Coast Guard Auxiliary Interested In Helping

Safe boating is no accident. The U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary is interested in helping people have more pleasure with their leisure time through safe boating.

June 30 through July 6 is Safe Boating Week. Division XXVII of the U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary would like for this week to be the "kick-off" to a safe year in boating. Division Commander, Neale B. Mason will accept invitations to bring educational boating classes to any organized groups interested in learning more about boat safety. Three more flotillas are needed in the Jackson Purchase area, he says. Any 10 motorboat owners may join together to organize a flotilla.

The Auxiliary is a voluntary, non-military organization created by an Act of Congress to promote safety and efficiency in operation of motorboats, sailboats, and yachts. It has three basic functions: educational activities, safety patrols, and pleasure craft examinations. Courtesy decals are awarded to boats which pass the exam. Members find a special camaraderie and an opportunity to relax and have fun in a boating fraternity where fellowship is based on common interests, a spokesman said.

The flotilla units assist with teaching safe boating techniques, regatta patrol, search and rescue missions, and assists boat owners stranded on our bountiful lake system.

Commander Merrill K. Wood, Director of USCG Auxiliary, St. Louis, Mo. reports that flotilla units are needed in Kentucky at Eddyville, Cadiz, Hopkinsville, and in Clarksville, Fulton, and Paris, Tennessee.

Any marina that would like to have a flotilla located at their facility should contact Neal B. Mason, 1505 Henry St., Murray, Ky. (502) 753-2234.

Heart Clinic For Children Held At Calloway Health Department

A consultative and diagnostic heart clinic for medically indigent children was held at the Calloway County Health Department on Friday, June 28.

This annual clinic is conducted under the direction of Dr. Kareem Minhas, the director of Cardiology at Norton Children's Hospital in Louisville. Assisting him this year was Dr. Surjeet Singh Dhanjal, director of pediatrics at St. Joe's Hospital, Louisville. Other doctors completing this team were: Dr. Robert Solinger, Dr. T. P. Ly, Dr. M. Jayasinghe, Dr. R. Clea Isani, and Dr. Lily George.

The State Health department provided two X-Ray technicians: Geared Luthell and Vicki Nance. The Calloway County Health Department nurses, including Daphne Mowery, P. H. N.: Amelia McLeod, R. N.: Odella D. Ives, R. N.: and Geneva Cooper, R. N., assisted the doctors in examining the children. Student Social Workers, Marsha Hohl and Dot Still, along with local citizens helped to accommodate in various ways to make a most successful day, officials said.

This clinic in Murray was one of the many ways the heart fund dollars you give help to serve the community, said Mrs. Willard Ails, Murray-Calloway County Heart Chairman, who expressed her appreciation to the local citizens for their wonderful support of the 1974 Heart Fund Drive. "We were able to reach our goal for this year's drive and through this effort much will be done toward curbing heart diseases which has taken the lives of so many Kentuckians already this year. We ask for even a larger effort for 1975."

Mrs. Ails also expressed a word of thanks to the Calloway County Health Department for the use of its personnel and facilities, all volunteers, and the Ryan Milk Company who provided lemonade and milk for the ones attending the clinic.

Resumption Of Summit Talks Postponed; No Explanation

MOSCOW (AP) — Resumption of the summit talks between President Nixon and Leonid I. Brezhnev was postponed for several hours today with no immediate explanation from either side.

Nixon spent the morning conferring with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and then Gen. Alexander Haig Jr., his chief of staff, on prospects for nuclear weapon controls and the domestic American situation, including Watergate, presidential aides said.

Nixon and Brezhnev were to resume their discussions today after a report of "good progress" toward an agreement to ban some underground nuclear weapon tests.

White House press spokesman Ronald L. Ziegler said the progress toward an enlargement of the test ban was made Monday by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko while Nixon was sightseeing in Minsk. But he cautioned that work on the test ban was not complete and said no agreement was likely to be signed before Nixon speaks tonight on Soviet television and radio. Kissinger and Gromyko also spent much time trying to work out a mutual pledge to try to impose controls by the end of the year on missiles with multiple warheads.

Kissinger, asked about prospects for such an agreement, said: "I don't know; I really don't know." Ziegler confirmed that Nixon and Brezhnev have almost wrapped up another agreement limiting U.S. and Soviet missile defense systems beyond the

Butterfield Is Lead-Off Witness In Impeachment Inquiry Last Phase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alexander P. Butterfield, who first told the nation of President Nixon's secret taping system, is the lead-off witness in the final phase of the House impeachment inquiry.

Butterfield, formerly Nixon's appointments secretary, faces a day-long examination behind closed doors today about the White House chain of command at the time covered by the Watergate investigation.

The committee has received a vast amount of information about the activities of various White House aides in connection with Watergate and wants to see if it leads to Nixon's Oval Office.

Butterfield is one of 10 witnesses listed for possible examination by the Judiciary Committee before July 12, when it starts deliberating proposed articles of impeachment.

In other Watergate-related developments:

—Former plumbers supervisor David R. Young testified that last year then-White House domestic adviser John D. Ehrlichman relayed word that President Nixon wanted the plumbers to refuse to answer official questions about the Ellsberg break-in.

—Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski told the Supreme Court that it was not his idea that a grand jury name President Nixon as an indicted co-conspirator.

—The Justice Department asked an appeals court to overturn a lower court ruling that the firing of the first special Watergate prosecutor, Archibald Cox, had been illegal.

—President Nixon's former personal lawyer, Herbert W. Kalmbach, surrendered to federal marshals to begin serving a six-to-18-month jail term for federal campaign finance violations.

Six of the 10 witnesses to come before the Judiciary Committee have been suggested by James D. St. Clair, Nixon's chief impeachment lawyer. Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., reversing a previous decision, said Monday he will recommend that all six be called.

Rodino, who previously said only two of St. Clair's witnesses might be called, offered his concession to the Republicans, hoping for their support on the House floor for a procedural change designed to speed the examination of witnesses.

However, the Republicans dealt Rodino a setback by failing to follow their senior committee colleagues. His bill to waive a rule giving each committee member five minutes to question a witness failed to get the two-thirds majority needed for passage, although it did command a 207-140 majority.

The vote did little to lessen partisan tensions that have begun to plague the committee. Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., one of the senior committee Republicans who supported Rodino, explained the vote by saying, "There is a feeling among Republicans now that anything that comes from the Democrats is suspect."

A short time later, Rodino held the 21 committee Democrats solidly in line and put through a resolution that will keep the hearings closed during the seven days set aside for examining witnesses.

Shower Planned For The Hodges' Family

A shower will be given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Hodges and their daughter, Carol, nineteen months old, on Friday, July 5, at seven p.m. in the fellowship hall of the Salem Baptist Church, north of Lynn Grove.

The family lost their home and contents by fire on June 27 in the early morning hours. The home was located at Lynn Grove. The family was just barely able to escape from the house after they awoke to find the house on fire.

The shower is being given by friends and neighbors and all interested persons are invited.

Progress Report On School Construction Expected By Tuesday

The Calloway County School Board will have a new report on the progress of the three elementary schools in the county by next Tuesday, the board was told at its meeting last night.

A potential delay in the construction of the schools will be discussed at a meeting of the architects and engineers involved next Tuesday, according to Supt. William B. Miller. Supt. Miller added however, that the delay is not definite and the schools could still be ready by the Sept. 1 deadline.

The main item of business at the meeting, which was recessed until July 10, was the election of personnel to various schools. Resignations were accepted from Richard Henson, Janice Hicks, Billy Outland, Howard Crittenden, and Mildred Geurin.

Lonnie Burgett was elected as physical education teacher and elementary coach at the North School; James McCall was named to a similar position at the East School. Clayton Hargrove was assigned to the Southwest School as a physical education teacher. Hargrove will also be the assistant basketball coach at Calloway County High School. Wayne Rogers was elected an elementary music teacher at the Southwest School; Diane Wilkins was named music teacher at the East School. Sharon Hopkins and Nancy W. Lovett were named special education teachers at the North and Southwest Schools respectively. Bob Manor will be speech and hearing teacher county-wide.

The meeting was recessed until July 10, when applications for the position of principal at Calloway County High School will be reviewed. Applications are now being taken by the board.

Jewell Dunn was named as bus driver of the year for last school year, based on her safety record and on her expense account.

Some discussion was heard on the disposal of old school buildings by the board. It was noted that the buildings will be sold, either at public auction or by sealed bids, but a date will not be set until after the students are in the new buildings.

Bids were accepted on workmen's compensation and school bus insurance. Holton-Melugin was awarded the bus insurance bid with an offer of $4,450. Murray Insurance won the workmen's compensation contract with a bid of $4,493.73.

The August meeting of the board was changed to August 2, due to a conflict with a state meeting in Louisville.

Judge Suggests Ways To Better State Criminal Justice System

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Circuit Judge Henry V. Pennington of Danville told a public hearing Monday on ways to improve the criminal justice system that "the judicial branch is the stepchild of the government of this state."

"The reason you don't have better courts (is) we don't have anything to operate off of," he said.

Pennington was one of about 75 persons at a hearing held by the State Department of Justice to get local input to be used in preparation of Kentucky's comprehensive criminal justice plan for 1975.

Pennington said only one-tenth of one per cent of the state budget is devoted to Kentucky courts—whereas the judicial branch of government is supposed to be separate and equal with the executive and legislative branches.

"You're not going to get John Siricas for the kind of salary you pay us," Pennington commented.

He commended the Department of Justice for its work in recent months but said improvement of the criminal justice system is ultimately a question of adequate funds.

"The courts in this state are long overdue in dollars and cents," he said.

Amos Eblen, a Lexington attorney and former judge on the Kentucky Court of Appeals, told those at the hearing, "You're discussing the same old problem over and over."

"That's because (the criminal justice system) is a basic structure set up in 1890—and we're trying to make it work today."

Eblen urged citizens to work for approval of the so-called ju-

Increases In 1974 Crop-Wheat Loan Rates Are Announced Here

The U. S. Department of Agriculture today announced increases in 1974 crop wheat county loan rates by major wheat producing areas.

The 1974 National average loan-rate of $1.37 per bushel, announced August 16, 1973, is 12 cents above the 1973 National average loan rate of $1.25 per bushel.

An increase in the loan rate will be effective in every county. It will, however, vary by production area to reflect differences in export demand and transportation costs. As in the past, protein premiums will be added to the loan rates. For example, No. 1 hard red spring wheat in North Dakota with 14.5 percent protein would add 9 cents to the basic loan rate.

County loan rates in the upper plains States, representing the hard red spring wheat producing area, will generally average 8 to 9 cents above those in effect for 1973. In the middle and southern plains area, representing hard red winter wheat producing areas, county loan rates will generally average 9 to 10 cents above 1973. For the most part, the southern plains area has maintained a strong price structure relative to the northern plains since it is the principal supply area for the heavy increases in wheat exports through the gulf ports.

