THE LISTENING POST

At times one can find a lot of common sense in common sense folks, and I thought of this the other day in regard to the gathering of scrap rubber. As is well known rubber is a scarce article, and all scrap rubber is wanted urgently by the national government. In the campaign to gather up this scrap the results have been a bit disappointing, according to statements made by high officials of the government in Washington.

Not many days ago I read a letter in the Point of View column of a metropolitan newspaper, and was interested in a letter from a sergeant who is stationed at Camp Knox. This sergeant did not waste any words in setting up any theories. He said that he was authorized by his commanding officer to take a couple of Army trucks into the rural section of certain Kentucky counties and bring in scrap rubber. I do not remember the figures he gave, but they were amazing and proved without doubt that he and his companion really got results. The sergeant then moralized a little.

"There is hardly a farm in any county of Kentucky, or any other state for that matter, which does not have at least four or five old tires lying about the premises. Every farmer has discarded many tires in the past twenty years and most of these old tires are still lying around in sheds and barns. The farmer will give or sell this old rubber gladly; in most cases these were given us, and the farmer seemed glad to have them taken off his hands. But not many will bring in these old casings. There are two reasons why they will not. One is that many farmers no longer have any form of transportation, having been deprived of tires, and in such cases they do not like the idea of loading a wagon and hauling in these old tires. They prefer to take a pay load whenever they go to town. The other reason is that farmers are terribly short of help these days and have little time to spend in digging up scrap rubber and then hauling it into town. But they will gladly give it to Army men if they will come after it. If plans could be set up by which Army trucks would make a nation-wide campaign I believe that millions of pounds of scrap rubber could be secured from the many farms of the Nation."

It appears to me that the Camp Knox sergeant has more than a little in his plan. It is simple, and it would certainly result in uncovering many tons of old rubber which may never be recovered otherwise. The Army has plenty of trucks, and plenty of men to drive these trucks on. Being a simple man I like simple plans, and it seems to me that plan is so simple that smart people may never adopt it. I wish I could remember how much rubber the Camp Knox trucks got, but I cannot; all I remember is that it seemed a tremendous lot. I would like to see the Army really go to town on this plan, for I believe that untold tons of rubber could be recovered in this manner.

Speaking of rubber and the problem it has posed, it seems that high officials are at last getting down to earth on the problems. Donald Nelson gave out an interview the other day, which, while not exactly encouraging, was at least sensible, and over the long range hopeful. He said that synthetic production is due to take a big upward step next year, and by 1944 should be ample to provide all

Report Commission Hears Accused Saboteurs Make Open Confession As Trial Of Eight Is Continued

Hearing Is Expected To Continue Several More Days

Chattanooga. —All the passengers wanted the Nashville bound bus to get underway from the Chattanooga terminal because of the heat. But the soldier on the back seat was the most impatient. "Squirmying in discomfort, he finally yelled: "For the love's sake, let's go! I've got on my Winter underwear."

He was on leave from Alaska.

HEALTH GROUPS WORK ON CREAM PROBLEMS HERE

Five different health groups, in efforts to improve the quality of cream brought to the Fulton market, have completed a training and grading session here, and the results are announced today by Harry Barry of the Fulton County Health Department. The department of agriculture of the Junior College at Martin, the Extension Department of the University of Kentucky, the Federal Food and Drug Administration, the Fulton County Health Department and the State Board of Health all took part in the grading school and worked personally with cream producers. Mr. Barry stated that for the most part the producers took a keen interest in the work, although there were one or two instances where temper was exhibited. However, he feels sure that all will benefit and states that the buyers here are quite anxious to have improvement in the quality of cream on the local market.

Approximately 15 per cent of the cream offered for sale on Saturday, July 11, was declared unfit for human food because of undesirable flavor and odor or because of excessive mold. One Graves County producer was fined in a local court for having removed a can of quarantined cream which had been declared unfit by state and federal inspectors.

Two dairies were de-graded to Class C. Mr. Barry states that the work will continue steadily and anticipates a much better quality of cream as a result of this work.

Washington. —The military commission trying eight accused Nazi saboteurs implied today that it was hearing the confessions reported by the FBI to have been made by the prisoners. The noon communique issued by the panel of seven generals, said: "This morning's session was devoted to the reading of certain statements introduced by the prosecution and to the cross-examination by the defense of witnesses who had identified the statements."

