He said four, all of whom currently hold positions with institutions elsewhere in the country, will visit the campus during the coming week to be interviewed by the search committee and to meet with faculty and staff.

The remaining three, all of whom are members of the Murray State faculty, will be interviewed and made available for faculty and staff meetings during the following week, the week of July 1-5.

The meetings scheduled for the coming week, he said, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in the lobby of Ordway Hall, with exception of the Wednesday meeting. It will be held in Rooms 1 and 2 of the Waterfield Student Union.

Most New Kentucky Laws Go Into Effect Today

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Most of the 386 laws enacted by the 1974 General Assembly take effect today.

Some of the laws will have far-reaching effects on the state's economy, on campaigns and election of public officials, on education and the judicial system.

But the law that a lot of people are talking about now is a simple little statute that slid through both houses with no opposition.

It allows all Kentucky motorists to make right hand turns after stopping on a red traffic signal.

One Kentucky newspaper

went so far as to editorialize on the topic, cautioning motorists to drive carefully and predicting that the new law "should make urban driving easier for all of us."

Not all the laws have been met with such ready acceptance.

Kentucky's new abortion law is already under challenge in federal district court at Louisville.

A suit filed by the Kentucky Civil Liberties Union charges that the law does not conform with guidelines set out by the U.S. Supreme Court and is unconstitutional.

The law allows abortion in the first three months of pregnancy by a physician or by the woman on herself after consultation with a physician.

Another law that has stirred up a hornet's nest across the state requires overtime for city employees for work over 40 hours a week.

Several Kentucky cities have passed ordinances in anticipation of the new law, converting the firemen's pay rate from a monthly to an hourly basis.

The firemen work 24 hours on, 48 hours off, averaging 56 hours a week over a three-week period.

The ordinances adopted by some cities—and hotly contested by the firemen—would reduce the firemen's hourly pay rate so that pay for 40 hours a week and for 16 hours at time and a half would equal the pay they received before the legislature enacted the new law.

Others who aren't happy with newly enacted laws include prospective homebuyers who face a boost in interest rates as a result of a new state usury law removing the interest ceiling on loans of over $15,000.

There are some laws that will please people—including the consumer, the voter and the needy student.

Among the major changes is a law opening up meetings of public agencies to the public and press. Under the so-called "sunshine" law public bodies must conduct business at regularly scheduled times and place and must notify the press of any specially called meetings.

Election law changes include tighter campaign spending laws, a limit on cash contributions and regular audits of campaign spending.

Event the often-forgotten student was remembered in this year's legislature. A $3 million appropriation will be used to set up a student loan program to aid about 1,000 needy students.

Ordinance To Place Firemen On Hourly Wage Passes First Time

By DAVID HILL

Murray Ledger & Times Writer

An ordinance was passed on the first reading by the Murray City Council Thursday placing firemen on an hourly wage basis with time-and-a-half for overtime.

The ordinance, passed to comply with state and federal statutes, leaves the firemen on a minimum wage scale, as well as extra for overtime work, which is required by state and federal law.

The law calls for firemen to receive the same pay per year as they are now getting, working 56 hours per week. The law also leaves intact all fringe benefits, such as clothing allowance, insurance, and pension. The ordinance will have no effect whatsoever on the firemen's take-home pay; the difference will be only in clerical records, with an hourly wage instead of a salary-type wage for the firemen.

City firemen were at the council meeting Thursday in force, to protest the change. A spokesman for the firemen said after the meeting that the men's main complaint is that they feel the new state law provides that they should keep their present salary for a 40-hour period, and should be paid additional money for the 16 hours overtime that they now put in.

City Clerk Stanford Andrus pointed out this morning that if the City increases the firemen's pay to reimburse them more for the 16 hours overtime each week, it will cost the taxpayers well over $50,000 each year. Councilman Rex Alexander commented after the meeting Thursday that "The City just doesn't have that kind of money; I wish we did, but we don't."

City Mayor John Ed Scott noted this morning that the firemen have already received what amounts to two pay raises this year. "We raised their salary about ten per cent at the first of the year, and then cut their hours from 72 per week to 56, with no change in pay," the mayor said.

The problem is not confined to Murray alone, it has plagued most second and third class cities in the state already, and several court cases are pending to decide the outcome of the dispute. The main problem in Murray and in other cities seems to be that the firemen had been led to believe that they would be given a pay raise by the new state law.

In other action at the meeting Thursday, Jerry Henry was sworn in as new city councilman, and was given the chairmanship of the fire committee. He will also serve on the gas and finance committees.

Ordinance Number 603, setting the tax rate for the city, was passed on the first reading. As explained by finance chairman Howard Koenen, the ordinance leaves the tax rate at the same level for this year.

An ordinance re-zoning a small portion of land in the Acadia Court area was passed on the first reading. City Planner Richard Nash explained to the councilmen that the ordinance is designed to rectify a situation where a small strip of land near the Central Shopping Center is zoned residential, and is surrounded by land zoned commercial. Nash noted that the ordinance is just a technicality, and is to correct a mistake made earlier in the description of the land which was zoned business. The mistake was made due to a change in the location of Acadia St. before it was built. The shifting of the location of the street was required to meet access specifications to Highway 641.

Richard Orr was recommended as sexton for the City Cemetery, and will be hired by the City at a salary of $1 per year. City Attorney Wells Overbey will draw up a contract to allow Orr the position with a multi-year pact.

MAYOR JOHN SCOTT presented a proposed ordinance to place the city firemen on an hourly wage scale at last night's City Council meeting. The ordinance was passed on the first reading by the council members.

Murray Ledger & Times Wins Two Awards In State Contest

The Murray Ledger & Times won two second place awards in the 1973 Kentucky Press Association production contests.

The awards, announced today at the KPA annual meeting in Covington, were the special edition and sports feature categories in Division III (papers under 15,000 circulation) of the contest.

The second place award in the special edition category was for the special Murray State University commemorative section produced last fall.

Murray Ledger & Times Sports Editor, Mike Brandon, won second place in the state for feature sports writing.

Hopkinsville's Kentucky New Era, the Franklin Favorite and the Somerset Observer received top awards for general excellence in the three division of the contest.

KPA President W. E. Crutcher announced the awards and the three first place winners received plaques during the annual summer convention today.

A group of leading Georgia publishers judged the more than 700 entries in the three classifications.

The Somerset Observer won Class I, weekly newspapers with circulation less than 3,000; Class II, won by the Franklin Favorite, is for weeklies of more than 3,000 circulation.

The Kentucky New Era won Class III, for dailies of less than 15,000 circulation.

Juvenile Charged In Burglaries

A juvenile has been charged in two of the most recent break-ins at Scott Drugs on Chestnut.

Murray City Police, who handled the investigation, said this morning that the youth was apprehended with a number of pills in his possession, as well as cash, an electric razor, and other items identified as missing the Scott break-ins.

The juvenile is being held in the Calloway County Jail, and will be turned over to juvenile authorities.

The most recent of the break-ins was Wednesday night, police said.

Radio Club Field Trial Scheduled

The MSU Amateur Radio Club; WB4NTB, will take to the hills to participate in the annual Amateur Radio Relay League Field Day, Saturday, June 22 and 23, Fenton Overlook, Land Between the Lakes, south of the airstrip at Eggners Ferry Bridge, Hwy. 94.

The members will operate for twenty-four hours, continuously; from Saturday, 1 p.m. to Sunday, 1 p.m. Three general class radio rigs will be used to contact other amateur radio stations in the United States and some Foreign Countries. One novice class station will be used for Morse code.

Each year 12,000 radio operators participate in this Emergency preparedness test. When communication and power are not available because of tornadoes or floods, amateur radio operators are sometimes the only communication link outside the disaster area.

The public is invited to visit the Field Day site and observe an amateur radio station in operation under emergency conditions. All power, sleeping and eating facilities, will be portable.