Increased transportation costs have had a relatively minor effect in the soft red wheat area of Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio, and have been more than off-set by strong demand for this class of wheat. Hence, county loan rates in this area will generally average 16 to 17 cents above 1973. Similarly, the county loan rates in the Pacific Northwest, representing the white wheat producing area and tributary areas of hard red winter and spring wheats, will be 12 to 17 cents above 1973.

Copies of county rates are being sent to State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Offices. Copies also are available in the ASCS Grain Division, Room 5741-S, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

Johnson-Brandon Vows Solemnized

A springtime setting in the sanctuary of the Memorial Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Deborah Kay Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby R. Johnson, to James Leland Brandon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Brandon, all of Murray.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Jerrell White as the wedding party stood under an arch entwined with blue, yellow, and pink daisies and greenery. Brass spiral candelabra holding white burning tapers entwined with boxwood greenery flanked each side of the arch. Placed on either side of the candelabra were baskets filled with multi-colored spring flowers. The family pews were marked with hurricane lamps.

As the guests arrived, Mrs. Tommy Wilkins, organist, presented a program of music. Vocal selections, presented by Miss Diane Wilkins, were "More," "Whither Thou Goest," "The Twelfth of Never," and "Oh Lord We Pray Thee."

Bride's Dress
The bride, given in marriage

by her parents, was escorted to the altar by her father. The lovely young bride chose for her wedding a formal gown of ivory de-lustered satin combined with Venice lace. The national waistline was defined with a band of powder blue satin ribbon, and a square yoke was formed with Venice insertion lace which was re-embroidered with miniature blue and ivory rosebuds.

Long slim sleeves of satin were adorned with a vertical inset of lace and a tiny lace ruffle formed the cuff. An easy a-line skirt was fashioned with a deep flounced ruffle at the hemline which flowed into a chapel train.

Her headdress was a coronet crown of Venice lace motifs, delicately touched with pearl beads, accented with powder blue satin ribbon, to which an elbow length veil of silk illusion designed in flowing tiers was attached.

She carried a nosegay of blue daisies, white roses, and baby's breath with candlelight and blue streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Dixie Hook was the maid of honor. Her princess line dress had a yoke of sheer blue insertion with blue flocked appliques and featured a wedding band neckline. The long tapered puffed sleeves were edged with blue lace at the wrist.

Her headpiece was a blue wide-brimmed hat with a blue velvet ribbon encircling the crown. A cluster of white daisies was centered on the bow at the back of the hat.

The bridesmaids were Miss Sonia Johnson, sister of the bride, Mrs. Terry Hart, and Mrs. David Palmer, sister of the groom. Each was attired identical to that of the honor attendant.

Little Miss Jill Johnson served her sister as flower girl. She wore a long pink dotted swiss dress with long full sleeves and a small round collar edged in lace. The dress featured a white organdy pinafore with flocked pink rosebuds. She carried a white straw basket filled with pink and white rose petals which she dropped in the path of the bride.

Dwain Bell served as best man. Groomsmen were Johnny Rayburn, Terry Hart, and David Palmer, brother-in-law of the groom.

Ushers were Mitchell Johnson, brother of the bride, and Richard Blalock. Master Charles Palmer served his uncle as ringbearer.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a long blue dress with matching cardigan jacket. The sleeveless dress featured a draped roll collar. At her shoulder was pinned a white cymbidium orchid.

Mrs. Brandon, mother of the groom, was attired in a floor length mint green knit dress. The bodice and long tapered sleeves were of green lace. She wore a white cymbidium orchid corsage.

Mrs. Festus Story and Mrs. William Ross, grandmothers of the bride, and Mrs. T. H. Brandon, grandmother of the groom, were presented corsages of white daisies.

The guest register was kept by Miss Cindy Johnson, sister of the bride. She wore a pale yellow floor length gown with a corsage of white daisies. As the guests arrived they were invited to sign the bride's book and given a wedding scroll as a remembrance of the occasion.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. J. R. Story.

Reception
A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The guests entered by the stairway decorated with ivy and yellow daisies on the banisters.

The bride's table was covered with a softly gathered white satin cloth overlaid with blue chiffon which was caught at the center and the corners with yellow and white daisies. An arrangement of mixed summer flowers centered the table. Silver candelabra with white burning tapers were placed on each side of the floral arrangement.

At one end of the table was placed a three tiered white wedding cake trimmed with blue rosebuds. Completing the table was a crystal punch bowl placed on a crystal base from which yellow punch was served. Mints and nuts were served with silver appointments.

Serving the guests were Mrs. Art Bailey, Mrs. Duane Adams, Miss Carol Brandon, and Miss Susan Overbey. They wore corsages of white daisies.

Also assisting at the reception were J. R. Story and Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Story. Little Misses Angela Johnson and Jill Johnson passed out rice bags to the guests.

After the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to the Great Smoky Mountains with the bride wearing a pink pant suit and the corsage worn by her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandon are now residing in Murray. The bride is employed at the Bank of Murray and the groom will be a senior at Murray State University this fall.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs.

Mr. and Mrs. James Leland Brandon

Jimmy Johnson and children, Joe and Angela, Miss Janet Aldridge, Buddy Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Tyrone Hancock, all of Hopkinsville, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Higbee and daughter, Lydia, Cadiz, Modelle Emmons and Mrs. Lee Emmons, Paris, Tenn., Mrs. Marie Simmons and Mrs. Kay White and sons, Jeff, Detroit, Mich.

Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Brandon, parents of the groom, graciously hosted the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner at the Holiday Inn.

The main table was centered with an arrangement of multi-colored spring flowers. Covers were laid for twenty-five guests. The bridal couple chose this time to present gifts to their attendants.

According to Kentucky law, you are supposed to sound your auto horn before passing another vehicle. Many people neglect this courtesy. Be an informed buyer by gathering helpful information on items you plan to buy in newspapers, magazines, advertisements, and consumer information publications from your Extension Office. — Mrs. Barletta Wraiter, 209 Maple St., Murray.

WHAT DOES MONEY MEAN TO YOU? What are you teaching through your example to your child concerning money? You can help your child develop a good attitude toward money by emphasizing the proper place that it has in our lives. He can learn quite early that money is useful because with it we buy many things we want, and that we get money by working to earn it. Here are some questions for you to consider when trying to teach your child about money: (1) Does my child receive, according to a well defined plan, some money which it is his responsibility to manage? (2) Do I gradually increase the amount of money and the responsibility which the child assumes so that by the time he reaches high school he purchases all his clothing and his school supplies? (3) Does my child contribute his share to the general routine duties of the household without pay? (4) Do I give my child an opportunity to learn the important facts about the family's financial arrangements so that he sees the relation of his income and his responsibilities to those in the entire family? (5) Do I allow my child to suffer the consequences of unwise spending? (6) Do I give my child an opportunity to learn saving from a concrete object and then help him to understand the difficulties involved in future planning. (7) Do I, by example, show my children that money is a tool to use in good living and not the goal itself? — Mrs. Sue Fraser, Bardwell.

Sometimes referred as a three-dimensional fabric because of its soft, plushy nature, velour of triacetate is making inroads in selected apparel and home furnishings products. It's lush surface makes it appropriate for snugly bedspreads and throw-pillows, as well as flowing, luxurious-looking loungewear. And the inherent washability and color-fastness of triacetate comes built-in with these velours, too. Velour is similar to velveteen in appearance, but it has a knit backing rather than a woven one as in velveteen. This makes for more stretch and "give" combines with stability in velour fabrics, with a resulting clingy, body-confirming nature that is compatible with today's fashion trends. The pile surface of velour fabrics provides added warmth and insulation. Use polyester-core thread when sewing velour to provide the extra give required of this relatively thick pile fabric. — Mrs. Catherine C. Thompson, Hickman.

Pinch pleated in the heading for draperies are easy to tack if your sewing machine will sew on buttons. Set your stitch to the longest setting and tack each pleat. — Mrs. Mildred W. Potts, LaCenter.

For satisfactory home sewing results, be sure thread and fabric are compatible. The many new washables in knit, bonded and stretch constructions can all be sewn with spun polyester thread. This thread is machine washable, shrink-proof and color fast. And it makes seams that "give" but never "gape." — Mrs. Dean Roper, Courthouse, Mayfield.

The 'whys' in bread

Quick breads are so named because of the short time it takes to mix them. They are leavened by the baking powder which produces carbon dioxide when triggered by moisture and heat, or baking soda yielding the same gas when reacting with an acid ingredient of the dough. Modern chemical leavenings have no taste, permitting the delicate flavor of the wheat itself to emerge.

In self-rising flour, the leavening agents and salt have been added to all-purpose flour, making it the ideal choice for biscuits and muffins as well as quick breads.

Doctor doesn't care but boyfriend's kept away

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the most horrifying article in the Wall Street Journal headlined: "Painful Puzzle Viral V.D. Is Contagious and Doesn't Go Away." Then it described the horrors of Herpes 2, a genital-area virus which manifests itself in painful lesions, akin to facial "cold sores."

The article stated that Herpes 2 is approaching gonorrhea as the next most prevalent venereal disease, is highly contagious, can be contracted by males, results in infant mortality and cervical cancer and, once contracted, can never be cured and will recur sporadically!

Abby, I am a woman who has suffered from Herpes 2 since 1967, and never once has my physician evinced the least concern over it. He prescribed only symptomatic relief remedies and vitamin C, and said, "Let it run its course."

Since my boyfriend saw the article, he's been treating me like I have leprosy.

Please consult with your experts and let us thousands of Herpes sufferers know if the medical world concurs with this article's evaluation. SIGN ME, HERPES HANNAH

DEAR HANNAH: While the article is undeniably alarming, it does not necessarily follow that all the facts concerning Herpes 2 apply to you. If your doctor is not investigating the new developments in the study of Herpes 2, find one who is, and make an appointment for two examinations [one for you and one for your boyfriend]. And don't hesitate to ask the doctor any and all questions concerning this disease.

DEAR ABBY: A wife wrote to say she had found a pair of nylon panties in her husband's pickup truck, and you jumped to the conclusion that some gal friend had left them there.

You overlooked something, Abby. Those panties could have been her husband's!

There are lots of men who like the feel of smooth, soft undies next to their bodies. And don't get the idea that they aren't all men because they are. I know. I've been on the police force for 16 years, and before that I was with the U. S. Marines, and I'm one of those men. I'm also a husband and father of six.

So, Dear Abby, did you ever consider the possibility that there was no lady in the picture?

WEAR PANTIES [WHEN I GET THE CHANCE]

DEAR WEARS: No, I didn't. But you wouldn't believe the number of your "brothers" who wrote to suggest it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Can't Believe It" In Kenosha: It's true. Maria Echeverria, wife of Mexico's president, announced that 35,000 pawn tickets worth $800,000 were being redeemed from national pawnshops, at no cost to the women who held them, as a government gift for Mother's Day. So thousands of Mexican women got their sewing machines, blenders and other household appliances out of hock free of charge. Iy, yi, yi!

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclosed stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

controls imposed in their 1972 treaty.

