Nixon Pledges To Comply With Supreme Court's Tape Decision

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Pledging to comply with the Supreme Court's Watergate tapes ruling "in all respects," a disappointed President Nixon has ended weeks of uncertainty with the declaration, "I respect and accept the court's decision."

Some eight hours after the court announced on Wednesday its 8-0 decision that Nixon must surrender 64 additional tapes and documents, the President issued a statement through his chief Watergate defense lawyer, James D. St. Clair.

Drafted after lengthy conferences at Nixon's oceanside home here, it ended suspense heightened by weeks of refusal by presidential aides to say whether he would obey an adverse court ruling.

"While I am disappointed in the result, I respect and accept the court's decision, and I have instructed Mr. St. Clair to take whatever measures are necessary to comply with that decision in all respects," the President said.

Nixon had challenged in the courts a subpoena for the tapes and documents from special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who said they were needed for the cover-up trial of six former White House and campaign aides, scheduled for Sept. 9. The defendants include H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and John N. Mitchell.

Weeks may yet pass before the tapes and documents are made available to Jaworski. They must be screened for relevance by U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica.

Appearing before newsmen and television cameras at the White House press center in nearby Laguna Beach on Wednesday afternoon, St. Clair spoke of "the time-consuming process of reviewing the tapes subject to the subpoena and the preparation of the index and analysis required ...." He said the work "will begin forthwith."

In the past, tapes provided to Jaworski have been supplied to the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment inquiry. It was not known immediately whether the latest subpoenaed material ever would figure in congressional consideration of impeachment.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler was asked how much time would be needed to process the tapes.

"There's really no way to say," he replied.

Ziegler, responding to questions, said possible defiance of the court was not an option Nixon and St. Clair discussed Wednesday. He suggested that defiance never had been given serious consideration in the past, either.

Ziegler also said Nixon resisted surrendering the subpoenaed material only on grounds of principle and not because he feared they might contain incriminating material.

Nixon said in his statement that he had refused to comply with Jaworski's subpoena because of "my strong desire to

Scheduled Calls For Conclusion Of Impeachment Debate Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee resumed today its landmark debate on the impeachment of President Nixon, hearing first from a Republican who declared Nixon "is entitled to a presumption of innocence."

The assertion from Rep. Charles E. Wiggins of California came despite Tuesday's claim from another GOP defender of the President that a committee decision against Nixon is assured.

Wiggins has frequently been characterized as Nixon's most articulate defender on the committee, but he told the committee's second session of formal debate that "I wince" at that label because he believes simply that the case should be decided according to law.

If fairness is not the overriding factor in the proceedings, said Wiggins, "we would be doing a greater violence to the Constitution than any misconduct alleged of Richard Nixon."

Wiggins was the first of 27 committee members remaining to make opening statements in the debate on a proposed two-article recommendation of impeachment.

If the committee approves impeachment in a vote expected this weekend, then the full House of Representatives must decide whether to send the matter on to the Senate for trial.

Wiggins told his colleagues it was "not too late for me to challenge" whether they should sit in the proceeding if they have formed a preconceived notion on Nixon's guilt or innocence.

But despite his challenge, the committee was believed likely to vote impeachment, though the margin of such a vote remains to be determined.

The committee opened its historic debate Wednesday night before a nationwide television and radio audience that heard Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., claim "There are sufficient votes here for an impeachment resolution."

"Everyone knows that. There is no use kidding ourselves about it," he said.

Sandman, who lined up against impeachment, was one of 11 committee members who gave their views in a televised presentation of the historic proceedings.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr.'s schedule for the 38-member committee calls for concluding general debate tonight and moving onto actual consideration of articles of impeachment Friday. That schedule suffered a slight setback last night when a bomb scare forced a 47-minute delay.

The threat, telephoned to the

Two Escape From Prison At Eddyville

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two escapes from the state penitentiary prison farm near Fredonia occurred just after the farm dormitory's 15-man staff had been replaced to cut down on breakouts.

The escapes Wednesday brought to nine the number of farm escapes this year.

The fugitives were identified as Lloyd Ballard, 27, serving a life sentence for murder and four other charges from Clark County, and William Lee Copher, 37, serving 11 years for house breaking from Bath County.

Supt. Henry Cowan said the inmates fled in a prison truck, which was found abandoned near another tract of prison land west of the farm.

Cowan said he had just replaced the prison farm dormitory staff the night before. "I started putting new men out there (Tuesday) night and they had a chance only to make a couple of bed checks before it was discovered that the two men were missing," Cowan said.

"Actually, the new force had not had a chance even to start operating."

The two inmates who escaped Wednesday and three who escaped previously are still at large.

High Court Strikes Down Controversial Busing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today struck down by a 5-4 vote, a controversial desegregation plan calling for busing pupils across school district lines in the Detroit area.

The decision sent the case back to U.S. District Court in Detroit, where the plan was approved two years ago by the late Judge Steven J. Roth.

Another judge will now consider the matter.

The Supreme Court said Roth erred in ordering a desegregation plan embracing both Detroit and its suburbs without any evidence as to whether the suburban districts were segregated.

The lower court was directed to take evidence on this question.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, speaking for the court, said federal courts may not impose multidistrict desegregation plans where there is no finding that all the school districts included had failed to operate in integrated school systems.

Justice Thurgood Marshall, the only black member of the court, dissented, saying:

"We deal here with the right of all of our children, whatever their race, to an equal start in life and to an equal opportunity to reach their full potential as citizens. Those children who have been denied that right in the past deserve better than to see fences thrown up to deny them that right in the future."

Also dissenting were Justices

William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan and Byron R. White. Besides its impact in Detroit, the decision could affect schools in Louisville and Jefferson County, Ky., which were ordered by a federal judge Tuesday to merge in order to achieve better racial balance.

It will have more indirect effects in many other cities.

Roth's decision had called for busing of pupils in a three-county area around Detroit. It was appealed by Michigan officials and by suburban school districts, but not by the Detroit districts, which is about 64 percent black.

The same question came before the Supreme Court last year in a case arising in Richmond, Va. The court deadlocked 4-4 in the Richmond case, with Justice Lewis Powell, a former member of the Richmond school board, abstaining.

The tie vote had the effect of upholding the lower court order for cross-district busing in the Richmond area but did not establish any precedent for future cases.

Dr. Robert M. Howes Of TVA Is Speaker For Murray Lions Club

Dr. Robert M. Howes, Director of Land Between the Lakes Recreation Area, Tennessee Valley Authority, was the speaker at the meeting of the Murray Lions Club held Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Murray Woman's Club House.

The speaker discussed the new facilities and opportunities available in the Land Between the Lakes Area including the new Brandon Spring Group Camp located on a wooden knoll overlooking the 320-acre Bards Lake in the southern portion of the LBL area.

Dr. Howes said Brandon Spring is available to youth and adult groups who are interested in conducting programs in quiet natural surroundings. He said church and school groups, sportsmen's clubs, the handicapped and disadvantaged, or community groups such as Senior Citizens or Little League teams, can plan a program tailored to their specific needs. TVA staff members are available to assist group leaders in program planning. Facilities at the camp include two modern year-round dormitories that will house 128 people, and a commons building that serves as camp headquarters. Recreational attractions include a swimming pool, trails, and playfields.

Dr. Howes said the LBL is one of the ten outstanding vacation spots in America. Other features of the LBL include campgrounds at Piney, Rushing Creek, and Hillman's Ferry, Camp Energy Group Camp, Environmental Education Center, Empire Farm and the Buffalo Range.

Ken Winters, president, presided. He, along with Joe Pat Ward, recently returned from San Francisco, Calif., where they attended the Lions International Convention.

Past President James Rogers installed Chester Wilkey as a new member and reinstated Alvis Jones as a member.

In the Cub Reporter bulletin by Editor, James Lawson, it was reported that at the Lions sponsored Blood Bank Booth at the Murray-Calloway County Fair, the members matched 415 donors for the Murray-Calloway County Blood Bank.

$780,000 Allocated For Renovation Of Carr Health Building

Gov. Wendell H. Ford has announced an allocation of $780,000 to Murray State University to be used to renovate the school's health building.

Dr. A. D. Albright, executive director of the Council on Public Higher Education, said the building has proven inadequate for the present enrollment and will be renovated to provide for the increase in students.

The money comes from the allocation of more than $33.2 million in surplus state revenue which was derived from receipts that exceeded budget estimates and unused budgeted funds.

Charles Pryor Jr., commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration, said the allocations were made according to priorities established by state law governing surplus funds.

"Ford said the state had a choice between allocating funds to provide these services as soon as possible or wait and let inflation eat it up and allocate the funds later."

"The interest of the taxpayers is best served by prompt allocation to avoid inflation."

Speech, Hearing Center Gets Funds From State

Murray State University's Speech and Hearing Center has received a $27,600 contingency fund grant from Gov. Wendell H. Ford's office for a mobile diagnostic van to provide hearing evaluation services in remote areas of the region.

Dr. Donald B. Hunter, dean of the College of Human Development and Learning, announced the grant today and said it also provides funds to employ a speech and hearing diagnostician to coordinate the program designed primarily to reach school children and industrial workers.

Dr. John M. Bartholomy, vice-president for university services and former chairman of the department of special education, wrote the grant proposal.

"This grant concludes a long search for an effective method of delivering speech and hearing services to the remote areas of the region and will provide an opportunity for regional industry to comply with OSHA regulations concerning hearing conservation without excessive costs," Bartholomy said.

The mobile unit is expected to cost approximately $15,400. Murray State will provide all audiological equipment used in the mobile program.

"It seems very reassuring to have Governor Ford so interested in hearing conservation programs in West Kentucky," Bartholomy added.

Hunter said the program will be operational by January of 1975. He noted that all speech and hearing services are available to all persons regardless of race, sex, age, or national origin.

Murray Board Of Education Meets Tonight

The regular meeting of the Murray Independent School Board will be held tonight at the superintendent's office at 7:30 p.m.

On the agenda for the meeting are:

—a report of internal accounts for the month of June and the annual report of internal accounts;

—consideration of policy changes to meet the requirements of Senate Bill 127;

—the superintendent's report including plans for school opening and pre-service training;

—presentation of the general budget, and;

—personnel recommendations.

Members of the school board are Dr. C. C. Lowry, chairman; Don Henry, vice-chairman; M. H. Ryan; Perry Johnson; and Will Ed Stokes. Fred Schultz is school superintendent.

Chamber Of Commerce Now Place Of Draft Registration

Young men must still register with Selective Service at the age of 18, according to Clara Austin, executive secretary of the Area Board at Paducah which serves fifteen counties. Mrs. Austin said although the President's Induction Authority has expired, the men must still register any time during the period of thirty days before or thirty days after their 18th birthday without being in violation of the law.

In Calloway County the place of registration is at the Chamber of Commerce office located in the Woodmen of the World Building at 300 Maple Street, Murray. The previous place of registration was at the ASCS Office.

Colonel Taylor L. Davidson, State Director of Selective Service for Kentucky, complimented the Chamber of Commerce for their public spirit and willingness to serve the young men of this county in this capacity.

Selective Service Board members for Calloway County are James A. Parker, chairman, Glen Crawford, Robert L. Hendon, Joe Hal Spann, and Earnest Skinner. The local advisor to registrants is Mrs. Gussie W. Adams who retired from her position as Executive Secretary of Calloway County Board No. 10 on May 28, 1971, after being with Selective Service since October 26, 1940.

The local draft board, formerly in the Postoffice Building, was phased out along with several other boards in the state in April 1973 as part of a massive reorganization of the Selective Service System.

The Area Office is in Room 303, Third Floor, Post Office Building, Fifth and Broadway, Paducah. The phone number is 443-2770.

Weather Forecast

Farm Incomes Fall
Farm incomes declined each month of the first quarter of 1974. During the same period, consumers' per capita disposable incomes rose from $4,350 to $4,402. Retail meat prices in the first quarter also declined. Beef prices were about the same as a year ago, but were down 4.6 percent from the start of 1974. Pork was up almost 2 percent from a year ago, but was down more than 10 percent from the beginning of this year.