JEFFREY CALL, age 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Call, North 16th St., Murray, prepares for the Field Day emergency test to be conducted Saturday and Sunday at Fenton Overlook in the Land Between the Lakes by the MSU Amateur Radio Club.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 22, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)
Don't put too much trust in a supposedly "confidential" report. Rumors and conjectures are likely to be rife at this time.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)
Mixed influences. Expect the unexpected. Others involved in your activities may have misunderstood certain arrangements.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)
A day for listening! In even a casual conversation you may pick up a most useful idea where money matters are concerned.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
An excellent day for making travel plans, whether for pleasure or business. Family concerns also governed by friendly aspects.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
One of those days when a snap decision could turn out surprisingly well—especially if an unusual purchase is involved.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
Someone in authority will now take action to aid your cause—increasing your chances for success considerably. You have good reason for optimism.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
Watch the budget now. Reject any ideas for travel or entertainment which you can't really afford. Tendency is to be reckless.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)
Your judgment a bit off now. Take nothing for granted, even if all seems well. And, above all, make no hasty decisions.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
Don't plan any hectic activities. Day will be more satisfactory if you can get off by yourself and do some constructive thinking.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
Don't fret if it becomes necessary to sacrifice some leisure time to business matters. Results will more than make up for your disappointment.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Look for a highly stimulating weekend. Both travel and social activities should prove enlivening. Romance also favored.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)
A clash of temperaments could cause needless friction. Don't jeopardize an old friendship by becoming overly emotional.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely practical, conscientious and self-controlled individual. Generally speaking, you are one of our more serious-minded and solid citizens but as a carryover from the now descending Gemini, the sobriety of your nature is lightened by flashes of a brilliant but dry wit and a happy disposition. In all your endeavors, you use striking methods and unique but completely feasible procedures. Like the Gemini, you have a gift for words and a talent for music which, properly developed, could lead to great success as a writer, composer, instrumentalist or journalist. The theater is also an excellent medium for your talents and, with your Cancer-endowed compassion for your fellowman, you would make an excellent physician, nurse or sociologist. Traits to curb: obstinacy and jealousy. Birthdate of: Erich M. Remarque and H. Rider Haggard, authors.

State FHA Members Elect Officers, Receive Awards At State Meeting

BOWLING GREEN—"Tune in with the Times" was the theme of the 29th annual State Meeting of the Future Homemakers of America on the campus of Western Kentucky University June 4-6.

Much time and hard work by some 850 high school FHA's and their advisers from the 231 state chapters made this year's meeting in south central Kentucky a real success.

Western's President, Dr. Dero G. Downing gave a hearty welcome to the University's young visitors at their opening session Tuesday evening and special speakers included Dr. William A. Floyd, head of the University's Department of Home Economics and Family Living and a number of other Western faculty members who spoke throughout the three-day meeting.

Miss Karen Caldwell, the 1974 president from Memorial High, awarded on behalf of the state group 18 scholarships to outstanding FHA members planning to study home economics in a Kentucky College or University.

Scholarship recipients are: Deborah Castleman and Shirley McClellan, Fulton Co.; Barbara Herndon, Lowes High; Krista Ann Kennedy and Selwyn Shultz, Murray High; Nancy DeBoe, Lyon Co.; Bonney Hewlett, Madisonville; Glenda Carter, Hart Co.; Nancy Ellis, Warren Central High; Jane Peterson, Eliseville High; Mary Granacher and Debra West, Meade Co.; Terry Carter, Mason Co.; Trena Martin, Montgomery Co.; Teresa Hargis, Bath Co.; Jane Lee Winkler, Pineville High; Kathy Wilson, Nancy High; and Ethel Watts, Memorial High. Shirley McClellan also received the Vaughn-Williamson scholarship, which is awarded to the most outstanding FHA member. Other honors included the conferring of 270 State Homemaker Degrees which is the highest degree of achievement to be reached by an FHA member.

Advisers and those who have given guidance and support to the student organization were recognized for their contributions also. Fifteen ladies were given the Decade of Service Award for their ten years of work with the group.

They are: Mrs. Kathleen Alderdice, Paducah; Mrs. Cilia Burden and Mrs. Louise Forsythe, Morgantown; Miss Vivian Burnett, Olive Hill; Mrs. Charlotte Driskell, Harrodsburg; Mrs. Thelma Farmer, Louisville; Mrs. Iris Goggin, Danville; Mrs. Doris Hunt, Bardonia; Mrs. Sula Hord, Richmond; Mrs. Thelma Jones, Ludlow; Mrs. Rena Miller, Ashland; Mrs. Eleanor Mitchell, Brownsville; Mrs. Ann Porter, Maysville; Mrs. Audra Smallwood, Irvine; and Mrs. Agnes Smith, McKinney.

Honorary membership into FHA was awarded to Dr. Grace Callaway, associate professor of home economics education at Western, Mrs. Agnes Jones, former home economics teacher at Sedalia High School, Miss Mary Ella Smith, home economics supervisor for the Louisville Board of Education, and Mr. Charles Webb, director of Program Development for the Bureau of Vocational Education.

With tearful eyes and smiling faces, the 1973-74 state officers handed down their respective offices to the newly elected. The installation of the 1974-75 officers drew an end to the three-day meeting of the Future Homemakers of America. The newly elected officers are: Jane Mitchell, 1st V. Art As An Investment, Rush Is On

By Marilyn Luther
In recent months, the art world has seen a different breed of collector, and he's been breeding at a phenomenal rate. He's become a collector not necessarily because of his love of art, but predominantly because of the extraordinary investment potential it offers, especially at a time when other investments have soured.

Take a look at the financial world and compare. The dollar has been twice devalued in just two years. The stock market climbs a little only to fall again; inflation rips away at usually secure investments; but the art market is booming as never before. Thousands of investors who once thought of art as merely an attractive addition to their home's decor are now putting their money into it as an attractive investment.

Never before have so many so conspicuously purchased art for capital gain; in fact the swarm has pushed up many prices beyond the reach of average collectors who are accustomed to buying art more for its aesthetic value than for its investment value. With affordability as much a factor as appreciation, more and more collectors have turned to limited edition forms of art.

Such artists as Ray Hahn, Charles Frace, Don Richard Eckleberry have produced art that has doubled in value many times over the recent years, and will continue to grow. Fortune Magazine, recently noting the investment trend in art, queried some of the country's more sophisticated art appraisers for opinions on tomorrow's direction. The consensus choices for appreciation were Super Realism, part of a broad-based movement away from faddy, extremely abstract works to more easily perceivable subjects, primitive paintings, and wildlife and flower art.

Naturally, your choice of art should ultimately reflect your own tastes, but if you're buying with hopes of appreciation in value, it pays to listen to the advice of experts. Consult your art dealer, whether it is a gallery, independent dealer, frame gallery or other. Your dealer can help you satisfy your tastes as well as your investment goals.

Bank teller makes a $1,000 mistake

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you because of a recent and very serious mistake I made in my work.

I am a teller in a commercial bank. As you know, we handle a lot of money and carry a tremendous responsibility to ourselves, our employers and the public. I have never been able to understand why John Q. Public does not count his money before leaving the window. And why, if he knows a mistake has been made in his favor, doesn't he speak up?

I balanced out short yesterday. VERY short. [$1,000.] As you can assume, the money went out the window to a customer. Can you answer my questions? No one else seems able to.

SHORT IN LUBBOCK

DEAR SHORT: John Q. Public is not one man—he is many men. Some Johns always count their money; some never do. Some will speak up on discovering an error has been made in their favor; some will not.

Since it's the teller's responsibility to balance out accurately, he should count all money twice before handing it over, and then insist that the recipient count it again in his presence. It takes a little more time, but it beats being $1,000 short, no?

DEAR ABBY: My father, who is nearly 80, told my brother that his will leaves me a silver dollar, and everything else is divided between my brother and my father's sisters. I want to know if there is any way I can break that will because of the following facts, which are absolutely true:

I am physically handicapped and have been since birth, but I have always been able to get around enough to do all the cooking and housekeeping. When my mother died, I was only 14. My father forced me to have sex with him. He never wanted me to have any boyfriends, but when I was 50 years old I got a boyfriend who had to sneak me out of the house to marry me, but I wouldn't come back. "I think after keeping house for my father and submitting to him for 36 years I am entitled to something, don't you? Can his will be broken? And if so, how?"

WONDERING IN N. Y.

DEAR WONDERING: Take these facts to a lawyer and let him advise you. You have nothing to lose.

DEAR ABBY: My youngest sister is being married next month, which will make me the only one in our family who isn't married.

I've been going with the same fellow for three years now, but we don't have any plans for getting married. I just dread the remarks I know I am going to hear after my sister gets married: "Well, it's your turn now," and "When will you be taking the big step?"

Relatives and friends have already asked me what I'm waiting for. It embarrasses and hurts me, and I never know what to say. Can you help?

NO PLANS

DEAR NO: Yes. Say, "I have no plans. But if and when I have, I'll let you know."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "M.": A soft answer still turneth away wrath . . . and grievous words stir up anger. [This is nothing new. It's Old Testament.]

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Action On World Needs

(From The Christian Science Monitor)

It is hard to galvanize the well-fed American, German, or Japanese into thinking about famine or scarcity. Yet perhaps no more crucial problem faces the world — and demands the energetic thought of every citizen — than the struggle for resources.

