NUMBER THIRTY-FOUR

KEN-TENN DRAWS CROWDS DAY-NIGHT

New attendance records are being set at the Ken-Tenn Exposition this year, despite overcast skies early in the week. The second annual event under the auspices of the Young Men's Business Club got off to a good start Monday, with West's World Wonder Shows providing the best midway ever assembled at the local fair grounds. Lewis Bros. Circus gave two performances daily on Monday and Tuesday, and proved an interesting entertainment feature liked by both the young and old folks.

The band festival was held Wednesday with several bands competing for the awards. The Fulton High School Band did not compete, but acted as host band for the day. Thursday and Thursday night, the Duke of Paducah and his Plantation Party gave several performances which pleased enthusiastic crowds.

Today (Friday) the Midget Auto Races will be run, featuring many dare devil drivers who will provide thrills, speed and gripping excitement in five big events. Bob McKnight and His Ranch Boys will be here all day Saturday and Sunday night. And the final day will see those exciting speedway races for a thrilling climax to a solid week of fun, frolic and entertainment.

Good poultry and dairy exhibits have been entered, as well as several good community booths. Premiums have been awarded to the winners in the various departments.

Safety Meeting Held Here Thursday

A combination safety, fuel and steam heat meeting was conducted Thursday morning by Trainmaster H. K. Buck and K. E. Dawson. The meeting was held in a coach at the Fulton passenger station and was attended by a large number of employees.

The regular quarterly safety meeting was combined with a meeting in which employees were urged to save fuel during the fuel campaign and were instructed on the proper method of handling steam heat appliances on trains during the coming winter.

Midget Drivers To Race Here Friday

The Midget Auto Races will be held at the Ken-Tenn Exposition at the fairgrounds here on Friday afternoon, September 12, the only race of its kind in this section during the season. Don't miss the thrill of seeing 15 open competition racers. The Ken-Tenn Exposition is the only fair or exposition in the south to have an open competition race.

These races will be started by J. Frank Liston, who is one of the leading starters in the country. He has started races at Indianapolis, Gilmore Stadium at Los Angeles and Riverview in Chicago.

Officials of the American Speedways are on the grounds here now. They are H. G. Clark, president and general manager, and T. J. Slattery, official from Chicago.

The leading Midget drivers are: Virgil Ford of East St. Louis, driving No. 16, a Windfield Special.

Harry Meyers of Springfield, Ill., driving car No. 7.

Chuck Marshall of Springfield, driving No. 39 for Joe Shaheen in the car driven by Joe Shaheen, blindfolded, last year.

Bill Marshky of Champaign, Ill., driving No. 6.

Roy Vaughn of Taylorville, Ill., Studebaker Special.

James Hays, St. Louis, Mo.

Jack Zimmerman, Mount Pleasant, Ill.

Pete Romervick, champion Midget driver from Chicago.

Pat Patterson, Memphis, Tenn., is one of the many starters who will be here to run with the champion Midget drivers.

Make your plans to see this thrilling race Friday afternoon at the Fulton fairgrounds.

Fulton Bulldogs Play First Game Friday

The Fulton High School Bulldogs will play their first football game on Friday night of this week against the Martin High team. The game will be played on the college football field in Martin and will begin at 7:45 o'clock. This game was scheduled to be played in Fulton, the first home game, but was changed to the Martin field because of Ken-Tenn Exposition being sponsored by the Young Men's Business Club at the local fairgrounds.

Prospects for a victory over Martin are good as Coach Giles' team was defeated by only 1 point in last year's game with the same team.

Approximate lineup in the opening game is as follows:

Ends—Spence and Nelms.

Tackles—Tosh and Hartman or Hancock.

Guards—Willey and Steele.

Center—McKenzie.

$500,000 TO BE SPENT ON LAKE

Approximately 400 people were at Reelfoot Lake on Wednesday to celebrate the signing of the cooperative agreement between Tennessee and the Federal Government to improve, preserve and reclaim this famed hunting and fishing spot of West Tennessee. The formal presentation of the agreement was made by Governor Cooper to Charles C. Jackson, acting director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service.

For Reelfoot Lake and the surrounding territory it was a momentous occasion which in future years is intended to keep the lake the sportsmen's paradise it is today.

Mr. Jackson said the field force of the Fish and Wildlife Service will move immediately to Reelfoot to begin the rehabilitation program. The controlling of the water level, one of the major problems, along with the improvement of the spillway and the construction of a fish ladder, probably will be the first steps taken. Silt basins will be constructed and erosion work started as soon as possible.

Although the Federal Government will take over 6000 acres of the lake, the state will continue to regulate hunting and fishing on the entire lake. There is a possibility that hunting in the Government's area will be restricted next year. A CCC camp is expected to be established in the area by next spring.

An estimated $500,000 will be spent on conservation work there within the next few years.

FULTON CIRCUIT

E. B. RUCKER, Pastor

Fourth Quarterly conference for the charge is set for October 9, at Pleasant Hill. This notice is given NOW so all the churches may have time to wind up their finances. One church has met its obligations as to salaries and Benevolences in full already. This is because it has a sound system for raising them, the monthly envelope. It will solve the problem of any and all the churches if followed up.

Let me insist that the Missionary Committees get busy and raise the remainder of your Benevolences in the next ten days. All work together and set your time and complete the task. Will you? Please. The revival will begin at Rice City Sunday night, September 21. We trust the church will awake and attend the services.

