90 Day Shutdown Scheduled

Standard Textile Announces Plans To Close Plant

Plans to close Standard Textile, manufacturers of work clothes in Murray, were confirmed this morning by regional manager Luke Baker.

Baker said that the reason for the closing, which he termed temporary, was an excess of inventory.

The plant employs approximately 170 persons. In a cutback several days ago, about 90 of the employees were laid off, Baker said.

The district manager said that at this time the plant is scheduled to reopen in 90 days.

James L. Johnson, executive secretary of the Murray Chamber of Commerce, issued the following statement today:

"It is regrettable that this fine organization has encountered so many economic problems in the world market. SERVESCO, the parent firm for Standard Textile Co., has been a fine organization to work with. They have always tried to extend every aid to this community by providing gainful employment to a segment of our population that needs to work.

"Many of the employees are the breadwinners for the family and will be especially hard hit by closing.

"The petro-chemical shortage in the plastics industry is delaying the hiring of many people at Fisher-Price Toys where we had hoped many of the people could be employed.

"We offer the services of this office to SERVESCO, in making this a temporary closing and wish the very best for the management and employees."

Body Of Indiana Man Recovered Monday Night

Rescue workers have found the body of an Indiana man missing since his 26-foot cabin cruiser capsized in a thunderstorm Sunday on Kentucky Lake.

The body of Steve Hart of Evansville was discovered Monday night in the general area of the mishap, according to Fred Willie of the Marshall County Rescue Squad.

The boat capsized near Jonathan Creek, where Hart owned a cabin. It was feared at first that his daughter, Linda, 22, also had drowned, but rescuers found her safe on Sunday.

"She held onto her father as long as she could," Kenneth Capps' state boating officer, said after the daughter was found.

Dr. Jeter To Present Paper At National AHEA Conference

Home economists need to be more assertive and assume positions of power if they are to improve their professional status, Dr. Kris Jeter, an associate professor at Murray State University writes in a paper she will present this week at the annual meeting of the American Home Economics Association in Los Angeles, Calif.

Research conducted by Dr. Jeter indicates that there is correlation between status and masculinity, and that "humanism and feminism need to be actively embraced."

"The inclusion of men into the profession and the development of positions for home economists in masculine associated areas of employment such as medicine, insurance, law and engineering would improve the status of home economists," she contends.

In making her study of what constitutes a home economist, Dr. Jeter collected the opinions of Kentucky vocational home economists teachers concerning seven specializations in the field of study of home economics, 22 positions for employment in the field and 13 definitions of home economics.

A review of stereotype research with data provided by lay people indicated that home economics is considered, not as a profession or as a status, but as general education for women in cooking and sewing, she says.

Contrary to popular opinion, Dr. Jeter reports, home economists teachers view home economics as a unified field of study which prepares professionals for positions in education, business, industry, architecture and urban planning.

The home economics teachers strongly agreed with nine definitions, and agreed with four current definitions of home economics which concerned resource management, androgynous or non-sexists social roles, human needs and adjustment to change.

"To the extent that the stereotypes about home economists can be dispelled; to (See Jeter, page 12)

More Israeli Attacks Expected Following Raid By Terrorists

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — More Israeli air attacks on Palestinian positions in Lebanon were expected soon in retaliation for another raid by Arab guerrillas who killed four Israelis in the seaside town of Nahariyya.

The three guerrillas invaded an apartment house in the town seven miles south of the Lebanese border and killed a 29-year-old woman, her two small children and an Israeli soldier before Israeli troops mowed them down. Eight Israelis were wounded, including the dead woman's husband and five troops.

Palestinian guerrilla groups in Beirut withheld immediate comment on the attack.

It was the fourth major terrorist attack in Israel in 2 1/2 months. The raiders have killed 52 persons, including 33 children, and 100 have been wounded.

New Trial Sought To Stop Annexation

By DAVID HILL
Murray Ledger & Times Writer

Steps have again been taken to block the annexation of a large area north of Murray by the Murray City Council, and a restraining order will be sought to prevent the action.

A group of citizens of the area have changed attorneys, and Steven L. West of Mayfield, will represent them in a motion for a new trial and a motion to vacate judgement before Circuit Judge James Lassiter.

Included in the group are Clayton Riley, Elizabeth Riley, N. P. Paschall, Robbie Paschall, John Pocock, Rhoda Sue Pocock and Alfred Wells, who are listed as plaintiffs on the civil action filed in Circuit Court Clerk James Blalock's office.

The City of Murray and the Common Council of the city are named as defendants.

The motion, which is signed only by Mrs. Riley, alleges that the plaintiffs were denied access to a list of the freeholders in the area in preparing their case, which was denied in action in Circuit Court June 11.

Judge Lassiter ruled against the group June 11 after it was apparent that they did not have 75 per cent of the freeholders in the area to remonstrate, or protest, the annexation.

The motion for a new trial alleges that the plaintiffs were denied a list of the freeholders by City Planner Richard Nash, and that they were unaware of how many freeholders there are in the area; thus, they allege, they were not able to know how many 75 per cent would be. West, attorney for the group, said this morning that a restraining order would be sought from Judge Lassiter in order to keep the city from passing the annexation ordinance on the second reading Thursday night. Judge Lassiter could rule on the motion for a new trial on Rule Day this Friday.

West said this morning that although the decision against the group June 11 could not be appealed to a higher court, a new trial could be granted if the new evidence is produced. He said that all the evidence against the annexation was not produced at the June 11 hearing, because the plaintiffs were told that they did not have 75 per cent of the freeholders protesting, and to produce the additional evidence would be useless.

The key point in the motion for a new trial, West said, is that the plaintiffs made "all reasonable efforts" to secure a list of the freeholders in the area from City Planner Richard Nash and could not do so. Therefore they did not know how many of the freeholders would be 75 per cent.

The motion for a new trial called the testimony of Nash at the June 11 hearing a "surprise" in regard to the number of freeholders in the area, a figure set at about 130.

Judge Lassiter said this morning that the restraining order has not yet been asked for, and since he had not heard the evidence, he would not comment on whether or not he would grant the restraining order. He added that he would most likely rule on the motion for a new trial at Rule Day Friday.

Cook's Attorneys Say Court Should Throw Out Ballot Suit

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Marlow Cook's attorney says the Court of Appeals should throw out the election suit against him because his victory made the issue moot.

In a brief filed with the high court Monday, Ben Fowler of Frankfort said Republicans overwhelmingly selected Cook to be their senatorial nominee and there was no other valid way to choose someone else now.

Cook got 87 per cent of the Republican votes in the May 28 primary over two little-known candidates. He got on the ballot through a favorable ruling by Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs after Secretary of State Thelma Stovall said she could not certify him because his filing papers were incomplete. Fowler's brief could be the final one filed in the case.

Mrs. Stovall's attorney, Joseph Leary, said Monday he probably would not file a responsive brief and would ask the high court to hear arguments as soon as possible. He reserved a final judgment on that however, until after he reads Fowler's brief, which he has not received yet.

The Court of Appeals goes on a two-month summer recess this Friday but could conceivably decide the Cook case before then, if it is expedited. The court also could be called into special session next month to settle the case if necessary.

Gov. Wendell Ford is the Democratic nominee for Cook's Senate seat.

Fowler said in his brief the real issue in the case was "disenfranchisement of the Republican party."

Cook's name was legally on the ballot as a result of Meigs' order which Mrs. Stovall did not seek to stay, Fowler said, and Cook was the overwhelming choice of Republicans voting in that election.

"The electorate has acted in accordance with the names appearing on the printed ballot," he continued. "There is no way to modify what has happened nor is there any alternative which can be used to determine an election result by eliminating one of the three names which appeared on the ballot."

Fowler said there was no merit to Leary's argument that a person's candidacy is voided if he violates the Corrupt Practices Act and that if such a person won in a primary then the person finishing second would be the winner.

One provision of the corrupt practices act says a person cannot become a candidate unless he names a campaign treasurer when he files notification. (See Cook, page 12)

Man Held In Break-In At Lynn Grove

A Lynn Grove man has been charged with storehouse breaking in connection with a burglary at the Ruble Taylor Cleanup Shop at Lynn Grove.

