Construction Technology Grads Have No Problem Finding Jobs

The eight members of the second graduating class in construction technology at Murray State University experienced no difficulty in obtaining employment, Dr. Kenneth W. Winters, their advisor at the University, reports.

The young men, each of whom received a bachelor of science degree in that area at either the May or August commencement exercises, had an average of four offers of employment and are now "on the job" with salaries averaging $11,600 per year, Winters said.

Initiated four years ago, the University's four-year construction technology program has been the result of joint efforts of the Western Kentucky Chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America, the Paducah Area Construction Advancement Foundation and the University. Today, Winters pointed out, approximately 60 students are working toward construction technology degrees at Murray State. He expects this number to increase to "85 or 90" when the new students arrive on campus next week for the fall semester.

The first group of students to graduate from the program in December, 1973, also immediately obtained employment with starting salaries averaging $940 per month, he noted, adding that 20 are expected to receive degrees in the new program in 1975.

The program curriculum, he emphasized, has been continuously reviewed and upgraded since its implementation in 1970, and has been kept attuned to changes created by technological advancements within the construction industry.

Winters listed the eight most recent graduates of the program and their places of employment as:

Robert A. Ayala, Waterford, Conn., who is being trained in project management with a Connecticut construction firm. Stephen C. Berry, Owensboro, who has joined Essex International, Paducah, in plant engineering.

Lee C. Garrett, Mayfield, who has joined Hubert, Hunt and Nichols Construction Co., Indianapolis, Ind., in management, estimating and field supervision.

Robert R. Johnson, Calvert City, who has accepted a position with Henry C. Beck Co., Indianapolis, as a project manager trainee.

Donald W. Jones, Sikeston, Mo., who has joined the

Gov. Ford Decides Not To Move Daniel Boone Center

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — In line with findings of a legislative subcommittee, Gov. Wendell Ford has decided not to move the Daniel Boone Treatment Center to a downtown Covington warehouse.

Ford said in a statement released late Friday he would continue the program at its rural Boone County site until some other place could be found for it in an urban area.

Area juvenile authorities and some others have criticized plans to move the experimental program for juvenile delinquents from the rural setting to the basement of the warehouse the state is leasing.

When moved to an urban area, Ford said, the program will have two elements: a day treatment, education-oriented program and a group home program.

The move from the Boone County site to the warehouse basement was to have been completed by next Monday, but Ford ordered a hold on it last week so it could be re-evaluated.

A legislative subcommittee which was created to look into the planned move reported to Ford earlier Friday.

The subcommittee's written report contained only its findings, no conclusions. Its implication, however, was that the warehouse basement would be a poor place for the program.

And its chairman, Sen. John Berry, D-New Castle, told newsmen that he personally felt the warehouse basement was inadequate for the youth program. He said the rooms were too small to accommodate the 50 students in the program and they would have nowhere to go outside except "back on inner city streets."

Berry also said he would recommend legislation to require the state to seek competitive bids on property it leases. He commended Ford for instituting a new policy to do that recently but he said that should not be left up to individual governors.

Ford announced the new policy on seeking bids for leasing property after criticism arose over the lease for the Covington warehouse to friends of strong Ford supporters.

Ford's statement said he concluded, after discussing the matter with his staff and Berry, that "the Daniel Boone Treatment Center is not in the proper location to best meet the needs of the youthful offenders served there."

Millions Appear To Have Heeded Pleas To Stay Close On Vacation

By DENNIS MONTGOMERY, Associated Press Writer

Federal officials aren't positive yet, but preliminary data seem to show millions of Americans heeded the government's pleas to stay close to home this summer and conserve energy.

National Park Service figures for July, the most recent available, show visits to national parks dropped by 2.4 per cent compared with a year ago.

"They are not staying home in droves," said Molly Brady, an economist in the service's data center. "The thing is, the Park Service has experienced a 7 per cent increase per year. So if you look at it that way, it is a drastic decline compared to what we are used to."

She said Department of Transportation figures show declining interstate highway use, and she speculates that's because vacationers are opting for shorter trips.

Encouraging the stay-at-home trend are higher gas, motel and food prices. A trip that cost $100 in 1967 cost $145.40 by June 1974, according to the U.S. Travel Data Center of Discover America, Inc., a nongovernment organization.

Of 289 national parks and landmarks that keep visitor figures, 159, or 55 per cent, show decreases in July, while 84, or 31 per cent, show increases. The remainder had no change or haven't reported to Washington.

In most cases where increases were reported, the

Access To State Records Easier

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state has put into effect a new regulation making it easier to gain access to state finance records.

The regulation was signed by acting Finance and Administration Commissioner James O. King and put into effect immediately by an emergency declaration signed by Gov. Wendell Ford Friday.

The new rule drops a requirement that a written request be submitted in order to see a department record. It also says records "shall" rather than "may," be made available.

In addition, the regulation reduces the fee for copies of records to 10 cents from 50 cents per page.

King said the new regulation "simply reflects my attitude that they are public records."

Ford's declaration said the "public interest dictates reasonable access to public records."

parks are closer to urban centers or population corridors — another possible indication of shorter trips.

The Great Smokey Mountains National Park on the Tennessee-North Carolina border, for example, is about a day's drive from most East Coast cities. The park had 1,767,600 visitors this July compared with 1,256,500 last July — a 40.8 per cent increase.

In Springfield, Ill., on heavily traveled U.S. 66, however, visits to Abraham Lincoln's home dropped by 21.6 per cent to some 88,100 visitors in July 1974 compared with 112,400 in July 1973.

Meanwhile, visits to the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C., a day's drive from New York, were up 48.5 per cent this July, from 282,500 to 419,600.

At Yosemite National Park, about 300 mountainous miles from the closest population center, visits dropped from 345,700 to 327,800.

According to reports received so far from the entire federal park system, 32,119,300 people used the parks this July compared with 32,925,400 in July 1973. But 35,230,180 people or more were expected — a difference of 2,304,778 for a single month.

Signing Today

Cost Of Living Council To Be Revived By Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford officially revives the Cost of Living Council today to monitor wages and prices, but remains unalterably opposed to controls for fighting inflation.

The President arranged a late morning session in the Cabinet Room to sign the Council on Wage and Price Stability Act which won congressional passage within two weeks of Ford's request.

The new task force is to expose abuses in wages and prices. But unlike the original council established in 1971 by former President Nixon, it cannot impose ceilings.

The council will gather information on causes of inflation, and will "jawbone" — or try to persuade — unions and businesses to take no action that would fuel spiraling costs.

The bill sets up a staff of about 25 at a cost of $1 million. The council will include Roy L. Ash, director of the Office of Management and Budget, and Kenneth Rush, presidential economic counselor.

Representatives of 11 million elderly Americans told Ford in a face-to-face meeting in the White House on Friday that inflation is the "No. 1 terror for older people."

Spreading Ford's warning that inflation is Public Enemy No. 1, Ash told a Wall Street luncheon in New York the new administration would "cool the fevers of inflation even if it generates more unemployment than we'd like."

On a day that the stock market tumbled to a four-year low, Ash emphasized Ford's determination to avoid wage-price controls or even stand-by authority for their reintroduction.

Presidential press Secretary Gerald F. terHorst also repeated that Ford is "unalterably opposed" to controls.

Executive Director Jack Osofsky, 49, of the National Council on Aging quoted Ford as saying that he is reviewing problems of the nation's aged.

He said Ford pledged to include a representative of the elderly at the economic summit conference slated for late next month.

Mrs. Mary Mullen, 74, of Laguna Beach, Calif., president of the National Association of Retired Teachers, said Ford "seemed sincere in making every effort to try to solve some of the problems" of senior citizens, and promised to keep his door open to them.