A series of articles by Monitor correspondent Takashi Oka raises fundamental questions: Are the richest nations coming to the end of a golden age? Are the superpowers sparking a dangerous scramble for ever-diminishing resources? Will Americans ration gas, say, so other economies can survive — or accept higher food prices to relieve famine in Africa?

Even in affluent America the signs are sobering. A massive study just completed for a Senate committee concludes that in the past three or four years this nation's needy have become "hungrier and poorer" even though federal spending on food programs has tripled in that time. The rise in world output of food, it adds, has done little to help the hungry abroad.

Two figures cited by Mr. Oka dramatize the contrasts. In India, and across a belt running from Latin America through Africa and Asia, a single person eats 400 pounds of grain a year. In the United States and Canada he consumes nearly a ton, in bread and feed, and in Europe, the Soviet Union, and Japan almost as much.

The problem, as we see it, is twofold. First, it cannot be solved by one nation or even bilaterally. Much has been said about global cooperation. Such organizations as the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund and the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development have good plans in the hopper. But national governments are not responding. Regrettably, it always seems to take a crisis at home before they are moved to act.

One concrete idea is that of the Food and Agriculture Organization to create a world food bank for which nations would devote perhaps 15 percent of their annual grain production. American farmers generally resist such a reserve, charging it would tend to lower prices. But in the long run can the United States and Canada, which are the world's major granaries, fail to face up to their moral responsibility? We firmly argue not.

To cite another worthwhile global approach, a proposal is made by the Trilateral Commission, a private study group, that the industrial nations of Europe, North America, and Japan join the oil-producing nations in providing $3 billion to aid some 30 poor countries hard hit by higher oil and food prices and facing economic disaster. This group even suggests that the Russians be encouraged to participate — a sensible approach given the growing interdependence of economies.

Second, above and beyond concrete programs, what is needed most — in the industrialized nations and among the poor — is a change in mental attitude. We share the advice of a leading State Department expert on the third world: "Don't panic." There are all manner of potential reserves for coping with dwindling resources. This expert notes, for example, the enormous possibilities of research for boosting food production in the world's tropical zones.

Harvard professor Ulrich Peterson notes that improving technology and the ability to mine greater quantities make it economically feasible to dig up lower grade ores. Mankind may be running out of resources but one can look to scientific and technological breakthroughs for solutions.

The important thing is the moral determination and willingness to face up to the problem. The alternative could be disastrous.

"Low Down"
FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

U.S. CHEESE GLUT
ALARMS DAIRYMEN

Rep. David R. Obey (Wis.) "There is only one word to describe what is happening in the dairy industry right now, and that is 'turmoil.'"

"For one thing warehouses are bulging with excess cheese. In my district in Wisconsin, 14 small cheese factories—which buy milk from about 1,500 dairy farmers—were told one Friday that as of next Friday they would have no place to sell their cheese."

"Add to that the Nixon administration's ill-advised efforts to import cheese from abroad and you can picture the mess we are in."

"At the end of March there was about 350 million pounds of cheese in storage throughout the country. . . . In one case I understand a skating rink was rented to store barrels of cheese."

"It is painfully obvious too that we have got to curb the almost endless importation of cheese and other dairy products which have been coming into this country for the past year and a half. . . . They are not produced or manufactured under the same strict sanitation standards which are required of our own farms and cheese plants."

"That double standard ought to be eliminated, and would be by a bill I introduced, with 60 co-leagues, to require sanitation standards for foreign producers and manufacturers comparable to those we have in this country. Two days of hearings on the bill were held 2 weeks ago."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.) "I chaired hearings at the end of May on processing and retailing practices which increase the price or lower the quality of food to the consumer. . . . The Federal Trade Commission has begun a wide-ranging study of the entire food marketing industry which we expect to follow closely."

CRUMP'S GRASS
ROOTS COMMENT

How about cheese omelets for breakfast; cheese and egg sandwiches for lunch; and cheese souffle for dinner with cheese cake for dessert. It might even result in a cheese shortage, if the price was right.

The Christian Science Monitor

An AP-News Analysis

Mideast Strategy Calls
For Cool-Down Period

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American strategy for the Middle East now calls for a lengthy cooling-down period while the United States tries to broaden its influence in the area.

With the region still nearly awe-struck by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's success in disengagement negotiations and with President Nixon's trip having cemented the U.S. position, Kissinger wants to let things quiet down.

U.S. officials who traveled on both Nixon's and Kissinger's planes in the Middle East say this means the Geneva peace conference won't start until late fall.

This timetable is emphasized by Kissinger's tentative travel plans, which now call for a possible September trip to Moscow and India and a visit to China a month later.

However, such a Middle East cooling-off period does not mean Kissinger will overlook the area. He intends to try to draw Iraq and Libya, two of the most radical Arab states, into the web of U.S. influence.

The two countries are important to Kissinger because they represent a destabilizing factor and because they are strongholds of Soviet influence.

Kissinger's strategy has been to increase American influence among the Arabs by making their reliance on the Russians so frustrating and unpleasant they would have to turn to Washington.

This worked with Egypt and Syria, particularly during the October 1973 war, but Kissinger expects Iraq and Libya to be more difficult.

For one thing, the Soviets are much more firmly entrenched in those two countries. They are, therefore, less able to turn away from Moscow. And at the same time this means the Russians will be much more determined to hold on after the Syrian American gains in Syria and Egypt.

Kissinger is expected to begin with Iraq, if for no other reason than the erratic leadership of Libya makes it almost impossible to conduct business.

A waiting period before Geneva also will allow both sides to consider the realities of the three main issues still unresolved—fate of the Palestinian Arabs, Jerusalem and Israel's borders.

The United States has taken no detailed stand and won't until it appears the Arabs and Israelis hold irreconcilable positions.

That appears to be the case already. Not even the Arabs can agree among themselves concerning the Palestinians, other than to say something must be done.

On the question of Jerusalem, Saudi Arabian King Faisal is demanding the eviction of Israel from the Holy City and is waving another oil boycott in the face of the United States if he doesn't get his way.

Both Egypt and Syria say they will accept nothing less than total return of Arab territory now held by Israel. Syria, particularly, is said to have told Kissinger it would fight if all its territory is not returned.

Dear Consumer

Green Light for Summer Driving

By Virginia Knauer
Special Assistant to the President and Director
Office of Consumer Affairs
Department of Health, Education and Welfare

If you are making vacation plans—as I recently did—you are probably wondering whether you can confidently plan on using the car.

The answer is a qualified yes. If consumers continue to practice energy conservation, there should be enough gasoline for a certain amount of summer vacation travel as well as for regular transportation needs.

According to the Federal Energy Administration (FEA)—known as Federal Energy Office earlier this year—if consumers continue to observe the 55 m.p.h. speed limit, use car pools and keep their cars in good driving condition, we should make it through the summer without gas shortages.

This does not mean that our gas supply would hold up if every family took off on a coast-to-coast trip. But it should reassure you that you need not worry if you are planning a short touring vacation or a drive to the shore or the mountains.

This forecast is seconded by the American Automobile Association (AAA), which conducts spot checks of service stations around the country. For this summer, the AAA reports that motorists should be finding it easier to get gas. More and more stations are pumping on Sundays, Saturday nights and weekday evenings. Most service stations on major highways are now open seven days a week with many also operating 24 hours a day. Most states have done away with odd-even rationing plans. And only few stations are now limiting purchases.

But it is still important for consumers to practice energy conservation. As FEA explains it, the importance of gasoline savings lies in the multiplication factor. There are about 100 million registered cars in the 50 states. If every driver were to reduce fuel consumption by only 15 percent, we could save over 28 million gallons of gas a day. That would be a saving of over 680,000 barrels of gas every day!

Here are FEA's suggestions for reducing your fuel consumption this summer:

- Drive at moderate speeds. Most automobiles get about 28 percent more miles per gallon on the highway at 50 m.p.h. than they do at 70 and about 21 percent more mpg at 55 than at 70 m.p.h.
- Find ways to drive less. Join car pools; walk and bike more.
- Keep your car in prime condition to get better mileage. Have your car tuned twice a year, check tire pressure regularly and remove unnecessary weight from car.

For more information on how to conserve energy this summer, you may want to contact the Federal Energy Administration Public Inquiry Section, Washington, D.C. 20460.

For news of your local gasoline situation, watch this newspaper. For specific information on gasoline supplies in other areas, you might contact the state police or the turnpike or highway authority in those areas.

