ONE KILLED—One person was killed and two others critically injured in this car-train collision which occurred shortly after four p. m. Friday. The accident, which took the life of Mrs. Bessie Parrish, occurred at the Chestnut Street crossing

Car-Train Crash Leaves One Dead And Two Injured

One person is dead and two others critically injured as a result of a car-train collision at an intersection that was labeled "potentially dangerous" only eight days ago by the Calloway Circuit Grand Jury.

Bessie P. Parrish, 48, Route Six, was killed instantly when a car she was driving collided with Engine Number 4001 of the Louisville-Nashville Railroad at the Chestnut Street crossing of the tracks at 4:08 p. m. Friday. Also critically injured were her husband, Charlie H. Parrish, 54, who was in critical condition this morning in the intensive care unit of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital, after surgery, and the couple's granddaughter, Jennifer Morrison, age four, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dale Morrison, Route Three. Miss Morrison was transferred to the Jackson, Tenn., hospital last night for further treatment. She is still listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit there today.

Murray city Police, who investigated the accident, said Stephen L. Parker, Bruceton, Tenn., who was controlling the engine, was traveling south on the L-N tracks at about 25-28 miles per hour. Police reported Mrs. Parrish apparently never saw the engine, which was to her left as she crossed the railroad tracks headed east. It had been raining, and the skies were overcast at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Parrish was pronounced dead on arrival at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital by Calloway County coroner Max Morris. Emergency rescue and transfer service was rendered by the Professional Ambulance Service.

In its report delivered Sept. 12, the September Grand Jury pointed out that several school buses use the crossing, and school bus traffic will increase upon the opening of the new East elementary School.

"It is our judgment," the report continued, "that this is a potentially dangerous situation."

Mrs. Parrish is survived by her husband; her parents, Mr.

and Mrs. Lanis Phillips of Route Two; three daughters, Mrs. Dwight Wray of Gleason, Tenn., Mrs. Patricia Morris, Route Three, and Miss Janice Parrish, Route Six; four sons, Jerry, Benton, Ricky of Route Three, Charles and Roger of Route Six; one sister, Mrs. Roy Lynn (Essie) Morris of Route Six; one brother, Earl Phillips of Hardin; and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Parrish was a member of the Almo Heights Pentecostal Church.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at this time, but friends may call at the Blalock-Coleman funeral home after four p. m. today.

who accepted nothing but the best from both his students and himself—Dr. Blackburn joined the faculty at Murray State in 1930 as a chemistry instructor. He became head of the Department of Physical Sciences in 1945 following a two-year period when he left the campus to complete work on the Ph. D. degree at the University of Illinois and to work as a research chemist in private industry.

His service at Murray State was uninterrupted from his return in 1945 until the time of his death. He became chairman of the Chemistry Department in 1958, dean of the School of Arts and Sciences in 1968, and dean of the College of Environmental Sciences in the reorganized university structure earlier this year.

His teaching experience also included two years as instructor at Somerset High School in the late 1920s.

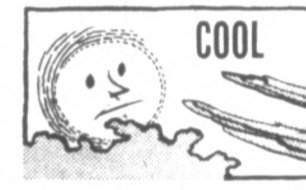

A native of Marion, Dr. Blackburn was awarded the coveted Distinguished Professor Award by the Murray State Alumni Association in 1967.

He earned the A. B. degree at Georgetown College and the M. S. degree at the University of Florida. He also did graduate work at Louisiana State University.

He said air rescue missions from Nicaragua and neighboring Guatemala were made impossible by bad weather, and missions by land and water were extremely difficult.

He estimated there were 100,000 persons stranded, "some in nearby hills, some on the roofs of their homes, and still others in trees.... But there are many roofless houses, and people have been balancing on the tops of walls for three days...." he said.

Antifreeze Prices Are Called Exorbitant By Three Major Producers

NEW YORK (AP) — Three major antifreeze producers say there should be enough of the product to meet the demand this winter, but they warn the market will be tight and that some retailers already are charging exorbitant prices.

"Our view is that the situation is tight and we expect that there will be a shortage in isolated retail markets from time to time," said a spokesman for Union Carbide Corp., the nation's largest antifreeze producer.

The company has increased the wholesale price of Prestone antifreeze from $1.77 a gallon last fall to $2.40 to $2.50 a gallon because of higher production and raw material costs. But there are reports of individual retailers charging from $6 to $12 a gallon.

"It's a rip-off of the worst kind," said Robert J. Cassidy, antifreeze marketing manager for Union Carbide.

"There's no rhyme or reason for some of the prices we're seeing," agreed Frank Chesk, marketing director for automotive chemicals for Northern Petrochemical Co., the third-largest antifreeze manufacturer.

"You find one retailer selling it at $3.17 a gallon and three blocks away some one else is selling it for $6," he said. "I think it's a panic situation and they're taking advantage of it."

Chesk said he would classify the antifreeze supply "as a tight market with spot shortages." The company sells its Peak/Grand antifreeze and coolant for $2.28 a gallon plus freight.

A spokesman for the Dow Chemical Co., which markets the second-largest selling brand, Dowgard, said "We estimate there will be enough for individual car owners. There may not be enough for some industrial users."

Dowgard sells for $2.52 a gallon in truckload quantities, the company said, up from $1.55 a year ago.

"We're concerned about panic buying" as a result of shortage rumors, the spokesman said. "We're making a special effort to make as much auto antifreeze as we can."

One reason for possible spot shortages is that the companies had little inventory with winter nearing and are shipping what they make directly to market. A given area could run out between shipments.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras

(AP) — An estimated 7,000 to 8,000 Hondurans have died in floods and landslides caused by Hurricane Fifi, the Honduran National Emergency Committee said today.

"Rescue brigades and radio horns confirm that in the town of Choloma alone there are between 3,000 and 4,000 dead," Col. Eduardo Andino, coordinator of the emergency committee, said in a telephone interview.

"During the first reconnaissance flight we made today in air force planes we saw hundreds of bodies floating on the waters."

"In many places where there had been townships there is now nothing, only water," Andino said.

Andino said "destruction was tremendous" in towns and ports on the Atlantic coast where Hurricane Fifi struck on Thursday with sustained winds of 110 miles per hour and gusts

Shown Tells Rotarians To Deal With Employees On Feeling Level

When employers show a personal interest in employees and praise them for achievements, top performances generally result, Vernon Shown, an associate professor of secondary education at Murray State University, told members of the Murray Rotary Club Thursday.

Speaking on employer-employee relations, Shown, a former president of the club, told the Rotarians that "you must deal with people on the 'feeling' level."

"Employees need to feel that they are successful, that they are worthy, that they have contributed something toward a common objective and that they are members of the team," he said.

"People thrive on praise and they want to be recognized for what they have done," he said, emphasizing that good employer-employee relations result when "The Golden rule" of "do unto others what you would have them do unto you," is applied.

A native of Owensboro and a member of the Murray State faculty and staff since 1956, Shown was director of the University's laboratory school for nine years before joining the Department of Secondary Education in 1972.

He was introduced by Dave Dickson, program chairman for the day.

Roy Owsley, Louisville, governor of Rotary District 671, will be the speaker at the club's meeting next Thursday, Sept. 26, as he makes the annual "governor's visit" to the club.

President Ted Billington urges every member of the club to plan to attend, especially committee chairmen, who will be meeting with the governor following the meeting to discuss their plans for the current Rotary year.