Mrs. Cunningham Named Runnerup For Award Of Master Farm Homemaker

(Editor's note: This is the seventh in a series of articles and pictures by Jo Burken, Community News Editor of the Murray Ledger & Times, on the persons nominated by the various homemakers clubs for the Master Farm Homemaker Award for Calloway County.)
Mrs. Danny (Judy) Cunningham of Murray Route Two has been selected as the runnerup to the Master Farm Homemaker Award for Calloway County.
The runnerup and her family reside at their beautiful new brick farm home on the Penny-Airport Road. They own 115 acres and rent about 750 more acres for their crops each year.
Mrs. Cunningham was nominated for the award by the Contemporary Homemakers Club which she helped to organize. Prior to this club, she was a member of the Wadesboro Club. This year she organized the Miss-A-Stitch 4-H Club for girls and each one got a ribbon at the County Style Show for their projects.

The Cunninghams have as their main crops for the year—soybeans, wheat, corn, and jap. The two farms they own are located at their residence on the Penny-Airport Road and also on the Kirksey Highway just across the Calloway-Marshall County line.
The family built their present home, furnished in Colonial style, in 1969. They were married July 28, 1962, and have three daughters, Deana, age ten, and Dana, age six, who will be in the fifth and first grades respectively at North Elementary School this fall, and Denise, age three, who will be in nursery school this fall. They attend the Spring Creek Baptist Church.
Mrs. Cunningham, the former Judy Key, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Key of Farmington Route One, graduated from Calloway County High School in the class of 1963.
Mr. Cunningham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Cunningham, and grandson of Mrs. Donie Cunningham who is 97 years of age, all of Murray Route Two, was a member and president of the first graduating class of Calloway County High School in 1961. He is now a member of the Young Adult Farming Class, taught by W. H. Brooks at Calloway High School.

The runnerup for the homemaker award is a Sunday School teacher, leader for Mission Friends at her church, 4-H and Young Peoples leader, served as president of homemakers club, and member of the Kirksey School PTA and the Baptist Young Women of her church.
Mrs. Cunningham collects antiques and has a churn which is from the Cunningham family. Other antiques are also in her home. She also has as her hobbies many of the crafts including the string art, decoupage, etc., lessons taught in the homemakers clubs.
In addition to her regular work as a housewife and mother, she also drives the trucks for hauling hay, fuel, water, and running errands for her husband in his work in the crops. She also does her own sewing, mows yards, and serves as custodian for Spring Creek Church.
One of the hobbies of the family is to attend tractor pulls and they travel to many cities to attend these events. They also enjoy soft ball, kick ball, swimming, miniature golf, bowling, and bicycling. The younger children enjoy their mother reading to them.
In giving her philosophy of life Mrs. Cunningham said: "To give everything I can and never expect anything in return from others. I want to teach my girls that love and understanding are two things to always have for others. To always be myself and a very understanding and patient wife and mother. To always be behind Danny in everything we go to do in the future. Best of all to have my girls want to grow up and be a little like me, especially not afraid of a little work and a homemaker working for a better tomorrow."

MRS. DANNY CUNNINGHAM is shown in the beautifully furnished living room of her home on the Penny-Airport Road. She was named as runnerup for the Master Farm Homemaker Award for Calloway County and nominated by the Contemporary Club.

Breakfast Held For Bride-elect

Continuing the series of events honoring Miss Susan Fandrich, August Third bride-elect of Steve Simmons, was the bridal breakfast held at the Perkins Pancake House on Tuesday, July 16.

Mrs. Tip Miller, Mrs. Marshall Garland, Mrs. James Payne, Mrs. James Lassiter, and Mrs. Vernon Cohoon were the gracious hostesses for the pre-nuptial event.

The honoree chose to wear from her trousseau a black and white pant suit with red accessories. She, along with her mother, Mrs. William Fandrich, her mother-in-law to be, Mrs. Bennie Simmons, and her grandmother, Mrs. John Ramsey, were presented handmade corsages of daisies.

The bride-elect was presented with a gift from the hostesses. The tables were covered with red and white checked cloths. The main table was centered with a large antique basket filled with daisies flanked by candles in the shape of apples. Daisy arrangements in baskets were used on each table.

Place cards with each person's name on them were small handpainted apples. Pancake turnovers were served by the hostesses to the seventeen persons present.

Miss Patricia Gale Tabers And Glenn Dale Hughes Wed At Frazier Home

The June wedding of Miss Patricia Gale Tabers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tabers, Sr., of Farmington Route One, to Glenn Dale Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Hughes of Murray, was solemnized in the garden of the home of Mrs. N. L. Frazier, sister of the bride.

The vows, written by the bride and groom, were exchanged at six o'clock in the evening before a lattice-work arch, decorated with white daisies. Bro. John Dale officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The arch was flanked by planters filled with wild mountain fern and large white daisies at the summit of the rock garden. Guests assembled at the foot of four steps carved into the garden leading to the arch.

Preceding the ceremony a program of contemporary music was presented. Selections included: "We've Only Just Begun," "Love," "Without You," "All I Know," "Colour My World," "Theme from Love Story," and "And I Love Ever," along with the traditional wedding march and processional.

Bride's Dress

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was escorted to the foot of the steps in the garden by her father. She wore a formal gown of white organza overlaid with nylon lace and designed with an empire bodice and scoop neckline. The bishop sleeves had wide cuffs fastened with tiny white buttons. The gown with its chapel length train was fashioned by the bride's mother.

She wore a white floppy hat with white satin streamers. Her bridal bouquet, floor length, was of large yellow and white daisies with streamers tied in love knots.

As the bride was being escorted to the garden by her father, she presented her mother with a yellow daisy from her bouquet. After the ceremony the groom escorted the bride past his mother and she also was presented with a yellow daisy from the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. N. L. Frazier, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a nylon gown flocked with dainty white rayon daisies overlaying a yellow background. She wore a yellow floppy hat with yellow satin streamers and carried a single large white daisy with yellow streamers.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Deborah Dick, Miss Sandra Tabers, Miss Jennifer Tabers, and Miss Donna Tabers, all sisters of the bride, who wore dresses and hats fashioned identically to the matron of honor.

Miss Glynis Tabers, sister of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a dress and hat similar to the matron of honor and carried a wicker basket of small field daisies.

Miss Nada Frazier, niece of the bride, greeted the guests at the register. She chose to wear a lilac dress.

Buddy Shelley, friend of the groom, served as best man for Mr. Hughes. Groomsman were Bobby Henry, cousin of the groom, Ronnie Colson and David Sinclair, also friends of the groom. Norman Frazier, nephew of the bride, served as ringbearer.

Mrs. Tabers, mother of the bride, chose to wear a yellow crepe dress with a corsage of white daisies.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Hughes, was attired in a mint green knit dress with a corsage of white daisies.

Mrs. John W. Hughes,

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dale Hughes

grandmother of the bridal couple, also was presented a corsage of white daisies.

Reception

Following the ceremony the reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Frazier.

The table was covered with pure lace over yellow cotton. Mrs. Richard Downey, sister of the groom, and the bride's sisters served the guests.

Following the reception the couple left for a short wedding trip and they are now residing at their home on Mayfield Route Seven. The new Mrs. Hughes is employed by Americraft in Mayfield and Mr. Hughes is employed by Radio Station WNBS, Murray.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Henry of Norfolk, Va., Jill Hughes, Paducah, and Mrs. Michael Gipson and Bret Gipson of Ellsworth AFB, South Dakota.

Ginny Locke Is Complimented At Bridal Shower

Miss Ginny Locke, August Third bride-elect of Joe Frank Dalton, was the honoree at a bridal shower held on Tuesday, July 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Room of the Murray Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The gracious hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Jimmy Wilson, Mrs. Jerry Barrett, Mrs. William Smith, and Mrs. John Baker.

Miss Susan Moody and Miss Debbie Tabers kept the guest register and assisted Miss Locke with opening her many lovely and useful gifts.

The honoree was presented a beautiful corsage of carnations matching her floor length dress. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Approximately seventy persons were present or sent gifts.

Mrs. Cain Is Honored On 90th Birthday

Mrs. Lydia Cain of Fern Terrace Lodge, Murray, was honored with a special party in celebration of her 90th birthday on Thursday, July 11, at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Theron Riley and Mr. Riley, Dogwood Drive West.

The honoree who is the widow of Ollis Cain was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Birthday cake and ice cream were served at the party held at six p.m.

Those attending included Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ray, Mrs. Mary Lee Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cain, Mrs. Junior Compton and daughters, Cindy and Ginger, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pat James and son, Ross, Jimmy Cain, Miss Marketia Orr, Greg Cain, Mrs. Larry Bell, Rob Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Riley and the honoree, Mrs. Cain.

Jane eats them out of house and home

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe others have this problem and your answer will help them and me, too.

I have a 14-year-old baby-sitter I'll call Jane. She lives in the neighborhood and her mother is a good friend of mine.

When my husband and I go out for an evening, we tell Jane what she may have to eat and drink, but when we come home, we find that she has raided the fridge, cupboards and even the freezer!

She has eaten a quart of ice cream, with a pint of chocolate sauce, a pound of nuts, and she's cleaned out the cookie jar and candy dish in one evening! This is plus three or four bottles of soft drinks. She has even gone so far as to bake a cake with mix, and packaged frosting, and eat the entire thing herself!

Jane's parents have spent a fortune sending her to doctors for her acne and weight problem. She seems to be getting worse. I've dropped hints, but to no avail. My husband says I should just quit asking her to baby-sit, but I'm afraid if I do her mother will wonder why.

Jane takes good care of the children and I like her. How should I handle this?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Jane is a compulsive over-eater. It would be a kindness to tell her mother that Jane needs help with her problem. If there is an Overeaters Anonymous in your area, I would urge Jane to get in touch with them. They have helped many a Jane. (And John, too.) If they aren't in your phone book, write to me.

DEAR ABBY: What's with women? They claim that they want to be individuals, but it isn't true.

Before my wife and I go to a party, or to join another couple or two, she calls the other women and asks: "Are you wearing a long dress or a short dress?" or "Are you wearing pants or a dress?"

Men never care what the other men are wearing. Please print this, maybe someone else can explain it to me if you can't.

INDIVIDUAL (MALE)

DEAR MALE: Most women feel more comfortable (and less conspicuous) if the other women in their party are dressed in similar attire. Most men couldn't care less.

DEAR ABBY: Does this problem have a solution? We have a neighbor who gives us no privacy whatsoever when we want to relax outdoors to enjoy a quiet barbecue supper, or just sit and visit.

The moment she sees us outside, she "joins" us—even when we're entertaining guests. And she stays until we go inside.

I realize she must be lonely, but must we suffer her presence whether we like it or not? I might add, when she is in the group she dominates the conversation.

DEE LEMMA

DEAR DEE: You have two choices. Suffer her presence, or come right out and tell her that you'd like a little privacy. It seems unkind, but that may be your only salvation. It's up to you.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Zilch

From the Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution

Normally, when you push a button, you expect something to happen. A light should go on. A bell should ring. The air conditioner should rev up. World War III should start. Something should happen.

Most of us are content that this should be so. We get irritated when we push a button and the light doesn't come on.

But certain philosophers, frightened by a technology that takes over more and more of the functions humans used to perform for themselves, take a surreptitious pleasure when buttons are pushed and—zilch. It's reassuring to them. It means that so long as technology is still imperfect, man may flatter himself that he is still in control.

At Expo '74 in Spokane, Wash., the national director of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, dedicated the U.S. Bicentennial Plaza with a ringing speech before setting off a fireworks display. "With the push of this button," he proclaimed proudly, "I hereby designate this a Bicentennial Plaza."

He pushed the button. Zilch.

There's yet hope for us all.

Two Kisses And A Piece Of Gum

From the Jackson (Tenn.) Sun

Not long ago in a neighboring state, a certain lady was shopping in a major discount store. She took her purchases to the cashier, whose cash register computed a total of $8.53. Our shopper proffered $9.

"Do you have the three pennies?" asked the clerk.

Our shopper lacked the three and the cashier lacked the two. So, in keeping with the store's policy of coping with the penny shortage, our shopper was given 45 cents and two pieces of hard candy in change.

The next day, the same shopper visited the same store and made a $3.22 purchase. She offered the clerk $3.20 and—you guessed it—two pieces of hard candy.

The store manager, nonplussed, accepted.

He had to. Money—to be money—has to be as good in one direction as in the other.

So candy has become money because money has become scarce. You can eat it, or you can spend it. And once you've spent it, it isn't really candy any more.

Leader Says Only A Miracle Can Save Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite President Nixon's decision to turn over more Watergate tapes, a House Democratic leader says only a miracle can save Nixon from impeachment and Republican leaders made no move to delay the impeachment proceedings.