The two leaders have yet to find a way to unshackle two East-West negotiations—the Vienna talks on a parallel pullback of American and Soviet troops in Central Europe and the Geneva conference at which Moscow is seeking formal Western recognition of its hegemony in Eastern Europe.

In Minsk, the capital of Byelorussia, the President visited memorials to the dead in World War II and promised to continue to work with Brezhnev to "build a structure of peace."

Nixon appeared to be favoring his swollen left leg as he returned to Moscow Monday night. He walked slowly across the runway and through the terminal building, looking tired and holding on to Mrs. Nixon's arm.

Ziegler said the President was not experiencing pain from his phlebitis. But Nixon's doctor, Maj. Gen. Walter Tkach, said, "The swelling will be with him a long time."

After the broadcast, Nixon will give a banquet for Brezhnev and the other Soviet leaders at Spassko House, the American ambassador's residence.

Impeachment

closed hearings found members of both parties switching previously held positions. Only two Republicans voted for closed hearings, although all 17 Republicans favored closed hearings when the evidence against Nixon was being presented.

Rep. Jerome Waldie, D-Calif., one of six Democrats who repeatedly sought to open the hearings earlier, offered the motion to keep them closed for the witnesses.

The Republicans who switched they were persuaded by the leaks of confidential material from the closed door hearings when documentary evidence was presented.

Waldie and the other Democrats who changed their position said since about 95 percent of the evidence had been received in secret session, it would give the public a distorted view of the case to open only the questioning of a few witnesses on narrow issues.

Butterfield will be questioned about the relationships between Nixon, his former chief of staff, H. R. Haldeman, and the other White House aides who took orders from Haldeman. The questioning will be to determine whether Nixon knew of any Watergate-connected activities engaged in by his staff.

After Butterfield, the committee is expected to hear from Paul O'Brien, former lawyer for Nixon's re-election campaign; William O. Bittman, lawyer for Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt Jr., and Frederick C. LaRue, former Nixon campaign aide.

ditional article, a revision of the Kentucky judicial system that will be presented to voters as a constitutional amendment in November, 1975.

Richard Bean of Lexington said he was concerned about the lack of record-keeping in the judicial system and recommended that the courts establish a uniform system of reporting crimes, arrests and disposition of cases.

Diane Morris, regional court administrator for the model courts project said courts within the model are currently filling out criminal reporting sheets which will be analyzed by a computer in an experimental effort at keeping track of all criminal cases.

John P. Arena of Lexington said he thought the key to improving the criminal justice system is to involve private citizens—particularly in areas such as jury duty.

Secretary of Justice Henri Mangot said after the hearing that a report would be made on the Kentucky Crime Commission at its meeting July 11.

He said the report would be based in part on hearings held in nine cities across the state. The last is to be held today at Louisville.

Mangot said citizen response at the hearings would play a "significant" part in determining priorities for the criminal justice system in Kentucky.

He said the two areas of greatest concern throughout the state are juvenile delinquency and crime prevention.

Teacher Wants To Keep Job After Posing In The Nude

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Barbie Lewandowski, a blonde and shapely grade school teacher's aide, is fighting to save her job after posing nude for the centerfold of a men's magazine.

"As far as I am concerned she is through," said William Knapp, superintendent of the suburban Greendale school where Miss Lewandowski has corrected papers and done odd jobs for seventh and eighth grade teachers for the last two years.

But Miss Lewandowski, 25, who for $2,000 struck 18 nude poses of her 37-25-37 figure published in this month's Penthouse magazine, says she will go to court if necessary to keep her job.

"Dr. Knapp says I quit, but I didn't," she said Monday. "I went in to talk to him last week and said I might quit if I thought it would be impossible for me to do my job this fall, but we just left it up in the air."

Knapp, who said he has seen the photos but has no personal feeling about Miss Lewandowski's job, insists she quit.

"She resigned. That's it," he said.

"That's not true. He is very much against me because of this," countered Miss Lewandowski, who uses the name Barbie Lewis for her part-time modeling.

She said she does not believe publication of her picture in the buff will affect her ability to do her job.

"I'm still the same old me," she said. "I can still goof around with the kids and everything just like I used to. I think 13-year-old kids can accept this. Besides, most of them will probably never see the picture unless their mothers get upset about it."

She added, "If they saw the magazine, they would have learned a course in sex education."

Some mothers apparently have been complaining, she conceded, although she said she has had no direct adverse comments about the photos from anyone except Knapp.

Greendale principal Donald Baumgart suggested it might be better for Miss Lewandowski to look for other work.

"I'd guess that if the magazine got into the hands of the kids, it would be somewhat embarrassing for her," he said. "I think it might bother some of the kids and affect their demeanor in school."

"They just can't do this to me," she said. "If a little kid would come up to me this fall and say he saw my picture in the nude, I would just tell him that's fine, now let's get back to work."

NOT TO RIDE

The Wranglers' Hiding Club will not ride Friday night, July 5, as originally planned, a club spokesman said.

Argentina Begins Farewell To Peron

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — The Argentine people began a two-day farewell today to President Juan D. Peron, their leader for 30 years in power or in exile. Peron died Monday of a heart attack, leaving the presidency to his widow and vice president, Isabel.

Draped in the national colors of blue and white, the coffin of the 78-year-old general was to be carried on a gun carriage today to the National Cathedral for Mass. Then it was to lie in state in the Congress building while the people filed past, four abreast. A state funeral will be held Wednesday.

National mourning was ordered for today and Wednesday, and flags will fly at half staff for 10 days.

Peron's 43-year-old widow is the first woman chief executive in traditionally male-dominated Latin America, but there was no assurance that she would remain in office for the five years and four months remaining in his term.

Unlike Peron's second wife, Isabel Peron has no political following of her own, has exerted little or no personal influence on the country's politics, is a novice at the business of government, and was elected vice president nine months ago only because her husband insisted on her being his running mate.

Meanwhile, the Peronist movement is badly split between conservatives and radical leftists who united only in support of Peron.

For the time being, however, no attempt is expected to unseat the new president and the country is expected to remain calm. Mrs. Peron, in a broadcast announcing her husband's death, appealed to "friends and adversaries" to calm their "personal passions in favor of a free, just and sovereign country." The armed forces, which overthrew Peron in 1955 and ruled the country for 18 years, promised to uphold the constitutional succession, and all political factions have expressed support.

The labor unions declared a general mourning strike until midnight Wednesday but said essential services would be maintained.

Peron, one of the most loved and hated figures in Latin-American history, was one of a group of army officers with pro-Axis sympathies who seized power in 1943. His mistress, the actress Eva Duarte, organized the country's workers behind him. In 1946 he was elected president by a 55 per cent majority, soon after he married Eva. His first wife had died earlier.

Eva was in effect Peron's co-president but died in 1952 of leukemia at age 33. Two years later, the military overthrew Peron, and he began 18 years of exile.

He met his third wife in Panama. Her real name is Maria Estela Martinez, but she used the name Isabel as a night club dancer and has kept it. They were married in 1960.

Throughout his years in exile, Peron remained the political leader most popular with the Argentine masses. In 1972, the military finally gave up its attempt to run the country, and the next spring a candidate picked by Peron, Hector J. Campora, was elected president. Peron returned from Spain in triumph, Campora resigned and the voters poured out to return their old hero to office by a 61 per cent majority.

First Bike Standards Are Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission today wheeled out the nation's first bicycle safety standards, to take effect Jan. 1.

The mandatory regulations, covering everything from braking performance to reflectors, are aimed at reducing the estimated one million bicycle-related injuries last year.

Although the new standards will apply to all bicycles introduced into interstate commerce after the end of this year, those made and distributed before the deadline may continue to be sold.

To reduce consumer confusion, the commission decided that during the next two years new bicycles meeting the standard should bear the label: "Meets U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission Safety Regulations for Bicycles."

Violators of the regulations could face criminal penalties. Frames, steering systems, wheels and brakes will be required to meet tests for safety, performance and strength.

Borg And Ashe Shocked In Play At Wimbledon

By ROBERT JONES
Associated Press Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Bjorn Borg, who has caused young girls to swoon all over Europe this year, finally swooned himself Monday and became one of the first two seeded players knocked out of competition at Wimbledon.

Ismael El Shafel of Egypt trounced the 18-year-old Swedish star 6-2, 6-3, 6-1 in a match which was over when the fifth-seeded Borg quit trying midway through the second set.

By the third set, Borg was purposely belting balls into the net, serving double faults and visibly showing the effects of a long year of campaigning which included making the finals of the World Championship of Tennis and winning the Italian and French Open.

Roscoe Tanner, from Big Canoe, Ga., beat his highly touted, and eighth-seeded, compatriot Arthur Ashe 7-5, 6-3, 8-9, 6-3 in the other major upset of the day and advanced against Australia's ageless pro Ken Rosewall today.

In other matches today, John Newcombe played Erik Van Dillen, Stan Smith met Patrice Dominguez, El Shafel faced Manuel Orantes, Tom Gorman met Jan Kodes, Jaime Fillol met Jimmy Connors, Alex Metrevel faced Tom Okker and Dick Stockton met Ilie Nastase.

After his defeat, Borg who has been surrounded by young admirers all week, could share little of their youthful energy and enthusiasm.

"I am very tired," said Borg, who was able to get only six points off his service in the three sets. "Now I go home for a few days' rest with my parents. Then I must play Davis Cup."

Tanner used an explosive, high-bouncing serve to dismiss Ashe, once rated the top player in the United States and twice a semifinalist at Wimbledon.

Last year's Triple Crown winner, Billie Jean King, defending her singles, doubles and mixed doubles titles, was more troubled by the wind than by France's Francoise Durr in their singles match.

It was also a good day for the rest of the seeded men and women.

Newcombe of Australia, Nastase of Romania, Connors of Belleville, Ill., and Smith of Sea Pines, S.C., seeded 1-2-3-4, respectively, advanced with only Smith encountering any trouble.

The women aiming at taking over the top spot at Wimbledon kept pace with Ms. King. Chris Evert, Evonne Goolagong, Rosemary Casals, Virginia Wade, Kerry Melville and Olga Morozova all won.

Four Reds Leading For Spots On All-Star Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Cincinnati seems to be the people's choice as the voting for the National League All-Star baseball team enters its final week.

With voting scheduled to end Sunday, four Red players are leading vote-getters at their respective positions and catcher Johnny Bench is threatening Hank Aaron as top vote-getter of all.

Russell has received 494,185 votes against Bowe's 435,240 and Concepcion's 430,712. Pitchers and reserves will be chosen by the opposing managers.

Aaron, the all-time home run slugger from Atlanta, still leads all players with 1,198,471, but Bench is threatening with his 1,153,312 total.

With 2,719,915 votes counted, the Reds' Tony Perez leads at first base with 490,791, teammate Joe Morgan is ahead at second base with 758,823 and Pete Rose appears to have an outfield spot clinched with 832,124 votes.