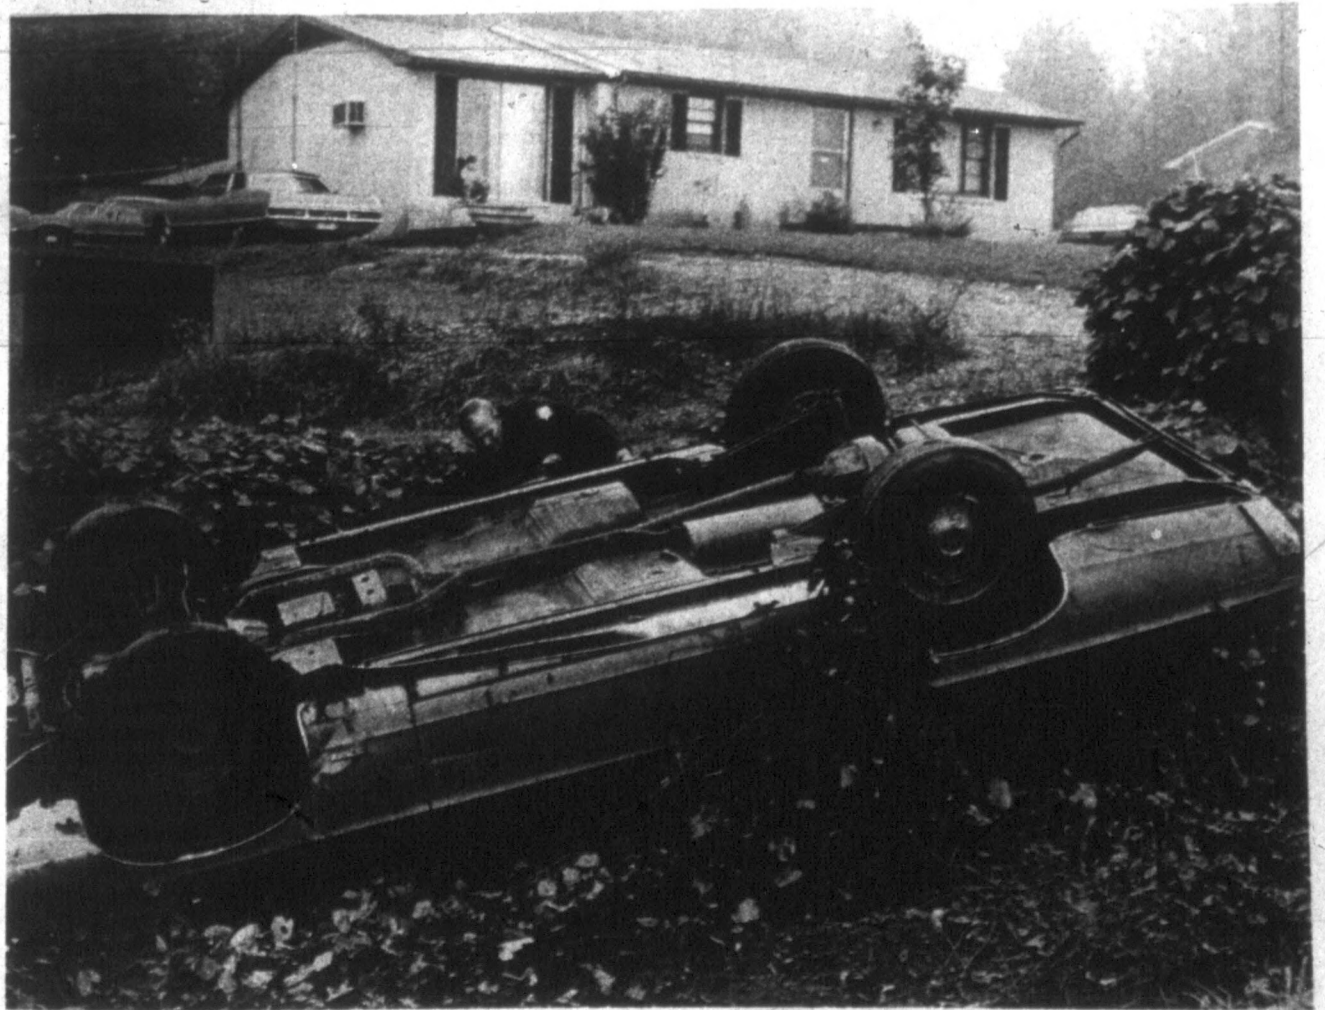

GETS ROTARY SCHOLARSHIP: Debbie Wilkerson, a two-year secretarial science student at Murray State University from Calloway County, is shown being presented with a $125 scholarship on behalf of the Murray Rotary Club by its president, Ted Billington. This is the first of several such scholarships the club will award this year. A graduate of Mayfield High School, Debbie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wilkerson, Route 1, Mayfield.

TIME FOR AN 'EGO-LIFT'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women pursuing careers often have problems stemming from traditional roles which have kept them from the business world. The biggest of these problems is usually a lack of self-confidence.

Jinx Melia, a career counselor and instructor at Georgetown University's School for Summer and Continuing Education, advises women to give themselves a kind of "ego-lift" as they approach the job market.

Her methods for confidence-building include knowing your own abilities and skills, developing "support systems" to boost morale, and facing adjustments that must be made in home life when both spouses work.

She advises against "doing ultra-feminine things," such as wearing heavy makeup, to help protect women as individuals who will be listened to.

No retirement from sex

NEW YORK — Mandatory retirement at 65 should not mean retirement from sex, too, says Dr. Robert Butler, a research psychiatrist and gerontologist from Washington, D.C.

At an American Medical Association congress on aging, he attacked myths about sex in later years. Among them is the idea that older persons lose their sex drives. Not always so.

Too often, according to Dr. Butler, older persons believe they no longer are capable of sexual activity. As a result, they become impotent. Often, too, the pressure of society's attitudes and fear of possible physical injury cause the elderly to abstain.

"Bones are not as brittle as myth would have it," Butler said.

South Branch Of Peoples Bank Is Named For Recipient Of Award

The Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club has selected the grounds of the South Branch of Peoples Bank, located at 12th and Story, as recipient of its Commercial "Yard of the Month" award for September.

The eye-catching feature of the bank grounds is the "Time and Temperature" sign on the north side of the entrance drive. This sign is framed by a multiple planting of well-trimmed upright yews.

The entire north side of the attractively landscaped grounds forms an isosceles triangle which has a ground cover of brown washed gravel interspersed with well-chosen and well-cared for shrubs. The base of the triangle, lining 12th Street, has a ground cover planting of spreading juniper interspersed with large limestone boulders. The upper triangle, which lies between the entrance drive and Story Ave., has a mass planting of dwarf euonymous shrubs.

In the north west corner of the well-manicured grassy area is a free-standing Japanese holly, shielding one of the yard's spotlights. A small-leaved holly hedge outlines the northern end of the entrance porch.

The trim, neat appearance of the bank building and grounds is the responsibility of Remon Wilson who is its custodian and yardman.

The grounds of the South Branch of Peoples Bank were selected by the Garden Department of the Murray's Woman's club as recipient of its Commercial Yard of the Month for September.

A May-December with a marriage in the middle

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old woman who is in love with a married man. He is 40. (No lectures, please, just advice.)

I know he really loves me, but he won't divorce his wife because of their two children who are 10 and 12. He says he can't leave his family until the 10-year-old is 18. Abby, I'll be 34 years old!

He keeps telling me how much he loves me, and I know he means it. I never go anywhere because I want to be home in case he calls. One hour with him is better than a whole weekend with somebody else.

I don't know what to do, Abby. You give such sensible advice. Maybe you can give me some.

FORBIDDEN FRUIT

DEAR FORBIDDEN: You credit me with "such sensible advice." I think you know what my advice would be before you sought it. But the fact that you asked anyway tells me that you know the way out of your dilemma, but need support in taking it.