David West is being in the Calloway County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bond after being charged in the May 28 theft of four new tires and four wheels at the shop, according to County Attorney Sid Easley.

Apprehension of the suspect was by the Calloway County Sheriff's Office, which conducted the investigation.

City Firemen Consider Filing Suit Over Wages

Murray City Firemen "are looking into" the matter of filing suit against the city for overtime wages they feel are due them under new state and federal statutes.

A spokesman for the firemen said this morning that an attorney has been employed to advise the firemen on the matter.

Attorney for the firemen, Donald Jones, was unavailable for comment this morning. The city council had approved an ordinance on the first reading last Thursday that changed the firemen's pay from a salary basis to an hourly basis in order to comply with state and federal laws.

City officials said that the new ordinance will allow the firemen to receive the same pay that they now receive, with the only difference being the method of figuring the pay.

The ordinance is to be heard on second reading at the council's regular meeting this Thursday at 7 p.m.

Earning Capacity Expands Locally

The lifetime earning capacity of the average male resident of Calloway County has expanded greatly in recent years and has reached new heights.

Under current conditions of employment, of national productivity, of education and life span, the typical local man who is just entering the labor force has a prospective lifetime income of no less than $343,000. This is no pipedream. It is based upon a recent Department of Commerce study of lifetime income, as determined by educational attainment and other factors.

The estimated earning power of the average young man in Calloway County, for the 45 years or so that he will be working, takes into account the amount of schooling he has received and the present level of income in the area, as related to incomes in other parts of the country.

From the standpoint of education, the latest Census Bureau figures show that 23.3 percent of the local male population, age 25 or older, have gone through elementary school, that 20.1 percent have completed four years of high school and that another 13.4 percent have had four years or more of college.

Solely from a dollars and cents consideration, the government study indicates, whatever investment of time and money is made toward getting a good education, is well worth while. It produces a high rate of return.

In general, the average high school graduate will earn approximately $135,000 more during his lifetime than a person with only an elementary school diploma.

By the same token, the college graduate stands to make $279,000 more than the man who has completed only high school, the report states.

In Calloway County, the educational level of the population is relatively high and is steadily moving higher. The median amount of schooling being acquired by local men by the time they reach age 25 is 10.6 years. That is more than in many sections of the country.

The median in the State of Kentucky is now 9.5 years. Nationally, there has been an upward trend in the proportion of males going beyond high school. It rose 50 percent in the last 15 years.

Nixon Leaves For Summit In Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon left today for a Moscow summit with a pledge to seek closer cooperation with the Soviet Union and a lessening of "the burden and threat" of nuclear weapons.

In a brief statement before leaving nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Nixon listed three goals for his summit meeting with Soviet leaders:

—To "develop areas of cooperation to displace areas of confrontation" elsewhere in the world, and —To progress toward limiting "both the burden and threat of nuclear weapons."

The Moscow summit is expected to produce a partial ban on underground nuclear weapons tests and an agreement in principle to harness fast-developing nuclear technology.

But Secretary of State Henry Kissinger told a news conference Monday that the third annual summit is unlikely to produce a comprehensive treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

Nixon, Kissinger and a huge entourage were to stop first in Brussels so Nixon can sign a new declaration of trans-Atlantic cooperation with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on Wednesday.

Nixon said he hoped the declaration to be signed there would bring "new purpose and new direction" to the alliance.

The chief executive spoke informally to a group of White House employees before making the helicopter ride to Andrews.

The presidential party, including Mrs. Nixon, departed from Andrews at 8:42 a.m.

In Brussels, Nixon will confer also with Italian Prime Minister Mariano Rumor, West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, British Prime Minister Harold Wilson and NATO officials.

Minority has right to its privacy, too

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR READERS: I received the following letter. (It was signed.)

DEAR ABBY: We are two students at Scripps College in Claremont, Cal., who are distressed by the attitudes of the majority of the girls in our residence hall concerning male visitors.

Not only are men allowed in the girls' rooms 24 hours a day, but they are also allowed to use our bathroom facilities!

We find it particularly embarrassing to encounter men just outside the showers with only a towel wrapped around them. We also sometimes encounter couples showering together in the same stall.

These rules were approved by the majority of the girls in our dormitory, but we feel that, as a minority, we have certain rights to our privacy, and that since this is a women's college, we shouldn't have to accommodate men in our living quarters.

We would appreciate your advice on this subject and hope you will print this so that girls at other women's colleges who share the ideas of the majority will have a greater respect for the sentiments of the minority.

DOUBTFUL

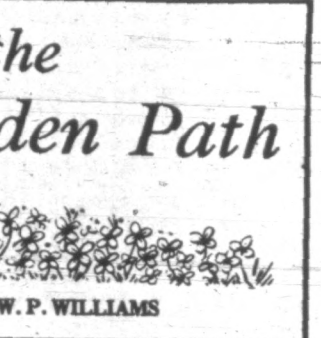

Suspecting that "Doubtful's" letter might have been a put-on, I wrote to the Dean of Students and asked for verification. I received the following reply:

Dear Ms. Van Buren: I have received your letter and the enclosed letter from one of our students. Indeed, the situation which she has described is not a "put-on." Though ours is a residential college for women, the college community, at the express request of students, adopted a 24-hour visitation system three years ago.

Part of the understanding inherent in this procedure, and one which the students must reaffirm each year, is that special consideration and accommodations be given to any student in any residence hall who finds herself, as "Doubtful" does, in the minority. She has only to talk to the president of the hall, the residence staff person, or to one of us in the Dean of Students office, and we will make every effort to provide her with a living situation compatible with her particular lifestyle.

I think "Doubtful" should be encouraged to use the channels available to her within her own college!

Sincerely,
Stephanie Adams, Dean of Students

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

As I look around at the various flower gardens, I wonder where the old-fashioned plants have gone. It seems we are constantly asking for the latest rose of the year, the new hybrid annuals and an ever-blooming shrub that requires little care. In our search for the ideal plant, I think we have overlooked some of the lovely old flowers that have been tried through the years and not found wanting.

I don't know when I have seen a row of Hollyhocks. They are tall and stately, bearing their big blossoms all summer in every color of the rainbow. Every home used to have a row of Hollyhocks for everybody seemed to love them.

And what about Sweet Peas? Such beautiful pastel colors and light fragrance should not be left out of our gardens today. We don't even see them in the florists shop anymore. I love them for sentimental reasons, for they are connected with several very happy occasions of the past.

The Datura is another old plant that needs to be revived. The blooms open late in the evening and are the purest white, lily shaped. One opens every night and fades in the hot morning sun, but another comes to take its place. I remember seeing them in front of my grandmother's dining room windows and their fragrance would fill the evening air.

You remember the Primrose and the Bleeding Heart that were always in the old gardens. Then there was always Larkspur and Nasturtiums and the little garden Pinks. And Fuchsias, Violas, Bachelor's Buttons and the tiny little Johnny-jump-ups.

The old gardens were casual, very informal, the kind a child might like to wander through. Everything smelled so good and the mixture of colors were wonderful.

Maybe that style doesn't fit the modern home, but I rather liked them and feel a little wave of nostalgia when I think of them. I am going to have an old-fashioned corner in my yard next year, where I can tuck in a few of the well loved flowers of the past.

Don't get me wrong, the new things are beautiful and I want them too, I don't want to shut out the improved shrubs and plants that are truly magnificent, but I would like to have enough of the old fashioned variety, so that my grandchildren can enjoy and appreciate them before they are really gone. Some seed is not available any more and some of the old favorite roses are not found now, so keep part of your yard set aside for these, the flowers of grandmother's day.

Cutting the calories

- Easy ways to reduce fat in the diet:
 - Select only lean meat, poultry, and fish. Trim off excess, visible fat.
 - Substitute skim milk for whole milk in cooking, as well as in beverages.
 - Use whipped instead of regular "stick" butter or margarine on toast or bread. It goes further and you will use less.
 - For snacks, serve raw vegetables (carrot slices, stalks of celery, green pepper wedges, or cauliflower florets), instead of nuts or potato chips.
 - Use dry cottage cheese instead of sour cream in the preparation of dips.

