University Scientists Propose Study Of Vinyl Chloride Effects

A proposal calling for a three-year study of the effects of vinyl chloride on freshwater organisms has been filed by two Murray State University scientists with the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

If approved, more than $250,000 in government funds could be provided to finance the study, to be carried out in the biological sciences and chemistry laboratories at Murray State.

Supervising the work will be Dr. Marshall Gordon, professor of chemistry, and Dr. W. J. Pitman, professor of biology and acting chairman of the biological sciences department. Dr. Laszlo Makk, director of laboratories and chief pathologist at St. Anthony Hospital, Louisville, also will assist with the research.

The manufacture and use of vinyl chloride, a component of many plastics products, and propellant for a wide variety of items ranging from insecticides to cosmetics, has been in the national health and scientific spotlight since early 1974 when the deaths of three workers at B. F. Goodrich plant in Louisville were attributed to angiosarcoma, or cancer of the liver, and traced to vinyl chloride in their systems.

It was Dr. Makk who linked the Louisville deaths to vinyl chloride after noting results of research work done in 1971 by an Italian scientist who successfully created cancers of the liver in rats through controlled exposure to the chemical in a gaseous state.

Since then, considerable controversy has resulted between industry and labor concerning safe levels of the chemical in working areas of manufacturing plants.

"It is interesting to note that all of the present concern over the presence of vinyl chloride in the environment is based on one man's exposure to the chemical in a vapor state," said Dr. (See Study, Page 16)

Faculty Members Denied Tenure Present Appeal Before Committee

Twelve Murray State faculty members who have been denied tenure met at a hearing before a MSU Board of Regents Review Committee Wednesday. The committee chairman told the group it had performed the only function it had the authority to perform.

The committee was set up to review requests for hearings from faculty members who were denied tenure in action by the tenure process at Murray State University last spring.

The committee is composed of Bob Long, Mayfield chairman, O. B. Springer, Henderson and Robert Hendon, faculty member at MSU. The committee was appointed by the board of regents in September to receive applications for tenure review.

In all, 14 requests were heard yesterday, one Wednesday morning, twelve at 1:30 and one later in the afternoon.

The group of 12 faculty members was represented by Jim Slattery, general counsel of the Kentucky Education Association. He read a lengthy statement in which his clients contended they have an expectancy of re-employment by the university and the "arbitrary" dismissal of the educators represents property loss.

Slattery emphasized the "property interest" of the 12 in re-employment, and paraphrased the 14th amendment, saying "No state shall deny life, liberty, or property without due process..." He contended in his statement that there was no due process in the tenure denials, and that the educators have no idea why they were dismissed.

The KEA attorney said that if the board will give valid reasons for dismissing the teachers, "I will be the first to advise them that they have no case." He added that all the faculty is asking for is reasons for why they were dismissed.

Slattery called the dismissals "Professional death sentence (s)," in many cases, and said "They just want to know why."

Regent Bob Long, chairman of the committee, said "We will take the information we received to the board, and whatever was said will be considered. As far as giving the faculty members a reason for not being given tenure, we could not do that. We don't have the reasons. We have not seen the reports..."

Long reviewed the tenure process at Murray, saying that the tenure is considered in six steps, including recommendations by deans and chairmen of departments of those involved, and consideration of the final recommendations by the university president, Dr. Constantine W. Curris.

Long said that the board can only accept or reject the recommendations that result from the preliminary steps, it neither grants or denies tenure.

Twenty-four of 45 faculty members eligible for tenure this year were denied last spring. One-year terminal contracts were given to the 21. Seven of the 21 did not appeal to the committee for hearings.

One of the complaints voiced through the KEA counsel was that the faculty members have been denied access to personnel records which might indicate a reason for denial of tenure.

James Overbey, attorney for the university, advised against the release of such documents, saying that Supreme Court decisions have said that the university is not obligated to furnish reasons for dismissing non-tenured personnel.

Slattery said "If you are (See Regents, Page 16)

Banken Campaigns In Murray

Republican candidate for U.S. Representative from the First District, Charles Banken, brought his low-key campaign to Murray Wednesday afternoon and touched on a few of the issues in the campaign during his visit here.

