite amused at the letter in your column from the secretary who objected to doing personal jobs for her boss and his family.

She should have MY boss. I've been with him for 16 years. I get along fine with him, his wife, their five children — three of whom are now married. He feels (and I heartily agree) that I hired out to work eight hours a day, so if he wants me to do something other than straight secretarial work, I should do it.

I have vacuumed his office, met planes, trains and buses, shopped for gifts for his wife, children and grandchildren, typed essays and term papers for his high school and college children, and have even scouted for information for his wife when she was involved with the Junior League. I've gone to his home for dictation, have worked evenings, weekends and holidays, and have never felt that any of these duties were beneath my dignity as a secretary. Oh, we've had our differences, but I've never refused to do anything he's asked me to do, and he's never asked me to do anything immoral or illegal. I love my job, he's a wonderful boss, and the pay is exceptional.

HAPPY IN DALLAS

DEAR HAPPY: I'm glad the pay is exceptional because you certainly are.

DEAR ABBY: This is to thank you for publishing that hilarious column in which you included all those formal divorce announcements. I laughed until my sides ached.

When our daughter was divorced two years ago, my husband and I went through all the agonies other parents endure when their married children divorce. ["Isn't there some way we can keep them together? The whole town is talking. What will we tell people?"]

Found: A real life 'Our Girl Friday'

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

Now we realize it wasn't all that tragic. Our daughter is soon to marry another man, and this one is a prince.

I just had to tell you that I got a wonderful laugh out of that column. I'm only sorry we didn't know such announcements were available two years ago. We'd have sent some.

N. Y. POST READER

DEAR READER: Thanks, I needed that. Not everyone saw the humor in that column, and to those who did not, I apologize. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: Recently you published some formal divorce announcements:

"Mr. and Mrs. John Jones take pleasure in announcing the divorce of their daughter Alice from that slob she married in 1963, etc."

Was that supposed to be funny? Perhaps I failed to see the humor of it because I am going through a heartbreaking divorce right now.

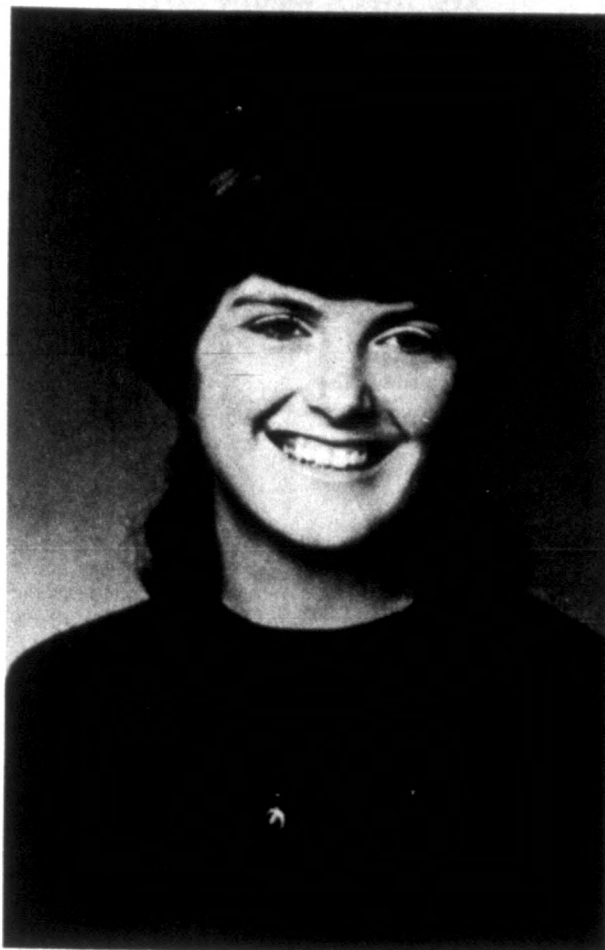

Only last week I was in court when my husband walked in. I had all I could do to keep from going over to straighten his tie, and tell him he should have worn his pale blue shirt with that suit. We had been married for 26 years. I've lived more years with him than without him and this divorce still seems so unreal to me. [He asked for it. He has somebody else.]

Anyway, I fail to see anything funny about divorce. At the bottom of your column it says, "You'll feel better if you get it off your chest." Well, I did, and I do. Thanks for listening.

June Wedding Planned

Miss Loretta Jo Burkeen

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Burkeen of Murray Route Three announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Loretta Jo, to Rodney Keith Burkeen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ronald Burkeen of Dexter Route One.

The bride-elect is a member of the 1974 graduating class of Calloway County High School where she is a member of the FBLA and the Pep Club. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burkeen of Dexter Route One and Mr. and Mrs. Terrell Roberts of Murray Route Six.

Mr. Burkeen, a 1973 graduate of Calloway County High School, is employed at Air Products and Chemicals, Inc., Calvert City. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Rufe Burkeen, Sr., of Dexter Route One and the late Mr. and Mrs. Howard York of Benton.

The wedding is planned for Friday, June 14.

North Murray Club Has Regular Meet At Robertson Home

The North Murray Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Charlie Robertson on North 17th Street on Friday, May 10, at 1:30 p. m. with president, Mrs. John Workman, presiding.

Mrs. Angie Gibbs gave the devotion selecting Psalms 100:1-5 for her scripture reading. In her comments she used the thought, "All That I Am Or Hope To Be I Owe To My Angel Mother."

The roll call was answered by nine members and two visitors with a trait you think most becoming to a mother. Visitors were Mrs. Barletta Wrather and Mrs. Leon Harp, Jr.

During the business session there were nominations for new officers and the president, Mrs. Edgar Morris, was elected. The group voted to make a contribution to the under privileged children's camp.

The program on "Tour Kentucky" was very interesting and was presented by Mrs. Greene Wilson and Mrs. Bailey Riggins. They said that the Land Between the Lakes is a national park and also named many other points of interest where family campgrounds with nominal fees are available. Due to the energy shortage they suggested those who are planning a vacation to plan an extensive tour of Kentucky.

The recreation of a Bible quiz was conducted by Mrs. Esco Gunter. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Harp. No definite place was named for the June meeting but a picnic was suggested.

Burton And Beane Vows To Be Read

The wedding of Miss Teresa Burton and Loyd Michael Beane will be solemnized on Friday, May 25, at seven p.m. at the Seventh and Poplar Church of Christ.

All relatives and friends are invited to attend.

The bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ozie Burton of Nashville, Tenn., is employed as a bookkeeper at Cain-Sloan, Nashville.

Mr. Beane, son of Mrs. Loyd (Waeda) Beane of Murray and the late Loyd Beane, is a graduate of Murray High School and is employed at Riviera Courts, Murray.

Woman's World

Mrs. Bobby Locke Leader At Program Of Coldwater Women

The United Methodist Women of Coldwater Church met at the church Monday, May 6, at 7:30 p. m. for regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. Gary Haneline, president, presided at the meeting with Mrs. Bobby Locke in charge of the program. The opening prayer was by Mrs. Sherwood Potts.

The scripture reading from Deuteronomy 6:1-9 was by Mrs. Bula Wilson.

"Does The Family Have A Future" was the theme of the lesson. Topics for discussion were: "The Home" by Mrs. Bobby Locke and Mrs. Evelyn Kinsey; "How Wealthy Are You" by Mrs. Sherwood Potts and Mrs. Roy Clark.

The closing prayer was by Mrs. Glen Puckett.

Refreshments of brownies and Cokes were served by the hostess, Mrs. Bobby Locke, to twelve members and two visitors.

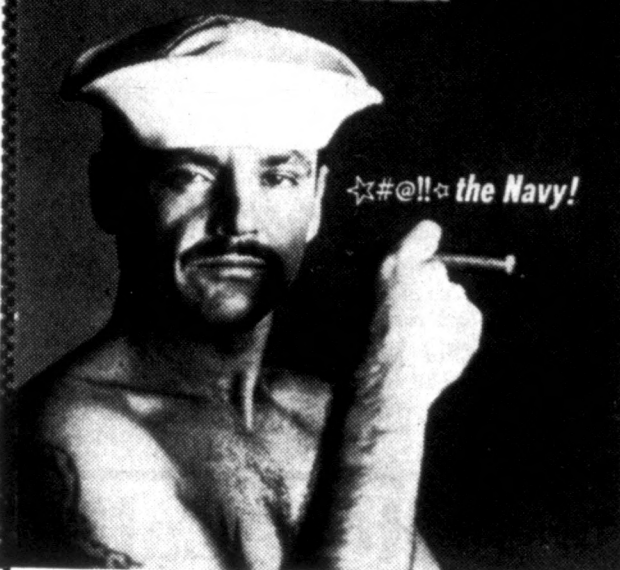

The next meeting will be held June 3 at 7:30 p. m. at the church. Mrs. Jimmy Wilson will be in charge of the program.

Water Rate Hike Necessary

Anytime consumer prices go up, the consumer has a right to scream and we will support the consumer anytime that we feel that prices are being raised unjustly.

This is not the case, however, with the proposed new rates for customers of the Murray Water & Sewer System. The residents of the city of Murray, as well as many outside the city, who are served by the Murray Water & Sewer System are being served by perhaps the best such system in the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Under the able guidance of superintendent John Trotter, the Murray system has taken advantage of every new development in water and sewerage treatment and has expanded the plant to enormous capacities.

The higher rates for water and sewer service are mandatory so that the system can continue to operate at its present high level, without additional revenue, the operation of the Murray Water and Sewer System will be losing money before the end of this year.

The system, which is municipally owned, is not designed to make a profit, but it must generate enough revenue to continue operations and to have enough capital available for expansion and repairs.

Our water system, like everything else, has been caught in the squeeze of constantly rising prices for many months. We think the officials of the system and the city have done an admirable job just keeping our rates as low as possible and in not being forced to raise the water rates since 1970.

We urge every customer of the Murray Water and Sewer System to consider the possibility of inadequately treated water and sewerage, interruptions in service due to pipes being in a state of disrepair and other disadvantages of allowing our water system to operate on a sub-marginal budget. Once considered, we believe everyone will agree that the water rate increase is necessary.

Roll Call Report

WASHINGTON—Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes May 9 through May 15.

HOUSE

PRODUCTIVITY COMMISSION—Passed, 238 for and 139 against, a bill (S.1752) to spend $2.5 million in fiscal 1975 for the Presidential Commission on Productivity and Work Quality, and thus keep it alive.

The purpose of the commission is to increase productivity in the American economy by cutting down on waste or by promoting automation. In the past, the commission has, for instance, demonstrated better ways for loading perishable vegetables and fruits into refrigerated train cars.

Supporters argued that increasing productivity helps America compete with foreign manufacturers and is a key to halting inflation. Rep. John Rousselot (R-Calif.) said, "Productivity is the mainspring of economic stability, growth and prosperity."

Opponents argued that the commission duplicates the work of existing agencies. Rep. Henry Gonzalez (D-Texas) said the productivity commission is, therefore, "Unproductive." Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) called the bill "a piece of legislative trash."

Reps. William Natcher (D-2) and Carl Perkins (D-7) voted "yea."

Reps. Romano Mazzoli (D-3) and Gene Snyder (R-4) voted "nay."

Reps. Frank Stubblefield (D-1), Tim Clee Carter (R-5) and John Breckinridge (D-6) did not vote.

EGG PRODUCTION—Passed, 238 for and 151 against, an amendment to force egg producers to pay the total cost of a proposed federal program to help them sell eggs.

The amendment was attached to a bill (H.R. 12000) to let the Department of Agriculture advise egg producers on improved production methods and better advertising techniques.

As a result of the amendment, the program will be financed only by a voluntary five-cents per case (30 dozen eggs) tax on large producers.

The amendment changed language that would have permitted the Department of Agriculture to pay up to $100,000 annually in administrative costs.

Supporters argued that a government subsidy is not needed because the per-case tax is expected to yield $7.5 million annually for the program.