Comments From Others

ELK POINT, S.D., LEADER-COURIER: "Changes in economic conditions affect all of us but in some parts of the world the changes are critical. It is said that the poorest one fourth of the world may face bankruptcy, social breakdown and starvation because of the changes. The price of oil and grains has risen to such an extent that they will soon face starvation and economic breakdown. These things coupled with decreasing help from wealthier nations and the uncontrolled birthrate makes the future of the poor undeveloped nations gloomy to say the least. They have little to buy with and costs are rising rapidly. The high price of fertilizer or the complete lack of it tends to keep their food production at a low level. This is a problem that won't go away by itself and will have to be dealt with by the wealthier nations of the world. And it will affect us all."

THE CHRISTIAN'S HOPE
AND THE DAILY TASK

Soon after Paul wrote First Thessalonians, the Holy Spirit directed him to write Second Thessalonians. In the second epistle there was an earnest effort to correct some erroneous ideas which they had accepted. In addition to attempting to correct the wrong ideas which the Thessalonians were holding concerning the return of Christ, the Epistle contained encouragement for the believers and counsel for them as to how they should conduct themselves as individuals and as a church.

II Thessalonians 2:1-2

In these verses one detects Paul's great disappointment and genuine grief on account of the instability and gullibility of the Thessalonian Christians, which were evidenced by their ready acceptance of erroneous ideas. Their coming to hold opinions that were wrong may have been due to somebody having made a claim to special revelation, or to somebody having taught something in terms that were misleading, or to somebody sending a letter to them with Paul's signature forged to it. Paul urged his readers not to be disturbed unduly by deceit from any source. Paul reassured them with his bold declaration that, regardless of the source from which the false teachings had come, they had no basis in fact whatsoever. He sought to convince them that they were not then in the day of the Lord, and that they had not missed the rapture; therefore, they had no cause for being unstable with reference to the Christian faith, or their continuance in believing the things which he had taught them while with them and in his first letter to them.

II Thessalonians 3:6-16

In this practical section of the Epistle Paul sought to emphasize the vital relationship between belief and behavior. It is the privilege, duty, honor, and glory of believers to be Christ's fellow workers.

Among the Greeks the idea prevailed that it was beneath the dignity of gentlemen to work; therefore, they believed that all work should be done by the slaves. Among the Jews labor was held in very high esteem. Certain members of the church at Thessalonica accepted the Greek viewpoint toward work and refused to do anything, notwithstanding the fact that they did not have the necessities of life.

While Paul was in their midst, he denounced this false conception of life, and taught that every person should have a legitimate and honorable occupation and should work for a livelihood. He believed that men should work, not just to make a living, but because there is so much that needs to be done for the glory of the Lord and for the welfare of other people. Whether work be secular or sacred it can and should be done for the glory of Christ. Since Christianity has to do with work during the week as well as with worship on Sunday, it should be carried into every department of our lives.

With reference to work, Paul was simply telling his readers to do what he had practiced. At no time did he hesitate to work with his hands to support himself. Quite naturally, he taught other Christians that they, too, should support themselves by honest work. Paul did not have any sympathy with professing Christians who were so lazy that they were willing to depend on others to take care of them. Such conduct naturally brought discredit on Christianity; therefore, Paul could not condone or approve it. Unless Christians are willing to work, they cannot hope to enjoy the respect and admiration of industrious and dedicated people. All who wait and look for the coming of Christ should be active and busy in His service. Those who cherish the blessed hope should be useful and fruitful Christians.

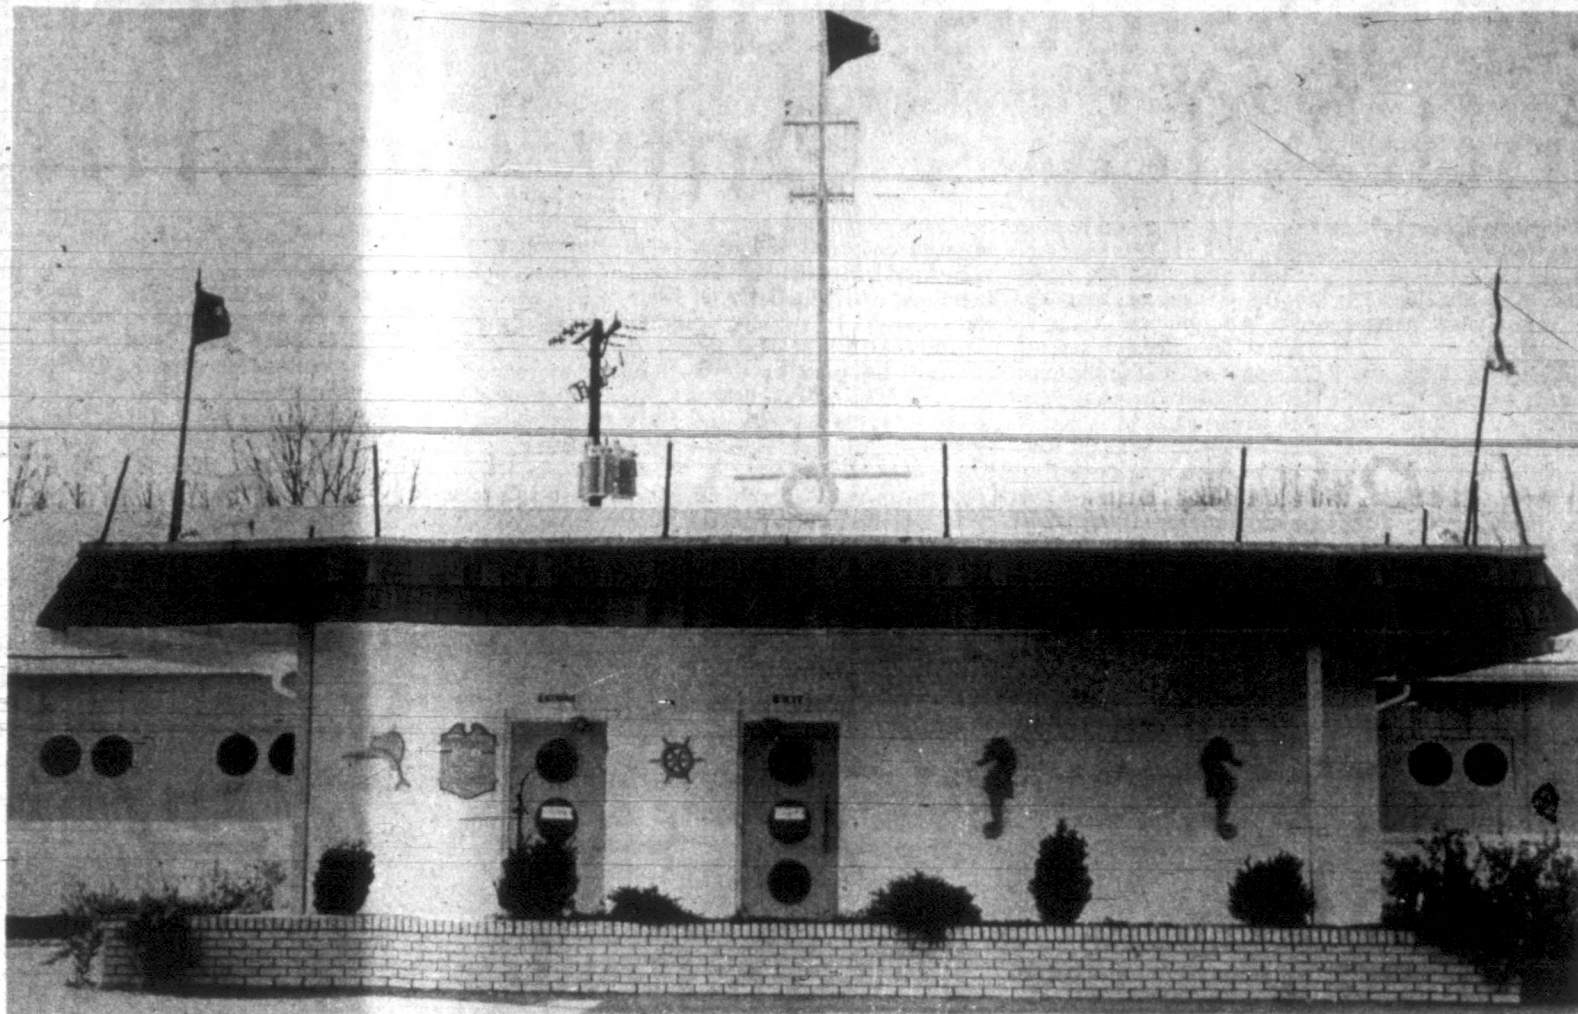

It is the will of God that Christians be orderly and circumspect in their conduct. They should separate themselves from those who walk disorderly and bring reproach upon Christianity.