Banken said that he feels most of the nation's inflation problem is due to irresponsible government spending.

Banken said that his Democratic opponent, State Sen. Carroll Hubbard, of Mayfield, has talked about cutting the budget but "he's had his chance in Frankfort and I've

Nixon's Vital Signs Stabilize But He Remains On Critical List

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's doctor says it is too early to make a long-range prediction on the health of the former president.

But Dr. John C. Lungren said Wednesday that Nixon's vital signs have stabilized, although he remains on the critical list.

Nixon lapsed into vascular shock following urgent surgery for phlebitis on Tuesday. Doctors worked for three hours to restore stable blood circulation.

Nixon's former presidential news secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, told newsmen, meanwhile, that the 61-year-old ex-president came very close to death during the postoperative emergency.

"There is no doubt that we almost lost President Nixon yesterday afternoon," said Ziegler.

Ziegler said Nixon's condition grew so serious that "I think it's fortunate that President Nixon was in the intensive care unit."

Nixon's doctors, however, side-stepped questions on whether Nixon's life was in danger during the period of postoperative shock and bleeding behind the membrane that surrounds his abdomen.

By Memorial Hospital Medical Center's definition, critical condition means vital signs are not stable and not within normal limits — "Indicators are unfavorable."

Creative Arts Bazaar Scheduled For Saturday

Plans have been completed for the 10th annual Bazaar conducted by the Creative Arts Department of the Murray Woman's Club.

This year's Bazaar, offering a large variety of handcrafts, baked goods and plants, will be held at the Calloway County Public Library Saturday, Nov. 2, from 8:30 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Proceeds from the sale of the items, all made or provided by members of the department, are used for the continuation of its two scholarship programs.

One, the Annette Schmidt Art Scholarship, is given each year to a Murray State University student in memory of Mrs. Schmidt, who was an active member of the group until her death in 1970.

The second is made to an area high school student interested in the creative arts, and is known as the High School Art Workshop Scholarship. Mary Curtis Taylor is the over-all chairman for the year's Bazaar, and serving with her on the steering committee is Mrs. Gene Hendon and Mrs. Marshall Jones.

Members of the group anticipate another successful sale this year, and a spokesman emphasized that all items will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis. No items, she said, will be sold to anyone before the library opens Saturday morning.

Formerly held at the J. E. Littleton store in downtown Murray, this is the first time the Bazaar has been held at the county library, and it is hoped that Murrayans and Calloway Countians will use the Bazaar as a means of doing some Christmas shopping early to help assure its success, a spokesman said.

Antique Tools, Coverlets, To Be In Exhibit

A Purchase Heritage Exhibition of coverlets and antique tools and utensils native to the Jackson Purchase will be on display in the ground floor lobby of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center at Murray State University through Nov. 13.

Collected by Sally Guy and Emily Wolfson, the hand-crafted pieces in the exhibit reflect the patience, skill and artistry that went into the tools and household goods of a century or more ago.

The exhibition, put together as part of the Bicentennial Celebration, also includes a Bicentennial Quilt made by senior citizens in the area in recognition of the 200-year anniversary observance in Kentucky.

Coverlets (bedspreads) in the show are hand-spun, hand-dyed and hand-woven. A prize piece in the exhibition is a 150-year-old two-harness loom, made in Calloway County.

"It is hoped that a good look at the tools, utensils and fabrics will inspire us all to be more aware of the many reminders still here of the way of life of the pioneer inhabitants of this region of Kentucky," Mrs. Guy and Mrs. Wolfson said.

Charles Banken never heard him say anything about cutting the state budget.

Earlier in the day, Banken, who is from Henderson, told reporters in Paducah that he does not want the support of special interest groups "like the support my opponent is getting." He said Hubbard is supported by the big labor unions in the district and will "have obligations to meet if he is elected."

The Republican reiterated his statement in Murray, saying, "I'm not against organized labor or big business. I'm concerned about the average working man and the guy that's not making big money."

Banken said he hoped to be back in this area at least one more time before the Tuesday, Nov. 5, general election.