Okay, honey, send this man home to his wife and look for an eligible man. The forbidden fruit which tastes so sweet today will be rotten in eight years.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently a member of a wedding party. On the way to the reception hall after the church ceremony, the bride and groom turned into the driveway of a cemetery. They had planned to place the bride's bouquet on the grave of the groom's father.

Of course, the other cars in the wedding party followed them into the cemetery, since we had been told they expected us all to go.

At the gravesite, the groom's mother became hysterical and cried her heart out. Then the bride and groom broke down and cried, as did several others. It was a miserable, sad scene.

At the wedding rehearsal we were told of the planned gravesite visit. We talked about it among ourselves, and nobody wanted to go except the bride and groom and the groom's mother, but none of us had the courage to say so.

It was so depressing to see the family break down after such a happy and beautiful wedding. It ruined the whole occasion. What do you think about this?

MEMBER OF THE WEDDING

DEAR MEMBER: The gesture of placing the bride's bouquet on the grave of the groom's father was a tender and loving one. But the couple and the mother should have arranged to do so at another time.

To have imposed that sad and private moment on the entire wedding party was inappropriate. And since nobody in the wedding party wanted to go to the cemetery, somebody should have said so.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 54-year-old married man. (I've put in 22 years with this woman.) For the past four or five years, she has been accusing me of running around with other women, which is not true. By the way, my wife is 42, and a good-looking blond. Even though she's put on a few extra pounds, physically she is just as appealing to me now as she was 20 years ago.

To get the point, I have been accused of playing the game so much that two weeks ago I joined the team. I met an attractive 30-year-old woman who makes me feel like a man of 20. She says she loves me, and I could love her, but the problem is, I still love my wife.

Is it possible to love two women at the same time?

DOUBLE TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: Only if you have the time. (You can "love" more than one person—but in a "different" way.) Obviously your conscience is bothering you, so the advice from here is to knock off the extracurricular affair and play it straight.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Celebration Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Luck Burt

Mr. and Mrs. Luck Burt of Lynn Grove will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, September 29, with a reception in the fellowship hall of the Salem Baptist Church where they are members.

The church is located one mile north of Lynn Grove. All friends and relatives are invited to attend between the hours of two and 4:30 p.m.

The Burts were married September 27, 1924, under the old Walnut tree at Keys Store on the Kentucky-Tennessee line by the late Rev. W. C. Henley. They were the 148th couple to be married under this famous tree.

Mrs. Burt is the former Evon Rogers, daughter of the late Frank and Ida Rogers of Lynn Grove. Mr. Burt is the son of the late Will and Ida Burt of the Story's Chapel Community.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt have two sons, Thomas Randall Neely of Calvert City who is married to the former Carolyn McNeely of Lynn Grove, and Roger L. Burt of Madisonville who is married to the former Carolyn Hughes of Hazel.

It's not wise to heat Mother Nature

A lot of homeowners seem to be trying to keep Mother Nature warm. They pay to heat their homes, then let all the warmth escape to the outdoors. That's not wise.

Mother Nature doesn't need your heat. And you don't need the high electric bills that result from such a waste of electric heat.

What you need is a winterized home.

One that's fully insulated, one where the windows have been caulked, the outside doors have been weatherstripped, and storm doors and windows have been installed. Winterized. Heat inside. Mother Nature outside. The way it should be.

Nixon and Watergate

(From The Kentucky Post)

To give community leaders an opportunity to express their opinions, The Kentucky Post welcomes guest editorials on important issues.

BY FRANK STEELY

President, Northern Kentucky State College

The other day a member of the press asked for my comment on the rumor President Ford planned to pardon all Watergate offenders. I did not indicate approval of that action nor did I rise in holy terror to condemn it.

My failure to do the latter presumably led my interrogator to characterize me as "a Republican" when he printed my remarks.

Now I would be proud to be a member of either of our great political parties. It so happens that I am and always have been a Democrat. Not only have I always been a Democrat, but in 1960 I was a member of a group called "Protestants for Kennedy."

Let me tell you why I lent my name to that organization, since it will give you some background for my present concern about the entire Watergate issue.

I supported Kennedy because I believed Nixon had been a character assassin in his early campaigns against Congressman Jerry Voorhis and Sen. Helen Douglas of California. He implied his opponents were Communists in a day when that label could ruin anyone with political aspirations.

For the man who has any real religious convictions; for anyone who possesses any moral principles; for a man who understands the basic moral teachings of the founder of the Christian faith — there is no more heinous sin than character assassination.

In Holy Writ we read the very simple admonition to "do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

With this principle in mind, it would seem obvious that in recent months President Nixon has been more "sinned against" than sinning.

The point of my preceding comments and my basic emphasis when questioned about Watergate by a reporter was that every American ought to accept some moral responsibility to bind up the wounds of this country—to write finis to this sordid Watergate incident—to emphasize the positive in this great nation. And I sincerely believe that there is vastly more that is positive than negative.

Men serve their societies better if they lend support to the builders of communities and nations rather than sit poised as they do to discover the "mole on Lincoln's face."

Many dedicated men these days are becoming disenchanting with a people for whom gratitude and loyalty seem passe'.