Spicy Curry Sauce Tops Off Beefburgers

Special toppings spruce up plain burgers in a jiffy, whether broiled indoors or out. This spicy curry sauce gives burgers a Far East treatment that will provide new taste-provoking appeal, says Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock & Meat Board.

All it takes to produce the zesty topping is the addition of raisins and a touch of curry powder and onion salt to a mixture of sour cream and mayonnaise. Flaked coconut and chopped peanuts add the finishing flourish.
To prepare beefburgers, form 2 pounds ground beef into 6 patties 1/2 to 3/4-inch thick. Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat 7 to 8 minutes on one side; turn and broil 6 to 12 minutes longer, to desired degree of doneness.

Creamy Curry Topping
1/4 cup dairy sour cream
1/4 cup mayonnaise
3/4 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 teaspoon onion salt

- 2 tablespoons raisins
 - 2 tablespoons flaked coconut
 - 2 tablespoons coarsely chopped peanuts
- Combine sour cream, mayonnaise, curry powder and onion salt. Chill 1 hour. Stir in raisins. Spoon topping on burgers and sprinkle with coconut and peanuts. Yield: 1 1/2 cups.

STRETCHING Your food dollars...

A Consumer Tip from Extension Specialists at the UK College of Agriculture

Prices of canned tuna differ according to the way it is packed, according to UK Extension foods specialists. Grated tuna is the least expensive; flaked tuna costs a little more, and the price of chunk-style tuna is higher than either of these. The most expensive is the solid-pack. Also, white tuna usually costs more than light.

Plants that do well in hanging baskets include fuchsia, ivy geranium, some species of peperomia, spider plant, asparagus fern and African violets.

How to Select Clothing for Oldsters

Give special thought to the needs of older people when selecting clothing or household textiles for them, advises a University of Tennessee specialist.

"Older people have a tendency to feel chilly, so sweaters, socks and blankets should be warm," says Helen Rader, professor and leader of clothing at UT. "However, these items should also be lightweight so they won't be too tiring."

Rough or harsh textured fabrics tend to irritate tender skins, so choose soft fabrics, she adds.

Since senior citizens may be frequently injured by fire, fabrics or household textiles treated with flame retardant finishes are more satisfactory, explains Miss Rader. Sleeping garments and robes with loose, flowing sleeves are easy to ignite on a range or catch on pan handles or door knobs. Closer fitting garments help prevent some of these hazards. Shoes with corrugated soles can help prevent falls.

Fabrics that are easily washed at home or commercially are welcomed by older people, continues the specialist. Permanent press finishes that look neat without ironing are good choices. Those treated for spot and stain resistance save hours of extra labor.

During illness, disposable sheets, pillowcases and tissues lessen the workload.

Garments which are easy to put on speed up dressing time. Front opening dresses and blouses are preferred. For people with disabling handicaps, specially designed items are available from specialty shops and mail order houses.

When you are deep-fat frying breaded oysters or clams, heat the fat to 375 degrees.

Gardening Tips from Extension Specialists at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture

This is not likely to help anyone grow a better crop in the garden, but it may add some interest to the work to know that many odd superstitions cluster around vegetables and hold a prominent place in garden lore.

For instance, some gardeners of the old school have a strong aversion to planting parsley and an even greater dislike for transplanting it. These gardeners believe, in many respects, that whoever transplants parsley will be punished with bad luck some time during the year. Research into this old superstition reveals that it stems from Medieval England where it was commonly believed that to transplant parsley was to commit a serious offence against the guardian angel who presides over parsley beds.

On the other hand, to plant and grow peas, according to an equally ancient belief, is not only to raise something good to eat but also to grow a medicinal plant and to invite good luck. To bring good fortune, though, peas must be eaten in the presence of an important person or persons. Hence the old plant proverb: "To eat peas with a king, good fortune will bring."

Then, a hoary old remedy for measles is to drink the water in which peas have been boiled. This, according to an old herbal, is much better for this purpose than sheep or spicedew tea.

Tradition says, too, that a cabbage leaf tied around the neck is better for sore throat than a wool rag steeped in coal oil. Also, the juice of cabbage mixed with honey will immediately restore the voice lost in a severe case of laryngitis. Then in connection with cabbage, there is an old Roman superstition holding that the famed baby-bringing stork picks up the infants from a cabbage patch.

Don't Hang The Merchant

U. S. industry is amazing. Unless it is blocked in some way it can build virtually anything in any quantity desired—that is the genius of mass production. But nothing produced has any value until it can be delivered to the point of sale where it can then be purchased by the final consumer at a reasonable price. This job of distribution is the business of retailing.

In the remaining months of 1974 inflation will remain a big worry for most people. Increases in consumer prices during the past year have been near 10 per cent. So far there is no sign that federal spending will be pruned in order to cut down deficits in the national budget.

That being the case despite other inflationary forces such as the petroleum shortage the underlying fire of inflation will be kept burning brightly.

No politician in his right mind is going to take steps to slow the economy enough in an election year to stop inflation. Price controls do not work without rationing, and no one wants that—so the retailer will continue facing the distraught consumer across the counter as prices continue to rise.

It is time to remember that many things have caused inflation in the United States. Among the major culprits are the nation's voters who have indulged a habit of supporting free-spending politicians promising the world on a silver platter for nothing.

The U. S. system of mass distribution developed by the nation's retail stores remains the consumer's best friend.

Major food markets for instance still operate on a profit margin so small that if the profit were removed entirely the price of a can of beans would hardly change at all.

While retail stores are very much a part of the success story of the U. S. economic system they perhaps are the least responsible for the present inflationary squeeze on the family budget. Indeed if it were not for the great efficiencies of high-volume low-markup retail stores that squeeze would be infinitely worse than it is right now.

State Government Report

By Sen. Carroll Hubbard

386 Bills Enacted

MAYFIELD, Ky.—During the 60-day biennial session of the 1974 General Assembly, which ended March 22, legislators introduced 1,226 bills during the session—870 by the House of Representatives and 356 by the Senate. In addition, 199 resolutions were offered for consideration. Of that number, 264 House bills and 139 Senate bills were passed, for approval percentage of 32.8. Resolutions adopted totaled 126. Gov. Wendell H. Ford vetoed 11 house bills and six from the Senate, plus one resolution.

Of the 1,226 bills introduced, 386 were enacted into law, most of which became effective last Friday.

Kentucky consumers will be just a little bit better protected because of efforts of the 1974 legislature. Senate Bill 2, which amends the mechanic's lien law, and House Bill 44, which amends the home-solicitations law, became law Friday. Another measure, House Bill 538, requires the teaching of consumer education in the state's schools, but its effects won't be felt until the state Department of Education devises a curriculum.

Youths under 18 may have less trouble getting a driver's license, but careless drivers of all ages could have a tougher time holding on to their licenses under two new state laws which became effective last Friday. One of the laws provides that either parent or guardian, and not just the male parent, can sign a request that a child, aged 16 to 18, be given a driver's license. The law also provides that if one parent signs both would be held liable for the damage caused by the child and either could request cancellation of a license. The second law, the so-called Habitual Traffic Offender Act, provides for the revocation of a driver's license for three to five years for repeated violations. Once adjudged a habitual offender, a person's license can be restored only by court order. Anyone convicted of operating a motor vehicle after being designated a habitual offender could be jailed for up to 12 months.

Most county officials and some city officials were eligible for higher salaries last Friday when bills passed by the 1974 legislature became effective. Under Senate Bill 236, the new maximum salary will be $14,300 a year for circuit clerks, county clerks, county judges, sheriffs, commonwealth's attorneys, county attorneys and jailers. The previous limit has been $12,600 for most of them. Other new salary limits voted by the 1974 session included: $4,000 a year for Mayors in third and fourth-class cities and $3,000 for commissioners; $3,000 for police judge in fourth-class cities, and $21,000 for police judge in second-class cities. City legislative bodies may adjust salaries within these limits by September 1.

A site near Ashland remains in the running for the location of a coal liquefaction pilot plant, according to state Development Secretary Charles Haywood. The project is one of those envisioned in a $50 million coal research program authorized by the 1974 legislature under House Bill 251, which became effective last Friday. Under a contract with the federal Office of Coal Research (OCR), Hydrocarbons Research, Inc., which holds basic patents on the "H coal process" for liquefaction, will recommend a site for the pilot plant, Haywood said. Sites near the Ashland Oil, Inc., refinery at Catlettsburg and at Wood River, Ill. and Tulsa, Okla. are under Senate Bill 15 returns the legal observance of Veterans Day from the fourth Monday in October to Nov. 11, a holiday upon which all public offices may close.