The delegation of elderly Americans jokingly presented Ford, 61, with a gold-encased magnifying glass. Coincidentally, less than an hour later, the near-sighted President was measured for contact lenses.

In other developments Friday:

Ford told Syrian Foreign Minister Abel Halim Khaddam that he hopes to strengthen diplomatic ties between the two nations and raised the possibility of U.S. economic assistance to the Arab nation.

—Ford told the farm family of the year, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Fowler, who live near Fairbanks, that he hoped to visit Alaska before the end of the year. The presidential trip would presumably be part of a previously announced journey to Japan.

This Year's Food Price Average Expected To Be 15 Per Cent Higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — A load of groceries that cost $17.24 two years ago probably will cost $23 or more by the end of the year, Agriculture Department economists are saying.

By last month, one index showed, the hypothetical batch of groceries already cost $22.58.

That unpleasant note for food-buyers came on Friday when official predictions of the final 1974 average food prices were revised upward, to about 15 per cent above the 1973 average.

Last year's increase in the retail average, the highest since World War II, was 14.5 per cent.

For the last nine months, the department had been predicting a 1974 rise of "probably 12 per cent" in the average, with most of the boost coming before June.

Friday's new analysis by the Outlook and Situation Board, based on mid-August supply, demand and price assessments, gave a range of 13 to 17 per cent for the year.

The report said that instead of remaining steady during the third quarter and declining slightly in the fall, prices for major farm goods hit by unfavorable weather over much of the nation "are now expected to rise about 3 per cent during the third quarter and a little more in the fourth quarter."

The key to the range is the weather, from the heavy spring rains to the Midwest's mid-summer drought.

The retail price hikes will be closer to 17 per cent if crop production falls much more or if demand from consumers, livestock feeders or exporters increases.

The department also released Friday its July figures for the Economic Research Service marketbasket survey, showing the first rise in prices paid to farmers and the first drop in retailers' and wholesalers' share of the grocery shopper's dollar since February.

It worked out to a 0.3 per cent decline in July in the retail value of a year's marketbasket of 61 U.S. farm-produced foods bought by a hypothetical urban wage-earning family of 3.2 persons.

The new annual cost of $1,726 for that marketbasket still was 12.9 per cent higher than mid-summer 1973.

The farmers' share was 2.6 per cent below a year ago and 3.8 per cent more than in June.

The share representing the costs and profits of processors, wholesalers and retailers fell 3 per cent from June's marketbasket but still was 26.7 per cent larger than July 1973 and 1.7 per cent above March.

Greece Rejects Further Cyprus Talks With Britain And Turkey

By The Associated Press

Greece has rejected further talks with Turkey and Britain about Cyprus, and the Greek Cypriot president has warned of guerrilla warfare against the Turkish invasion forces.

Greek Foreign Minister George Mavros said he is notifying the British ambassador to Athens today that Greece will not attend any further three-power talks in Geneva.

Rather, Mavros said, Greece will back a Soviet proposal that the question of Cyprus go before an 18-nation conference — the 15 members of the United Nations Security Council plus Greece, Turkey and the Cypriot government.

There has been no Turkish reaction to the proposal Moscow made Thursday and Soviet U.N. Ambassador Jacob Malik backed up Friday by consulting in New York with other Security Council members.

Western diplomats at U.N.

headquarters generally dismissed it as a propaganda ploy, and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said Washington is studying the plan.

Mavros rejected a return to Geneva on Friday after conferring with Greek Premier Constantine Karamanlis, Defense Minister Evangelos Averoff-Tositas and Cypriot President Glafcos Clerides.

"There's no point going to Geneva merely to sign what has been taken by force," Clerides said after the meeting in Athens.

Peace talks in Geneva among the Greek, Turkish and British foreign ministers broke down Aug. 13. Turkish forces immediately launched a lightning attack from their invasion beachhead and within days controlled the northern 40 per cent of the island.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim said over Austrian radio Friday that the collapse of Greek-Turkish efforts to settle the Cyprus crisis meant the U.N. would become "actively involved." He did not pass judgment on the feasibility of the Soviet proposal, saying "everything is open."

Waldheim arrives in Cyprus today for meetings with Clerides and Turkish Cypriot leader Rauf Denktaş.

Meanwhile, the lot of Greek Cypriot refugees on Cyprus deteriorated as food reserves dwindled in the Greek-controlled zone.

Senior U.N. officers also reported that Turkish troops were using increased pressure to force U.N. troops out of northern Cyprus. They said some Turks had threatened U.N. soldiers with guns and tanks.

The 4,600 U.N. peacekeeping troops on Cyprus are supposed to prevent cease-fire violations, help in prisoner exchanges and man relief efforts for about 150,000 persons displaced by the war.

GOP Audit Turns Up No Violations

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal audit of the Kentucky Republican Party has turned up no violations of federal campaign reporting laws.

In a brief report released Friday, the General Accounting Office (GAO), which conducted the audit, noted two minor technical errors in the Republican reports, but found no violations to refer to the Department of Justice for possible prosecution.

The GAO's audit covered the period from April 7, 1972, to Feb. 28, 1974.

Kentucky Republican Chairman Charles Coy said later in Louisville, Ky., that he was "very pleased" at the outcome of the audit.

He termed it "quite a contrast to the other political party."

Coy referred to a GAO audit report last month that charged the Kentucky Democratic Party with several "apparent violations" of the federal laws, including illegal corporate checks and transactions from an unreported safe deposit box.

Following release of that report, Morton Holbrook, Owensboro attorney who is handling the Democrats' attempts to satisfy the government auditors, complained that the GAO acted unfairly in releasing the results of the audit of Democratic funds prior to completion of the report on the Republicans.

Holbrook declined to comment Friday night on the GAO's audit report on the Republicans.

Coffee Cup Chatter

By University of Kentucky County Extension Agents for Home Economics. The need for individual family members to "get away from it all" for brief periods of time is one of the most important needs a home can fulfill. Individual sanity and self-maintenance depends on it. Sometimes this can be accomplished simply by planning for a quiet corner in an area such as a porch or patio where anyone can sit and commune with self or nature for a brief period of time. —Mrs. Juanita Amonett, Paducah.

He holds himself accountable for his thoughts, feelings, and actions; Doesn't expect something for nothing out of life; Is a good worker, good parent, good mate and a good neighbor. Your electric range cooks best when it's used correctly. Here are tips on how to get top efficiency from it: Whenever possible, cook several foods in the oven at the same time. It takes a lot of energy to heat water. Use as little as possible to cook foods. When food boils, reduce the heat to low. The food will cook just as fast, but with less electricity. Keep pots and pans bright and shiny. This allows food to cook faster. You can reduce the oven temperature setting 25 degrees when you cook in glass or ceramic dishes. Drying beans and peas

By JUANITA AMONETT
U.K. Extension
Home Economist

With the trend this summer toward food preservation of all types and with scarcity of canning and freezing containers, drying may be your solution.

All kinds of beans and peas, including lima beans and soybeans can be successfully dried according to the U.S.D.A.

Pick the pods as soon as they are mature and spread them in a warm, dry place until they are thoroughly dry. Shell and give them one of the following treatments to protect them from destruction by moths and weevils:

(1) Put in freezer (0 degrees F or below) for three or four days, or

(2) Heat them in an oven at 180 degrees F for 15 minutes. As an added precaution, leave the beans in the oven for an hour after you turn off the heat.

