Ford Speaks Friday At Kenlake Hotel

By DAVID HILL
Murray Ledger & Times Writer

Gov. Wendell Ford took time out Friday to help dedicate a new Boy Scout "High Adventure" Camp in the Land Between the Lakes area.

One of six such camps in the nation, the high adventure area is for scouts at least 14. It is located on the shore of the Shaw Branch of Lake Barkley.

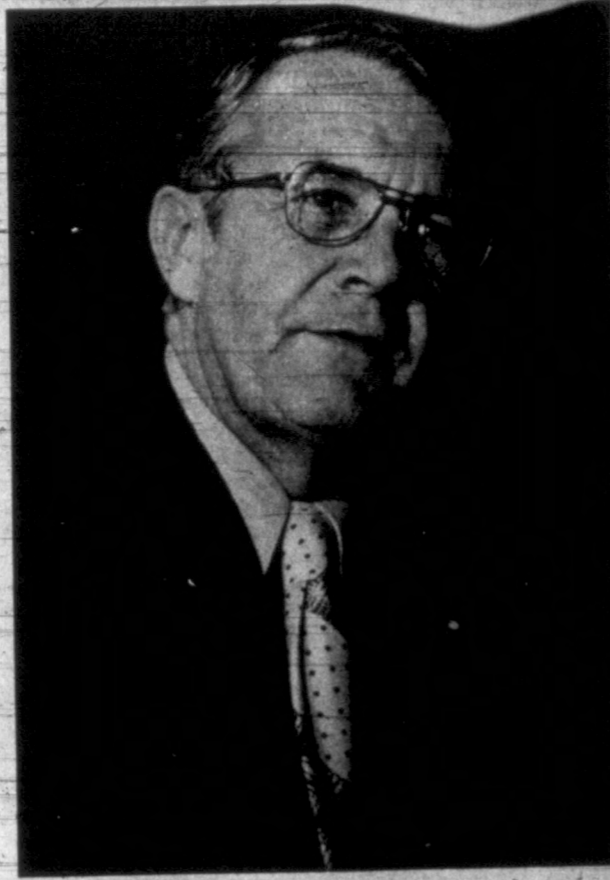

One unique aspect of the camp is that it is the first cooperative effort between the Boy Scout program and a branch of the federal government (Tennessee Valley Authority.)

Speaking to an audience of Boy Scouts and TVA officials Friday at a luncheon at the Kenlake Hotel, Ford said, the new scout camp is the end result of dreams and actions, "Nowhere in this country is there the opportunity that will be presented to these young people here in the Land Between the Lakes," Ford said. "The closeness to nature is tremendous."

Aubrey J. Wagner, chairman of the TVA, which owns the Land Between the Lakes, spoke at a dinner for the group at Brandon Spring Group Camp last night.

"...We have always considered the scouting organization as part of the team here in Land Between the Lakes, and we look forward to joining forces with the Boy Scouts of America to make the Land Between the Lakes Gateway one of the top High Adventure bases in the country. We are pleased you are here, and we are proud that you have chosen Land Between the Lakes as the location for the first High Adventure program in this part of the country," Wagner said.

The Land Between the Lakes Gateway is a base station provided for Scouts and designed "to create a climate for the best outdoor techniques found anywhere in America." The base provides camping, swimming, fishing, exploring, sailing, canoeing, backpacking, and hiking for scouts 14 and older.

Marketbasket Survey Shows Prices Are Up

Consumers encouraged by recent price declines found during May that relief was short-lived. An Associated Press marketbasket survey showed the family grocery bill went up again last month.

The AP checked the prices of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked at the start of each succeeding month. The figures in the latest survey reflected the April 30 end of price controls and the continuing spiral in commodities prices on the world market.

The latest AP check showed that during May the marketbasket total went up in eight cities, rising an average of 4 per cent, and declined in five. It was the reverse of the situation in April when the bill went down in eight cities and up in five. During March, the marketbasket total went down in nine cities.

The bill at the end of May was higher than on March 1, 1973, in every city. Increases averaged 15 per cent and ranged from 5 per cent in Seattle to 23 per cent in Boston. Eggs were about the only real bargain around. In many cities, the current price was lower than the March 1, 1973, level. The decline has been a steady one, caused by increased supplies of eggs. The average price of a dozen, medium white eggs in the latest survey was 54 cents, down 11 per cent from the figure one month ago and down 13 per cent from the cost on March 1, 1973.

In a less encouraging vein, however, detergent, which retained fairly steady in earlier months, shot up in nine cities during May, rising an average of 8 per cent.

Sugar which started rising last year and has climbed ever since went up again in 10 cities during May and stayed unchanged in three. The average price was $1.38, up 12 per cent from the $1.23 figure at the end of April and up 89 per cent the 73-cent figure on March 1, 1973.

The cities in the AP survey were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Ga., Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

The items on the checklist were: chopped chuck, pork chops, paper towels, frozen orange juice, coffee, butter, eggs, peanut butter, detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, cookies, milk, all-beef frankfurters and granulated sugar.

Motorcycle Ordinance To Be Drafted For City

By DAVID HILL

Murray, Ledger & Times Writer

The Murray City Council Friday voted unanimously to draw up a City ordinance regulating and controlling the operation of motorized recreational vehicles on private property within the city limits. Aimed specifically at stopping the usage of off-road motorcycles and trail bikes in the city limits, the key passage in the proposed ordinance reads "No vehicles described as dune buggies, go-carts, all-terrain vehicles, motorbikes, motor scooters, trail bikes, motorcycles, snowmobiles, or similar vehicles shall be operated upon private property in residentially zoned areas, other than on private streets, driveways and/or parking lots, within the Corporate Limits of the City of Murray, Kentucky."

The proposed ordinance specifies that such vehicles must be so equipped as to meet any existing or imposed federal state or municipal restrictions governing emission of noise, smoke, noxious fumes, or other nuisance to protect the rights of other individuals in Murray.

The measure also reads that no motorized vehicle other than maintenance shall be operated at any time within any public park in Murray, except in areas specifically designated for such operation.

Also contained within the ordinance is the provision for penalties of up to six months in jail and up to a $500 fine or both for violating any provision of the ordinance.

Ordinance 597 dealing with water rate increases was passed for the second time by an 8-3 margin, with Councilmen Ed Chrisman, Howard Koenen and Art Lee dissenting. Also passed by a 9-2 vote was a similar sewer measure, with Koenen and Chrisman voting against.

Ordinance Number 600, amending the previously passed dog ordinance, was passed 11-0 on the first reading, changing the law to allow any police officer to authorize the release of a dog from the city dog pound after the owner has claimed it and paid the redemption fee.

PROPOSES ORDINANCE—Councilman Melvin Henley Friday proposed a model for a motorcycle ordinance for the city. The City Council agreed to have a similar ordinance drafted for its approval. Staff Photo by David Hill

Murray Man Held In Hickman Co.

A Murray man is reportedly being held in Hickman in connection with the robbery of a drug store there Thursday.

Michael Leve, 22, was arrested by Fulton County and Hickman authorities following a high speed chase along Ky. 94.

Hickman authorities said a man walked into the drug store, held a knife on Glenn Wiseman, 18, an employee, demanded the key to the drug box, and took a "large amount" of drugs.

