FULTON, KY., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1941.

NUMBER THIRTY-NINE.

YMBC HELD ACTIVE SESSION

Young Men's Business Club met in luncheon Tuesday night, with a good attendance present. A letter was read from the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Cairo pertaining to the Mardi Gras in Cairo on October 18, inviting the Young Men's Business Club to participate in this event by sending a queen and escort. The club elected Miss Maurine Ketchum to represent Fulton at Cairo. Clyde Williams, Jr., was chosen as the escort. Miss Ketchum will compete in queen's contest Saturday night in which $25 in cash will be awarded.

South Fulton school asked the club to sponsor a football game at South Side Park on November 7, at which time Hayti, Mo., will play the South Fulton Red Devils. The following committee was appointed to have charge of arrangements for this game: Moulton Gambill, Orin Winstead, Talbot Sawyer, William Henry Edwards, Bill Houston, R. E. Sanford, M. L. Parker.

Bertie Pigue, treasurer, made a report on purchase of defense bonds. He said that the best bond for the club was Series F, costing $740, and matures at $1,000. Purchase of this bond was approved, and it will be bought immediately to aid the defense program of the U. S. government.

Orin Winstead, chairman of a committee to investigate possibility of having ladies night banquet in the near future, reported several bids on price per plate. It was decided to postpone a definite decision of this banquet until further bids could be obtained.

Plans were approved for membership of the club to enjoy a fish fry at Reelfoot Lake on Thursday night of next week. Losers in a recent attendance contest will pay for the winners plates.

President Homra then brought to attention of the club that the Courier-Journal was running a special edition on the Sequi-Centennial and wanted Fulton to have an ad in this edition. Half of cost of ad, $25, to be paid by the YMBC, with the Chamber of Commerce paying the other half. This was voted down.

Mr. Holland stated that everything was in readiness for the Cadiz game, which will be played here Friday night. This is the homecoming game. No parade but instead there will be a pep meeting at the bandstand on Lake-st at which time the high school band will play, and a big bonfire will be burning. Other entertainment features will be given.

The club voted $15 to the Boy Scouts to enable them to make a trip, in appreciation of their help during the Ken-Tenn Exposition.

A letter was read from the Union City Junior Chamber of Commerce for their assistance in helping to sponsor the recent game between the Fulton Bulldogs and Union City. Mr. Holland said that the work and publicity given prior to the game played considerable part in bringing a victory over the Tennesseans.

Three new members were elected to membership: Wilbur King of King Motor Co.; William Moore, Roberts & Son; A. J. Mansfield, Browder's Mill.

Vote was taken on the six months award by secret ballot. Board of directors will report at the next meeting the results of this vote. Meeting adjourned until the next session on Tuesday night, October 28.

REVIVAL IN PROGRESS AT NAZARENE CHURCH

A revival meeting began at the Nazarene Church Wednesday night, with a large crowd attending, and a great service was held. The pastor, Rev. Calvert, is doing the preaching, and Mrs. Calvert is leading special singing. Miss Lillian Mahler of Cookeville is in charge of music.

Services are held each evening at 7:30 o'clock and the public is cordially invited.

SEQUI-CENTENNIAL PLANS UNDER WAY

Representatives from Princeton, Murray, Mayfield, Paducah and Fulton met Tuesday night at Hotel Hall in Mayfield to discuss preliminary plans for the Sequi-Centennial celebration which marks the 150th anniversary of the state of Kentucky.

The celebration will be in the form of a pageant, Dr. Forrest C. Pogue of Murray State Teachers College explained, with five cities participating. Murray College has agreed to prepare the pageant, which will be built around the history of this state, with the musical department of the college being used as the nucleus of the dramatic presentation. The event will be a five-day affair, with one day given to each town, where the pageant will be presented from specially prepared outdoor stages. High schools in each community are expected to aid in the programs.

Each community will work out a program of its own to tie in with the pageant, which will be the most stupendous undertaking ever attempted in West Kentucky. The following representatives were present at the meeting Tuesday night: Dr. Frank T. Linton, Dr. C. F. Engelhardt, Thos. J. Simmons of Princeton; Dr. Forrest C. Pogue, Harry Fenton of Murray; Floyd Sperry of Paducah; Alexander Inman, C. I. Henry, Russell Uphoff of Mayfield; Ford Lansden, Rotary Club, Dr. R. V. Putnam, Lions Club, Paul Bushart, Young Men's Business Club of Fulton.

Bulldogs Are Defeated 14 To 6 In Murray

The Fulton Bulldogs were defeated 14 to 6 in Murray last Thursday night, playing on a muddy field through a constant rain. The Bulldogs seemed to have a better team than Murray during the first quarter and scored a touchdown during the first few minutes of play, McClellan going over for the score.

In the beginning of the second quarter big "Sug" Willingham, fullback, was forced out of the game with an injured arm, and the Fulton team finished the game without its star player.

Murray scored first in the second quarter and a plunge for the extra point was good. In the third quarter they blocked a punt and scored from the ten yard line.

Neither team made any scoring threat during the last quarter.

The Trigg County Wildcats will come to Fulton Friday night of this week and the game will begin at 7:45 o'clock at Fairfield Park. The Young Men's Business Club of Fulton will sponsor this game.

RED CROSS DRIVE STARTS NOVEMBER 14

Preliminary plans were made on Wednesday night for the annual Red Cross roll call, which is scheduled for November 14 in Fulton. Mrs. J. C. Scruggs, executive secretary; Mrs. Martin Nall, Junior chairman; and F. A. Homra, roll call chairman, attended a regional Red Cross conference at Jackson, Tenn., Monday night. A local meeting followed here Wednesday night for laying of plans.

On November 13 an organization meeting will be held, and the annual roll call will be launched November 14. This year the quota of members has been raised from 400 to 700, so the local chapter will have to conduct a much more aggressive campaign for members than formerly. The National Chapter gets 50c of each membership, with the local chapter getting all the remaining membership fee paid.

"THERE IS NO LOVE" By Mrs. Curlin Reed

In this week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post appears an entertaining story entitled "There Is No Love." It was written by a Fulton woman, Mrs. Curlin Reed, who has been 'quite successful as a writer.

SCRAPE OFF THOSE BARNACLES!

Board Of Education Met Monday Night

The Fulton Board of Education met in regular session Monday night. A lengthy discussion was held on plans connected with the erection of the new school building, with Parley Harkens, WPA superintendent, present.