Dried fruits and vegetables will keep for a year or longer if stored in air-tight containers such as: coffee cans, peanut-butter jars, tin boxes with tight-fitting lids, etc. and put in a cool, dry dark place. Examine the food occasionally. If there is any sign of moisture reheat to 165 degrees F. and re-seal.

Fill containers as full as possible. As dried foods are best if used a short time after opening, it is well to store them in small amounts. A number of small bags may be filled, labeled, and placed in a lard can or stone crock. The large container should of course be sealed.

There's no need to be without ice cream for any occasion if you keep it in the freezer. It holds without flavor loss for two months in a tightly covered plastic container or a carton which has been freezer-wrapped.

She's not her sister's keeper

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Talk about a situation which is incredibly unbelievable—but true—the one in my own family takes the prize.

I have a 36-year-old sister who is unmarried and pregnant. She is attractive and self-supporting, and believe it or not, she is a practicing physician!

The problem is, she refuses to marry the baby's father. She says she knows who he is but she doesn't want to get married. She could have had an abortion with no trouble at all, but she didn't want one. Have you ever heard of anything so crazy in all your life?

No friend or relative can convince her that she is wrong. We were all so proud of her, and now she is about to disgrace the whole family.

She respects your advice, Abby. Can you help us convince this foolish, bull-headed woman that she should get married?

OLD-FASHIONED SISTER

DEAR SIS: Knowing nothing of the "baby's father" or your sister's reasons for refusing to marry him, I can't join your team. It's her life and her decision, and as a grown woman, it's her prerogative to decide what is best or HER. A person can disgrace only him (or herself). You are not your sister's keeper.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can help me with a problem in my personal life. I hope so, because I can't ask anyone else. I have known this young lady for about two years. Well, in the last month I have taken her out a few times, but only on a friendly basis. Now she tells me that she is in love with me!

The problem: Very recently, she introduced me to one of her friends who is also her neighbor. As soon as I met this friend, something sparked between us. I would like to ask her out. Even if she turned me down, it might cause hard feelings between her and her friend, and I would be out in the cold.

I want to avoid this. Don't tell me to forget the girl because girls like her are few and far between.

THREE IS A CROWD

DEAR THREE: You are a free agent. You've made no commitment to your old friend, and she has no claim on you, so go ahead and ask the "few and far between girl" for a date. If the "spark" was indeed a two-way ignition, she'll accept. You have more to gain than to lose.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow (nearly 60) who has been alone for two years. Before George died he asked me to promise him that, if anything happened to him, I would not marry a certain bachelor friend of ours: I was shocked at his request, but didn't know what else to say, so I said: "Of course, George, I promise," never dreaming anything would happen.

I have been going with this bachelor friend for nearly a year, as we were good friends. He says he loves me and wants to marry me. I want to marry him, too, but I am haunted by that promise I made George. Please advise me.

HAUNTED

DEAR HAUNTED: It is my feeling that since most deathbed promises are charged with emotion, they shouldn't be regarded as binding. But the decision is yours, so if you let that "promise" continue to haunt you, face it, you'll find no happiness with this man.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Home Treatments

Dr. John Harvey Kellogg's century-old volume "Uses of Water" covers such an array of functions that they can only be listed in the space of this column. Water is effective as a coolant, sedative, tonic, pain reliever, antispasmodic, astringent (to stop hemorrhage), laxative, emetic and diuretic.

Because they are so powerful in their effects, many water treatments should be given only by trained therapists and in consultation with a physician for accurate diagnosis of illness and appropriateness of the treatment. However, readers who would like to reduce the use of drugs will still find effective some of the simple remedies our grandmothers used.

Heating compress for sore throat or cough. Wring cold water out of handkerchief or piece of muslin, fold into 2 1/2-by-4-inch pad and pin to wool sock or scarf. Place wet pad over throat and wrap wool around neck as tightly as comfortable. Pin securely and leave on overnight.

Hot and cold packs for sinus congestion. Wring very hot water out of small towel, keeping ends dry. Fold quickly in pad of proper size to cover sinus areas of forehead, temples and cheek bones with hottest area of towel next to face. When comfortably warm, remove and apply cold cloth or rub ice cube quickly over area. Repeat three times. Treatment may be repeated as often as needed to relieve pain.

Hot bath to reduce fever. This is especially effective with babies and young children for whom drugs are inadvisable, but should be carried out only in consultation with family doctor.

Place child in tub of warm water. Let hot water trickle into tub, keeping hand in throughout treatment to be sure water does not burn. Give the child a cold drink. When sweating good (about 20 minutes), add cold water until bath is tepid. Remove child from bath, dry, dress in pajamas, wrap in blanket and put to bed. Cover child well with blankets so sweating will continue. Change pajamas when they become wet with sweat. If temperature is very high, put an ice bag (crushed ice in a plastic bag) at back of neck. A cool enema given before the hot bath will also help to reduce fever.

Ask your physician about using hot packs to relieve pain, cold packs to reduce congestion and other means of reducing dependence on drugs.

Homemakers Council Holds Meeting Here Wednesday

Plans for the year's activities were planned by the Calloway County Homemakers at their fall council meeting held Wednesday, August 21, at one p.m. at the Ellis Community Center.

Mrs. Margaret Taylor, president, presided, and Mrs. Gary Key read the minutes and gave the treasurer's report. Twenty-three clubs are in Murray and Calloway County.

Reports were given by Mrs. Kay Adams, clothing, substituting for Mrs. Guy Cunningham; Mrs. Wayne Hardie, family life; Mrs. Rose Harrington, home management; Mrs. Jackie Butterworth, housing; Mrs. Dan Bazzell, cultural arts; Mrs. Danny Cunningham, health.

Activities planned include: A bake sale at four places for the purpose of raising funds to charter a bus for members to attend the Kentucky Extension Homemakers' Association annual meeting at Lexington in June; furnish sandwiches for a special Olympic Day for retarded and handicapped children next spring at Murray State University.

The council also planned for the Annual Day to be held Monday, September 30, at the Holiday Inn with each club to furnish at least one model for the Dress Reveal; and a charm school, promoted by the South Murray Club, for all club members to be held in the Gleaners Class room at the First United Methodist Church on November 26.

A report was given on the "Food & Fun Camp," and the women voted to continue to finance five boys and five girls to this camp.

Area activities this fall include Fab-A-Fair on October 4 at the Civic Center in Paducah, and the Purchase Area Extension Homemakers Association Area Day on October 24 at the Civic Center in Paducah.

During the morning session which started at ten a.m. the club officers' training workshops were held.

The film strips on Parliamentary Procedures were shown with Mrs. Jackie Butterworth, Mrs. Rose Harrington, and Mrs. Nola Lewis as the narrators.

Mrs. Dan Bazzell gave the devotion. The women then divided into special groups.

Mrs. Verona Grogan, County Issues and Concerns chairman, attended a district meeting and she shared this information with the chairmen of this group from the clubs who were Mesdames Lola Hurn, Helen Cole, Max Hurt, Jackie Butterworth, Marie A. Forrester, Howard Wendt, Blanche Larson, and Madeline Parker.

The presidents met with Mrs. Taylor discussing the duties for each one. In this group were Mesdames Nola Lewis, Edna Butler, Artie Morris, Topsy Brandon, Ann Williams, Sandra Barnett, Wilma Wilson, Eleanor D'Angelo, Joyce Herndon, Marilyn Herndon, Rose Harrington, Marilyn Bazzell, Kay Adams, Murrell Madrey, and Carolyn Parks.

Mrs. N. P. Cavitt, county vice-president, met with Mrs. Brooks Collier and Mrs. Erma Outland to discuss their duties as vice-president and membership chairman. The county secretary, Mrs. Gary Key, discussed the responsibilities of this office with Mesdames Charlie Crawford, Justine Story, Ruby Harrell, Shelby Suter, June Pritchett, James Dixon, Larry N. Osborn, Prentice Dunn, and Delores Zinkovich.