Gordon Ramsey, owner of the drug store, said "no estimate has been made of the value of the drugs."

A bystander saw the man leave the drug store and notified Hickman authorities. The high speed chase resulted with Deputy Sheriff Lewis Parnell and Police Chief James Curlin in pursuit.

Authorities said Leve finally pulled off the highway and stopped. The vehicle he was driving was registered to Donald Elias, 614 Belmont, Murray, police said.

A preliminary hearing for Leve will be held Monday before County Judge James Menees.

Exchange Of Wounded Prisoners Begins Today In Mideast Pact

By The Associated Press

Swiss aircraft stood by today in Damascus and Tel Aviv to begin the exchange of wounded prisoners of war promised in the Israeli-Syrian disengagement agreement.

In related developments, Syrian and Israeli generals planned to meet today in Geneva on other details of the agreement, aided by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and signed by the two sides Friday.

The Golan Heights front, scene of 81 days of Israeli and Syrian battles, became quiet shortly after the signing.

Israel and Syria agreed in the disengagement pact to swap wounded prisoners of war within 24 hours of the signing of the agreement. Other prisoners are to be exchanged after the generals finish their discussions in Geneva, for which five days have been allotted.

The Israelis say they hold 392 Syrians, 10 Iraqis and six Moroccans captured on the Syrian front. Syria reports holding 68 Israelis, three of them civilians.

Sources in Geneva speculated that the military teams, headed by Maj. Gen. Herzl Shafir, Israel's chief of armed forces operations, and Gen. Adnan Taryar of Syria, might finish their work in less than five days. They are working on such matters as how Syria and Israel will thin out their forces and the exact disengagement lines.

Palestinian politicians and guerrilla leaders planned to meet in Cairo today to discuss whether to join the Middle East peace talks scheduled to resume in Geneva or to continue their 26-year struggle against Israel.

Reports said they were sharply divided over what course to take.

The Palestinians also planned to discuss the possible creation of a separate Palestinian state in the Gaza Strip and the west bank of the Jordan River if Israel should give up those territories.

In other developments:

The Beirut newspaper An Nahar reported that the United States and Syria, which broke relations during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, have decided in principle to resume relations.

Washington sources said President Nixon may visit Syria during his Middle East trip this month. He is expected so far to stop in Egypt, Israel, Saudi Arabia and probably Jordan. Nixon is due to make a week-long trip to the Soviet Union on June 27.

Teenage Gunmen Giveup After Seven-Hour Ordeal

RANCHO CORDOVA, Calif. (AP) — Two teen-aged gunmen walked calmly out of a Sacramento area bank and surrendered after holding 25 hostages, some for more than seven hours.

They left behind 17 uninjured captives and $1 million in ransom, the money stacked neatly in six-inch high bundles along one wall of the bank.

The drama began shortly before noon Friday and ended after bank officials collected the massive ransom and dropped it through the bank's night collection chute in 91 brown paper bags.

At different times during the ordeal, the gunmen forced two women hostages into the bank vault and taped a shotgun to their necks, said Bill Miller of the Sacramento County sheriff's office.

He identified the youths as Michael Madigan, 19, and Brian Young, 18, both of Rancho Cordova. Both were booked initially for investigation of armed robbery.

Authorities said a third youth, who was not identified, was taken into custody and was being questioned as a possible participant in the planning of the holdup.

Miller said the teen-age bandits burst into a shopping center bank and herded 24 customers and employees into a corner.

About 100 policemen circled the bank and cordoned off surrounding streets and parking lots.

The youths demanded the $1 million ransom and an assurance of free passage out of town in exchange for their prisoners.

The youths agreed to release eight of the hostages in exchange for a sheriff's corporal.

Officer Robert Ruh stripped to the waist, walked into the bank and over the next five hours talked the youths into surrendering.

"After I talked to both of them I figured it was just a matter of time," he said. "I used every means I could to appeal to their logic."

Preliminary Park Plans Published In Today's Issue

An architect's drawing of the preliminary plans for the new Murray-Calloway County Park is being published on page 5 of today's edition of The Murray Ledger & Times.

The preliminary plans include four ball diamonds plus four practice diamonds, nature areas, a senior citizens center, a community center, a swimming pool and a nine-hole, par three golf course.

The park will be developed jointly by the city and county with the two agencies matching a grant from the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. Application has been made for the federal grant, totaling over $300,000.

The local officials said that they are seeking assistance from the state and federal governments in obtaining these funds.

"We have done our part now, we have gotten together, and now we need the help of our congressmen, senators, legislators and the governor, one local official said Friday.

The proposed park development is located on property just east of Central Shopping Center and just north of Arcadia Drive.

An anonymous supporter of the camp has pledged $25,000 dollars to begin the campaign and another $25,000 dollars if the eleven associations, who own and operate the camp, would raise $50,000 dollars.

There are over 300 supporting churches in the area served by the camp and it is anticipated that the goal will be exceeded.

Eddyville Inmate Commits Suicide

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Coroner Eugene Denney says his investigation and an autopsy report showed that an inmate at the Kentucky State Penitentiary committed suicide by hanging.

The autopsy report said the inmate, Felix James Briggs Jr., 30, of Louisville, died from asphyxiation by hanging, and there was "no evidence of drugs or other foul play."

Briggs' mother, Lillian Briggs, had said after the death that marks on the body convinced her her son did not commit suicide.

Later, other inmates said they believed Briggs was driven to suicide by threats and taunts from other prisoners.

Special Letters Being Sent Out Concerning Care Of Cemetery

Down Concord Way

The checks are to be mailed to Frank McCuiston, Murray, John Tom Taylor, Route 4, Murray, or James G. Wilson, New Concord.

Many addresses are unknown, but maybe the Ledger & Times reaches to unknown corners, so this is a chance for all to make a tax free donation to honor their dead.

Keys Patterson, owner of the former Nance Place and now with Randall Patterson's son, Harry, will be the new managers of Gene and Jo's Florist in Murray, is offering to give some land to enlarge Concord Cemetery. Let's help make it beautiful.

Our school may be moving this year. Concord Garage now is for custom built trailers.

Everything may change, but the Cemetery will be here. My thanks for all donations monthly.

This cemetery now shows faint resemblance to the place where her companion was brought years ago when briars, weeds, and honeysuckle were allowed to cover cemeteries.

Mrs. Cook's death came just as a paper, prepared by County Judge Robert O. Miller, was being mailed to those who have relatives buried in Concord Cemetery, asking for $100 donations or what each can afford to establish a trust fund to be placed in a bank so that the interest can yearly be used for the upkeep of the cemetery.

FTC Guides Found Now on Fabric

Now is the time to replenish your fabric supply for next year's sewing, reports a clothing specialist with the University of Tennessee Agricultural Extension Service.

"Stores are selling their present stock to make room for next season's fabrics," explains Helen Rader, UT professor. "If you can anticipate your needs, great savings on the family wardrobe can be realized. This will be especially helpful as clothing prices continue to rise."

According to the specialist, the danger with this form of shopping is buying more than really needed.

"Without a definite pattern in mind, it's difficult to calculate the exact yardage required to make a particular garment," adds Miss Rader. "Those extra half yards do add up and bargains become expensive. It's easy to get carried away with the idea of getting beautiful fabrics at marked-down prices. Quick calculations need to be made to see how each piece of fabric will fit in a wardrobe plan."