Next Sunday at 11 o'clock is the regular preaching service at Wesley. We shall be looking for all the membership and our friends also. Come let us worship together.

The Sunday school year will close with last Sunday in September. The Methodist church has NOW its new literature. You must even have a new order-blank to order your literature. The pastor will see the Superintendents and help you decide on what pieces you will order. The old literature of each of the three churches has been condensed into one. So the old is discontinued. To order on old blank or order old literature will only delay your order.

Minister Steps From Pulpit To Cockpit As Aviation Cadet

Temporarily forsaking the pulpit for a chance to win "wings" in the Army Air Force, the Rev. James W. Fuller, Fulton, Ky., Baptist minister, has started pre-flight training at the Initial Training center, Maxwell Field, Ala., it was announced today at Fifth Corps Area Headquarters, Fort Hayes, Columbus, O.

With others of the October Army Aviation Cadet class, the "flying" minister is taking the month's pre-flight training designed to equip cadets with fundamental military and scholastic schooling before they go to primary pilot schools. The course was recently inaugurated by Army Air Force officials to give Aviation Cadets more flying time at air schools by instructing them in ground school subjects before they start the 30-week intensive pilot training.

Mr. Fuller was graduated from Union University, Jackson, Tenn., where he was president of the senior class. Before taking his pastorate in Fulton he was minister of the First Baptist Church in Corbin, Ky. He enlisted for cadet training at Fort Thomas, Ky., on Sept. 3.

Army Aviation Cadet scholarships, worth $25,000 each, are awarded monthly to single men, at least 20 years old and not yet 27, who are physically and educationally qualified. Any Army recruiting station will furnish scholarship application forms.

Louisville Man Speaks To Rotary Club

An analysis of propaganda currently being distributed by commercial transport trucking interests was presented to the Fulton Rotary Club on Tuesday, Sept. 9, by Gardner C. Hudson, of Louisville, Executive Secretary of the Kentucky Railroad Association. The guest speaker was introduced by K. E. Dawson, I. C. trainmaster.

Mr. Hudson questioned the statement of truck propagandists that trucks pay more taxes than railroads, asserting that 200,000 inter-city transport trucks take full credit for all payments made by more than 4,000,000 trucks of all types, most of which are supplementary to, rather than competitive with, railroads.

"When a railroad pays its taxes it gets exactly what every other citizen gets," Mr. Hudson stated; "but when a truck company pays what it calls 'taxes' it gets everything the railroads get, and without another cent it also gets the use of the state's highways and of city streets." Railroad taxes in Hickman, Fulton and Fulton County in 1940 amounted to over $16,750; of which nearly one-half was paid for support of public schools; while comparable truck taxes in the same period amounted to only $63.71.

Mr. Hudson cited illustrations of the indispensability of railroads. "It has been estimated," he said, "that to handle the business now carried through the city of Fulton by a single railroad in a single day would require a daily procession of 11,000 big trucks."

He called particular attention to the need for giving them some relief from constant politically-induced reductions in revenue and increases in expense, so they would have the earning power to enable them to continue adequately to serve the public.

DUCK SEASON OPENS OCTOBER 16 IN KY.

Kentucky duck hunters will again have a 60-day open season beginning October 16 and ending December 14, and a daily bag limit of ten birds, according to the Kentucky Department of Conservation. The use of live decoys or bait for taking of migratory game birds is prohibited and in addition "the taking of waterfowl by means, aid, or use of cattle, horses, or mules, is prohibited."

JACK RAWLS DIES OF BULLET WOUNDS

Jack Rawls was fatally wounded here Wednesday about six o'clock, from bullets from a 32 pistol fired by Buren Spence. The shooting took place at the family home, where both Rawls and Spence lived. Immediately after the trouble, Mr. Spence surrendered at the South Fulton police station. He was taken to the county seat at Union City to await preliminary hearing and trial.

Spence and Rawls had been engaged in buying sweet potatoes here for the past few years, and had been good friends for a number of years, with the former residing in the Rawls home. It is not known what caused the trouble, but it is alleged that Rawls had been drinking heavily.

Five shots were fired, four penetrating the chest of Rawls, bringing death almost instantly. He was taken to the Fulton hospital, but succumbed before reaching there.

Citizens Asked To Help In Survey

The editor of The News is in receipt of a letter from Claude Winslow, Mayfield, chairman of the committee from eight counties in the Purchase which are working as a unit to try to get some defense projects for the area, in which he asks the newspapers to aid in a housing survey. The committee hopes by this means to get a true picture of the housing conditions of the respective counties.

The object of this survey is to determine the total amount of living quarters for rent in this county. This applies not only to houses, rooms, apartments that are now being rented, but any one who is willing to list rentable property for workers in case a defense project should be obtained. Everyone should respond to this survey for it is an important factor when a site is chosen for such a plant. Clip out the following questionnaire mail, send or bring to The News office.

FULTON MEN ATTEND GAME, WIN CAR

Earl Taylor, John Earle, Bob Binford and Billy Atkins attended the ball game between the Fulton Tigers and the Jackson Generals Monday night in Jackson. Outside the gate chances were being sold on a Plymouth car and admission to the game was included. Mr. Binford and Mr. Atkins each bought two tickets and passed them around. The men then agreed that if either one won the car, he would sell it and divide the money equally between the four, and they would attend the fair.