At the noon-hour a delicious potluck luncheon was served.

Lenora Ann Puckett, weds Thomas Lovett

CUNNINGHAM, Ky.,

In a July candlelight ceremony at 7:30 p.m., Bethlehem Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding of Lenora Ann Puckett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Puckett of Cunningham, and Thomas E. Lovett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Lovett Sr. of Murray.

The bride's uncle, the Rev. Kenneth Puckett, pastor of the Hopewell Baptist Church, Kuttawa, performed the double-ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Geraldine Rudd, organist, and the bride's aunt, Mrs. Belva Puckett, vocalist.

The vows were exchanged under an arch banked with palms and entwined with soft pink snapdragons and greenery. On each side were seven-branch candelabra flanked by large baskets of white gladioli and pink rosebuds. The family pews were marked by white satin bows, ivy and pink summer flowers. Small seven-branch candelabra provided light for the piano and organ. The candles were lighted by Brian Puckett, brother of the bride.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, wore a formal gown of crystal white silk organza, fashioned with a Victorian neckline of double ruffles over a sheer yoke. Long sheer sleeves were embellished with flower motif embroidery and a ruffle cuff. The soft gathered skirt was sashed with a satin ribbon and embroidered to the hem. The Watteau train fell from the back waistline with the added beauty of embroidered medallions and a wide ruffle encircling it. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a headpiece of matching lace medallions scattered with satin and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink rosebuds accented with pearls and pink and white satin streamers tied in love knots.

Her maid of honor, Miss Leah Ann Huddleston, wore a floor-length pink gown overlaid with white organza flocked with pastel flowers. The dress had long, sheer sleeves and a high ruffled neckline with a sheer yoke. The Empire waist was sashed with a pink satin ribbon. She carried a single long-stemmed pink rose with pink satin streamers. A matching picture hat completed the costume.

The flower girl was Miss Teresa Renee Carroll of Murray, niece of the groom. Her dress was identical to that of the maid of honor and she carried a basket of rose petals which were strewn in the path of the bride.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother-in-law, Johnnie Stockdale of Murray. Ushers were Franklin Carroll, brother-in-law of the groom, and Wally Hill, uncle of the bride.

The bride's mother was attired in a dress of powder blue polyester. The groom's mother chose soft pink polyester. Both wore white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Bill Puckett, wore a melon polyester knit with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Serving refreshments were Mrs. Carolyn Carroll and Mrs. Cathy Stockdale, sisters of the groom, and Mrs. Karen Hill, aunt of the bride.

Miss Barbara Womble kept the bride's register and Miss Donetta Davis distributed rice bags after the reception. For her wedding trip, Mrs. Lovett chose from her trousseau a blue silk pant suit and pinned a corsage of rosebuds from her bouquet at her shoulder.

The couple is now at their home at Murray Rt. 1.

Letter To The Editor

Thanks To Murray

Dear Editor:

My family and I would like to take this means of saying "thanks" to the citizens of Murray.

We have lived in some 18 communities in the United States, Europe and the Far East during the past 28 years. In every community we found friends and things that we liked about the community.

However, the Murray area and its people will always have a special place in our hearts.

As Marshall Jones is fond of saying, "Murray has more of the good things and fewer of the problems" than any other community. We agree, except we would add that the people with whom we were associated were number one on the list of "good things."

Thank you all for accepting my family and me into your community. Our lives are richer for the experience.

The welcome will always be out at our new home in Elizabethtown.

Sincerely,
Col. Palmer A. Peterson (Ret.)

Continued Inflation
Forcing Many Changes

NEW YORK (AP). — The continuation of inflation is forcing some obvious changes in American life styles, such as more careful shopping, less elaborate vacations, greater personal debt and more insistence upon pay raises.

Here are some important but far less obvious consequences: Personal independence is a fundamental component of the American value system, but some studies indicate that people today fear they are losing the power to control their lives.

In 1968 a national sample of individuals was questioned on the amount of individual control they felt they had over some major facets of their lives. Another sampling was taken this year, with these results:

1. Seventy-seven per cent of those questioned in 1974 say they have very little control over inflation. This is six per cent more than gave the same answer in 1968.

2. In 1968, some 12 per cent felt they had very little control over accumulating funds for retirement. In 1974, about 21 per cent gave this response, despite a substantial growth in both Social Security and private pension benefits.

3. In 1968, about 12 per cent said they had very little control over saving part of their earnings regularly. In 1974, the answer was given by 17 per cent.

4. Eleven per cent said they had very little control in providing for their children's college education when they were queried in 1968. Fourteen per cent gave this response in 1974. The sampling was conducted by the Institute of Life Insurance, a trade organization that includes as members most of the nation's life insurance companies.

In the late 1940s and early 1950s the typical motorist who financed his automobile purchase paid his installments over a 24-month period. By the mid-50s, millions of car buyers gradually accepted the 36-month period, and the 48-month period is growing in popularity. It might cost the borrower more in interest charges, but the longer pay period reduces the monthly note. And that counts.

Ford Motor Credit Co., a subsidiary of the manufacturer, indicates that during a recent period about 14 per cent of its business was for 42 months, compared with just 3 per cent a year ago.

Other major finance companies also report their customers are taking more time to pay.

Now Detroit must assess the impact. Will the increasingly longer pay period extend the normal three-year purchasing cycle closer to four years? Will it, on the other hand, permit more people to buy cars?

Agree Or Not

FRANKFORT—The Battle of words between Governor Wendell H. Ford and U. S. Senator Marlow W. Cook over the signing, or not signing of a campaign note for U. S. Senator Walter Huddleston, is just an exercise in semantics.

Actually it was Cook's campaign headquarters in Louisville, and not Cook, who made the charge that Governor Ford signed the not along with J. R. Miller, H. K. Taylor, James E. Gray, William Sullivan, Andrew Jolley, and Thomas C. Carroll.

The General Accounting Office in Washington, D. C. has posed the question that the loan violates federal laws because there is a question whether or not the Frankfort bank charged interest on the loan, but this is beside the point in the battle of words. The point is did Ford, or did not sign a note. Ford says he signed as guarantor of the loan, and not a note. And the paper before me shows that he signed as guarantor, and not the note itself. But this really doesn't make much difference, and that is why I say it is just a matter of semantics. The guarantee paper or legal document that Ford signed for Huddleston's Democratic Campaign Committee says that the individuals will be jointly responsible for payment of the note in case of default, but does excuse the individual's family of liability in case of death of any of the signatories.

It really matters not that Ford didn't sign a note. There's not much difference in signing a note or signing a paper to guarantee repayment of the loan. The fact is he would have been responsible if the Democratic Party had not repaid the note when due.

Another problem in Huddleston's campaign financing is that GAO claims Demo Campaign Headquarters accepted corporate checks, illegal contributions under both state

Ford claims he doesn't know anything about this and GAO doesn't indicate in its report that Ford knew anything about these checks. Ford is probably right, for he did move political matters of patronage and campaign collections out of the governor's office to downtown Democratic headquarters. The point here is that he has not made open denial of any connections with Democratic campaign financing.

Cook hasn't released many political salvos at Ford over cronyism in passing out personal service contracts, construction projects without competitive bidding, leasing of boat docks without bids, or the state's leasing of buildings without competitive bidding. In one case a building was purchased for $21,000 and then leased to the state for $23,000 a year.