Ron Cey of Los Angeles is the leading candidate to start at third base in the July 23 All-Star Game in Pittsburgh with 654,480 votes, while Jimmy Wynn of Los Angeles has 713, 745 and is a favorite to win the other outfield spot.

In the closest contest, shortstop Bill Russell of Los Angeles holds a slim lead against Larry Bowa of Philadelphia and Dave Concepcion, of—you guessed it—Cincinnati.

Russell has received 494,185 votes against Bowe's 435,240 and Concepcion's 430,712.

Pitchers and reserves will be chosen by the opposing managers.

August A. Busch, Jr., president of the National League baseball club, commended Kerner for his interest in professional sports in St. Louis.

Tabers and Mickey McCuiston also hit safely.

Led by David Frank and Pat McMillen's two hits, the Braves have now won their last five out of six games. Ricky Melton and Paul Robertson also hit safely.

Raymond Sims allowed five hits in going the distance for his first victory.

The Pirate hits were recorded by Lindsey Hudspeth, Terry Vance, Bill McHugh, Barry Wells and Richie Richardson.

Malone Says Colleges Offered Him Presents

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Basketball superstar Moses Malone's mother has told a Richmond newspaper that two colleges offered money and an automobile to her son in apparent violation of NCAA recruiting rules.

Mrs. Mary Malone said Clemson offered her son $1,000 through an intermediary to buy a car and a New Mexico recruiter loaned him a rental car, the Times-Dispatch reported in today's editions.

Malone, the most heavily recruited high school player in years while at Petersburg High School, signed recently with the University of Maryland. He's now working at a summer job in Washington, Mrs. Malone said.

"Clemson offered Mo money," she said. "They gave my brother a grand to buy a car for Mo."

The car deal apparently fell through when Mrs. Malone's brother, Charley Hudgins, was unable to secure financing for the auto, the newspaper reported.

Mrs. Malone said she didn't know what happened to the money, but neither she nor her son took any of it, the story said. Mrs. Malone also said John Whisenant, a New Mexico assistant coach who recruited in Petersburg for three months, allowed Malone to use his rental car for a short period, the Times-Dispatch said.

The car was given to her son through an intermediary, Mrs. Malone said, and when she discovered that he had the vehicle, "I told Mo he had to give it back."

"Then I called coach Whisenant and told him to come over here and get his car. I was pretty mad, and I also told him to get out of town, but I guess I had no right to do that," the Times-Dispatch said.

Whisenant, Hudgins and Clemson Coach Tates Locke couldn't be reached for comment Monday night.

Mrs. Malone said she and her son informed NCAA investigators of the alleged violations and knew of no other schools which had broken regulations in an effort to recruit Malone, the newspaper reported.

Mrs. Malone said she's very glad the recruiting war for her son is over, but she was "kind of glad I went through it. It was educating. What I learned from it is how crooked some people can be and how nice some people can be."

NFL Strike At A Glance

By The Associated Press
The National Football League strike at a glance:

WHO: The 1,200-member NFL Players Association versus the 26 NFL club owners.

WHEN: At 12:01 a.m. EDT Monday. Picketing will begin at 9 a.m. Wednesday at the training site of the San Diego Chargers in San Diego, the first club to open camp. Pickets will appear at the subsequent openings of camps.

The crux of the demands are the so-called freedom issues, calling for elimination of the reserve clause, the option clause, the waiver system and the so-called Rozelle rule, which allows the commissioner to order compensation for a club when one of its athletes plays out his option and signs with another team.

By JIM PIERCE

The victory left the Giants with a 7-4 record while the Tigers, Braves and Pirates are all 5-6.

The red-hot Braves won another game by smothering the Pirates 11-0 in Sunday's second game.

Yanks And Astros Win League Games

Two games played in the Park League Monday found the Yanks and the Astros grabbing wins in close contests.

In the opener, the Yanks moved to 5-2 for the season as they won a 7-5 contest over the Braves. Both teams had three hits in the contest.

The loss drops the Braves to 3-4 for the campaign.

In the nightcap, the Astros came up with three runs in the bottom of the fifth and took a 15-14 win over the Twins. The Astros had seven hits while the Twins had three.

The win leaves the Astros with a 2-5 slate while the Twins are currently 1-6.

Games set for tonight will find the Yanks playing the Cubs at 4:30 p.m. while the Tigers and Reds square off in the second contest.

In games played in the Park League over the weekend, the Cards won a 6-5 game over the Reds in a contest that took two days to play.

The teams were tied at 5-5 when the game was halted Friday and then on Saturday, the Cards pushed across a run in the bottom of the fifth to take the win.

The winners had four hits while the Reds had three hits.

In the other Friday game, the Cubs pounded eight hits and nipped the Braves, 12-11. The losers had two hits.

Another makeup game played Saturday found the Reds trimming the Astros 9-7.

Milwaukee Open Departs From Normal Procedures

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Lee Trevino, enticed by a change in format and looking for more playing time, heads a surprisingly strong field for the $130,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

The 72-hole event, which offers a $28,000 first prize, gets under way Wednesday and runs through Saturday, a departure from the usual Thursday-through-Sunday format for regular pro golf tour events.

The change was made to help accommodate players who wish to compete in next week's British Open. This gives them an extra day of travel time. It's also because of the holiday weekend.

Trevino is one of those affected by the British Open. He's won two of the last three British Opens and will be playing in the old tournament at St. Anne's in England next week.

"I might have played anyhow," Trevino said. "I can't take time off and practice for a tournament. I need to play the week before. That's how I get sharp, by playing, not by practicing."

"But the extra day will help, too. It'll help a lot. You have to fly all night to get there. Then you've got to stay awake all the next day. That's the only way you can handle it. If you go to bed when you get there, you're dead. It'll take you a week to get adjusted."

The Milwaukee Open, which customarily occupies the time slot the week before the British Open, often gets the tour's leftovers.

Not so this year.

In addition to Trevino, one of the game's outstanding gate attractions, the 144-man field that will test the 7,010-yard Tuck-away Country Club course includes 62-year-old Sam Snead; Hubert Green, the season's No. 2 money winner and winner of three 1974 tournaments; Buddy Allin, a two-time winner this year, and such other winners as Jim Colbert, Bob Menne, Leonard Thompson and defending champion Dave Stockton.

Others include J. C. Snead, Sam's nephew and current Australian Open champion, Homero Blancas and Chi Chi Rodriguez.

College Football HUNTSVILLE, Tex. — Billy Tidwell, a member of Texas A&M's "dream backfield" of 1962, was named head football coach and athletic director at Sam Houston State University, succeeding Allen Boren who resigned.

Cards Get Lead By Belting Cubs In League Game

The Cards moved to a half-game edge in the Kentucky League Monday night as they took an 11-2 win over the Cubs. With the win, the first-place Cards are now 7-2 while the Reds will carry a 6-2 slate into their 6 p.m. contest tonight with the 3-5 Mets.

The two leading teams will battle in Friday's game, with a win by either team all but clinching the league title. Dwayne Smith went the distance on the hill for the Cubs and struck out 10 batters while giving up just three hits. The Cards scored five runs in the first inning as Kelly Rogers led off the game by reaching on an error and Smith singled but was later thrown out at third. But his single was good for an RBI as Kelly Rogers scored. Craig Rogers walked and following a fielder's choice, scored the second run of the inning by stealing home. In the second frame, Mike Todd walked and took third on Terry Smotherman's single. Toed, on a double steal, scored the third run of the game for the Cards as he stole home. The Cards exploded for five runs in the third inning and sewed up the win. Four singles, two errors and a fielder's choice produced the runs for the winners. Kelly Rogers, Smith, Craig Rogers and Gary Lahde all had hits in the frame. The Cubs scored single runs in the fourth and fifth innings.

Oaks Golfers Place In Fulton Tourney

Several golfers from the Oaks Country Club won prizes over the weekend at the Fulton Invitational Golf Tournament. Stanley Hargrove had a two-day total of 175 and won the fifth flight and a set of irons.

Mike Morgan, who took second place in the flight, won a set of woods.

Third place in the fifth flight went to Max Walker who was awarded a golf bag for his finish.

In the sixth flight, Bill Seale finished fifth and won an umbrella for his effort. In the third flight, Don Cothran finished fifth.

Orioles Stay Unbeaten In Pony League Play

By JIM PIERCE

The Orioles rallied for four big runs in the seventh to remain unbeaten in Pony League play.

The Monday night 9-4 victory over the Phils brings the Oriole record to 5-0.

Saturday night's play found the Orioles riding Bob Thurman's 12 strikeouts to a 3-2 win over the Astros while the Phils beat the Dodgers 10-5.

Larry Watkins and Reggie Ballard combined to three-hit the Phils but it took a last inning comeback to chalk up the victory.

Dean Cherry, who banged out two hits, scored the winning run in the four-run seventh. Robert Whitner scored the tying run on a close play at the plate. Kirsav, who drove in the winning run, and Kevin Shahan, each had a pair of hits while Kenn Perkins and Jim Sumner added one hit to the Oriole attack.

Bill Wilson, David Miller and Jim Walker recorded the only Phil hits.

The Indians' Terry Thompson scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh Saturday to defeat the Astros 3-2.

After doubling and stealing third, Thompson scored on a wild pitch to end the game.

Winning pitcher Bob Thurman had two hits while Mike Murphy added one. Thomas Kendall, John Denham, Shea Sykes, Mark Thomas and Sims all hit safely for the Astros.

The Phils scored five runs in the sixth to beat the Dodgers 10-5 in the other game played Saturday.

Bill Wilson collected three hits while Jim Walker had a pair. Dan Rogers and Brian Chapman also hit safely.

Keith Covey led the Dodger attack with three hits. Danny Hall smashed two hits while Terry Workman, Greg McClure, Bo Reid and Mike Utley all hit safely.

Workman's hit was an inside-the-park homerun in the sixth. Lefty Ken McCuiston got the win for the Phils.

Racers Vying For Pole Spot At Firecracker 500

By BLOYS BRITT

AP Auto Racing Writer DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — David Pearson, Richard Petty and Cale Yarborough, stock car racing's "Big Three," headed a list of pole position candidates in today's first round of qualifying for the July 4 Firecracker 400.

The first 20 positions in what will become a 40-car starting order were to be decided in speed runs around the 2.5-mile Daytona International Speedway beginning at 10 a.m. EDT.

The $115,000 mid-summer classic drew a record 62 entries, including all of the Winston Cup Grand National circuit's top runners and two big guns from the rival United States Auto Club's Indy-car division.

Johnny Rutherford, who cashed a record $246,000 check after winning the May 26 Indianapolis 500 and added to his bank account by capturing the Schaefer 500 at Mt. Pocono, Pa., Sunday, will drive a Chevrolet in this one.

A.J. Foyt, winner of three Indy titles, also has won the Firecracker twice—in 1964 and 1965—and the Daytona 500 in 1972. He will compete in Thursday's race in a Chevrolet owned by Donnie Allison, also a contender.

Pearson, Petty and Yarborough have won 14 of the 15 Grand Nationals this year. Yarborough has six triumphs and $140,760, Petty five wins and $136,015 and Pearson three victories and $102,835.