Senate Bill 37, which became law last Friday, allows any motorist to turn right on a red light after making a complete stop. Sen. Tom Easterly, D-Frankfort, sponsored this bill and stated, "My bill reverses the situation we used to have. Under the old law, a driver could turn right on red only if there was a sign posted saying that it was okay at that intersection. Now you can turn right on red at any stoplight unless there is a sign posted saying you can't." Cities and counties can outlaw right turns on red at any intersections they choose. If they do make such prohibitions, the local governments must post signs at each stoplight.

Secretary of Transportation Billy Paxton has announced that there will be no increase in weight limits on state highways until federal legislation has been enacted. Paxton was authorized by the 1974 Legislature to increase the weight and length limits but said that a weight increase would be in violation of federal laws dealing with interstate highways. An increase in vehicle length limits from 55 to 65 feet took effect June 21.

General fund receipts for the first eleven months of the fiscal year increases 12.4 per cent to a total of $725,240,087. Individual income tax receipts of $192,965,215 were up 20.8 per cent and coal severance tax receipts of $45,718,417 were up 35.8 per cent. Motor fuels normal tax receipts were slightly below last year. Fuel tax revenue in April showed a fractional drop from April 1973. The figures were released by Commissioner Charles Pryor, Jr. of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration.

For the first time, the Kentucky Department of Labor is participating in a labor official exchange program with the federal government. Marcus Woodward, Jr., an investigator in the Division of Labor Standards, will spend the next six months in Atlanta studying federal investigative techniques and passing on Kentucky's methods to representatives of the U. S. Department of Labor. Woodward will specialize in wage payment data and wage rate determination in a program funded by the federal government under the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970. In that program, state officials may study federal techniques from six months to two years.

For the last two and one-half years, Woodward has been a field investigator covering the northeastern areas of the state from Covington to Catlettsburg.

The state Board of Education has voted to require all new non-public schools in Kentucky to have at least three certified teachers and 60 students if they expect to operate with the approval of the state. Current state regulations require only 12 students to operate a private school.

Eternal Vigilance Is Price Of Freedom

(Editor's Note: The following "Open Forum" was originally published by E. Hofer & Sons, publishers of the Industrial News Review, Hillsboro, Oregon.)

You can find many good Americans who, with sadness, disbelief or outright anger, are firmly convinced that the United States is fast rolling down the road to ruin and may very possibly arrive at its final destination shortly. Government is too big. There are too many federal, state and local agencies on our backs, and armies of bureaucrats are multiplying in a frightening fashion. Some people think we are destroying Earth and our air, wrecking our rivers and lakes and deafening ourselves with noise. Some groups of minorities feel they are discriminated against, and the average law-abiding citizen resents the fact that city streets are not safe. Pseudo, self-styled "armies" of liberation seem free to kidnap people and rob banks without reprisals.

If you were to talk to any group of people, the list of adverse developments would grow even longer. But America is still one of the best places on Earth to live, work and raise children. A little perspective on the state of life in the U.S. can be gained by viewing things through the eyes of people from other nations who have made the United States their home and recently acquired U.S. citizenship. In the past 20 years, 6.3 million of these immigrants have come to U.S. shores to escape oppression or improve their chances to make a better life. Their views provide the gift of insight into the strengths of America that many native-born citizens may overlook.

U.S. News & World Report has summed up the remarks made by some of America's new citizens, and they are very much worth contemplating. One young man, 33 years of age, came to the U.S. from South Korea, where he could have followed in his father's footsteps and gone into a very prosperous, family-owned dairy business. Considerable status would have also been his as the son "...of the Government's former Minister of Reconstruction." This individual explains that he came to America for many reasons—one of the most important being that "...here people speak freely." Money was not a consideration. He could have made a good living in his native country, but there he points out, "...a prominent person could get in trouble just for speaking to a member of a political party opposing the regime." In South Korea, phones are tapped, and people have to register to move from one city to another. In America, he says, every human being is equal to any other—"...there is respect for the value of one person."

One couple from Italy says that only rich people in their country own a house or a car.

Yet working in America, they have earned such things. When they were cheated on $1,200 worth of faulty aluminum siding, a lawyer was able to help them get a good deal of their money back. There are criminals in the U.S., as in any other country, but here something can be done about it. A family from Yugoslavia fled to France and then to the United States when the husband's farmland and factories were confiscated by the government. He reports that he would never have been allowed to run a business in Yugoslavia because he was not a communist; and, even in France, where the family stayed for a number of years, immigrants could not own a business. As this new citizen from Yugoslavia put it, "What I like is the freedom. You are free to do any type of business you can work at. And you can move about freely. There are no problems." He also observes that the U.S., "...people don't ask what race or religion you are or what your nationality is. They ask you, 'What do you know how to do?'"

As U.S. News sums it up, new citizens of the United States generally express the view that, "The U.S. is still a nation that offers unparalleled freedom—not only in politics but in social mobility, economic advancement and personal life. They like the sheer size of America, its wide choice of careers and places to live..." In general, they feel such things as Watergate, inflation, shortages and all the other various complaints about conditions in this country are "...exaggerated in light of conditions elsewhere." The attitude most often voiced is that "...the U.S. is still a nation that lives up to its historic pledge of liberty, justice and the pursuit of happiness for all."

There is much to be said for this upbeat viewpoint of the state of the nation's health. Things are a long way from being as bad as they could be and to suggest that freedom is dead in the land, that opportunity is gone or that a dictator is around the corner is ridiculous. It is a good thing to be optimistic about our future; but, at the same time, we cannot afford to be complacent about it. Millions of people came to the U.S. from other beautiful countries with mountains, farmlands, trees, rivers and lakes. In these countries, life became intolerable because of the rules and regulations which were gradually imposed, or where outright oppression and preoccupation with planning and governmental authority destroyed independence and individual rights and the feeling, as well as the reality, of human worth. It is not destructive but merely realistic to observe that while this has not yet happened here, there is no ironclad guarantee that it will not. Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom today just as it always has been.

UNDERSTANDING DRUG ABUSE

Robert L. DuPont, M.D., Director National Institute on Drug Abuse

Outreach

For every narcotic addict or drug-abuser who has been treated and rehabilitated, there is another who does not know where to get help or who refuses to ask for it.

To get these people into treatment, the Federal drug abuse program has a new operation under way. It is called "Outreach," and it is the joint effort of men and women whose personal or professional lives are affected by drug abuse: former drug abusers and drug patients and their families and friends, the staff of treatment programs, police, and judges.

Ex-addicts have long played useful roles in drug abuse treatment by interviewing potential patients, joining in group therapy, and serving as living proof that the drug habit can be broken. Now counselors are urging patients in treatment to bring in relatives with drug problems, and to ferret out drug abusers in the drug underground.

Outreach patients use street talk and the full drug jargon as they apply all their powers of persuasion wherever addicts meet—in basements, bars, clubs, houses, coffee shops, or on the street. They cannot force people into treatment but they work hard at getting them to give it a try.

Counselors and patients in treatment are also doing battle with a typical and discouraging characteristic of drug abusers—relapse to drugs—by seeking out dropouts from treatment programs and getting them back into therapy.

Outreach services are not solely directed at people who use illegal drugs. They are also aimed at factory workers who regularly depend on amphetamines to stay awake during a second shift, or housewives who take twice as many tranquilizers as their physicians prescribe.

The most dramatic results of Outreach may appear in the criminal justice system, where it is being used for the first time. Collaboration between police and drug treatment personnel can promote prevention and early intervention in drug problems of youth.

Judges, weary of continually sentencing addict-criminal repeaters to jail, can now ask program operators to steer them into treatment with the dual goal of achieving their rehabilitation and relieving society of the cost of their repeated crimes and imprisonment.

Bible Thought

And Moses hid his face; for he was afraid to look upon God.—Exodus 3:6. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge. No man can know the love of God until he has a fear of God.