So it was a surprise and pleasure to all four when the number field by Mr. Taylor proved to be the lucky winner and he was presented the beautiful new Plymouth car.

AMERICA'S HOLIDAY IS OVER

We are well into September. Our holidays are over—and for us Americans, vacation-days are at an end in more than a literal sense.

Matching the sacrifices, the toil and sweat of our boys in uniform, we men and women civilians on the home front must roll up our sleeves, and get into this momentous fight for freedom. We cannot delay, we cannot pass the buck, we cannot alibi ourselves out of real contributions to the herculean labors demanded of us, if we are to survive as a free people.

There's been a lot of words spoken and printed in recent days about the morale of our boys in the training camps. Some say it's poor, some say it's good; as usual, the truth probably lies in-between.

As I see it, there's nothing wrong with our morale at home; the only thing is, not all of us realize the danger we're facing. But certainly most of us at home are ready and insistent that everyone do his and her part toward preserving our freedom.

This may very well mean fighting for that freedom. You can bet your bottom dollar that our President last Labor Day, referring to the head of a nation with which we're not yet at war, was not speaking idly when he said:

"I know that I speak the conscience and the determination of the American people when I say that we shall do everything in our power to crush Hitler and his Nazi forces."

Those are fighting words. Perhaps there's a degree of truth in the criticism that our morale at home isn't all it should be—everywhere. The other day an American foreign correspondent, John T. Whitaker, wrote that all Germany believes that "when Hitler is in a position to deal with America, morale in (the United States) will collapse."

As I say, possibly the Nazi have some ground for these fond hopes. Their agents know that even in this community, as everywhere else in the country, Americans are proud of the conveniences that most members of our thriving democracy can afford—automobiles, radios, electric refrigerators, and thousands of gadgets.

But let no one fool himself, here or in Germany: we at home are realizing very rapidly that America's holiday is over, until the threat to free men is destroyed.

We are ready for the fight for freedom, the fight of our lives. In or out of uniform, Americans have always shown themselves strong in morale—once they see clearly, as now we do, that the time for play is past.

TRUE PARITY FOR FARMERS

To me the Linder Plan to provide actual parity for farmers of the nation deserves the united support of farmers everywhere, in order that action may be obtained from Congress.

The plan calls for a floor of 24c for cotton, $1.84 for wheat, $1.00 for corn, 12c for hogs, 14c for beef, and other basic crops in proportion. It calls for an actual parity price of 32c for cotton, $2.19 for wheat, $1.32 for corn, 16c for hogs, 17-1-2c for beef, and other basic crops in proportion.

This plan is receiving almost unanimous backing of the Commissioners of Agriculture and other farm leaders, and has received most favorable consideration by a number of influential Senators and Representatives in Washington.

Now is the time for farmers to act in concert. Cotton is moving throughout the Cotton Belt. But if farmers sell their cotton now, any action by Congress later will not help them. Farmers are urged to put their cotton in Government loan now, and when Congress passes legislation to increase the price later on, the farmer will get the benefit of the increased price.

The great strength of the Linder Plan is that it incorporates all the farmers who grow basic agricultural crops in one group. Heretofore there has been a cotton group seeking aid for cotton, another group seeking aid for wheat, another group seeking aid for hogs, etc. This division of strength was the greatest weakness that has made it impossible to get adequate consideration in Congress for agriculture as a whole. The Linder Plan asks equal consideration and opportunities for all farmers of all sections on all crops. It also provides for fixing the relative prices between farm products and the things that the farmer must buy. It provides for taking an average of prices existing over a ten year period from 1920 to 1929 inclusive, and then fixing and maintaining the relative proportion between farm products and manufactured commodities that did exist over that ten year period.

The cotton crop over the entire belt is very short. Should this cotton crop go on the market there will be no way for the farmer to get any relief on this year's crop. Not only that, should this crop go on the market it will be difficult to get action taken in Congress providing for actual parity on future crops. The same reasoning applies to corn, wheat, and other basic crops. We must get action now! To get action we must keep crops off the market.

Cotton in government loan still belongs to the farmer. If the cotton is put in Government loan, and Congress fixes a floor and parity price, the Government can make an additional loan on the cotton. If the farmer desires to take his cotton out of the Government loan, he can do so. At any rate the farmer has all to gain and nothing to lose by not selling this pitifully short crop at present market prices. Hold your cotton! If you have to have the money now, put it in the Government loan.

If the Government should today guarantee the farmers of the United States actual parity on all crops produced this year, the total cost to the Government would not exceed two or three billion dollars. Congress has already appropriated more than fifty billion dollars for national defense.

What could be more important and absolutely essential to national defense than making it possible for the farmers to live on the farms and produce another crop? Not only the farmers' interest is involved. Not only is the justice for the farmer involved. But the national defense and well being is equally involved.

Mr. Paul Bushart
Fulton County News
Fulton, Ky.

Dear Paul:
I have been intending to write to you for some time as my work grows more interesting all the time and I am advancing every day. As you know this is the height of my ambition and I am still going up. I am taking instrument flying now and will start basic instruction next week. I have finished teaching three classes of Cadets and have a group now. I suppose that you know that we are teaching nothing but British boys and we carry them through to advance, which means that they are ready to go back to England and start shooting "Heinies."

We use the PT-17 for primary training, which is for ten weeks, then they get ten weeks of basic and advance, the advance is in North Americans. The horse power in these PT-17s is 225, the BT-13 is 450, and the AT-6 is 750. I have put three classes through without a single elimination and that is better than anyone else has done.