Robertson-Jones Vows Are Read In Ceremony At First Baptist Church

Miss Rebecca Jo Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Robertson, Jr. of Murray, and Richard Wayne Jones, son of Mrs. Marjorie Jones, Philpot, and Joe Jones of Wyoming were married on Saturday, October 12, at 4:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Murray.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. R. A. Slinker, grandfather of the bride, before an altar of five brass candelabra adorned with star-burst poms, ivy and baby's breath.

The program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Mike Finch, organist, and Miss Cherry Ball, Elizabethtown, soloist. Miss Ball sang "O Perfect Love," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Greatest of These Is Love." Mrs. Finch's selections included "Libestrans," "Wedding Bells," and "Hawaiian Wedding Song." "Trumpet Voluntary" by Purcell was used for the wedding march.

The bride's father sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

Bride's Dress

Miss Robertson, given in marriage by her father and mother, was radiant in a formal gown of ivory silk organza, combined with re-embroidered cluny lace and poised over ivory silk taffeta. The empire bodice was defined with a band of insertion lace and a victorian neckline, richly adorned with lace. Long gossamer sleeves were designed with horizontal bands of insertion lace with deep camelot cuffs of lace closed with tiny silk covered buttons and self loops. A gentle A-line skirt was fashioned in elegant simplicity, accented with a double tiered ruffle etched in the repeated lace pattern which flowed into a chapel train.

Her headdress, designed expressly for her gown, was a Juliet bandeau from which a formal length veil of silk illusion flowed gracefully. The entire veil was outlined in cluny border lace.

She carried a Medley Cascade bouquet of flowers fashioned in colors of the bridesmaids' gowns.

The bride chose as her matron of honor, her cousin, Mrs. Bill Morley, of Louisville. Mrs. Morley wore a formal gown of cotton blue matte jersey, fashioned with a surplice v-neck bodice with a waistline defined with a bias sash. Long full sleeves were banded at the wrist in self-cord. The simple wrap skirt was gently bias and unadorned. She wore a matching silk-braided collette headdress with shoulder length veil of silk illusion.

The bridesmaids were attired in designs identical to the honor attendant, with hues of different colors. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Doug Hocking, Murray, who wore a gown and headdress of mint green, Mrs. John Owings, Register, Ga., who wore portwine, Miss Edwina Mills, Guston, wore autumn gold, and Mrs. Kenny Pile, Cloverport, was attired in apricot color.

The attendants carried Colonial hand Bouquets in the same colors as the bride's bouquet and each wore necklaces of hand carved stones in the color of their gowns, gifts of the bride.

Mr. Jones chose his brother, Mickey Jones of Philpot, as his bestman. Groomsman were Jack Crook, Central City, Steve DeVoss, Titusville, Fla., Ken Miller, Murray, and Ray Gillaspie, Owensboro.

Todd Mitchell and Will Gooch, IV, cousins of the bride, laid the aisle runner.

All men in the wedding party were attired in identical Edwardian styled brown tuxedos.

Mrs. Robertson, mother of the bride, wore a formal gown of shrimp silk georgette designed with a natural waistline, accented with a bias wrap sash. A v-neck was enhanced with self bias ruffles as were the long slim sleeves. The easy skirt was softly draped in fullness and she chose accessories of blending hue. Her flowers were a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Jones, the groom's mother, wore a floor length dress of royal blue dacron knit, fashioned with a high neck and a jacket with long slim sleeves. The accessories were a matching color. Her corsage was identical to the bride's mother's corsage.

Mrs. R. A. Slinker, maternal grandmother of the bride, chose for the wedding a floor length gown of aqua colored dacron and cotton lace, fashioned with long full sleeves and a double ruffle down the front of the gown. She wore matching accessories.

Mrs. Gus Robertson, Sr., paternal grandmother of the bride, was attired in a Copenhagen blue belted dress of dacron-knit fashioned with long sleeves and high neck. She wore matching accessories.

Mrs. Mary Musgrave, grandmother of Mr. Jones, wore a gown of off-white knit, fashioned sleeveless with a short cape of matching material and matching accessories.

All grandmothers wore corsages of white daisies.

Reception

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church following the ceremony where guests were received by the bride and groom, the parents of the couple, and the bridesmaids.

The guest book was kept by Mrs. Larry Slinker, cousin of the bride.