Ford has more money than any other governor before him, and has had $78 million at his disposal to spend at his discretion on state projects by virtue of an open-end clause put in the state budget bill this session. An interim legislative committee is now questioning this action of the legislature, given to Ford under the explanation that this is an indecisive year when no one knew what the turn of events would be in money matters in the state or nationally. He also was given the power to cut back spending if revenues fell below the budget estimate. Revenue is running way above the budget estimate, and that is why Ford has had the extra $78 million to spend on state projects as he pleases.

Quotable Quotes: In his honeymoon meeting with UMWA President Arnold Miller in Frankfort in July, the governor emerged from the meeting to face newsmen and say "the State Police wouldn't be used to escort strike breakers across the picket line in Harlan County."

A Bow To Reality

The House does not believe necessarily that the increasing number of safety devices ordered by the Department of Transportation on new cars fails in its purpose of saving lives.

But the representatives, apparently, are listening to the unhappy comment of constituents pained by the price they pay for buzzers, bells and other alarms designed to insure that they utilize the protective gadgets.

The motoring public has been particularly critical of interlock devices that prevent a car from starting until seatbelts are buckled and of a proposed airbag system intended to cushion collision impact on drivers and passengers who resist seatbelt admonitions.

If the House view prevails in a House-Senate conference on a broad motor vehicle and school bus safety bill, mandatory regulations will become optional. A dashboard light would be the only required alarm to point out an unclashed seatbelt.

The overwhelming vote in the House seems to be a practical response to the proliferation of devices, which recent experience indicates has been featured by a massive effort by drivers to frustrate their intent.

Your Individual Horoscope
Frances Drake

FOR SUNDAY, AUGUST 25, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Care needed in both budgetary and domestic matters now. Also, avoid restlessness and changeability. A day for straight-line thinking and action.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21)

Don't cross others without ample reason. It may turn out best if you wait a bit before making decisions, give time for added factors to appear.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

Be master of your thinking rather than let it set you off on tangents which get you nowhere. Success can come through certain new alliances.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

As with many others now, tendencies toward restlessness and unreason prevail. Avoid! Many errors and misguided moves can thus be prevented.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

Be solicitous of fellowmen but not to the point of being "taken in." There are some who would prey on anyone who will listen.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Accent is on your love life. If single, the time has come to make your mind up about a current romance.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Circumvent trouble, even if you have to take the long way around. Some persons could be irritating now. Avoid them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

Don't make decisions under stress and don't write anything you may later regret. Maintain your equanimity even if certain situations annoy you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24 to Dec. 21)

Stellar influences indicate some new interests. Make sure you are ready for them — but without slighting current obligations. Don't let "moods" cause misunderstandings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Mixed influences. Question and investigate where there is margin for error. Do not accept suggestions blindly. And do not expect more than is reasonable.

FOR MONDAY, AUGUST 26, 1974

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

Demonstrate your abilities in a tactful manner, bearing in mind that some may not see eye to eye with you. In the long run, however, they WILL come around to your point of view.

Present influences indicate some obstacles—not insurmountable, but annoying unless you retain your sense of humor—AND patience.

Q. Does homeowners insurance cover cash and securities that get stolen or destroyed in a fire?

A. Yes, but only up to the limits specified in the policy. These are designed to provide as much protection as the average family generally needs, but if you have a lot more cash or securities around than most people, talk to your insurance representative about getting more protection.

Securities are not really "like money in the bank" unless they are as safe from fire and theft as money in the bank.

Funny Funny World

Lafayette, Ind. — Diamonds aren't peanuts, but peanut butter can become diamonds. So says Prof. Henry O. A. Meyer quoted in a Purdue University publication. Meyer, an expert on diamonds, says he has learned that anything with a lot of carbon in it, subjected to enough pressure and extreme heat, can be made into diamonds. Peanut butter is essentially an oil with a heavy carbon structure and is so transformable, Meyer said. The scientists at General Electric have actually done it," he said.

THAT OPENING DAY OF SQUIRREL SEASON

The opening day of squirrel season last weekend was long awaited date by many hunters. Preseason scouting paid off for many while others who didn't scout came in with less squirrels than they had anticipated.

Before opening the season with my usual bang, I drove into the University Inn at 4:00 a. m. for breakfast. I joined several anxious, blurry-eyed squirrel hunters staring into a plate of eggs and bacon and trying to down enough coffee to stay awake. After eating breakfast and starting on my fourth or fifth cup of coffee my hunting partner came in and sat down. Either I was still very sleepy or he was so well camouflaged that I could barely see him. It took me awhile to figure out that it was Charlie McKenney.

Charlie and I had scouted out what had been in years past, a prime squirrel hunting area. We had been fishing down at the lake a few weeks prior and decided to go ashore and check out that particular area for signs of squirrels. We walked several hundred yards but didn't find very many signs. The whole area was covered with hickory trees with no hickory nuts. Well, this area just wasn't the spot for us to open squirrel season. I had been checking several areas which showed signs of squirrels but not really that promising. I told Charlie we would hunt my "honey hole" for squirrels. It was always a good place.

After finishing my last cup of coffee Charlie and I piled into the Jeep and headed off for my most productive squirrel hunting spot for the last ten years. When we got there someone was already parked where I had been parking in the past. I thought for sure they were in MY woods, but as it turned out they were across the road in another area. The only problem with not being able to park in my usual spot was the convenience of a short walking distance across a field to my spot. We drove on down the road in hopes of finding another place to park and still be able to readily reach the good hunting area of the same woods. It was light enough to barely see a few feet in front of us while we got our things out of the Jeep. We had parked next to a five foot ditch that had to be crossed before walking along the edge of the woods and a cornfield.

The further we walked the more unfamiliar things started to look to me. For ten years I had hunted this woods which has a creek running down through it and has always had corn planted in the field beside it. I knew every square foot of this area, yet it didn't look right. I tried to enter the woods several times but always ran into a thick maze of what seemed like amazon vines and tangles. I kept coming back out into the cornfield. Finally, Charlie and I separated and we more or less both took pot luck for a spot to hunt. We had both decided from the signs of some of the corn that the squirrels were coming out into the cornfield to feed.

It had been getting progressively lighter and was lighter than I liked for it to be when I first got situated under a tree. I took my folding seat out of my back pocket and looked around as I snapped it in place and set it down. I wondered how many of those tree rats were looking down at me in my torn and tattered camouflaged coveralls. Twenty minutes went by and I heard the first shot of the morning off at a distance. Five minutes later shots were being fired about every minute or so.

While listening to all the shots I was still looking for my first squirrel. As I looked across the creek from where I was sitting something startled me but it wasn't the thrashing of limbs and leaves announcing the presence of a squirrel. I had been sitting there all that time with my attention in the tree tops and not noticing part of what had made the area look so unfamiliar to me when Charlie and I first came down along the edge of the woods. There were a few of my old hickory trees gone! It shook me so bad I waded across the creek to take a closer look at this mess. I walked a good distance through the woods and noticed that someone had been in there and cut down approximately 30-40 good hickory trees and among them four of my prize den trees. The trees were just cut down and not logged out. Branches were everywhere and with this many trees cut down, hogweed and other growth had taken over so severely that navigation through the mess was practically impossible. I even tripped over a snag and wrenched my knee.

I finally just sat down in hopes of seeing at least one squirrel. Patiently I sat for an hour and a half and had shot only two squirrels. I saw plenty more but they didn't come to me and it was literally impossible for me to get to them through the snarl of branches of downed trees.

With my knee aching and the fight of getting back out on the road it took me 35 minutes to reach the Jeep. All that time I had been wishing I would have at least come out to check the condition of the woods before the season opened. The trees had to have been cut last winter after squirrel season because I spent the last day squirrel hunting in that woods and it was a clean and beautiful place.