Isn't It The Truth

by Carl Riblet Jr.

In government there are four classes of worker: congressmen, presidential appointees, corporation appointees, which is to say, lobbyists, and the bureaucrats. Only the bureaucrats do not care who is president. He can't snub them, fire them, retire them or cut their take-home pay. He can only multiply them.

MY TURN IN THE BARREL!

Copley News Service

Poppy smoke

Three years after receiving $35 million from the United States for not growing opium poppies, Turkey has announced that cultivation of the drug-producing plants would resume next year.

Premier Bulen Ecvet says that strict controls will be placed on crops to assure that they do not produce opium for the underworld. However, the amount that will be grown and the lobby of 100,000 Turkish poppy growers almost guarantee that drug users in the United States and elsewhere soon will have a new supply.

The United States must prepare itself for the shock right now by developing strict control programs to prevent importation of the drug. Concurrently it would be wise to bring as much pressure as possible to bear on Premier Ecvet to convince him to change his mind — short, however, of another $35 million carrot.

FOR WEDNESDAY,
JUNE 26, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)  Be careful to avoid errors which could be prevented with greater forethought and better planning. There's a tendency toward impulsive action now.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)  Special care needed in partnerships; also in imparting knowledge or giving advice by teachers, supervisors, others in a position of influence.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)  Your ingenuity and spirit of enterprise stimulated. Follow your best judgment to chalk up a noteworthy record. Especially favored: travel, written matters, aviation interests.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)  Avoid needless anxiety and tension. You can deal effectively with problems by being your innately enthusiastic and sound-thinking self.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)  Make allowances for the errors of others to insure better cooperation from co-workers, friends, family. Don't let impatience get the better of you.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)  You have more working for you than you realize. Associates are putting in a good word quietly, and you should soon profit from efforts you have long since forgotten.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)  An excellent day for furthering business and financial interests, strengthening personal ties and making new contacts. You should do well now.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)  What looks so desirable at first may not prove so AFTER attainment, so be sure of your goals. The things which seem to work out so well for others may not be right for YOU.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)  Good opportunities indicated but you, of course, must be alert to them. Use trump cards strategically; aim to score as often as possible.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)  A day in which to give extra care to finances. In all spending, keep one eye on reserves. Don't deplete them.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)  You will face improving conditions in some spots, aggravating complexities elsewhere. Knowing what to do and say at the appropriate moment will be your key to handling all situations.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)  An auspicious day! Go after whatever is worthwhile—with all the vigor you can. By-pass trifles which interfere with essentials.

YOU BORN TODAY are a self-reliant, kind and gentle individual, but may be a bit too sensitive at times. You are an idealist at heart and actually suffer when others do not live up to your lofty principles and standards. Try to be more philosophical about this, and learn to accept others for what they are. You have great respect for tradition, a love of old ties and often dwell in old memories, which not only makes you too introspective, but inclines you to undervalue current situations. Try to be more outgoing in your approaches to life and your fellowman. Fields in which you could excel: science (especially medicine), painting, writing, the law, statesmanship and the stage. Birthdate of: Wm. (Lord Kelvin) Thomson, Brit. scientist; Peter Lorre, actor; Pearl S. Buck, famed writer and expert on Old China.

Orioles Remain Undefeated In Pony League, Indians Win 10-1

By JIM PIERCE
The Orioles remained atop the Pony League standings with a 9-1 win over the Dodgers Monday night.
The first game found the Indians defeating the Mets 10-1. Indian pitcher Scott Scarborough gave up a sixth inning single to Jon Harrison. That was the only hit Scarborough allowed as he fanned 10 batters in the Indian victory over the Mets.
Bob Thurman's three hits paced the attack while Eric

Story, Mike Murphy, Dan Thompson, Scarborough and Garland all hit safely.
The Mets could muster only one Harrison single with the bats.
The victory left the surging Indians with a 5-2 record while the Mets dropped to 1-6.
The nightcap found the Orioles pasting the Dodgers 9-1. Larry Watkins went the route in recording the victory.
Watkins struck out eight and added a single to the Oriole attack.

David Mathis' two hits and Robert Whitmer's and Kevin Shahan's singles were the only other hits for the Orioles.
The Dodgers were led by big Keith Covey's three-for-three hitting. Kim Sims and Bo Reed each added singles.
The Orioles defense made the difference as each team had five hits. The Dodger field mistakes aided the Orioles to their fifth victory without a defeat.
The Dodgers dropped to 3-5 with the loss.

Tigers And Pirates Win Colt League Contests Held Sunday

By JIM PIERCE
Sunday's Colt League action found the Tigers nipping the Braves 5-4 and the Pirates beating the Giants 5-3.
Dwaine Musgrove went the distance in recording the Tigers' win.
Lindy Suiter and Mickey McCuiston slammed doubles while Keith Tabers and Lance Hooks each added singles to the Tiger attack.
The Braves were paced by Paul Robertson, Joe Futrell, Tim Garland, Willie Perry and Steve Mathis. All his safely for the Braves' offense.

Raymond Sims, who also pitched very well, took the loss.
The loss dropped the Braves to 2-6 while the Tigers evened their record at 4-4.
Sunday's second game found the Pirates regaining a tie for the league lead with Giants.
Terry Vance went the distance in posting his second victory against no defeats.
Vance gave up only four hits in the well-pitched game.
Lindsey Hudspeth's three hits again paced the Pirates. Barry Wells added two hits in a fine game while Vance, Mike Schroeder and Randy Dunn all had singles.

Tom Chavis had two hits for the Giants while losing pitcher Ken Adams and Jerry Jones added one. Jones added a seventh inning linedrive homerun for the losing Giants.
Today's games will find the 5-3 Giants taking on the Braves (2-6) while the Pirates (5-3) play the 4-4 Tigers in the nightcap.

Nastase Says He Won't Win Wimbledon Tourney

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Don't accuse Ilie Nastase of overconfidence.
After scoring an 8-9, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 victory over Czechoslovakia's Jiri Hrebec in the first round of Wimbledon play, the second-seeded Romanian tried predicting which player might win the prestigious tennis event.
Nastase's name wasn't mentioned.
"I do not see how I can win here. I am not playing well," a tired Nastase said. "Newcombe should win, or maybe Smith."
Nastase's prediction seemed sensible enough. The top-seeded Newcombe, bidding for a fourth Wimbledon title, scored a 6-3, 6-2, 8-6 victory over Georges Goven of France. The fourth-seeded Smith, his serve smoking, breezed past Raz Reid of Greenville, S.C., 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

Smith didn't face much pressure; nor did many of the nine seeded players who advanced to the second round.
Sweden's Bjorn Borg, seeded fifth but leading the tournament in screaming teen-age fans, scored an easy victory over Britain's Graham Stilwell. The 18-year-old Borg has swept the Italian and French championships.
Other seeded players to advance were defending champion Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, seeded No. 6; seventh-seeded Tom Okker of The Netherlands; 40-year-old Ken Rosewall of Australia, the ninth seed, and Spain's Manuel Orantes, ranked 12th.
Jimmy Connors, the third seed, didn't get to complete his opening match with Sweden's Ove Bengtson. Darkness halted competition with the Belleville, Ill., native holding a 6-1, 7-9, 6-2 lead.

Darkness kept Arthur Ashe and Russia's Alex Metreveli from beginning their first-round match. It was rescheduled to follow completion of the Connors-Bengtson match today.
After completion of the darkness-delayed matches, the women took over today's action.
Billie Jean King, seeded No. 1, drew a first-round bye in her quest of a sixth Wimbledon singles title. The chief threat to Ms. King is 19-year-old Chris Evert, who won the Italian and French Opens and the John Player tournament on her way to Wimbledon. Miss Evert also has a first-round bye.