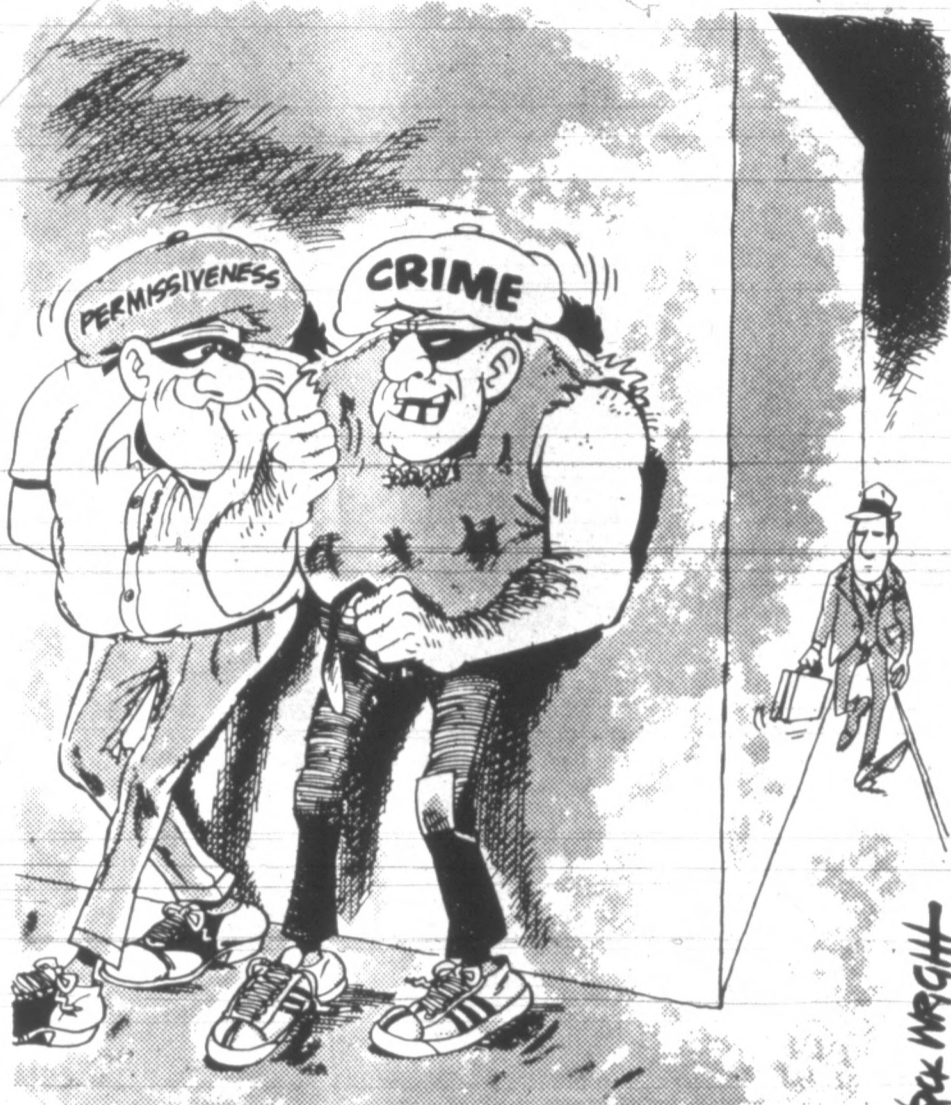

What will you do then, my fellow citizens, when those of any talent say to you: "Forget it! I'd rather retreat to a monastery and await a happier age in which to try to serve my fellow man?"

Funny Funny World

At the end of a busy day, a traveling salesman wanted a light snack. He bought some Limburger cheese and took it to his hotel room. But his eyes were bigger than his stomach; in the morning when he was packing, about half the Limburger remained. Of course he didn't want to pack it — but neither did he want to leave it on the dresser. Carefully he removed a plant from its pot on the window sill, put the cheese in the pot, and then replaced the plant.

It was about three days later that he received the telegram from the hotel. "We give up," it said. "Where is it?"

CITIZENS MUST HELP

Saxbe has crime advice

When Atty. Gen. William Saxbe warned that a national police force might be created in response to the soaring crime rate, the imagination came up with an image of Gestapo-like storm troopers trampling on our freedoms in the name of better crime control. It is not a pretty picture, for there is a pattern of repression found in many nations with national police forces — Spain and Soviet Russia to offer two examples.

Since those individuals advocating a national police force are not specifically identified, there is reason to believe that Mr. Saxbe's imagery was overdrawn in order to jolt the public to a new awareness of nationwide crime problems. Yet if that is what it takes, then his shock treatment was justified.

It is beyond challenge that the growing crime rate — up 15 per cent in the first three months of 1974, says Mr. Saxbe — has a corrosive influence on American society as a whole, feeding on our pocketbooks and peace of mind with the same rapacity as runaway inflation.

In his catalog of crime causes, the attorney general assigns much of the blame to "poverty and deprivation," as well as to permissiveness. In the latter category, Mr. Saxbe cites official in-adequacies, lack of parental discipline, alcoholism, drug use and violence on television as making major contributions to climbing crime rates. These factors all stem from the public apathy that Mr. Saxbe says must be corrected if the nation is to find the "inner strength" required to reverse the pattern and to restore domestic order.

In Chicago, Mr. Saxbe advocated that the nation discard "gimmicks" and return to the concept that the best place for a criminal is in jail. He believes that "society does not cause crime, criminals cause crime."

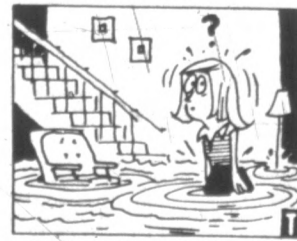

Followed faithfully, the Saxbe prescription for handling the hardened criminals — "identify him, prosecute him and lock him up" — cannot help but give the public better protection. This no-nonsense approach would seem to signal, as one police chief commented, "an end to permissiveness" in combating crime. If so, then despite all its hyperbole, the Saxbe message should have a positive effect in reversing the crime rate.

Crime is everybody's business, and it is the obligation of all law-abiding citizens actively and morally to support the people and the programs that would correct the problem.

Fins 'n Feathers

To Pod Or Not To Pod

The pod controversy has been around for several years and no one as yet knows whether or not it is a safe and justifiable means of taking deer with this device on an arrow.

For those not familiar with this rather simple accessory, it is one of any type elastic or related containers which can be slipped onto an arrow shaft directly behind the broadhead. Most generally any photographs of this device will be shown on a convert-a-point arrow shaft because of the easy pod installation feature of this type arrow. The broadhead can be screwed off and the elastic can be pushed back onto the shaft. The pod is made by rolling the elastic uppermost end down over itself toward the broadhead end of the shaft after it has been installed on the arrow. A deadly powdered chemical, succinylcholine chloride (SSC), is placed inside the pod when the bowhunter gets ready to enter the woods in search of his quarry. After the arrow is released and enters the game, the pod rolls back exposing the drug to the system and causes eventual death.

Many hunters feel this drug pod offers a better overall season harvest with a smaller percentage of lost deer. This is a very good point. Many hunters would also like to consider themselves an expert with a bow and arrow and try and gain the sportsman figure related to this kind of hunter, but the fact of the matter is that too many bowhunters are not the expert marksmen they would believe themselves to be. This is not to say that all those who endorse the use of the pod are sloppy shooters. But this does give ground for argument from the anti-pod hunters who see the pod-pushing hunters as ones who would apply a little dab of "instant death," making up for their possible error of a bad hit. This is also a good point. Anyone who practices will naturally improve his accuracy and have the better percentage of vital hits—thus, feeling no need for an "artificial" death.

These anti-pod bowhunters believe the sport of bowhunting would be endangered if the pod were legalized and are offended that anyone would even consider using something so closely related to the primitive poisoned arrow.

Some hunters believe the drug will kill the game in seconds but there is documented proof of a deer that didn't drop until it ran half a mile. Other instances show where deer only ran a few feet. In these instances the objectors to the pod believe the archers obtained a vital hit and didn't need the drug to begin with. The pro-pod hunters believe, though, that their justification is shown as in the case of the hunter who did not get as vital a hit, but still bagged his deer.

I think these arguments are aimed primarily towards the skills of individual bowhunters. There are other arguments which must also be considered. What about the safety of the hunter? If an accident occurred, would not the drug have the same effect on man? Yes, there is that possibility, but then again there is always the possibility of cutting oneself and bleeding to death even without a pod on the arrow. It is something to think about.

Another thing to think about is the effect that the drug has upon a deer or other big game. Is it humane? Some hunters will say, "What has that got to do with it?" We have in this country a horrible anti-hunting movement which is after each hunter and his privilege to hunt. They have been picking away at his piece by piece and have declared they will not rest until hunting is outlawed. Their part in this pod situation is very simple. I clarify "their" part as the Humane society of the United States roll in calling for a humane aspect in hunting. While the sport of hunting is outlawed they are taking the position that if one must hunt, he should insure a humane death of his game. I personally do not feel that the whole population of hunters are as inhumane as the Society is trying to lead the general public to believe. No hunter intentionally goes out to torture his game before he harvests it. We all know that a quick, clean kill is more favorable for us as far as our abilities as hunters but also for the sake of the deer. And I'm sure that most hunters take a moment of reverence over their downed game showing his respect for the animal. Does this sound like an inhumane game hog that the anti-hunting organizations are trying to make us out to be?

I do feel the Humane Society of the United States has the right to their own opinions so I am making room for their argument in the pod controversy. However, I do not feel as though they need to be the overall policing agent of the hunting public.

The point of whether or not the use of succinylcholine chloride in the taking of game is humane or not is very controversial when weighing it against the other factors surrounding the pod. Consider the following report made by the American Veterinary Medical Association Panel on Euthanasia.