The prosecutor is expected to continue the presentation of the government's case for the next few days.

The wording of the reference to the evidence being heard was interpreted by persons familiar with FBI procedure as indicating strongly that the statements referred to were those from the prisoners. Authoritative sources disclosed in advance of the trial that statements had been made to the FBI by all of the prisoners and most if not all of 14 alleged confederates. The procedure for presentation of such statements to the court would be to have the statement read by the court and then have it carefully identified by the agent in charge at the time it was taken.

Equipment alleged to have been brought to this country by the prisoners was on display in the court room.

Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy president of the Military Commission said in his evening statement yesterday that the proceeding was "expected to continue for several days."

The Nazi equipment, he said, included explosives, clothing, shovels and documents. Previously it had been learned that the Germans brought enough explosives, incendiaries and fuses for a two-year campaign of terror on the industrial front. In addition they had plans to guide them to the most vulnerable places, lists of contracts to aid them, and $176,000 in cash.

McCoy explained in part the unusual secrecy of the trial with the announcement that the evidence included "much information of a military nature, the disclosure of which at this time would not be in the interests of the United States."

Airmen Who Bombed Tokyo Say They Turned Down Cash Offers

Houston. —Bomber crews who spread destruction and panic in Japan in April turned their backs on all folding money bids for their places.

Lieut. Rodney R. Wilder, pilot of one plane in the raid, said in an interview here Monday that volunteer substitutes had offered $100 and $150 for places in the planes.

"Every member of the original crew as well as the substitutes were volunteers and all were wild to go," he said.

Each member had the right to withdraw any time up to the actual take-off, he explained.

"But it was the grandest show I ever saw, much less participated in, and I wouldn't have missed it for $1,500 as badly as I could use a few extra bucks," he said.

"On the morning we began making preparations for the take-off and it was found that not one of the original crews had reported sick or given any other sort of an excuse for not making the trip. The substitutes were a plenty sick lot," he smiled. "They began bidding for places as members of the ships that were to do the bombing. Some offered $100 and others ran the price up to $150 in an attempt to get a spot on the planes," he said.

"It was never a temptation to the original crew members, though. They hated to leave the others behind but they had no idea of giving up a ringside seat or the pitcher's box in one of the greatest games they had ever heard of," he said.

Piloting his plane over Tokyo proper, he related seeing on one of the main streets of Tokyo "an old boy standing out in the middle of the street, making movies of us."

"We started to give him the works, but decided his pictures of American fliers giving Tokyo hell would be worth more to the Americans as damage to the morale of Japan than a dead cameraman."

Compromise Is Drafted On Farm Fund Bill Which Is Accepted

Washington. —Senate and House conferees Tuesday worked out a compromise designed to break a two months' old deadlock on the Agriculture Department's $680,000,000 appropriation bill, but thinned House ranks postponed a final vote on the agreement.

The proposal was tentatively approved on a standing vote of 81 to 34, but Representative Hope (R.-Kan.), objected on the ground no quorum was present, and the House was adjourned. It previously had been agreed because of numerous absentees, no roll call vote on the controversial measure would be taken until Wednesday.

The proposal represented a splitting of the differences between the Senate and the House on appropriate tion items and concessions on the matter of permitting the sale of Government controlled grain surpluses at prices below parity for livestock feeding.

Chairman Cannon (D. Mo.), of the Appropriations Committee said the compromise was "ideal" in that it "suits nobody and is agreeable to everybody."

The House quickly agreed to the compromise appropriation items, and indications were the Senate would do likewise.

Under the compromise, the Commodity Credit Corporation would be allowed to sell an unlimited amount of deteriorated grain at any price and 125,000,000 bushels of good grain at not less than the parity price of corn.

BARDWELL MAN IS AWARDED I. C. MEDAL BY J. S. MILLS

Frank Goode Receives Medal For Meritorious Service On May 31; Banquet In His Honor

Frank Goode, Bardwell resident, was awarded the Illinois Central Medal for meritorious service by Supervisor J. S. Mills at a banquet given in his honor at the Rock House Tea Room at Bardwell Tuesday night, July 14. The occasion for awarding the medal was due to a service performed by Mr. Goode on May 31, when he reported a broken rail near Bardwell, thus preventing serious accident.