Wimbledon Never Changes Style

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The world spins along at a maddening pace. Jets cross oceans in a matter of hours. Computers think like men. Men walk on the moon. But Wimbledon remains unchanged.
For the next two weeks, it's almost like a walk back through the 19th century.
Ivy covers the brick walls of the old buildings erected when the All-England Club moved from Worple Street to Church Road. The stands are a deep, dull green, weather-beaten by the sun, winds and rain.
Although the rest of the booming tennis world long since has shifted to bright pastel colors for attire and opted for yellow balls, Wimbledon still adheres to its strict-all-white rule.
The players must wear white.
"It's a little strange," said John Newcombe of Australia, the world's best man player as he took the court for his first match. "I've seen nothing but yellow balls for months and now I must play with white."
"It sort of psychs you, but you get used to it."
In 1949 the staid Wimbledon directors were shocked when gorgeous Gussie Moran appeared on the court in sexy lacy panties. They rushed her to the dressing room for a quick change.
Two years ago Rosemary Casals drew a similar rebuke when she started to take the court in a pastel-colored dress. The ladies are permitted a slight color trim—so are the men—but the costume must be basically white.
For Londoners and other visitors, this is not a tennis tournament. It is a festival. Londoners begin applying for tickets a year in advance.
By car, tram and bus, they pour to this pleasant tree-pocked suburb, sit under green umbrellas and eat strawberries and cream.

Two years ago, most of the best players in the world—members of Lamar Hunt's World Championship of Tennis—were barred from competition. A year ago, the top players boycotted the tournament because of a ban against Yugoslavia's Nikki Pilic.
The crowd came, anyhow, ate their strawberries and cream, saw a minimum of tennis and went away happy. Nothing shakes up Wimbledon.
While a modern breed is attempting to take tennis out of its 18th stage and corsets and put it in hot pants, Wimbledon refuses to budge from its long, rich tradition.

The only concession made has been in the area of the tie-break, and Wimbledon has instilled its own—about as ambiguous as the original system.
To staid tennis purists, this is hallowed ground. The grass of the 15 courts is like a precious carpet spread over the floor of a palace.
But it was not always so. In 1921, when the All-England Club was moved to its present site from Orple Road where it had existed since 1877, special soil was dug from the ocean depths to provide a perfect grass surface.
The grass later was found to contain live shrimp. The courts had to be dug up and started again.

East German Team Wins 1-0 In World Cup Play

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — The World Cup scoring spree already may be over, and the West German Manager Helmut Schoen is looking now for more defense.
Twenty-two goals in eight matches over the weekend was the sort of entertainment fans were looking for.
But those 22 were one too many for Schoen. His team, though already qualified for the second round and still a favorite for the final, went down 1-0 to East Germany.
In his post-match analysis Schoen told newsmen: "We can no longer play open attacking football. Our tactics must now require full-time defense efforts from every player."
Similar noises are coming from the Yugoslavs, who meet West Germany Wednesday in their opening match of Group B at Duesseldorf.
Sweden and Poland, who make up the group, are proponents of open attacking football.

If they can be contained, two ties and a victory would be enough to put the Yugoslavs in the final four. So the second round may yield the same 0-0 or 1-1 draws as did the first until the chips are down in its closing matches.
The Dutch are favorites to go forward from Group A, which is completed by Argentina, Brazil and East Germany.
Before talking on the East Germans, Holland meets Argentina at Gelsenkirchen Wednesday.
Argentina meets East Germany Wednesday in Hannover, in what could prove another tactical draw. On Sunday comes World Cup history, when the Argentinians take on Brazil. The two Latin American giants never have met in 44 years of World Cup campaigning.

Card hurler Bob Murray, who pitched the distance and fanned four men, drove in Wright on a fielder's choice.
But in the bottom of the second, the Yanks came up with three runs and took a one-run lead after the first frame.
Gary Emerson reached on an error to start the rally and Erwin singled to put men on at first and second.
Robert Santagado continued his clutch hitting as he smacked a double to score Emerson and then Charles Wells doubled for another pair of runs, lifting the Yanks to a 3-2 edge.
The Yanks scored four times in the second and moved out to a 7-2 lead as it seemed as if the contest might be a slugfest.
Charlie Santagado opened the frame by drawing a walk and Emerson singled.
The other half of the Santagado duo, Robert, doubled and scored his brother, Charlie.
Both Emerson and Robert Santagado came around to score when Wells doubled for two RBIs. The other run in the frame crossed the plate when Eddie Rhodes singled.
The final runs of the game were scored in the top of the third as the Cards used three walks and an error to put two men around the paths.
For the losing Cards, Wright had two hits while Bruce Taylor and Dan Carman each had one. Robert Santagado, Wells and Mark Overby each had two hits

Yanks Add To Lead With 7-4 Little League Win

The Little League Yanks padded their lead to a game and a half Monday night as they won an important 7-4 contest over the Cards.
The Cards, who came into the contest with a 5-3 record, were in a three-way tie for second behind the Yanks.
With the win, the Yanks now sport a 7-2 league mark while the Cards drop to 5-4. The Astros and the Twins, who will be playing in contests tonight, are both 5-3.
In the other game played Monday, the A's pushed across a run in the bottom of the sixth to edge the Nats 6-5.
Southpaw Mark Erwin started on the mound for the Yanks and went the distance, picking up eight strikeouts along the way and scattering four hits.
The Cards took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first when Gary Sims reached on an error and scored on Kevin Wright's RBI double.

In the nightcap, Marty McCuiston went the distance on the hill for the A's and fanned eight men in gaining the decision as the A's edged the Nats 6-5.
The Nats scored three times in the top of the first.
Vic Marshall walked, Darwin Bumphis singled and Kevin Chapman ripped a three-run homer over the leftfield fence.
In the bottom of the first, the A's came up with two runs as four walks and an RBI single by Joe Harmon produced the two runs.
The A's scored three more times in the second inning as Trent Jones singled for an RBI, McCuiston walked to force a run home and Brett stole home.
The Nats added a run in the third as Chapman singled and scored later by stealing home.

In the fourth frame, the Nats tied the game at 5-5 as Bumphis reached on a fielder's choice and later scored when he stole home.
The game wasn't decided until the bottom of the sixth inning when with two out, George Bell tripled and Trent Jones ended the contest with an RBI single.
For the losing Nats, Marshall and Chapman each had a pair of hits while Bumphis and Jerry Beity also hit safely.
For the A's, Jones and Bell each had two hits while Rose, McCuiston and Harmon each had hits.

Reds And Dodgers Are Dominating Balloting

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds and Los Angeles Dodgers, rivals for the National League's West Division crown, are on the verge of sewing up seven of eight possible starting spots on the National League squad for major league baseball's All-Star game.
Figures released Monday by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office show the Reds are leading in the race for four positions and the Dodgers three. With only two weeks of balloting remaining, all of the leaders appear assured of starting berths.
Only Atlanta's Hank Aaron, baseball's all-time home run king, has been able to break through against the Reds and Dodgers. Aaron is the fans' top choice for the game, leading all candidates with 902,630 votes.
Cincinnati's Pete Rose follows Aaron in the race among outfielders with 571,231 votes while Jimmy Wynn of Los Angeles is third with 497,232.
Catcher Johnny Bench, first baseman Tony Perez and second baseman Joe Morgan are the other Reds heading for starting spots. Bench, second to Aaron in over-all votes, was named on 812,684 ballots with runner-up Joe Ferguson of Los Angeles polling 242,013.
Perez has 319,640 votes to 287,022 for Bill Buckner of Los Angeles, and Morgan is a runaway leader at his position, topping Philadelphia's Dave Cash, 519,836 to 372,694.
Third baseman Ron Cey and shortstop Bill Russell are the other Dodger leaders. Cey has 470,651 votes to 306,013 for Pittsburgh's Richie Hebner. Russell leads Cincinnati's Dave Concepcion, 402,890 to 303,949.
Balloting ends July 8 for the classic, scheduled for July 23 at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium.