"Curariform drugs. These agents have often been considered as mediums for the production of euthanasia (an easy death). A knowledge of their mode of action in the production of immobility, however, makes it clear that they should in no circumstances be considered as suitable for the production of euthanasia. curare, and agents such as succinylcholine immobilizes the animal. The skeletal muscles include the diaphragm, abdominal and intercostal muscles, so that the animal cannot breathe. Death ensues as a result of anoxia and may experience considerable anxiety and fear."

In other words, the game is completely paralyzed and suffocates to death when injected with the drug. Paralysis can take place somewhere around 30 seconds but death may not occur for several minutes. In this a humane means of taking game versus a possible death from fever or infection if a deer gets away when a drug is not used? You decide. Your views and comments will be appreciated.

Louisiana is the only state which allows the use of the drug in the taking of game. I neither condemn nor condone the use of the tranquilizer arrow but I do think further drug research is needed before any state seriously considers the legalization of this type of bowhunting.

An Introduction To Safety

National Rifle Association

"S-a-f-e-t-y." Say "safety" to a football player and he will think you mean a two point score or a defensive backfield man. Say it to a billiard player and he'll know you mean to leave the cue ball in a spot from which his opponent will find a difficult, or impossible, to score. An Army Ordnance man will think you mean a mechanical device which keeps an explosive from being detonated accidentally. The shooter will think you mean the locking device on certain firearms which keeps them from firing... or, perhaps, the conduct and skills for which a shooter is responsible every time he handles a firearm.

The dictionary will tell you that all of the above are correct, and, in addition, that the word comes from the Latin word "salvus", which means safe, whole common meaning for the word is "the condition of being safe; freedom from exposure to danger; exemption from hurt, injury or loss."

Getting people to care about safety in all their daily pursuits has been the project for a number of associations and agencies for many years. On the face of it, you'd think that everyone would, at the very least, be interested in his own safety and most people would care enough about their fellow humans to be interested in their safety. It doesn't seem to work that way. Let's look at a few of the reasons.

Some of us think it's "square" to be concerned about safety. Some think it's a sign of cowardice. It is only in recent years that football players have worn face masks and only 35 or 40 years ago that wearing headgear became a requirement. The same holds true with hockey players except that their acceptance of protective devices is only about five years old. And motorcyclists have had this requirement for an even shorter time. Some of us think we are too smart, too lucky or too tough to get hurt.

There are, of course, great masses of us who ARE concerned about our own safety, the safety of other people and the safeguarding of property. Some of us know how to maintain safe conditions and give that responsibility the full-time thought and effort it requires. Some of us know what should be done... or we don't do them all the time. Others are interested but don't know what to do.

Unless you care what happens to you and others in the field, you will not be alert enough to avoid accidents. "Careless." Where did the word originate? From "care" and "less" and it means caring too little to avoid accident.

PULLING A BOAT TRAILER

When towing a trailer, drive with that in mind. That it takes more room to pass, more room to park and a greater distance to stop. Also, keep in mind that a trailer's small wheels and tires are turning up to twice as fast as the car's wheels. So keep a close watch on the trailer tires. Carry a spare. Before starting out...

1. Check tires for proper inflation on tow car and trailer.
2. Check lights on car and trailer.
3. Check hitch and chains.

Cardinals Take Different Routes To Victory Friday

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates, vying for the lead of the National League East, took opposite routes to the same destination Friday night.

The Cards used the long ball, a three-run blast by catcher Ted Simmons, to beat the Chicago Cubs 5-2.

The Pirates didn't get any home runs, but made the best of two weak singles, a walk, a wild pitch, a passed ball, two infield grounders and some alert baserunning to score three runs in the ninth inning and beat the New York Mets 4-3.

The victories kept the Cards in first place in the NL East, one-half game ahead of Pittsburgh.

"Any time anybody is as big as I am, he can't be playing Punch 'n Judy all night," said Simmons. "I ought to be able to hit one out every now and then."

Simmons lived up to his own words with a three-run homer in the inning, the decisive blow in the Cards' triumph.

The Pirates, meanwhile, showed they could do without the long ball.

"Nobody hit the ball hard, but we took advantage of everything," said Rennie Stennett, who scored the winning run on an infield grounder by Willie Stargell, beating the throw to the plate by Mets first baseman John Milner.

"We got the breaks and we capitalized on them," added Pirates Manager Danny Murtaugh.

Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles beat San Diego 2-1, San Francisco edged Cincinnati 4-3, Atlanta blanked Houston 1-0 and Philadelphia whipped Montreal 10-2.

Cards 5, Cubs 2

"I was angry with myself because I'd gotten a pitch to hit earlier and hadn't," said Simmons, whose blast capped a four-run Cards rally. "That homer opened things up a little bit. After that, all we had to do was play good defense."

"At this point, every game is as important as the next one," he added. "It's all or nothing now. It's full blast from here to the finish."

Mike Tyson opened the Cards' big inning with a walk, pitcher Bob Forsch sacrificed and was safe at first base on a fielder's choice and Lou Brock singled to load the bases. After Ted Sizemore fouled out, Reggie Smith singled home Tyson to put St. Louis in front 2-1 but Forsch was thrown out trying to score.

Simmons then blasted his 18th home run of the year and his first since Aug. 29. He's been hot against the Cubs all year, however, compiling a .482 batting average against Chicago on 27 hits in 56 times at bat.

Pirates 4, Mets 3

Mets starter Ray Sadecki had a 3-1 lead and was working on a five-hitter until the Pirates rallied in the ninth.

Rookie Art Howe led off with a walk, and Tug McGraw relieved Sadecki. Howe took second on a wild pitch, but McGraw struck out pinch-hitter Dave Parker. Pinch-hitter Paul Popovich bounced a weak single through the hole between short and third, Howe going to third, and Stennett followed with a bloop single to center to score Howe, move Popovich to third, cut the Mets' lead to 3-2 and chase McGraw.

"I hit the ball hard all night without a base hit," said Stennett with a shrug, "but it was the bloop that did it."

Harry Parker took over on the mound for McGraw, but he couldn't stop Pittsburgh's mini-barrage.

Manny Sanguillen hit a bouncer to shortstop Teddy Martinez, who elected to throw to third in an attempt to get Stennett. But his throw was too late, and Popovich crossed the plate with the tying run.

"Rennie's alert base-running set up everything on that play," Murtaugh noted. "He had a good lead and he just outran the ball."

After Parker walked Al Oliver intentionally to load the bases, Willie Stargell hit a ground ball to Milner who fielded it while standing on first base for one out. But his throw to the plate was easily beaten by Stennett.

Dodgers 2, Padres 1

Steve Yeager's fifth-inning home run provided the winning margin for the Dodgers, who are now 13-0 against San Diego this season and have won their last 16 encounters with the Padres.

The victory, combined with the San Francisco Giants' decision over the Cincinnati Reds, boosted the Dodgers' lead in the NL West to 3½ games over the second-place Reds.

Yeager's homer, his 11th of the year, came off losing pitcher Joe McIntosh, 0-4, who allowed just three hits in the seven innings he worked.

Dodgers pitcher Andy Messersmith, 19-6, scattered six hits, struck out six and walked four in posting his third straight victory and his sixth in his last seven decisions.

Giants 4, Reds 3

Tito Fuentes singled, stole second and rode home on Gary Thomasson's single in the eighth inning, breaking a 3-3 tie and lifting the Giants past the Reds.

San Francisco had rallied for two runs in the seventh to tie the game. Ed Goodson singled, Steve Ontiveros doubled, one run scored on Chris Speier's grounder and the other came home on Dave Rader's sacrifice fly.

Johnny Bench homered in the fourth inning for the Reds. It was his 31st homer of the season and boosted his major league leading run batted in total to 122.