Opponents argued that declining sales—since 1964 per capita consumption has dropped about 20 per cent—require the federal government to help egg producers as much as possible. Other opponents said egg producers should get subsidies similar to those given cotton and grain growers.

Snyder and Perkins voted "yea."

Natcher, Mazzoli and Breckinridge voted "nay."

Stubblefield and Carter did not vote.

SENATE

60 MPH SPEED LIMIT—Rejected, 29 for and 52 against, an amendment to let states raise their speed limits to 60 miles-per-hour. Since Jan. 2, states have been subject to the federally-established 55 m.p.h. speed limit.

In rejecting the amendment, the Senate voted to continue the lower limit. The amendment was offered to S. 3267, an energy bill.

Supporters argued that states should be permitted to adjust speed limits to local terrain, and said that 55 m.p.h. is too slow for long-distance travel in western states. Sen. Robert Dole (R-Kansas) said that "55 m.p.h. is an unreasonably and frustratingly low speed to travel." He also said the low limit hurts the trucking industry.

In opposing the higher limit, Sen. Robert Stafford (R-Vermont) said, "The higher speeds require more energy. The higher speeds will kill more people." Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-West Virginia) cautioned against forgetting "that the fuel shortage was not a mid-winter hallucination, but rather a permanent fact of life."

Sens. Marlow Cook (R) and Walter Huddleston (D) voted "yea."

SCHOOL AID—Passed, 56 for and 36 against, an amendment to give rural and suburban areas more Title I education aid in fiscal 1975 than they received in 1974, and urban areas less.

The amendment was offered to S. 1539, the elementary and secondary education bill.

Title I funds go to school districts with high populations of students from poor families.

Here's the list of states that will lose money under the new formula, if it becomes law:

Alaska, California, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Utah, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

The amendment adopted a formula that the House already had passed.

In general, senators voting for the amendment were those whose states would get more aid, and senators voting against were those whose states would lose money.

Cook and Huddleston voted "yea."

BUSING—Tabled, 47 for and 46 against, an amendment to prohibit long-distance busing of students to achieve racial balance in the schools.

The amendment was offered to the elementary and secondary education bill. It also would have permitted schools to go to court to overturn certain existing busing plans.

The amendment would have prohibited busing students farther than the school next-closest to their neighborhood school, and would have outlawed busing across school districts were drawn for racial reasons.

In voting to table the amendment, the Senate in effect killed it.

Supporters of the move to table argued that the country has enough problems without getting further hung up on the issue of busing. They said busing is effective in breaking down social barriers, and for providing equal education.

Those voting against the move to table argued that busing fires racial tensions, instead of calming them. Sen. Edward Gurney (R-Florida) said there is "no consistent evidence of educational improvement as a result of busing."

Cook and Huddleston voted "nay."

PARENTAL CONSENT—Rejected, 40 for and 43 against, an amendment to require parental consent before schools can force students to undergo certain "psychological" tests or participate in "innovative" programs.

The amendment was offered to the elementary and secondary education bill.

Those voting for argued that control over what students learn should be left to their parents, not the schools. Sen. James Buckley (C-New York) argued that parents have "the right to be informed about out-of-the-ordinary federally funded programs in which their children might participate."

Those voting against argued that school programs and school-administered tests are matters of state and local policy, not open to federal regulation. Sen. Alan Cranston (D-Calif.) said the amendment "would thwart a state's compulsory-attendance laws," and might interject the federal government into "issues of academic and personal freedom that should be left in local and state hands."

Huddleston voted "yea" and Cook did not vote.

Letter To Editor

A Letter To Hubbard

An open letter to Senator Carroll Hubbard Mayfield, Kentucky

Sir:

In your attempt to win the democratic nomination of the First Congressional seat of Kentucky, now held by Mr. Frank A. Stubblefield, who seeks reelection, you accuse Mr. Stubblefield of certain indiscretions, specifically, in the complaint delivered to the office of the clerk of the U. S. House of Representatives, you accuse him of abusing his Congressional franking privileges.

SENATOR, YOUR COMPLAINT WAS WRITTEN ON COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY LETTERHEADS!

This act on your part reminds me of a statement made nearly 2000 years ago and I quote: "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her."

I am sure that if you will contact the right person he will explain to you the meaning of the above quotation.

Very truly yours,
BUEL E. STALLS

House Kills Energy Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has rejected and probably killed standby emergency energy legislation that would have given President Nixon gasoline rationing powers in the event of a renewed crisis.

The action coincided Tuesday with a warning by the Federal Power Commission that "even a slight disruption of fuel supply could produce power shortage" this summer. The American Automobile Association reported that there appeared to be no serious gasoline supply problems and that pump prices are holding steady.

In New York, the head of a petroleum industry research group said high prices for oil have reduced demand and the world is moving rapidly toward an oil surplus.

John H. Lichtblau, executive director of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation, Inc., said "...I would say if present price levels remain in force the surplus could be with us for some time, even if Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Libya maintain existing production limits."

The 27 to 191 House vote against the standby measure centered on a provision designed to roll back domestic crude oil prices to pre-embargo levels. A similar rollback provision had triggered the President's veto of the original energy bill, and the White House had made it clear Nixon would veto the standby measure as well.

The standby bill also provided for expanded unemployment benefits to cover workers left jobless by fuel shortages. Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., the third-ranking House Republican, estimated the additional benefits would cost up to $4.6 billion a year.

The FPC report estimated that the nation's electrical generating capacity now has a reserve, or safety margin, of nearly 20 per cent to cope with fluctuations of peak demand this summer—a margin usually considered adequate and greatly improved over recent years.

However, the FPC staff said the nation's fuel supply is tight and provides little margin to cope with shortages. With fuel oil allocated by the Federal Energy Administration, "there is little slack in the supply system," the report said.

Unexpected breakdowns of generators or cuts in natural gas supply could alter the projected fuel distribution patterns, it said, adding, "it may then be impossible to transfer oil stocks or provide additional fuel oil as rapidly as needed."

The AAA said its nationwide spot check of more than 5,000 service stations found less than 1 per cent of the stations were out of fuel when contacted and only 3 per cent were limiting customer purchases. The AAA found the average price of gasoline still at 55 cents for regular and 59 cents for premium.

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

DON'T DESPAIR OVER IMPEACHMENT

Having just returned from a weekend in Kentucky, I found many people who were discouraged and upset about the current Watergate/impeachment crisis in Washington. While I am fully cognizant of the severity of the leadership crisis and the impeachment proceedings now under way in the House of Representatives, I would urge the American people and Kentuckians not to despair over the current situation.

In my judgment, if the Constitutional mandates are carried out in an open and responsible way, we will emerge as a stronger nation and a greater people after this travail in Washington has passed.

It will have a cleansing effect on our government and political processes. Already it has demonstrated what is not acceptable — the wrong way to use power granted by the people and the wrong way to seek public support in an election campaign.

I do not know what the President's response will be to the increasing clamor for him to leave office — much of it from his own party and previous supporters. That is his decision to make.

But I am greatly concerned that any impeachment proceedings be conducted in a manner that will justify the confidence of the American people — that they can be assured that the proceedings are fair, responsible, and judicious. For them to be otherwise would be devastating to the faith we hold in the democratic system. If impeachment occurs, it will be a traumatic time for us in the Congress and for the citizens of the Country as well.

Therefore, it is absolutely essential that the public know and believe that the proceedings have been conducted judiciously and fairly.

It will be a time of testing — but we've endured before and will again. Problems and crises do pass — and while there will be others that cannot now be contemplated, a free, well-informed, properly motivated citizenry will prevail.

Our current problems should also re-emphasize to us the fact that our great democratic heritage is a living thing — requiring continuing vigilance on the part of the people. Freedom, human dignity and equality for all has been hard to come by, and just as hard to maintain.

Judiciary Committee Reaffirms Authority Of Jaworski Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee has reaffirmed the authority of Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski to pursue White House tapes through the courts.

And the White House said Tuesday that President Nixon is not considering firing Jaworski, a fate that befell his predecessor Archibald Cox in an earlier controversy over tapes.

On Monday Jaworski complained to the Judiciary Committee that, "The President, through his counsel, is challenging my right to bring action against him to obtain evidence, or differently stated, he contends that I cannot take the President to court."

Presidential attorney James D. St. Clair had argued that since Jaworski is employed by the executive branch he can sue the President only if the President so wishes, Jaworski said Monday.

The committee's resolution said the prosecutor "is acting within the scope of the authority conferred upon him by the agreement of the President and the Department of Justice and the Senate Judiciary Committee ... in seeking to obtain from the President tape recordings he believes relevant to prove or disprove allegations of information for indictments awaiting trials in the courts."

That agreement was made after the firing of Cox last October. Cox was engaged in a battle with the White House over tapes and Nixon eventually turned them over.

Now, Jaworski is seeking to enforce a subpoena for 64 additional White House tapes. U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica has ordered the White House to surrender the tapes to him.

After the Judiciary Committee meeting, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., called the vote

"an effort to say, 'Mr. President, back off, live up to the promise you made ...'"

"We've had two special prosecutors appointed. We've had promises of independence given in each case," Bayh said and added:

"We've had one special prosecutor fired and we've had two promises of independence violated."

Several senators said that if Jaworski is fired steps would be taken to resurrect a Senate bill creating a special prosecutor independent from the executive branch.

At the White House, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren agreed to be quoted as saying a Jaworski firing was not under consideration. Earlier in the news briefing he had turned aside similar questions.

Meanwhile, the House Judiciary Committee, continuing its impeachment inquiry, heard the tape of the key March 21, 1973, talk between Nixon and then-White House counsel John W. Dean III.

Some committee Democrats said the tape, continuing discussion of payments to keep Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt Jr., quiet, is the most damaging evidence they have heard against Nixon.

in other Watergate developments:

—U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard Gesell said he might sign a subpoena to give former Nixon aides access to their private files still at the White House. Gesell commented during hearings on motions by defendants in the break-in of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office.

—The Senate gave its Watergate committee another month, until June 30, to complete its investigation.

—The Senate committee

plans to consider granting immunity from prosecution for Texas lawyer Jake Jacobsen to see what he has to say about alleged bribe money for John B. Connally, informed sources said.

Over-The-Hill Gang Asking For Back Pay

CHICAGO (AP) — An over-the-hill gang of former Chicago policemen is out to get $3 million in back wages from the city. But there doesn't appear to be much hope.

"Our bunch numbers about 1,500 and we think the city owes us about $3 million it took out of our pay checks in the Great Depression years of the 1930s," said Abner Bender, ringleader of the over-70 group.

"If we are going to get the money it had better be soon — a lot of us won't be around much longer," he said. "Maybe we should be called the under-the-gun gang."

Bender, 74, was on the Chicago police force from 1922 until retiring in 1950. His group has hired attorney John Cusack Jr. to push its case. 3

"Back in the Depression the city simply didn't appropriate the money to meet the full paychecks, it didn't have the money to give," Cusack said. "There isn't too much hope of getting it now, but we are researching the entire legal question."

"Almost every payday the city would withhold $10, $15 or even $20 from our paychecks," Bender said. "They said we would get our money back later, but we never did. In those days patrolmen got $99.21 every two weeks. We didn't quit and get another job because there weren't any."

He figures those still alive — including widows — are entitled to about $2,150 each.

Henry Weber, Chicago corporation counsel, shudders at legal problems involved.

"For instance, the heirs of dead policemen might sue the city for money," he said. "They could contend Chicago was discriminating against men who had died before it decided to pay."

Volunteer Works Four Years Without Pay At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost every weekday for four years, Rae Zeeman has worked without pay at the White House, addressing envelopes, answering the telephone and clipping newspapers.

Mrs. Zeeman is a White House volunteer, one of 250 women who regularly give up a day or two a week to work for President Nixon. Volunteering every day, as Mrs. Zeeman does, is the exception. On an average day, she has 12 to 15 assistants.