Keep in mind that fabrics can go out of style as quickly as dress styles, points out Miss Rader.

If you don't have time to sew, the fabric will hardly be a bargain. Your money is tied up with nothing wearable to show for it.

Tell husband vacation should be fun for all

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I can't agree on what constitutes a vacation. Paul and I have four kids, ranging in ages from 10 to 16. Last summer a friend turned over his farm to us and we took the kids and spent three weeks there. Paul is a country boy at heart. He likes to get up at the crack of dawn and run the tractor and spend every evening rocking on the front porch, looking into space and listening to the crickets. Meanwhile, I do all the laundry, cooking and dishes. [This is a vacation?]

Paul wants to go to this farm again, and I say we should leave the kids home and take a real vacation alone somewhere. My mother agreed to stay with our kids. What should I do? Take the credit cards and go to Reno?

CITY GIRL

DEAR CITY GIRL: To Renb with credit cards? What for? To gamble or file for a divorce? Why not compromise, and do what Paul wants to do for half the vacation and what you want to do for the other half?

DEAR ABBY: I'm not much of a letter writer, but I need some answers, so here goes:

The other day I got a questionnaire in the mail. It was a form to fill out. There were lots of questions about a friend of mine who apparently had applied for a job with a big company. Here are some of the questions:

Has _____ ever been in trouble with the law?
Does _____ drink? Moderately? Excessively?
Does _____ use drugs?
What do you know about _____'s general health?
Please name some of _____'s undesirable qualities.
Name some of _____'s good qualities.
Abby, my friend must have given my name for a reference or I wouldn't have received this questionnaire, right?
I have known this person for about 15 years, but I can't honestly answer some of these questions. In fact, if I could, I wouldn't want to. I'm afraid if I don't fill out this form, my friend won't get the job.
How would you handle this?

STUCK

DEAR STUCK: You are under no obligation to answer the questionnaire. I would write a letter telling what I DO know about the applicant and no more.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WHO AM I?" You are a 19-year-old high school dropout who never made a serious effort to stick with anything once the going got rough.

You didn't listen to your father because you thought advice from "a loser" wasn't worth anything.

You didn't graduate from high school because you were too lazy to make your grades, so you told yourself that school was a waste of time, that you had learned all there was to learn there, and you'd be better off in the business world.

Determined as you were to do "your own thing," you haven't done anything because you still don't know what "your own thing" is.

Right now you aren't anybody. But if you sincerely want to be somebody, do this: Go back to school. [Adult education—night classes are available for those who work days.] First, get your high school diploma, then learn a trade or develop a special skill, and work like a sonuvagun. You will then be "somebody," and you won't have to write to Dear Abby to find out who you are.

Bass Club Dream A Reality

"Our dream is now a reality," says Fred Herndon Murray Bass Club president. As he released the 4,000 black bass fingerlings into a holding pond just outside the Murray city limits.

This local club had a dream, a dream that possibly may become the biggest factor for research and propagation of bass by individual clubs in the state of Kentucky and throughout the nation. Their dream was to improve bass fishing for all fishermen. "How?" is the question asked not only by local pessimists but also within the club itself. Through long hours of conference and work, a special stimulate other interest in research on bass species." The Murray Bass Club has set other examples in conservation of the species. In fact one such is the Ken Lake Marina bass holding tank built exclusively by the bass club with materials both purchased and donated by local merchants.

This holding tank will allow fish brought in at the docks in tournaments, to be held, treated and released to battle the anglers rod once more.

Yes, these men are a dedicated bunch, most willing to do their part for Mr. Bass. A recent ruling of the club stated that all bass taken in club tournaments must be released into the waters again following the event.

Twisters for Bass

The new twister worm that just hit the market has really made believers of some local bass catchers. Many bass men are bringing in lunkers that they swear couldn't have been added to the stringer without the use of the new found action worms. Slithering through the water in a corkscrew fashion, the shimmering action just may prove to be the number one bass catcher of the year.

These baits, requiring less material than a regular plastic worm to make, are actually far out of reason in price for most of us bass catchers. The solution? Don't use them and stick on the ole reliable plastic worm, or you can make your own mold and pour your own twister.

This is a simple task, free of high cost if you'll just save your used plastic worms or get a friend to save a few for you.

buy them. But since you are going to pour own at no cost at all, you will need to get hold of an old bean can and put in your favorite flavor of used worms.

Once the plastic hardens, just pull out the completed twister worm.

Heat until the worms are liquid, then set off the stove. Very carefully now, pour the liquid into the mold as uniform to the pattern as possible. You don't have to heat the liquid again as it may cause it to break up and harden even though melted. Simply set it aside after you pour, until you're ready for another pouring or it hardens.

Allow the liquid to harden in the mold for about three minutes, then pull out the worm from the tail and trim off any excess plastic.

This can be a money savor for you, but be aware that these worms must not be sold commercially if they are patterned after one that is already on the market you may be getting a pack of trouble if you do; but you can save yourself money by using this idea to your own advantage.

First, get some plaster of paris, mix as directed. Wait until it gets tacky and press a worm of the twister type onto the plaster to form a perfect mold. Once this hardens, just pull out the worm and "wah la!" You've got the mold that will save you as much as 25 cents per worm if you had to projects committee headed by Gene Maddox, a professor of physics at M.S.U., reached a conclusion. Conservation and propagation of the species has to start somewhere, why not in Murray Bass Club? So they set out talking and shaking hands with local interested landowners; telling them of their idea of rearing bass fingerlings for release into Kentucky Lake. They explained that they didn't intend stocking the lakes by themselves but this would be a Pilot Project. Through the efforts of this club, others are already beginning to follow suit, we may enjoy fishing for many generations to come.

This may not seem like much to those of you in ivory towers, looking at the world with a critical eye, but to a bass fisherman that wants to save the sport he loves, these are big steps in these trying times when the water is yelling from the lashes of anyone and everyone that has taken up fishing. Murray Bass Club is out to save the sport for all of us. Let's help them all we can.

This area can be also proud it has two residents that are interested enough to allow the Murray Bass Club the use of their land and ponds as rearing sites for bass. These men are John Calhoun and Fred Gardner. Thanks to these fine fellows Murray Bass Clubs dream is a reality as may be the future of bass fishing.

Freeze Dry Trophies

By BUTCH GREER

Conventional taxidermy requires hours of tedious work to get everything perfect before it is completed. Meyers Taxidermist Shop of Kankakee, Illinois, is using a new method of mounting fish, game, and birds called "Freeze Dry." This technique is somewhat similar to the freeze dry food process. It has been used successfully to preserve everything from alligators to insects, from baby mice to deer heads.

A much more life-like mount can be made with this method because the actual body and bone structure of the specimen is preserved. The conventional method requires that the skin be placed on a man-made form that, no matter how artistically done, is just not nature's own as it is in the freeze dry method.

Meyers uses the same process used by certain famous museums throughout the world, including the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C.

Animals are simply placed in the desired position, frozen, and then put into the specimen tank refrigerated to well below zero. A near perfect vacuum is then created in the unit which contains many varieties of specimens at once. This, the largest privately owned unit in the United States, is just one cubic foot smaller than that at the Smithsonian.