Hull Wants NHL Players To Join With Team

TORONTO (AP) — Bobby Hull wants National Hockey League players on Team Canada 1974 with the World Hockey Association choices, and he doesn't think the NHL should be allowed to say no.
"I feel if certain individuals want to stand up and represent Canada, I don't see how they could be forced from participating," Hull said during a trip here to promote the Team Canada series in Moscow against the Russians.
"This is Team Canada, remember. I would like any Canadian who qualifies on the team."
Hull, player-coach of the Winnipeg Jets of the WHA, was in Toronto with Jets' owner Ben Haskin seeking stronger media support for the Russian trip in September.
Hull said he still wants, in particular, Bobby Orr and Phil Esposito of the Boston Bruins and Bernie Parent of the Philadelphia Flyers, whom he said had expressed interest in the series before the NHL owners and the NHL Players Association last week barred their players.
"This should be above either the WHA or the NHL," said Haskin. "Perhaps some public pressure will pry them."
"We definitely have the players in our league, but we would like the others because we want to beat the Russians eight to nothing."
Hull, who missed out on the 1972 Canada-Russian series when WHA players were excluded, said he thinks it is the "NHL establishment and Al

Kentucky League Race Has Two Teams In Tie

The Big Red Machine of the Kentucky League ran out of gas Monday night and dropped into a first-place tie after losing a 10-4 contest to the Cards.
Both teams now sport identical 6-2 season records.
Craig Rogers was the star of the game as he scattered 10 hits and picked up 15 strikeouts in going the distance on the hill for the Cards.
But it was his bat that made the difference on the hill for the Cards.
Rogers ripped a grand slam homer in the top of the sixth inning that provided the winning margin for the Cards.
The Cards scored two runs in the top of the first with Kelly Rogers and Dwaine Smith reaching on singles.
Gary Lahde lofted a sacrifice fly to score Kelly Rogers and then Craig Rogers, who had walked, later scored when he stole home. Smith was cut down at the plate in an earlier play.
The Reds came back with a run in their half of the first as Mike Ward and Mark Ails each walked and then Mike Nichy singled for a run.
The Cards increased their lead to 3-1 in the fourth when Keith Rogers, who had singled, scored on a sacrifice fly by Terry Smotherman.
In the fifth, the Cards made it 4-1 as Craig Rogers, who had walked, stole home.
The Reds loaded the bases in their half of the frame but failed to score. Sam Kennedy and Clay Phelps each walked while Keith Baar singled.
In the top of the sixth, Mike Todd, Pat Clark, Scott Turner and Kelly Rogers all walked, and then Smith singled in the second run.
Then Craig Rogers unloaded

Intrepid Opens Strong Bid To Defend Crown

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The wooden Intrepid has opened a strong bid to defend its America's Cup title by surprising two favored aluminum yachts during the preliminary trials to select a U.S. entry.

The Intrepid, competing on a triangular course of about 13.5 miles, defeated the Mariner by 2 minutes, 52 seconds Monday after losing to the Courageous by only 13 seconds in the first match race.

The Mariner and the Courageous, built under new 12-meter specifications that permit aluminum hulls for the first time, were expected originally to be distinctly faster than the Intrepid.

The two new contenders with lighter hulls were thought to have clear design advantages because the weight savings went into their keels in an effort to gain better performance and stability.

Hubie Brown Named As Colonel Coach, Milwaukee Has Vacancy

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks, having passed their assistant coach to the Kentucky Colonels of the rival American Basketball Association, are in the market for a replacement.

"There are a couple of possibilities," Bucks General Manager Wayne Embry said Monday after it was confirmed at a Louisville news conference that Hubie Brown, Bucks' assistant for two seasons, would be the Colonels' new head coach.

Embry said he and Bucks' Coach Larry Costello "discussed them, and we'll wait until he's through with his operation before going ahead."

Costello had knee surgery scheduled today.

Brown, 40, and Costello were teammates at Niagara University in the early 1950s, and Brown rejoined him with the NBA's Bucks on May 12, 1972.

He was assistant head coach at Duke University before coming to Milwaukee, and prior to that had been an assistant at the College of William and Mary and a head coach for nine seasons at high schools in New York and New Jersey.

"We have mixed emotions about losing him, because he did a hell of a job for us," Embry said. "But when this came up, I told Hubie I pitched for him, went to bat for him, and he was grateful. I told him today that good things happen to good people who work hard, and this is the result."

Embry predicted Brown would "make a good head coach."

Bob Gibson Fans 11 As Cardinals Sweep Bucs

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

Two former Cy Young Award winners seemingly have given the boot to their knee troubles and are on the comeback trail, although Jim Lonborg is further up the road than Bob Gibson.

Lonborg, who grabbed the 1967 Cy Young Award while pitching the Boston Red Sox into the World Series, tossed a six-hitter and slugged a grand slam homer, leading the Philadelphia Phillies over the Montreal Expos 8-2 Monday night.

"The homer helped—it was nice to get a lead like that," said Lonborg, whose record now stands at 10-5 after six straight victories. "But I still had to concentrate on pitching early in the game."

WFL Vows To Keep Trying To Sign Grid Players From NFL

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The World Football League has vowed to "vigorously continue" efforts to sign National Football League players after a Texas appellate court ruling that cleared the way for WFL recruiting of Dallas Cowboy athletes.

Appeals Court Judge Harold Bateman of Dallas reversed a lower court injunction Monday that had halted WFL recruiting of players from the National Football League team.

WFL Commissioner Gary L. Davidson, organizer of the new league, said the ruling confirmed the WFL's belief "in the freedom of competition between leagues and the freedom of players to have viable alternatives in choosing employers."

He added that the WFL "has not, and will not in the future, violate the valid terms of any presently existing contract..." He said players obligated to the NFL for 1975 and who have signed with the WFL would not

Busby Didn't Think Of Throwing Another Gem

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

"I never gave a thought during the game that I might pitch a second no-hitter," said Steve Busby. Ron Santo gave him something else to think about.

Busby revived memories of Johnny Vander Meer Monday night. For more than five innings, Kansas City's young right-hander was toying with a no-hitter, his second in a row and the third of his life.

Blit Pat Kelly of Chicago broke the spell with a one-out single in the sixth, and Santo broke Busby's heart with a two-run homer in the seventh that boosted the White Sox to a 3-1 victory over the Royals.

In other American League games, Cleveland walloped New York 10-3, Boston bombed Milwaukee 9-0, Oakland shelled California 11-3, Minnesota trimmed Texas 8-4 and Baltimore beat Detroit 3-1.

"The pressure and the balldy from the first no-hitter didn't bother me," said Busby. "I made some bad pitches..." But until he served up Santo's game-breaker, there hadn't been many. He walked only one batter last Wednesday night in no-hitting the Milwaukee Brewers 2-0. And he walked only two before Kelly hit a grounder that barely eluded diving second baseman Cookie Rojas.

Indians 10, Yankees 3
John Lowenstein knocked in five runs on three hits, including the first grand-slam of his major-league career, to power the Indians over New York.

Red Sox, Brewers 0
Rico Petrocelli, who belted two home runs Sunday, drilled the ninth bases-loaded home run of his career to lead Boston's rout of the Brewers.

A's 11, Angels 3
Sal Bando slammed a grand slammer, too, his sixth ever, and Angel Mangual drove in three runs with a single and a sacrifice fly to lead Oakland's stomping of the Angels.

Twins 8, Rangers 4
Danny Thompson cracked four hits including a two-run inside-the-park home run and Larry Hise hit a three-run homer in the Twins' triumph.

Orioles 3, Tigers 1
Doyle Alexander pitched a five-hitter and Bobby Grich hit a two-run homer in the Orioles' victory over Detroit.