It is also God's will that each Christian be industrious and active. Our Lord has never placed a premium on laziness. Neither does He encourage anyone to be a parasite on society. There is no place in His economy for a person who is able to work but is unwilling to do so. Honest labor for a living is honorable and is pleasing to God.

Upon learning of the refusal of some to work, Paul commanded the Thessalonian Christians not to assist such idlers. He said, "If any would not work, neither should he eat." The necessity of eating proves the necessity of working. No one has any obligation to provide for any person who is able but not willing to work to support himself and those dependent on him. Furthermore, when people are engaged in doing useful things, they do not have time to become busybodies and to meddle with the affairs of others, which is very unbecoming in anyone and especially in those who called themselves followers of Christ. Since work is a law of life, and useful work is a Christian duty, God's children should apply themselves with earnest industry and patient plodding.

All Christians would do well to refrain from meddling in the affairs of others and to be diligent in attending strictly to their own business. This procedure will protect one from idleness and from doing that which injures others and reflects on one's claim to Christian obedience. Let us never cease living as the Lord wants us to live. Let us remember always that He will give us the strength to live in accordance with His will if we are willing to receive it from Him. The peace which Paul prayed that his readers might possess and enjoy is available to us as Christians on the same terms that it was available to Paul.

Alan Gibbs Fans 15 Men And Allows Only One Hit

It was lightning Thursday night in the Little League but unfortunately for the Cards, it wasn't the kind that brought rain.

Instead, the lightning was coming from the arm of Twins' righthander Alan Gibbs who was almost untouchable in pitching his team to a 6-0 win over the Cards.

Gibbs, throwing the first shutout of the season in the league, allowed only one hit and struck out 15 batters in a pitching performance that could best be described as simply overpowering.

In his last contest, a 4-3 loss to the Yanks, Gibbs had a shutout going into the final inning when he was shocked by a grand slam homerun from the bat of Robert Santagado.

And in that contest, Gibbs fanned 13 batters. In his first win of the season, he sent 17 batters back to the dugout on strikes.

Gibbs, using a blazing and moving fastball along with a few curves, didn't allow the hit until the fifth inning.

Dan Carman of the Cards took a two-out, belt-high curve ball and punched it into left for a single, ruining the no-hit bid of Gibbs.

Gibbs said after the game that he thought he hung the curve ball.

All of the offensive support Gibbs needed came in the third inning when three successive doubles pushed across a pair of runs.

Ashley Smock doubled, Kim Kendall doubled and drove Smock in and then Gibbs helped his own cause with a double, scoring Kendall.

In the fourth, the Twins added another tally when Bradley Wells singled and came all the way around on stolen bases.

Kendall led off the fifth with a single, Gibbs doubled and Nicky Swift ripped an RBI double, giving the Twins a 5-0 lead. Swift later scored on a fielder's choice by Ben Underwood.

Gibbs and Kendall each had a pair of hits for the Twins while Swift, Kelly White, Wells and Smock each had one.

In the first contest played Thursday, the Astros overcame a 4-3 deficit and went on to slam the Nats 12-4.

Rick Smith and Don Rogers each hurled three innings on the mound for the winners.

The Astros scored three in the top of the first as Randy

Mayfield and Scott Hill each walked and trotted across when Don Rogers drilled a three-run shot.

In the bottom of the first, the Nats tied the count as Kevin Chapman lined an RBI double to score Darwin Bumphis and Eddie Reaugh, both of whom had reached on singles.

Chapman came in with the typing run when Robin Roberts laced a triple.

The Nats held the Astros scoreless in the top of the second and then broke the tie in their home half of the inning when James Morganti, who had walked, scored on a single by Jerry Belty.

But the lead was short-lived as the Astros scored twice in the third and moved to a 5-4 lead.

Tony Herndon had a sacrifice fly in the frame and Todd Rose had an RBI single.

In the fourth, Hill walked and Don Rogers again uncorked a homer, this one giving the Astros a 7-4 lead.

Finally, in the fifth inning, the Astros scored five times and put the game away.

The big blow in the frame was a three-run homer by Randy Mayfield.

For the Astros, Rogers added two. Mayfield, Mark Smith, Rick Smith and Stacy Smith all had a hit apiece.

Bumphis had a pair of base raps for the Nats while Reaugh, Roberts, Belty, Chapman and Richie Rollins all had one hit.

In games set for tonight, the opening contest at 6 p.m. will find the Cubs playing the A's while the Yanks meet the Reds in the nightcap.

Everything Perfect As Williams Prepares For 100 In AAU Meet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Steve Williams couldn't ask for much more.

A fast track, a cheering crowd, lovely springlike weather.

Williams has never been much of a starter but the lanky 6-foot-3 San Diego State sprinter has a phenomenal finish. In 1973 he tied the then world record in the 100-yard dash at 9.1 and won the AAU title in the event with a last-second lean at the tape, nipping Herb Washington. This year the experts are expecting the 100-yard dash to be just as close. But not the AAU 100-meter dash.

For the first time in a non-Olympic year, the AAU championships—which start this afternoon—will be contested in meters, not yards. One hundred meters is about 109 yards, and that's all Williams feels he needs.

"I've always liked meters better," he said. "It gives me just a little bit more time."

More time to recover from his always sloppy start. Steve may need every inch of the extra nine yards to catch and pass such top sprinters as Ivory Crockett, the man who took away Williams' world record in the 100; freshman Reggie Jones of Tennessee and Don Quarrie of Jamaica.

The 100 is only one of six final events to be contested in the two-day meet at UCLA's Drake Stadium. The meet starts with qualifying in the pole vault, followed by the high jump, featuring 20 men who have cleared 7 feet, including Dwight Stones, the world record holder and defending champ.

Other finals include the 110-meter high hurdles, the long jump, the discus and the 5,000.

Top two Americans in each event qualify to meet the Soviet Union in a dual meet July 5-6 at Durham, N.C.

Two Park League Contests Played

Two games played in the Park League Thursday found the Reds and the Astros battling to a 7-7 tie while the Yanks nipped the Twins 9-8.

The Astros had four hits while the Reds had two hits in the opening contest, called because of the time limit. The game will be picked up again Saturday at 6 p.m.

In the second contest, the Twins led 8-7 going into the top of the fifth but the Yanks pushed across two runs and held the Twins scoreless in the bottom of the frame and grabbed the win.

The Yanks belted eight hits in the contest while the Twins had five.

In games set for tonight, the Yanks battle the Cubs at 4:30 p.m. while in the second contest, the Tigers and the Cubs tangle.

Maryland Inks Malone To Cage Scholarship

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — Recruiting the nation's top high school basketball player, Moses Malone, meant there could be only one happy winner and a lot of losers—some of them sore.

Maryland is the winner, and coach Lefty Driesell believes the 6-foot-11 Malone will make the Terps "the UCLA of the East."

For University of New Mexico Coach Norm Ellenberger, the signing Thursday morning with Malone still half asleep sounds like "a case of his people making the decision for him. It wasn't necessarily what he wanted."

Ellenberger was upset because, when he left this Central Virginia city Thursday morning, Malone had told a television reporter hours earlier that New Mexico likely would be his choice.

By the time the New Mexico coach's plane had landed in Albuquerque, the news was out that the shy, reticent Malone had signed with Maryland.

Apparently Malone's mother was the key factor. Mary Malone had admitted she wanted Moses to play close to home. She was elated when he chose Maryland. "He's going to be close to home ... It's only a 2½-hour ride to Maryland, and I can get to see him play," she said.

While Driesell, Maryland and the Malones were basking in the glow of success, a Virginia newspaper report threw a shadow over the affair.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch reported in today's editions that Malone has been driving a 1974 luxury car since Monday and has been hired by a Washington construction company for the summer. The car retails for $6,500 and his construction job reportedly will pay $7 an hour.

The newspaper said there have been reports the NCAA has been investigating the automobile arrangement. "We couldn't comment on any investigation at this time," said an NCAA official in Shawnee Mission, Kan. "It's our standard policy not to say anything on matters like this."

A spokesman for the Richmond auto dealer said the car was obtained by Malone and his mother through a lease-purchase agreement.

Mantle Makes Promotion

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — As Mickey Mantle's baseball career flourished, the minor leagues which gave him his start were fighting for their lives.

Mantle broke into organized baseball in 1949 with Independence of the Class D K-O-M League. Three years later, Mantle was playing regularly with the New York Yankees—and the K-O-M League had passed from existence.