Periodically the unit is shut off and weights taken on each specimen until no further weight loss occurs indicating the process is finished. Results are remarkable.

Meyers has also been experimentally applying the freeze-drying process to water-damaged documents, books, and ledgers.

Those interested in more information and a price list on a freeze-dry mount can contact: "Buzz" Meyers, Route 3, Box 215, Sand Bar Road, Kankakee, Ill. 60901.

Fred Herndon caught these ten bass on black worms last Saturday on Cypress Creek. The biggest weighed in at 4 1/2 pounds. Herndon caught the string in about five feet of water.

COMMON SENSE AFLOAT

Can you count the infractions against boating safety by this carefree group? To start with, there are 12 obvious "no-no's" — not a single occupant is wearing a life preserver! And how about the guy not only standing up but whipping his rod all over the place. Or the operator trying to steer blindfolded, someone riding on the bow and so on and so on. The worst, of course, is that the boat is "slightly" overloaded! Year after year, overloading the boat with too many people, gear and or too big an engine is a primary cause for drowning fatalities. Most boats have a metal capacity plate usually mounted near the operator's position. It tells how many people you can carry safely. It also gives the capacity of the boat in pounds, including the total weight of passengers, gear and motor. So, either follow the recommendations on the capacity plate or make sure your life insurance premiums are paid up to date!

It's also good common sense to finance your new car as carefully as you select it. Our auto loans are made at lowest bank rates.

Those bass are biting in spite of high water. Local bass hustlers are stringing them up. Dubb Polley and Jerry Kell took a string of big hawks last Sunday with Dubb landing two over seven pounds. Fred Herndon took ten nice bass off the grass with mister twisters, while Ricky Lowe, Chris Miller and Bob Lowe, Sr. landed some big uns. Drane Shelly and his son Johnny has been at the bass again. Johnny took a hawk over 7 1/2 pounds from the shallows on a worm.

The bass seem to be moving out but spinner baits and worms are taking the big uns. Mark Bucy and Terry Yarbrough are catching some slab crappie as is Sam Rodgers. Barkley is producing for these men.

Water temp. is around 70 degrees and 361 level on both lakes. Best fishing is yet to come as stripes are breaking loose as well as catfish.

Inflation—How Serious?

(From The Kentucky Post)

The prevailing sentiment in the Nixon Administration seems to be that inflation is alarming, but not nearly as alarming as the gloomsayers would have us believe.

"These are not the best of times," economic adviser Herbert Stein said this week, "but these are not the worst of times either."

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns apparently "doesn't agree."

Burns told a college graduating class this week that the future of the country is "in jeopardy" if the present inflation rate continues much longer.

Indeed, if the most recent three-month rate continues, Americans could find themselves paying $9 next spring for a bag of groceries that costs $8 today.

Real disposable income has dropped 6.8 per cent since last fall, which means most pay raises aren't keeping up with prices.

But there is nothing to be gained by getting into a semantic argument over who worries the most about inflation—the President or his critics.

The important thing is to cool down the economy.

On two fronts—tight money and no tax cuts—the Administration is hanging tough, as it should.

Missing, however, is a strong Nixon commitment to cut federal spending. Instead, there is a predicted deficit of $11.4 billion for the new fiscal year beginning July 1. That's too high, and it's time some reductions were made.

Treasury Secretary William E. Simon favors budget cuts.

Economist Stein says he's doing some "yipping" of his own on the subject.

What's needed now is a recognition by the President, and by Congress, that six straight years of deficit spending is a luxury no nation can afford if it's serious about bringing inflation under control.

Credit for Retirees?

By Virginia Knauer
Special Assistant to the President and Director
Office of Consumer Affairs
Department of Health, Education and Welfare

You've just received word of the birth of your first grandchild. You've rushed to make plane reservations, and you're ready to go to the airport.

Suddenly you realize that you don't have enough cash to pay for the ticket. And you don't receive your pension check until the end of the week, so you can't write a check.

Luckily, you think, you have a credit card, so you'll tell the airline to "charge it."

Under these circumstances, there's convenience—and relief—in being able to use credit. But in general, people who are retired and are living on fixed incomes are usually advised to be particularly careful about using credit.

In fact, many stores and lending institutions are reluctant to open charge accounts or give loans to people who are retired or are over 65.

It's not difficult to see the reason for this policy. A fixed income usually requires cautious budgeting—down to the last dollar sign. When it's tight to meet each month's regular bills, "charging" extra bills may loosen the squeeze for the moment, but it's not the prudent approach.

For you who are retired or about to retire, consider these pointers on credit:

• If you have not already retired, remember that it is much easier to get credit while you are still working.

Plan ahead. If you do not already have a bank credit card or a travel and entertainment credit card, you may want to apply for one now. If you plan to travel and to purchase small luxuries after retirement, credit cards may be convenient. But always be sure you can afford it before you say, "Charge it."

• Realize that credit may not be advisable for you once you are retired. A special savings account for "extras" may be wiser—and easier—than the rigmarole of getting a credit card or opening a charge account.

• If you are retired and need extra money now, consider using a co-signer to get a loan.

First, you must be certain that you can meet the monthly payments, regularly and promptly, before you apply for a loan. Second, you must decide who you want to ask to act as co-signer for you. Perhaps a son or daughter who is working. Admittedly, asking someone to be a co-signer might be hard to swallow. The decision must be yours. But first you must know that you really can afford to repay the loan. Worse than asking someone to co-sign would be having the co-signer bail you out.

FRANKFORT—The lackadaisical primary forebodes one of the hottest U. S. Senatorial elections in November that Kentuckians have seen in many a moon.

There are plenty of issues....Washington scandals versus Frankfort scandals. Democrat Governor Wendell Ford will take on incumbent Republican Marlow Cook.

The governor has these issues....Watergate, the economy, the Russian wheat deal, inflation, foreign affairs, energy shortage, virtual stalemate in federal government, public mistrust, bugging, trying to use federal agencies for political purposes, and a host of others.

Cook has these issues....Ford's absence from Frankfort in galavanting about the nation on political missions for the National Democrat Party, several contracts issued without public notice or competitive bidding, the Creech moving scandal, cronyism in issuing contracts for boat docks, the Cumberland Falls chairlift deal that Ford says he didn't even know about until it was signed, prison investigations, the attempt to extend the Blue Grass Parkway through Fayette County, high pay for political appointees and little increase in pay for the career employees (paper pushers) in state government.

The "let's make a deal" attitude is a stigma on both of their houses.

Some observers here are trying to interpret the 15 per cent vote against Governor Ford as disenchantment of Democrats with the State Administration, but they haven't taken into consideration the number of Republican, "whichwayers", who are registered as Democrats.

There are Democrat "whichwayers" also. These people change registration with the party in power in Frankfort.

Meanwhile, don't overlook the 1975 state races. Lt. Gov. Julian Carroll may win the Democratic nomination without serious opposition, and he is going to be hard to beat. But the lieutenant governor's race is a horse of a different color. There are many possibilities. Demo State Senator Tom Ward of Versailles is forming an organization right now.

Nehru's Legacy To India

The world looks at India today and sees problems of poverty, language, religious enmity and allegations of corruption.