Ladies assisting at the reception were: Mrs. W. C. Elkins, Mrs. Martha Ellison and Mrs. Victor Mitchell, all aunts of the bride, Mrs. Jim Mitchell, Mrs. Rusty Ellison and Mrs. Manford Gooch, III, all cousins of the bride, Mrs. Gordon Moody, Mrs. Purdon Outland, Mrs. Mahlon Frizzell, Mrs. Stark Erwin, Mrs. Maurine Hopson, and Miss Kathy Simmons.

The table was covered with a white peau de soie cloth. Punch bowl, coffee service and other appointments were of silver. The flowers were of multi-colored mix in colors of the bridesmaids' dresses. The cake was placed on a round table covered with a white peau de soie cloth. It featured five two layer cakes individually decorated with a larger four layer cake in the center. Four white columns held another two layered cake tiered above this and topped with salmon colored rose buds, baby's breath and ivy.

Rice bags done in the colors of the five bridesmaids' dresses tied with tiny gold rings were passed out to the guests by Little Miss Lynn Gooch and Mark Mitchell, both cousins of the bride.

After the reception, the bridal couple left for the bride's home where a buffet supper was served for the wedding party, relatives and out of town friends. Approximately sixty persons attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left for a short wedding trip with the bride being attired in a tan pants suit of raw silk with matching accessories. She wore her mother's corsage of white gardenias.

Out of town guests were: Mrs. Martha Ellison, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morley and Todd, and Mrs. Elsie Sayne, Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mitchell, Manie and Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mitchell, Mark and John, Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Ellison, all of Paducah; Mr. and Mrs. Manford Gooch, Lynn and Will of Memphis, Tn., Mr. and Mrs. Larry Slinker, Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. Don Stewart, Wyoming, Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Jones, Philpot, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lutz and Mrs. Emerson Lutz, of Madisonville, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Ball, Henderson,

Lattice Lends Garden Look

A breakfast nook or small family room can become a sunny, cheerful garden room without the turmoil of structural remodeling.

Begin with 4x4-inch western wood posts in each corner, connected around the perimeter with 4x4s flush to the ceiling. One wall and the ceiling are papered with colorful, floral wallpaper.

The other walls are painted, picking up the dominant color of the wallpaper. One of the painted walls is covered with diagonal wood latticework, giving the room the feeling of a garden pavilion.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

A day calling for your best judgment. You could cause unnecessary misunderstandings by involving yourself in the affairs of others. Don't underestimate the competition, either.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Some misleading influences. Take all "inside information" and "sure tips" with the proverbial grain of salt.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

As with Taurus, you, too, must be alert to deceptive elements now. Even your closest friends may be telling you only half the story. Here's where your innate perceptiveness and intuition can be of great help.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Workaday routine may seem more tedious than usual, but evening activities will more than make up for it. Look for exceptionally stimulating hours with highly congenial companions.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

You may be up against some unusual competition in your field, so keep your eye on the ball. With your fine intelligence, you should find ways to outrun the best.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Talk controversial issues over in a businesslike, objective fashion, not permitting personalities to enter the fray. Pay no attention to those who dissent "on general principle."

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

You won't find any hiding place for your problems, so you might just as well face up to them and work them out. But do so in a relaxed manner and with no anxiety.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Achievement will be largely up to yourself now. You won't have much planetary help, but YOU can light up the fires of enthusiasm and good will.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Emphasize your stability. Many will look to you for support and guidance. Without overtaxing yourself, give help wherever you can.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Mixed planetary influences. Good opportunities for advancement abound in your area but you may have to search them out for yourself. Personal interests highly favored.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A period of adjustment. Profit by experience and study the methods of successful people. Make moves designed to enhance position; insure gains.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Mixed influences. Check impulsive comments, action. You could step into trouble with little effort through wrong or heedless tactics.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with one of the most dynamic personalities in the entire spectrum of the zodiac. So great is your forcefulness, your self-reliance and your self-assurance that they could lead you to extremes and overaggressiveness if you are not careful. Used with a measure of control, however, these traits, excellent in themselves, can lead you to the top of any career you choose. For you laugh at any obstacle in your path and hurdle it with amazing ease. You are a born leader, a strong individualist, a tremendous influence—for good or otherwise. That's up to you! Many great dramatists, artists, writers, sculptors and musicians have been Scorpio-born. Other fields in which you could excel: finance, business management, the law, medicine and politics.