A total of 448 minor league teams played in 59 different leagues when Mantle started his 25-year climb to baseball's Hall of Fame.

Today, only 148 teams are left in just 19 leagues.

Mantle, here Thursday in connection with a promotion for Charleston's entry in the Class AAA International League, said, "I don't think college ball will ever replace the minors. There is no other way to replace the experience you get from playing every day with a professional team."

Television, Mantle said, has played a big part in the demise of the minors, just as TV was a major boost to the big leagues. "But I think that the majors have cut back on television in the past few years."

Back-To-Back Aces

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — The last young man in a four-some shot a hole-in-one Wednesday on the 136-yard sixth hole at the Fairview Municipal golf course and the very next player to tee off matched it.

William Cooper, 14, accomplished his hole-in-one with a 6-iron and Joe Geha, 17, who started off the tee with the very next twosome, stroked his ace with an 8-iron.

Orioles Continue To Be Undefeated

By JIM PIERCE

Brad Taylor scattered four hits in leading the undefeated Orioles to a 6-5 win over the Indians Thursday night in Pony League action.

Taylor scored what proved to be the winning run in the fifth when he scampered home on an error, after reaching on a fielder's choice and advancing to third on Dean Cherry's second single of the ballgame.

Kenn Perkins also rapped out two singles while Kevin Shahan and Chris Kurses also hit safely.

The Indians' hard-luck pitcher, Bob Thurman, gave up only six hits in picking up the loss.

Thurman, Dan Thompson, Grettis Bumphis and Howard all hit safely for the Indians.

The loss dropped the Indians to 4-3 while the Orioles soared to 4-0.

Thursday's second game found the Astros trimming the Mets 5-2.

Aided by three walks, two errors and a single, the Astros struck for four runs in the first inning.

Although Met losing pitcher Terry Gibson gave up only one more single, the damage was done.

Winning hurler Thomas Kendall scattered seven hits in going the route for his second victory.

Denham's first inning single and David Stripling's second inning single proved to be all the offense the Astros could muster.

The Astros evened their record at 3-3 with the win. Errors and walks again plagued the Mets as they dropped to 1-6.

Jon Harrison's three-for-three hitting and J. J. Chavis' two hits paced the Mets.

Terry Gibson and Dan Potts also hit safely.

Play resumes Saturday night as the Dodgers take on the Astros and the Orioles meet the Phils.

Mel Purcell Is In Tourney Semis

Mel Purcell has reached the semifinal round of the Southern Closed Tennis Tournament being held throughout the week in Nashville.

The Murray High star, who reached the semifinals of the State Tournament two weeks ago, will be playing Tal Henry of North Carolina today for the right to advance to the championship.

The tournament features top players from a nine-state area of the South. Purcell, son of Murray State tennis coach Bennie Purcell, is playing in the 16-year-old division.

In order to reach the tournament, he had to win in a qualification tourney in Lexington last week against other Kentucky players, as only six players from each of the states were taken in the Southern Closed Tournament.

In that tourney, he pulled off one of his most satisfying wins of his career as he avenged an earlier defeat in winning in split sets over Mark Beuchler of Louisville.

Last year in the State Junior Closed Tourney at Murray, Beuchler defeated Purcell to win the title in the 16-year-old division.

In his first match, played Monday in Nashville, Purcell won 6-0 and 6-2 over Woody Leonard of Georgia.

Tuesday's match was a 6-4, 4-3 win over Allan Farfour of Greensboro, N.C.

In his match played Wednesday, Purcell defeated Tracy McDougal of Louisiana 6-0 and 6-1.

Then in the quarterfinals yesterday, Purcell won a tough 7-5, 6-4 match over Dick Milford of Memphis.

Purcell will soon be leaving for a playing tour of California.

Merger Chances Still Doubtful

By BERT ROSENTHAL

AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Basketball Association owners have rejected a proposal by the Players' Association on the controversial option clause, thereby continuing to stall the possibility of merger with the American Basketball Association.

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy disclosed Thursday that the owners even refused to vote on a plan that, in effect, would have eliminated the option clause that binds a player to one team.

The plan would have given an NBA team first refusal on any new contract.

For example, if a player completed his contractual obligations with Team A, he then would become a free agent and be able to negotiate with any other club.

Should another club offer him more money, he then would return to Team A, explain his offer from Team B, and give Team A 15 days to match the proposal.

If Team A matched it, it would keep him. If it didn't match it, the player then would be free to sign with Team B.

Had the owners accepted the latest proposal, one of the major roadblocks to merger—the players' lawsuit—would have been eliminated since players then would have had recourse to sell their services to the highest bidder.

Reportedly, had it passed, it would have gone into effect in the 1975-76 season and the reserve clause would have been eliminated.

Larry Fleisher, executive director of the NBA Players' Association, called the owners' action, "absurd, terrible, shocking."

"This was not a proposal, it was a settlement," fumed Fleisher. "The agreement had been settled at the direction of a federal court judge (Judge Robert Carter of the Southern District of New York)."

Fleisher said the Players' Association and judge would meet sometime next week.

The owners met for nine hours Wednesday and about 1 1/2 hours Thursday without electing either Alan Rothenberg or Henry Steinman—both Los Angeles attorneys—to succeed

Sign Hockey Player

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Stingers of the World Hockey Association have signed Eugene Sobchuk, 23-year-old brother of bonus baby Dennis Sobchuk 23.

Eugene, of Lang, Sask., played for the Virginia Kings of the American Hockey League last year and briefly for the Vancouver Canucks last season. Dennis signed a million dollar, multiyear contract earlier.

Kennedy, who will retire as of June 1, 1975.

Fourteen of the 18 members of the board of governors must approve for election. Steinman, a former basketball player at UCLA under Coach John Wooden, led all the way in the balloting, but received only 13 votes.

The board was not expected to reconvene on the commissioner's stalemate later this summer.

Meanwhile, Kennedy continued to minimize the chances of a merger for next season. "Without the approval of the Players' Association, there is no merger or consolidation," he said.

League-Leading Phils Edged 2-1 By Koosman

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer

Jerry Koosman shook off Jerry Grote. Then Mike Schmidt shook up Jerry Koosman.

Picking on a Koosman curve ball, the Philadelphia slugger belted a ball to the base of the center field wall before Dave Schneck hauled it in.

That out preserved a 2-1 victory for the New York Mets Thursday night but left Koosman shaking his head.

"It was a tough, exciting game and I should have made better pitches," said Koosman after giving up 11 hits to the National League East leaders. "There were pitches they should have hit and didn't. It was a struggle."

Koosman was in trouble down to the end, when the Phillies had a man on first and second base with two out and the dangerous Schmidt at the plate.

With the count three balls and one strike, New York catcher Grote called for a fast ball and then a curve, but Koosman decided against both.

"If Schmidt is going to beat me, it's going to be with an offspeed pitch," said Koosman.

The left-hander offered a "knee-high curveball away" and Schmidt belted it about as far as you can inside spacious Veterans Stadium.

In the only other National League game Thursday, the Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-0. In the American League, the Minnesota Twins trimmed the Chicago White Sox 3-2; the Milwaukee Brewers blanked the Baltimore Orioles 6-0; the Texas Rangers turned back the California Angels 7-4 and the Oakland A's defeated the Kansas City Royals 4-0.

Cubs 3, Pirates 0
Home runs by Jose Cardenal and Billy Williams led Chicago over Pittsburgh, ending the Pirates' victory string at six games.

Twins 3, White Sox 2
Run homer off Wilbur Wood in the eighth inning, propelling Minnesota past Chicago.

Brewers 6, Orioles 0
Milwaukee, powered by John Briggs' first-inning grand-slam homer, whipped Baltimore behind the combined six-hitter of Ed Sprague and Tom Murphy.

Rangers 7, Angels 4
Tom Grieve's three-run double highlighted a four-run rally in the eighth and powered Texas over California.

A's 4, Royals 0
Jim "Catfish" Hunter ended a personal three-game losing streak by pitching a five-hitter to pace Oakland over Kansas City.

Hunter, 9-8, outdueled Al Fitzmorris, 6-3, to put the front-running A's 1 1/2 games up on the Royals in the hot American League West race.

John Player Net Classic Reaches Semifinals Today

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — Roscoe Tanner, Stan Smith and Marty Riessen provide a strong American challenge in today's semifinals of the $100,000 John Player tennis tournament, the last major tuneup before Wimbledon begins its two-week run.

Many top Wimbledon choices have been eliminated from this tourney.