But also sees a free country, one of the few true democracies in Asia.

And India's grip on its independence recalls the influence of its first prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru, who died ten years ago, May 27, 1964. For 17 years, Nehru guided the affairs of the fledgling republic through the pitfalls of a teeming population and inadequate industrial and agricultural production. He held the country together through a humiliating border war with China. He fulfilled a pledge to make India worthy of worldwide respect.

The problems remain. Production has increased, but every year India adds 13 million people to its population of more than 600 million. Soaring prices have weakened the nation's capacity to meet the needs of the people. The leadership of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, Nehru's daughter, despite India's proclaimed breakthrough in nuclear weaponry, is threatened by internal dissent.

But with time and luck, thanks to the legacy of determination left by Nehru, India can be expected to meet and overcome its difficulties through the democratic processes it guards so jealously.

Let The System Work

There have been leaks from the room where the House Judiciary Committee is holding closed-door hearings on the possible impeachment of President Nixon.

Some members of the committee have been coming out of the meetings and feeding newsmen information that the committee has sought to keep secret.

In other words, these individual congressmen are refusing to play by the rules.

That makes it harder for everyone involved in the impeachment process to make the system work in an orderly manner as provided in the Constitution.

And it makes it hard to expect President Nixon to cooperate fully with the committee.

Not that the public should be denied full disclosure of all relevant evidence. Such disclosure is essential to the impeachment process. It will come at the proper time. Partial, prejudicial premature publication of fragments of the evidence, however, does not contribute to the process. It can warp public opinion.

The Judiciary Committee now is screening the evidence assembled by its staff, much as a grand jury screens evidence behind closed doors.

Tampering with a grand jury, trying to persuade one of its members to violate his oath of secrecy, is a criminal offense.

For a congressman to violate the secrecy of the Judiciary Committee hearing room is a similar violation of the judicial ethics of the impeachment process.

The committee should inquire into the disgraceful leaks and take disciplinary action against any of its own members who are found responsible.

Stadium May Be Renamed After Football Player Dead Since '23

By GORDON HANSON
Associated Press Writer
AMES, Iowa (AP) — Jack Trice made the trip to Minnesota in 1923 knowing he would play in his first college football game. He couldn't know that three days later he would be dead.

Trice was black. Prejudices of the day had already kept him from playing for Iowa State College in games at Nebraska and St. Louis.

But now the team and coaches had rallied behind him. He was to be a starter.

On the eve of the game, he sat in his Curtis Hotel room in Minneapolis and scribbled on hotel stationery: "My thoughts just before the first real college game of my life."

In that brief note of reminder he said, "The honor of my race, family and self is at stake. Everyone is expecting me to do big things. I will."

"My whole body and soul are to be thrown recklessly about the field. Every time the ball is snapped, I will be trying to do more than my part. Fight low, with your eyes open and toward the play. Watch out for cross-bucks and reverse end runs." Newspaper accounts of the Oct. 6, 1923 game said Minnesota was leading 14-10 in the third quarter and had possession of the ball.

The next play was a cross-buck, one Trice had cautioned himself about. The Iowa State defensive line buckled and Trice rushed in. He stopped the play but landed on his back. Three charging Minnesota players ran over him.

Newspapers said that as he was helped to the sidelines, Minnesota fans rose and chanted: "We're sorry, Ames, we're sorry."

Trice was returned to Ames in a Pullman railroad car—lying on a bed of straw—and was taken immediately to the school hospital.

He died on Monday of hemorrhaging lungs and internal bleeding in the abdomen.

His personal note of inspiration was found in his jacket pocket the day he was buried.

Trice was born in Hiram, Ohio, where he attended school through the eighth grade before the family moved to Cleveland.

He came to Iowa State College (now University) in 1922 and was majoring in animal husbandry, carrying a grade average of 90. He and his wife, Cora Mae, worked part-time so he could stay in school.

After his death a plaque in his honor was placed in the Old State Gym. It was covered with dust and bird droppings when it attracted the curiosity of English teacher Alan Beals in 1973. One of his classes tracked down the story behind the obscure plaque.

Student and faculty support is growing today to name the new $7.1 million Iowa State stadium after Trice, said English instructor Charles Sohn. The student governing body voted unanimously for it.

"The only noticeable reluctance to support the name 'Jack Trice Stadium' has been from university officials who would have the most influence in such a decision," Sohn said.

"Students would now resent the naming of the stadium after someone such as a large contributor."

Reds On Move, Siebert Pitches Cards To Win

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Here come the Cincinnati Reds... and there go the Philadelphia Phillies.

Those loud footsteps behind the pace-setting Los Angeles Dodgers in the National League West belong to the Reds, division champions in three of the last four years, who won their seventh consecutive game Friday night, downing Pittsburgh 7-5.

Meanwhile, in the East, a lovely May came to a dreary conclusion for the Phillies, who saw their stay at the top of the division end along with the month Friday night when they bowed to the San Francisco Giants 6-2.

In other National League games Friday, Houston rapped New York 7-1, St. Louis shut out San Diego 5-0 and Los Angeles defeated Chicago 8-3. Atlanta's game at Montreal was rained out.

The Reds are still a fat seven games behind the sizzling Dodgers in the West but Los Angeles also had that kind of lead a year ago and Cincinnati wiped it out.

The Pirates were nursing a 5-3 lead into the seventh on a pair of homers by Bob Robertson but Johnny Bench's bases-loaded triple turned it around. "The balls were really carrying tonight," the Reds' slugger said. "I thought mine was a sacrifice fly but it carried to the fence. And with my lightning speed," he added with a grin, "I waltzed into third base standing up."

Philadelphia is also streaking, but in the wrong direction. The Phillies dropped their fifth in a row and slipped into second place in the East, one percentage point back of St. Louis. Manager Danny Ozark thinks he knows what's wrong with his Phillies.

"It's a lack of confidence," said Ozark. "We're taking pitches we should hit. We've become less aggressive at bat.

We're talking ourselves into a slump."

Dodgers 8, Cubs 3
Bill Russell, Rick Auerbach and Bill Buckner drilled three hits each and the Los Angeles Dodgers picked up four unearned runs to defeat Chicago.

Buckner also stole three bases and Mike Marshall, appearing in his 33rd game, picked up his eighth save for the the Dodgers, leaders in the NL West. Los Angeles also committed four errors, leading to two unearned runs for the Cubs.

Astros 7, Mets 1
Houston stretched its winning streak to five games as Cesar Cedeno ripped four hits including his 10th homer and Doug Rader and Tommy Helms added three hits each against the Mets.

It was the fourth straight loss for stumbling New York, fifth in the East Division, five games off the pace.

Cards 5, Padres 0
Sonny Siebert tossed a five-hitter for his third shutout of the season and red-hot Reggie Smith blasted his 10th home run, helping the Cards past the Padres and into first place in the NL East.

The shutout extended Siebert's scoreless string to 24 innings.

Record Pace

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, off to a record attendance pace, expect to surpass the half-million mark this weekend in a National League series with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Judy Rankin Grabs Lead At Baltimore Tourney

BALTIMORE (AP) — Picking up where she left off last year, defending champion Judy Rankin lead the Baltimore Golf championship with a two-under-par 71 at Pine Ridge.