Male nurse wants to be a woman

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old white male nurse. I love sports and excelled in track. I was saved by the grace of Jesus Christ two years ago. I read my Bible daily and sing in the gospel choir.

Even though I am a born-again Christian, I am miserable. All my life I have wanted to be a woman. I would love to be on the U.S. Women's Olympic Track team. I can cook, sew and type. I have never cared anything about mechanics, engineering or any of the so-called masculine careers. I hate hunting and fishing. I never could kill a living thing.

Abby, this secret desire to be a woman is about to destroy me. I am not a homosexual, but I'd give anything to have a sex change operation. Where is this done? Is it against the law? I will go anywhere. I'd rather be dead than continue living like this.

Abby, if the Lord really loves me, why did He give me a man's body when I feel and think like a woman? I have been this way all my life. Please help me!

SAVED BUT DIFFERENT

DEAR SAVED: The Lord created all of us, and why he made you "different" I do not know. Nature sometimes makes biological blunders, as is the case when one's body does not conform with his (or her) natural feelings. You are not alone. Don't feel guilty. One cannot help what he feels.

I believe that knowledge, skill and talent are divinely inspired, and that those scientists, physicians and surgeons whose combined efforts have made sex-change operations possible do so with God's guidance. For information about sex-reassignment and related problems, write to The Erickson Foundation, 1627 Moreland Ave., Baton Rouge, La. 70808.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing a paper on modern marriage and would appreciate your help.

From the wife's point of view, what is the most common complaint about her husband?

From the husband's point of view, what is the most common complaint about the wife? B.H.

DEAR B.H.: The wife's Number One complaint: "My husband doesn't appreciate me."

The husband's Number One complaint: "She nags me."

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a fraud. About four years ago I made a deal with her. I told her if she would quit smoking I would buy her a pair of diamond earrings she wanted very much.

She agreed to quit, and I bought her the earrings. I should tell you that we had been married for 30 years and I thought I could trust her. Well, a year ago I caught her smoking. She said she really hadn't started to smoke again, but she'd take a cigarette "occasionally" to keep her from eating between meals because she was trying to keep her weight down. At that time she gave me her word that she wouldn't smoke again.

I am almost certain that she is smoking behind my back, but I haven't caught her at it yet. If I can prove that she's smoking should I sell the earrings to teach her a lesson? UNHAPPY HUSBAND

DEAR UNHAPPY: No. But ask her to hand them over, and put them away as an incentive for her to swear off again.

If you have a husband problem, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Our Choices For Tuesday's Election

Conscientious voters will go to the polls on Nov. 5 to elect a U. S. Senator, and a First District Representative.

We do not think Carroll Hubbard, Jr., will face much opposition from Republican Charles Banken, Jr., and American Party candidate, Robert Yoak, in his bid for the U. S. House of Representatives seat presently held by Frank Albert Stubblefield, however, this newspaper still endorses Hubbard's candidacy.

Carroll Hubbard has emerged as an outspoken critic of bureaucratic government and has pledged his efforts to ease the burden of inflation that is presently being born by the majority of his constituents, the middle and lower class working people. We think he is very capable of doing this.

As far as the Senate race is concerned, discounting the American Party's W. Ed Parker as a non-viable candidate, the choice boils down to incumbent Sen. Marlow Cook and Gov. Wendell Ford.

We recognize that Ford could be classed as a product of J. R. Miller's political machine, and that his administration has been guilty of mistakes, errors in judgment, and, as some put it, "musical chairs" with state administrative appointments, but even so, we lean toward his side of the fence in the senatorial campaign.

Wendell Ford has, like Hubbard, voiced criticism of how the federal bureaucracy and administration have been treating the states. In Washington, he will have a chance to prove his sincerity by working for some of the changes he has complained about.

Marlow Cook, however, even though he has proved a capable public servant in Washington, seems to have lost touch with those of us back home, especially in the western sector of the state.