Despite the President's Watergate troubles, Mrs. Zeeman says her loyalty hasn't wavered.

"I believe in him," she said.

Michael C. Smith Gets Promotion

Protective Life Insurance Co. has announced the promotion of Michael C. Smith of Murray to District Supervisor.

Smith, an associate with the Terry C. Conn agency in Sikeston, Mo., has been with Protective Life for one year and has offices in the White House Building 711 Main Street in Murray.

He is a 1974 graduate of Murray State University with a B.S. degree in business management. He is married to the former Janelle Ann Hutchings and the couple has one daughter, Rachel Elizabeth.

Smith is a member of Mitchell Lodge No. 85, F & AM of Pinckneyville, Ill., and also a member of Scottish Rite Bodies, Valley of Southern Illinois.

"I've read the transcripts, and I fully believe he's done nothing impeachable. A few things he didn't speak of soon enough.... But I'm just as much for him now as I was in the 1948 (Senate) campaign and when he ran with Eisenhower in 1952."

Mrs. Warren Cannon of Bethesda, Md., said she often works two days a week at the White House "because I'm a registered Republican, and I like President Nixon and his policies. I wouldn't miss a day coming in."

It's hardly the glamorous offices that attract volunteers, mostly housewives from the Washington area. Many of them work in a cramped, windowless office in the attic of the Executive Office Building, next door to the White House.

The woman in charge of the volunteers is Enne Higgins, a 34-year-old New Yorker who said she has worked for Nixon since taking a secretarial job with his New York law firm nine years ago.

"No matter what the attitude of people calling, it's important to me that there be someone responsive here to listen," she said.

Mrs. Higgins, who says her husband converted her from being a registered Democrat to a Republican after she supported President John F. Kennedy, said the volume of letters and phone calls is heaviest after a presidential speech, a press conference or an important news event.

She said the White House received 7,000 letters about Nixon's April 29 speech, in which he announced he would make public the edited transcripts of his Watergate conversations.

And, in the two-week period ending May 7, the White House received 4,500 letters supporting the President but not mentioning the speech and 500 expressing dissatisfaction, she said.

Mrs. Higgins said she knows of no White House volunteers who have quit because they became disillusioned with the President over the Watergate scandal.

"The only thing they say is they're fighting for the President," she said. "They're working harder than ever."

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The more than 6,000 members of the Kentucky Army and Air Force National Guard have been asked to contribute to a "voluntary" special fund for eight former or present Ohio National Guardsmen involved in the fatal shootings of four Kent State University students in 1970.

The fund, according to Adjutant General Richard L. Frymire, who initiated it, is "purely voluntary, like giving to the Heart Fund or the March of Dimes."

But some enlisted members of the 123rd Tactical Reconnaissance Wing Headquarters, based at Louisville's Standiford Field, say leaders in certain sections used "subtle coercion" to obtain contributions during monthly drills last weekend.

According to the enlisted men, a special roll call was taken in those sections and records were kept of which men did, or did not, give to the fund.

"You're afraid," said an enlisted man who asked not to be identified. "This was the last drill before summer camp. You're afraid that if you don't give a buck or so you won't get the privileges of driving to camp and living off base, things like that."

Another enlisted man who also asked to remain anonymous added:

"It goes without saying that they were writing down who did or didn't contribute. It would have been less offensive to me if they hadn't done that. As it was, it was coercive."

Lt. Col. John Conway, the detachment commander, denied that records were kept. To have done so, he said, would have been coercive, "and we don't do that type of thing."

Maj. Gen. Frymire, the state's top National Guard officer, expressed surprise that some units were apparently soliciting contributions by a formal roll call.

Meat-Cutting With Laser Suggested To Save Money

CHICAGO (AP) — One way to slow the skyrocketing price of food may be to give butchers laser beams instead of knives, says a marketing professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"The era of cheap food in America is at an end," Dr. Gordon F. Bloom of MIT said in an interview after addressing a conference on world hunger.

He said innovative measures such as cutting meat with laser beams rather than knives may be a few years away, but that such moves designed to increase efficiency in the food industry are among the few remaining ways to stem rising food costs.

He said attempts to unionize what used to be low-paid, migratory field hands, 15 to 20 per cent increases in retail labor costs and consumer and environmental legislation had combined with increased marketing costs and higher farm income to drive food prices up 20 per cent in 1973.

Bloom said supermarkets in particular have been slow to develop new technology to lower labor costs which, he said, take 50 cents of every food dollar spent after the product leaves the farm.

Supermarket operations, except for the self-service aspect, are essentially unchanged from the corner grocery store that they began to replace 25 years ago, he said.

The average wage rate among employees from cashiers and stockboys to managers is more than $4 an hour in the supermarket, Bloom said.

"People don't realize this is a high-wage industry. In a few years, it's going to be $6. Yet where is the change in technology? The young grocery clerk still loads shelves by hand."

Bloom suggested that the industry make a cooperative effort to eliminate inefficiencies such as those he said exist in packaging and shipping. He also suggested new ways of cooperation to stimulate innovative cost-saving ideas.

"For example," he said, "Why is it necessary to cut meat from a bone with a knife or a saw? Why can't the butcher use a laser or a sonic beam? There's no panacea for rising food prices. But there are a lot of little things that could have a cumulative effect. The food business is a business of decimal points and an accumulation of a lot of small things ultimately leads to high prices."

'Master Gardener' Waging Battle With His Own Lawn

TROY, Mich. (AP) — Jerry Baker, "America's master gardener," is waging battle with the enemy in his front yard, and he's losing. He says every time he turns around Mother Nature "is giving me a punch in the mouth."

A glance about Baker's yard in this Detroit suburb would not indicate that the gardening author lives there. Like thousands of other yards, it is dotted with weeds.

The grass needs mowing; the half-acre is dotted with dandelions, dehydrated rhododendron, chickweed and creeping junipers, and a 10-by-10 yard vegetable patch needs spading.

"It's just your average yard," says Henry Baskin, a close friend and neighbor of Baker.

Baker's fast-selling gardening books—"Plants are Like People" and "Talk to Your Plants"—have earned him the label of "America's master gardener" and "Mr. Grow It All."

But weeds are growing between and around many of his plants. A 115-foot blue spruce has grown crooked since it toppled in a winter storm. A large section of his backyard needs to be torn up and raised to keep it from flooding. And his evergreens need pruning.

One of the things Baker says in his books is that the gardener should talk to his plants — nicely. He has even gone so far as to name three of his favorites, "Deke, Denney and Doris Delphinium."

Baker has his own television show, syndicated in more than 100 markets.

His name is synonymous with growing things and he has been asked to endorse some 112 commercial products — from fertilizer to windshield wipers — since he quit his job as a Detroit policeman in 1961 to sell garden equipment.

"I do what I say I do in my books. But I'm not immune from problems," Baker says.

Corps To Open Bids On Dam At Smithland July 17

SMITHLAND, Ky. (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers will open bids July 17 on construction of the high-lift Smithland Dam, the Nashville district engineer has said.

Col. William Brandes announced Tuesday that cofferdam work is expected to begin before fall to prepare for construction of the $100 million dam on the Ohio River just above the confluence of the Cumberland.

An $84 million twin-locks section of the dam project, being built on Dog Island on the north side of the river, is already more than 80 per cent complete.

Rebels To Face Tilghman

Region Baseball Tourney Delayed Day By Weather

South Marshall will have to wait another day before carrying the championship banner of the Fourth District into the First Region Baseball Tournament.

The Rebels, who were scheduled to open the tourney today at Reagan Field against Paducah Tilghman, will carry a 5-5 season slate into Thursday's 1 p.m. opening game of the three-day affair. A hard rain that fell late Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning forced the postponement of today's games.

The Rebels won the District title by walloping North Marshall 10-5 in the championship game of the tourney played Monday.

In that game, junior righthander Larry McGregor had a no-hitter until one man was out in the sixth when Mike Shelton blooped a single into rightcenter.

Against Tilghman, who is 22-9 on the year, the Rebels will start Gary Mitchell, who spends most of his time behind the plate for South Marshall.

Mitchell, who is carrying a .500 batting average and is the leading hitter, will face senior southpaw Anthony Proctor.

Proctor pitched the Blue Tornado to a 5-2 win Saturday over Lone Oak in the finals of the District.

Since the rain did not allow today's game, Coach Charlie Lampley of the Rebels might possibly be able to use McGregor against Tilghman.

Terry Mathis will be at first for South, Roger Stone, a .430 hitter, will be on second and Donnie Youngblood will be at short.

Big Joe Smith, a .306 hitter who hit two homers in a game against Lowe's, will be at third. Smith was the South Marshall basketball correspondent for the Ledger & Times this past season.

Chris Coble will be in left, Mike Ivey in center and Mike Doorn will be in right.

The second game to be played Thursday will find a tough Mayfield club tangling with once-defeated Caldwell County.

Caldwell County, who is 14-1 for the season, will start Joe Villines against the Cardinals. Villines fired a no-hitter against Livingston Central in the District Tourney.

Mike Thurmond, who pitched for the Murray American Legion last summer, will get the mound assignment for the Cardinals, who enter the game with a 13-7 mark and a .300 team batting average.

The winner of the Tilghman-South game will tangle at 1 p.m. Friday against Hickman County, which drew a first-round bye.

The second semifinal game to be played Friday will find Fort Campbell playing the winner of the Mayfield-Caldwell County contest.

Saturday's championship game will start at 2 p.m.

Frazier's Career Could Depend On His Fight Against Quarry

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Joe Frazier's boxing career could ride on the former heavyweight champion's performance against Jerry Quarry June 17 in New York.

Frazier's trainer-manager, Eddie Futch, says he's advised Joe to quit the ring if he doesn't beat Quarry impressively.

"This is something we have agreed on," Futch said Tuesday before sending his fighter through a training session.

"Joe has to win and he has to look good," Futch explained. "He has to show me that he belongs in this rough business. Otherwise I'd like to see him get out of it and start directing his energies in some other direction."

It is obvious that Futch and Frazier have talked considerably about the advisability of Frazier continuing as a fighter. Futch said Frazier came out of the fight with Ali in "such great physical shape, and three and a half weeks ahead of the training schedule he kept for the Ali fight."

Frazier, 30, lost to Ali Jan. 28 in New York in his first fight since he lost the title to George Foreman in January 1973.

Futch said Frazier still has the power that carried him to 30 victories—25 by knockout—in his 32-fight career. He pictures Frazier in the best mental and physical condition since he was knocked out by Foreman.

Frazier is confident he'll beat Quarry and go on to a return title bout with Foreman. He wants to keep on fighting.

"My next step is going back to the championship," Frazier said.

The $300,000 he'll probably earn from fighting Quarry is also a big incentive, he admitted.

"In order to make all the investments that I have go, it takes money. Therefore I feel that this fight will help me to invest more. Furthermore, I like fighting. I feel I'm in good shape."

This will be the second meeting between Frazier and Quarry. Frazier won by a technical knockout after the seventh round in June, 1969, when he cut Quarry's right eye.

Bosox Bang 18 Hits To Outslug Yankees 14-6

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Manager Darrell Johnson of the Boston Red Sox flashed a big grin. That's what happens when your team is hitting.

Manager Bobby Winkles of the California Angels threw a pair of shoes against the wall. That's what happens when your team isn't hitting.

Johnson's Red Sox have a four-game winning streak during which they've pounded out 41 runs on 61 hits and moved into second place in the American League's East Division, one game behind the Milwaukee Brewers. Eighteen of the hits came in Tuesday night's 14-6 romp over the New York Yankees.

Winkles' Angels managed seven hits in a 4-2 loss to the Kansas City Royals. It was their 11th defeat in the last 14 games, during which they've scored as many as four runs only three times. The Angels are last in the AL West, four games behind the Oakland A's.

Elsewhere in the American League, Milwaukee edged the Detroit Tigers 6-5, Oakland shelled the Minnesota Twins 8-1 and the Baltimore Orioles trounced the Cleveland Indians 7-6. The Texas Rangers and Chicago White Sox were rained out.