Mrs. Rankin's game Friday was highlighted by a birdie-four at the 18th green, when she chipped in from behind the putting surface, 35 feet from the cup.

The birdie put veteran Kathy Whitworth and rookie Jerilyn Britz in a tie for second place at 72, with Carol Mann, Mary Lou Crocker, Judy Meister and Beth Stone following at 73.

Mrs. Rankin came into the event backed by 4-3-2 finishes the last three weeks.

She began with a birdie-four on the opening hole, when she dropped a six-foot putt.

She came to within a foot for a birdie-four at the 12th, but gave it back at the next hole when she skied her tee shot and never recovered.

Mrs. Rankin saved par with a 10-foot putt at the 15th and then ended the round with her closing birdie.

Almost half the field of 60 players finished within five shots of the leader. There was a log jam in the 74-75 range with six of the women finishing at 74 and nine ending the round one stroke further back.

Among the notable casualties was Sandra Haynie, who carded at 77 and Betty Burfiend, Gail Denenberg and Sandra Post, all of whom shot 79's.

Good Thing Wallenda Wasn't Walking On Air

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

Fortunately for the Great Wallenda, he didn't walk across the top of Cleveland's Municipal Stadium until after the Royals-Indians game Friday night.

If the tightrope walker had decided on a practice run, say, during the Kansas City fourth inning, there might have been trouble.

A wire cable had been strung above the field for a typical death-defying Wallenda performance. And Vada Pinson, just trying to be helpful as rain pelted the players, fans and field, hit the wire with a fly ball.

"I did it to knock the rain off," Pinson joked after the Royals' 4-2 victory. "So he wouldn't slip, you know."

Although Pinson took the fluke in stride, the real damage was done by Amos Otis' two-run single and John Mayberry's 10th home run of the season, which gave the Royals a 3-2 lead. Jim Wohlford brought in the other run to lower Steve Kline's record to 3-6.

John Lowenstein and Jack Brohamer drove in the Cleveland runs.

A's 5, Brewers 2
Joe Rudi's three-run home run was the highlight of a five-run Oakland fourth inning in the victory over Milwaukee.

Dave Hamilton and Rollie Fingers combined for a seven-hitter, permitting one run each. Milwaukee's Bob Ellis drove one run home with a single in the second inning and Don Money the other in the eighth.

Angel Mangual drove in another run for the A's. The other scored on a wild pitch.

Angels 5, Tigers 3
Ellie Rodriguez drove in four runs with two solo home runs and a double to carry California past Detroit.

Rodriguez hit the double in the second inning, broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning with his third home run of the season, and added insurance with a homer in the seventh to hand Mickey Lolich his sixth loss against five victories.

Rangers 7, Orioles 6
Toby Harrah stroked three hits—including the tie-breaking single in seventh inning—and scored twice to pace the Texas triumph over Baltimore.

The Orioles knocked out Rangers ace Ferguson Jenkins with four runs in the first, but Harrah brought Texas back. He tripled and singled—earlier, building runs in the second and fourth.

Twins 5, Yankees 2
Tony Oliva slapped four hits—only two less than the Yankees could manage—and Steve Brye drove in two runs with a first-inning double to lead Minnesota past New York.

Joe Decker, Tom Burgmeier and Bill Campbell combined to hold the Yankees to six hits while the Twins sprinted to a three-run, five-hit first inning for the triumph.

White Sox 3, Red Sox 2
Dick Allen blasted his ninth home run of the season and Bill Melton followed with his fourth of the year in the third inning to power Chicago's victory over Boston.

Terry Forster picked up his 10th save of the season by relieving Wilbur Wood, 8-6, for the final out of the game. Boston's Carlton Fisk provided the Boston scoring with his sixth and seventh home runs of the year.

Legion To Open Play Friday

The Murray American Legion baseball season will open with a twinbill Friday night in Holland Stadium at 6:30 p.m. against Union City.

Thus far, the team has had just one practice session but will be working out every night next week at the Murray High field.

A partial list of some people who will be playing ball for the team is as follows: Mark Miller, Randy Conner, David Thorn and Keith Wilkers— all of Calloway County High; Tony Thurmond, Johnny Hewitt and Johnny Shelley, all of Murray High; Joey Mike and Jeff Wilson, both of Mayfield; Gary Mitchell and Larry McGregor, both of South Marshall; Greg Smith of Farmington, Mike Shelton of North Marshall and Charlie Rains, who pitched a year ago at Murray High.

A week from today, the team will be at Clarksville for a single game and then a week from Sunday, at Bowling Green for two.

Hopefully, the roster will have more players and the coaches, Tommy Brown and Johnny Williams, will have an idea of the lineup so we can have a pre-season story sometime next week, along with the complete schedule.

Since Paris, Benton and Mayfield will not have legion teams, the closest road game for the local team will be at Paducah.

Five Athletes On MSU List

The list of athletes who could be ineligible at Murray for sports competition next year contains five names, considerably smaller than the original list of 17.

Although the names have not been released, since an actual ruling from the NCAA hasn't been made, the list contains three members of the Racer basketball team.

The whole controversy, as most people know by now, stems from a misinterpretation of NCAA regulations by the Ohio Valley Conference commissioner.

Those athletes affected by the ruling had nothing at all to do with their ineligibility, since it was a mistake from the conference.

And to punish those players by not letting them play next season would have a severe affect upon the future of the OVC.

In all probability, the NCAA will rule sometime in the near future on the case. And it is hoped, that instead of all the affected athletes being declared ineligible, they will only be declared ineligible for post-season tournament play, thus allowing them to compete next season in their respective sports.

Large Field Expected For Hart Golf Tourney

The defending champion and the event's only two-time winner will be in the field when 109 of the area's top lady golfers tee off Wednesday in the 7th annual George Hart Invitational Tournament at the Murray-Galloway Country Club.

On hand to defend the championship she won last year with an 81, six over ladies' par for the 6,300-yard course, will be Mrs. Harriett Jaeger of Jackson, Mo.

Playing with her in the same foursome will be another Missourian and the lady whom she beat by a single stroke to take the championship flight in last year's tournament, Mrs. Mary Bain of Silkeston, Mo. and the leader at the end of the first nine holes of the 18-hole medal play event.

After making the turn as 43 and three strokes behind Mrs. Bain last year, Mrs. Jaeger, the mother of five and who plays her golf at the Kimberland Country Club in Jackson, parred the next eight holes and carded a bogey five on the 385-yard, uphill 18th to edge Mrs. Bain by a single stroke.

This year's tournament will be only the third time to play the Murray course for Mrs. Jaeger. The first time was three years ago when she participated but failed to take home any of the prizes awarded.

Mrs. Jaeger is scheduled to start play from the first tee in a foursome composed of Eleanor Griffin of Paducah, Lea Larson of Clarksville, Tenn., and Mrs. Bain at 9:56 a.m.

She will be surrounded by plenty of competition with Mrs. Mary Jane Alford of Paducah, the only two-time winner of the tournament, playing in the foursome behind her. Playing with Mrs. Alford, who finished their last year only four strokes behind Mrs. Jaeger, will be Wanda Mullinax, Paducah; Charstine Umbach, Paris, Tenn., and Ida Bell Newman of Paris.