A new truck was purchased by the board for use in transporting materials for the new school, and a concrete mixer will be purchased. About twenty WPA workers are now employed in preparing the Science Hall and the basement of the high school for classes to be moved from Carr Institute.

Monday, November 1, has been designated as moving day for the grammar school, when all classes will meet in new quarters. Fixtures and school supplies will be moved during the week-end. Work of tearing down Carr Institute will start soon afterwards.

There is a need for more workers, and all married men over 21 years of age not employed should see Mrs. Shaw over Atkins Insurance office on Thursday for certification.

Walter Fox has been named to succeed Uel Killebrew as instructor in the manual training department, with his resignation becoming effective October 17.

SOUTH FULTON BAND ATTENDS TROY FAIR

Eight members of the South Fulton Band went to Troy, Tenn., last Saturday to attend the school's community fair. The South Fulton band students played in concert with band members from Dyer, Hornbeak and Troy, under the direction of Prof. William Schwalb.

The group who attended from South Fulton and their instruments were: Reba Jean Brown and Vada Bell Ward, trombones; Ivan Jones, Saxophone; Billie Carver, trumpet; Mary Sue Bynum, bell lyre; Jane Bynum and Bonnie Copeland, clarinets; and Elizabeth DeMyer, cornet. They were accompanied to Troy by Mrs. W. B. McClain and Mrs. I. M. Jones.

Members of the band were served dinner by the Troy P. T. A.

GOOD CROWD ATTENDS SINGING AT BEELERTON

The Fulton-Hickman Counties Singing Convention was held last Sunday at Beelerton, meeting in semi-annual session. About 2,000 people attended. Mr. R. C. Crocker of Fulton is president of the convention and was in charge during the day.

Among special singers who attended were the Dresden Quartet, the Laxton Sisters, Paducah Mixed Quartet and the Water Valley Girls' Quartet.

The spring meeting of this convention will be held at the Hickman County courthouse in Clinton on the second Sunday in April.

Work Progresses At Fair Grounds Here

Under the supervision of the NYA about fifty young men are engaged at the old fair grounds here on a project that will mean considerable improvement. The workers are divided into two groups, each working two weeks during a month.

All old buildings now standing on the grounds are to be torn down. Much progress has already been made in razing the grandstand, which has stood for thirty years since 1911 when the Fulton County Fair was first opened here. Destruction of this building marks the passing of another landmark in Fulton.

A portion of the grandstand will not be torn down just now, but will be reworked and used as a storage place for lumber saved, and as a building in which concrete blocks will be made this winter. These blocks will be used to build a fence around the 35-acre track, including the present Kitty League Park.

The grounds are to be leveled and smoothed, and the pond is to be cleaned out and restocked with fish. The race track is to be maintained, and tentative plans include the construction of new buildings for fair exhibits and also a community house for public meetings. The Farm Bureau may build a livestock barn for use at the annual show and sale.

The NYA project at the fair grounds, which was recently purchased by the Fulton Board of Education, will make it one of the finest recreation centers in West Kentucky.

UNION CITY FLYERS HOPE TO LEASE FIELD

Union City flyers, who have been keeping their planes at the Martin airport, used a 50-acre field on the Clannie Johnson farm 3 1/2 miles out of the city on the Union City-Jordan highway, on Sunday afternoon. Two Piper Cub planes, one owned by James Holly and John Bandy, and the other owned by Albert Pannell, Calvin Clymer, Ted Johnson and Golder Barnes used the field and made many flights.

Members of the Obion County Flying Club hope that arrangements may be made whereby the smooth 50-acre field on the Johnson farm may be leased for at least a year's period so that the constantly growing number of flyers in the county may use it. It is believed that it would require very little work to place it in first class condition for use of small planes.

RUSH CREEK CLUB TO HAVE WEINER ROAST

The Rush Creek Homemakers will entertain with a weiner roast on the lawn of the home of Mrs. Frank Henry on Friday night, October 17, at seven o'clock. Everyone is invited to attend.

FARM BUREAU IN ANNUAL DRIVE

Rev. W. O. Parr, district organization director of the Farm Bureau, who is in charge of the annual membership drive in Fulton county, fired the opening gun Monday night, when a community-wide meeting was held at the court house in Hickman to lay plans for the campaign. J. B. McGehee, secretary of the Fulton County Farm Bureau, said that the membership quota for this county was 700 farmers.

The schedule of meetings held this week for continuation of the drive for members in the new year of 1942 was as follows: Crutchfield, Tuesday night; Cayce, Wednesday night; Sylvan Shade, Thursday night. Meetings will be held Friday night at Graves school, Western, Monday night; Palestine, Tuesday night of next week. Ben Kilgore, executive secretary, is slated to be present at the latter two meetings as the chief speaker.

Membership totaled 504 during the year 1941. The record-breaking year of 1940 led the state with a total membership of 918 in Fulton county.

Plans Completed For Blue Ribbon Day

Members of the supervisory committee met this week in Union City to complete arrangements for the annual observance of Obion County Blue Ribbon Day on Oct. 29. Preparations have been made for one of the largest celebrations in the history of the event.

Blue Ribbon Day is held annually in celebration of the achievement of perfect health records by school children of the county. All children meeting the health requirements are awarded the Blue Ribbon pins and will march in the big parade that is a major part of the day's festivities.

This year, the entertainment program will be featured by a puppet show in which the children from the upper elementary grades will act as the puppets. This phase of the program is being prepared under the direction of a group of the elementary teachers.

RED DEVILS DEFEAT PORTAGEVILLE TEAM 18-0

The South Fulton Red Devils defeated the Portageville, Mo., six-man football team 18 to 0 at Southside Park Friday night. Fumbles were frequent as both teams seemed unable to hold the ball. The first touchdown was scored by Dalton in the first quarter on a 30-yard run. Luther scored the second marker in the third and McConnell went over the line for the last six-pointer of the game in the final quarter.

Portageville made their only scoring threat in the last quarter but the Red Devils' defense held.

The Red Devils were scheduled to go to Sharon last night (Thursday) but results were not known as The News went to press.

Lineup for South Fulton Friday night were as follows: McConnell RE; Hogg C, Conner LE, Long QB, Dalton RH, Browder LH. Substitutions—Mallard, Dixon, Brooks, Luther, Bowen, Greer.

H. L. Hardy, Jr., of Murray State Teachers College, was elected president of the State Baptist Student Convention, held last week-end in Hopkinsville. The convention attracted student delegates from all sections of the state.