Gone is John Newcombe, three-time Wimbledon winner from Australia and top-seeded here, Romanian Ilie Nastase, the No. 2 Wimbledon seed, and Jan Kodes, defending Wimbledon champ from Czechoslovakia.

All entered but fell by the wayside.

Smith, the 1972 Wimbledon winner from Sea Pines, S.C., admits that he has been struggling to find his form, but he has battled a wayward serve and a liberal sprinkling of double faults to reach the last four here.

In today's semifinals, Riessen, like Tanner unseeded at Wimbledon, takes on Alex Metreveli, Russia's top player and the losing finalist at Wimbledon last year, while Smith meets Tanner, who has dumped Newcombe and Kodes already.

Tanner, 22, from Lookout Mountain, Tenn., is ranked only 11th in the United States, but has been the hottest player here.

Meanwhile, 150 miles south at Eastbourne, Chris Evert of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., is also among the last four in the $25,000 John Player women's event.

Miss Evert, 19, was the losing 1973 Wimbledon finalist. She takes on Olga Morozova of the Soviet Union today while the second semifinal pits Britain's Virginia Wade against Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia.

LEGGING IT OUT—Kenn Perkins of the Orioles grimaces as he gives all he has in an effort to beat out an infield single. His effort paid as he was called safe in a close play.

Ray Floyd Takes Lead In American Golf Play

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "I have more dedication, more devotion to the game of golf," Ray Floyd explained of his resurgence on the pro tour. He nodded his head toward a girl sitting a few feet away and added:

"And I owe most of that to my cute little wife over there." Floyd, once the game's premier playboy but now a recent bridegroom, is trying to play his way out of a five-year slump.

He took a giant stride Thursday with a five under par 65—including a course-record 29 on the front side—for a one-shot lead in the $170,000 American Golf Classic.

Floyd, who once ranked among the game's most promising young players, led Buddy Allin, already a two-time winner who birdied two of his last three holes for a 66.

Jerry McGee had a 67, Jim Ferrell a 68, two under par, on the 7,190-yard Firestone Country Club course, one of the longest, toughest, most demanding layouts the touring pros encounter.

Those at 69 included Forrest Fezler, Gay Brewer, Jim Simons, Ed Sneed, Larry Ziegler and host pro Bobby Nichols.

Arnold Palmer had a 70, Tom Weiskopf 71 and defending title holder Bruce Crampton of Australia a 72. Newly-crowned U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin blew to a fat 77.

Floyd has been in a deep slump since his banner year of 1969. As a 26-year-old that season he won three times, including the PGA National Championship and a record-setting 268 in this tournament. He collected $109,000 that season and was hailed as a coming superstar.

But he hasn't won since.

The Philadelphia Eagles picked nine defensive and six offensive players in the recent college football draft.

Bob Daniel Gets First No-Hitter

The first no-hitter in Murray was recorded in the Kentucky League Thursday night as Bobby Daniel of the Reds did it in a 19-1 thrashing of the Mets.

Daniel struck out eight batters but gave up 13 walks in the contest, which is how the lone run in the game for the Mets scored in the second inning.

Mike Gough led off the inning with a walk, stole second and third and scored the only run of the game when he stole home.

The winning Reds scored all the runs Daniel needed for the win in the second when they erupted for five tallies.

After the first batter up fanned for an out, Mike Ward doubled.

And then the Reds got the momentum started when Chuck Wilson knocked a two-run homer over the fence, giving the Reds a 2-1 edge.

Daniel followed with a single, Joe Mark Alls singled and then with two out, West doubled in a run.

Two more runs crossed when Mike Nichy ripped a two-run double.

The second inning found the Reds scoring seven times.

Chuck Wilson led off the frame with a walk, Daniel doubled and Chris Hutson drove in Wilson with a single.

West walked to load the bases and seconds later the sacks were cleared when Keith Baar cannoned a three-run double.

Kevin Gassum walked to put men on at the corners and then Mike Ward singled in Baar. The scoring ended when Wilson doubled in Gassum and Ward.

The Reds scored seven more in the fifth with Daniel hitting a two-run single, Clay Phelps smacking a two-run single, West driving in a run with a double and Jeff Miller singling in a pair of runs.

The Reds backed Daniel's no-hit pitching with 20 hits.

Alls, West, Ward and Daniel all had three hits while Wilson had two, including the big homerun.

Hutson, Miller, Nichy, Baar, Phelps, and Gassum all had one hit apiece.

Bill Milton, coming off the disabled list, scored a run as everyone on the roster got into the act.

The win leaves the league-leading Reds with a 5-1 slate while the Mets drop to 2-4.

In the game set for tonight, the Cards will face the Cubs at 6 p.m.

Two Tied For Lead

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Sandra Haynie resumed her quest to achieve a new goal and defending champion Mary Mills hoped to keep her "astro burners" working today while tied for the first round lead in the $50,000 Ladies PGA Championship.

"I missed my goal of 30 tournament victories while I was 30 by less than two weeks and now my goal is 31 while I'm 31," said Miss Haynie, a native Texan who turned 31 June 4, before winning the Medina Open in Ohio last Sunday.

Miss Haynie appeared to have sole possession of the first-round lead with a sizzling four-under-par 69 Thursday at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Then Mary Mills, an eight-time Mississippi amateur champion before turning pro in 1962, came blazing home with a four-under-par 32 on her back nine for a share of the lead, one stroke ahead of Japan's Bayoko Yamazaki.

"Nobody was out there following us and I guess I sort of sneaked in," Miss Mills said. "After shooting only (par) 37 on my first nine, I became more aggressive. I put my astro burners back on."

Big Purse To Attract Net Players To Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A $130,000 purse and a new setting are expected to attract some of the top names in tennis to the 64th U.S. Clay Court Championships in Indianapolis, Aug. 5-12.

The prestigious tournament, considered by many second only to Forest Hills in American tennis, will pay $100,000 for the men's competition and $30,000 for the women's, up $40,000 from last year's total prize money.

The tournament will be held in Indianapolis for the eighth straight year, despite strong competition from Louisville, Chicago and several other cities. However, it will move from the tiny and conservative Woodstock Country Club to the newer and bigger Indianapolis Racquet Club.

There also will be night play for the first time.

Among the 64 men expected to enter the tournament are defending champion Manuel Orantes of Spain, No. 1 world player Ilie Nastase of Romania, U.S. star Jimmy Connors and two-time Clay Court champion Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia.

TENNIS

NOTTINGHAM, England — Stan Smith defeated Jimmy Connors 4-6, 6-4, 6-0 to gain entry into the semifinals of the $100,000 John Player tennis tournament.

On The Road With Kevin Grevey

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Kevin Grevey, the University of Kentucky basketball star, is back from a tour of Australia, sporting kangaroo skin souvenirs and glowing with optimism of a Wildcat revival in 1975.

He also got an expensive lesson in the devalued U.S. dollar.

"The tour gave us confidence," said the former Ohio all-star. "We got to know each other better because we had to overcome adverse conditions together."

Grevey, two-time all-Southeast Conference sharpshooter, said the barnstorming trip down under covered 5,000 miles in 25 days.

Major hazards, he said, were familiarizing themselves with driving on the left side of the road and the officiating.

First venture in driving nearly ended in disaster when teammate Steve Lochmueller overlooked the left-lane law.

"We almost slammed head-on into a truck," said Grevey. He laughed. "We changed drivers."

The Wildcats won 17 of 19 exhibition games. Losses were to the Australian Olympic team and a Melbourne club heavily laden with American players.

Grevey said officiating was atrocious.

"I think the officials were out to get us most of the time," he said. "Things like that can bring players closer together."

The trip to Australia was Grevey's second international junket in as many years. He was one of a select group of American stars who made a history-making trip through Red China last year.

Grevey, SEC's leading scorer last year, was relieved this year to find familiar food.

Reggie Jackson Leading AL All-Star Balloting

NEW YORK (AP) — Reggie Jackson, the Oakland A's star outfielder, continues to lead all other American League players in the weekly voting for the All-Star team.

According to figures released today by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, Jackson had 719,579 votes. His closest rival over-all was Minnesota second baseman Rod Carew with 574,150. The next closest outfielder was California's Frank Robinson with 302,113. Robinson was fifth a week ago.

In the only other change among the leaders, Chicago's Dick Allen grabbed the edge over Boston's Carl Yastrzemski at first base, 325,763 votes to 229,904.

Cookie Rojas of Kansas City is a distant runnerup to Carew at second base with 172,565. Baltimore's Brooks Robinson remained the top choice for third base with 299,333 votes, followed by the A's Sal Bando with 217,545.