We feel that each candidate in the race for the U. S. Senate should be judged on his own merits. We urge voters to cast aside thoughts of whether or not Wendell Ford should remain governor in making their choice. Sending a man to Washington because he is not liked in Frankfort, or keeping him in Frankfort because his successor is not liked, is not a sound argument for determining who would best represent the people of the Commonwealth in the U. S. Senate.

We like the way Wendell Ford has brought his state government to the people, even though we realize that this, too, could be construed as laying the groundwork for his senatorial campaign. It will take much more effort to retain his touch with the people in Washington, but we think Ford has the knack for doing it.

Since Ford took over as Governor of Kentucky less than three years ago, we feel he has grown in stature, in his job, and made strides toward extricating himself from partisan political favoritism. We see no reason to expect him not to continue to grow in Washington.

There is much talk about our political structure today, especially in these Watergate and post-Watergate days, but we must never forget that our Democracy is preserved only when we exercise our opportunity to elect our public servants. Certainly there is no more basic right in a free society than this.

When you go to the polls on November 5, we urge you to vote for Carroll Hubbard, Jr., for First District Representative. We also urge you to seriously consider casting your ballot for Wendell Ford for U. S. Senate before stepping into the voting booth.

Bible Thought

One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all. — Ephesians 4:6

Sometime it's hard to accept God as both Lord and Savior. He is the very Lord of life, the source of all being.

Senator Dee Huddleston

REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

HIGHER PROPANE PRICES WOULD HURT RURAL KY.

I am co-sponsoring with 25 other senators, a resolution which opposes any increase in propane gas prices. We introduced this resolution after the Federal Energy Administration announced plans to allow increases in propane prices in the name of constraining demand by discouraging new industrial and commercial users.

The traditional users of propane — the rural families who use it for heating and the farmers who use it to dry their crops — suffered greatly last winter when propane prices rose by more than 300 percent. And when relief finally came, it was too little too late.

F.E.A. says it wants to discourage new industrial users, but it seems to me the persons who will suffer most from the higher prices are low and middle income rural Americans — not an industry which can pass its increased costs on to the consumer. As has happened all too often in efforts to combat both inflation and the energy shortage, the people who can least afford it and the people with the fewest alternatives are being asked to bear the brunt of the shortage.

Our resolution asks F.E.A. to withdraw its proposed price regulation change and maintain propane prices at or below the level established by existing regulation. Rural Americans have already suffered enough from the energy crisis, and this is an additional burden they should not be asked to bear.

When Congress reconvenes after the election, there will be several important issues to be dealt with, including: the nomination of Nelson Rockefeller to be Vice President; the trade reform bill; and possibly final action on strip mining.

The greatest attention, of course, will be focused on our economic problems and President Ford's initiatives to deal with both inflation and recession. Some of his proposals will doubtless be enacted; others, such as the surcharge, face rough-going and I doubt seriously that his tax plan will be approved in the form presented.

A 'Six-of-a-Kind' Halloween On a St. Louis Inter-State

By M. C. GARROTT

Halloween has a special meaning around our house. It's also the birthday of our youngest, and for a long time that's what he thought all the fuss was about—celebrating his birthday. It hardly seems possible that this Halloween—today—he is nine years old.

Having his birthday fall on Halloween, however, has had its advantages in a way in that, until the last couple of years, he was content to stay home and play with his birthday presents rather than go out "trick or treatin'." That's a thing of the past, too, as he'll be out there with them in the thick of things as a "hobo" tonight, ringing doorbells and running from house to house.

It seems like yesterday that I handed out candies to the "trick or treaters" who came to our door in Alexandria, Va., that Saturday night in 1965. Halloween that year fell on Sunday night, and all the celebrating was done on the night before, Saturday.

I don't think the last little visitor had been gone more than 10 or 15 minutes when Cathryn let me know that we had better be getting to the hospital, and away we went. For days I had been grabbing up her suitcase and running to open the front door every time she groaned, but this time all signals definitely were "go" and Jeffrey was born the next morning about 6 a. m.

We like to say that we made that year-long move to Virginia just so he could be born in the state known as the "Mother of Presidents."

I never think of Halloween and the wearing of masks that I don't recall with a chuckle one October 31 while we were living in St. Louis.