H. L. is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hardy of Fulton.

FULTON WORKERS DISAPPROVE UNION

A representative group of workers and local citizens made a public expression of their disapproval of the activity in Fulton of Palmer Pinnegar, Paducah, organizer for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, when they picketed the home of Paul Jones and his wife, Rachel Howard Jones, last Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Jones who have joined the "union" and were aiding Pinnegar in his efforts to "organize" the Henry I. Seigel plant here, it is said, were blamed by employees of the factory for encouraging Pinnegar in his activities in Fulton.

When Pinnegar called at the Jones home in South Fulton, the crowd soon began to gather in front of the house, it is alleged. After about an hour, the organizer, under police escort, was removed to the South Fulton jail, but was followed by the aroused citizens. Spokesmen for the group demanded to talk with Pinnegar, and after prolonged argument and telephone conversation with Robert Hardy of Paducah, national office representative of the union, a three-corner agreement was reached between Hardy, Pinnegar and "the committee," according to reports.

"Officers refused my request to lock me up for the night," Pinnegar said, "but kept me at the station until the crowd broke in and took me over the state line into Fulton. I was taken to a house on the Kentucky side and held under a demand of members of the committee that union application cards concerning employees of the Seigel company be turned over to them."

Chief of Police A. V. Luther of South Fulton, however, said Pinnegar agreed to go with the crowd, leaving the jail at 3 a. m.

Keeping his promise over the telephone, Pinnegar's cohort, Hardy, arrived in Fulton, and delivered a package to the committee. That was about 4:30 a. m., it is believed. Then the organizers left town.

In making a statement to the Paducah Sun-Democrat Saturday, Pinnegar charged he was refused protection by Fulton police and the Kentucky Highway Patrol.

Pinnegar, formerly an organizer for a cab driver's union, was fined $100 at the September term of McCracken Circuit Court on an assault and battery charge, growing out of an altercation with a cab driver. A charge of malicious striking in connection with an alleged assault on C. L. Bryan, cab line operator, was held open. By his own admission, the trouble in Fulton was not the first time he has experienced difficulties from an aroused citizenry when they became enraged at his unwanted activities, it is alleged.

Hardy filed protests with Governor Cooper of Tennessee and Governor Johnson of Kentucky, he said Saturday, against the alleged refusal of police protection to the organizer. He also protested to W. C. Burrow, state commissioner of Industrial Relations.

Early last week a meeting of employees of the local plant was held, with a majority of the workers expressing their disapproval of Pinnegar's efforts here, which has the general support of the community. The whole affair seems to have been brewed and promulgated by a few trouble-makers, and the affair Friday night was fortunate in that more serious action did not result against Pinnegar, it is believed. Workers in the local plant have enjoyed a recent raise in hourly pay in accordance with the Wage and Hour Law, and the majority stand with their employers in the belief that they are justly paid, and do not wish to see anything happen that might disrupt their employment or income. The factory payroll, which totals around $5,000 every two weeks, has meant much to the families employed, and has been a great help in improving the economic condition of the community.

The American girls are said to be the best lookers in the world. One more of the perils of living in this country.

WHAT CAN I DO?

"What can I do?" "How can I be of help?" As always happens in an hour of national crisis, thoughts of self are put aside and an earnest desire to be of service wells forth the country over.

The most important thing you can do today is to keep up your morale and the morale of those about you. When the time comes for action, which, God forbid it ever will, we will be on the crest of excitement and there will be as much courage and heroism displayed as thrills us in the tales the returning travellers tell of England.

But now is the hard time—the difficult hour of watching and waiting. We are on the middle step—and as Milne said, "It isn't up and it isn't down." But as the country rears, the individual citizen can rear in spirit. Here are some things you can do:

If you believe in America, prove it. Testify to your faith in its ideals by putting them into actual practice. This means no discrimination because of race, creed or color; no unfair discussion in damning generalities of any group; allowing to others the freedom you claim for yourself; always observing the rules of fair play toward your neighbor; and in every action of yours observing the same integrity you want from your government.

Don't whine about taxes. The defense program is the work of all of us and for all of us. Be grateful that you can pay taxes rather than tribute. Readjust your standard of living to meet these obligations. This does not mean lowering your standards, but it does mean throwing the emphasis from luxury habits to the more vital things that make life happy. Stop doing the things you do because other people do them, not because you find them particularly enjoyable. You'll be surprised how much you can do without and how you can unclutter your life, lower your living costs, and have many more of the things you have always wanted.

Train your children in self-reliance, courage and cooperation. If this holocaust keeps on, they will need them all. Make a game of it with them—but see to it that they are as well prepared for life as you can make them.

And of course, volunteer your help. Your community has definite plans. List the things you are capable of doing, offer your services and round out your capabilities by what courses your community offers for civilian defense. And when you're asked to do something to help that isn't entirely convenient, show your cooperative spirit by doing an unwelcome task well.

Perhaps, yes—in every way you can for whatever may come. But don't lose your sense of proportion. There is today still to be lived and there is no sense in spending it fearing tomorrow.

UNITY NEEDED

Farmers everywhere have rallied with enthusiasm to the call for "abundant farm production to defend America." Local, state and national farm leaders have, almost without exception, shown a ready willingness to co-operate.

Unity is essential if Hitlerism is to be defeated. Hitler has always relied upon disunity to win his victories. In no country have the people themselves invited his bloody reign of terror—always it was the Fifth Column that divided the people and prevented them from driving out the swastikas.

Here at home we also have our pro-Hitler fifth columnists who have aped his methods, copied his speeches and cheered his every rapine conquest. We have in our midst America Firsters who have dined at Hitler's table and accepted his medals, and we have the Coughlinites who have always wanted to see a Hitlerized America. They now seek to divide the American people and to prevent the export of vital food supplies which are needed to overthrow Hitlerism.

It was for the purpose of achieving the greatest possible unity that President Roosevelt recently recommended the setting up of a farm defense committee composed of the national farm leaders. In proposing this committee the President called for abundant production, saying "In this time of crisis, food is a weapon against Hitlerism just as much as munitions."

THE FORUM

By J. PAUL BUSHART, Editor

A column conducted for news, views and comments, in which readers of The News are invited to participate. Mail contributions care of THE FORUM, this newspaper.

A meeting of editors of West Kentucky was held at Paducah last Friday, when plans were discussed for concerted efforts to obtain permanent industries in this region. The reason why this section has not received more consideration than it has seems to be because of a lack of electric power. But the day is not far distant when Gilbertsville Dam will open, and there will be an abundance of electric energy available. Civic clubs and newspapers in West Kentucky are endeavoring to link their efforts to obtain more industries, and such a movement is almost certain to bring results. So it seems that from a long-view standpoint this region has scarcely touched the surface when it comes to industrial development. Most everybody is agreed that they would much rather have a permanent industry than a defense plant, with the economic unbalance that is certain to follow when the war is over and production ceases.