In the foursome ahead, and scheduled to leave the first tee at 9:48 a.m., will be Phyllis Kain of the host club, Betty Shepard of the Oaks Country Club in Murray, and Beverly Parker and Betty Lowry of the Calloway Club, any one of the four fully capable of making a run at the championship.

Fighting in the tournament will be done on the basis of the players' handicaps, according to Mrs. Elizabeth Stumeyer, who along with Mrs. Lowry is directing the tournament. The top several winners in the championship and five other flights will receive prizes valued at several hundreds of dollars.

The winner of the championship flight also will receive the coveted traveling trophy presented by Mrs. Lochie Hart of Murray in memory of her husband, a prominent banker, civic leader, former mayor and for whom the tournament is named.

In addition, the Dorothy Holland trophy will be presented to the four players from any one club whose aggregate score is lowest of that of any similar participating. This trophy was won last year for the second time in a row by the Paxton Park team from Paducah composed of Mrs. Alford, Mrs. Mullinax, Mrs. Griffin and Virginia Davis with a combined score of 343.

OVC Officials To Meet Next Week With NCAA

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — An NCAA ban on conversion of college entrance test scores, which so far has resulted in more than 20 Ohio Valley Conference athletes being declared ineligible, will be discussed by OVC officials and a representative of the NCAA here next Thursday.

The ineligibility rulings stemmed from failure of the OVC schools to adhere to the NCAA's ban on conversion of Scholastic Aptitude Test scores to American College Test equivalents.

The practice was outlawed by the NCAA effective Jan. 1, 1971. John Oldham, Western Kentucky University's athletic director, said the school agreed Friday to host the meeting, which also will include OVC Commissioner Art Guepe. Earlier, OVC officials and Guepe announced plans for a

Trevino Blisters Course With 64 And Soars To Kemper Lead

By BOB GREEN
 AP Golf Writer
 CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Lee Trevino is fat and sassy again.

"I put on 10 pounds on purpose a couple of weeks ago," the wise-cracking Trevino said Friday after he'd forged into the second-round lead in the $250,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament with a course-record, eight-under-par 64.

"I'll go to Hartford next week to get ready for the U.S. Open, and I'll shed it then, tone down and be ready and raring to go," said the squat and swarthy man who once again is possessed of the enormous skills that made him a part of the American legend.

He one-putted nine times on his way to what he said was maybe the best competitive round he's ever had.

His 134 total was 10 strokes under par for the 7,065-yard Quail Hollow Country Club course, within two shots of the best 36-hole total of the year, but only one in front of a group of a half-dozen tied for second.

Tied at 135 were first-round leader Tom Watson, Jerry Heard, J.C. Snead, Gibby Gilbert, little Chi Chi Rodriguez and John Jacobs. Gilbert made eagle on the last hole for a 65. Chi Chi has 10 one-putts for the same score. Snead and Heard had 66s in the hot, muggy, almost windless weather, Jacobs had a 67 and Watson took a 70.

There were 20 scores of 67—five under par—or better posted in the second round alone. It took a score of 142, two under par, to qualify for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

The two under par cut figure represented the lowest on the tour this year.

Among the casualties were Arriolo Palmer and defending Kemper champion Tom Weiskopf. Palmer took a second-round 78 for 146. It was the third time in a row he'd missed the cut and marked the first time in his 20-year career he'd failed to qualify in three consecutive appearances.

Hubert Green, a two-time winner this season, had another 68 for 136. Billy Casper took 68-137. Australian Bruce Crampton and Johnny Miller, a five-time winner this season, had 138s. Masters champion Gary Player just made the cut at 72-142.

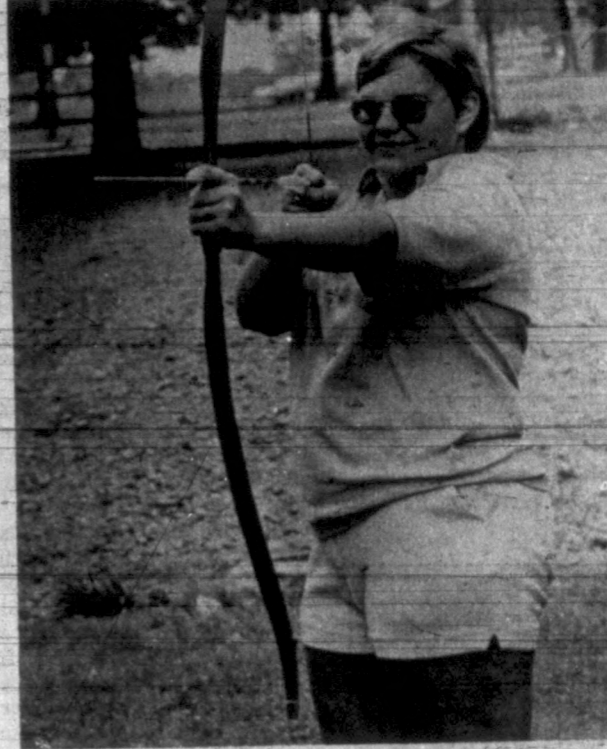

Trevino said there was a plan behind his weight gain to 185 pounds.

"When you're heavier, you're more easy-going. You don't get nervous so much. Things don't bother you. That's the way I wanted to be going into the practice for the U.S. Open. I'll lose the weight next week and be ready."

It seemed to work, said Trevino's playing partner Chuck Courtney.

"It was one of the greatest rounds of golf I've ever seen," Courtney said. "Every iron shot he hit just ate up the flag."

Twice he hit irons within a foot of the cup. Another stopped

Contented Bill Walton Wants To Leave Hospital For A Hike

PORTLAND, Ore. (AL) — It was a sunny 78 degrees outside and his backpack was within reach, but basketball star-outdoorsman Bill Walton wasn't going anywhere.

The 6-foot-11 UCLA All-American, newest member of the National Basketball Association's Portland Trail Blazers, had no choice. He is recuperating at St. Vincent Hospital after undergoing minor knee surgery Wednesday.

Two days after the operation, Walton was awaiting the go-ahead to leave the hospital.

Asked when he might be up and around again, the Oregon resident answered: "I get up three times a day now, but around again is a different story."

Walton came down from a backpacking trip in the mountains of California to have the operation. One look at his hospital room makes it plain what he plans to do with the rest of his time before training camp begins.

His backpack lies perpendicular to his bed and books on Oregon's bicycle trails frame the window sill in his room.

Walton purchased property outside of Portland shortly after signing a five-year contract with the NBA team for between $2 million and $3 million. As he watched the sunshine Friday, he said, "I'm going to live here a long time. I wouldn't have come up here if I didn't like it in Oregon."

Asked what he plans to do with his riverside land, he replied: "I'm going to try and grow some food to eat. You can't do that in Los Angeles."

Walton shook his head when asked if he would keep in touch with John Wooden, his coach at UCLA. "I don't know," he said. "He's staying in Los Angeles and I don't know if I'll ever go back there again."

Jack Nicklaus has won the Masters golf tournament four times.

Milton Berle Finishes Autobiography

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The dedication of Milton Berle's autobiography reads: "To the funny men ... who were, who are, who will be ... heroes who faced the world naked, but for the weapon of laughter."