My work took me 19 miles through heavy traffic and back every day between home and the office, and I was in a ride group with five other fellows. Every sixth day each of us would drive, riding with one or the other of the others on the other five days.

A few weeks before, we had had a big sales meeting in which one of the sessions presented dealt with the importance of wearing a big smile when you called on a customer or prospect of any kind.

To illustrate this point, the session leader had obtained a large number of rubber masks with the sickliest smile on them you have ever seen. It made me think of a "gigolo," painted cheeks, slicked down black hair, parted in the middle—the works. They were sickening to look at, really, but they made the session leader's point.

It was quite a sight when he distributed the masks among the salesmen present and had them put them on. I'll never forget that picture! All that sea of faces! There must have been a couple or hundred of them, and all looking just alike!

To make a long tale short, I managed to get my hands on six of those masks and saved them for some purpose, I knew not what at the time. But that October 31, the idea came to me. Wouldn't it be something for all six of us in the ride group to go home that afternoon down the inter-state with each one wearing one of those look-alike masks?

And that's what we did. We didn't know at the time that it is against the law to drive a car while wearing a mask, and we got away with it, but we almost caused some wrecks.

I wish you could have seen the expressions and antics of some of the people in the other cars as they would glance in our direction and see six men, all looking exactly alike cruising along in the traffic.

People were driving along on both sides of us, pointing and talking excitedly among themselves in their cars. Those in front who had noticed us as they passed were looking back and others behind were fuming because, not understanding why, they couldn't get past. Every now and then we'd all wave together at some of them.

Like I said, we almost caused some wrecks that afternoon, but for about 30 minutes we had a ball. I'm sure many a St. Louisan went home that night to tell his wife or her husband about that bunch of nuts they saw on the freeway on the way home.

It's a good thing, too, that no holdups or robberies occurred while we were pulling that little caper. If there had been, we'd probably still be in jail somewhere.

I've still got my mask at home somewhere, a memento of that afternoon of foolishness.

Let's Stay Well

Aspirin With Copper Better

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Because aspirin is so widely used, any discovery which makes this medication more effective and safer is big news.

Preliminary studies on rats indicate that aspirin, when combined with small amounts of copper, shows a greater anti-inflammatory action and is less irritating to the stomach.

Copper is known to be involved in the healing process. "Now, if this is true, then adding copper to the drug might well increase its efficacy," said John Sorenson, Ph.D., as reported in a recent issue of Journal of the American Medical Association. He reasoned also that the local depletion of copper in the stomach could lead to the local ulceration caused by plain aspirin.

The experimental findings support the logic. "Copper aspirinate (the copper chelate of aspirin) was effective in one-tenth and one-twentieth the doses of regular aspirin," reported Dr. Sorenson.

"We compared the activity of aspirin with that of hydrocortisone in treating arthritic swellings on the feet of rats. Regular aspirin had 6 per cent of the anti-inflammatory activity of hydrocortisone, while copper aspirinate had 130 per cent of the activity," added Dr. Sorenson.

Likewise, the surgically produced ulcers in the stomach healed more rapidly with the use of copper aspirinate than with ordinary aspirin.

Why copper aspirinate has greater anti-inflammatory and anti-ulcer actions is unknown. These results are only preliminary; and additional experimentation will have been done in other animals and, finally, in man before such medication becomes available. The early tests are most encouraging.

Q. Is influenza vaccine helpful? If so, how often should it be given?

A. Influenza vaccine is helpful. Annual vaccination is recommended by mid-November for all ages and especially in persons who have heart trouble, chronic bronchopulmonary disease, (asthma, chronic bronchitis, emphysema, etc.), or diabetes mellitus. The Public Health Advisory Committee on immunization practices reports that a bivalent influenza vaccine for 1974-75 will contain a new type A influenza virus. It is grown on eggs, and persons hypersensitive to egg proteins should advise their physician so that he may determine whether it is safe to give the vaccine.