These instructors seem to think that these boys are not bright but they fail to take into consideration the fact that they do not have the outside open opportunity to learn that our boys have here in the good old USA. Therefore they need more good instructors who can bring them up to our standard and make good pilots of them.

When I started here we had 14 PTs and now we have 114, so you can see how we are growing. Before this is over we will have four schools like this, as they are already building them and almost have two of them finished. So, you see, this school will be the largest in the world and to date we haven't had an accident, not even a minor one. Here's hoping we keep this record.

Paul, you know how hard I tried to get those boys interested in flying in Fulton and I do believe that if we had a field there we would have a large group of flyers in Fulton now. I believe that the day is not far off when the farmer, who said it was a foolish idea when we asked for landing space, will realize that the airplane is the major weapon, with which his freedom and what he possesses will be defended.

We have four boys serving as instructors here now that I taught to fly a year ago and we will use 200 more in less than six months, so you can see how this business is progressing. All the boys need is a commercial license which they can obtain with only two hundred hours. We furnish the rest of the instructions for them to go to work at $350.00 per month. My salary is raised to $400.00 next month when I begin teaching basic and advance. I think I have given all the news and happenings here and will say again that this is the most interesting work in the world. I hope Fulton will get a nice airport soon as aviation is here to stay.

Please send me The News for one year.

Yours very truly,

Money Talks

By
Frederick Stamm, Economist
Director of Adult Education
UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

The buying panic, which started with the silk stocking scare, has now spread to many other items. Women stormed into the nation's stores looking for stockings, but before they got out, their jitters usually led them to stock up on sheets, pillow cases and towels, or make a down payment on a refrigerator or a radio.

High prices and scarcity has made the average American conscious that the purchasing power of his dollar is going down—and going down rapidly. To protect himself, he is just doing a little forward buying while prices are not unreasonable. You can hardly blame him when you realize that food costs in most of our communities have gone up from 12 to 30 per cent since the war began. And it looks very much as if food prices are going to reach much higher levels before the end of the year.

Two of the largest manufacturers of men's clothing have announced price advances of 10 per cent and 11 per cent respectively. Last week my neighbor paid 25 cents a ton more for the same type of coal than I did a month before. It is needless for me to recount how prices have risen, for you are buying food, clothing, and other necessities every day.

It is important to remember that Congress is reluctant to pass a price control law. Until it does, you are going to see all prices on the increase. My advice is to buy now what you can profitably use. Your dollar is shrinking in value, and the best way you, the average citizen, can protect himself against inflation considers the doctor titles confusing.

is to buy goods. You can get much more for your money now than you will be able to get six months hence.

ALMOST PERSUADED

Few of us would admit that what we believe in is even remotely connected with superstition. We like to think that the beliefs of others are tinged with nonsense, and we even would say that as children we feared that certain things are true that now we know are false. All this is fine and a good sign, too, that we are becoming civilized as well as grown. But, if you were put into a dungeon or otherwise tortured, just how many superstitions would you admit having in some form. Of course, you know better; I will gladly admit that. But when you are alone or blue or half sick or worried, do the silly superstitions that you know all seem equally silly?

Here is a sample. I grade innumerable papers, a fact that no English teacher would fail to believe. Suppose I have graded a number and am expecting to quit for a change or a rest. Do I stop on the thirteenth one or leave just thirteen ungraded? Is it necessary for me to nudge myself and say, to avoid being superstitious, "Oh, you're not tired enough to quit yet."

Grade another one, at least (leaving only twelve?) Do you, my gentle reader, as old books used to call you, feel safe after passing by a pin and failing to pick it up? Did you ever go back stealthily, pretending to be looking for something, and then casually bend over and pick up the offending pin? Neither of these may appeal to you; you may be an enlightened one, with no left-overs of primitive thinking. Well, let us go walking at dusk in an old overgrown cemetery, with sunken graves and tumbled-down headstones. Will you welcome this as much as walking elsewhere at the same time of day? Or do you fear noises in the still of the night, when you wake from a nightmare? Maybe you are fearful of relating a bad dream before breakfast; many good people are and many others ought to be, for telling a dream is one of the most boring of all human habits. Anyway, whether these or some other superstitions occasionally have weight with you, an honest confession might make you appear to yourself to be not so very far removed from the primitive days of the race.

Personally, I am glad that there is left enough of the traces of superstition in me for me to sympathize, even a little bit, with those who live in a fearful world of good and bad luck, of visible and invisible forces working against us. I am doubtful whether many people were ever driven from superstition by severe methods. A too obvious making fun of some harmless belief often serves to strengthen it, for none of us like to give up too easily our cherished customs and habits. A scientific attitude, one rarely taken by the folk, is the best way. It takes more than an average amount of nerve for a superstitious person to use himself as a guinea pig to be experimented on. Just walk under a ladder, once, and defy the consequences. Eat at the table with twelve other people and make a minute record of what happens afterward. The folk habit of connecting things logically because they are connected chronologically can be broken once for all, I suspect, by this rigid scientific method. Merely being laughed at or scolded is not enough.

Before becoming too severe on primitive people or children for their folk fears, analyze yourself and see whether you are the guiltless who is entitled to cast a stone.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

By ROBERTA LEE
Mucilage Substitute

Quite often when one is in a hurry to mail a letter, there will be but one stamp and it has no mucilage on its back. In this predicament all necessary is to moisten the mucilage flag on another envelope, run the stamp over the dampened part quickly, then place on the letter to be mailed.