H. L. Hardy, Jr., the versatile son of Mr. and Mrs. Hardy of Fulton, who is a graduate of Fulton High, is a young fellow that is establishing an enviable record as a Christian student leader. He was chosen as president of the State Baptist Student Convention, in recognition of his unstinted efforts in a field that he loves so well. We are proud that another young Fultonian has climbed a step higher.

Fulton was a long time getting started in the securing of WPA projects. Now we have the new school building project, the Harris Fork creek project, and the NYA project at the fair grounds. Both WPA and NYA officials are having trouble getting sufficient workers. Much of this difficulty is due to defense efforts and young men being called into service by the army. So anyone without a job now has very little reason to claim that he cannot find work.

Donald Hall, who has been connected with the Fulton County News for the past five years, will soon be called into service with the U. S. Navy. Being a young man subject to draft before long, he preferred to enter the Navy where he could follow up his printer's trade. His friends and this office will regret to see him go, but duty calls in these times of national emergency.

Workers and citizens of this community spoke their sentiment in an eloquent way last Friday night, when several hundred gathered to express their displeasure with the activities of Palmer Pinnegar, CIO organizer, who has been endeavoring to organize the local pants factory. Pinnegar sought police protection when the crowd demanded registration cards of all who had signed up. His cohort and superior from Paducah finally arrived with the desired package and the crowd adjourned and went home.

The local plant employs 450 or more people, with each receiving a minimum of 40c an hour for 40 hours a week. The annual payroll runs about $360,000 a year. Recent increases in wages from 32½c to 40c an hour means about $70,000 increase in the payroll, and this increase coupled with a let-down in production due to labor disturbances was bringing about the almost certain closing of the factory. Such a move would disrupt the lives of many families. Rather than see this happen, workers and citizens took steps to eliminate friction caused by the CIO organizer.

Leland Bugg, assistant postmaster here, has a hobby which he seems to get a lot of delight out of. Give him a horn—saxophone, clarinet, tuba or bazooka—to repair and he is perfectly contented. Members of the local school band have found this out, so he has many a musical protege.

Efforts are being made now to get the Middle Road black-topped. This is a well-directed project, and is doubtless one that would prove of inestimable benefit to the county. Once the middle road is hard-surfaced it will be a much-used route from the east and west ends. The road is already well graveled and bridged. To black-top it would not be difficult or exceedingly expensive.

All you voters should be interested in an amendment which will appear on the November ballot. This particular amendment would provide that each county could install voting machines. We have talked with many citizens and there seems to be a general consensus of opinion that such an amendment is not needed. It is argued that voting machines are expensive and are not worthwhile in more than a dozen counties in the state. Machines are okay in concentrated population centers like Louisville, Frankfort, etc., but the majority of the Kentucky counties have no need for these machines. Certainly we do not need more governmental expense and taxation.

Our city dads might consider a project for improving the sanitary condition of our city jail. It is in a deplorable condition, and without one humane comfort for prisoners. The health department could scarcely call it up to standard.

Just because a girl shows you a new wrinkle or two, it doesn't necessarily mean that she is old.

The Presidents recently proclaimed nation-wide emergency safety campaign is now in full swing. The slogan is "Start Sooner."

More cars are now on the roads and greater traffic congestion is evident everywhere, so it behooves all automobile drivers to pay particular attention to their driving during the defense program. What used to take thirty minutes may now take thirty-five minutes. We should, therefore, plan to "start sooner" in our work and on our trips.

Assigning G. B. S. to His Peace

By IRVIN S. COBB

WHEN George Bernard Shaw, as a young man, emerged from his native Ireland and moved to England he began writing a column for a London weekly publication. Then, as now, he had the habit of calling a spade a spade and frequently, in his writings, he called it by an even stronger name than that. At that time Oscar Wilde was enjoying his vogue as a wit and an epigram-maker. One evening an acquaintance, calling upon Wilde, happened upon a copy of the paper to which Shaw was a contributor and reading therein one of Shaw's characteristic articles which was signed with the author's initials, said to his host: "I say, Wilde, who is this chap G. B. S. who's doing a department for this sheet?" "He's a young Irishman named Shaw," said Wilde. "Rather forceful, isn't he?" "Forceful," echoed the other, "well, rather! My word, how he does cut and slash! He doesn't seem to spare anyone he knows. I should say he's in a fair way to make himself a lot of enemies." "Well," said Wilde, "as yet he hasn't become prominent enough to have any enemies. But none of his friends likes him." (American News Features, Inc.)

RUSH CREEK HOMEMAKERS

The Rush Creek Homemakers held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday, October 9, with Mrs. R. E. Adams. The meeting was called to order at ten thirty o'clock by the president, Mrs. W. H. Harrison, and roll call was answered by the payment of State Federation dues. Minutes of the September meeting were read and the treasury reported and all old business was settled. Members purchased individual song books from Mrs. Catherine Thompson.

All reports were taken and the foods leader, Mrs. Harvey Bondurant, and landscape leader, Mrs.

Murrell Williams, gave short lessons.

The minor lesson on National Defense was given by Mrs. Clarence Williams and Mrs. Will Fields. The major lesson on "Repairing Frames" was given in detail with illustrations and actual work by Mrs. Donald Mabry and Mrs. Murrell Williams.

In the recreation hour group songs were sung and a short skit was given.

It was voted by the members that the club entertain with a weiner roast on the lawn of Mrs. Frank Henry's home on Friday night, October 17, at seven o'clock.

Luncheon was served to Mesdames Met Arrington, Clem Atwill, Harvey Bondurant, Clarence Ballow, Effie Davis, Will Fields, Parrell Garrigan, W. H. Harrison, Frank Henry, Alvin Mabry, Donald Mabry, Billie McGehee, Cledge Owens, Paul Shaw, Clarence Williams, Murrell Williams, Catherine Thompson, and R. E. Adams, Misses Sue Bransford, Marjorie McGehee, and Alice Atwill.

The meeting was adjourned at three thirty o'clock to meet with Mrs. Donald Mabry on November 10 at ten o'clock. The major lesson for November will be "Padding for Slip Covers."

DEATHS

MRS ELLEN RAWLS HENDERSON

Mrs. Ellen Rawls Henderson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chate Rawls, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. J. McLean, near Martin Tuesday night, following a long illness.