On May 31, Mr. Goode was sitting on his front porch, when he heard a rail break under a passing train. His home is located about 1 1/2 miles south of Bardwell, and about a quarter of a mile from the railroad. He immediately went to the tracks and found the broken rail. He called the section foreman about the track and then went back to flag trains to prevent possibility of an accident, and remained until the foreman arrived.

In making the presentation, J. S. Mills made an appropriate talk expressing his appreciation on the part of the company in this meritorious action of Mr. Goode.

Several years ago the Illinois Central adopted a plan of awarding IC medals for meritorious services performed by anyone in reporting hazards to prevent accidents.

Agent H. D. Scott, Bardwell, acted as Toastmaster and called on each of the invited guests for remarks in connection with this occasion. Each responded with appropriate talks, expressing appreciation for their invitation to the banquet and also complimented Mr. Goode on the service rendered the railroad, as well as the government, in preventing the possibility of an accident that could have tied up traffic causing delay to Government shipments, as well as passenger and troop trains.

Mr. Goode responded with a talk in which he stated that his action was due to interest he had in the railroad company and the Government. All the guests present expressed their feeling of interest in the Illinois Central Railroad Company, and complimented Mr. Mills on the delightful banquet given in honor of one of their home town citizens.

Brief talks were made by the following representatives of the railroad company: F. E. Mayne, Assistant Supervisor; J. M. Carroll, Signal Maintainer; W. H. Farrow, Section Foreman, on whose section the broken rail was discovered by Mr. Goode.

H. K. Buck, trainmaster here, made a talk expressing appreciation of the railroad company for the services rendered by Mr. Goode. He spoke on the subject of "Character," explaining that this service performed by Mr. Goode was a key to his character. He gave as his definition of character, "Quality that distinguishes an individual." He opened his remarks with the following quotation, "Render unto Caesar, that which is Caesar's and

J. T. NANNEY IS COMMISSIONED SECOND LIEUTENANT

Completes Communications Course At Scott Field, Ill.

James T. Nanney, 23, son of Mrs. Shelton Hart, 518 Eddings St. Fulton, Ky., fulfilled an ambition July 11, when he was commissioned 2nd, Lieutenant upon completing a communications course at the radio university of the Army Air forces at Scott Field, Ill. Nanney was graduated from the radio communications school here in a class exercise held in the post chapel at 9:30 a. m. and one hour later received his commission of second lieutenant in the Army Air forces.

Lt. Nanney came to Scott Field to take the enlisted men's radio technicians course in August, 1941, and before completing the course was appointed a cadet in the officers' training school. Like hundreds of American boys from every part of the country who come to Scott Field each week, and later graduate as radio technicians, he leaves the post as a highly trained radio expert. At Scott Field men learn to be the voice and ears of the Air force. Many graduates from the enlisted men's school go to gunnery schools and then take their place with crews of giant bombers as radio operators and utility machine gunners. In officers' and enlisted men's schools, men study the theories and principles of electricity and radio, repair of radio transmitters and receivers, the rudiments of flight navigation, and how to steer a plane by sound following radio beams. As radio operators they must know international code and how to read and send weather reports, and most important of all they are well trained for active duty at the front.

Active in sports, Lt. Nanney participated in basketball and football at Fulton high school where he was graduated in 1938. He was captain of the high school football team. At Murray State College he played football and was captain of the boxing team.

KITTY LEAGUE STILL ALIVE

In a wild scoring game the Fulton Fleas defeated the Union City Greyhounds by a score of 21-19. Hits and errors were numerous on both sides.

The lineup for the local Fleas was Cummings, ss., Davis 1b, Ayres 2b, Lynch lf, Jamerson 3b, Grace cf, B. Bone rf, Lowe, p. and L. C. Bone, c.

It is hoped that interest will pick up so that Fulton can have 4 or 5 teams in a regular league. The Fleas would also like to play teams out of town.

Paducah, Ky. —The rationing of sugar has forced West Kentucky moonshiners to turn to sorghum molasses and syrup, as they did in World War I days, Federal agents said Tuesday as they reported the capture of a 300-gallon still and the arrest of two men in a raid in nearby Graves County.