Mending A Cracked Range

A crack on the inside of a range can be mended by using a filler made of equal parts of common table salt and wood ashes, moistened with water to the proper consistency. The filler will dry hard and will be lasting.

The Hanging-Basket

A novel way to water the hanging-basket, without spilling water on the floor, is to insert a small funnel in the dirt, as near the center of the basket as possible, and hidden by the foliage. Fill this funnel with water every day, and it will soak into the soil gradually.

Testing Coffee

A way to test the quality of coffee is to put a spoonful in a glass of cold water and add a few drops of lemon juice. If the coffee is pure it will remain on top of the water; if not, the water will become brown in color.

The Patch Bag

A most practical patch bag can be made from a yard or two of mosquito netting. This enables one to see the contents from the outside, and there is no necessity for emptying the entire contents to find the exact piece of goods wanted.

Pouring From Cans

The secret of pouring liquid from a can is to make two holes in the can instead of one, about an inch apart. The one hole is for the liquid to pour from, the other hole to let the air into the can.

Writing While Traveling

When necessary to write while traveling in an automobile, train, or bus, press the elbows into the body just above the hips, and you will find the task easy.

The Door Key

That important door key will not be evasive any more when the housewife returns from the grocery, if she will sew a large-sized dress hook inside her handbag, near the top, on which to hang the key.

Sewing Room Hint

Cut the strips containing buttons and button holes from discarded garments and use them under flys in new garments. This will save much time and labor.

To Clean Playing Cards

Soiled playing cards can be cleaned by dipping a small sponge in spirits of camphor and rubbing the card gently. This will restore the newness.

A Convenient High-Chair

If four rubber-tipped door stops are screwed into the legs of an ordinary chair, it will make an ideal high chair for kitchen work, or for a small child.

Ink Stains On Hands

A solution of peroxide of hydrogen containing a few drops of ammonia will remove ink stains from the hands.

UP-TO-DATE ADVICE TO READERS

Every once in a while we have to carry out the time-honored custom of newspaper editors and pass some advice along to the unsuspecting readers of these columns.

It is always a question of importance to determine upon what subject the thought shall be addressed. In reviewing the field today we find most problems settled by what others have written or said and we are forced to select from a very restricted range in an effort to get something novel.

Most of our readers have their own opinions and stand ready to take issue with any editor who dares to treat them lightly. We have no such idea. In fact, just for a change we are going to suggest that the reader is quite correct, that his or her conclusions are eminently sound and should not be upset by anything written.

This last sentence, as you see, applies equally to all opinions regardless of what they might be and that is a good feature of any smart editorial. It is always good to write something that will please everybody. In fact, we have rarely accomplished this and take some pride in the belief that we have now done so.

In conclusion, therefore, we urge all readers to hold fast to whatever opinions they have formed on any subject that they have thought about, regardless of whether there is any basis for the idea or not. It is not the business of a newspaper editor who probably knows little about your mental powers much less your psychic potency.

2. To have each club during the program some time during the year.
3. Each club have at least two socials each year.

Miss Monroe gave the instructions for the games and music and the inspiring part of the recreational program for their monthly meetings.

ing which will be held on Monday, October 13 at Hickman.

How to Avoid Telephone Service Interruption

Whenever you are having work done on your premises, avoid possible interruption of your telephone service by cautioning workmen against disturbing telephone wires.

In most homes, the telephone "ground wire" is connected to a water pipe. If this wire is removed or loosened when the pipe is being worked on, your telephone bell may not ring and you can't receive calls.

During remodeling or repair work, workers may unknowingly drive nails through wires, or break them in some other way.

If there are underground telephone lines on your property, care should be taken not to damage them when holes or ditches are dug.

When work of this kind is being done, a word of caution to the workmen will do much to safeguard your telephone service.

When you are planning work that may disturb telephone wires, or require their rearrangement, be sure to notify the Telephone Office in advance, and a telephone man will be sent to make the necessary changes. A telephone man should also be requested when desks or other furniture, to which telephone equipment is attached, are to be moved. In such cases, the services of a skilled telephone man will help assure you of continuous, trouble-free service.

"OH, OH—I LEFT THE BEDROOM LIGHT BURNING!"

HE: You left a light burning. So what?

SHE: So we've got to go back and turn it off, of course.

HE: Oh, phooey.

SHE: Jim, don't be silly. We're going to be away for two whole days and nights.

HE: What of it?

SHE: Listen, Mr. Moneybags—turn this car around—we're not millionaires.

HE: Now you listen to me, sweetheart, while I give you a little lesson in arithmetic.

SHE: Arithmetic? What's arithmetic got to do with it?

HE: Everything. Look—we're about 20 miles out from home, aren't we?

SHE: Just about, I guess.

HE: If we raced back home, turned out that light, and drove back this far, that would be 40 extra miles, wouldn't it?

SHE: Yes, you mathematical wizard.

HE: Well, most car owners figure that with gas, oil, tires, license, depreciation, and insurance, it costs them about 5c a mile, all told, to run their cars. Forty miles at 5c each would be $2.00—right?

SHE: Right.

HE: And for the $2.00 it would cost us to go back and turn off that light, we could leave every light in the house burning all the time we are gone, plus some of the neighbors' lights.

SHE: Really?