Two Games Played In Park League

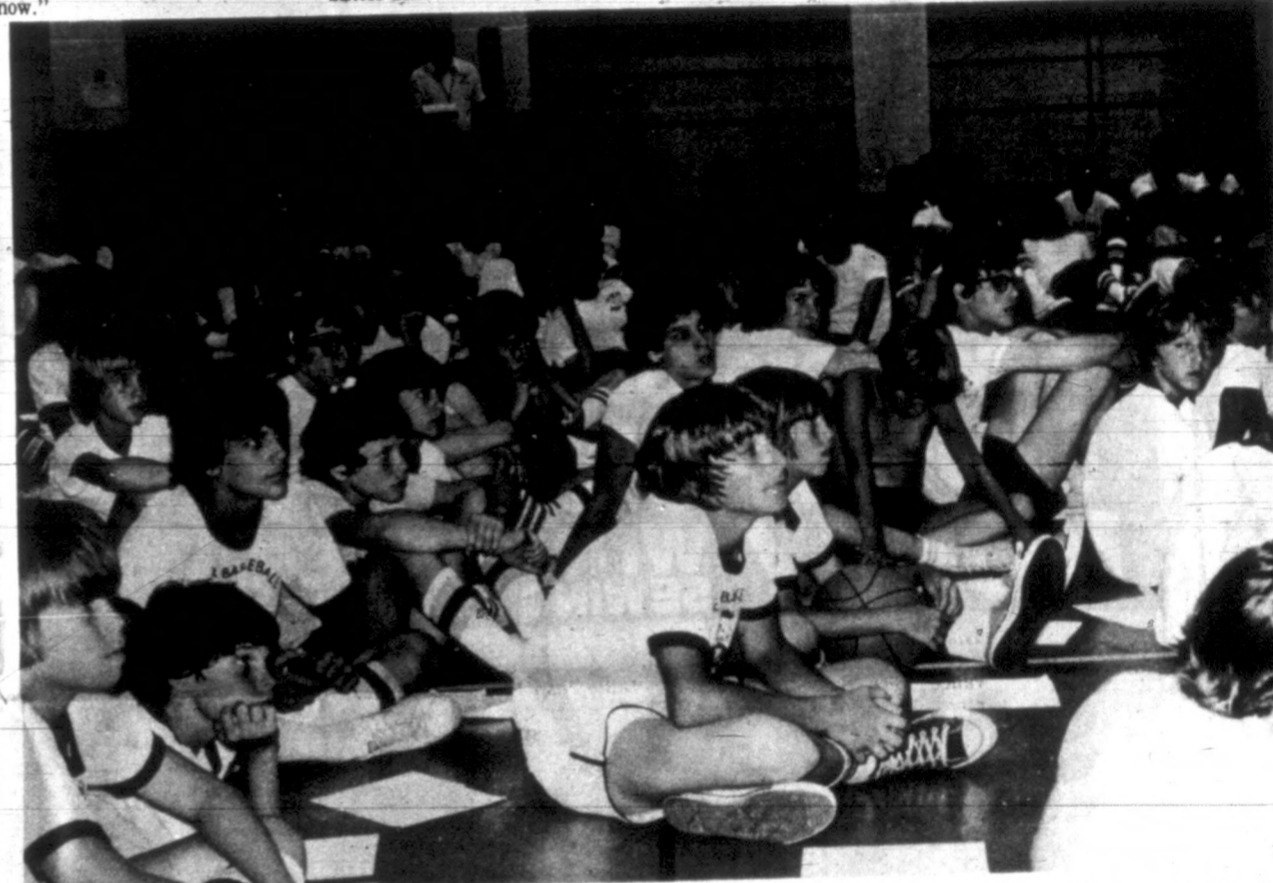

Two contests played Monday in the Park League found the Braves and the Cards taking wins.

In the opening contest, the Braves outslugged the Reds 14-13. The winners had five hits while the Reds banded out nine.

The nightcap found the Cards using nine hits and winning an 11-4 game over the Twins. The losers had only two hits.

With the win, the Cards are now 5-0 for the season. Games set for tonight will find the Twins playing the Tigers and the Astros facing the Yanks.

Nixon Reportedly Suffered From Phlebitis In Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, one of the healthiest of post-World War II presidents, suffered from a mild clot in a leg vein during his recent Middle East trip, the White House says.

The clot, termed phlebitis by Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren, set in before the trip began and "it has now been resolved," Warren said Monday.

Dr. Walter Tkach, Nixon's physician, reported that the President is "in good health and is looking forward to his trip to Brussels and the Soviet Union," Warren said.

Warren did not disclose in which leg Nixon suffered the phlebitis and did not say what, if any, treatment was given.

According to medical dictionaries, phlebitis is an inflammation of a vein, often associated with a small clot and is most common in veins of the leg.

It may follow injury or infection, the books say. They add that treatment includes use of elastic supports and aspirin and there is no need for the patient to cut down normal activity.

Nixon has been seen limping from time to time in the past but White House officials had offered no explanation for this. Warren said he did not see Nixon limp during his nine-day trip to the Middle East.

Throughout his political career Nixon has been hospitalized only twice.

The first time was in 1960 when he was campaigning for president against John F. Kennedy.

Nixon was hospitalized for 12 days with an infected left knee. Nixon said the infection appeared after he bumped his knee on a car door while campaigning. His personal doctor at the time, Dr. Malcolm Todd, said, however, that the car door injury was not related directly to the infection. He said the infection resulted from a boil.

The second and most recent hospitalization came last July when Nixon spent a week at Bethesda Naval Hospital in a bout with viral pneumonia.

Court Says Right To Reply In Newspaper

Not Constitutional

WASHINGTON (AP) — A unanimous Supreme Court today declared that states cannot demand that newspapers give political candidates free space to reply to editorial attacks.

The court overturned a 61-year-old Florida law imposing such a requirement. The court said the law violates the First Amendment free press guarantee.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger wrote for the court, "The choice of material to go into a newspaper, and the decisions made as to limitations on the size of the paper and content and treatment of public issues and public officials — whether fair or unfair — constitutes the exercise of editorial control and judgment."

He said the government cannot interfere with a newspaper's judgment about what it publishes.

Somerset Big K Manager To Court

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP) — The manager of Somerset's Big K Department Store faces a court appearance Friday on charges that he violated the state's Sunday closing law.

He was cited Sunday when the store opened for business.

The manager and 14 employees of the Big K store in Winchester were convicted Monday of violating the state law and were fined $2 each plus costs by Quarterly Court Judge Dorsey Curtis.

The 15 were cited last Sunday, the third time the store's employees have been in court on blue law charges.

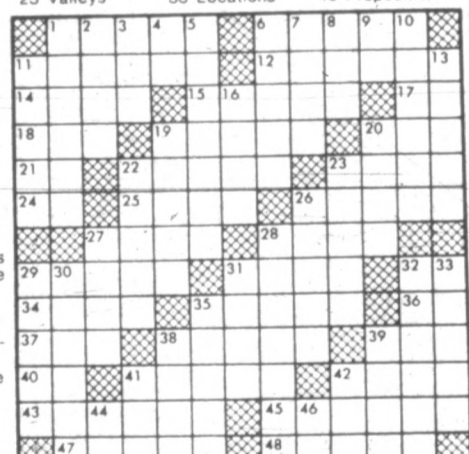

In the first crackdown a jury was unable to agree. The second time 19 employees were acquitted.

How many jobs these days offer a $1,500-$2,500 Cash Bonus?

If you check with your Army Representative you'll find many challenging jobs.

With a 4-year enlistment, the bonuses range from $1,500 - $2,500. (And most of the jobs are open to women.)

Not everyone gets these jobs. You must qualify for them. If you do, you'll be paid the bonus in a lump sum when you complete your training. (In most cases 16 weeks.)

The jobs are demanding. But the rewards are great.

Kissinger And Jackson Still In Arms Conflict

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is still in conflict with Sen. Henry M. Jackson over existing strategic arms agreements as he heads today for new negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Neither man backed down after a three-hour confrontation Monday Washington Democrat's charge, and Kissinger's denial, that a "secret clarification" altered the 1972 five-year agreement for limitations on offensive nuclear weapons.

Kissinger leaves today with President Nixon on a journey to another Moscow summit conference.

Jackson said Kissinger, in a "secret clarification" dated July 24, 1972, agreed with the Russian government to change the definition of a modern missile to authorize the Russians to deploy 1,020 modern submarine ballistic missiles in place of 950 specified in the interim agreement signed two months earlier in Moscow.

He said "steps have been taken just recently to correct what I call a loophole." He said that in a "still further secret agreement," initiated but not yet signed, "it is speculated" that the United States made concessions on verification issues to bring the total number of modern Soviet submarine missiles back down to 950.

Before appearing before Jackson's subcommittee Monday, Kissinger told a news conference that reports of secret agreements are "totally false in every detail."

He said also that President Nixon, on the last day of the 1972 summit meeting in Moscow, informed the Soviet Union that the United States did not intend to deploy more than the 656 submarine launchers already existing, although the agreement allowed 710 to the United States.

Jackson said the clarification was never submitted to Congress and that Congress never would have heard about it if Paul H. Nitze, former Pentagon SALT negotiator, had not appeared before the arms control subcommittee last Thursday and "told us what happened."

Jackson said, "The issue is the withholding from the Congress and the American people a secret agreement that had the clear effect of altering the