She was born near Jewel in Weakley County, Sept. 12, 1853, and was married to A. H. Henderson who preceded her in death in 1916.

She was converted and united with the First Baptist Church in Martin, later moving her membership to Ruthville, and then back to Martin where it remained to her death.

She leaves her two daughters: Mrs. J. J. McLean of Martin and Mrs. Ernest Nanney of St. Louis; three brothers, T. U. Rawls of Fulton, Vernon Rawls of Paris, Tenn., and Toll Rawls of Jewell; three sisters, Miss Geneva Rawls and Mrs. O. E. Chandler, both of Martin, and Mrs. J. A. Atkins of Puryear, Tenn.; five grandsons and three granddaughters.

Funeral services were held at Old Salem near Martin Thursday morning at 11:00 o'clock by Revs. Eugene Morris, Harold Watson and T. A. Duncan, and interment followed in the nearby cemetery.

Pallbearers were Roy Killebrew, Dillard Brooks, Fred McLean, Wilbern Nanney, Carl Henderson and Pete Killebrew.

ALFRED L. UNDERWOOD

Alfred Litton Underwood, 61 years of age, died about 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning at his home on West State Line, following a long illness. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Liberty Baptist, conducted by the pastor, Rev. L. M. Bratcher. Burial was in the church cemetery.

He is survived by two sons, James Carl of Portsmouth, Ohio, and Alfred Larue of Fulton; two brothers, J. A. Underwood of Fulton and William Underwood of Jackson, Tenn.; and one sister, Mrs. Mary Bondurant of Fulton.

tion, which in 1941 would tell Kentuckians of Kentucky as Kentucky should tell the world in 1942—Seventieth Anniversary Year.)

(By Marion Rust)

In 1750, when Virginia was a Royal Province of the British Crown, the Loyal Land Company of Virginia sent Dr. Thomas Walker with five associates, Ambrose Powell, William Tomlinson, Colby Chew, Henry Lawless and John Hughes, across the Appalachian Mountains into the wilderness of Kentucky to locate lands suitable for settlement.

They left "Castle Hill," Walker's home near Charlottesville, March 6. After struggling through the rugged mountains covered with primeval forests and dense undergrowth down through the southwestern end of the state and through eastern Tennessee, then a part of North Carolina, they observed the dip in the mountain range now known as Cumberland Gap just east of the present site of Middleboro. Pressing on through this gap they came on down north—through the great gorge at Pineville where they discovered and named the Cumberland River after the Duke of Cumberland. Due to heavy rains they could not cross at the ages old Cumberland Ford and accordingly traveled on down the south side of the river.

Ascending Brush Creek and Little Brush and on over the Divide they descended Swan Pond Creek to the river again. Finding it too deep to ford they made a bark canoe and crossed on April 23. After wading through the low marsh land and up onto a knoll they, in the next seven days, built a house 8 feet wide and 12 feet long; planted some corn and peach seeds as well as killed many bears, curing the meat to use for food in further travel.

On April 30th, they left for continued exploration down through central and eastern Kentucky. Returning over the rough mountainous area of West Virginia, they reached their point of starting on July 13th. During the journey of 4 months and 7 days they had killed 13 buffaloes; 8 elk; 53 bears; 20 deer; 4 wild geese and about 150 wild turkeys. Dr. Walker states in his daily Journal that they could have killed three times as many had they so wished. That Kentucky's First House was built on this site is verified by folklore, proximity of the spring and Dr. Walker's Journal, a copy of which is available at the office of the Park custodian.

The Kentucky First House replica is a faithful reproduction of the type of pioneer log hut of the period. Its roof poles hold the oak clapboards in place. The door is made of rough slabs pegged together and hinged in the early pioneer fashion without iron. Other items added are the one-post bed, tripple decked; the hinged wall table; three-legged stools; and outside one is amazed at the skinning pole and salting trough. The visitor gains respect for his ancestor. He learns from the displays that he was strong, sensible, sturdy and unafraid. Here one becomes thankful for the very great heritage of his forebears in these days of stress. No one visiting this historic park will regret it. Come and bring others. The children will find swings, teeter boards, and a slide for their entertainment. Adults will enjoy the nearby mountains and the beautiful valley and will take stock of the

THE PASSING OF AN ERA—III

The day before I wrote this article I drove around in a remote section of my county, passing country homes where the lights on the Christmas trees were vastly different from the ones I once knew. Since the preceding Christmas the R. E. A. line had penetrated into hundreds of country sections. This tying up of far-away places in our rural county is symbolic of another passing, for the coal-oil lamp, in some ways the last reminder of my childhood, seems doomed to speedy forgetfulness. Collectors of rare glassware will soon have enough pieces of this type to glut their appetites. Far away indeed will soon seem the hanging lamp and its glass pendants or the table lamp with the glass shade.

Today a business man of farm origin picked me up down town in a rain and brought me home in his car. We happened to mention the danger of driving on a road at night where horses and wagons are coming and going. This ex-farm boy felt that something drastic should be done to prevent wagons and horses from being out at night or at least to safeguard the cars and their drivers. Then another vision flashed before me: Long since I was a grown man, it was such a rare sight when a car came down the dusty road that the horses and the people were equally scared. I have heard many a farmer of those times breathe out threatnings against the noise-makers that scared his horses half to death. More than one wanted to outlaw the new horseless carriages. Since horses and mules existed in Bible times, and gasoline engines did not, it was evident to many people that mankind was degenerating rapidly in thus departing from the Law and the Prophets. If some one had suggested that the same horses and wagons would become a menace to traffic, there would have been a pious thunderclap, probably followed by a stroke of apoplexy.

When I was a boy of fifteen, I wrote a vigorous protest to the county paper when someone suggested that we needed a stock law to prevent animals from running at large. My protest was not personal in any sense: I was voicing the old, old belief in the freedom of the range, even though the range itself had long ago been the property of individual owners. Acorns, hickory nuts, and beech-nuts seemed to me then to be a sort of communal property, that anybody's hogs could eat. Grass in the wooded bottoms belonged to everybody's cattle. Probably no idea of the pioneer and his descendants has died any more slowly than this belief in the range. In many a county the people flout the stock law and turn their cattle and hogs out, regardless of the crops they may damage. While driving in the mountains, I am put to it to avoid hitting a cow as she takes her time in crossing the highway. Something of the pioneer spirit of her owner seems innate in her. If there is grass, regardless of where it is growing, these mountain cattle will find it; a train or an automobile had better watch its step. "Open range; look out for cattle."