Pearson has won the last two Firecracker events and also won it in 1961.

Petty, though a five-time winner of the Daytona 500 and the only man to win that event more than once, never has put it all together in the Firecracker. He has three second place finishes.

Fans Picket Motel As Reaction To Strike

By TOM SEPPY

AP Sports Writer The striking National Football League Players Association, which plans to put up the first picket lines in the history of sports on Wednesday, got the first faint flicker of fan reaction Monday night—and it was not favorable.

Two teen-aged football fans picketed a Cincinnati motel Monday night as the NFLPA leaders met with Cincinnati Bengals players. "I think they (the NFLPA) should reconsider some of their demands and start thinking of the fans," said one of the protesters, Jim Murphy.

The strike began at 12:01 a.m. Monday with the 1,200-player union saying "No Freedom, No Football" and hoping the walkout will force the 26 NFL club owners to grant the NFLPA its so-called freedom demands.

Starting Wednesday in San Diego, where the Chargers are scheduled to open the first NFL camp, the union hopes to keep rookies and free agents, as well as its own membership, from reporting for training.

If successful, the NFLPA action could eliminate the exhibition season and seriously affect the revenue of many teams.

After both sides fired salvos Monday, the NFLPA leadership, headed by Executive Director Ed Garvey and President Bill Curry, left Washington for San Diego, but stopped off in Cincinnati.

"We received expressions of concern on many of the issues," Curry said after a 90-minute meeting with 15 Bengal players.

Pat Matson, the Bengals' player representative, said the vote to support the NFLPA was unanimous.

Earlier, Garvey and Curry conducted a news conference at which many questions were asked by Mike Brown, assistant general manager of the Cincinnati team and son of Paul Brown, Bengal head coach and general manager.

"What you are telling these people is not consistent with the information I am receiving," Brown told Garvey.

Garvey countered: "The owners are telling the public they'll play anyone who can walk on a field in order to go ahead with exhibition games."

This is the second strike action by the pro football union—and the fourth in major league sports—since 1970, but the walkout four years ago ended before preseason play started.

Negotiations between the owners and players union broke off last Wednesday after 10 sessions and approximately 62 hours at the bargaining table failed to produce a contract

Bennie Purcell Wins Three Titles

Murray State tennis coach Bennie Purcell won three titles over the past weekend at the Kentucky State Closed Adult tennis Tournament held in Louisville.

Purcell won the singles crown by taking an easy 6-1, 6-0 win over top-ranked Bob Doll. In the 35 and over doubles, Purcell and Tilden McMasters combined to win the title by defeating Gay Messick of Glasgow and Livingston Taylor of Lawrenceburg, 6-2, 6-2.

In the 45 and over doubles, Purcell teamed with Paul Rowton of Paducah and defeated Doll and Bob Scherer in split sets.

After winning the first set 6-4, Purcell-Rowton fell by the same score in the second set but won the title by crushing their opponents 6-0 in the third set.

agreement. The bargaining, under the auspices of the Federal Mediation Service, collapsed over the so-called "freedom issue" demands by the players seeking the right to switch teams when their contracts expire and to exercise a veto over possible trades.

In Washington Monday it was announced that the union had filed unfair labor practice charges against the owners.

In New York, meanwhile, John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council which represents the owners in the negotiations, called the charges nonsense.

Dick Williams Not Greeted Nicely In His Return To Baseball Against Oakland

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer
Welcome back, Dick Williams. Things haven't changed very much, have they? The Oakland A's... you remember the Oakland A's... are still a pretty tough bunch to beat.

Williams took the long trip from Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., and the world of real estate to Anaheim, Calif. and the world of the American League Monday night, returning to baseball as manager of the California Angels. Ironically, the uniforms on the other side of the field belonged to his old friends, the world champion A's.

For seven innings, things looked fine for Williams. The Angels were leading 3-2 and Nolan Ryan was working smoothly. Then in the eighth, doubles by Sal Bando and Angel Mangual keyed a three-run Oakland rally. Final score: Oakland 5, California 3. Now Williams knows how the other half has been living for the last couple of years in the Oakland-dominated American League.

Elsewhere in the AL Monday, Cleveland swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee, 3-1 and 3-3, Boston downed Baltimore 6-4, Kansas City shut out Chicago 9-0, Detroit edged New York 4-3 and Texas defeated Minnesota 6-2.

In the only National League games scheduled, Houston shut out Atlanta 3-0 and Montreal whipped Chicago 10-3.

Indians 3-9, Brewers 1-3
Cleveland used the long ball to sweep a doubleheader from Milwaukee and move into second place in the American League East, only two behind Boston.

George Hendrick homered in each game and John Ellis hit a three-run homer and drove in five runs in the nightcap.

Rangers 6, Twins 2
Texas remained in a virtual second place tie with Kansas City in the American League West, defeating Minnesota.

Tigers 4, Yankees 3
Jim Northrup broke an eighth inning tie with a two-out home run, Detroit's third of the game, as the Tigers defeated the Yankees.

Royals 9, White Sox 0
Cookie Rojas delivered four straight hits, including a two-run homer, and Fred Patek and Hal McRae also homered, powering the Royals over the White Sox in the nationally televised game.

Red Sox 6 Orioles 4
Boston bunched three runs in the first inning, two of them on Cecil Cooper's homer, and then held on to defeat Baltimore.

Astros 3, Braves 0
Don Wilson pitched a five-hitter and drove in Houston's first run with a double, as the Astros shut out slumping Atlanta.

Expos 10 Cubs 3

Ken Singleton and Mike Jorgensen drove in two runs apiece and Bob Bailey drilled a home run as Montreal trounced the Chicago Cubs.

Brazil And Poland Facing Must Wins

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Television tape and the trainer's table told over today as key elements in soccer's 1974 World Cup.

The videotape will help Holland's manager, Rinus Michels, plot his strategy for Wednesday's decisive match against Brazil.

The trainer will be in action in the Polish camp at Murnard, working on two top players in the hope they will be physically fit for the equally decisive match against West Germany.

Brazil and Poland must win to get to the World Cup final at Munich Sunday. Ties would be enough to put Holland and West Germany through.

Michels, who has commuted between Germany and Spain to help out his club, Barcelona, in the Spanish Cup, has not had a first-hand view of the Brazilian team in action.

He has, however, a complete dossier on the Brazilians, compiled by Cor Van Der Hart, one of the backroom brains of the Dutch camp. He also has had full videotapes prepared on every Brazilian match in this series which he plans to study before naming a team Wednesday.

Michels says his players are finding World Cup football more tiring mentally than physically.

"It's the tension and stress that build up as one gets closer to the final," he said. "For instance, we have a fine hotel here at Hiltrop. We have our own cook, excellent food. But all my players look leaner than usual. That's what stress does."

Poland's injury worries center on captain Kijmirez Deyna and striker Andrzej Szarmach, the tournament's No. 2 scorer with five goals in five matches. Deyna has a pulled calf muscle and Szarmach has a badly bruised right thigh.

Dr. Janusz Garlicki, team physician, said he hoped both men would be fit for the match against West Germany in Frankfurt.

Brazil's only injury worry is a possible bruised rib suffered by Francisco Marinho, the blond midfielder who has been the discovery of the series. He was expected to be fit to play. Other matches bring Argentina against East Germany and Sweden against Yugoslavia. Although none can reach the final four, Argentina decided to play despite the death of President Juan Peron.

Media To Take To Court Issue Of Opening Elmer Henley Trial

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Lawyers for the news media say they will go to the Texas Supreme Court if a judge refuses to open to the public the trial of Elmer Wayne Henley, accused in the Houston mass murders.

District Court Judge Preston Dial, scolding newsmen "a bunch of locusts," ordered closed-door jury selection Monday for the 18-year-old Henley, accused of six of the deaths of 27 teen-aged youths whose bodies were discovered last summer.

Attorneys for the San Antonio Express-News and the San Antonio Light, local station KENS-TV and The Associated Press and United Press International sent attorneys to protest the action. They are due back today to file a motion seeking the end of the secret trial.

If Dial refuses, as he did Monday, the attorneys said they will seek a writ of mandamus from the Texas Supreme Court ordering the trial opened. They also will ask Dial to end jury selection pending a high court decision.

A statement released by representatives of the five said: "The U.S. Supreme Court has repeatedly ruled that what takes place in a courtroom is public property. The framers of our Constitution entrusted Star Chamber proceedings and sought to bar them. We oppose this effort to carry out judicial action behind closed doors and pledge to appeal to the highest courts to insure the public's right to know."

But Dial contended that allowing newsmen to witness the questioning of jurors would contaminate the jury.

He also excluded Henley's mother, Mrs. Mary Henley, 35, from the trial, as well as Henley's brother, Paul, 17.

During the closed session Monday, five women and three men were cleared as prospective jurors. When 32 are selected, lawyers for the defense and prosecution will strike 10 names each, and the 12 persons left will make up the jury.

Before ruling that the public would not be allowed to attend jury selection, Dial told lawyers for both sides they must not talk to anyone about the case. The only information newsmen obtained were statements the judge relayed through court aides.

Court clerk Mildred Voelkel said Will Gray, a defense attorney, objected repeatedly to the public's exclusion but Dial overruled his protests.

Indian girl victim of bubonic plague

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — Laboratory tests confirmed yesterday that a 12-year-old Indian girl who died in Gallup's Public Health Service Hospital was killed by bubonic plague.

Dr. Victor Zalma, director of the state health agency in Santa Fe, said the girl died Friday.

The highly infectious and often lethal disease often is transmitted by fleas on wild rodents, such as prairie dogs, and then transferred onto domestic animals, usually dogs, and then to humans. Building Named For Richardsons

A 10-story residence hall at Memphis State University will be named in honor of Dr. and Mrs. John W. Richardson Jr. both Henry County natives.

The State Board of Regents took action at a meeting Friday in Johnson City to give the name Richardson Towers to the Central Towers building, located between Central and Norriswood at the west edge of the MSU campus.

MSU President Billy M. Jones said the name will recognize the contributions of the Richardsons to Tennessee education.

"Dr. Richardson has ably served Tennessee education as a teacher and principal; as acting director of secondary education for the Tennessee State Department of Education and as assistant executive secretary of the Tennessee Education Association," Dr. Jones said.

President Jones also praised Dr. Richardson's contributions to Memphis State University.

"His service to MSU as dean of the Graduate School and as acting president has been lauded by all who knew him or knew of his works during this period."

While Dr. Richardson was dean of the Graduate School and professor of education, the school grew in scope and enrollment in a "manner unparalleled in the school's history."

"When Dr. Richardson retired in August 1972, the school was attended by 2,500 students from 45 states and 30 foreign countries," Dr. Jones said.

"Dr. Richardson spent 41 years serving education before his retirement, then he had to come back in harness."

Almost immediately after his retirement, he agreed to assume the position of acting president of MSU during the interim period between the resignation of Dr. Cecil C. Humphreys and the selection of Dr. Billy M. Jones as the eighth president of MSU.