HE: Sure. That's a 100-watt bulb in the bedroom. It'll burn about 10 hours for a nickel. For the two bucks it would cost us to go back and turn it off it can burn for about 400 hours, or for 16 days and 16 nights. So you see we'd be just plain silly trying to save money by going all the way back to turn out that light.

SHE: Of course we would—I never thought about it that way. Drive on, James!

THE aim of this little play is not to get you to leave your lights burning, but to point out how much electricity gives you for so little money.

The idea that forgetting to turn out the lights will all but throw a household into bankruptcy must be a hangover from 10 to 15 years ago when electricity cost about twice as much as it does now. In those days it cost you about as much for lights alone as you now pay for lighting your home better, plus running a vacuum cleaner, iron, radio, toaster, and washing machine!

This reduction in cost, which gives you about twice as much value for your money, has been possible because this company and other electric companies are managed by business men in the American way of business operation. It is the aim of the people who have helped to accomplish these things—the employees of this company—to keep on bringing you more and more of the benefits of electricity at less and less cost.

Now that schools are again in session, a few words of warning to the parents are timely.

Teach your children to be extremely careful on their way to school teach them to cross streets only at intersections and then only after they have looked to left and right. If your children must walk on the highways, instruct them to walk on the left-hand side and to step off the road if necessary. Remind them daily!

School patrols stationed at busy intersections near schools have made crossing streets easier and safer for our children. Yet accidents happen not only where traffic is heavy, but also where traffic is light.

Urge your children to use good judgment on their trips to and from school.

Telephone Traffic Increases In Ky.

"With a large portion of long distance traffic related directly to national defense long distance calls in Kentucky during the first six months of 1941 showed a gain of 19.4 per cent over the corresponding period of 1940," F. H. Riddle, manager, Fulton, Ky., said this week. "Kentuckians placed 2,548,606 long distance calls in the six months period. In the entire state, 111 long distance operators were added to the telephone forces during the first half of 1941."

Construction of 2,400 miles of long distance circuits to fill the needs of defense and normal business and industrial expansion in Kentucky is one of the factors entering into huge new construction expenditures of Southern Bell Telephone Company which are expected to exceed $51,000,000 in the nine state territory in 1941.

The volume of long distance calls vital to defense purposes grows greater every day, Mr. Riddle pointed out. Messages from the general public have also increased. Despite the telephone company's all-out efforts to meet the unprecedented demands for telephone service, its facilities are at times being operated at near-capacity, and occasional delays may be expected on some long distance calls. Long distance telephone users can make a definite contribution in this emergency, Mr. Riddle pointed out, by avoiding as much as possible placing long distance calls during the hours from 9 to 11 a.m. and 7 to 8:30 p.m., the so-called rush hours when long distance calls are most frequent.

"NAVY TRADE TRAINING GAVE ME MY START" SAYS PRESIDENT, SPERRY CORPORATION

THOMAS A. MORGAN (pictured in insert), president of the Sperry Corporation, world's largest manufacturers of aeronautical and marine instruments, received his early technical training in the U. S. Navy, in which he enlisted as a young man. "This has proved of great value to me in later years," said ex-sailor Morgan. Pictured above are new Navy recruits receiving electrical training at one of the modern equipped Navy Trade Schools. The Navy offers training to young men in nearly 50 different trades and vocations.

Opportunities for advancement, to learn skilled trades, for travel and adventure are identical whether a man enlists in the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve—and his pay, food, clothing, medical and dental care are the same.

HOME NEEDS, NATIONAL DEFENSE DEMAND HOME-PRODUCED LIVING

Living at home has always been a matter of first importance to most farm people, but it is doubly important now in the light of world conditions, states C. E. Brehm, director of the U-T Agricultural Extension Service. While farmers are receiving higher prices for their products, there is every reason to believe that the things they buy will be higher. Hence the necessity for producing on the farm everything that can be produced.

Suggestions made by Director Brehm and his co-workers for producing urgent needs, both for home use and National Defense are:

1. Produce, cure and can more meat.
2. Feed poultry flock for maximum egg production.
3. Produce more milk on the average farm by better care and feeding.
4. Plant an adequate fall garden, especially turnip greens, collards, onions, etc.
5. Can vegetables and fruits, and save dried foods including cowpeas, butter beans, fruits, etc.
6. Save lespedeza seed for heavy 1942 seeding and for sale.
7. Push the use of limestone and phosphate as grants of aid.
8. Make adequate seedlings of fall grains, hay mixtures, grazing and cover crops.
9. Save garden seeds. This is most important now since imports of seeds have been cut off by the war.
10. Capitalize on the corn crop by producing more hogs, poultry, and dairy products that are needed in National Defense.

THE CURE FOR INTOLERANCE

By Dr. Charles Stetzel

The rising tide of intolerance in the United States is giving serious-minded Americans great concern. The tragedy of it is that this spirit is being manifested among classes of men and women who ought to know better.

Intolerance in this country—in politics, in business, in industry, and even in religion—is due to the fact that while we have grown marvelously in many other directions, we have failed dismally in developing neighborliness. When men hate each other it is usually because they do not know each other. The French have a saying that "to know all is to forgive all." It is their ignorance of our fellowmen which causes our fear of them. And fear is at the bottom of all intolerance.

The ignorance of Labor of the problems of Capital and Management and the ignorance of Capital and Management of the needs and aspirations of Labor produce a good share of the present industrial situation.