I no more than got to the Jeep and Charlie came wandering out with an empty look on his face. He had shot one squirrel and lost it in one of those ghastly entanglements. It may have been a disappointing squirrel hunt as far as the bag limit goes but neither of us were disappointed in the fact that we were able to get out into the woods and enjoy some of the other benefits of the out-of-doors.

I feel terrible that you didn't limit out that first day, Charlie. As they say in that tuna commercial on tv, "Sorry, Charlie," better luck next time. We will try it again sometime - only in a woods with much better hunting conditions.

Sportman's Notebook

Figures from last weekend's squirrel hunt in Calloway County reveal an average of 3 squirrels per hunter. The West Kentucky Management area up around Paducah released figures of 198 hunters bagging 389 squirrels for an average of squirrels per hunter.

Darryl Parker, Ricky Lowe, John Young, Larry Benton, Jerry and Rick Maupin and Jerry Allen have been among those fortunate ones in getting their limits this week.

To avoid getting him in trouble, one person who shall remain anonymous has reported that Judge Miller was trampled in a bean field by a herd of squirrels. After shooting seven times he managed to hit one of the stampeding varmints. I always thought bird-hunters picked out a single instead of just shooting into the covey.

Mike Todd revealed the story of his dad, Leroy Todd, not being able to go squirrel hunting yet. Carrying his shotgun on his tractor in case he saw a particular groundhog, Leroy inadvertently plowed his shotgun under during a spring plow sometime back.

If you are planning to deer hunt during the gun hunt in LBL this year, be sure to get your application in this week. Deadline for applications is 12 noon September 1, 1974. Yellow applications are for the Kentucky portion and the blue or green (I'm color blind) applications are for the Tennessee portion.

I would like to take this opportunity to formally welcome Jerry Allen back to Murray. An illness in his immediate family has required him to move back for an indefinite period of time. Jerry is seeking permanent employment in Murray and if he finds something suitable he will probably stay here in Murray.

I personally hated to see Jerry leave and was equally upset to see him have to return because of the conditions. However, knowing Jerry he will make the best of what he has. Welcome back, Jerry, and we all wish you the best.

Mapreader Might Be Able To Help Braves In Pennant Race

By HAL BUCK
AP Sports Writer

Will baseball's chief mapreader please step forward? The Atlanta Braves would like a word with you.

Here are the Braves, playing in the eastern state of Georgia, lumped in the West Division of the National League where teams from Los Angeles and Cincinnati also happen to live. And over there, in the East, are teams from places like St. Louis and Chicago, both considerably west of Atlanta.

This becomes rather important to the Braves because their 69-56 record happens to be better than any mark in the East. But because they live in the wild, wild west, the Braves are running third, a rather distant nine games away from the top of the division.

Atlanta ran its latest winning streak to five games with a sweep against the New York Mets Friday night, winning the 10-inning opener, 4-3, and then taking the nightcap 6-0. The sweep gave the Braves 12 victories in the last 14 games, a pennant pace in most places, except in the NL West.

Elsewhere in the National League Friday night Cincinnati defeated Montreal 10-7, Houston edged Philadelphia 1-0, St. Louis shaded Los Angeles 2-1, Chicago shut out San Francisco 1-0 and Pittsburgh downed San Diego 6-2.

The Braves trailed in the first game against the Mets until the ninth inning when Dave Johnson's single, an error by George Theodore, an infield out and pinch hitter Paul Casanova's sacrifice fly tied the score.

Then in the 10th, Marty Perez singled, moved up on a sacrifice and scored on Mike Lum's two-out single.

The nightcap was veteran right-hander Lew Krausse's show. Krausse permitted just one hit in the six innings he worked and slugged a two-run homer, giving the Braves the early lead. He was forced to leave the game because of a blister and reliever Tom House, working in his fifth straight game, completed the three-hit shutout.

Krausse's homer was the seventh of his career and first in the National League. Darrell Evans also connected for the Braves in the second game.

"It just made me sick to have to come out," said Krausse. "I wanted to go nine innings. Getting the shutout was uppermost in my mind and it was a comfortable feeling to know that Tom House was going in there. He's just amazing. And the way this team is hitting now, almost any pitcher could win."

Then Krausse, a relative newcomer to the National League and it's mixed-up geography, added another thought. "This was a highly satisfying night for the Braves, but it's all so frustrating," he said. "Just think, we've won 12 out of 14 games, and we're 13 games over .500, yet, we're still nine games out of first place. It's just a shame we're not in the Eastern Division."

That's the price you have to pay for working in a western city like Atlanta.

Reds 10, Expos 7
Johnny Bench drove in four runs, three of them with his 28th homer of the season, as Cincinnati outslugged Montreal. The Reds bunched seven hits for six runs in the fourth inning when bench tagged his homer. Willie Davis and Barry Foote homered for the Expos.

"We're coming on," said Bench. "But it's up to the Dodgers. People have got to beat them and we've got to beat them when we play them."

The Reds have six games remaining with the Dodgers in September.

Cards 2, Dodgers 1
Lou Brock's two-out, ninth-inning single pushed across St. Louis' winning run against Los Angeles and shaved the Dodgers' West lead to 2½ games over the Reds while St. Louis remained 1½ ahead of Pittsburgh in the East.

Ken Reitz opened the ninth with a single against reliever Mike Marshall, appearing in his 33rd game. Pinch-runner Luis Melendez moved to second on a sacrifice, and after pinch-hitter Tim McCarver flied out, Brock delivered the deciding hit.

Ted Simmons homered for the Cardinals' other run.

Astros 1, Phillies 0
Larry Dierker pitched a three-hitter, hurling Houston past Philadelphia. The Astros also managed only three hits as Dierker, 8-8, outdueled Dick Ruthven.

The game's only run scored in the sixth inning when Roger Metzger doubled and scored on Bob Watson's two-out single.

"I think I was rather lucky tonight," said Dierker. "I decided that 'win or lose, I was going out and throw it," he said.

"There is no doubt that he is a very smart pitcher," said Astros' Manager Preston Gomez of Dierker. "But sometimes, he thinks too much."

Cubs 1, Giants 0
Chicago gave Rick Reuschel a first-inning run and he made it stand up, scattering nine hits to shut out San Francisco.

The game's only run came when Don Kessinger led off the game with a double and scored on Jerry Morales' ground out. That was enough to beat Jim Barr, 10-7, who had shut out the Cubs twice previously this season. It was the second shutout this season for Reuschel, 12-9.

Pirates 6, Padres 2
Pittsburgh took over second place in the East by defeating San Diego behind Jerry Reuss. The Pirates remained 1½ games back of St. Louis and moved one game up on Philadelphia, beaten by Houston.

Reuss scattered 10 hits for the victory while Richie Zisk and Manny Sanguillen led the Pirate offense with three hits each.

Rennie Stennett homered and drove in two runs for the Pirates.

American League scores: Baltimore 4, Minnesota 1; Boston 3, Oakland 0, New York 10, California 4; Texas 5, Detroit 2; Chicago 2, Cleveland 1; Kansas City 8-0, Milwaukee 4-1.

The group at 138, just three shots out of the lead with 36 holes to go in the chase for a $50,000 first prize, included Tom Weiskopf, Australian Bruce Crampton and Jerry McGee. Weiskopf played his back nine in 32 for a 66 while Crampton and McGee had 68s in weather that became hot and humid after morning showers threatened to wash out the whole day's play.

Jack Nicklaus, leading money-winner Johnny Miller and Jerry Heard were well-positioned at 137. Nicklaus had an eagle three on his way to a 69, Heard and Miller had 68s.