Money Talks

By
Frederick Stamm, Economist
Director of Adult Education
UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

This past week I received two interesting letters criticizing my stand on the price control bill. (See last week's article). A union member was against any control of wages, and a farmer did not favor any price ceiling placed on farm products. The union member was in favor of regulating rents, and the farmer was in favor of regulating prices of industrial products.

We have no price or wage control now and what has happened and is happening is that we are in the spiral of inflation. Prices of raw materials, farm products, and finished goods go up; then wages go up; this causes production costs to rise again. Labor, to assure itself of the same purchasing power, demands still higher wages which further increases costs and causes higher prices. In the meantime, taxes have risen and rents have gone up, both adding to increased costs. This upward spiral of higher and higher prices keeps on until it falls of its own weight. Then depression!

In criticizing the price control bill C. I. O. President Phillip Murray said it meant "government control of all industry and labor" and "the beginning of enslaved labor." Likewise several farm organizations opposed the regulation of farm prices.

In our complicated economic system we must recognize that wages, rents, taxes, and prices are all intricately interwoven in the entire price picture. It seems to me that labor would support a control of prices and wages, for it would stabilize industry and enable one to adjust his standard of living with a degree of certainty. It would help the farmer, for he would know how much he would receive for his products and what he would have to pay for the things he bought. A price control bill should bring stability to our present chaotic price structure.

Again, I recommend the passage of an all-inclusive price and wage control bill.

OBION AGRICULTURAL HEADS CONSIDER PRODUCTION RISE

Obion County agricultural leaders met at the courthouse in Union City Wednesday morning to consider goals for increased production of essential foods transmitted to the group by leaders of the National Farm Defense Food program. Those attending included members of the Obion County Agricultural Defense Board, the county agricultural planning committee, and heads of various agencies of the agricultural set-up.

Final approval of the Obion county quotas of essential foods will be made by the Tennessee Agricultural Defense Board. If the local group finds the tentative goals unsatisfactory, they may appeal to the state board for changes.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

NON-CURBING CURBS—A survey of leading credit retailers indicates the restrictions on installment terms that went into effect Sept. 1 have had almost no effect, net, in discouraging demand for household goods. About the only noticeable change is that more people are buying for cash. Although there was a big dip in sales right after the regulations took effect, this was attributed mainly to confusion over what the restrictions meant. Indications are the Federal Reserve Board may "tighten the screws" in order to produce the desired effect of reducing demand for articles using materials needed for defense goods. Meanwhile, as expected, the customers' "beat the luxury tax" rush the last two days of September sent department store sales soaring again. For the week ending October 4 they were 34 per cent ahead of the previous year.

WASHINGTON — Bill Knudsen made the biggest news here, with figures on proportion of total U. S. manufacturing facilities that "might eventually" be needed for defense work alone. It might reach 5 per cent, he said, and for the year beginning next June would be around 53 per cent. Indications of how far the pendulum has yet to swing, from peacetime to armaments production, are seen in the fact that, as of now, the country is devoting only 15 to 20 per cent of its productive facilities to defense work. Fitting into this picture, also, was his request to machine tool makers to institute a seven-day work week and increase night-time operations.

BUSINESS AS TEACHER—A new keynote on teamwork between education and business has been struck by James M. Wood, president of Stephens College at Columbia, Mo. Discussing the forum to be held there in November on "the American woman and her responsibilities" he said "our business and professional leaders must assume a share of the responsibility for providing education in health and financial matters. Every business has these responsibilities, he said, but cited insurance companies as being in position to do an especially outstanding job in establishing financial security for homes. However, he said, they have not followed through in the matter of educating beneficiaries in the principles of investment of such funds—approximately a billion dollars a year, of which 80 percent is paid to women. "The educational problem here, of making sure that the beneficiaries get the utmost possible value," Dr. Wood said, "is one that can be handled best not by any school course, but it a natural one for the agent in the community, who is in direct touch with the holder and the beneficiary."

plane is destined to become an even more powerful force in shaping the peace of the future than it is in winning the present war, according to C. V. Whitney, board chairman of Pan American Airways. He predicts that the nations of the world will continue to use their enlarged aircraft production lines and vast material supplies for building air-planes for peaceful missions after the war. In addition, Whitney says, the end of the defense program will turn loose possibly 100,000 fully-trained pilots and co-pilots and several hundred thousand skilled mechanics. The domestic airline industry now employs only about 2,600 pilots. The aviation pioneer said he "wouldn't be surprised if, within a year, there will be planes that will take 50 people non-stop from New York to London in seven hours."

COUNTY AGENT

The egg-feed ratio is more favorable to poultry producers than it has been for years. It takes fewer dozen of eggs to purchase a 100 pounds of feed than it usually does this time of year. Feed cost has advanced but the price of eggs has advanced more rapidly, yet in spite of such favorable conditions and our Government's appeal for more eggs for defense and export to England, observations show that too many flocks are not being fed and managed for best results. Too many flocks of pullets now 5 to 7 months of age are not getting laying mash and many of these flocks and some that are being properly fed, are badly infested with lice, mites and worms.

A five-point program would improve your egg production and thereby help to increase our national supply of eggs for defense.

1. Cull out the weaker and slower developing birds.
2. Provide good comfortable houses (these do not have to be expensive houses).
3. Furnish fresh, clean water at all times.
4. Adopt a good feed and feeding program (a good laying mixture can be made by mixing 100 pounds of bran, 100 pounds of shorts, 200 pounds of corn meal and 100 pounds of meat scraps or 60% tankage).
5. Control of all parasites, both external and internal.

You will not increase your egg production unless you feed laying mash and keep it for them at all times, may I suggest that you follow this program. Call at the County Agent's office and get a calendar for record keeping and convince yourself that chickens properly fed and properly managed will more than pay for their board.

Courtesy is like the air on the inside of a fire. There may be nothing to it, but still it will ease many a job and save many a rupture.

RAIL CARRIERS SUBMIT NEW PLAN TO BOARD

Railroad carriers have submitted to President Roosevelt's fact-finding board a plan for "emergency compensation" to be paid employees on the basis of rises in cost of living and railroad gross revenues. The plan countered the railroad brotherhood's demands for a 30 per cent pay increase, which the carriers described as "ruinous." It was outlined by F. G. Gurley, vice president of the Santa Fe Railroad and executive committee chairman of the carriers conference committee. Gurley said the plan would make present pay rates a "floor" below which wages would not go. It would provide additional quarterly payments to be computed through a "composite index" in which cost of living increases would carry twice the weight of rises in railroad revenue.