The ignorance of the whole history and the many accomplishments of great religious groups is responsible for the hatred of them by misinformed antagonists.

The ignorance of governmental functions and motives and accomplishments and personnel, creates unjustifiable bitterness in political life on the part of many Americans.

To remove this situation will require a better acquaintance with our neighbors, and an enlargement of the number of these neighbors—locally, nationally, and internationally.

This widening knowledge and acquaintance will do much to help settle the labor problems, the racial problems, the religious problems, and the political problems which face America today. To this end, we should encourage freedom of speech, instead of its limitations, so that we may know what is on the mind of the people. We should support the open forum where "men may shake out their hearts." But most of all, we should know men and women in a more personal way, so that we may become acquainted with their characters, their aspirations, their purposes and their plans.

It was the Great Teacher Himself who once told an earnest inquirer who sought to know the "good way," that he must "love his neighbor as he loved himself." And when the inquirer asked Him: "Who then is my neighbor?" The Teacher told him the classical story of the "Good Samaritan."

To be rich, amuse people, to be aloof, know something, to be feared, be above reproach. This would be a better world if you could tell some people mean by what they say.

Due care is a legal phrase but the lack of it causes death to many Americans.

STATE TAX COLLECTIONS SHOW GAIN IN AUGUST

State tax collections totalled $2,946,226.19 in August, a 4 per cent gain over August 1940, according to the monthly report currently issued by the Department of Revenue. This gain continues to reflect the increasing prosperity of Kentucky business and agriculture.

Collections from alcoholic beverage tax amounted to $575,240.95, which was an increase of 79 per cent over the corresponding month in the previous year. The factors contributing to this large increase have arisen chiefly from the effects of national defense policies. The report shows property taxes of $222,534.13 were 30 per cent lower than for the previous August; however, this decline is due to earlier payment of certain franchise company taxes. A decline of 9 per cent was registered in road taxes, total collections being $864,696.18. This does not mean an actual decline in gasoline consumption so much as an overlapping of tax payments from month to month.

It was further pointed out that for the new license year to date a total of 469,356 drivers of motor vehicles had obtained their operators' licenses as against 451,083 for the same period in 1940. Suspensions of 369 licenses in August doubled the number for August, 1940, indicating a stricter enforcement of the law.

GROWERS VOTE ON TOBACCO INSPECTION

A referendum will be held September 18 to 20 to determine whether the auction tobacco markets at Franklin, Russellville, and Mayfield, Ky., and Westmoreland, Tenn., shall be designated under the Tobacco Inspection Act for free and mandatory inspection of One Sucker tobacco, the Agriculture Marketing Service announced today.

Growers who patronize markets on which the inspection service is conducted are furnished a weekly market news report showing average prices by grades. With the grade plainly indicated on each lot and a price report showing the average for each grade on the previous week's sale, growers are afforded a reliable guide in accepting or rejecting bids offered. This service is offered at no cost to the growers.

All growers who sold tobacco at auction on the One Sucker markets last season are eligible to vote. Ballots will be mailed to growers who patronized these markets last season in so far as their names and addresses are known. Growers who do not receive a ballot by mail may obtain one from their county agent.

Official Government grades were used as a basis for making Government loans on the 1940 crop of One Sucker, and will be used as a basis for making loans on the 1941 crop. If two-thirds of the growers voting approve tobacco inspection, all tobacco sold on the One Sucker markets will be graded at no cost to the grower.

The fascinating side of newspaper life is what appeals to those who know little, or nothing, about it.

NAVY DOES NOT DEMAND HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION
Since Secretary Knox announced the enlistment drive for Uncle Sam's new Two-Ocean Navy several weeks ago, many young men have asked if they were eligible to enlist without a high school education.
L. T. Bugg, local American Legion Commander, answers this important question for the young men of this vicinity.
"Navy enlistees do not have to be high school graduates," said Commander Bugg. "Any ambitious and patriotic young fellow who wants to serve his country has that opportunity now by joining the United States Navy or Naval Reserve. Of course, he must be of average intelligence, good character and be able to pass certain physical and mental examinations. Now, more than ever before, the Navy needs men of that type."
"All applicants, whether or not they have high school diplomas, are given an elementary examination containing about 100 questions," explained Commander Bugg. "Those receiving a grade of 50 per cent or more satisfy Navy educational standards.

"Naturally, a high school education is helpful in the Navy, just as it is in civilian life," points out J. O. Lewis, principal of Fulton High School.

"There are certain advantages for the high school graduate in the Navy," said Mr. Lewis. "He has a wider background to call upon in earning advancement in position and pay. For example, men who are proficient in English may be sent to one of the Navy's communications or clerical schools. Recruits with a knowledge or aptitude for handling tools might be marked for a trade or engineering course. Men with college educations may qualify for midshipman's training courses in the Naval Reserve and after their schooling period they will report for active duty as officers with the rating of ensigns."

"The Navy has four excellent trade schools to which new recruits in either the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve may be sent after a training period, providing they pass entrance examinations with sufficiently high grades. At these schools they will be trained in any one of nearly fifty skilled trades or vocations to which their aptitude suits them and will receive free schooling valued at hundreds of dollars in addition to their regular Navy pay. Such an education is valuable for advancement in the Navy and in later life," he concluded.

January public payrolls listed 5,333,000 over the country.

Standards You Can Tie To

In these days of stress and strain and uncertainty as to services and prices, it is comfortable to do business with the railroads. You can plan IN ADVANCE what you are going to spend, and you can be certain of having the service furnished at the expected price.