J. S. Palmore, a special investigator of the Louisville office of the Internal Revenue Department, said the agents found 29 barrels of mash in which molasses and syrup had been used instead of sugar and discovered 24 gallons of syrup in a nearby automobile and 100 gallons of sorghum in the barn in which still was discovered. The men arrested are Ernest M. Seeger, 39, of Boaz, and Paul Patterson, 28, negro of Paducah. They were charged with possession of untaxed whisky.

Much Evidence In Spy Trial Is Of Secret Military Nature

Washington. —Much evidence of the evidence against 14 alleged confederates to determine the military nature which must remain secret for the present is being used against the eight Nazis standing trial for their lives, the commission of seven generals announced late today in its most extensive statement on the proceedings thus far.

Major General Frank R. McCoy, commission president, said at the same time that the "large number" of exhibits introduced so far had included the explosives designed for sabotage which were brought from Germany in the submarines which delivered the agents to Long Island and Florida coasts, the small shovels used to bury the equipment in the sand, and German military fatigue clothing worn by the Nazis aboard the submarine.

The trial is expected to continue for several more days. The commission adjourned for the day at 4:30 p. m., and will reconvene at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Washington. —An influential member of Congress said tonight that President Roosevelt soon would request more stringent price control legislation, including some form of wage stabilization.

New proposals are to be transmitted to Congress within a week or two, probably shortly after the House passes the tax bill next week, said the Congressman, who is an authority on the situation but who preferred not to be quoted by name.

Recess Unlikely

Members of the House reported they had been told unofficially not to count too much on plans originally laid for a recess of perhaps 30 days starting next week.

This disclosure came as the Senate granted some concessions to Price Administrator Leon Henderson but put off until tomorrow a final vote on a $1,857,151,710 appropriation bill for his and 17 other war agencies.

Henderson failed to get the fund of $140,000,000 he sought for the current fiscal year but the Senate voted him $125,000,000 as against $120,000,000 approved by the appropriations committee and $75,000,000 by the House.

Subsidies Ban Approved

A band against subsidies to help maintain price ceilings was approved against his wishes. But an amendment which would have imposed new restrictions on his authority to fix price ceilings on processed farm commodities was voted down to what administration leaders called a mere restatement of existing law on parity, and another amendment, requiring Senate approval of appointments to jobs paying more than $4,500 a year, was entirely eliminated.

Henderson issued an administrative order during the day serving notice that any OPA employees engaging in political activities would be dismissed—even unpaid members of local boards.

Moderation Useful

Human nature is such that a great many people become perennially irritated and indignant over hot weather in Summer and cold weather in Winter. We instinctively desire whatever it is we haven't in weather, as well as in many other things. The simple, classic example is that of the colored man who drew his garments closer about him as the north wind of December came searching and exclaimed:
"Where was you last July?" There is, however, no case on record of where a hot temper and warm feelings lowered the reading on the thermometer one fraction of a degree.

Sometimes we wonder if editorials advising moderation in all things in a typical spell of MidSouth Summer do more good than harm.
It may be that people are so ex-operated at being advised to keep cool mentally and temperamentally while they are sweltering physically that they get hotter than ever. For all that, though, it is true that slowing down and exercising moderation do help beat the heat. Loose clothing is an aid to survival, too, as is a light diet.

It is well enough, also, to decide to refuse to get angry except as a last resort to prevent psychological explosions, and these are rare if planned against deliberately.

Of course, one of the best remedies for hot weather is to quit everything and go to the mountains, but that isn't being done to any great extent this season for various reasons that do not require elaboration. As the late Bert Leston Taylor once said in a poem, the three Hebrew children, Messrs. Shadrach, Meshach and Abdagego, got along all right when they made up their minds not to complain about the heat. Maybe it would help us, and it is at least an inexpensive experiment.—Com-war needs. After that civilian needs can be considered. It seems to many people that long-range plans should contemplate an industry which would be totally independent of foreign-owned rubber, and if synthetic rubber can be made which will equal natural rubber it seems that this Nation, with its wealth of trained men could in the long run get away from the natural rubber completely. Dependence on the natural article, and on the ability of British to hold the territory where rubber grows gave us the hardest blow that could be imagined. Let us hope that our chemists

CONVOY SYSTEM

BEING EXTENDED

TO GULF DISTRICT

Hope To Stop Many Submarine Attacks In Area

New York.—Secretary of Navy Frank Knox said today that the convoy systems, in effect along the east coast of the United States since May 14, has been extended to the Caribbean and will take in the Gulf of Mexico.