The system would become effective Nov. 1, 1941 and would expire Dec. 31, 1942. "Emergency compensation" payments would be computed as of Sept. 15, 1941, and Feb. 1, May 1, Aug. 1 and Nov. 1, 1942.

Payments would be figured as a percentage of regular earnings and would not exceed 15 per cent applied up to $30 weekly earnings or $65 semi-monthly. They would be reduced in the event of a reversal in the upward trend of living costs. Gurley estimated that the first payment under the plan would cost the roads about $95,000,000.

CARELESS LIVESTOCK HANDLING

Irresponsible transportation of livestock is sometimes expensive. The farmer who owns the animals has every right to say how and under what conditions they will be handled, and if a truck is employed to determine what is a fair and safe load.

This may be an extreme case, as reported by the local agent of a railroad in these parts. Going to work one morning he found six head of cattle in the railroad pens. No permission had been given to use the pens, no one knew where the stock came from, or to whom it belonged. They had been unloaded some time the previous night, and on the second day the trucker appeared to pick them up. In the meantime they had been given hay by local people, as a matter of humanity, and the trucker paid for the hay before the cattle were released to him. It was revealed that the trucker was overloaded, having 31 head in the truck, and when some got down he merely pulled in and lightened this load, one animal already being dead.

One wonders what would happen were the railroads to resort to such practices. Well, for one thing maybe they'd all be in jail, from the president of the road down to the track-walker, the rules and regulations governing the rail business and giving protection to the shipper being as strict as they are! Farmers shipping by truck can protect themselves without much difficulty, by employing only reliable truckers, well equipped, and then exercising their own judgment with respect to loads and hauls. The owner of the stock not only has this right, but in fairness to his investment is justified in closer supervision than he sometimes gives to the matter.—Chicago Daily Drovers Journal.

Food will win the war and dictate the peace terms.

The farm theme song for 1942 will be "Food for Freedom."

Save more lespedeza seed this year—big demand expected in 1942. The greatest food production program in the history of the Nation is planned for 1942.

The cow, the sow and the hen lead the parade in the food production campaign for 1942.

Tennessee has been asked to increase dairy production 14 per cent; hogs 17 percent and eggs 13 per cent.

Farmers of the State have been asked to double the seeding of winter oats this fall and to increase barley seedings 40 percent to increase feed supplies.

Begin planning now for a good garden next year. The State goal set by the State Defense Board for 1942 is 244,000 gardens, an increase of 30,000 over this year.

Every farmer in Tennessee will be given opportunity to enroll in the "Food for Freedom" drive between now and December 1 by making a farm plan to increase production of foods to meet the Defense needs of this country and others resisting aggression.

Of vital importance to the South's security is the dependability of its far-reaching telephone lines.

On their constantly maintained efficiency depends continuity and flexibility of communication between military, industrial, and civilian forces necessary to the nation's defense.

In this crisis, Southern Bell is faced with the three-fold task of giving "all-out" service to defense, industry, and the public—a task requiring every ounce of its resources.

In most cities and towns in the nine southern states we serve, the demand upon our services is without precedent. In many of these places, mass troop and civilian concentrations, in addition to increased industrial demands, have made the continuation of normal telephone service difficult.

In these critical times, telephone workers ask your co-operation and appreciative understanding of the problems which confront them, knowing that you, too, are "all-out" for defense—that it is our common problem to keep telephone lines of defense impregnable.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time." These words from 1 Timothy comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, October 19, 1941, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be: "Doctrine of Atonement." Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" (Micah 6:8).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be included: "The understanding of Truth gives full faith in Truth, and spiritual understanding is better than all burnt offerings." (p. 286).

CRUTCHFIELD HOMEMAKERS

The Crutchfield Homemakers met in the home of Mrs. Paul Williams on October 7. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. W. McClanahan. The roll was called with nine members present and one visitor, Mrs. Laura Cashion. The foods lesson for the day was on Vitamin A in the diet. The lunch was served at the noon hour of foods that contain Vitamin A. The home improvement leaders gave an interesting lesson on repairing chair frames for slip covers, how to tie the springs and replace old webbing in the bottom of chairs. The vice president, assisted by Mrs. Ronald Elliott and Mrs. Ruth Lomax, gave a short defense program on Prosperity in your Town and what you get for your money. It was very educational and interesting.

Economy is in itself a source of great revenue.

The most devastating emotion in human life is hate and the next most destructive and paralyzing is fear.

Fame is vapor, popularity an accident, riches take wings. Only one thing endures and that is character.

CITY COAL CO.

Double For Your Money

Double the convenience. Yes, and even much more than that. You'll agree that there is no convenience that gives you so much for so little as electricity.

Double the help. And, with electric rates cut about 50%, you can take advantage of these electric helpers at half what it would have cost you 10 to 15 years ago.

Double the light. Today you can enjoy twice as much light as you did 10 or 15 years ago for the same money.

Double the speed. Electric appliances breeze through a day's housework in less than half the time it used to take—at about half the cost.

... that's about the bargain electricity under business management gives you today

Is it news to you that your residential electric rate has been cut about 50%? No doubt it is, because this reduction has come about gradually over the past 10 to 15 years.

Then, you might ask, "Why hasn't my bill gone down?" Because, if you are like most families, you are using much more electricity than you did 10 to 15 years ago. Today you probably have a refrigerator, an electric iron, a toaster.

Perhaps a washing machine. Certainly a radio. Indeed, if the amount of current you're using today were figured on the rate of 10 to 15 years ago, your bill would probably be about twice as much as it is now.

What is responsible for this reduction? Efficient business management of the electric companies. Your electric company and its employees. The same people who are constantly improving your service so that every year it is better than the year before... the people whose aim is to keep on bringing you more and more of the benefits of electricity at less and less cost.

METHODIST SOCIETY IN GROUP MEETINGS

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church held its monthly group meetings on Monday afternoon and evening, with groups meeting as follows:

Group A met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. C. Hancock on the Mayfield highway, with Mrs. Carl Puckett as co-hostess. Twenty-one regular members and three visitors were present. Visitors were Mrs. L. O. Hartman, Mrs. Fraley and Mrs. Eaker. The meeting was opened with a prayer from The Broken World, repeated in unison, followed with a song, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds." Mrs. J. C. Koelling, chairman, presided over the business portion of the meeting, at which time the secretary's report and the financial report were given by Mrs. Willey. Mrs. E. M. Jenkins gave an article from The Methodist Woman, entitled "Our Meditation," and Mrs. M. W. Hays presented the Bible lesson. During the social hour the hostesses served cookies and hot tea.