Such dependability, lightly regarded though it may be in times of peace and plenty, is a pearl beyond estimate when emergencies arise and the skies darken and the winds begin to blow. That is true because supply and demand have little effect on prices of railway transportation.

Uncle Sam himself has been among the first to find that out. He is coming to lean more and more heavily upon the strength of the railroads. Despite that, there has been no increase in all-rail rates on any commodity even remotely related to the national defense program.

On the contrary, there have been notable reductions. In taking over the movement of commodities ordinarily handled by water, the railroads have in many cases reduced rates below the normal all-rail basis. Crude petroleum is one timely case in point.

Nothing short of an unbearable increase in expenses is likely to cause the railroads to seek any general increase in their rates.

We of the Illinois Central pledge to Uncle Sam, as we pledge to each of his sons (and your sons and our sons) in the training camps: "WE'LL NEVER LET YOU DOWN!"

The Fourth Quarterly Conference will convene at Water Valley Church on Saturday, September 13.

Gardening on an enlarged scale in town and country alike next year, is suggested by the Kentucky Agricultural Defense Board, in a statement issued by the chairman, M. D. Royse of Winchester. Backyards and vacant lots in towns and cities are to be used, and farmers are urged to have bigger and better gardens.

The garden program is launched months in advance of the 1942 planting season so that family heads will have time to plan and to prepare garden plots, to secure the use of vacant lots and to turn, fertilize and sow cover crops.

Once again food may be the deciding factor in war, the state defense board chairman pointed out. In any event, he feels that a good supply of garden products—even an oversupply—may be better than risking a shortage of food. Families with gardens can produce at least a part of their needs, and thereby release canned products for shipment abroad, he pointed out.

Large quantities of food now are going to England and will continue to go as long as the war lasts and even after that time, it is pointed out in the statement of the defense board. With the exception of vegetables, most of this food comes from farms. So far as town people are concerned, they can be of assistance in increasing the food supply only by growing gardens for their own use. This they are urged to do next year and every year thereafter that the emergency exists, Mr. Royse said.

DISCHARGING A RESPONSIBILITY

A Statement of Employee Policy by the Central Western Division of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.

The privilege of leadership in any industry carries with it heavy responsibilities and obligations. Honest discharge of these duties, we feel, is imperative to the maintenance of an orderly, going business—a business in which management shares with its employees and customers savings effected through efficient operation. Such a business is ours.

The necessity of taking stock is recognized in all business by employee and management alike. In the A&P organization, however, there is considerably more to this routine "must" than counting the number of cans of foodstuffs on the shelves of our stores; the tea, coffee and butter poundage. Stock-taking with us means consideration of all the interests of our customers, suppliers and our employees.

Officers and directors of A&P are confronted by this tremendous responsibility every day. Careers, human personalities and scores of other "intangibles" are in the balance. Shelves are easily restocked; not so these other factors.

After a series of "stock-takings," with pardonable pride we announce that, effective this week, all of the some 4,500 full-time store clerks in this area will share with fellow employees from coast to coast what we believe is the first 5-DAY, 48-HOUR WEEK in the history of the retail food industry, labor contracts and other local variables permitting.

To our employees in this division whose untiring efforts and efficiency have made possible the position we enjoy in the food industry, and to hundreds of thousands of satisfied customers whose cooperation we respectfully seek in making our new work schedule a success, we take this opportunity to reaffirm a few of the cardinal principles upon which A&P was founded 82 years ago by the late George Huntington Hartford, father of its present day owners.

The new work schedule is in line with a long-standing policy of A&P to give its employees the shortest working hours and the highest wages in the industry. It provides that wages of all employees will be the same as for the 52-hour week which has been in effect for several months.

It was in the cracker-barrel period a quarter-century ago that A&P boldly defied tradition and broke with the dawn-to-dusk hours of the grocery business by reducing the work week from 72 hours to 65.

Regardless of the highly-competitive nature of the food business, A&P has always felt work hours of retail food store employees were too long. It has constantly sought ways and means of reducing them so that A&P employees could enjoy more leisure and, to a greater degree, the warmth and comforts of home life with their families.

Our recent decision to further reduce employee working hours once again has paced the industry in raising the living standards of retail clerks. But the management is confident the continued efficient support of its employees will prove, as it has in the past, that better working conditions, fewer hours at the store and more at home, and higher wages will in no way endanger the savings we have always made available to our customers.

Wage increases and added compensation during the last year, coupled with a recent shortening of working hours, have given A&P employees the best average wages and the shortest general working hours in the industry—dramatic evidence that through efficient operation it is possible to achieve both low prices to consumers and good working conditions for employees. Wages of full-time clerks in the Central Western Division alone have risen approximately 65 per cent since 1934, at which time they exceeded appreciably the average for retail food store employees in all sections of the country.

During the last decade, A&P has effected a considerable reduction in working hours, inaugurated vacations with pay, provided free and additional group insurance, sick benefits, half-days off, hospitalization and compensation to employees joining the nation's armed forces as well as many and frequent increases in the wage scale.

The A&P management has always been keenly conscious of its responsibility to its employees, many of whom have devoted their working lives to its interests.

The company will continue to maintain the same interest in its employees' welfare it has always shown. Additional improvements in working conditions and benefits will continue as rapidly as increased efficiency in operation make them possible.