"During this academic year, Dr. Richardson ably guided this complex institution in an intelligent, progressive and compassionate manner that strengthened these qualities throughout the University and with its associates," Dr. Jones said.

During his years at MSU, Dr. Richardson gave and continues to give, much of his time to organizations supporting the University, particularly to Greater Memphis State Inc., and to the Memphis State University Foundation. He is personally funding a scholarship to be given annually to a Tennessee student at MSU and has contributed nearly half of the $10,000 required for establishing this perpetual scholarship.

Dr. Richardson, born at Springville, began his career in 1931 as principal of Puryear High School. His wife, the former Myrtle Parks, also is a former Henry County teacher.

Mrs. Richardson taught at the Memphis State University Campus Laboratory School from 1946-50. She was employed by the department of certification of the State Department of Education from 1950-59 and came to MSU in 1959 as director of teacher placement and certification, a position she served until 1969.

"She has shared in the accomplishments of her husband throughout their marriage and she, too, delayed the enjoyment of retirement to serve as the first lady of our campus during the period that her husband was acting president," Dr. Jones said.

Mystery Surrounds Temple Restoration

NEW YORK (AP) — An aura of mystery surrounds the idea of restoring the Jewish Temple in Jerusalem. For many Christians and Jews, it's a longed-for dream, a Messianic sign. It is not yet. But something like it is happening.

Construction is due to begin in the next few days on the first large, central Jewish house of worship in the Holy City since the destruction of the temple 1,904 years ago.

"No one is suggesting that this means the restoration of the temple," says Rabbi Dr. Maurice A. Jaffee, president of the Union of Israel Synagogues which is sponsoring the project. "But there are parallels."

For one thing, the prospective new "Jerusalem Great Synagogue" is planned as a central, representative sanctuary to which Jewish pilgrims from all over the world may come to pray — just as they did to the temple of old.

In another respect, every Jew everywhere is being encouraged to contribute something to building of the new edifice, even if only a half shekel — the basic tribute of each practicing Jew to the ancient temple.

Furthermore, the new house of worship is being built of a special radiant stone like that of the temple of Bible times, and is to be situated next to headquarters of Israel's rabbinic authority, as was the historic temple.

"There are many analogies, but we're wary of drawing comparisons," Dr. Jaffee said.

Liberal Guidelines For Manpower Program Used

FRANKFORT, Ky. — More liberal guidelines for determining eligibility for manpower programs are now in effect, says Dr. Norman Willard, Jr., Commissioner for Manpower Services in the Department for Human Resources.

Increases in the cost of living over the past year have brought about revisions in the amount of income an individual may receive and still be considered as a "low-income" individual. The income levels are set by the U. S. Department of Labor and used by administrators of manpower programs under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA). The new criteria also apply to the summer jobs program now being put into effect through the Kentucky Bureau for Manpower Services.

CETA provides job and training opportunities for economically disadvantaged, jobless or underemployed persons.

For purposes of manpower program eligibility, a person is considered to be low-income or disadvantaged if he or she or the family receives welfare payments or if the family's total annual cash income does not exceed certain levels. For a family of four, the new income limits are $4,550 (up $250) for an urban family and $3,870 (up $215) for a farm family. For a single person the limits are $2,330 (non-farm) and $1,980 (farm). For each additional person in a family, $740 (non-farm) or $630 (farm) additional income is allowed.

The income levels are used in Federally supported programs for which only low-income individuals are eligible. The poverty level guidelines are issued by the Office of Economic Opportunity for use by various agencies needing such a standard for their programs.

The first temple, built in Solomon's time about 1,000 B.C., was destroyed by invading Babylonians in 586 B.C., but rebuilt afterwards. The second temple was burned by Roman troops in crushing a Jewish revolt in 70 A.D., which marked the end of the Jewish state until its modern restoration.

Like the temple, the Great Synagogue will be built of Jerusalem's "golden stone" whose color changes in the course of a day from gray to white to gold as struck by the changing angles of the sun.

It won't be the temple, but has subtle connotations of it. It will be a "symbol of our heritage, of the great message Jerusalem has for the world," Dr. Jaffee said. For prophecy specialists, it will be an intriguing inkling.

New Hampshire one big commercial forest

New Hampshire is the state with the largest proportion of its total land area in commercial forest — a whopping 86.8 per cent in 1970, according to the Northeastern Loggers' Association.

Maine is a close second with 85.3 per cent.

Darlene Compton is 1974 Miss Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 24-year-old Louisville singer will represent Kentucky this September at the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City, N.Y.

Darlene Marie Compton, competing as Miss Louisville, was named 1974 Miss Kentucky at the close of the state's three-day pageant Saturday night.

Miss Compton, the oldest of the 35 competitors, competed last year as Miss Shively and was second runnerup to her predecessor, Lyda Lewis of Mayfield.

Miss Compton used her winnings, a $1,500 scholarship, to continue her study of music. The new Miss Kentucky has a master's degree in music from the University of Louisville.

During preliminary judging, she became the first Miss Kentucky contestant to win both the swimsuit and talent competitions, singing "Mira" from "Carnival" in the talent round. First runnerup was Victoria Jane Harned, Miss Southern Kentucky; second, Marsha Ann Friffith, Miss Greenup County; third, Carol June Wallace, Miss Lexington; and fourth, Patricia Carol Hutcherson, Miss Nelson County.

Miss Morehead State University, Deborah Lane Criswell, was named Miss Congeniality, while Adele Gleaves, Miss Western Kentucky University, won the Jo Ann Clark Talent Award for non-finalists.

SISTER POWER—While Mike Pittman, 13, rests under a tree his eleven-year-old sister Martha mows a neighbor's yard. Mike and Martha are in the business of mowing yards during the summer months. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Pittman of Murray.

Bureau Of Training Completes Penal Course

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The state Bureau of Training at Richmond has completed its first course in the new Kentucky penal code for city and county judges.

The course, the first of its kind offered for judges in Kentucky, was conducted June 17-20 and centered on the new penal code slated to go into effect next Jan. 1.

Twenty three judges representing communities and counties in eastern and northern Kentucky participated in the program. County and city judges will handle the bulk of criminal cases covered under the new code.

The bureau also has been conducting penal code training classes for local police officers. Thus far, more than 800 local officers have completed training in the code.

Robert Clark Stone, along with Fayette County Judge Robert Stephens, and Richmond City Judge Paul Fagan welcomed participants to the four-day session.

Other speakers and discussion leaders taking part in the program included Justice Scott Reed of the Kentucky Court of Appeals; Circuit Judge James Chenault; Joseph Huddleston, city attorney for Bowling Green; Giles Black, associate professor in the College of Law Enforcement at Eastern Kentucky University; and Guy Bayes, director of judicial training for the Bureau of Training.

A bureau spokesman said many of the participants said the training was especially invaluable in singling out changes in the new code and preparing those who will be charged with its enforcement.

The Bureau of Training was formed last September as an arm of the new state Department of Justice for judicial, corrections and law enforcement personnel.

Judges who completed the recent training course were: Estill Blair, Letcher County judge; Ollie Covington, Georgetown city judge; Clarence Davis, Gallatin County judge; Dorsey Curtis, Clark County judge; George Hall, Boyd County judge; Lawrence Henderlight, Corbin city judge; Harry Hoffman, Montgomery County judge; Albert Howe, Campbell County trial commissioner; Paul LaBare, Erlanger city judge; and Charles Linville, Pulaski County-judge pro-tem.

Other participants included: Boyd Martin, Grant County judge; James Martin, Lawrence County judge; Joe Massey, Ashland municipal judge; A. Jack May, Danville police judge; David McDavid, Carter County judge; Allen Muncy, Leslie County judge; James Murphy, Newport city judge; William O'Neal, Covington city judge; Roy Smith, Henry County judge; Pauline Wiese, Somerset city judge; Fenton Wyant, Flatwoods city judge.

Yalta, U. S. S. R. Famous For Health Sanatoriums

YALTA, U.S.S.R. (AP) — While President Nixon and party boss Leonid I. Brezhnev relaxed from the summit talks with a Black Sea boat ride, thousands of Soviet workers along the shore downed oxygen cocktails, had underwater massages and underwent the grape cure for nervous tension and tired blood.

Yalta is famous for its health sanatoriums where climato-therapy — the scientific use of sun, sea and air — is employed to cure a variety of ailments ranging from neuroses and backaches to laryngitis and pernicious anemia.

Some patients come to receive amphoterapy, the medical word for the grape cure. It consists, along with a lot of sun and exercise, of living for a few weeks on an exclusive diet of five pounds of grapes a day. The grapes can be eaten fresh or cooked or downed as grape juice, but wine is out.

The resulting acidity is supposed to be beneficial to the heart, lungs, liver, blood vessels and kidneys.

The Ukraine Sanatorium, just down the road from the summit site at Oreanda, specializes in the oxygen cocktail. The sanatorium's director, Dr. Valentine Peetruk, said the cocktail is concocted from "drugs and oxygen and is useful in the treatment of cardiovascular ailments."

Like most of the other 116 sanatoriums and health resorts in the Crimea, the Ukraine Sanatorium is operated by the Soviet Council of Trade Unions, but research is directed by the Ministry of Health. Some 60,000 workers recuperating from operations or in need of a rest from the tensions of meeting quotas down at the cement works are sent down each year for a rehabilitation program of at least 24 days. All come with a doctor's prescription.

Some get the treatment free, depending on the seriousness of their ailment. Others pay 30 per cent; the state pays the rest.

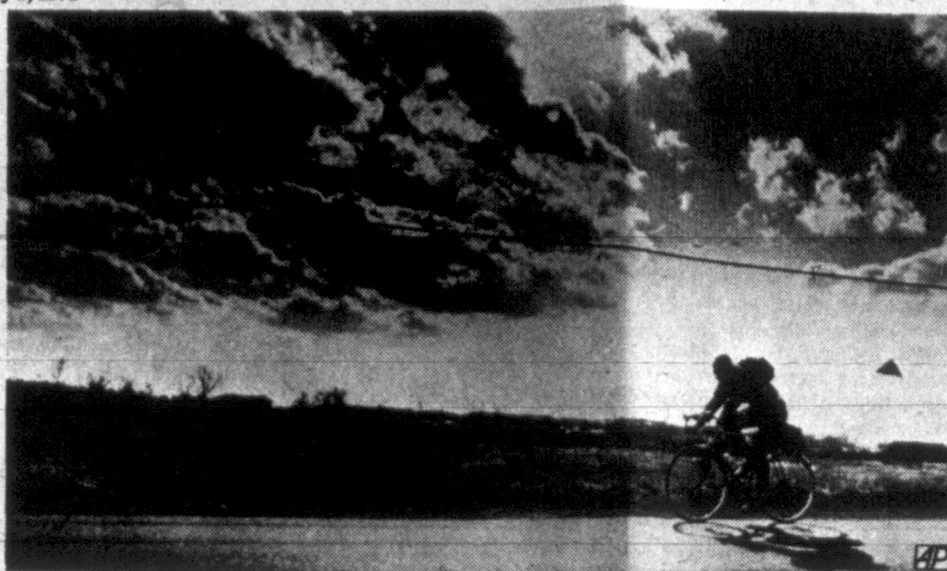

Dr. Peetruk, whose establishment consists of 11 doctors, 40 nurses and 300 patients, said the regime in most cases is a combination of drugs, sleeping by the seashore in wide-windowed bungalows, and various physiotherapy programs of sea bathing, pressure showers and underwater massages.