Brewers 6, Tigers 5

A double steal and Johnny Briggs' triple produced two decisive runs in the seventh inning. Tim Johnson opened the seventh with a single to chase Detroit starter Lerrin LaGrow. Don Money bunted and reliever John Hiller's wild throw put runners on first and second.

A's 8, Twins 1

Home runs by Gene Tenace and Reggie Jackson highlighted a six-run outburst in the seventh inning that broke a tie. Tenace opened the seventh against Joe Decker with his fifth home run of the season. Ted Kubiak singled, went all the way to third on an error and Sal Bando greeted reliever Tom Burgmeier with a pinch single. After a walk and a sacrifice, Joe Rudi's sacrifice fly made it 4-1 and Jackson followed with his 12th home run, giving him the American League lead.

Orioles 7, Indians 1

Paul Blair hit a grand-slam homer off Steve Kline in a five-run second inning and Mike Cuellar tossed a seven-hitter as the Orioles snapped a three-game losing streak.

Country Day Leading Girls Golf Tourney

LONDON, Ky. (AP)—Charlotte Allen of Kentucky Country Day had a two stroke lead in the individual standings and her team was on top by 14 strokes entering today's final 18 holes of the Girls State High School Golf Tourney.

Miss Allen fired a 76 to lead all scorers in the first round over London Country Club's par 71 course Tuesday. The Kentucky Country Day team totaled 358 for the first 18 holes.

Louisville Ballard, after no losses this season in 10 dual meets and in regional qualifying, finished the first round with a team score of 372. Ballard's Betty Baird was second in individual scoring with a 79.

Kentucky Country Day's Stuart Crawford and Ashland's Karen Watson were tied for third with 85s and Tennyne Orr of Estill County was fourth with 86.

Miss Allen called her Louisville teaching pro after Tuesday's round, seeking some driving tips.

"My driving was just terrible," she said. "On the back nine I only used my driver once because I was spraying the ball so much. The round was one big scramble."

Miss Baird said she ran into trouble when she double-bogeyed two holes in a three-hole stretch.

"If it hadn't been for those two holes that would have been a pretty good round," she said. "It'll take a pretty good score to win now."

Stanford entered today's final round third in the team standings with a 385, followed by Corbin (388), Caldwell County (393), Oldham County (401), Clark County (402) and Marion County (405).

Next in order were Mason County (409), Estill County (416), Glasgow (435), Shelbyville (438), Maysville St. Patrick (441), Taylor County (467) and Allen County (468).

Hill And Trevino At Danny Thomas Classic

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Dave Hill's here. And Lee Trevino. For this particular golf tournament, no one else really matters.

The stormy, outspoken Hill and the flamboyant Trevino are the only two entries necessary to assure the success of the $175,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Classic.

It's a unique situation on the pro golf tour. And it's a happy thing for Memphis. This event suddenly found itself sandwiched in between two "designated tournaments," tournaments in which the game's leading players must compete. They aren't required to play here. And most of them aren't.

They've got Hill and Trevino. Between them, they've swept the last five Memphis titles and have won six of the last seven. The tournament has prospered and improved each of those years.

Last season, when Hill scored his fourth Memphis victory and Trevino was only one shot behind, the event set its all-time record with attendance of 116,900 for the week, comparing favorably with any stop on the tour.

And they're ready to go again.

Trevino, the Memphis winner in 1971-72, had a strong fifth-place finish in last week's Colonial National at Fort Worth, Tex.

Hill has a particular liking for this town, this tournament and the 7,193-yard, par-72 Colonial Country Club course that will be the site of the 72-hole event beginning Thursday. He won the tournament in 1967, '69 and '70 at the old Colonial course, then won at the new one last year.

Other standouts include 1974 title-winners Hubert Green, Leonard Thompson, Jerry Heard, Lee Elder, Allen Miller—who tied with Trevino for second here a year ago—and little Rod Curl, who scored a surprise in Fort Worth.

Three ways better

Better Boy

After years of research, plant breeders have developed Better Boy, a tomato that is three ways better: resistant to verticillium, fusarium, and nematodes (VFN), the three main causes of blight in tomato plants.

Since it's also an F₁ Hybrid, it gives you more fruit, tastier fruit, over a longer period of time. Try it and you'll never go back to ordinary tomatoes again.

It's planting time! Plant the hybrid—plant Better Boy.

Jacobs And Torres To NCAA Meet

What next for Jacobs?

After winning the 100 and the 220 in the Ohio Valley Conference Track Meet this past weekend at Stewart Stadium, Murray State's star junior sprinter has gone to Washington, D.C., for a two-week workout with Fred Sowerby.

Sowerby, who last year won the 440 at the conference meet in Morehead, is now teaching math at an all-girls school in Washington.

Jacobs will return to Murray next week and will meet Coach Bill Cornell and Sam Torres where they will proceed on to Austin, Tex., for the NCAA Championships, which incidentally will be shown live June 8 on ABC's Wide World of Sports.

Jacobs earned the trip with his record-tying 20.8 in the 220 and his chances of making the finals and placing at the nationals are very good.

Torres, who hasn't decided what event yet he will run in, is remaining in Murray. It is highly probable the senior from Flint, Mich., will run in the six-mile, since he ranks as one of the top in the country.

After the nationals, Jacobs will go to New York City and spend the summer working and training while Torres will go back to Michigan to work.

Jacobs, of course, will return next year for his senior season while Torres hopes to return to school in the fall.

Tough Legion Schedule

The Murray American Legion Baseball schedule is in the process of being printed and this year's schedule will be one of the toughest ever.

Included on the schedule are Paducah, Greenville, Madisonville, Owensboro, Bowling Green, Clarksville, Union City, Russellville and several other teams.

One of the highlights of the season will be a tournament to be played at Reagan Field with Murray, Clarksville, Owensboro and Paducah composing the four-team field.

The playoff tournament at the end of the season will also be at Murray.

Three cities, which formerly fielded teams for the Kenn-Tenn League, will no longer be playing legion ball this year.

They include Paris, Benton and Mayfield, the latter of which did not have a team last season.

This means that Murray will be getting not only top local talent but players from Benton, South Marshall, North Marshall, Mayfield, Farmington and several other Graves County schools.

Tommy Brown, who is the assistant baseball coach at Mayfield High under head coach Roger Fields, will be coaching the team.

The team, which will begin its 31-game schedule at home June 6, could be one of the best legion teams ever at Murray.

Three Leagues To Open

Next week, three leagues in the Murray Baseball Association will open play.

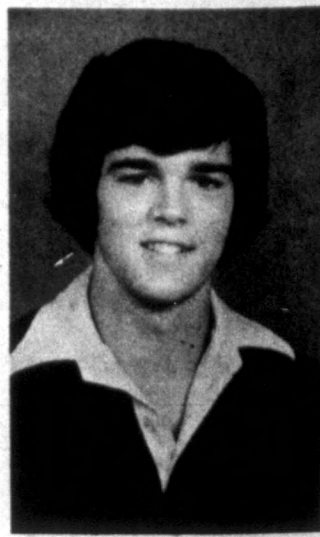

Once again, the Murray Ledger & Times will attempt to give the best coverage possible to each of the leagues.

In the past, all of the game coverage has been under one headline, in one story.

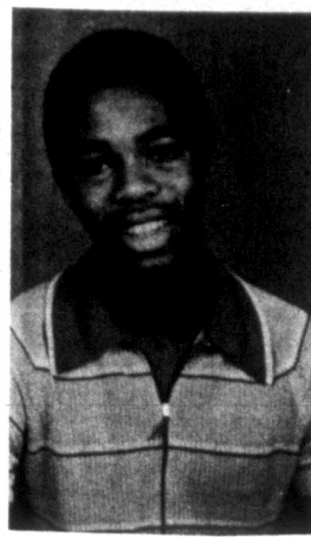

This year, if enough information can be given, we will have separate stories on each league.

In order to assure the best coverage, it will take a large amount of cooperation between the newspaper and the different leagues.

I would urge each league president to secure a scorekeeper who can handle the responsibility of calling the games in to the office and providing the paper with this information, where in turn, we can provide the readers with the information.

Tiger Athletes To Be In All-Star Game

Two Murray High School athletes, Tony Thompson and Glenn Jackson, have been selected to play in the Kentucky East-West All-Star Games in Lexington in August, according to information received at the school.

Thompson will play in the football game. Jackson will play in the basketball game. Both will be on the West teams.

Coach John Hina and Coach Bob Toon congratulated the two men upon their selection. "We're very proud of them," they said.

More details will be announced by the All-Star Games committees soon.

76ers Say Cunningham Will Rejoin Ballclub

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers expect Billy Cunningham to rejoin them for the 1974-75 National Basketball Association season. But the Carolina Cougars' star says their announcement "is just a lot of words."

"Cunningham is expected to resume playing for the 76ers this fall," the 76ers said in a statement released Tuesday.

But the American Basketball Association's Most Valuable Player in the 1972-73 season, reached at home in North Carolina, said, "It sounds more like anticipation than a victory statement."

Cunningham, who jumped from the 76ers in 1972 and has fulfilled two years of a three-year contract with the Cougars, said, "Nothing's been resolved at all between Mr. (Todd) Munchak (owner of the soon-to-be-moved or disbanded Cougars) and Mr. (Irv) Kosloff (76ers owner)." Cunningham said. "It was a shock for me to hear it (the statement). I spoke to Koz Sunday. I had no idea..."

In his announcement, Kosloff said, "recently the 76ers ... won two decisions on jurisdiction (over Cunningham's contract) in the courts of Philadelphia and North Carolina. The 76ers now assert their exclusive rights to Cunningham's services."

Brett Keeps Up Tough Slugging And Pitching

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

If Ken Brett were ever traded to the American League, the land of the designated hitter where pitchers don't hit and hitters don't pitch, he might have a problem.

Brett is one of those hitting pitchers who enjoys making life miserable for opposing batters ... and opposing pitchers.

He pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-4 victory over the Montreal Expos Tuesday night, and en route, collected a long double in the eighth inning.

Elsewhere in the National League, the New York Mets pounded the Chicago Cubs 10-5; the Philadelphia Phillies trimmed the St. Louis Cardinals 4-2; the Houston Astros nipped the San Diego Padres 5-4; the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Cincinnati Reds 3-2, and the Atlanta Braves downed the San Francisco Giants 4-1 before dropping the second game of their two-night doubleheader 5-4.

Brett sports a .444 batting average on eight-for-18 with two homers and five RBI.

Ed Farmer, making only his second National League start after American League stops in Detroit and Cleveland and bus stops in Wichita, Monroe, Waterbury, Reno and Sarasota in the minors, checked the Cardinals on four hits before leaving in the seventh inning.

Inside Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The West Coast's oldest tennis tournament is moving inside this year and will offer $100,000 in prize money.

Tournament Director Barry MacKay announced Tuesday that the event, which began in 1889 as the Pacific Coast International Championships, will be played for the first time in San Francisco's Cow Palace.

and Houston's losing streak ended at 10.

Milt May unloaded his first home run as an Astro and Tom Griffin gave up six hits before needing eighth-inning relief help, to give Houston a long-awaited taste of victory.

Mets 10, Cubs 5

Pitcher George Stone drove in four runs with a pair of singles while Ted Martinez' two-run triple capped the Mets' biggest outburst of the season, a six-run explosion in the third inning that carried them to the victory over Chicago.

Dodgers 3, Reds 2

Pinch-hitter Joe Ferguson lofted a sacrifice fly with one out in the ninth inning that scored the winning run and gave Los Angeles an eight-game lead over San Francisco and Cincinnati in the NL West.

Braves 4-4, Giants 1-5

San Francisco's Ron Bryant, the majors' winningest pitcher with 24 victories last season, posted his first triumph this year in the second game of a two-night doubleheader with the offensive support of Garry Maddox, who hit a two-run, inside-the-park homer.