"We are getting various patrol vessels to combat submarines into service as rapidly as possible and are increasing the number of patrol planes with equal expedition."

Declaring that more officers and men were being thrown into the anti-submarine war, Knox added:

"We have a large submarine-combat school, which now has 1,200 men being trained for this service. It is an extremely difficult service. We require ships of the right type, the right kind of equipment, and the right kind of men to handle the."

Asked if U-boat sinkings along the Atlantic coast were being reduced, Knox replied: "The best answer to that is to read the newspapers. Have you read of any sinking within 50 miles of the Atlantic coast lately?"

Earlier today Knox told reporters at Quincy, Mass., that the Navy did not for the present plan to draft men into service.

"We are doing very well by voluntary recruiting," he declared, "but the time might come when Selective Service men might be taken into the Navy."

MEAT PACKERS HIT

PRICE SQUEEZE CAUSED

BY WICKARD'S ACTION

Washington.—A group of 400 local and independent meat packers from all parts of the country issued a formal statement today criticizing Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and Price Administrator Leon Henderson for a "price squeeze" which they say threatens them with financial ruin.

Calling themselves the emergency council of meat packers, the processors said the differences between prices of hogs and beef cattle and OPA ceilings on meat products had narrowed to a point where many packers were being forced either to close or operate at a loss.

They blamed the situation on the absence of price ceilings on hogs and cattle. They said livestock prices had advanced "violently out of line" with other farm products.

Now is the time to subscribe for the Leader.

SPORT TALK

Tonight the losers of the recent club tournament at the Fulton County Club will entertain the winners at a barbecue supper. Arrangements have already been made for the supper, although Ward McClellan was still bringing charges of dirty work at the crossroads as late as Sunday afternoon. Ward was one of the losers and what irked him most was the fact that Joe Hall gave him a trimming in the last match. Ward said after the match that he shot his usual steady game of 45 for each round, while Joe, hot as a bale of firecrackers, fired a 44 and then steamed in for a climax with 42. "Joe has no right to shoot a 42," Ward complained. "I simply did not talk to him enough, or perhaps he went off by himself and failed to count his shots. Something was wrong—but I guess I'll do my part in paying off, and maybe we can talk Joe into another match later on."

Joe was the leader of the winning combination, while Bud Davis was the leader of the other brigade—and the other brigade will do the paying tonight. About sixteen players were on each side, and efforts are now under way to start another series.

Two former players have been seen on the course this week. Guy Gingles, who has played regularly for several years, has signed up for second half, and R. M. Belew, a left handed shotmaker, has also enlisted for the second half. Evidently the first-half layoff has not hurt Mr. Belew, for he went out the other day and gathered a neat 41.

Pomp Binford, who has been out of town for a long time, has again taken up the game, and for the past week has been playing with his son-in-law, Gordon Buckingham of Evansville, Ind. Gordon, who was one of the best athletes ever to play in Bulldog colors, has evidently learned more than a little about golf, too, for the other day he parred eight of the nine holes on a round. He refused to say what he made on the hole which he did not par, but evidently had a round of about one or two over par—which is pretty nifty golf on any man's course.

Jack Moore had a three or four foot putt the other day for a 35, but the pesky ball failed to drop for him and he had to be content with par figures. He held even par on all holes except Number Five, where he had a birdie, and then went one over on nine when the four-footer failed to hit.

One of the mysteries of the recent baseball season is what has become of Harry Bolser. The last time this writer saw him he was sitting on top of the Fulton dug-out in Union City watching the Tigers paste the Greyhounds and appearing to enjoy it. Since then I have not seen him, nor have I heard anything of him. Knowing of his fondness for Tommy Thomasson, Paducah boy who was a star hurler for the Tigers, I have wondered of Bolser also went to Pittsfield, Mass., when Manager Mullen took his boys up there. Harry had spent most of the baseball season in Fulton, and made a lot of friends here. Whether he has finally managed to get himself accepted by the Army, or whether he has followed Thomasson to Massachusetts I do not know. I know that he had tried to get into the Army on several occasions and had been rejected on physical examination a couple of times. An injury suffered several months ago was the cause of his last rejection. I was told.