The assessment about the need for a miracle came from Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., House Democratic leader, who predicted the Judiciary Committee would recommend impeachment and that the full House would vote impeachment by at least 60 votes.

"And it could well be that a tidal wave would hit the House and he'd be impeached by over 100 votes," O'Neill said. Vice President Gerald R. Ford said he thought Nixon's compliance with the Supreme Court order would help the President fight impeachment by swaying public opinion in his favor.

However, Ford conceded the question of whether the House would vote impeachment has "become a bit narrower" since when Ford first predicted the House would reject impeachment.

He also urged Nixon to turn over to the impeachment inquiry all relevant parts of the tapes. The Supreme Court order requires the President to furnish tapes to the Watergate special prosecutor.

Several Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee spoke of the need to delay the impeachment inquiry in hopes of getting the new tapes. However, they made no formal move to win delay during the committee's opening session of public debate.

The initial reaction to Nixon's decision to comply was almost uniformly favorable, although there were reservations that the White House would take considerable time to prepare the tapes, thus drawing out the Watergate saga.

Both Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Rep. Ogden R. Reid, D-N.Y., called for speedy presidential compliance. Percy suggested that the White House turn over the tapes "recording by recording, conversation by conversation, just as quickly as they have been processed for delivery."

A spokesman said special prosecutor Leon Jaworski likely would arrange a meeting with U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica today to ask that the tapes be ordered turned over within a few days.

The spokesman said the prosecutors knew at least 33 of the transcripts to be "readily available."

Archibald Cox, the original Watergate prosecutor who was dismissed by Nixon, said the Supreme Court decision "reaffirms two cornerstones of liberty: One, that the law applies to all men equally, and two, that the executive is under the law."

But White House aide John McLaughlin said the nation would face a year-long "parade of horrors" if the House votes to impeach Nixon.

Before Nixon's decision to obey the court was announced, members of the Republican party's conservative wing voiced their concern about the possibility that the President would fail to comply and about what one senator saw as impeachment politics being played by the White House.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., had predicted that any refusal by Nixon to obey would "have a very bad effect on his chances of surviving impeachment."

Later, when the Nixon decision was announced, Goldwater sounded relieved. Asked whether the move would stem the impeachment tide, Goldwater responded, "There's no way of knowing."

Funny Funny World

San Francisco—A leaky roof that drenched a North Beach night club with rain Monday night didn't stop the performance. Topless dancers carried on under see-through umbrellas.

In New York City, the hit musical comedy, "Irene," doing a standing-room-only business, faced a strike over one of the most unusual issues on record. No wages, hours or even fringe benefits were involved. Twenty chorus dancers, fully backed by their union, Actors Equity, threatened to walk out over a "super-rigid" stage floor which, they contended, "is killing our feet." They demanded a "more resilient" floor. "This is hell on our arches," explained one dancer. "Our careers are at stake—did you ever hear a dancer with flat feet?" (Les Finegan)

Richard Widmark: I like all girls until they become actresses. Then they're no longer girls.

Robert Orben: Have you noticed how everybody seems to be running these days? Either you're a jogger trying to keep your figure or a citizen trying to keep your wallet.

Johnny Carson: People are still being paid off on the Watergate thing. I just can't see handling a suitcase full of money to someone in a hotel lobby without even as much as a kiss.

Earl Wilson: A bachelor friend of ours says he's quit chasing girls. He can't find any that will run.

Kermit Bloomgarden: The reason my show, "The Hot L Baltimore" received so many awards is that three central characters are prostitutes. People like the idea that we're keeping them off the streets.

Rodney Dangerfield: My wife's jealousy is getting ridiculous: "The other day she looked at my calendar, and wanted to know who May was."

The computer has become more than a machine. It is a system that robs us of our individuality and smothers our hopes for anonymity under the all-seeing eyes of government, merchandisers, pollsters and credit schemers, and those who program the computers may experience the tragic irony of becoming the hapless victims of their own labors—like the industrious beaver who chomped down a tree only to have it land on his back and kill him.

AP News Analysis

Common Market Takes Strong Anti-Greek Stand

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The nine Common Market countries have taken a strong anti-Greek stand on the Cyprus crisis, asserting their independence from the United States.

The members of the economic union have been trying for years to develop a joint political personality, with the kind of influence on world affairs that such individual member governments as Britain and France had before World War II.

The hope of gaining such influence was a major reason for having Britain join the organization.

The Cyprus crisis was made to order for the assertion of West European independence from the United States. The Greek military dictatorship is highly unpopular in Western Europe; it has had some support from the Nixon administration.

Britain has a special status as a guarantor of Cypriot independence, and was working in both Athens and Ankara to avert war between Greece and Turkey. So France, the chairman of the Common Market Council of Ministers for the second half of 1974, took the lead in the Common Market debate on Cyprus.

French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues announced on Saturday that French ambassadors would represent the nine governments in a joint approach to Athens and Ankara. They accused the Greek government of responsibility for the coup that started the trouble in Cyprus.

Just how much the nine contributed is another matter. The key to the cease-fire was whether Turkey would accept it. And news reports from both Ankara and Washington made clear that Turkey's acceptance resulted from long and repeated telephone conversations Sunday night between Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Turkish Premier Bulent Ecevit.

The Common Market diplomats also were pleased by the contrast between their decisiveness and the apparent ineffectiveness of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. With both Greece and Turkey members of that alliance, NATO was unable to make a public appeal for a cease-fire until after the initiative from the United Nations had been accepted by both sides.

The Captive Russians

The 15th "Captive Nations Week," designated by Congress, is especially meaningful this year because of the publication of "The Gulag Archipelago" by Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the great hero of resistance to Soviet tyranny.

This history of the Soviet persecutions and slave labor camps—now available in paperback form—is opening the eyes of the world to the systematic cruelty and oppression of the Soviet regime from the Lenin era to the current period of rule by Leonid Brezhnev. Solzhenitsyn's account makes clear that torture and brutality on a colossal scale were not confined to a few years of the Stalinist period but are characteristic of the whole history of the Soviet Union.

In recent television interview, this great apostle of freedom stated: "The situation in the Soviet Union is getting worse." Again and again he stressed that repression is continuing and that the Soviet leadership is bent on denying freedom to the Russian people and to all other captive peoples.

In view of this impressive testimony by Solzhenitsyn, supported by the statements of countless other refugees from communist rule, it is shocking that some U. S. officials and some American businessmen want to sell America's advanced technology to the Soviet Union and actually support joint U. S.—Soviet economic enterprises such as oil and gas developments in Soviet Asia. How can those who advocate U. S. participation in such projects be sure that they won't be lending support to projects in which the Soviets employ forced labor? Use of political prisoners as slave laborers has been a feature of the Soviet system for more than 50 years. Dissidents continue to be sent to prison camps in Siberia. It is only logical to conclude that the economic projects in which the Soviets want American investment are projects where slave laborers will be utilized.

Moreover, many of the business deals the Soviets offer actually would add to the USSR's military capabilities. One official who understands this reality is Dr. Malcolm R. Currie, director of Defense Research and Engineering.

The Soviets, he wrote in a recent issue of National Defense, know that their principal deficiency is production technology. "We therefore see," he observed, "what appears to be a carefully designed Soviet approach to acquire production technology increasingly in the form of complete turn-key plant operations in these critical areas. Proposed agreements also include on-going training and support. Soviet negotiators are well organized and briefed to deal individually with our industrial firms as a monolithic customer offering tantalizing visions of future markets."

"The problem is compounded by our eagerness to correct rapidly our deficit in trade balance and by our sometimes naive acceptance of the availability of vast new markets. I would urge us to be wary of some of the commercial gain and balance-of-payment advantages. In my personal opinion, the market may be significantly less than advertised, the difficulties of doing business extensive, and the ability to pay questionable."

It is often said that the United States should seek to "normalize" its relationship with Soviet Union. But how does a civilized country "normalize" its relationship with a regime that rejects all the religious, humanistic and libertarian concepts, on which the United States is founded? How does a nation committed to free enterprise enter into normal trade relations with a country that relies on slave labor and prison camp production?

The answer to these questions is that normalization is not possible. The real need is not for more trade with the USSR but a deepening of America's sense of awareness regarding the moral evil represented by the Soviet Union.

EXECUTIVES WHO WEIGH MORE MAKE LESS

Not long ago a report was issued that a much higher percentage of executives making $10,000 to $20,000 a year were overweight than executives making $20,000 to $50,000. In other words, the more successful men generally were slimmer types.

Last week's column ended just as we were getting into behavioral aspects of weight control. This is an exciting field of research and perhaps a most promising one. For we all know pretty well that "losing weight isn't hard—we've done it dozens of times."

Humor aside, the specific way to reduce—eating less but eating a balanced diet, and exercising more—is apparent. What we don't seem to be able to accomplish is doing it. The most serious aspect of the overweight problem in America is the fact that we fail so miserably in correcting it.

Ways To Succeed

Well, new ways to succeed at weight reducing are being suggested. Progress in the areas of education, the behavioral sciences, nutrition, biochemistry and physiology has led to a better understanding of the obesity problem.

Part of the behavioral approach to weight control involves an understanding of what people eat, when and where they eat it, and how much. These factors have been grouped under what is referred to as "situational control." It means that eating behavior is not solely controlled by the person himself but by others and the places in which he spends his life.

Some of the "situation controls" are out in the open, some are hidden. In their book, Slim Chance in a Fat World: Behavioral Control of Obesity, Richard B. Stuart and Barbara Davis point out as obvious influences: 1) TV commercials selling super-delicious cakes; 2) a family's insistence that potato chips (or other goodies) be kept within reach of the TV set; and 3) the idea that a good host must always serve food.

Control Eating Situations

So what we must do is control eating situations. Other, subtler ideas include eating in one room only, so as to never associate eating with somewhere else in the house, especially a regular spot like near the television set. The reason for this is that we have learned to be hungry in places where we have eaten and in doing things that have been paired with eating. Another idea is to do grocery shopping after you have eaten and to take along only enough money for what you have sensibly planned to buy.

Others in your family can also help by telling you if you are over-eating and to compliment you when you are not. And don't skip meals. This simply makes you over-hungry when you do eat. And eat slower. It takes about 20 minutes for your brain to get the message that enough has been eaten. If you eat slower the message will get there before you have eaten all you might otherwise have downed.

Murray Junior Tourney To Be Held August 8

Lee Stewart will be out for revenge on August 8. That is the day when the Murray Junior Invitational will be held at the Murray Country Club.

Stewart, a Murray High golfer, was tied for the lead last year when he approached the 18th tee.

But a triple-bogey on the final hole knocked him from his share of first and left David Cotthoff of Hopkinsville as the champion.

Cotthoff fired a one-over par 73 to win honors in the boy's 16-18 division while John Dallam and Tim Lambert, both of Paducah, carded 75's and Stewart a 76.

Entry fee for the tourney this year is eight dollars. That fee will include a practice round, a meal and favors.

The deadline for entering the tourney is August 1. Entries should be sent to Stewart at 1207 Dogwood, Murray, Ky. He can be reached by telephone at 753-5885.

As there was last year, there will be four age groups in both the boy's and girl's divisions. Trophies will be presented in all of the groups.

Debbie Warford of Ballard County will return to defend her crown in the girl's 16-18 division. She edged Dee Dee Powell and Beverly Parker out of first-place honors last year.

King Says He And Aaron Won't Have Any Problems

ATLANTA (AP) — Clyde King, the new manager of the Atlanta Braves, says he doesn't expect problems with home run king Hank Aaron.

King was named manager of the National League baseball club Wednesday only hours after Aaron said he would take the job if it were offered and expressed disappointment that the Braves' front office had not discussed it with him.

"Hank is a man of stature, a brave through and through after 20 years with the club," King said at a news conference called to introduce him as manager. "I know he will help me try to make this club win. He's that type person."

"... I certainly don't think Hank is going to do or say anything to hurt himself, his teammates or me as manager," King said. "He has the pride and dedication to contribute every ounce he can to helping us win—and even get back into the pennant race."

King said he would discuss the situation with Aaron.

King replaced Eddie Mathews as the Brave pilot and inherited a club in fourth place in

In the 14-15 group, Brenda Jones of Union City won last year while another Union City golfer, Tammy Mullen, won in the 12-13 division. Murray's Catherine Dick claimed the crown in the 10-11 group.