In the opener, Norm Miller's pinch-hit home run triggered a four-run rally in the eighth inning of the opener that enabled the Braves to beat the Giants.

Jaycee Tourney To Be Held At Puryear Club

The second annual Jaycee-Easter Seal Invitational golf tournament will be held June 15-16 at Henry-Calloway Country Club in Puryear, 10 miles north of Paris on US Hwy. 641.

Tournament chairman Ted Todd said approximately $1,300 in prizes will be given to flight winners in the 36-hole event. Proceeds from the tournament are turned over to the Easter Seal Society.

Qualifying rounds will be held on Saturday, June 15, with the final 18 holes set for that Sunday. Todd said the course will be open for practice rounds from Monday, June 10, through Friday, June 14.

Also, golfers who have paid their $20 entry fee will be allowed to play their qualifying round early if desired. Early entries will be given their preference, as much as possible, on tee times for the first round of the tournament.

Sunday's final round will be a shotgun start. Persons wishing to enter the tournament should call the club at (901) 247-3264 or write, sending entry fee check payable to Paris-Henry County Jaycees, to Todd at P.O. Box 867, Paris, Tenn. 38242.

holes Tuesday. Bill Lane posted a 76, Greg Gary a 77 and Pete Pfannerstill a 78 for a team total of 304.

"If we keep everyone in the 70s tomorrow, we'll be okay," Rogers said. Rogers, who is being recruited by Indiana University, Western Kentucky and the University of Kentucky, ended his round with a 10 foot birdie putt on the 18th hole.

Madisonville entered today's round in second place with 318, in spite of a one-under-par 71 by Brad Fabel. Fabel sank a 20-foot birdie putt on No. 18 to nose out Mickey Ray of Somerset for low individual honors. Ray had a 72.

"If I had made every putt under five feet I would have shot a 65," Fabel said. "I'm hitting the ball super, but I'm not scoring well." He had a 68 in the first round last year.

Ray, who is going to UK on a golfing scholarship, birdied the last two holes for his 72. But Somerset failed to make the 12-team cutoff mark with its 338.

The Davie County team fired a 319 for third place. Danville and Paducah St. Mary are tied for fourth with 322, and Lexington Lafayette posted a 323.

The other teams that advanced to today's final round were Russell County (324), Clark County (324), Hopkinsville (329), Doss (329), Covington Catholic (331) and Corbin (333).

Ott Elliott of Harrodsburg High signed a scorecard Tuesday that incorrectly gave him 38 strokes on the 18th hole. Once a player signs his scorecard, kept by another player, the score stands and cannot be changed under golfing rules.

"That's a United States Golf Association rule — not our rule," said tournament manager John Hackett. "Each play-

CLEVELAND (AP)—The nomination list for the third running of the $100,000 Ohio Derby at Thistledown has 113 names on it, including Kentucky Derby winner Cannonade.

The list tops last year's 84 and also includes the Preakeess winner, Little Current.

The race is set for June 16th and the entries will be selected June 14. First money will be approximately $63,000.

Cannonade is the leading money winner on the list, having collected $481,770 in two years of racing.

Girls Cage Camp To Be At Mayfield High

The First Region Basketball Camp for Girls will be held August 5-9 at the new Mayfield High School.

Girls in grades seven through 12 are eligible to attend the camp. Sessions will begin each morning at 9 a.m. and will conclude at 3:30 p.m.

Enrollment is limited and admission to the camp will be on a first come-first serve basis.

The cost of the camp is $45 which will include lunch, insurance and a camp shirt.

Girls are asked to bring two pair of gym shorts, two T-shirts, sneakers and socks.

Individual instruction will be stressed in the camp.

The instructors at the camp will be Shirley Wilfred, Murray State Volleyball Coach and coach of the State Champion Murray Acers softball team. Tom Buchanan, coach of the always-tough Carlisle County Comets and Fred Johnson, coach of last year's fine Murray State junior varsity team.

Japanese Official Says Pepitone Story False

TOKYO (AP) — An official of the Tokyo Yakult Atoms' baseball club flushed with anger Tuesday when told that ex-major leaguer Joe Pepitone had accused the club of forcing him to play despite an ankle injury when he was in Japan.

Yoshio Tokunaga, general manager of the Yakult club said, "Don't remind us of that guy. His story is not even worth a comment."

Pepitone, who formerly played with the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs, said he had a two-year contract at $70,000 dollars a year with the Yakult ball team.

Tokunaga said Pepitone "disappeared" after playing 14 games for the Yakults.

The first baseman-outfielder was released after he failed to join the workouts of the club in spring training camp, the Japanese official said.

Pepitone wrote about his Japanese experiences for the New York Times in which he said his Japanese manager ordered him to play despite his ankle trouble, and that he was charged $2,000 dollars a month for a two-bedroom apartment that had doors "only four feet five inches high."

Tokunaga said, "Everybody in Japan knows it's a flat lie. His apartment doors were six feet high as are most of the other Japanese apartments. The club paid his rent. We took him to a top-notch doctor who assured us nothing was wrong with his ankle."

The PGA has listed 44 major golf tournaments for 1974, three less than last year.

Some Lobbyists Still Have Not Reported

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—A month after they were due, 13 lobbyists still have not reported to the state what they spent during the legislative session that ended March 22.

Another 11 have filed their reports after Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock turned over to Commonwealth's Atty. William Brooks, Frankfort, a list of lobbyists who had not filed on time. At that time, nine days after the April 22 deadline, 28 had filed their reports late and 24 had not filed at all.

All paid lobbyists are required by state law to register with the attorney general and to report their expenditures to him within 30 days after the legislative session involved adjourns.

Brooks, as Franklin County commonwealth's attorney, is given the responsibility under the state law to prosecute anyone who does not submit his expense report by the deadline.

After receiving the list from Hancock, Brooks asked the attorney general to intervene and prosecute the apparent violators himself, saying Hancock had kept the records and other evidence needed.

But Brooks asked Hancock to intervene in the cases and prosecute the apparent violators himself, saying Hancock's office had kept all the records and other evidence needed.

Hancock replied he had no authority to intervene upon such a request unless it were made by the court itself or a grand jury.

Hancock said the most he could do upon the request of a commonwealth's attorney was to assist him. And he already had done that as much as he could, he added, when he gave Brooks the names of apparent violators.

Little apparently has been done since then, basically because the April Franklin County Grand Jury had been dismissed before Brooks got Hancock's letter and another will not be convened until July. Asst. Commonwealth's Atty. Jim Hudson said Tuesday he felt certain Brooks would take the case to the grand jury then.

Many lobbyists have ignored the registration or reporting laws in the past but no one ever has been indicted for that as far as anyone presently involved can remember.

Brooks himself failed to report his expenses in a lobbying effort in 1970 but a grand jury returned no indictments, saying it was giving him and 50 other apparent violators "the benefit of the doubt." Brooks stepped aside for that case in favor of a special prosecutor.

The 11 lobbyists who sent in their reports after Hancock sent the notice to Brooks were: John Milne, Marietta, Ga., for 3M Co.; H. M. Finley, Frankfort, H. M. Finley and Associates; Michael Luvist, Louisville, Kentucky Youth Lobby; Charles Theelen, Prospect, Louisville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Also, Harry Lee Lusk, Vine Grove, Pipe Fitters Local 522; Ronald Robey, Lexington, Kentucky Student Lobby; Thomas Beggs, Carrollton, Kentucky Chiropractic Society; Foster Farris, Louisville, Associated Master Barbers and Beauticians of Kentucky.

And James Cherry, Louisville, Action League for Physically Handicapped Adults; Jack Rottgering, Paducah, Kentucky Mortgage Co.; J. Harry Quirico, Louisville, National Remodelers Assn. of Kentucky.

Those who still have not submitted expense reports are: Wells Lovett, Owensboro, Kentucky Harness Horsemen's Assn.; Richard Hand, Anchorage, Kentucky Assn. of Retired Military Personnel; Jenny Layman, Louisville, Kentucky Youth Lobby; Charles Mathis, Louisville, Kentucky Gasoline Dealers Assn.

Also, Charles Van Winkle, Louisville, People of Jefferson County; George Kendall, Lexington, Kentucky Citizens Energy Committee; Mary Ellen Solomon, Lexington, Kentucky Women's Coalition Lobby; Gaines Williamson, Middlesboro, Cumberland Valley Coal and Associated Industries.

And Frederick Voegel, Lexington, Frederick C. Voegel, P.E.; Gerry Fulton, James Yoder and Margaret Commons, all of Louisville and representing Kentucky Shorthand Reporters Assn.; Wallace Brammell, Frankfort, Kangaroo Court News.

transcript of the March 17 meeting does not mention Watergate.

The committee heard on Tuesday a tape of the March 21 talk between Nixon and Dean. It convinced some Democrats that Nixon ordered Dean to pay Hunt $120,000 in hush money.

"It was a command. It was said very positively," said Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., after the closed committee hearing.

"He was clearly ordering Dean to pay the money," said another Democrat. "I don't think there is any question."

Few Republican members would comment, and none of those who did found anything helpful for Nixon in the tape.

"This is certainly the most damning of the stuff we've had so far," said Rep. Hamilton Fish, R-N.Y.

In the key section of the tape Nixon suggests that Dean has no choice but to come up with the money Hunt allegedly demanded to keep silent.

"Would you agree that that's the prime thing, that you damn well better get that done?" Nixon asks.

"Obviously he ought to be given some signal," Dean replies.

The White House transcript has Nixon saying "I'm (expletive deleted), get it." Waldie said the committee tape has him saying, "Jesus Christ, get it."

In all, there are 10 references by Nixon during the one hour, 43 minute conversation to the importance of keeping Hunt quiet and that there would be no problem in getting the $1 million Dean estimated the continuing blackmail would cost.

Appointed by the Foreign Mission Board in 1950, Dr. Hardy studied language in San Jose, Costa Rica, for a year before becoming interim pastor of the First Baptist Church in Concepcion, Chile. In 1953, he transferred to Temuco and served there for 15 years before returning to Concepcion in 1968.

During one furlough from foreign service, he studied at the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary and received the doctor of education degree there in 1968.

Dr. Hubert L. Hardy, Jr.

In Chile, Dr. Hardy worked with the Bio-Bio Association of Baptist churches in his area. In addition to visiting 26 churches, he was interim secretary of evangelism for Chile and director of a lay training program for southern Chile.

While serving in Temuco, Dr. Hardy was the first national director of a Baptist mission organization for boys and then field evangelist for the district for 13 years.

He served in Europe and North Africa with the U. S. Air Force during World War II and was later pastor of churches in Joy and Deer Park, Tex.

Mrs. Hardy is the former Nell Brown of Madisonville, Ky., and they have two children, David and Cindy, both of whom are grown.

In his April 29 television address when he released the edited transcripts, Nixon said he was "thinking out loud" in the March 21 conversation about various courses of action and had considered meeting Hunt's demand as a way to prevent disclosure of another matter that might damage national security.

The March 21 transcript shows that Nixon was worried that Hunt would disclose the break-in of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office. Hunt participated in the break-in as part of the "plumbers" effort to plug the Pentagon Papers leak. This exchange takes place:

Nixon—What is the answer on this? How you keep it out, I don't know. You can't keep it out if Hunt talks.

Dean—You might put it on a national securities grounds basis.

H.R. Haldeman, who had joined the conversation: It absolutely was.

Dean says that would lead to questions why the CIA or FBI had not conducted the operation.

Nixon: Because we had to do it on a confidential basis.

Haldeman: Because we were checking them.

Nixon: Neither could be trusted... with the bombing thing coming out and everything coming out the whole thing was national security.

Dean: I think we could get by on that.

Rep. Edward Mezvinsky, D-Iowa, said the tape "gives us a much clearer picture of the involvement not only of the president but of the men around him."