Braves 1, Astros 0

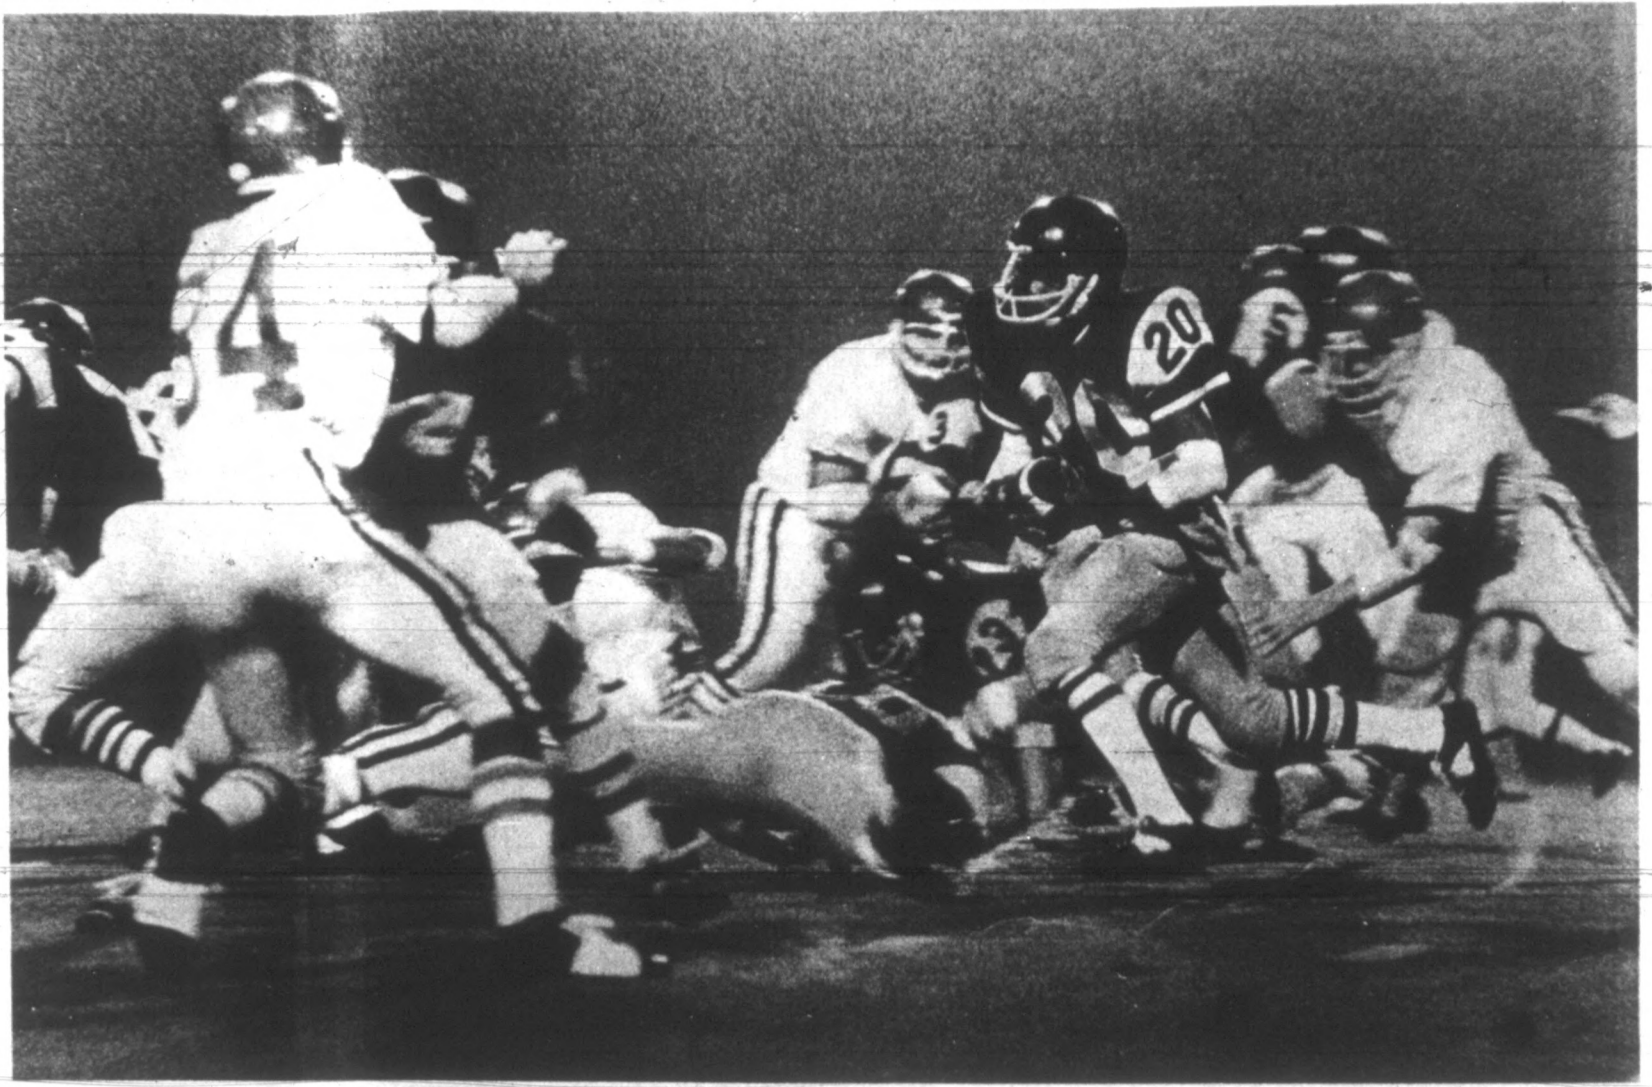

Knuckleballer Phil Niekro fired a four-hitter and drove in the only run of the game with a sacrifice fly in the fifth inning for the Braves.

Niekro, 18-12, struck out nine and walked one. He held the Astros hitless until Greg Gross' one-out double in the sixth inning.

Phillies 10, Expos 2

Steve Carlton fired a four-hitter and Del Unser and Willie Montanez ripped two-run homers for the Phils.

Carlton, 15-12, posted his first victory since Aug. 6 and ended a personal five-game losing streak.

HOUSTON (AP) — A state court judge is expected to rule Monday whether the Houston Texans will play their next scheduled World Football League game against the Memphis Southmen in Houston or in Shreveport, La.

The Texans already have announced they are moving to Shreveport and had planned to play the Southmen in Shreveport's 48,000-seat stadium Wednesday night.

However, State District Court Judge Arthur Leshar on Thursday granted a temporary restraining order requested by a meat products firm that blocked—for the time being—the Texans' Shreveport move. A hearing on a temporary injunction has been set for Monday morning.

Mayfield Wins Backyard Rivalry

Disputed Call Sways Momentum As Cardinals Turn Back Tigers 22-6

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor
There is a two-letter word that could turn around the shape of history: if. When a team is soundly defeated and knows it played badly, defeat isn't so hard to accept. But when a team plays well and losses, there are always those ifs.

The biggest if in several years happened Friday night in Stewart Stadium in Murray High's 22-6 loss to Mayfield, the 10th consecutive time the Cardinals have defeated the Tigers.

With 42 seconds left in the third quarter, Mayfield was holding a 13-6 edge in the first high school contest ever played on artificial turf in western Kentucky.

Murray High had just been stopped on the Mayfield 41-yard line and Wes Furgerson boomed a punt that landed in the hands of Steve Dunevant on the Cardinals' six.