The winner in the 14-15 boy's last year was Russ Cochran of Paducah St. Mary. Mayfield's Jeff Boyd took the title in the 12-13 division while in the 10-11 group, Pat Nanney Jr. of Sharon, Tenn., and Jay Graves of Fulton tied for honors.

A list of pairings and tee times will be announced next week in the sports section of the Murray Ledger & Times.

SPORTS MURRAY LEDGER & TIMES Shula Hopes Team Spirit Will Pull Club Together

MIAMI (AP) — Miami Dolphins Coach Don Shula says he hopes the prospect of a third straight National Football League championship will solidify his team when the players strike ends.

"Once this disturbance is over, this one common objective is going to pull us together," Shula said Wednesday.

He added that the strike would hurt coaches trying to install new systems—such as Bill Arnsparger of the New York Giants—more than established clubs.

Shula, facing an Aug. 3 exhibition opener at Cincinnati, has only five regulars and 15 non-regular veterans in camp. The rest of the veterans are waiting out strike negotiations.

One in camp is 40-year-old backup quarterback Earl Morrall, scheduled to start at Cincinnati. The 19-year NFL performer and rookie Ken Polke are the only available Dolphin quarterbacks.

Morrall said he decided against retirement because of the chance to be on the first team to win three straight Super Bowls.

"I want to be part of history and besides that, I still enjoy football," he said. "I feel I can compete with the younger players. It's grueling, hard work but it's been a big portion of my life. I don't know what I'd be doing if I wasn't in training camp."

"I'm never happy about playing little because I don't feel I've contributed as much as some of the other players," he said. "But you realize you're needed ...."

Karen Hargrove Has First Hole-In-One

Karen Hargrove recorded the first hole-in-one of her career Wednesday at the Oaks Country Club.

She used a six-iron on the par-three, 130-yard number eight hole to sink her tee shot.

Playing with her were Laura Parker and Mabel Rogers.

Prestigious Canadian Open To Begin Today

By BOB GREEN AP Golf Writer

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf and Australian Bruce Crampton ranked as the men to beat in the $200,000 Canadian Open Golf Tournament that began today.

They enjoyed that role, however, off last year's performances—not this year's.

At this time last year—not for the season but at this tournament—that quartet had won 14 tournaments. Weiskopf, Nicklaus and Crampton had won four each, Trevino two.

This year, they have a combined victory total of two. Nicklaus has won one. Trevino has won one.

"I'm tired. I'm getting burned out," Trevino says. "Fate has been different to me this year," Crampton says.

"I've had my ups and downs before," says Nicklaus. "It's happened in other years. It's happening this year."

Weiskopf doesn't like to talk about it, but a bad wrist has bothered him all season.

And there's another factor that contributes to their lack of success. The young guys.

The big four all are over 30. Weiskopf is just over the mark. Nicklaus and Trevino are 34.

Crampton is 38.

Johnny Miller has won five times this year. Hubert Green has won three times and been second once.

Jerry Heard went through one stretch where he finished first, second, then third in consecutive tournaments. He lost in a playoff in another one.

Tom Watson won the Western Open. He came close to winning the U.S. Open and three others.

John Mahaffey has been second in three tournaments, third in another. Eddie Pierce has been second in two. Ben Crenshaw has been second in two.

Forrest Fezler was second in the U.S. Open, lost in a playoff the next week and, in the last 18 months, has been in position to win eight times.

"I have never seen anything like this," said veteran tournament director John Montgomery. "The young ones are coming on so strong."

The young ones are coming on and the stars of just a year ago are wondering what happened.

Share Lead

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Bill Hoppman and Wally Rose of Greenbrier Country Club in Lexington fired a 5-under-par 67 Wednesday to take a one-stroke lead into today's final round of the Kentucky State Golf Association Two-Man Team Golf Championships.

Hoppman and Rose fired 32 on the front nine holes and 36 on the back nine in the alternative-shot play during the first round at Big Spring Country Club.

Harcourt Kemp of Louisville Country Club and Bill Musselman of Harmony Landing were tied at 68 with John Polle of Big Spring and Rob Stansel of Covington's Summit Hills entering today's play.

They were trailed by the team of Curt Scott and Miller Scott of Big Spring, who carded a 69.

Bowling Green, Ky. (AP) — Owensboro was scheduled to face undefeated Elizabethtown tonight in the championship game of the state Babe Ruth baseball tournament here.

Owensboro advanced to the final in the double-elimination tourney with a 3-1 victory over St. Matthews Wednesday night. A victory by Elizabethtown tonight would clinch the championship, but a second game would have to follow the first if Owensboro won, since Elizabethtown has no tournament losses, while Owensboro lost to Elizabethtown Tuesday.

Marshall Named Manager Of Cubs, Surprise Move

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Marshall, a journeyman major league player who became a successful minor league pilot, is the new manager of the Chicago Cubs.

Marshall, 42, Cub third base coach, Wednesday was named to replace Whitey Lockman, who kicked himself upstairs for full-time duty as vice president in charge of player development.

The somewhat surprising move was strictly the idea of Lockman, apparently unhappy in the role of field boss since he was tapped as successor to dismissed Leo Durocher on July 24, 1972.

Marshall, the American Association's manager of the year with the Cubs' Wichita farm club in 1972, thus steps in as boss in the midst of a Cub rebuilding year.

After the Cubs' fifth place 1973 finish in the National League East race, angered owner Phil Wrigley ordered a house cleaning that sent packing such old guard retainers as pitcher Fergie Jenkins, third baseman Ron Santo, second baseman Glenn Beckert and catcher Randy Hundley.

In his second full Cub season, Lockman had directed the Cubs to a current 41-52 record, seven games off the NL East pace at the All-Star game break.

Lockman said Marshall was brought up from Wichita to start this season as Cub third base coach at his recommendation as "the manager of the future for the Cubs."

"I had seriously thought of quitting as manager for several weeks and I made up my mind Wednesday morning when I told Mr. Wrigley and (Executive Vice President) John Holland," said Lockman.

"They concurred with my recommendation of Marshall, who now has had a half season to get acquainted with the personnel and can do a fine job of managing. He will be his own man as manager."

The name of Ernie Banks, a Cub playing hero for 19 seasons and now a roving instructor, was not considered by Cub brass to become the first black major league manager.

Vice President Holland said: "As far as I know, Ernie doesn't care about being a manager. He's doing right now exactly what he wants in working with young players in our entire system."

NFL Players Trying To Halt Hall Of Fame Game

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
Johnny Unitas is headed for the Pro Football Hall of Fame—but there's a growing chance the St. Louis Cardinals and Buffalo Bills may not see the Canton, Ohio, shrine this year.

The National Football League players' strike, which earlier this month kayoted Friday night's College All-Star Game, is going after Saturday's nationally televised Hall of Fame Game between the Cardinals and Bills—the kickoff of the preseason schedule—as its next target.

And the players picked up a few key blocks Wednesday when spokesmen for the United Auto Workers Union said they would join players picketing the game.

The 26 club owners have acknowledged that this year's game—and all contests during the Aug. 2-5 first week of exhibitions—may not be all they could be.

They've admitted that, because of the 25-day-old strike, they'll be using mostly rookies and free agents and only a smattering of stars and other veterans and, thus, have instituted a league-wide policy of ticket refunds for those games.

Contract talks between the NFL Players Association and the owners' NFL Management Council, which have taken more turns than a broken-field runner, collapsed completely Monday. There have been no meetings since then and none are expected at least through the weekend.

Unitas, acclaimed as one of the greatest quarterbacks in the history of pro football, retired Wednesday after 18 years in the NFL. The strike had nothing to do with it, though. Two weeks ago, Unitas was the lone San Diego veteran to cross the players' picket line and enter the Chargers' camp for workouts.

Unitas, who passed for more touchdowns and more yards than any other player in the league, explained: "I didn't feel my legs were capable of taking the punishment they would have had to take ... I hate to quit playing football. The mind is willing but your body wears out."

The 41-year-old All-Pro, who left the Baltimore Colts for San Diego a year ago, said he would return to Maryland although his $500,000 contract for two years will be honored by the Chargers.

On the 50th anniversary of the NFL, Unitas was named Player of the Decade by The Associated Press. Among his myriad records are his 40,239 passing yards, 290 touchdowns, 47 consecutive games with touchdown passes and 27 games with 300 or more yards passing.

The major roadblocks in the strike are the so-called "freedom issues," the players' demands for the elimination of the reserve and option clauses and the Rozelle compensation rule.

Neither St. Louis nor Buffalo are ready to throw in the towel, yet, though. Cards Coach Don Coryell named rookie quarterback Bill Bynum of Western New Mexico to direct the attack against the Bills.

The Bills, meanwhile, are keeping their plans secret, including the travel arrangements to the game. A team spokesman said the club is attempting to minimize demonstrations which might occur because of the strike.

WFL Roundup

61,319 See Americans Rout Southmen 58-33

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
Jacksonville can't kick ... not enough, anyway.

And Gary Davidson certainly can't. Not after the World Football League commissioner saw his "action and entertainment" dream explode into reality in football-mad Birmingham.

The Sharks set a WFL record Wednesday night—not a hard feat considering the league's only a few weeks old—when they kicked four field goals in the first half of their game against Southern California.

Grant Guthrie booted three-pointers of 23, 29, 27 and 42 yards. It turned out to be three points too few—or perhaps the game turned out to be seven seconds too long for Jacksonville.

On the last play of the game, rookie quarterback Tony Adams from Utah State heaved a 40-yard touchdown pass to Dave Williams and the Sun came up shining with a 22-19 victory that shocked the 46,78 Sharks fans.

In Wednesday night's other WFL games, the Birmingham Americans clobbered Memphis 58-33, the Chicago Fire turned back Portland 29-22 and the Florida Blazers beat Houston 15-3. The New York Stars are in Philadelphia tonight for the WFL's nationally televised game against the Bell Americans 58, Southmen 33.

As a WFL-record 61,319 fans at Legion Field shrieked their approval, veteran George Mira and rookie Matthew Reed of Grambling decimated Memphis' secondary with 378 aerial yards and five touchdowns—three to Alfred Jenkins—to keep the Americans unbeaten.

Mira threw 36 and 74-yard scoring strikes to Jenkins and one to Dennis Homan for 12 yards. In the third period, Mira bowed out with a sprained ankle.

Fire 29, Storm 22
Virgil Carter of the Fire had a hot night in the air, too. He threw touchdown passes of 50 yards to Mark Keller, one yard to Cyril Pinder and 69 yards to James Scott to as Chicago took advantage of Storm mistakes to stay tied with Birmingham atop the Central Division.

"Damn, 22 points should be enough to win in football," fumed Portland Coach Dick Coury. "We gave up some cheap touchdowns. Anytime you make the mistakes we did and give up the big touchdowns, you can't win."

Blazers 15, Texans 3
Rookie running back Tommy Reamon rambled for 73 yards, 15 of them good for a touchdown, and caught an action-point pass in the Blazers' easy victory over the Texans, whose only points came on a 47-yard Charlie Durkee field goal.

Johnny Unitas Has Announced His Retirement

By NICK ALLEN
Associated Press Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP) — "I hate to quit playing football," said Johnny Unitas. "I'd like to play for another 30 years. Your mind is willing but your body wears out."

With those words Unitas, the quarterback who completed more passes and gained more yards through the air than anyone else in pro football history, announced his retirement Wednesday.

Unitas pulled out of the sport at the age of 41 as he was going into his 19th season.

Playing another season, he told newsmen, would be "too much to ask of a pair of 89-year-old legs" suffering from arthritis.

"I'm taking up time on the field when it could be used for better purposes for the younger people," said Unitas, who was starting his second year with the San Diego Chargers since he left the Baltimore Colts.

The National Football League star said he offered to stay and coach, but Coach Tommy Prothro declined.

The Chargers picked up Unitas a year ago when the Colts benched him as a starter after 17 years. San Diego paid $150,000 for the rights to negotiate with him, then signed him to a two-year contract reportedly paying $500,000.

Unitas said Chargers owner Eugene Klein "said my contract will be honored." Klein issued a statement that made no mention of the contract but praised Unitas as "the best quarterback in the history of the game."

"I tried to workout four or five times but my knees swelled up and popped and were sore," he said. "It would be foolish for me to try to do things I once tried to do."

For the things he used to do, the NFL, on its 50th anniversary in 1969, named the ex-University of Louisville player its greatest quarterback ever.