Asked by newsmen whether Nixon's involvement amounted to an impeachable offense, Mezvinsky said that was what each member had to decide for himself.

No member reported finding any significant material added to the White House transcript as a result of the committee's better recording equipment, which fills in many blanks in the White House versions.

Dr. Josiah Darnall To Speak At Heath

Dr. Josiah Darnall, professor of music at Murray State University, will be the guest speaker at the annual Heath High School band banquet and awards night Thursday evening, May 23.

About 120 students from the high school are involved in the senior and junior bands. Dave Berry is the band director and James Hobby is the assistant band director.

Darnall has been a member of the music faculty at Murray State since 1947.

Young Monk On 1,200 Mile Walk

OTTER ROCK, Ore. (AP) — A young American Buddhist monk is journeying up the Pacific Coast, rapping to his knees every third step and touching his forehead to the ground in a bow.

Behind trudges a second monk carrying a heavy pack and pulling a cart loaded with equipment. He doesn't bow, but he has pledged to support the other on a 1,200-mile trip from San Francisco to Marblemount, Wash.

The Buddhists hope to set up a monastery at Marblemount on 40 donated acres. They left San Francisco last Oct. 14 and hope to reach Marblemount by late summer. They cover about six miles a day.

The monk who bows is Heng Ju, formerly Tim Testu of Seattle. He says the trip to Marblemount was inspired by Shu Yun, a monk who bowed his way across China in a 6,000-mile, three-year pilgrimage at the turn of the century.

Heng Ju, 29, says the bowing is an expression of humility and that its repetitiveness helps develop the single-mindedness that is important to his religion.

Davis said the trio could surrender to either the local Press Club or the Los Angeles County Bar Association acting as go-betweens. Bates said any sincere surrender attempt would be honored, but warned that FBI agents had no intentions of walking into an ambush.

The police manhunt continued across the state.

Homemade Bake Sale To Be At St. Leo's Church

St. Leo's Catholic Church will have a homemade bake sale on Saturday, May 25, at Ann Herbert's in the Bel Air Shopping Center, South 12th Street, Murray, from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The public is urged to attend this sale, a church spokesman said.

Overtime To Be Costly To State

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Personnel Commissioner Cattie Lou Miller says time-and-a-half for overtime will cost the state more than any other feature of a new federal labor-standards law.

The law, which took effect May first, requires that state workers be paid time-and-a-half for any work exceeding 40 hours a week.

Previously most state workers received compensatory time off for overtime work. The Personnel Board has scheduled a public hearing at its next meeting, June 14, on a proposed new compensatory leave rule aimed at bringing state policy in line with the federal law.

Miss Miller said Tuesday it is too early to estimate the added cost of the federal requirement and added that the impact will vary among different state agencies.

Company Reported To Have Chosen Paducah For Plant

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP)—A distilling company chose Paducah for a plant site rather than Henderson because downtown Henderson was less attractive, a chamber of commerce official says.

Dale Eights, president of the Henderson-Audubon Area chamber, says the prospect's main objection was "the poor appearance of our downtown area."

Sights says the distilling company rejected its consultant's recommendation of Henderson as a location for the plant, which promises some 600 jobs.

He says he asked the consultant's permission to announce the client's decision publicly, "in a way we could use it to bring about some improvement."

Sights knows some have been angered by his announcement, he says, but "maybe that's what we need. I hope the response is such that we will get a town meeting on the entire subject."

Some Henderson businessmen disagree that the town's appearance was the only reason for the company's decision.

"I don't believe Paducah has that much over Henderson where appearances are concerned," says jeweler Elvis Campbell.

"It's a hard story to swallow and it burns me up," says the manager of a downtown woman's store who asks that her name not be used.

"I think this is something being used by a group of people who want a downtown mall."

Eights said a general improvement, not a mall, is the chamber's major goal: "new store fronts, more adequate offstreet parking and such."

City Manager John Hefner says the central business district "could stand some improvements," and that programs to make such improvements are planned.

But, Hefner says, "I can't believe that the appearance of the central business district would ever be the deciding factor on where industry locates."

He also criticized Congress for its alleged failure to "get serious with these oil companies that are raking off unprecedented profits... while we're paying through the nose at the filling station."

Noting that his opponent has held the first District seat for more than 15 years, Hubbard repeated his campaign theme that it's "time for a change" in Congress.

He predicted he would have "an excellent chance" of winning next Tuesday's election if there is a large voter turnout.

Basic Educational Grants May Be Obtained, High School Graduates

Hoping to go on for post-secondary education or training this fall but don't have the money? You might be able to swing it with a Basic Educational Opportunity Grant from HEW's Office of Education.

Basic Grants are available to students who need financial assistance, and they are an outright grant of money that you don't have to pay back.

Who can apply? First and second year students enrolled full time at colleges, universities, junior colleges, vocational, technical, career training schools, and hospital schools of nursing—anyone enrolled in postsecondary education for the first time after April 1, 1973.

This year Basic Grants will range from $50 to over $800, with a $475-per-student average. About $475 million is available, and an estimated one million students are expected to receive Basic Grants for the 1974-75 school year.

The grants can be used to help defray the costs of tuition, fees, room, board, and miscellaneous expenses for students attending over 5,000 eligible colleges, universities, junior colleges, vocational, technical, career training schools, and hospital schools of nursing.

To apply for a Basic Grant, an "Application for Determination of Basic Grant Eligibility" must be obtained, completed and mailed to P. O. Box 2468, Washington, D. C. 20013. Within a month the student will be notified of his eligibility index, which is calculated on the basis of a formula applied consistently to all applicants. He then submits the notification to the school of his choice, which calculates the amount of his Basic Grant.

Application forms may be obtained from your high school guidance counselor or from the student financial aid officer at the school you plan to attend. During the summer months, they will also be available at public libraries or by writing to P. O. Box 84, Washington, D.C. 20044.

If you need further financial assistance, you can apply for aid from other Federal, State and private sources. The Federal Government offers four such opportunities—Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants, College Work-Study, National Direct Student and Guaranteed Student Loans—in addition to Basic Grants.

Amateur Radio Club To Hold Meeting Tonight

The Murray State University Amateur Radio Club will hold an informal meeting tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 at the Ham Shack, entrance on east side of Swann Hall on MSU campus. Plans will be finalized for field day June 22.

Anyone interested in amateur radio is invited to attend, a church member said.

Benefit Supper Planned At The Dexter Center

A benefit supper will be held at the Dexter Community Center on Saturday, May 25, with serving from four to six p.m.

The supper is sponsored by the Dexter Homemakers Club and the public is invited to attend, a club member said.

Mail Mixup Caused Delay Of Report

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Kentucky Registry of Election Finance says a mail mixup prevented one candidate's required campaign spending report from arriving at the registry on time.

The name of Democratic 4th Congressional District candidate Ed Winterberg of Covington was removed from the list of late filers when his individual statement of campaign spending arrived.

K.P. Vinsel, executive director of the registry, said Winterberg's statement was sent by certified mail, postmarked May 16.

"We still don't know how it happened," Vinsel said Tuesday. "The letter finally arrived in today's mail. It was addressed correctly but it was delivered to someone else."

"Apparently whoever signed for the letter later learned it was a mistake," he said. "The letter was put back in the mail and it finally arrived today."

The reports actually were due at the registry May 13, but Vinsel granted a grace period of five days for late filers.

Winterberg said Tuesday his staff hadn't been aware of the requirement for individual reports of candidates. He said he had done all his financing through his campaign committee, neither raising nor spending any money individually.

Proxmire To Appear At Bar Convention

Senator William W. Proxmire, Senator from Wisconsin, will be the featured speaker at the Annual Banquet of the Kentucky Bar Association, which will conclude the convention on Friday, May 24, 1974. The convention is being held May 22-24 at the Ramada Inn, Hurstbourne Lane, in Louisville.

Business sessions of the Board of Governors and House of Delegates take place on Wednesday, May 22. The House and Board are the governing bodies of the Association.

The convention moves into full swing Thursday morning with a kick-off breakfast presided over by President Glenn Denham, Middlesboro, with Madison Circuit Judge James S. Chenault as featured speaker. The day's programs are on "Future of Law Practice" and "Criminal Law." A luncheon on Thursday will feature Stanley E. Preiser, a prominent trial attorney from West Virginia. Preiser graduated Cum Laude from the University of Louisville School of Law. At the conclusion of the meetings, the Younger Lawyers' Section of the Bar will hold their Annual meetings presided over by President C. Edward Glasscock from Louisville.

Thursday evening will conclude with Alumni Association meetings of the University of Louisville, University of Kentucky, Chase Law School NKSC and Vanderbilt University.

Friday morning will begin with a breakfast for all local Bar Presidents hosted by Glenn W. Denham, Middlesboro, 1973-74 President of the Kentucky Bar Association. Breakfast for the Women Lawyers will take place at the same time.

Programs for Friday include "Group & Prepaid Legal Services and Kentucky Continuing Legal Education. The speakers include Frederick G. Fisher, Jr., President of the Massachusetts State Bar; Stewart R. Jaffy from Columbus, Ohio; Leslie W. Whitmer, Director of the Kentucky Bar Association; Frederick R. Franklin, ABA staff; William A. Carroll, Director of CLE California Bar; Dean George W. Hardy, III, University of Kentucky Law School; John K. Hickey, Director CLE Kentucky; C. Edward Blasscock, President Younger Lawyers' Section of Kentucky Bar.

The Kentucky Lawyers Auxiliary will have a business session and luncheon at 10:00 Friday. The business session will be presided over by Mrs. Donald (Sue) Overbey, President from Murray. Following the luncheon the ladies will have a jewelry show.

Big K To Test Sunday Closing Laws

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Fresh from a legal victory in Owensboro, the Big K Department Stores Corp. is preparing to test other Sunday closing laws in Winchester and Somerset, Ky.

Following its operation for the past two Sundays, 19 employees of the Winchester Big K store were cited for violation of the law this week.

The store's manager, Fowler Shadix, said that so far no action has been taken against the Somerset Big K, which also was open this past Sunday.

"I think we caught them by surprise," he said. "It was the first Sunday we've been open there."

Shadix said the Nashville, Tenn.-based chain is testing the Kentucky Sunday closing law as a public service.

"We're doing this for the people," he said. "It's not really just Big K. This is what the people wanted because times have changed."

The 19 Winchester employees were arraigned in Clark County Court Monday, and requested a jury trial. Trial has been set for 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

Similar jailings in Owensboro two weeks ago resulted in a new city ordinance there which allows Big K and other stores to open on Sundays. George Griffin, the Big K district manager there, predicted at the time that Winchester would be "the next target."

The firm is charging in Winchester that a state law which allows groceries and drug stores to open on Sundays is unfair to stores that sell similar merchandise but are required to remain closed.

Shadix said the Winchester store drew "about 2,000 customers" Sunday—nearly twice its normal daily load. "We're getting good reaction all over town," he said.

Lloyd Chandler, manager of Rose's department store in Winchester, filed the complaint on behalf of a city merchants' committee that led to Sunday's citations. Chandler disputed Shadix's claim of citizen support.

"Numerous people have called to find out what they can do to help us," he said Monday. "I suggested they get up petitions and some of them said they're doing it."

Chandler said he and his group are opposed in principle to Sunday business operation. "I think six days a week are enough, and I think it's a shame someone wants to oppose the law."

Sign Replacement To Cost $105,000

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The cost of repairing interstate highway traffic signs damaged by tornadoes last month will be approximately $105,000, the State Transportation Department estimated today.

The department's traffic director, B. R. Flener, said that amount represents the major work that is beyond the department's capabilities and will have to be done by contract.

Most of the damage involved loss of ground-mounted and overhead signs and lighting which were blown off sign bridges crossing interstates, Flener said.

Hunting ban lifted in Kenya

Kenya has lifted the ban on elephant hunting imposed last September now that authorities say the present elephant population of 150,000 is a “healthy figure.”