Doug Shelton of the Tigers rammed into Dunevant and hauled him back into the endzone, sending a roar through the Murray High section and putting two points on the board, leaving Murray High trailing only 13-8.

And with the Tigers to receive a Cardinal kickoff following the safety, it seemed the momentum was about to swing toward Murray High.

And that's where Mr. If made his appearance in the contest. The officials debated about the play and changed the call, giving the ball to Mayfield on their own one-yard line and letting the air out of the Tiger balloon of hope.

Three plays later, Mayfield scored and drove the nail into the coffin of defeat for the Tigers. "I've never been critical toward an official," Murray High Coach John Hina said. "But this time, I feel like the wrong call was made. It simply took the momentum away from us and gave it to Mayfield."

"I don't feel like they called a good game." Hina wasn't alone in his belief. After the game was over and the 5,000 or so fans were gone, two of the officials tried to explain the decision.

"It was a judgement call on whether or not he (Dunevant) ran into the end zone, in which case the ball would come out to the 20; or whether he was forced into the endzone," one of the officials said as he was departing Stewart Stadium.

Apparently, the officials ruled he was hit on the one-yard line and the force of the tackle carried him into the endzone.

Many Turnovers If the officials did make a mistake, they weren't alone as the two teams turned the ball over a total of 10 times.

The first half was played on a soggy turf and in the second half, it was even more hazardous as a steady downpour fell for the remainder of the game.

For the Cardinals, it was again the steady running of slotback Danny Fischer and fullback Randy Jones that accounted for the Mayfield yardage.

Fischer, a 5-9, 162-pound senior, transfer from Reidland, racked up 152 yards on the ground while Jones, a 6-0, 194-pound senior, rolled up 154 yards, 87 of those coming on the touchdown following the disputed safety play.

The first break in the contest came for Mayfield when the Tigers lost a fumble on their own 23 in the first series of play. Four plays later, Fisher carried the ball into the endzone and with 6:42 left in the quarter, the Cardinals led 6-0. The PAT failed.

In the next series for the Tigers, sophomore tailback Lindsey Hudspeth took a handoff on a third and 16 play from the Murray 20 and ran over three would-be tackles, up the right sideline and 80 yards into the endzone.

Tim Lane's PAT was blocked and with 4:35 remaining in the first 12-minute period, the score was knotted at 6-6.

Midway through the second frame, Mayfield began its second scoring march, with the 13-play drive being capped by an 11-yard run by Fischer. Placekicker Jon Stanley hit the PAT and with 2:04 remaining in the half, Mayfield led 13-6.

Fischer racked up 107 yards in the opening half while as a team, the Cardinals had 152, compared to 111 for the Tigers.

Fired Up "We came out really fired up defensively in the second half and were playing some great football until that one play," Hina said.

And then following the dispute after the safety was nullified, Jones broke loose on an 87-yard run with 11:46 left in the fourth period and the Cardinals led 19-6. Tony Boone blocked the PAT.

From that point on, all the momentum changed. Mayfield's last score came on a 29-yard field goal by Stanley, that coming with 3:43 left in the game and leaving the final score of 22-6 on the board.

Final stats found Mayfield with 338 yards on the ground and 10 in the air for a net total of 348.

The Cardinals lost four fumbles and had one pass intercepted. Murray High had 136 yards on the ground and Furgerson hit five of 12 passes for 50 yards, giving the Tigers a total net of 186.

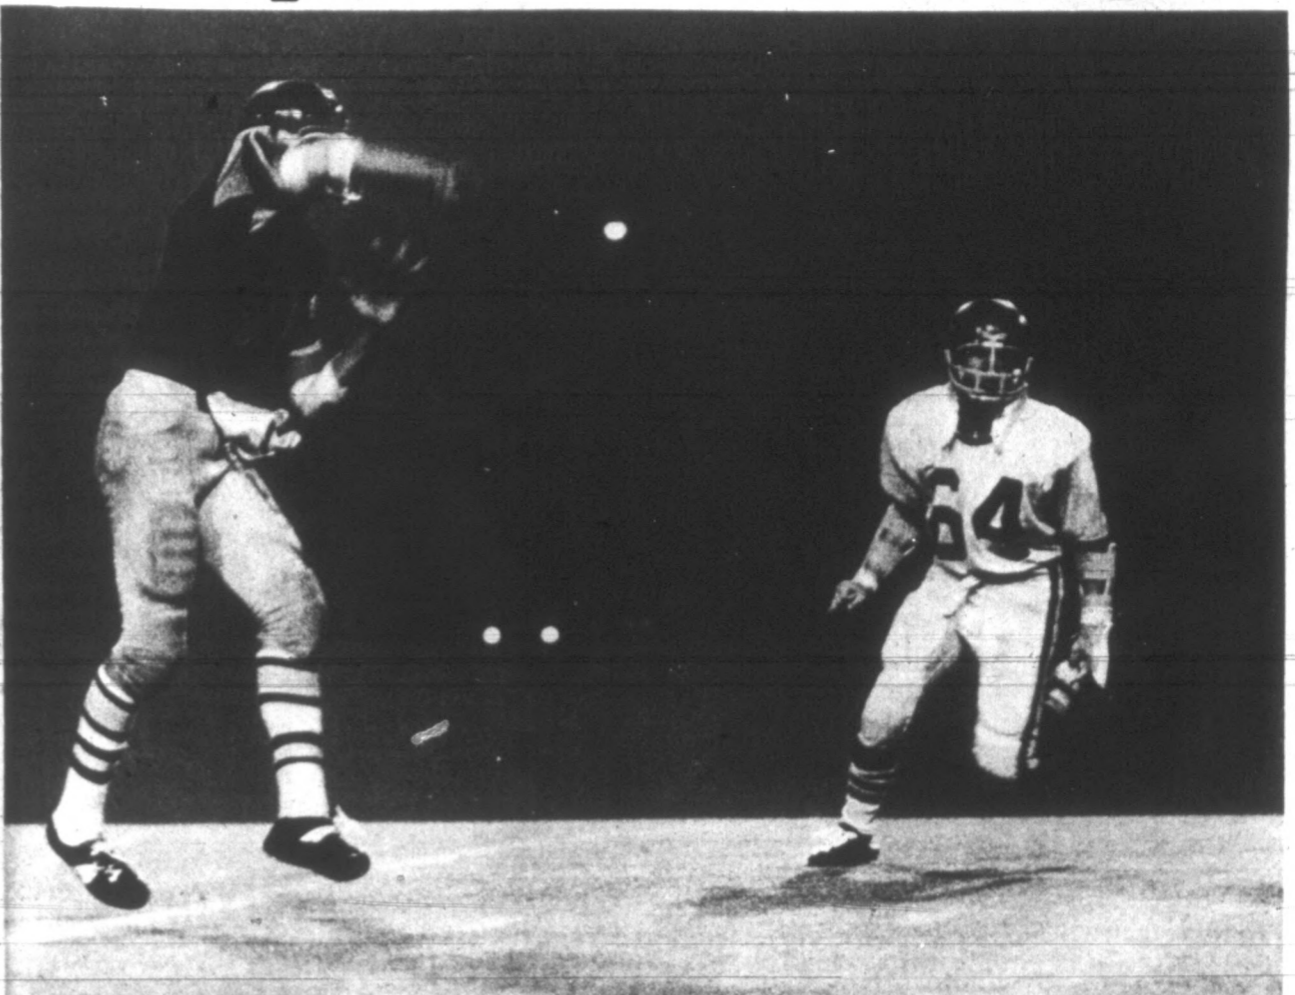

Murray lost two fumbles and had three passes intercepted. Individually for the Tigers, Hudspeth netted 95 yards on the ground.