The records set by Unitas which still stand include the most passes attempted by a pro quarterback, 5,186; the most completed, 2,830; the most yards gained passing, 40,239, and the most touchdowns through the air, 290.

When the Chargers opened their training camp here this year, Unitas was the only veteran to cross the picket line of the NFL Players Association. Charger veterans picketed outside the camp as Unitas announced his retirement inside.

"Football has given me every opportunity I've ever had," Unitas said.

He said he will return to his Maryland home but might take up football broadcasting. He owns a restaurant in Maryland and land in Florida.

MCC Tourney To Be One Of Strongest Ever Held

It will look like a "tournament of champions" this weekend when the West Kentucky golf spotlight picks up the 15th annual Murray Invitational Tournament at the Murray Country Club.

Not only will the defending champion, Vernon Marcoulier of Marietta, Ga., be in the field, but he'll have two former champions of the event, the winner of the recent Irvin Cobb Tournament's amateur division and last week's Oaks Invitational champion as well as a covey of other top area golfers hot in pursuit of his title.

Marcoulier, a former member of the Murray State University golf team and now a fifth grade math teacher at Marietta, won the tournament's championship flight last year by a single stroke over a former Murray State teammate and product of the host club, Johnny Quertemous, who also is a former winner. Quertemous won in 1972.

Jagers, a former football coach at Trigg County High School, won in 1970.

Marcoulier is scheduled to start from the first tee at 12:50 p. m., playing in a foursome with Mike Perpitch, a member of the Murray State golf team from Louisville, Eddie Register and Joe Edd Inman. His former coach at Murray State, Buddy Hewitt of Murray, and who finished only four strokes off the winning pace last year, will be in the foursome behind him.

Nineteen-year-old Jimmy Brown, Paducah, winner of the amateur division of the Irvin Cobb Tournament last weekend in Paducah, also will be getting a lot of attention in the Murray tournament, a two-day, 36-hole medal play affair. He is scheduled to leave the first tee at 1:30 p. m. along with Jeff Brown and Steve Duperrieu of Paducah and Frank Miller.

Jimmy Musgrove, Paducah, winner of the Oaks Invitational last weekend in Murray with a one-under-par 143, will be starting from the 10th tee Saturday at 1 p. m. Playing with him will be Rudell Parks and Bobby Fike of the Oaks Club and Jim Neale.

Among the last players to take to the course will be Johnny Campbell, Fulton, winner of the Benton Invitational earlier in the year and one of the fine young golfers in the area. He will tee off at 2 p. m. along with Herb and Buck Hurley and Jack Jennings, all of Benton.

Mike Holton, who finished only two strokes back of Marcoulier in last year's tournament and who holds the match play title at the host club, will play with Wally Young, former Murray State golfer and winner of the Oaks Invitational two of the last three years; Dow Ryan, Murray, and Ike Arnold, Paducah. They are scheduled to tee off from the first tee at 12:40 p. m.

Young, now a member of the Murray club, finished in second place in last week's Oaks tournament, three strokes back of Musgrove. He was tied for the lead at the end of the first day with an even-par 72, but slipped to a 74 on Sunday while Musgrove was fashioning a two-under-par 70 to win.

Also tucked away in this year's field will be Johnny Quertemous, who is scheduled to start play at 1:20 in a foursome including a former Murray State teammate, Corky Taylor of Henderson; Dave Barclay, a seasoned West Kentucky tournament veteran from Mayfield, and young Bobby Cronin, a member of last year's Paducah Tilghman golf team. All are scratch golfers.

As of Wednesday noon, 180 golfers were scheduled to participate in the tournament, only 18 shy of a capacity field, according to Joe Rexroat, this year's tournament chairman.

Murray Pro Jimmy Sullivan reports the 6,300-yard course, which includes four of the toughest finishing holes in West Kentucky, in excellent condition for the tournament.

Major League Teams To Begin Regular Season Play Tonight

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Now that the All-Star Game is history, all the stars can get back to the business of settling the four division races in the remaining 10 weeks of the baseball season.

That's just what they will start to do today as the major leagues resume where they left off Sunday with two new managers and a whopping 17-game schedule that includes five twilight-night doubleheaders.

Jim Marshall debuts as manager of the Chicago Cubs when they entertain the Philadelphia Phillies in an afternoon contest. Marshall replaces Whitey Lockman, who resigned Wednesday to devote full time to his other duties as vice president in charge of player development.

Under the lights in Atlanta, Clyde King takes over as manager of the Braves against the San Diego Padres. King once managed the San Francisco Giants and has been a special assistant to Eddie Robinson, vice president of the Braves, for two years.

Marshall, who managed for six seasons in the Cubs' farm system, was a Cub coach this year and was Lockman's own choice as his successor. Lockman was in his second full season after succeeding Leo Durocher in mid-1972.

The Cubs, who traded away a number of veteran stars last winter, have a 41-52 record and are fifth in the National League's East Division, seven games out of first place and just one-half game out of the cellar.

Marshall was given a contract until the end of the season.

King's contract also is until the end of the season. Robinson said that if a change is made next year, "Hank Aaron would be considered."

Aaron, who has often said he doesn't want to manage, expressed resentment at the All-Star Game in Pittsburgh Tuesday night that the Braves had summarily ruled him out along with his brother, Tommie Aaron, manager of the Braves' Savannah, Ga., team in the Southern League.

The Braves are fourth in the NL West, 14 games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers, who have a 5½-game lead over Cincinnati. Oakland leads the American League West by five games over the Chicago White Sox.

The six teams in the AL East are separated by just five games, with Boston leading Baltimore by one-half game. In the NL East, there's a 7½-game spread from top to bottom, with Philadelphia leading St. Louis and Montreal by three games.

Four of tonight's doubleheaders are in the National League—Los Angeles at Houston, San Francisco at Cincinnati, Pittsburgh at Montreal and New York at St. Louis.

In the American League, Baltimore is at Cleveland for a twin bill while single games find Boston at Detroit, Milwaukee at New York, Minnesota at Oakland, Chicago at Texas and Kansas City at California.

Downey Throws No-Hitter In Park League

One game was played in the Park League Wednesday and a pair of contests were played Tuesday.

In the makeup game last night, the Cubs edged the Braves 5-4 in seven innings. The winners outthrew the Braves 5-2.

In Tuesday's games, the Astros continued their hot streak as they ripped the Twins 6-1. Both teams had three hits.

The second game Tuesday found Jeff Downey firing a no-hitter as the Yanks blanked the Braves 13-0. The winners supported Downey with seven hits.

Games set for tonight will find the Astros meeting the Yanks at 4:30 p. m. while the Tigers and Twins meet at 6 p. m.

Frances Arrives For Bid At Dethroning Intrepid

NEWPORT R.I. (AP) — While Intrepid's crew savored two more victories today, another challenger for yacht racing's prestigious America's Cup was on the horizon.

Intrepid, which successfully defended the cup in 1967 and 1970 against Australian challengers, defeated Valiant twice in short races Wednesday, the final day of the July trials.

Meanwhile, the French yacht France, one of two potential foreign challengers, arrived in Providence, R.I., from Marseilles.

The France, which was to be towed to Newport today, will meet the Australian yacht, Southern Cross, in a series starting Aug. 22 to determine this year's challenger.

Intrepid, 14-5 in all trial races and 9-3 in July's test, defeated

Valiant by 2 minutes, 54 seconds in a 7.6-mile race, then took advantage of Valiant's headsail problems to run away to a 7:57 victory margin in a nine-mile second race.

Both races were sailed on Rhode Island Sound in a breeze averaging barely six miles an hour.

Valiant, 1-14 in the trials, beat Intrepid last Thursday for her only victory. Courageous, which didn't race Wednesday, is 11-4 in all races and Mariner, which passed up the July trials while alterations were being made, is 2-3.

Intrepid, Courageous and Valiant will race Saturday for a special trophy put up by the New York Yacht Club. The final trials leading to selection of the America's Cup defender begin Aug. 15.

The golfers' $20 entry fee entitles them to 36 holes of practice over the Murray course, lunch both days, dancing at the Saturday night "Golf Ball," and the 36 holes of tournament play—18 holes on Saturday and 18 holes Sunday.

Members of the club's ladies golf association are in charge of the lunches, and more than $2,000 in silver and merchandise certificates await the winners in the five, pre-flighted flights.

The golfers, their pairings, and starting times are as follows:

No. 1 Tee
8:00 a. m. — Mike Ficco, Bruce Kerset, Greg Clark and Ronnie Danner.
8:10 a. m. — Paul Beard, Ted Jennings, William Nall and Jim Moser.
8:20 a. m. — Vernon Cohoon, Junior Garrison, Billy Crouse and Rob Miller.

Top-Seed Advances In Clay Court Tournament

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Top-seeded Ferdi Taygan said he was lucky to come from behind in the third set and defeat Bill Scanlon 6-1, 2-6, 6-4 in the third round of National Junior Clay Court boys-18 play.

The defending champion from Framingham, Mass., went from a 3-1 lead to a 3-4 deficit in the third set and said he had trouble hitting against Scanlon. His service break at 4-4 was crucial, Taygan said.

"That had to be a turning point," he said. "I was lucky to survive, I'll tell you that."

"I wasn't aggressive and didn't feel like I could hit," Taygan added, "so I had to be content to wait for him to make an error. I don't particularly like that kind of play."

Scanlon made enough shots to become the first player in two years here to take a set from Taygan. The unseeded Dallas resident won more games Wednesday than Taygan's two previous opponents this week between them (six).

Physically, I'm almost as good as anyone here and my shots are almost as good," Scanlon said, "but I'm not as mentally tough as the other players."

"I missed a couple of shots that a champion doesn't miss," he said.

In other third round action, Bruce Manson of North Hollywood, Calif., seeded 2nd, defeated Cliff Skakle of Chapel Hill, N.C., 6-4, 0-6, 6-2.

Manson advanced to a fourth-round match today against No. 9-seeded Jack Gorsuch of St. Louis, who downed John Rast of St. Petersburg, Fla., 6-2, 1-6, 6-4, in the third round.

Third-seeded Bruce Nichols of Phoenix, Ariz., was upset 6-2, 7-6 in the third round by Howard Chappel "Chap" Brown of Lantana, Fla.

Louisville's Gary Plock, seeded 12th, downed Ted Daniel of Tulsa, Okla., 7-5, 2-6, 7-5 Wednesday to advance to a fourth-round contest today with No. 6 Michael Grant of Roslyn, N.Y., his Junior Davis Cup teammate.

Grant advanced with a 6-0, 6-2 win Wednesday over Jon Kraut of Trenton, N.J.

In boys-16 action, No. 14 Tommy Cain of Richmond, Va., lost to Matt Horwitch of Highland Park, Ill., 6-1, 6-2, and Juan Farrow of St. Louis, seed-

READY, AIM, FIRE—Staff Sergeant Thomas Wallace of Benton watches as a basic trainee fires for record with the M-16 on a range at Ft. Knox. SSG Wallace, a member of the Murray company of the 100th Army Reserve Division, is one of approximately 350 Reservists from the 2nd Brigade currently going through the annual two-week summer training at Ft. Knox. The unit will be assisting a company in the 5th Training Brigade at Ft. Knox in teaching basic recruits various military subjects including rifle marksmanship. The Reservists will return home Aug. 3.

RECC Beauty Contest To Mark 25th Year

The Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation Beauty Contest, Kentucky's oldest annual pageant, will celebrate its Silver Anniversary at the Kentucky State Fair this year.

Highlighting R.E.C.C. DAY, August 21, will be the final judging of twenty-one Kentucky beauties. Each of these contestants represents her local R.E.C.C. district, and was picked at a meeting of the local R.E.C.C. to be here at the state finals.

At 2:30 p.m. on the Stadium stage, one lucky girl will be chosen to receive the crown from Sandy Smith, 1973's R.E.C.C. Kentucky Queen. This happy Miss will then go on to participate in the national R.E.C.C. contest at Kentucky's Own.

It promises to be a shining 25th Anniversary affair. The show is free and you're all invited to come!

Fisher-Price Managers Named To New Positions

Three managers of Fisher-Price Toys were named to new posts recently as part of an ongoing program to manage more effectively the rapidly expanding operations area.

Franklyn S. Barry Jr., formerly plant manager at the Holland (NY) facility, is promoted to director of manufacturing with responsibility for the five Fisher-Price domestic plants—East Aurora, Holland, and Medina, N.Y., Murray, and Brownsville, Tex.—Matamoros.