Air and sun treatment are important, he said. "So is bathing in the Black Sea. The water here is full of antibiotics, much healthier than the Mediterranean."

Marketbasket Survey Shows A Slight Decline During Month

Budget-conscious shoppers got a break in June as the family grocery bill declined slightly, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

Most of the drop came because of sales on beef late in the month, urged by the government and the National Association of Food Chains as a way of narrowing the gap between the price the consumer is charged and the amount the farmer gets paid.

The AP checked the prices of 15 food and nonfood items in 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked at the beginning of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed the marketbasket bill was down in nine cities during June, declining an average 2.2 per cent, and was up in four cities, rising an average 4 per cent. During May, the AP found the marketbasket increased in eight cities and declined in five. The government's Consumer Price Index showed food prices were up nine-tenths of one per cent in May.

A look at the total number of items in the AP marketbasket showed fewer increases and more declines during June than during May. Here are the percentages of increases and declines:

May June
Up 30.3 26.2
Down 21.5 26.7
Unchanged 42.6 41.5
Not available 5.6 5.6

The AP survey found that since Jan. 1 the marketbasket bill has risen in eight cities, declined in four and stayed the same in one. The total bill in every city was higher at the end of June than it was on March 1, 1973, up an average 15 per cent.

The biggest savings during June came from beef sales. Chopped chuck was down in 10 cities to an average price per pound of $1.12—about 13 per cent below the $1.29 level at the end of May. All-beef frankfurters were down in nine cities.

The average price of a pound of chopped chuck was virtually the same as it was last March.

The government reported last week that prices paid for meat animals—beef and pork—dropped 12 per cent from May 15 to June 15 and were 29 per cent below a year ago.

The AP survey showed that sugar prices jumped again during June, up in 12 of 13 cities checked. The average price of a five-pound sack of granulated sugar at the end of June was $1.57, up 14 per cent from the $1.38 average price at the end of May and up 115 per cent, or more than double, from the 73-cent average price on March 1, 1973.

The cities in the AP survey were: Albuquerque, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

The items: Chopped chuck, pork chops, frozen orange juice, coffee, paper towels, eggs, butter, peanut butter, detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, chocolate chip cookies, milk, all-beef franks and sugar.

The same supermarket was used in each city for each check. Standard brands and sizes or their nearest equivalents were checked.

Extension For Export-Import Bank Faces House Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 30-day extension for the legally expired Export-Import Bank faces heavy opposition in the House from congressmen who want to curb its credit loans for Soviet trade.

The bank's legal authority expired at midnight. The 30-day extension was to be considered today under a special procedure that required a two-thirds vote for approval.

The extension bill is on a busy three-day agenda for the House before it begins a long July Fourth weekend recess. The Senate is taking the whole week off.

The agenda includes a $200 million authorization for Amtrak passenger railroad service and an effort to get the House to reverse its rejection of a $1.5 billion contribution for loans to poor countries, approved by the Senate.

A large block of House members have announced they will try to impose restrictions in the Export-Import Bank's regular renewal bill against subsidized credit loans for Soviet trade.

The bank makes 6 to 7 per cent loans for U.S. exports for foreign trade, including Soviet trade in the past two years, and subsidizes the difference between the 6 or 7 per cent and whatever the going market rate is.

Opponents daily blocked efforts last week to win unanimous consent approval of the 30-day extension while the bank's regular renewal bill is being drafted.

The opponents contended the bank might approve new Soviet loans during the 30 days.

End of legal authority for the bank was expected to result in some 300 U.S. banks being instructed by the Export-Import Bank not to make any new commitments on the bank's loans for foreign trade.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said Congress is on its way toward compiling an excellent record despite the pressures of "Watergate and related matters."

In a compilation placed in the Congressional Record and a weekend interview, Mansfield said the Senate is nearing completion of action on most of its 1974 priority bills.

The House is ahead of its schedule on appropriations bills and hopes to act this month on one of the year's most controversial subjects, Senate-passed campaign reform legislation.

The $200 million authorization for Amtrak to be considered by the House is its regular funding bill for the fiscal year starting today. The bill also would raise the ceiling for federally guaranteed loans to Amtrak to $900 million.

Stock Brokers Given One More Headache

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Trouble is something you seldom get just a little of. When it arrives in your life you may expect more to follow until troubles are holding a convention in your life. Ask a stock broker.

The comptroller of the currency, James E. Smith, has just ruled that banks can continue to offer securities to their customers, in direct competition with brokers, who already feel they are at the bottom of a heap.

It would take too long to list these difficulties, but they include a loss of customer confidence and business, high interest rates that draw money from the market, and a general inability to remain consistently profitable.

The latest action, therefore, seems like just another problem piled upon the others, but it may be far more than it. It pits two entire industries against each other, and there is no question which is stronger. Banking is.

Banks have the assets, the flexibility, the marketing power, the personnel, the accounting techniques, the outlets. Far more important, they already have the customers. Almost everyone uses a bank.

How simple it is therefore, for a bank that already provides a dozen customer services to simply offer another one, as some already have. How simple to transfer $50 from the checking account to the stock account.

The brokers, on the other hand, don't have nearly the marketbasket of products or the financial power of the banks, although this perhaps is not a critical criterion. Banks are restricted geographically, brokers are not.

Nevertheless, a comparison of Merrill Lynch, the biggest broker, with Bank of America, the biggest bank, is revealing. The former reported assets of $3.7 billion on March 30, 1973. At the close of 1973, Bank of America had $49.4 billion in resources.

If the comptroller's ruling stands, the operations of mutual funds are likely to be hurt the most. Already their assets are down to less than $45 billion after reaching close to $60 billion.

They contend that the stock activity of commercial banks violates the Glass-Steagall Act of 1933.

That act was designed to limit stock sales by banks to individuals, but Smith — as did his predecessor — maintains that no existing legislation bars the activities in dispute.

Safe Boating Week

The period from June 30 to July 6 is National Safe Boating Week.

Early activity counts indicate that 1974 will be the busiest recreational boating season in Kentucky history. It is estimated that Kentucky, with more miles of navigable streams than any state except Alaska, will attract more than 1.5 million boaters to its lakes, rivers and streams during the 1974 boating season.

So you can see that Safe Boating Week, and the practice of safe boating at all times, are of particular significance to Kentuckians.

The people of Kentucky can help to insure their own safety—and set a safe boating example for the visitors to our state—by remembering that overloading, improper loading, speeding, drinking and careless driving are the chief causes of boating accidents each year. These lead to tragic loss of lives and needless destruction of property of Kentucky's waterways.

In 1973, a record 157 people died while participating in water-related activities in Kentucky. This figure includes 54 boating fatalities and 103 non-boating fatalities, predominantly accidental drownings.

During the first five months of 1974, a total of 50 water-related fatalities have taken place. Sixteen of the 1974 fatalities have been boating accidents, and 34 have been non-boating accidental drownings.

You can help to prevent accidents and save lives by informing and reminding (yourselves) of the need to be safety conscious during boating and other water-related activities during the coming holiday weekend and throughout the water recreation season.

We hope you will add your voice to the water safety effort.

Wheat Farmers' Holdout

There are clear indications that many wheat farmers are putting their grain in storage and refusing to sell immediately after this year's harvest. They hope the world food shortage will soon force the price of wheat higher. It is now about $4 a bushel.

The massive holdout is natural, inevitable, and not to be wondered at or deplored.

Last year many farmers in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, where the harvest is early, sold their wheat right after the harvest at $2 a bushel and saw the price rise later in the year to $6 a bushel.

The elevators are empty now because the government no longer has any wheat in storage, having sold out its huge reserves completely.

Of course the farmers are trying to maximize their profits. They are taking a certain risk in the hope of a big gain. But it is not right for the federal government to subsidize the gamble by continuing to make available low interest loans to farmers who store their wheat. Without the $1.37-a-bushel loan, some would have to sell to pay their bills.

There is no public interest in promoting grain speculation at government expense.

State Government Report

By Sen. Carroll Hubbard

Care Urged On Fourth

MAYFIELD, Ky.—Doug Shoulders of Russellville, safety coordinator for the state Department of Transportation, urges Kentucky drivers: "Don't let the rush of the Fourth of July holiday make you a careless driver."

Shoulders said 131 traffic accidents occurred in Kentucky during the same holiday period last year, producing 73 injuries and five fatalities. The state police will be active during the holiday weekend pursuing speeding motorists on Kentucky highways.

The state's courtesy patrol—manned by the state police, Bureau of Highways and Bureau of Vehicle Regulation personnel—will be on Kentucky's interstates and parkways, assisting stranded motorists (free of charge) in whatever way possible in order to try to get their vehicles back on the road in safe operating condition. The courtesy patrol will be on the job from 3 p.m. July 3 through 9 p.m. July 4. During last year's July 4 holiday period the courtesy patrol assisted 121 motorists by bringing them gas, water, and substitute tires, helping them get flat tires changed and assisting with other minor problems.

It will be interesting to see if the new 55 miles per hour speed limit in Kentucky will result in fewer injuries and deaths during this July 4 holiday period.

Women holding statewide offices is a rarity in some states but in Kentucky it's not unusual. Secretary of State Thelma Stovall, State Auditor Mary Louise Foust and Court of Appeals clerk Frances Jones Mills are three female Kentuckians who have succeeded in state politics. Each of them may seek a different statewide office next year. The Kentucky Constitution prohibits their succeeding themselves in the same office.

Mrs. Martha Layne Collins, a 35 year-old Versailles housewife and mother who is secretary of the Kentucky Democratic Party and also the party's National Committeewoman, is being mentioned in numerous political circles as a possible candidate for statewide office next year. Because she is young, attractive, personable, a hard-working party worker and a good speaker, Mrs. Collins would be an effective candidate if she throws her "hat in the ring" next year. Her husband, Dr. Bill Collins, is a dentist at Versailles.

Secretary of Transportation Billy Paxton has announced that new suits will be filed in eastern Kentucky circuit courts in an effort to halt illegal operation of overweight coal trucks.

Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock said last week the solicitation of votes from state employees by Parks Commissioner Ewart Johnson does not appear to him to be a violation of the state merit system. Johnson has acknowledged that he asked employees at three state parks during May to vote his choices in the May 28 Democratic primary election.