Craig Suiter recovered two fumbles for Murray while Cliff Dibble and Todd Harrison each had one. Keith Tabers intercepted the only pass for Murray.

Defensive stats, totalling both tackles and assists, found Boone with 19, Steve Porter 16, Suiter 10, Shelton 10, Dibble 9, Harrison 8, Thurmond 8, Eli Alexander 8, Tabers 6 and Brad Barnett 5.

Mayfield, now 4-0 for the season, will host Christian County next Friday while the 2-1 Tigers travel to Fulton City for an important District Class A game.

The Tigers remain 2-0 in District play.

ELI ALEXANDER, (11), unleashes a pass downfield under the watchful gaze of Mayfield's Alex Waldrop (64) during the first game ever for Murray High in Murray State University's Roy Stewart Stadium.

Yanks Move Back Into First Place In AL East Last Night

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
The New York Yankees are certainly having their ups and downs these days. Right now, they're up in the American League East Division pennant race.

The Yankees, who dropped out of first place Thursday night, moved right back in Friday night with a doubleheader sweep over the Cleveland Indians.

"I don't think ups and downs bother this team," said New York Manager Bill Virdon after the resilient Yankees beat the Indians 5-4 and 3-0. "This team seems to handle pressure pretty well."

The Yankees moved into a tie with Baltimore in the pressurized race as the Orioles defeated sagging Boston 2-1 and plunged the third-place Red Sox four games off the pace.

As recently as last Monday, the Yankees held a 2½-game lead over Baltimore. But they lost three straight times to the Orioles and fell a half-game behind.

Before Friday night's doubleheader, the Yankees held a team meeting and Virdon gave his players this advice: "All we gotta do is win."

After the doubleheader he gave this public advice: "You never get used to the pennant pressure entirely, but if you can't handle the heat, you've got to get out of the kitchen."

In the other American League games, the Chicago White Sox blanked the Oakland A's 2-0; the Minnesota Twins nipped the California Angels 3-2 and the Detroit Tigers trimmed the Milwaukee Brewers 8-5. Rain postponed the Kansas City-Texas game.

Bobby Murcer's run-scoring triple in the ninth inning gave the Yankees their first-game victory. They won the second game as Larry Gura pitched a six-hitter.

Gura, who has won five straight decisions since being called up from the International League a month ago, permitted just four singles as the Yankees beat their former teammate, Fritz Peterson.

New York got all the runs Gura needed in the fourth inning. Elliott Maddox opened with a double and Murcer was hit by a pitch. Lou Piniella singled to left, scoring Maddox, and after Thurman Munson forced Piniella, Chris Chambliss doubled for the second Yankee run.

New York added another run in the sixth when Maddox opened with another double, his fifth hit of the night, and came around on an infield out and Piniella's sacrifice fly.

The sacrifice fly was the 67th this season by the Yankees, setting a major league record. The old record of 66 was set by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1954. Elliott Maddox singled for his third hit off Gaylord Perry, 20-11, in the opener before Murcer lined his game-winning hit up the right-center field alley. The Indians tied the score at 4-4 on George Hendrick's run-scoring single in the eighth. Sandy Alomar's sacrifice fly in the sixth helped the Yankees to a 4-3 lead.

Orioles 2, Red Sox 1 Don Baylor and Boog Powell belted home runs and Ross Grimsley and Grant Jackson combined to pitch a six-hitter, leading Baltimore over Boston.

The victory was the seventh in eight games and the 19th in the last 24 starts for the surging Orioles.

In the second inning, Baylor drilled his 10th homer of the season—a drive into the screen in left-center field. Powell's 10th of the year broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh.

Grimsley, a hard-throwing left-hander, raised his record to 18-13 by scattering five hits over the first seven innings. He was tagged for a run in the fourth inning on singles by Carl Yastrzemski and Dwight Evans, a sacrifice and a sacrifice fly by Fred Lynn.

Rain halted the game during the top of the eighth. When play resumed after a 50-minute delay, Jackson took over for Grimsley on the mound and checked the Red Sox over the final two innings for his 12th save of the year.

Boston threatened in the bottom of the eighth when with one out, Yastrzemski walked and Dwight Evans belted a double. Baltimore left fielder Jim Northrup skidded on the wet turf as he tried to field the ball, but Yastrzemski, trying to score on the play, slipped as he was rounding third base and was thrown out after a rundown. White Sox 2, A's 0 Bart Johnson and Terry Forster combined on a three-hitter and Jorge Orta's run-scoring single keyed a two-run sixth inning, pacing Chicago over Oakland.

The loss cut Oakland's American League West Division lead to four games over the Texas Rangers, who were rained out.

Johnson, 9-4, held the A's hitless until Claudell Washington singled in the fifth. He yielded a single to Bert Campaneris in the sixth and a double to Joe Rudi in the eighth before Forster relieved and held the A's hitless the rest of the way.

Pat Kelly led off the Chicago sixth with a walk off loser Glenn Abbott, 5-6, and Bucky Dent bunted for a single. Orta singled Kelly home and Dent scored as Carlos May bounced into a double play.

Twins 3, Angels 2 Minnesota took advantage of California starter Nolan Ryan's wildness and an error by first baseman John Doherty to score two runs in the seventh inning and defeat the Angels.

Tigers 8, Brewers 5 Rookie Dan Meyer belted two home runs and John Knox' two-run single capped a seventh-inning rally that gave Detroit its victory over Milwaukee.

National League results: Pittsburgh 4, New York 3; St. Louis 5, Chicago 2; Atlanta 1, Houston 0; Philadelphia 10, Montreal 2; Los Angeles 2, San Diego 1 and San Francisco 4, Cincinnati 3.

Miller Barber Making Run For Kings Island

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer
MASON, Ohio (AP) — Old pro Miller Barber has an enviable mark in pro golf. He's won at least one tournament in each of the last seven years. And he's ready to make a run at No. 8.

"You know," Barber said Friday after a second consecutive 68 had given him the 36-hole lead in the $150,000 Kings Island Open Golf Tournament, "only one other man has done that."

"In those seven years (going back to 1967) only Jack Nicklaus and I have won at least one tournament every year. Nobody else has done it."

As for his chances in this one, Miller smiled: "I'm just happy to be where I am right now."

Miller, 43, balding and paunchy, held a one stroke lead over first-round leader Dick Rhyan, who fell victim to the deep rough that lines the 6,990-yard layout at the Jack Nick-laus Golf Center. He blew from an opening 65 to a scramble 72 and a 137, five-under-par.

Nicklaus—the man who designed this course and is the defending champion and overwhelming favorite in a relatively thin field—once got 11 strokes back of the leader and had to rally for another 71 that left him six shots behind at 142.

Victor Regalado, the longshot Mexican who scored a surprise victory in the Pleasant Valley Classic earlier this season, was alone in third with a 70-139.

Mike Hill, with a 68, and Curtis Sifford, with a 70, headed a group of eight at 140. The others at that figure — Australian Graham Marsh, Charley Owens, Jim Ferriell, Tom Kite, Bruce Ashworth and Gary Groh — all had second-round 71s in weather that ranged from heavy overcast to light showers.

"It hasn't been a bad season for me," said Barber, who has collected some $61,000 in winnings, "but it's been a frustrating one. I've been in position to win maybe five times and it hasn't happened."

Now he has another chance. He missed only two greens and had but one bogey. Two of his birdies came on putts of 20 and 40 feet. Another came after an approach shot left him a five-footer and he came out of a greenside bunker to within three and made the putt for birdie four on the other one.