Berle has finished a 2 1/2-year task of summing up his life, and he asserts that readers will discover the naked Berle, without the cover-up of his brash, breezy comedies.

"They won't be calling me 'Uncle Miltie' any more," said the comedian. "I tell the story with no holds barred, and I use the kind of language I normally use — not for shock treatment; that's just the way I speak.

"It's the story of the kind of crazy life-style that comedians have to lead, appearing naked before every audience. There is also a strong silver-cord story about my mother and myself.

"My mother — God bless her — was mother, father, wife, sweetheart, everything to me. But there's no hint of incest; this is no Oedipus Rex."

Berle was carrying galley proofs of "My Autobiography," which he wrote with magazine editor Haskell Frankel. It will be published by Delacorte on Oct. 28. He displayed a few pages and it is indeed strong stuff.

Unlike other show biz confessionals, this one is no conquest of alcoholism—"I never drank in my life, never liked the taste." Nor was Berle ever on dope—"I was hooked on show business."

Although he said the book will not be X-rated, he admitted that it will depict his romantic career, beginning with his loss of virginity at 12.

He will also tell about his brushes with the Mafia, which owned many of the night clubs in which he appeared. In 1931 his throat was slashed by a hoodlum.

"Why is it that the things you remember most vividly in your life are the bad things?" he mused.

Among them was the time in 1945 when he was trying out a doomed show, "Spring in Brazil," in Pittsburgh, and he was overcome by the need to see his wife, Joyce Matthews, and their newly adopted daughter.

"The show was death, Joyce and Vicki couldn't come to see me and they scheduled a rehearsal for Thanksgiving day," Berle recalled. "I became hysterical and made a dive for the hotel window."

"My manager tackled me before I could take the leap.

"He calmed me down and said I'd feel better if I had a meal. He started ordering turkey on the telephone and I said, 'See if they have roast beef.'"

"Isn't that like a comedian? Just after trying to kill himself, he wants to see if the kitchen has roast beef!" Berle recorded 510 hours of tape for the book and admitted that the experience was the equivalent to being psychoanalyzed, which he never has been. He uncovered feelings of guilt from his youth, when he was the breadwinner in his family.

At 65, Berle maintains the same working pace he has known virtually all his life. He recently played a dramatic role in "Lepke" with Tony Curtis. He is taping two shows on comedy for ABC's Wide World of Entertainment and may appear with Frank Sinatra in Alaska next month.

There's a store up the street where they'll pierce your ears for nothing.

All we have to do is give a pair of earrings.

Let's just hope they know how to sterilize their equipment.

Maybe all you'll get is a mild cellulitis infection... a penicillin shot would take care of that.

Now hepatitis... that's something else again... a penicillin shot?

Gunmen. . .

(Continued from Page 1) ing the ordeal, both gunmen said they desperately needed the money. "I can't get a job. I can't do nothing. I have no money. I've gone hungry. My dad's been sick. My old man almost died," Madigan said. "I'm going to blow my brains out. I wouldn't be doing this except I just need the money. I can't stand living like I am." Young said he participated in the robbery because of personal problems. "There was no food, I didn't have a job, I have no transportation." "I was crazy to do this and I regret doing it in a sense," Madigan said. "But as long as I did it, I got what I want. I got to talk to people how this establishment gets stuff out of you." The two youths lived next door to each other. Neighbors said both families were financially hard-pressed and that Madigan's father was an invalid.

Scientist Announces New Artificial Blood

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A University of Cincinnati scientist has produced what he believes is a practical artificial blood. The liquid, an oxygenated fluorocarbon, also may be breathable by a submerged human, leading to several possible medical benefits, he said. Dr. Leland Clarke Jr., inventor of the heart-lung machine, disclosed the development, now nearly ready for clinical testing, in an interview with The Associated Press. "We feel over the long run there will be many advantages of artificial blood over natural blood, especially in organ perfusion and preservation," the 55-year-old medical inventor said. "Many thousands of people die each year because they can not get the proper kidney for transplant. I feel its first use will be in kidneys, because it can keep kidneys alive for several days. "That's just one area. It can be stored easily and does not have any blood types, and it can be sterilized, unlike natural

Group To Reduce Claims Of No Qualified Women

NEW YORK (AP) — A national women's group whose members work in the communications industry hopes to reduce claims by some industry executives they can't find "qualified" women for key jobs in their firms. "We want to make it harder to say that," says Patricia L. Nealin, a Chicago broadcast executive installed last weekend as the new president of American Women in Radio and Television—AWRT. She said the AWRT effort doesn't involve legal action, but instead consists of a soon-to-be-published national registry that will list the qualifications and abilities of AWRT members. The idea, she says, is to give communications industry executives a helping hand when they're looking for women to fill positions in broadcasting, advertising, public relations and allied fields. Miss Nealin, who said her organization has 2,333 members, said the registry needn't be used "strictly for a job exchange, although that would be one use of it. "It also will enable us to supply names of women for service on federal commissions and for honorary appointments to various advisory committees. "This information has been requested of us from time to time, and we haven't been able to pull it all together in one spot until now. So we're going to do that in the next two or three months." Miss Nealin, manager of films at WGN-TV in Chicago, said the registry will be available at AWRT's office in Washington, D.C. It'll also be mailed, she added, to the National Association of Broadcasters, the National Cable Television Association, the Federal Communications Commission, state broadcasters' associations and probably radio and TV stations in the nation's major markets. With the booklet, she said, "we are going to be able to say to management, in broadcasting and allied fields. We have all of our members registered professionally. If you need help in finding experts, expertise, executives, managers, ask us. "We think we can help you." Miss Nealin, whose organization was founded 23 years ago, said the organization traditionally has believed in persuasion, not litigation, as a means of opening job opportunities for women in broadcasting.

Heavy Rains Threaten Crops In Upper Midwestern States

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — "I've been farming all my life, and this situation is very bad," says Iowa farmer Kirk Bennett. "Two weeks ago it looked like the biggest crop we'd ever have — before this rainy spell set in." Bennett, 52, who farms near Mapleton in western Iowa, echoed the thoughts of thousands of farmers in the upper Midwest whose crops are in jeopardy because of prolonged spring rains. Crop production problems caused by heavy rains aren't universal throughout nine Midwestern states surveyed Friday. Some even have drought areas, while others are experiencing normal spring planting. Severe damage to corn and small grain crops appeared most likely in a wide east-west belt across central Iowa, portions of North Dakota and Illinois and in Minnesota's Red River Valley. Iowa farmers didn't get all their corn crop planted before four weeks of sustained heavy rain began.

Ford To Be On TV Press Show

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Wendell Ford will join five other governors in a special hour-long telecast of "Meet The Press" on NBC from 11 a.m. to noon Sunday.

He left Friday for the National Governors' Conference in Seattle. The meetings end Wednesday.

Common Cause of Kentucky's a citizens' group, recently asked the governor to endorse its platform on ethics in government as a prelude to a conference panel on the subject.

Dr. Myro Lord of Frankfort, the Common Cause co-chairman, said press secretary Thomas Preston indicated Ford agrees with most of the principles—except any type of public financing of campaigns. However, no written statement was issued.

Lord thanked the governor by letter for his support of election reform and the open meetings act during the past legislature. Those were two of the Common Cause proposals.