Mrs. Alf Hornbeak and Mrs. John Smith were hostesses to Group B at the former's home on the Union City highway. Mrs. Roscoe Wilkins is chairman of this group and she was in charge of a short business session. Mrs. Leon Browder gave several articles from The Methodist Woman. The Bible study lesson was taught by Mrs. Louis Weeks. A social hour was enjoyed and the hostesses served sandwiches and tea to the fifteen members present.

Group C met in the home of Mrs. Frank Brady on Norman street and Mrs. Virgil Davis was assistant hostess. Twenty-one regular members and one visitor, Mrs. Dan Comfort, were present. Mrs. T. J. Krammer conducted the Bible study and she was assisted on the program by Mrs. Raymond Lynch, who read the devotionals, and Mrs. Leland Bugg, who gave reports from The Methodist Woman. Mrs. Lawson Roper, chairman, conducted a discussion to complete plans for a bazaar to be held by the group in the near future. At the close of the meeting the hostesses served a sandwich plate.

Members of the East Fulton Circle held their meeting at the home of Mrs. W. H. Purcell on Jackson street. Two visitors were present and they were Mrs. McElrath of Dresden and Mrs. Vodie Stokes of Louisville. Mrs. James H. Felt, chairman, conducted the business meeting and sixteen members answered the roll call by giving verses of scripture. Mrs. Ernest Bell taught the Bible lesson, Mrs. John Owen gave the devotionals and Miss Lena McKee discussed an article from the Methodist Woman, "Retired Deacons."

The Wesleyan Service Guild met at the church at 6:30 o'clock with thirteen members, one new member, Mrs. Neal Blaylock, and one visitor, Mrs. Strahm, present. Preceding the program a pot-luck supper was enjoyed with Mrs. Grace Griffin and Mrs. R. T. McKinney serving as hostesses. Mrs. Lawrence Shelton, chairman, held a short business session and the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Will Craven, who presented the Bible lesson, and Miss Katherine Williamson, devotional leader.

The Unecus Group met at the church at 7:30 o'clock. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Howard Strange, Mrs. E. L. Cooke and Miss Mary Swann Bushart. The meeting was opened with a song, "It Keeps Me Singing," followed with the Lord's Prayer in unison. During the business session Mrs. Eugene Speight, secretary, made her regular report and Mrs. Grady Varden reported for the visiting and membership committee. The following program was then presented: a splendid Bible study lesson, Mrs. Milton Exum; devotionals, Mrs. Ernest Cardwell; Meditation, Mrs. Herman Drew; reading of a poem, Miss Margaret King. The program was concluded with prayer by Mrs. Robert Graham. During the social hour refreshments were served to twenty-five regular members and four visitors, Mrs. Horace Cathey, Miss Ann Godfrey, Mrs. George Moore of Detroit and Mrs. Fulkerson of Paducah.

POWERS-MASSIE

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Massie announce the marriage of their daughter, Sara Lee, and W. T. Powers of Fort Wayne, Ind., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Powers of Fulton. The wedding was solemnized Saturday evening, October 11, at the First Methodist Church in Fort Wayne, with the pastor of the church officiating.

Attendants were Miss Martha Sue Massie of Fulton, sister of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cripe. They will make their home in Fort Wayne, where the groom is employed as inspector in a tool and machine shop.

CLUB MET WITH MRS. McCLAIN

Mrs. J. L. McClain of Union City was hostess to the meeting of her weekly bridge club Tuesday afternoon, entertaining nine members and three visitors. Visitors were Miss Bessie Lee Armbruster, Mrs. Edith Wilson and Mrs. James Fite of Detroit.

At the conclusion of the games, prizes were awarded as follows: Mrs. Lennis Williams, bunco, pin-up lamp; Mrs. J. L. McClain, high score, window garden; Mrs. Wilson, second high, bath towel; Mrs. Roy Barron, low score, bath towel; Miss Armbruster, travel prize, a vase.

The handkerchief shower was presented to Mrs. W. B. McClain.

The hostess served a sandwich and salad plate with cold drinks. Mrs. W. B. McClain will entertain the club next week.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB

The Junior Woman's Club held its first meeting of the year last Friday afternoon, with fourteen regular members and six new members present. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Harold Thomas, Mrs. Milton Exum, Mrs. Jack Edwards and Mrs. Vernon Owens.

Mrs. Arch Huddleston, Jr., presided over the meeting in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. W. L. Taylor. The resignation of Mrs. Taylor was regretfully accepted and Miss Ruth Graham was elected to that office. Reports were given by Mrs. Robert A. Binford, secretary, and Mrs. Joe Hall, treasurer.

Mrs. Maxwell McDade was program leader and she presented Mrs. Robert Thompson, who spoke on the subject "Interior Decoration." Using the kitchen as the basis for the discussion, Mrs. Thompson made an interesting discussion on how to redecorate an old kitchen so that it will be modern and attractive.

During the social hour light refreshments were served. New members present were Mrs. Robert Batts, Mrs. Bill Browning, Mrs. Herbert Goulder, Mrs. James Mullennix, Mrs. Clifford Shields and Mrs. Joe Wills.

TERRY NORMAN P-T. A. IN MONTHLY MEETING

The Terry Norman Parent-Teachers Association held its monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon at the school building with twenty regular members attending. One new member, Mrs. Lynn Askew, was also present.

The meeting was opened with the students of the school singing "The Star Spangled Banner," followed with a piano solo by Barbara Askew. Miss Ruby Boyd Alexander, member of the faculty, presented the students of the third grade in demonstrating a lesson on permanent and temporary teeth and how to build sound health.

The business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Doran Colley. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Clifton Linton, secretary, and the regular financial report was given by the treasurer, Mrs. Foad Homra.

The remainder of the meeting was spent in a lengthy discussion on the annual Halloween party which is sponsored by this group and which will be held this year on Friday night, October 31. For several years this event has been looked forward to with much enthusiasm and plans are being made to make the party this year more interesting than ever before.

MRS. J. D. DAVIS HOSTESS

Mrs. J. D. Davis was hostess to her semi-monthly bridge club on Tuesday afternoon at her home on Edgings street. Included in the two tables of players was one visitor, Mrs. Hazel Scruggs. High score for the games was awarded to Mrs. Abe Jolley.

Mrs. Davis served cold drinks at the close of the afternoon.