Arnold Palmer, just one shot out of the lead at the end of 18 holes, blew to a 73 and 141. Gary Player, the South African who has been the outstanding figure in the game this year, also had a 73 and just made the cut for the final two rounds at 143. Hubert Green, a three-time winner this season, didn't make it.

Douglass, a lean, soft-spoken but highly articulate man, had reached his peak some three years ago. He'd put together a couple of seasons in which he won some $80,000 to $90,000 a year, was winning one or two tournaments a year and appeared to be set.

Then he was elected by his fellow pros to the tour's prestigious Policy Bard and almost simultaneously developed a mild case of tendonitis.

"I could see my career going down the drain," Douglass said. "It's pretty hard not to get down when that's your life."

He dropped out of an exempt category because of poor play two seasons ago and then — the tendonitis no longer a problem — managed to win only $9,000 last season, a two-year drop from 25th to 157th on the money-winning list.

"I usually have trouble reading the greens when it's cloudy or drak," Douglass said Friday, then grinned broadly. "This time I didn't."

He scored 179.69 points and seven places and was followed by Paul Cechernanek of Luxembourg who had 165.32 and 14. Christophe Simond of France was third.

Dolphins Face Rams In Preseason Game Tonight

By ANDY LIPPMAN
AP Sports Writer

The Miami Dolphins are having their championship mettle tested early this season.

The two-time winners of the Super Bowl, symbolizing supremacy in the National Football League, Monday defeated Minnesota, their rivals in the last championship game, by a 21-9 margin.

The Dolphins tonight face the Los Angeles Rams, who some observers believe could be a successor to the football crown by the end of this season.

Rams Coach Chuck Knox acknowledges that facing two top teams in one week should not prove too frightening to the Dolphins.

"Miami may be the best team of all times," Knox said. "We've got quite a game coming up for us. They've got great personnel and a great coaching staff."

In other NFL games tonight, the New York Giants are at Pittsburgh, Philadelphia is at Oakland, Denver is at Green Bay, Dallas is at New Orleans, New England is at San Diego, Washington is at Cleveland and San Francisco is at Kansas City.

Buffalo plays Minnesota Sunday, while on Monday, Chicago will be at Baltimore, Detroit is at Cincinnati and Atlanta travels to Houston.

The New York Jets defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 20-7 in the only Friday night exhibition game.

The Rams overwhelmed Kansas City 58-16 last Saturday night, with Cullen Bryant—the defensive back turned running back—causing a stir with 117 yards in 11 carries.

Quarterbacking for Los Angeles, 2-1 for the exhibition season, will be John Hadl, who is expected to see more action as the veterans warm up for the season during the two-week "cooling off" period in the NFL Players Association strike.

Terry Bradshaw has a sore arm but the injury has not slowed the Steelers who put their 3-0 record on the line against the New York Giants, 2-1.

Joe Gilliam has hit on 35 of 55 passes for 646 yards so far and is expected to share the quarterbacking with Bradshaw.

Oakland and Philadelphia both have streaks going into their game, but they are in opposite directions. The Raiders are 3-0 and have been getting good performances from rookie running back Harold Hart and rookie running back Harry Lawrence, while Philadelphia is winless in three tries.

Green Bay, also 3-0, plans to go with Jim Del Gaizo and Jack Concannon at quarterback, although Jerry Tagge will be hard to forget after he threw three touchdown passes last week. Denver, 2-1, will start an all-veteran lineup with quarterback Charley Johnson replacing rookie John Hufnagel, who has gone all the way in the first three games.

Coach Tommy Prothro says his San Diego team's biggest weakness is its defense, which will be tested by New England, 2-1.

San Francisco, winless in three attempts, will be testing the injured ankle of its top draft pick, running back Wilbur Jackson, against Kansas City.

New Orleans, also winless in three games, will try to get untracked against Dallas, 2-1.

Dale Douglass Jumps Into Lead At Westchester Classic

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — "I didn't cry," Dale Douglass said. "But sometimes I sure felt like it."

The popular, placid Douglass, involved in a slump so deep and dismal that it threatened his career, was recounting some of his problems over the last two seasons, years in which he had plummeted from a $90,000-a-year winner and a member of the Ryder Cup team, to a $9,000 a year struggler.

Those problems appeared to have ended in the gathering gloom of a rainy Friday evening when Douglass reeled off birdies on the last three holes he played for a sparkling, six-under-par 66 and the 36-hole lead in the $250,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

"I don't know if my game is back yet," the soft-spoken, articulate man from the mountains of Colorado said, "but it sure looks like it's getting closer."

Douglass—"the only thing that's unusual about me is I spell my name funny"—had a two-round total of 133, a whopping 11 under par on the waterlogged, 6,614 yard Westchester Country Club course.

He was one shot in front of Larry Ziegler, who fashioned another 67 for a 134. Don Bies, a non-winning tour regular, put together the day's best round, a 65, and was alone at 135.

Golf Is Dying On The Putting Green Says Westchester Director

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — "Golf is dying on the putting green," Fred Corcoran, director of the $250,000 Westchester Classic, said today, urging an end to the rule that permits a player to mark his ball before every putt.

"It now takes a player longer to putt out than it does to go from tee to green," added the stocky Boston Irishman, long a leading force in the game as manager and official.

"We have reached the era of five-hour golf. That's how long it takes to play an 18-hole round. It used to take only two-and-a-half or three hours. We are in danger of losing spectator appeal. It is too draggy."

Corcoran's comment was aimed at the relaxed regulations, adopted officially in 1960, which permit players to mark, pick up, clean and replace the ball before every putt.

"If a man three-putts, he goes through this ceremony three times," the former PGA tour manager and current director of the World Cup competition, said. "If he takes four putts, then it's four times."

"We are playing winter rules on the putting greens the year around. We have abandoned one of the basic precepts of the game — that the ball should not be touched from the time it is driven off the tee until it is put into the cup."

Besides almost doubling the time of a round, the ball-marking practice has created other problems. It has posed charges of "fudging" against certain players on the tour.

"Most players are very ethical," a prominent tournament pro, who asked to remain anonymous, said. "But there are some who are known to abuse the privilege. They replace the ball in a more favorable position and even go so far as to tee it up."

"We all know who these guys are."

After marking the ball, a player usually throws it to his caddy for cleaning. The caddy can do a sleight-of-hand and throw in a new ball. This is done, although not flagrantly.

By pressing the marking coin hard behind the ball a player can, in effect, tee it up. It's also possible to gain a better lie by maneuvering the coin. Players also replace the ball with the trade mark on top, using the trade mark as an arrow pointing the direction to the hole.

It is virtually impossible to nail a culprit who may be guilty of such subtle skulduggery in a sport renowned for its ethics.

However, it is the time-wasting factor more than any improper advantage gained which has frayed the nerve ends of Corcoran, whose international golf involvement dates back to the 1930s.

"In the old days, such a practice was unheard of," Corcoran said. Francis Ouimet won the 1913 National Open and never once touched the ball from tee to cup. Gene Sarazen and George Fazio once played a round at the Masters in an hour and 56 minutes.

"Walter Hagen didn't walk any faster than Jack Nicklaus, Bob Jones no faster than Arnold Palmer, but they got around the course in about half the time."

Corcoran recalled that George Duncan, a Briton, coined the expression: "Miss 'em quick."

"I asked Sarazen once if Duncan was really that fast. Gene replied: 'I turned my head to sneeze once and when I looked back, George had four putts.'"

Corcoran recalled that the pros instigated a change in the "no touch" rule back in the 1940s when they were playing on all sorts of greens, including the cottonseed greens at Breckenridge Park in San Antonio.