Frank C. Yaverski succeeds Mr. Barry as Holland plant manager. He most recently was manager of divisional production control.

Daniel J. Schmauss, formerly director of information systems, becomes manager of divisional production control. In announcing the changes, Henry H. Coords, president of Fisher-Price, noted the recent growth of the company "which has caused the scope and complexity of the operations department to expand significantly."

"We have added three new plants in this country since 1970," Mr. Coords said, "and staff services have expanded proportionally. These organizational changes should not only strengthen our current management team, but also provide for further growth."

Mr. Barry, 7 Chase Rd., Orchard Park, joined Fisher-Price in 1967 as a marketing analyst before being named manager of divisional production control. He has served also administrative assistant to the president of the Quaker Oats Company in Chicago before returning to Western New York as Holland plant manager.

Mr. Yaverski, 1021 N. Davis Rd., East Aurora, started with Fisher-Price in 1965 as quality control engineer. He has held the positions of quality control manager and operations manager before most recently assuming responsibility for divisional production control.

Mr. Schmauss, 1351 Underhill Rd., East Aurora, joined Fisher-Price in 1965 as personnel assistant. He has held the positions of wage and salary administrator and administrative manager, Medina, before being named director of information systems.

The world's largest manufacturer of infants' and preschool toys, Fisher-Price employs over 4500. The company has interests in the United Kingdom, Belgium, The Netherlands, Germany and Mexico.

A division of the Quaker Oats Company, Fisher-Price sales in 1973 were approximately $138 million.

Teacher Consultant Employed By Region One District Office

The Department of Education, Region One office has employed Miss Barbara Hale as special education teacher consultant to work with the school systems of the region.

The Regional office of the Department of Education serves the eight county school districts and the four city school systems of the Jackson Purchase area. It coordinates the services of the Kentucky Department of Education and assists local school systems in cooperative efforts with joint programs and services offered by the local school districts.

The Kentucky General Assembly has increased the allocation for the programs servicing handicapped children in the state. Several new programs will be initiated by the school systems, and Miss Hale will assist with these programs.

Miss Hale holds a B.S. and a M.A. Degree in Elementary Education from Murray State University, with course work taken at the University of Louisville and the University of Kentucky in the area of special education. She has taught special education in the Paducah Public School System for the past eleven years and has three years of experience in the first grade.

The new consultant will work with all phases of special education in the region and provide overall guidance and leadership for the special education programs of the area.

Many Refund Checks Still Not Delivered

LOUISVILLE—Some 500 Kentucky taxpayers have undelivered refund checks waiting for them at the Internal Revenue Service.

Any taxpayer who has not yet received his refund should call or visit his local IRS office as soon as possible, Paul Niederecker, District Director of Internal Revenue for Kentucky, said today.

The most common reason for an undelivered check, according to Mr. Niederecker, is that the taxpayer has moved and left no forwarding address with the U.S. Postal Service.

In cases where the taxpayer suspects his check may have been lost or stolen, Mr. Niederecker urged the person to get in touch with his local IRS office as soon as possible so that the IRS can put a tracer on the missing check.

Some refunds may have been delayed because of errors or omissions of tax returns, according to Mr. Niederecker. Taxpayers affected should follow the instructions received from the IRS in order to speed up issuance of their checks.

Mr. Niederecker stressed that in all refund inquiries to the IRS, the taxpayer should be prepared to provide the name and address as it appeared on the return, the actual name and address if different, the social security numbers, and the type of form filed.

Taxpayers in Louisville can contact the IRS by calling 582-5321. Persons in outlying areas in the state may call toll free 1-800-292-6570.

Calliope To Herald Approach Of Clown At Kentucky Fair

One of the first sounds you may encounter as you arrive at the 1974 Kentucky State Fair will be the jovial tunes of that musical marvel, the calliope. Those light carefree melodies will herald the approach of the Fair's "Official Greeter," Bob "Smiley" Corbin.

"Smiley" the Clown will be welcoming you with the atmosphere of fun and gaiety at this year's "Heritage '74" Fair.

Bicentennial Flag Day Set For State

Frankfort, Ky. — In order to honor the symbol of Kentucky's pioneer heritage, August 5, 1974, has been selected to be observed as Kentucky's Bicentennial Flag Day, to be marked by special flag celebrations at courthouses all across the Commonwealth.

Governor Wendell Ford will speak at a special flag day ceremony to be held in Frankfort on the lawn of the Old Capitol. The program will be under the direction of the Kentucky Department of Military Affairs. Adjutant General Richard Frymire will preside.

During each of the many ceremonies across the state, the Bicentennial flag will be run up the flagpole so that, according to Mrs. Paul Westpheling, executive director of the Kentucky Historical Events Celebration Commission, "the Bicentennial flag will be flying over every community in the state."

The Bicentennial flag is made up of the Bicentennial logo — a frontiersman centered on a shield of red, white and blue — positioned on a field of white. Mrs. Westpheling says that program guidelines have been sent to each of Kentucky's 120 county coordinators so that each ceremony will take place at the same time.

"Kentucky's Bicentennial flag is a symbol of our state's history and heritage. We want as many people as possible to have the flag and to fly it along with the state flag and American flag during the Bicentennial years."

To purchase a Bicentennial flag, contact the Kentucky Historical Events Celebration Commission, 1005 Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, phone toll-free 1-800-372-2974.

Kenny L. Wade

Kenny Wade Named As Farm Consultant

Cloys A. Hobbs, president of the Jackson Purchase Production Credit Association has announced the employment of Kenny L. Wade for the position of farm management consultant for the eight county purchase area. Mr. Wade will be in charge of the new department which will include farm management assistance, electronic farm record accounting and general improvement in farm records.

He was born in Fulton County, and is married to the former Jerilyn Colley. They have three children, two boys and a girl. They reside on Wilford Street, and attend church at the Seventh and College Street Church of Christ.

Wade graduated from Fulton County High School, attended Murray State University for two years and received his B.S. Degree in Agriculture Economics from the University of Kentucky. He received his M.S. Degree in Agriculture Economics from the University of Kentucky in 1966, with emphasis on production economics. In addition, he attended the University of Tennessee at Knoxville, in 1971-72, where he took additional courses in Rural Appraising and Farm Management and other related subjects.

Before coming with PCA, Kenny was employed as assistant general manager of Ashbourne Farms in LaGrange, Kentucky. Since 1967, Wade has been assistant professor of Agriculture at Morehead State University.

He is presently a member of the Kentucky Association of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers. Under the supervision of Dr. George B. Byers of the University of Kentucky, he wrote a research report on Comparative Cost of Custom Renting, Leasing and or Owning Farm Machinery.

The association has 25 farmers on the Electronic Record Keeping System, which is a comprehensive management type accounting. He will work very closely with the fieldmen and farmers on improving the program.

The Farm Management Program will be offered to the farmers who want its assistance and who feel they can use it to help increase their efficiency and farm income.

Hobbs said that this program is an expansion and improvement in PCA services to agriculture and we are glad to have a man like Mr. Wade to head up this program.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1974
Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) ♈
Your goal now should be to capture the attention of those in a position to further your aims, so polish up your wares — and your personality.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21) ♉
It may be easier for you to handle unusual or difficult tasks now than to make progress in routine affairs. Curb a tendency toward recklessness.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21) ♊
A business-like, but also an understanding approach to all matters will be needed for best returns. Some friction is possible, but don't add fuel to the fire.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23) ♋
Stand firm on principles and back good intentions with ACTION! You have a good chance now to profit by your many talents and fine gift of organization.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23) ♌
Stick to the tried-and-true. You can advance your status by putting forth best efforts in your own field. This is not a good period for starting new ventures.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) ♍
You may be asked to do a little extra, to change a plan. If it won't interfere with urgent considerations, be agreeable.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) ♎
You won't find any hiding place for your problems, so you might just as well face up to them and work them out. But do so in a relaxed manner and with no anxiety.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) ♏
Achievement will be largely up to yourself now. You won't have much planetary help, but YOU can light up the fires of enthusiasm and good will.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) ♐
Emphasize your stability. Many will look to you for support and guidance. Without overtaxing yourself, give help wherever you can.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) ♑
Mixed planetary influences. Good opportunities for advancement abound in your area but you may have to search them out for yourself. Personal interests highly favored.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) ♒
A period of adjustment. Profit by experience and study the methods of successful people. Make moves designed to enhance position, insure gains.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) ♓
Mixed influences. Check impulsive comments, action. You could step into trouble with little effort through wrong or heedless tactics.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with a high order of intellect, unusual versatility and boundless ambition. You are a great lover of luxuries and the good things of life; will work unrelentingly to accumulate the things you want — and usually attain them. You have a flair for the dramatic and would make an outstanding writer, playwright, painter, statesman or lawyer. Despite your fine gifts for organization and management, however, you have a tendency to start things and drop them when you lose interest. Try to curb this trait since it is one which could stand in the way of your ultimate accomplishment. Avoid, also, inclinations toward obstinacy and an insistence on having your own way. Birthdate of: George Bernard Shaw, dramatist, critic; Jean-Baptiste Corot, landscape painter; Aldous Huxley, Eng. author.

LOSE UGLY FAT
Start losing weight today or money back. MONADEX is a tiny tablet and easy to take. MONADEX will help curb your desire for excess food. Eat less — weigh less. Contains no dangerous drugs and will not make you nervous. No strenuous exercise. Change your life... start today. MONADEX cost $3.00 for a 20 day supply. Large economy size is $5.00. Also try AQUATABS: they work gently to help you lose water-bloat. AQUATABS — a "water pill" that works — $3.00. Both guaranteed and sold by: Sav-Rite Drugs

Geological Survey Is Playing Important Role In Development

FRANKFORT, Ky.—Although scientific in nature, the Kentucky Geological Survey (KGS) is playing an active role in further developing Kentucky's economy and aiding in the state's environmental well-being.

This relatively small state agency assists in the exploration of Kentucky's mineral resources, advises the government and private industry on construction projects and waste disposal, both liquid and solid, and is helping to make Kentucky the most thoroughly mapped state in the nation.

The KGS is a research and information body operating out of the University of Kentucky and directed by Dr. Wallace W. Hagan, state geologist. Its major programs include mineral and water resource investigations, and in concurrence with the U.S. Geological Survey, it is mapping the surface rock formations throughout the state on a scale of 2,000 feet to the inch.

This program, areal geological mapping, is the largest project ever undertaken by a geological survey. Dr. Hagan said, as Kentucky's 47,000 square miles will require 763 highly detailed maps.

"Kentucky is the best mapped state in the nation," Dr. Hagan said, "both topographically and geologically."

The KGS provides its maps and other publications to the public and answers thousands of requests each year.

"And we're getting more requests all the time," he said. "We're helping on such matters as where Kentucky's coal deposits lie or where oil and natural gas sources can be found."

Such services are encouraging exploration for coal, oil, gas and minerals, he said.

"We make exploration dollars go farther by helping to locate areas favorable for deposits and providing information on existing wells."

The geological survey's coal section recently opened a field office in Madisonville to step up a reserve study being conducted in Western Kentucky. The purpose of the study, Dr. Hagan said, is to "pin down what coal reserves we have and how to best use it under our present technology."

Dr. Hagan noted that the KGS is playing an increasing role in city county planning. Its maps and publications provide geologic guidelines for constructing roads, bridges, buildings and other structures. The survey works closely with the Kentucky Department of Transportation, Commerce, Parks, Natural Resources and Environmental Protection and Health departments.

"Knowing the geologic conditions can provide highway engineers with a way of alerting themselves to potentially troublesome areas," said assistant state geologist Preston McGrain.

Field geologists have played a part in getting sections of highways relocated to prevent roadslides, he noted, thus saving the hundreds of thousands of dollars in repairs.

And, he added, because of the availability of information on foundation conditions, Kentucky is being considered more by industry.

The survey has also been involved in environmental matters, Dr. Hagan said. Geological maps and data have been used in the study and appraisal of proposed sanitary landfill sites in several areas of Kentucky, and the water resource division aids in drainage problems and flood control.

"We're not purely scientific," he noted. "We try to put geology on a basis useful to everyone."

Dr. Hagan has held his present post since 1958. At that time he helped initiate the massive geologic mapping program with the USGS.

"The state Chamber of Commerce, Kentucky Society of Professional Engineers, the Kentucky Oil and Gas Association and others endorsed and actively supported the program," he said. The drive was successful and Kentucky's 1960 Legislature appropriated $900,000 in matching funds for 1960-62. Funding has been continuous, though at varying degrees, since then.