An annual total of 450 elephants will be reserved for visiting hunters and another 150 for local hunters.

A Veteran's Administration medical panel has refused to amputate the leg and despite the fact that he can't work, the VA has given him disability payments of just $77 per month, Dagenhart says.

An aide to Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., said arrangements were being made with the VA in Miami for a review of Dagenhart's disability status to see if

Margin Stock Customers Increase Debt To Brokers For Fourth Month

NEW YORK (AP) — The latest signal of a deterioration in the quality of credit comes from the New York Stock Exchange, where margin customers increased their debt to brokers by $40 million in April.

This figure in itself may have only minor significance to all but those involved, but when placed in context the point is quickly understood: It is the fourth straight monthly rise and it brings to at least $5.4 billion the amount of borrowed money supporting stock prices.

It is hardly safe to assume that the total amount of money owed on corporate shares isn't even higher, because margin customers sometimes borrow from other lenders too and are known even to mortgage their homes.

Margin in the stock market is like a down payment in the automobile or housing market. At the moment it takes 50 per cent down to become a margin customer of a broker, who lends the buyer the remaining funds.

However, as anyone knows who has ever played the stock market game, the price per share of a company can fall as well as rise, and the former has been the case for hundreds of stocks in the past few months.

The effective margin rate, therefore, often drops below 50 per cent.

In April, the exchange noted that “the quality of security credit deteriorated noticeably.” Margin debt in accounts under 40 per cent equity rose to $1.98 billion. And the percentage of such accounts rose to 16 per cent from 12 per cent of all margined portfolios.

As the prices of many stocks continued to decline, the collateral left in margin accounts shrank, of course, by about $680 million, to a total of $13.2 billion.

The signal that flashes from such statistics is the likelihood of more margin calls, or demands by brokers for customers to put up more funds in order to maintain a certain level of equity.

If, for instance, a customer has $10,000 credit on $20,000 worth of stock, he has 50 per cent margin and 50 per cent equity. But if the market value shrinks to $15,000, he now has 67 per cent margin, 33 per cent equity.

To safeguard his loan, the broker sends off a telegram to his customer, notifying him that if he doesn't produce a certain additional amount of collateral by a certain date he will sell some of the securities.

Nobody is ringing the alarm bells about the condition of stock market credit at the moment, but concern is rising, just as it is in other credit areas where deterioration is showing up. If the trend continues, the alarms will go off.

Vietnam Vet Receiving Offers

JUPITER, Fla (AP) — A disabled Vietnam veteran who wants doctors to amputate his injured leg so he can hold a job has been deluged with offers of help.

“I never knew people could be so wonderful,” Don Dagenhart, 23, said Monday of the outpouring of offers of help that followed published stories about his plight.

The ex-sailor has had seven operations on his left knee since injuring it in a 1970 service football game, yet pain from the injury has kept him from holding a regular job.

He said he was facing eviction from his apartment for not paying the rent and have even sold his infant son's crib for $10 to raise money.

A Veteran's Administration medical panel has refused to amputate the leg and despite the fact that he can't work, the VA has given him disability payments of just $77 per month, Dagenhart says.

An aide to Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., said arrangements were being made with the VA in Miami for a review of Dagenhart's disability status to see if his monthly payments can be raised.

“It's absolutely fantastic,” said Dagenhart. “I keep thinking I'm going to wake up and find it was all just a dream.”

Senate Passed Education Bill Faces Problems In Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a $24 billion education bill, but it faces many problems in conference with the House and when it reaches President Nixon's desk.

The big issue in the conference will be how far Congress should go in trying to restrict busing for school desegregation purposes.

The House measure passed in March virtually would end such busing. The Senate bill passed 81 to 5 Monday contains the same limitations as the House version, but it adds language continuing the authority of federal courts to order busing if necessary to meet equal rights requirements of the Constitution.

President Nixon views the Senate antibusing provision as much too weak, deplores the failure to lump together most of the education aid money in a revenue-sharing package and assails as a "bureaucratic nightmare" provisions on how the money must be spent. He has said these objections would cause him to veto it.

The principal limitation on busing in both the House and Senate bills is a policy declaration that no child should be bused beyond the next closest school from his home. The added Senate language would permit the courts to disregard this limitation.

The House bill also contains a provision, deleted in the Senate, that would permit reopening of all previously decided busing cases and their redetermination in line with the new restrictions.

Nixon has endorsed the House busing provisions strongly.

The Senate bill would continue for four years the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Act, the biggest federal education program, and several other types of grants.

The impacted areas program of aid to districts crowded because of federal installations, such as military bases, would be continued but cut back in some respects. However, it would not be reduced nearly as much as Nixon recommended.

Also extended would be the program of aid for handicapped children, with sharply increased funds, and the adult education program.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "There's no secret to making a movie," says positive-thinking David Carradine of television's "Kung Fu" series. He has made three.

The first is called "You and Me," a tale of a motorcycle gang member—played by Carradine—who witnesses a murder and goes on the run. His life is changed by the friendship of a boy, played by Richard Chadbourne II.

The other two films are "A Country Mile," described as a rock country musical, and "Around," a mood piece which defies description. He has parts in them, too.

This week Carradine was previewing "You and Me" and editing the other two films at the Burbank Studios, where he spends the rest of the year in "Kung Fu." The actor and film-maker watched rushed of "Around" with Barbara Hershey Seagull, who was breast-feeding their 18-month-old son, Free.

room for a stroll through the studio backlot, past the home of the "Waltons," the New York street where Warner Brothers musicals were made and the temple of "Kung Fu," which smacks of the ill-fated musical, "Lost Horizon."

"Actually, 'Camelot' used it first," Carradine explained. "We came next, so you might say that 'Lost Horizon' smacks of 'Kung Fu,' although Ross Hunter, the film's producer, might not like that."

The slender actor related how he became a movie maker.

"It was the summer before last, and I knew that my agents wouldn't find me a picture to do during the layoff from the series," he explained.

"A friend of mine brought me the script of 'You and Me,' and I got some other friends together and we decided to make it.

"We even found someone who was willing to back us. But he insisted that Barbara had to be in the picture, because she was a movie-star name. But she was going off to Europe for a picture and when she came back she would be extremely pregnant. So we shot all of her scenes first, spending $5,000 for 10 minutes of the film."

Star-director Carradine and a pick-up film crew "mostly from outer space" began filming in Los Angeles and continued up the coast. Production expenses amounted to $72,000, plus $100,000 in deferred salaries. With all the finishing touches, "You and Me" cost $120,000.

Suit Filed Against Abortion

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Civil Liberties Union has filed suit on behalf of two obstetrician-gynecologists, charging that Kentucky's recently enacted anti-abortion law is unconstitutional.

The suit was filed here Monday in U.S. District Court by Dr. Walter Wolfe of Louisville and Dr. Phillip S. Crossen of Lexington. It says that both physicians perform "regularly and on a recurring basis" medical abortions on patients "who desire same in order to terminate an unwanted pregnancy."

The suit attacks a law adopted by the 1974 General Assembly as Senate Bill 259, signed into law by Gov. Wendell Ford.

It is alleged that in adopting SB 259, the legislature "made no effort to comply with the constitutional guidelines promulgated by the Supreme Court of the United States." The high court in January 1973 struck down anti-abortion statutes in a number of states.

"Quite to the contrary," the suit continues, "the purpose and effect of the legislation was...to discourage and interfere with in every way possible the exercise of a physician's constitutional right to provide medical care and treatment in the best interests of his patient and the exercise of a woman's constitutional right to terminate an unwanted pregnancy by a medical abortion."

Jefferson County Commonwealth's Atty. Edwin A. Schroering Jr., and Kentucky Atty. Gen. Ed W. Hancock are named as defendants in the action. Hancock is named as chief legal officer of the state and Schroering as representative of all commonwealth's attorneys in the state.

Schroering is also named, the suit says, because he "has enforced anti-abortion statutes in the past and has indicated his intention to enforce the statute now being challenged."

The suit asks that three federal judges be impaneled to consider the constitutionality of the statute, which becomes effective June 21. The action also seeks to prevent enforcement of the law pending settlement of the suit.

Australians choose new national song

Prime Minister Gough Whitlam has announced that Australia's new national anthem is "Advance Australia Fair," which won 51.4 per cent of the public opinion poll, edging out "Waltzing Matilda" with 19.6 per cent.

"God Save The Queen" will be retained as an anthem at such times as when the queen is present or when links between the two countries are stressed.

Lowell Thomas Now In His 70th Year In The Business Of News

NEW YORK (AP) — Lowell Thomas, who joined the fourth estate as a newspaper boy in the rowdy Colorado mining town of Cripple Creek, now is in his 70th year in the news business, by his estimate.

Although the 82-year-old CBS newscaster hasn't regularly worked on a newspaper since the early 1900s—with the Chicago Journal while in law school—he still considers himself a newspaperman.

"That's the way I started," said Thomas, who still does a Monday-through-Friday news show for CBS Radio. When Sept. 29 rolls around, he'll have logged his 44th year on the network.

Oddly enough, the veteran globe-trotter, author, chronicler of World Wars One and Two and friend of some of the most famous names in modern history, isn't the gabby sort of man-about-world.

Asked about an old friend, the late Gen. Henry "Hap" Arnold, head of the Army Air Forces in World War II, he recalls him thus: "Knew him a long time. We used to fly together when he was a young lieutenant."

"Crashed together once out near Coffeyville, Kansas. Pieces just started flying off the plane. Nobody was hurt, though."

Thomas isn't the kind of veteran journalist, either, who is known for strong public opinions, particularly those involving political jousts.

For example: The Teapot Dome scandal had Congress and the White House in an uproar in 1924. So how'd the mood of the country and its newspapers then compare with the uproar now over the White House tapes and the impeachment inquiry by the House Judiciary Committee?

"That's pretty hard to compare because it's so far in the past that it's difficult to remember," he replied. "Very difficult."

Thomas, who lives on a 500-acre farm in Pawling, N.Y., 60 miles from Manhattan, was asked how he got into broadcasting. He said it was indirectly due to his celebrated travels with British Cpl. T. E. Lawrence—"Lawrence of Arabia"—during World War One.

He'd written a best-selling book about the man and was on a world tour, retelling the story, when he finally got fed up with speaking engagements and settled down to write other books.

But a man from the new Columbia Broadcasting Co. called and talked him into auditioning as a replacement for the company's newscaster, war correspondent Floyd Gibbons.

He was met by the company's owner, William S. Paley, now CBS board chairman, and led to a microphone in a studio here. Three musicians, whom broadcasters then always kept on just-in-case duty, also were there.

"Mr. Paley said, 'If you don't mind, we'd like to have you talk for about 15 minutes,'" Thomas recalled. "I said, 'What about?' And he said, 'It doesn't make any difference. Talk about anything.'"

He decided to hold forth on matters in Burma and India, among other places. Before starting, he said, he told the musicians: "I wonder if you'd play some soft music." I suggested some Oriental thing.

The rest is broadcasting history.

Your Individual Horoscope

FOR THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)
Do not start anything without knowing if you can follow through. All efforts and ambitions must be carefully directed now. Don't follow new trends blindly.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Generous Venus influences should help you to capitalize on your ideas instead of keeping them in the thought stage. A novel touch, a delicate approach will pay off.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
Your intuition and your self-confidence should be at a peak. Grasp any opportunity to show your abilities at their best. Travel plans favored.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Your competition will be strong now, but there is plenty of room for your talents. Display them with discriminating taste. There are benefits in the offing.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Try not to set too fast a pace—either for yourself or others. You could find that you've expended a lot of time and energy to no useful purpose.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Avoid any tendency toward lethargy. Set sights calculatingly on your target and aim for it unerringly. Stellar influences helpful.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Some unexpected situations could throw you "off base," cause confusion or misunderstanding. Be alert. Also, avoid impulsiveness in word or action.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)
Fine Mars influences now give you a fresh basis for estimating potentials in considering long-range programs. Do make the most of them!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 24 to Dec. 23)
Routine matters may give most concern. Employ "tried and true" methods in areas where you must act but have little to go on for reference.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 24 to Jan. 20)
Avoid a tendency toward wishful thinking. Realism and objectivity needed in all situations. Optimism, too!