Hancock said "nobody has asked me for a formal opinion on the matter," but he has so advised Personnel Commissioner Cattle Lou Miller by telephone. "The statutes do not appear to prohibit solicitation of votes, as it does money and services," Hancock added. When asked if this means any department head in state government can openly seek votes for the administration favorites among state employees, Hancock said, "I suppose they could openly solicit all day long if it is confined to votes."

Johnson indicated last week he is not surprised at Hancock's interpretation. "I'm going to do the same thing again," Johnson said.

The decision to save Outwood State Hospital and School at Dawson Springs was a wise one. Outwood is fully adapted to the care of its patients and is recognized as outstanding in its functions. The community of Dawson Springs is in part dependent upon the near 300 employees of the institution and many parents of the present residents at Outwood live in western Kentucky within easy driving distance to the children there.

Insurance Commissioner Harold McGuffey's idea of going to the people to hear their problems relating to insurance is a good one. The public response he got at the first such meeting in Paducah last week should encourage him to make other such trips from Frankfort and proves the need for this type public service. The people want a chance to talk with their elected officials and those who are serving in appointive positions.

State registration totals in the secretary of state's office indicate there are 28,000 more women than men registered to vote in Kentucky. And Democrats have out-registered Republicans by more than 4-1 since the November 1973 elections. There were 1,443,546 Kentuckians registered to vote in the May 28 primary election.

Atty. Gen. Hancock has sued the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency in an effort to force extension of water quality standards to "all waters" in Kentucky. The suit has been filed in U.S. District Court in Lexington and cites EPA Administrator Russell E. Train and Jack E. Ravan, Regional EPA administrator, as defendants.

The number of miners and coal mines in Kentucky is dropping despite the record 127,507,320 tons of coal mined in the state last year. Statistics compiled by the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals show trends toward fewer miners, fewer mines, greater safety and increased coal production. And H. N. Kirkpatrick, commissioner of the department, points out the new record low of 28 fatalities in 1973.

The employment decline could spell trouble. Kirkpatrick's anxiety stems from the large decrease in underground miners. During 1973 the state gained almost 300 new surface miners but lost 700 underground miners.

An AP News Analysis

'Peace' Interpreted Differently By Soviets

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The world's Communist leaders evidently interpret the word "peace" suggests to many in the West a need for a "handle with care" label on the Soviet-American detente.

Supporting the advertised aims of summits is much like being in favor of motherhood. Nobody's going to be publicly against peace and international collaboration.

But the investment of too-high hopes in the long-range results of the series of summits could mean building up the Western public for a jolting let-down at some future date. As the Middle East war proved last October, it's not difficult to set the process of confrontation in motion.

There are valid-looking reasons for the caution.

One is the Soviet approach to the summit. It is clear from the thrust of Communist propaganda that Western and Communist regimes speak entirely different languages, have different definitions of terms, different outlooks on just what constitutes peace.

From what the Soviet leaders and press have been saying, Moscow's aim is not what Americans might regard as real peace, but rather to gain certain advantages from commerce with the West while at the same time exploiting the difficulties of the capitalist world, particularly in its citadel, the United States.

True, the summitry that began in 1972 produced an upsurge of Soviet-American trade and agreements on scientific and economic collaboration, which might be considered good omens.

But the meat of the summit business is the arms race, and analysis suggests that not enough has happened in that respect to warrant vaulting hopes. Agreements in the field evidently have been sufficiently porous to permit continuing and significant buildups.

If President Nixon and Leonid Brezhnev cannot reach meaningful agreement on strategic arms limitation, the arsenals likely will be far bigger and potentially more devastating, no matter what economic, technical and cultural pacts are achieved.

Soviet press treatment of the arms question leaves an impression that Brezhnev's military men are unwilling to settle for anything short of clear over-all superiority. They have superiority in some respects already, and certainly in conventional military power which could be decisive in Europe, given the mutual deterrence of nuclear weapons.

The military press, particularly, is full of warnings about alleged plots of "aggressive circles" in NATO to launch a "new imperialist war." This specter is made an excuse for seeking ever larger arms expenditures.

The Russians already have caught up in multiple-warhead missiles, in numbers though not in quality. Against the rumbling background obligatorily from the military, Brezhnev's bargaining has a sound of hold-the-line, until advantage is assured.

Another reason for caution: the persistence of the Cold War.

Moscow repeatedly accuses the West of Cold War language and postures. But Soviet propaganda often sounds as implacably hostile to the West and as Cold-Warish as ever.

The Kremlin did its part in fomenting the latest Middle East crisis. In the subsequent energy crunch it did its level best to propagandize oil producers into making things tough for the Americans. But there are other grave causes for misgivings.

A constant Soviet theme, muted only in the actual period of the summit meeting, tells the world's Communists that the aim of detente is to hasten the world revolution. The propaganda says the time is propitious because "as a system, capitalism is undergoing profound crisis."

What does "peace" mean in the official Communist view of "peaceful coexistence?" It means major war must be avoided. But the doctrine of small "just and unjust" wars is maintained, a "just" war being one involving Communist-backed forces. To these the Kremlin constantly pledges all-out support.

What are Moscow's long-range detente goals? Here's how Mikhail Suslov, veteran member of the ruling Politburo, put it in a speech three weeks ago:

"International political actions in recent years mean not only intentions to build interstate relations on a basis of renouncing the use of force and noninterference in each other's affairs. No. They mean more than this. These acts, treaties and agreements at the same time strengthen the positions won by the world of socialism and other revolutionary forces. They create the opportunity for a further peace offensive and open up more favorable prospects for the further advance of revolutionary forces in the struggle for the interests of the working class, democracy, national independence and socialism."

All those terms in Soviet jargon are synonymous with "Communist party."

Such statements are made for the benefit of internal and international Communist audiences and not intended for the general public in the West, which is repeatedly assured of the Kremlin's honorable intentions.

There is yet another aspect that raises Western eyebrows.

When President Nixon at the summit spoke of agreements made possible by "personal relationships" that had been established, the Soviet press deleted the word "personal." Again, in a Nixon reference to a prospective 1975 summit, the date was knocked out. Such things don't happen in Moscow by chance.

Some see in this curious treatment a suggestion that Brezhnev doesn't want to make agreements and the future of the detente process dependent upon President Nixon's tenure in office.

However, it also could mean that Brezhnev himself has run into some background criticism from those in the top party and military strata who might dispute the wisdom of ignoring the Watergate scandal in the United States. There probably are those in the Soviet leadership who see advantages in exploiting internal American troubles as leverage for bargaining.

Steel Reparations

Ex Post Facto Law

There are not many reasons for jubilation in the Nixon official family these days, and it is hard to see how any member of it can find happiness in a job discrimination settlement imposed upon several major steel companies.

Richard F. Schubert, under secretary of Labor, seems to have found considerable satisfaction in the $31 million back pay award to about 40,000 workers, mostly blacks, and about 4,000 women, who will share in this government-ordered bonanza. Some nine steel companies which produce 73 per cent of the nation's steel have agreed, in accordance with a consent decree in a federal court, to make restitution to those allegedly victimized by discriminatory labor relations policies. The United Steel Workers union has volunteered to contribute a part of the amount.

A spokesman for the nine steel companies said the settlement provisions "represent as equitable settlement and eliminate the need for protracted litigation."

Somehow, this comment seems to have all the sincerity and convention of a confession wrung from an accused Russian facing spy charges before a Kremlin tribunal. To the phrase "eliminate the need for protracted litigation: one might add the words, "which in the anti-business climate of our courts would provide scant chance of victory for the companies."

Just as the AT&T $38 million settlement of similar charges several months ago amounted to a staggering penalty, the steel reparations point up how few equities an employer has these days. It isn't likely that discrimination was a wilful and premeditated policy formulated by the companies. On the contrary, good management dictates that worker productivity be the key to profits—not low wages and harsh treatment.

The employers used their own judgment as to the relative capabilities of different workers (subject to union contract restrictions). People, like water, generally find their own levels of ability and productivity. By what honest criteria can government lawyers establish a clear-cut case of injustice so far as pay or promotion are concerned?

It would appear that discrimination is whatever the government capriciously decides it is. And having decided, it drags a company into costly litigation—litigation it can't win. How can somebody prove that one person, 1,000 persons, or 44,000 persons could all have been performing on parity with a given number of other workers who have long since demonstrated their abilities?

In the absence of any meaningful proof, an employer is compelled to make a retroactive settlement for services not performed, for skills, if present at all, not utilized. Maybe the penalty requires the pay to be retroactive, but the law seems to be applied ex post facto. This is a government clout in a vicious form.

There are some other equities denied here; those of the consumer, the stockholder, and of more deserving workers who will now be bypassed in favor of the less skilled for fear of resultant litigation. Badgered and attacked by one government agency after another, business is ultimately compelled to follow the path of least resistance.

The inefficiencies of marginal workers, the inferior products they turn out, the pyramiding costs caused by government intervention all have a direct impact upon America's once vaunted industrial superiority. People aren't going to become efficient by court decree. Business won't produce more as a result of government meddling. Inflation? This is one of its starting points.

CRIME

Preston, Lancashire, England — Soccer fan Barry Levitt learned in court here the importance of being correctly dressed for the occasion. After throwing a bottle, which narrowly missed a policeman, Barry, 21, ducked back into the crowd. But policeman Jack Baldwin told the court he had no trouble recognizing Levitt because he was "very distinctively dressed." Levitt had a pair of red pants on his head and was wearing a long embroidered white coat. Levitt was fined 75 pounds — $187. (Lancashire Evening Post)

UNDERSTANDING MENTAL HEALTH

a health column from the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

Building a Life

We have those dreams of what our lives ought to be, but for most of us the dreams are never fully realized.

In fact, it is one of the marks of maturity that we accept conflicting realities and settle for some marked-down version of our goals without becoming emotionally disordered or mentally ill.

But it's tough if you have to spend most of your time and energy struggling with problems of living. Personal problems, family problems, occupational problems. Problems with school, children, marriage, problems with drugs or alcohol.

Just trying to survive. It seems to leave so little time for doing those positive things you'd really like to do with your life.

So little time—and so little opportunity, it seems—for building a life.

The mental health field is not concerned solely with people suffering from psychotic illness or other severe mental disturbances. Mental health workers spend much of their time helping perfectly normal people with family or personal problems that threaten to overwhelm them.

Or problems which, at least, prevent people from developing their full potential.

An important source of help in many areas across the Nation is the community mental health center. One of the requirements to qualify these centers for Federal funding support has been that they provide mental health consultation and education to community agencies and individual leaders. This service plays an important role in preventive mental health.

Preventive mental health includes helping normal, average people—people with problems. And the mental health centers and similar agencies reach them indirectly through educational activities with schools, clergy, and physicians and with police, welfare, and other community agencies.

Hopefully, preventive mental health on such a scale means heading off more severe individual and community problems before they happen.

Mental health agencies try to go beyond the problems of survival—beyond emergency services and containment of crises. They try to dispense the knowledge and treatment that enable people to devote more time and energy to the realization of those dream goals.

Mental health means, in an apt phrase we heard recently, "building a life you can live with."