While the program is matched on a 50-50 basis by the state and federal governments, the USGS provides most of the manpower.

Field geologists may spend six months to a year mapping the area—traveling by jeep, motorcycle and on foot. Then at the elaborate USGS cartographic unit in Lexington, maps are carefully scribed, color coded, checked and rechecked for accuracy.

Interpretive sections on rock characteristics and economic significance are added. The entire process for one map (each one covering 59 square miles) can take up to a year and a half.

Some of the nation's finest geologists are working on this project, Dr. Hagan said, and the Lexington cartographic unit has won national awards for excellence.

Each map costs approximately $25,000. About 80 per cent of the project is field completed, and it is expected to be finished by 1978.

The program has proven to be extremely foresighted. Dr. Hagan noted that not only has it aided planners, engineers, developers and others, but the maps have been used for education purposes throughout the world.

Increasing Number Of Vets Study Outside United States

Increasing numbers of veterans, servicemen, dependents and survivors are studying outside the United States under the GI Bill and other Veterans Administration programs, the agency reported today.

A total of 55,000 persons trained abroad in fiscal year 1973 under the GI Bill and the Dependents' Educational Assistance (DEA) programs. This is a 77 per cent hike over the previous year.

When final statistics are in, officials expect fiscal 1974 enrollments to reach 65,000. Currently eligible persons may train in VA-approved courses at any of more than 800 schools in 60 countries.

Among the 55,000 students were 19,500 veterans, 30,000 servicemen and 5,500 dependents and survivors of dependents.

Most of the servicemen studied under the agency's PREP (Predischarge Education Program) which allows servicemen to take, without loss of basic entitlement, courses needed to qualify for higher education.

Training outside the United States has been available to veterans and servicemen since the World War II original GI

Bill was enacted but the benefit was extended in October 1973, to eligible wives, husbands, widows, widowers and children under the DEA program.

VA officials stressed that - except for servicemen in PREP - training abroad must be in institutions of higher learning and it must lead to a degree or to its equivalent from a fully recognized public university in the same country.

Jean Thomas, At Age 93, Keeps On Traipsin'

ASHLAND, Ky.—Looking back, Jean Thomas could say she has left her mark.

But that's not her style. At 93, she doesn't look back.

"The Traipsin' Woman" earned her recognition through "determination, suffering and hard work," often sustained on a diet of faith, encouragement of friends and "one more doughnut."

Born in Ashland, she was christened Jeanette Mary Francis de Assisi Aloysius Narcissus Garfield Bell, but shortened that to Jean Thomas after her 1913 marriage to Albert Hart Thomas.

The Traipsin' Woman recently recalled that as a child she was accused of being "venturesome" and "stage struck."

"I was," she chuckled, "and you can bet your life I intend to stay that way."

Miss Thomas was a "liberated woman" long before that movement became popular. At the age of 17, she began a career as a court stenographer.

This was when young ladies took up "school teaching and dressmaking" and traipsin' over the country was viewed with distrust, disdain and even superstition by the mountain folks, she recalls.

"Some folks thought I might have been a witch," she jokes. Carefully saving her wages, Miss Thomas was finally able to go to New York to attend Hunter College and the Pulitzer School of Journalism.

After 13 years in Greenwich Village, she moved on to Hollywood to work as a script writer for the silent movies. At one time she was a stenographer for Texas Guinan, a colorful impresario of the Roaring Twenties.

While her associations in New York and Hollywood are all part of the Jean Thomas story, it was as she traveled the mountain circuits in a jolt wagon, that The Traipsin' Woman became interested in the songs mountain people sang to the accompaniment of dulcimer, lute, recorder, fiddle, and other native instruments.

It was there that she began to collect the folklore, traditions, and music to preserve for future generations a bygone lifestyle which might otherwise have been lost.

She heard, learned, and grew to love the Elizabethan ballads which had been handed down virtually unchanged since early immigrants brought them to this country from the British Isles.

From the practice of the mountain people getting together for a singin' gatherin', The Traipsin' Woman conceived the idea of a folksong festival to preserve and present this traditional music for the general public to enjoy.

In the 1930, with the encouragement of several friends, including Brooks Atkinson, then drama critic of the New York Times, the American Folksong Festival and Society was founded to "bring the singin' gatherin' out of its mountain remoteness before this rich music was lost to American Culture."

Personal friends and professional acquaintances have assisted The Traipsin' Woman over the years. Such notables as Carl Sandburg, Erskine Caldwell and Burl Ives, with whom she has appeared on national television in "Gateways to Folkmusic," have served on her national advisory board.

But the festival is only one of the methods Jean Thomas has used to share her knowledge and love of the mountain traditions. She is the author of several books on the subject.

The "Singin' Fiddler of Lost Hope Hollow" is the story of Jelson Setters, with whom Miss Thomas performed at the invitation of Britain's Royalty.

"The Sun Shines Bright" is the first part of The Traipsin' Woman's autobiography, and its very title exemplifies the philosophy by which Jean Thomas has lived.

But though she says that if she had her life to live over, she would change nothing, she admits there have been trying moments.

"I have felt the twinge of self-pity and fear. But these are the most destructive forces in the world and it takes faith in God and faith in yourself to overcome them."

"In the early years, there were times when I was broke; just enough for a cup of coffee and a doughnut. Sometimes I thought I could never face another doughnut, but I did for it meant survival. It was even good—still is."

"I guess," she mused, "I've always been chasing that doughnut—always will."

Sitting in her "Wee House in the Woods" museum home, The Traipsin' Woman said, "It's been fun. You should have fun, enjoy yourself while developing your talents."

And of the future—retirement?

"I have a few more projects to complete," she replied mysteriously, but then with indignation she said, "Me retire?"

Not as long as there is a story to tell or a song to sing, anyway.

Together's not too good for twins

A research team from Birmingham University in England has come up with the theory that twins may learn less than other children because they spend too much time in each other's company.

After studying the records of 2,000 twins and 48,000 single children born in Birmingham during the 1950s, the team found that twins scored "appreciably higher" in verbal reasoning tests if brought up separately.

Claims Of Patty Hearst's Surrender Unfolds As Hoax

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A woman tricked police into believing she was fugitive heiress Patricia Hearst and was willing to surrender, bringing 150 policemen to a North Hollywood apartment.

Police officials called off their operation early today after the hoax unfolded.

—Miss Hearst's parents and sister flew anxiously to Los Angeles from San Francisco. Her father was very disappointed, and the family quickly returned home.

—Officers surrounded an apartment building, blocked off streets and negotiated by telephone with the hoaxter, who said she wanted to surrender to "Uncle George." Rumors later buzzed that Miss Hearst had been in the apartment building but had escaped.

—A police spokesman said officers raided an apartment but found only a cat, a .22-caliber rifle and an automatic shotgun. Three persons who were in the apartment, including a 13-year-old girl who bears a strong resemblance to Miss Hearst, said they were grabbed by detectives and questioned.

Police said the guns had a legitimate owner with no connection to the Symbionese Liberation Army, which kidnapped Miss Hearst at Berkeley, Calif., on Feb. 4.

The hoaxter wasn't found, and a police spokesman said later "we had no evidence that Miss Hearst or any SLA member was ever there."

After all the excitement, Police Chief Ed Davis summed up the Wednesday night operation as "a good command exercise." Lt. Dan Cook, the police spokesman said it was "a practice in futility."

It all began when three persons called police between 6 and 6:30 p.m. and said a woman fitting the description of Miss Hearst, who after her abduction renounced her family and said she was joining her terrorist captors.

Police said the three callers said the woman who entered the building was followed later by a black man carrying a rifle.

Officers went to the building, contacted the manager and showed her photographs of Miss Hearst and SLA members William and Emily Harris, all being sought on a variety of state and federal charges. The manager, Marcella Tyler, identified Miss Hearst and Mrs. Harris as being seen in the building, police said.

Few Understand The Actual Role Of Property Evaluation Administrators

FRANKFORT, Ky. — One of the most widely misinterpreted elected offices in Kentucky is that of the Property Valuation Administrator (PVA).

According to E. D. Ballard, director, Property and Inheritance Tax Division, Department of Revenue, "The general public doesn't realize the importance and responsibility of the PVA and that he is a state and not a county official."

His responsibility includes locating and valuing all property in his county. His job requires accuracy and good judgment, in order for every individual to pay his proper amount of taxes. The PVA does not fix tax rates as many believe, he simply determines the value of the individual property. The local fiscal courts and school boards fix their tax rates, which are applied to the PVA's evaluations.

The road to becoming a PVA is quite different from that of any other elected official. Before being eligible to be placed on the ballot one must pass a test administered by the Department of Revenue.

Ballard described the test as very comprehensive. The exam is in four parts, general aptitude, ad valorem tax laws and real estate evaluation (one is afforded an opportunity to prepare for this section), arithmetic problems and an oral section.

There is no educational requirement to take the test, and Ballard pointed out that persons with an eighth grade education have passed the test, although many persons with much better educational backgrounds have failed it.

Once elected, the PVA receives training in property evaluation from the Department of Revenue.

Individuals must list all property they owned on Jan. 1 with the county PVA by March 1. Any property not listed by that date must be located and assessed by the PVA. After assessing all property the PVA compiles and alphabetical list of property evaluations in each tax district of his county. The results are then sent to the Department of Revenue where the evaluations are compared to the total county sales prices. Should the PVA's list not coincide with the sales prices, the PVA has erred and will be required to review his assessments.

Until 1918 the office carried the title of tax assessor and an assessor could not succeed himself. The office of assessor was abolished and replaced with the county tax commissioner, who could succeed himself and who was subjected to the test.

In 1969 the name was changed to PVA because the title of county tax commissioner implied that he was a county official responsible for levying taxes, which was misleading to the public.

Methods of assessing local property vary in different states. Since 1965 Kentucky has assessed property for its full value. Oregon is the only other state with 100 per cent assessment. Some areas have been known to assess property as low as 15 per cent of its total value. However surveys by the U. S. Census Bureau show Kentucky to be one of the six fairest states in property assessments.

The PVA is only responsible for assessing property for the county and state but many cities use the PVA's records to determine how much city taxes an individual should pay.

The 120 local tax assessors in Kentucky are under the supervision of the Department of Revenue. Some states have been known to have as many as 3,000 local assessors who are elected or appointed as local officials, with no central supervision. Hawaii, on the other hand, has no local assessors.

The PVA's salary is determined by a classification system similar to the state merit system. The salary range starts at $6,360 a year, with a potential of $24,000. Ballard says that only a few PVA's in the smaller counties are paid the minimum rate. Conversely few will earn the maximum figure.

The PVA also appoints deputies who must take the exam and be approved by the Department of Revenue.

Paducah Mentioned In Article

Paducah, recently selected as one of Kentucky's "Bicentennial Communities" by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, has been included in the ARBA's "Bicentennial Times" in its regular feature, "Bicentennial Communities: A Progress Report."

The article acknowledges Paducah's place as the "commercial, industrial, financial and cultural center of the Purchase Region," Kentucky's eight westernmost counties.

Such noteworthy activities of Paducah's Bicentennial celebrations as the performance of a specially commissioned work of Kentucky composer Paul Shahan, a short story contest, the awarding of the Duke and Duchess of Paducah citations and the other events of Paducah's Fourth of July Celebration were mentioned.

Among other plans which were in part responsible for Paducah's Bicentennial award were the proposed sculpting of a statue of General William Clark, of the Lewis and Clark Expedition who founded Paducah; the construction of an 1800s style train depot and the purchase of the lands surrounding Island Creek, once hunting grounds for the Chickasaw Indians and now the site of open dumps, for rescue and preservation.

Greek Government Recognizes Makarios

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The new civilian government of Greece has freed all political prisoners and recognized Archbishop Makarios as president of Cyprus. But the new head of the Greek Cypriot regime on the island, President Glafos Clerides, said he would not hand the office back to the archbishop.

One of Premier Constantine Karamanlis' first acts after naming a 12-man cabinet on Wednesday was to declare a general amnesty for all those jailed for political dissent during the seven years of military dictatorship.

Citizenship was restored to all who had been deprived of it, including actress Melina Mercouri, leftist political leader Andreas Papandreu and composer Mikos Theodorakis. The new government emptied the Yiaros Island concentration camp and shut it down.

Theodorakis flew home from Paris and said he thought the return to power of Karamanlis was a positive step. But he pointed out that "the political left is excluded" from the government.