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Be sure before you undertake any new venture, but do not doubt your ability to handle one. Just be certain of facts and be guided by logic.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
You will have less opposition in certain areas than you expect. Take the bit by the teeth; put beliefs, intuitive ideas actively to work.

YOU BORN TODAY are a highly volatile individual, bursting with energy and always on the go. All this leads to a continual restlessness, however, which you must learn to curb since, when you thus scatter your energies, you negate your high potentials for success. You are extremely versatile and may find it difficult for a time to find your true niche in occupational areas. Once you have found it, however, stay with it all the way and exercise your other talents avocationally. In this way, you will not only reach career goals quickly, but will find happiness and emotional security as well. Fields in which you could find your greatest satisfactions: writing, science, the law, the graphic arts or the stage—the latter an especially fine medium for your talents and ebullient personality. Birthdate of: Carolus Linnaeus, Swedish botanist.

Ford, Huddleston
Ask For RR Cars

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Wendell Ford and U.S. Sen. Walter "Dee" Huddleston have asked three agencies to help ease a shortage of railroad cars that is threatening to curtail coal production.

Ford and Huddleston asked for help from the Interstate Commerce Commission, American Association of Railroads and Federal Energy Office.

They took that action Monday after Pike County Judge Wayne Wrutherford told them a slowdown in coal production could be forecast because there were not enough railroad cars for mining operations.

Huddleston is chairman of a Senate subcommittee investigating various shortages, primarily of materials. He said the National Energy Emergency Act would come before the Senate this week and he planned to have it include a provision for allocating scarce materials.

$100.000 Expansion Program Planned At Murray Country Club

By M. C. Garrett

The Murray-Calloway Country Club is in a unique position—as country clubs go. It is out of debt.

Monday night, at a special called meeting of the membership, the club treasurer, J. H. Shackelford, and Wayne Doran, the club president in 1968, destroyed paid-off notes totaling more than $70,000 to make the club debt-free for the first time in the 18 years of its existence.

The notes had been executed in 1968 at which time the club purchased additional acreage just east of its facilities at that time for the development of a second nine holes of golf, giving the course the 6,300-yard, 18-hole course it has today.

These were two 10-year mortgages and were held by two separate adjoining landowners, Shackelford told the membership Monday night. One, he said, was paid in full in late 1973, and funds have been set aside to pay the other on the original 10-year redemption schedule as he will not accept advance payments.

The club was formed in 1956 with 150 members and an operating budget of approximately $16,000.

Shackelford recalled, as compared with the 265 members and its $74,000 annual operating budget of today.

It also was in 1956 that the organization, known then as the Murray Country Club, Inc., bought the acreage for and developed the first nine holes. Simply a land-holding corporation, Shackelford said, the Murray Country Club then leased the property to the Calloway Country Club on a year-to-year basis.

In 1970, the Murray Country Club entered into an agreement to sell the property to the Calloway Country Club on a lease-purchase basis, and in late 1973, the property was deeded to the Calloway Country Club as the purchase had been completed.

"We now own all of our property, every cockeyed inch of it," Shackelford said, and calling Doran to the lectern proceeded to destroy the applicable notes.

Shackelford, who has been treasurer of the club throughout its existence, also presented member certificates to those at Monday night's meeting, and emphasized that certificates would be mailed to all who were absent.

The treasurer, who later was presented with an engraved plaque and his wife with a large silver gift in appreciation for his many years of service to the club, paid tribute to the members who had served the club as its president, citing specifically six who were in that position during the years the mortgages were being paid: Doran, Wells Purdom, Jr., Chad Stewart, Jimmy Dale Clouton, James Boone and Henry Fulton. "They did a pretty good job with what I let them have," he said with a chuckle.

Earlier in the evening, Shackelford and his wife were hosts for a social hour in commemoration of the note-destroying occasion.

Not to be out of step with the rest of the world for long, however, the membership returned from an intermission in the 3 1/2-hour-long meeting to approve overwhelmingly a recommendation by the board of directors that the club immediately spend an additional $100,000 for improvements in and additions to its existing facilities.

Included was a 3,600-square-foot, two-level addition to the clubhouse, costing an estimated $82,000 and to include additional social facilities, a lounge, and an upper-deck, outdoor patio.

The 30-by-60-foot structure will be constructed on the west side of the present clubhouse in the patio area to overlook the golf course and the swimming pool, according to Ted Billington, club president, who presented the recommendation.

The board was authorized by the membership to proceed immediately with planning and development of specifications for the addition.

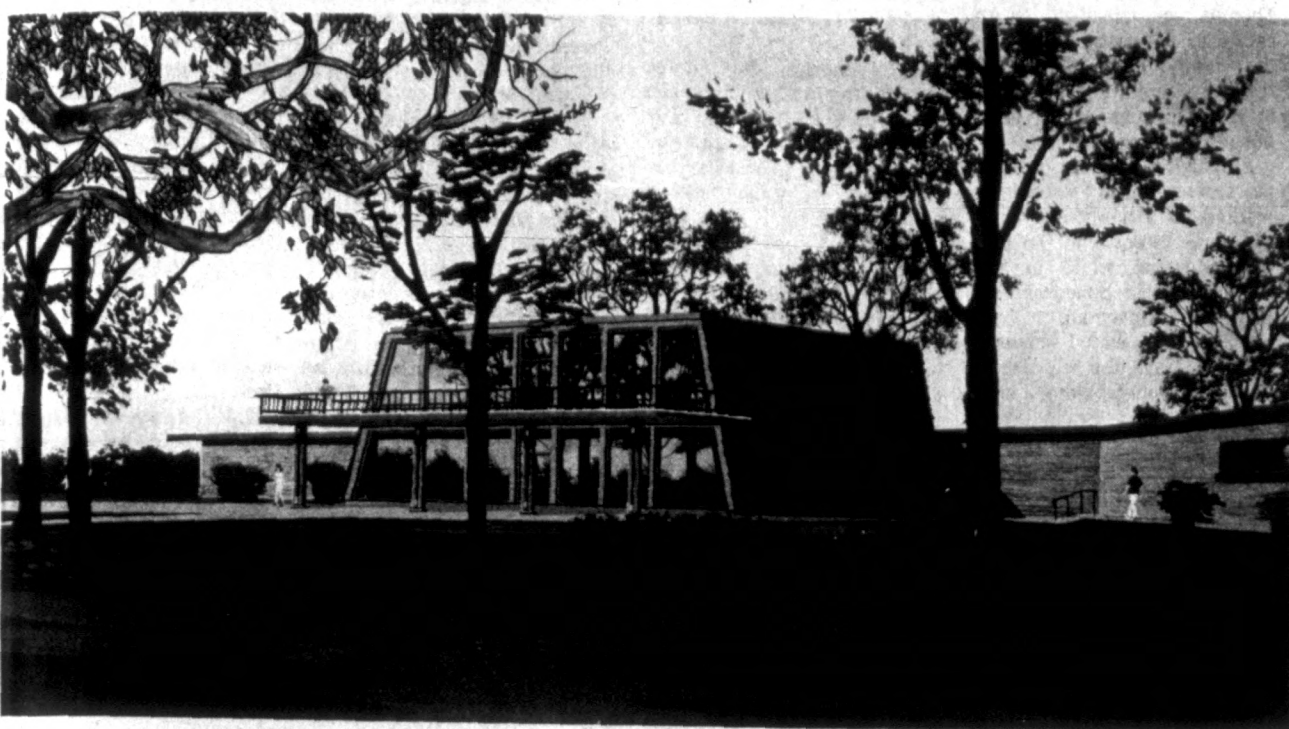

Also approved was a recommended immediate expenditure of $18,000 for additions and improvements in the swimming pool area. Terraces on the south and north sides will be extended; a bathhouse, including dressing facilities, showers and a small concession stand, will be built on the north side of the pool; new patio furniture will be purchased, and a new vacuum system added to the existing filter system.

In other action Monday night, the membership:

—Approved the $74,000 operating budget for 1974 as presented by Director Buddy Buckingham, chairman of the board's budget committee, and —Ratified changes in the club's Membership-Initiation Fee, including a reduction of $60 in the initiation fee—from $510 to $450, effective immediately. It also was announced that Joe Rexroat will serve as general chairman for the club's annual 36-hole, two-day, Murray Invitational Golf Tournament July 27 and 28. Buddy Hewitt has been serving in this capacity through the years, but will be out of the city this summer, it was announced by Richard Knight, the 1974 golf chairman.

Tainted Wheat Reportedly Shipped To China By Mistake

WASHINGTON (AP) — American wheat tainted by microscopic plant disease spores was shipped to the People's Republic of China last year because no one in the Agriculture Department knew how strict that country's sanitary requirements were for imported grain.

Richard E. Bell, deputy assistant secretary of agriculture, said a U.S. delegation now in Peking is expected to return next weekend with a report on how such shipments can be avoided in the future.

Although the disease, a wheat smut, is not considered by USDA experts as harmful to humans, Peking officials are alarmed that introduction of the spores would be a threat to China's wheat crop.

Government officials say they do not know how much wheat tainted by smut spores was involved, but trade reports have indicated several shipments were turned back.

Bell said the department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service had approved sanitary certificates for wheat going to China that showed the grain had been free of the disease.

But the agency's inspection procedure had been based on requirements listed by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations and not on specifications from China, Bell said.

"It seems to have turned out the (Chinese) requirements went beyond those we used," Bell said Monday night. "The Chinese system of sampling and surveillance (for the disease) was more intensive than we knew at the time."

Bell said the slip-up was "not a goof" in the sense USDA erred, only that federal inspectors did not know fully what the Chinese expected. Regardless, the tainted wheat has resulted in additional expense for American taxpayers.

The USDA sent five experts to Peking, who arrived there May 10. At least two private grain trade representatives also went. Bell said he "had better not" identify the grain companies involved, but added that a number of firms had been caught up in the tainted wheat problem.

According to USDA finance officials, it is costing an estimated $15,500 to send the five experts to China, not counting their salaries, which range from $20,000 to more than $32,000 per year.

Bell said the trip, arranged with the grain trade, was routine and that similar expeditions have gone abroad in the past without fanfare. There was no official announcement by the department that the five-member delegation had gone to China at taxpayer expense.

Nixon Makes Call After Finding Bottle On Beach

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When a skeptical William Staples finally took a phone call from Richard Nixon, he told his wife, "It either has to be the President or Rich Little."

It was no impressionist, such as Little, on the line when President Nixon called the Staples in suburban Havertown on Sunday night. While walking along the beach on Grand Cay Island in the Bahamas, Nixon had found a green whisky bottle with a note inside from the Staples' grandson, Airman Apprentice Larry Metivier.

The note had asked the finder to telephone his grandparents to say hello. Metivier said he tossed it overboard from the USS Guam last March while sailing from Norfolk, Va., to Jacksonville, Fla.

But problems arose because the Staples' phone number is unlisted. It took the pleading of the Florida White House operator to get Staples to allow the number to be given out.

Staples said he thought the call was a hoax until Nixon's friend, C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo got on the line. Rebozo and another Nixon friend, Robert Abplanalp, had accompanied the President on his walk.

"I could think of no good reason why he would want to talk to me," Staples said. "There was still the possibility that it was a crank, but when the President came on the line, I recognized the voice."

Staples said Nixon told him he was "very proud of those who serve in the Navy" and that his 18-year-old grandson was not guilty of littering the waterways. Metivier is stationed in Jacksonville with a Navy helicopter squadron.

Staples and his wife called Metivier after their conversation with Nixon. "He couldn't believe it," Staples said Monday. "He only started believing it when the President called him this morning."