Bert Campaneris, the A's shortstop, leads with 451,244, followed by Ed Brinkman of Detroit with 199,908.

Boston's Carlton Fisk has 357,040 to lead the catchers. Bill Freehan of Detroit is second with 236,055.

Behind Jackson and Frank Robinson in the outfield is Detroit's Al Kaline with 266,350. His teammate, Willie Horton, Bobby Murcer of New York and Jeff Burroughs of Texas followed.

The California Angels were involved in 85 games last year that were decided by two runs or less. They won 44 of them.

Knicks' Reed Decides Not To Have Operation

NEW YORK (AP) — The future of Willis Reed, the New York Knicks' oft-injured center, was uncertain today, after an announcement by the club that he had decided against having surgery on his right knee despite orders by two doctors.

The Knicks said Thursday that Dr. Donald O'Donoghue, who examined Reed in Oklahoma City on June 3, and Dr. James Nicholas, who examined him June 17 in New York, agreed the burly pivotman would need an operation to play next season.

Since Reed refused, said New York coach and general manager Red Holzman, "it appears he will not be with the Knicks next season."

Reed did not attend the hastily called news conference.

Asked before the gathering how he would feel if the Knicks announced he wouldn't be playing next season, the 6-foot-10, 240-pounder replied: "I don't deal in hypotheses, only in logic."

Holzman explained that Reed preferred not to undergo further surgery because "he already has had numerous injuries, operations and heartbreaks."

Holzman said he has not had a chance to discuss the situation with Reed. But Michael Burke, the Knicks' new president, acknowledged that he would meet with Holzman and Fleisher today on the matter.

It might be several days or even weeks before a decision.

Reed, who will be 32 Tuesday, has been plagued by injuries since the Knicks won their first NBA championship in the 1969-70 season. He underwent surgery in 1970 for torn ligaments in his left knee.

The next year, he was hampered by tendonitis in the right knee and another operation was performed. A third last December removed torn cartilage from his right knee.

Despite the injuries, the star from Grambling College has been a standout in his 10 years in the pros. He was the Most Valuable Player Award winner in both the 1970 and 1973 NBA championship playoff series, the only two years the Knicks have won the title since joining the league at its inception in 1946. He also won the MVP award for the 1969-70 regular season and the MVP honor for the 1970 All-Star Game.

Reed has two more years remaining on his contract.

"If we lose Willis, it will mean we have lost a great ball-player and a great person," concluded Holzman.

Murray Legion Smacks Fulton

Mayfield High's Mike Thurmond allowed only two hits and struck out 15 batters in pitching the Murray American Legion to a 12-1 win over Fulton Thursday night in Holland Stadium.

The game went only seven innings.

The only run off Thurmond came in the third inning on a walk and two errors.

Thurmond was backed by the 10-hit production of his teammates.

It was a seven-run second inning that gave Thurmond all the working margin he needed for the win, which raised the Murray season record to 5-7.

The big blow in the frame was a three-run homer by Farmington's Greg Smith.

Murray added a single run in the third, two in the fourth and two more in the fifth.

Everyone in the lineup got into the hitting act.

Gary Mitchell slapped a pair of hits as did Johnny Shelley. Randy Conner, Mark Miller, Smith, Gary Latta, Rick Scarbrough and Larry McGregor also hit safely.

The legion will host Greenville to a twinbill tonight beginning at 6 p.m. before visiting Russellville Sunday for a 2 p.m. doubleheader.

HIS Meager FARE

When the season is right, the young boys head for the lake or river to fish. Out only for a good time, they don't depend on their catch for food. Even when their luck is bad, the outing is worthwhile. Many years ago another small boy went fishing for his evening meal. His luck was not very good, for he only caught two fish. Luckily he had some bread with him to go with his fish. But not much, it would seem. On his way home, he saw a crowd following a preacher. He was intrigued by the Man and followed Him. After reaching a grassy hill, the Preacher spoke to them. It was late when He finished His message. The people were all hungry but there was no food. Sensing their hunger, the small boy offered Jesus his meager fare. Then Jesus multiplied it until it became enough for all five thousand people. The catch that had earlier seemed so very small, with God's help, became very big indeed. Sometimes we seem to hold back, feeling that we have so little to offer. But like that little boy, we should give our meager fare. With God's help, the results can be fantastic.

Judiciary Committee Concluding Six Weeks Of Impeachment Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is concluding six weeks of hearings on impeachment evidence with a study of the secret bombing of Cambodia in 1969.

It will still be several weeks before the committee decides whether grounds exist for impeaching President Nixon, however. Witnesses are to be heard, Nixon's defense presented and the proposed articles of impeachment debated.

Today's Cambodian bombing inquiry involves the falsifying of reports to Congress and the destruction of official records to conceal 3,630 B52 sorties into Cambodia during 14 months while the United States officially was recognizing Cambodia's neutrality in the Vietnam war.

While it raises serious constitutional questions relating to a president's war-making powers, it is not regarded by most members as likely to produce an article of impeachment.

The committee delved into Nixon's income tax returns Thursday and learned he had been assessed a 5 per cent negligence penalty by the Internal Revenue Service besides having been found to owe $432,787 in taxes for 1969-72.

However, nearly all members questioned said they heard nothing during the day-long closed session indicating Nixon might be guilty of tax fraud.

In related developments: —The administration continued its criticism of the Judiciary Committee. Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said "due process is being violated on a daily constant basis" by leaks from the committee.

—John D. Ehrlichman claimed that President Nixon clamped a security lid on the activities of the White House plumbers in December 1971. Ehrlichman made the assertion in asking approval for a new subpoena demanding that the White House surrender notes Ehrlichman made.

—Presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair asked the Supreme Court to turn over evidence that led a grand jury to name Nixon an indicted co-conspirator in the Watergate break-in. Special prosecutor Leon Jaworski opposed the request.

The tax inquiry centered on a $576,000 deduction claimed by Nixon for a gift of his vice-presidential papers to the United States. The IRS, which had previously approved the deduction, later disallowed it.

Nixon accepted the IRS finding and said he would pay the amount assessed. However, the committee was told he has not paid $148,080 for 1969, which he is not required to pay because the statute of limitations for that year has expired. He is believed to have paid the rest.

The 5 per cent penalty for negligence also did not apply to 1969. John Doar, special counsel for the committee, said it was directed against Nixon and not his accountants.

Rep. David Dennis, R-Ind., said the imposition of a negligence penalty implies there is no criminal intent on the part of a taxpayer and thus to fraud.

But Albert Jenner, chief minority counsel for the committee, said at a news briefing that a finding of negligence does not rule out the possibility that fraud could be established later.

Three White Tigers Born In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Whining and whimpering, three white Bengal tiger cubs described as "cute as buttons" were being watched round-the-clock today after astonishing experts with one of the rarest births recorded in zoo annals.

The zoo famed for its fertility rate among lowland gorillas hit a bonanza Thursday with the arrival of the three cubs in a four-cub litter.

Cincinnati Zoo officials celebrated "The Year of the Tiger" with a trio of the rare cats.

An eight-year-old female Bengal named Kesari produced the exotic offspring. Their fur is presently gray-toned against black stripes.

Not albino, the three cubs join a threatened species which at last count numbered about 30 in the world.

"She is taking good care of two of them," said Pepper Wilson, spokesman for the country's second oldest zoo. "She licking their ears and nursing them."

But she rejected two others that we have determined are males," he said. One of the cubs is a regular orange-hued Bengal, but has the power to reproduce the endangered breed.

The two rejected cubs are getting the kid glove treatment. Bottle-fed with a concentrated milk liquid and coddled by an 80-degree incubator, the two became instant hits at the 99-year-old zoo.

"We had people jammed in the building a couple hours after news of the births got around," said Wilson.

Closed eyelids hide the animals' icy-blue eyes.

Their noses and paw pads are pink.

Survival of the four is the primary concern at the moment.

"Anyone with so much as a case of the sniffles doesn't get close to them. We're not taking any chances. We're pulling all stops to give them the best chances," said Wilson. "This is important to the world."

Smock-wearing workers gingerly handle the two males in the incubators. But no one is being allowed near the mother and her two white rarities.

"A sudden noise or anything that would frighten her and she'd kill the babies," he said.

"The situation with all of them will remain critical for several days. This race of tiger has a history of genetic problems," he said. The father of the kittens died in the past week.

The births more than doubled the population of the white Bengal family in the U.S. Only nine have been sighted in India since the turn of the century.

All five of the U.S. tigers are descendants of Mohan, a male taken into captivity during a 1951 hunt in India.

Kesari was loaned to Cincinnati by the National Zoo in Washington, D.C.