The cabinet members are all centrists or rightists, and men of economic and bureaucratic expertise, indicating Karamanlis planned a speedy assault on inflation and other economic woes.

Foreign Minister George Mavros, also the deputy premier, announced the new regime's repudiation of the coup in Cyprus, generally believed to have been the work of the dictatorship. He said Greece "has accepted fully the United Nations Security Council decision on Cyprus.... We, therefore, recognize President Makarios as the legal head of Cyprus."

But in Nicosia, the Cypriot capital, President Clerides said the people of Cyprus should decide the presidency, and he would hold an election "not later than within a few months."

Asked if Makarios could run, he said: "In a free country every citizen has the right to present himself for election." But he warned that "it would be a very unwise move for Makarios to come back under the present conditions."

The 61-year-old archbishop was proclaimed president automatically last year for a three-year term when no candidate opposed him. Now in New York, he said earlier this week he planned to return to Cyprus in a few weeks. But there was no immediate comment from him on Clerides' statements.

Clerides was Makarios' closest associate, political heir and the president of the House of Representatives. The latter post made him the constitutional successor to the president, and he moved into the top spot Tuesday after the collapse of the dictatorship in Athens pulled the rug from under the coup leaders in Cyprus.

No major fighting was reported on Cyprus Wednesday, but the Indian commander of the United Nations peacekeeping force reported indications Wednesday night that 400-500 Turkish troops with tanks were digging in 500 yards from the Nicosia airport and would try to seize it during the night.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim called the Security Council into emergency session in New York to deal with the reported threat. But Turkish Foreign Minister Turgut Gunes sent Waldheim a message assuring him that Turkey would not threaten or use force against the troops at the airport. Several council members said they were satisfied, and the council adjourned.

Meanwhile, a contingent of 500 British troops in armored cars was reported on its way to the airport from British bases in south Cyprus to bolster the U.N. force.

Clerides accused the Turks of moving heavy armor since the cease-fire.

Gunes, Greek Foreign Minister Mavros and British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan were to meet in Geneva tonight to begin peace negotiations for Cyprus. Their three nations are the guarantors of the island's independence under the treaty that freed it from Britain in 1960.

The speaker will be Bro. Cecil Corkren, minister of the Green Plain Church of Christ. Singing will be under the direction of Bro. A. T. Moore.

Services will be held at 7:45 p.m. each evening. The public is invited to attend.

Shady Grove Church

To Hold Homecoming

Homecoming will be held this Sunday, July 28, at the Shady Grove Baptist Church.

Singing will be held in the afternoon at 1:30. Featured singers will be Joe Kelsey and the Songmasters and the Tennessee Gospel Singers.

Impeachment. . . (Continued from Page 1)

Capitol switchboard, forced Rodino to empty the packed room while police searched fruitlessly for a bomb. Later, after Rodino had recessed the proceedings for the night and the hearing room had almost emptied, a second bomb threat was received. Again nothing was found.

The most explosive item in the room was a resolution offered by Rep. Harold D. Donohue, D-Mass., calling for Nixon's impeachment on two broad articles, one based on the Watergate cover-up, the other charging him with abusing his powers of office.

The proposed articles, still subject to refinements, were drafted after day-long negotiations between pro-impeachment Democrats and seven fence-sitting members—four Republicans and three Southern Democrats.

Neither side would say publicly that the articles as presented represent an agreement, but one participant in the negotiations said he expects the seven undecided members to support at least one of them. That would produce a 26-12 vote in favor of impeachment.

The Watergate article accuses Nixon of acting "directly and personally and through his close subordinates and agents" to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

It lists nine specific acts it says Nixon directed to carry out the cover-up, including the payment of hush money, the suppression of evidence, the misuse of the CIA and the making of "false or misleading public statements in his capacity as President for the purpose of deceiving the people of the United States."

The abuse of power article charges Nixon with authorizing illegal wiretaps, establishing a special investigative unit in the White House to engage in unlawful activities—such as the break-in of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office—and with interfering with the administration of the Internal Revenue Service and the FBI.

Both articles, and the specific acts cited in them, follow closely the major concerns in the impeachment inquiry of Rep. Thomas F. Railsback, R-Ill., in whose office the uncommitted members drafted their proposals for submission to the pro-impeachment group.

Railsback delivered an emotional speech Wednesday night in which he stopped short of saying he would vote for impeachment but left no doubt he was bothered by Nixon's actions in the Watergate cover-up and in his use of the IRS and FBI.

"If there is anything that is going to affect my vote, it is misuse of sensitive agencies," he said.

Speaking without notes, Railsback was the only member who ran over the 15 minutes allotted each speaker. He said he had been agonizing over his decision for months. He warned that "the young people in this country" will be come frustrated and disillusioned if the committee adopts an attitude that the country cannot afford to impeach a president and fails to get at the truth.

Another Midwest Republican, Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, expressed major concerns that he said troubled him.

McClory said he did not think the evidence before the committee implicated Nixon in Watergate, but that the President could not escape some responsibility for offenses those around him committed.

The Republican speeches were in sharp contrast to the crisp presentations of the Democrats.

"Should Richard M. Nixon be found guilty of obstruction of justice? Yes," said Rep. William L. Hungate, D-Mo. "Should Richard M. Nixon be found guilty of abusing the powers of his office? Yes. Should Richard M. Nixon be found guilty of contempt of and defiance of Congress and the courts? Yes."

Texas Rep. Jack Brooks, who used only about 4 of his 15 minutes, said the catalogue of crimes that go under the name Watergate amount to a record of corruption unequalled in the nation's history.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., said he had concluded "that President Nixon has consciously and intentionally engaged in serious misdeeds, that he has corrupted and subverted our political and government processes to the extent that he should be impeached and the matter of his guilt or innocence referred to the Senate for trial."

Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich., said no one should vote for impeachment who is not convinced already of Nixon's guilt. Before he could cast such a vote, he said, he would have to be convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that Nixon was guilty of a serious enough offense to require his removal from office.

Sugar Creek Church Plans Homecoming

Homecoming services will be held Sunday at the Sugar Creek Baptist Church. The annual event this year is featuring the Tenth-Anniversary of worship in the new building.

Homecoming guests include former pastor, Bro. Otis Jones, who is the Homecoming speaker. Bro. Jones was pastor of the church in 1964 when the present building was constructed. He is now pastor of the Oak Grove Baptist Church near Hazel.

Other program guests include the "Singing Steps" who will present the special singing in the morning service and be singing in the afternoon along with other visiting singers. The Sugar Creek Singers and Quartet will also be singing.

A fellowship meal has been planned at noon at the church and everyone is invited, according to the pastor, Gerald Owen.

protect the principle of presidential confidentiality in a system of separation of powers."

But the Supreme Court said the need for the tapes and documents in the cover-up trial took precedence over any generalized claim of confidentiality.

Nixon sought to picture his legal setback in the best light, saying, "I was gratified ... to note that the court reaffirmed both the validity and the importance of the principle of executive privilege—the principle I had sought to maintain. By complying fully with the court's ruling in this case, I hope and trust that I will contribute to strengthening rather than weakening this principle for the future—so that this will prove to be not the precedent that destroyed the principle, but the action that preserved it."

Nixon said "it will be essential that the special circumstances of this case not be permitted to cloud the rights of presidents to maintain the basic confidentiality without which this office cannot function."

More than a half hour passed between issuance of the court opinion in Washington and notification to Nixon. The President got the word by telephone from White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig Jr., who had seen the first bulletins on news agency teletypes at the Western White House offices. Haig checked with Washington before calling Nixon, who was in the upstairs study of his neighboring home.

While spokesmen fended off questions from reporters, Nixon and St. Clair, joined at times by Haig and Ziegler, began marathon sessions to decide on the President's response.

In midmorning a copy of the court opinion reached Nixon over an electronic telecopier system.

Ziegler said St. Clair's Washington office received 40 minutes' advance notice that the court would rule, but was not told what the decision would be.

As Nixon considered his response, he canceled a scheduled conference on housing problems with Secretary of Housing and Urban Development James T. Lynn.

Asked if the decision had caught Nixon by surprise, Ziegler replied, "I didn't detect an attitude of surprise" but rather one of disappointment.

Ziegler declined to take a position on whether the Judiciary Committee should delay consideration of impeachment until it can seek the subpoenaed tapes. However, he restated the administration view that the committee members "should move as swiftly as possible with their deliberations."

He said he did not believe Nixon watched any of the televised first session of committee debate on impeachment Wednesday night.

Officials Moving Tear Gas Into Unit Where Hostages Threatened

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Prison officials began moving tear gas equipment today into a state prison unit where armed convicts threatened to kill 10 hostages.

W. J. Estelle Jr., director of the Texas Department of Corrections, said the situation was stable and "negotiations are going on by telephone." He refused comment about the equipment.

An armed takeover of a third-floor library was led by Fred Gomez Carrasco, a prisoner serving a life sentence, prison authorities said.

Prison information director Ron Taylor, when asked about reports of shooting, said no one had been shot and killed. But when asked if no one had been shot, he responded, "I'm not saying that."

Taylor went back inside the ivy-covered prison fortress when asked to comment on the presence of tear gas equipment.

Authorities said seven convicts were with the hostages, but one of the convicts was not believed to be an active participant in the rebellion.

The hostages are seven women and three men, said Dr. Don Kirkpatrick, assistant director of the Texas Department of Corrections. One of the men is a guard and the other hostages are civilian teachers and librarians.

Kirkpatrick told newsmen Wednesday night that Carrasco had demanded six bullet-proof vests, three bullet-proof helmets and visors, three walkie-talkies, five magazines of ammunition, 100 loose rounds for each rifle and "suitable clothing for the three of us."

Kirkpatrick said Carrasco, who was sentenced to life for assault with attempt to murder a police officer at San Antonio, had threatened to execute the hostages if the demands were not met.

"Mr. Carrasco is not pushing us for any time deadline," Kirkpatrick said. "It is also interesting to note there have been no transportation demands."

Kirkpatrick said there was only a double door leading into the library and Carrasco was making the hostages sit in front of it, rotating them about every 20 minutes.

This prevented sharpshooters from firing into the room, he said.

He said several of the convicts had talked to their lawyers.

In addition to Carrasco, the other convicts were identified as Rudolfo Dominguez of San Antonio, serving a 15-year term for assault to murder; Ignacio Cuevas, a Mexican national serving 45 years for murder; Florencia Vera, 29, of San Antonio, 10 years for burglary; Martin Cuero, 27, of Houston, two years for possession of cocaine, a narcotic; Henry S. Escamilla, 40, of San Antonio, five years for shoplifting; and Stephen Ray Robertson, 26, Dallas, 16 years for rape.

Kirkpatrick said, however, that he did not believe Robertson was an active participant.

The local artist has exhibited with the Guild and in various art shows in the Western Kentucky area. She is a native of Murray and studied art at Murray State University.

BAND BOOSTERS
The Murray High School Band Boosters Club will meet at the Murray Middle School Band Room on Monday, July 29, at 7:30 p.m.

The demands were delivered to officials by the prison chaplain, the Rev. Joseph O'Brien, a Roman Catholic priest who was in and out of the library several times Wednesday night conferring with Carrasco. Carrasco served as a porter in the prison chapel.

Prison authorities said Carrasco and his companions took control of the library about 1 p.m. Wednesday, brandishing three handguns. Officials said they did not know where the convicts obtained the weapons. Correctional officers at the prison do not carry arms.

The convicts originally took 11 hostages, but one, Glennon Johnson, 51, suffered an apparent heart attack about 9:30 p.m. and was freed.

David Butler To Be Evangelist For Northside Revival

David Butler will be the evangelist for the revival services at the Northside Baptist Church, located six miles north of Murray on U. S. Highway 641 North, starting Sunday, July 28, and continuing through Saturday, August 3.

Services will be held nightly at 7:30 with Ryan Graham as song leader. Rev. Randolph Allen is church pastor.

Bro. Butler, a graduate of Murray State University, is now youth pastor at the Ninth and O Baptist Church, Louisville, where he is attending the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He is married to the former Gayle Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rogers of Murray.

Sermon topics by Bro. Butler will be "Revival—Our Only Hope!", "The Biggest Hypocrite I Know," "At The End of the Road," "Satan Is Alive and Well!" "Here Come Da Judge!" "Who Is Jesus?" and "The Greatest Love Story Ever Told."