Los Angeles (AP) — The California Athletic Commission announced Friday that it has withheld payment of the $1,250 purse guaranteed Billy Daniels for the fight in which he suffered a first-round knockout to Pedro Lovell Thursday night.

Olmos said Daniels falsified his age on the application for a license to fight Lovell. "He's 37½ and he gave his age as 33 on the form," Olmos said. "We should have caught it earlier but we didn't."

California boxing regulations forbid boxers over 36 years old from being granted licenses except by special commission action.

Tiant took in stride the honor of becoming the first 20-game winner in the majors.

Tiant Becomes First 20-Game Winner With 3-0 A's Shutout

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer
Luis Tiant is a man who pays his debts.

Four years ago, Tiant's career seemed at an end. After seven years in the majors, he had been traded away by the Cleveland Indians, then released outright by the Minnesota Twins.

But at the recommendation of Darrell Johnson, manager of the Boston Red Sox farm club at Richmond, he was signed by that International League club, then given one last shot in the majors. He made the most of the opportunity, becoming a mainstay of the Boston starting staff.

Now Johnson is manager of the Red Sox, and Tiant is returning the favor. Friday night he became baseball's first 20-game winner by hurling a sparkling, six-hit, 3-0 shutout over the Oakland A's.

"He's the best right now," declared Oakland slugger Reggie Jackson. "When he gets into a groove, he's tough to beat—and he was in it tonight."

Actually, Tiant has been in the groove for some time now. Since May 13, he's won 18 games and lost just three, boosting his season mark to 20-8.

"He's a tough competitor," said Johnson. "He doesn't give them anything to hit." Then he did some lobbying.

"I think, without any reservation, that he should be the Most Valuable Player in the American League, as well as the Cy Young Award winner," Johnson said. "Just look at the record—there's no way a man can do more for his team than he has done for us."

Elsewhere in the American League, the New York Yankees blasted California 10-4, Baltimore defeated Minnesota 4-1, Texas beat Detroit 5-2, the Chicago White Sox edged Cleveland 2-1 and Kansas City beat Milwaukee 8-4 in the opener of their two-night doubleheader but dropped the nightcap 1-0 in 1½ innings.

The victory boosted Boston's lead in the AL East to seven Yankees 10, Angels 4.

Roy White, a late addition to the starting lineup because left fielder Lou Piniella came down with a sore throat, belted a two-run homer, a triple and two singles, drove in four runs and scored twice to lead the Yankee attack.

The victory boosted New York into a tie for second place in the AL East with Baltimore, seven games behind front-running Boston and one-half game ahead of Cleveland.

Dick Tidrow, 10-10, came on in relief in the third inning and went the rest of the way for the victory.

Rangers 5, Tigers 2
Steve Hargan fired a four-hitter and rode a four-run Texas outburst in the third inning to victory over the Tigers.

Joe Lovitto started the third with a walk and scored on a triple by Jim Sundberg. Dave Nelson doubled in a run, Cesar Tovar singled, Jeff Burroughs hit a sacrifice fly and Mike Hargrove singled in the other run.

Orioles 4, Twins 1

Earl Williams cracked a three-run homer to back the six-hit pitching of Dave McNally for Baltimore.

Baltimore got all its runs in the sixth inning. Don Baylor stroked a run-scoring single and stole two bases and Brooks Robinson walked before Williams hit his 10th homer of the season.

McNally, 12-9, has now won four of his last five decisions.

White Sox 2, Indians 1

Designated hitter Ron Santo singled home a run in the fourth inning, then scored what proved to be the winning run in the sixth as Chicago handed the slumping Indians their 10th loss in 14 starts.

Jim Kaat stopped Cleveland on seven hits to raise his record to 14-11.

Royals 8-0, Brewers 4-1
The Royals took the opener 8-4 as doubles by Cookie Rojas and Vada Pinson sparked a four-run second inning and Tony Solaita slammed a two-run homer in the third. Steve Busby got the victory, his 19th against 10 losses.

John Briggs' run-scoring triple in the 13th inning broke up the nightcap, which ended just moments before the game would have been halted by an American League curfew which says innings may not begin after 1 a.m., local time.

With one out in the 13th, George Scott singled to center and Briggs belted his game-winning triple to the wall in left-center.

National League scores: Cincinnati 10, Montreal 7; Houston 1, Philadelphia 0; Chicago 1, San Francisco 0; Atlanta 4-6, New York 3-0; St. Louis 2, Los Angeles 1, and Pittsburgh 6, San Diego 2.

nothing more than recall major events in the history of the ancient Roman state.

The three days that we spent in Rome were crammed full of the historical Roman sights. The nights were a lot less hectic, therefore one of the nights we found enough time to take a sightseeing bus out to the town of Tivoli. While in Tivoli we went to the Villa d'Este with its unbelievable display of tiered gushing fountains and beautifully kept gardens.

At the end of three days we left Rome by train on our way to Florence in Central Italy.

Florence claims to be the most beautiful city in the world. To a true lover of fascinating art masterpieces I am sure that this is true. Again, mostly by foot, we set out trying to see as much as possible in the two days that we were staying in Florence. Most of the museums are in the same part of town so we did see a lot.

In the center of Florence is the Palazzo Vecchio. In a square outside of this palace stands a copy of Michelangelo's David. Just off the square past stands of tempting leather goods, a specialty of Florence is the Uffizzi Gallery, which houses one of the richest art collections in the world. Among hundreds of masterpieces hang Botticelli's Birth of Venus. Also in this area is the shop-lined bridge called Ponte Vecchio where sooner or later every tourist goes to buy jewelry and trinkets.

Two days in Florence were over very quickly and soon we were back on a train en route to Venice.

PSC Defers Action On Louisville Plant

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state Public Service Commission has deferred action on a proposed Louisville Gas & Electric power plant because of objections by the Trimble County Planning Commission.

Richard Powell, director of accounting with the PSC, said he expected a second hearing by the end of the year.

The proposed plant would be located on the Ohio River in Trimble County. The commission approved two other sections of the three-part application, Powell said. They involved application for two separate generators at the Mill Creek station on the Ohio River near Kosmosdale.

Rockefeller Refuses To Concede That Quest For Presidency Over

SEAL HARBOR, Maine (AP)

Nelson A. Rockefeller refuses to concede that his acceptance of the vice presidential nomination at age 66 has ended his long quest for the presidency, citing world leaders who governed in their 70s and 80s.

But President Ford's vice presidential nominee told the second of two news conferences at his summer home here on Friday that political speculation about 1976 and 1980 is "totally irrelevant" in view of the tremendous problems facing the nation.

When a reporter asked if he thought he would be too old to run for president at age 72 in 1980, when Ford would be ineligible, Rockefeller replied, "Did you ever know Golda Meir? Konrad Adenauer? I knew them well. Great people."

Mrs. Meir resigned last year as Israeli premier at the age of 75, while Adenauer was West German chancellor into his 80s. Rockefeller's aides have said he would not challenge Ford in 1976.

The oldest man elected president was William Henry Harrison, who took office at age 68 in 1841 and died a month later. Dwight D. Eisenhower was the oldest to serve in the office, leaving at age 70.

The vice presidential nominee became the highest ranking national figure to support the idea that Richard M. Nixon should not be prosecuted on charges growing out of the scandals that forced his resignation from the presidency.

At the first news conference, which took place on his boat-dock with his wife, Happy, at his side, Rockefeller said he had listened to a recent interview in which Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott opposed prosecution of Nixon.

Scott said on Aug. 11 that most congressional leaders "would wish that nothing further happens to former President Nixon...."