Q. Mr. J. wants to know what is meant by autotransfusion.

A. Autotransfusion is a procedure whereby the blood lost during an operation is collected and given back to the patient. The procedure is not in general use and requires special equipment.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

MANSFIELD ENDORSES LIMIT ON CREDIT SALES

Senator Mike Mansfield (Mont.) "...I have an article from the National Observer (and) ask unanimous consent that it be printed in the Record." (Excerpts follow):

At Last, A Panacea For Our Economy. (By Michael T. Malloy)

What we want is to check the rise in prices, reduce the rate of interest, and divert more credit toward building houses and expanding industrial production. We disagree on how to do this because we don't want the cost to fall on our own pocketbooks.

Okay, here is the panacea. Stamp out credit cards. Crack down on go-now pay-later. Not overnight, maybe, and not 100 per cent, but enough to push our buying habits back to where they were, say a decade ago.

Prices? Easy credit is added to the price of the stuff you buy, whether you use credit or not. Gas prices have to reflect credit-card service charges reported as high as 7 per cent, plus the cost of bad debts and administration. Take away all those hidden costs, and we might get a breather in the price rise.

Interest? If you turn billions of dollars worth of credit loose like that, interest rates just have to fall. The Cost? It wouldn't come out of your pocket. You might have to defer some purchases, but take away that credit card and you would have more money instead of less. Psychology? A credit-card crunch would do more than a million Presidential warnings to convince us that this inflation really is a serious business.

You could argue that a crackdown on consumer credit would cut spending so much that businessmen would have to cut production and lay off workers. But right now our problem is shortages, and when a credit-card crunch eased the shortages, we could ease the crunch. Prices could be stabilized, interest rates lowered, young couples could afford mortgages again, the home builders could go back to work.

Restrictions on consumer credit was used successfully to prevent inflation during World War II. The laws permitting it have lapsed, but they could be passed again.

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Oil companies have already started to cancel credit-card tie-ins with Hotels, Motels, Restaurants, Car Rental agencies, etc. Because of high bookkeeping costs some banks are canceling out small savings accounts. The Senator may be seeing the "hand-writing on the wall."

Ali Says He Doesn't Plan To Retire Soon

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — Muhammad Ali's going price is rising — $10 million for starters and, would you believe, $20 million? — as indications grew that the heavyweight boxing championship may become a world-girdling road show.

"Rio de Janeiro is a hotly talked spot for the next big fight and, believe it or not, we've even heard suggestions of Tibet," said Don King, mastermind behind Wednesday's spectacular here in the heart of Africa.

"There are many foreign possibilities as well as New York's Garden and the Houston Astro-dome. The best matchup now would be a third fight between Ali and Joe Frazier."

Ali became the catalyst in all future fight negotiations when he knocked out George Foreman and regained the title in a historic bout in the predawn hours at the Stadium of the 20th of May.

Despite its unique 4 a.m. local starting time, the bout apparently was a financial success. Closed circuit ticket sales were reported especially heavy in the United States and England with a $30 million gross anticipated.

Each fighter was guaranteed $5 million. The victorious Ali, who regained the crown taken from him because of his resistance in the draft in 1967, was up and moving a few hours after his sensational victory.

He gave a series of non-stop news conferences, starting at N'Sele and climaxing at the Inter-Continental Hotel, in which he teased inquisitors over his original vow to retire.

"Why should I retire now?" He asked. "I am the champion again. I want to enjoy it. I want to travel the world and let all the people see the greatest fighter who ever lived."

Ali said he already had one offer of a flat $10 million guarantee.

"The man had an English accent," Ali said of the phone conversation. Friends said the champion has a meeting with John Daly, president of Hemdale of London and one of the promoters, within the next two weeks.

"Who you think I should fight?" He asked. "Frazier, Foreman again. What have I got to prove. Does anybody believe that Frazier can beat me the way I whipped that awkward amateur Foreman?"

"I punched him silly. I punched him into submission. I crucified him. He's a rank amateur. You saw me crumble that man."

Foreman remained secluded in his hotel room and refused to see promoters. Friends said he was spiritually drained by the ordeal and wanted to see no one.

"He didn't fight his fight," said Dick Sadler, George's peppy manager. "He didn't move. He had no defense. He stood still. We knew Ali wasn't going to dance and that Ali would lie on the ropes. But George never tried to break Ali's pattern, which he could have done."

Crusaders Lose Again, To Faulty Ice Machine

By The Associated Press

The hottest thing in Cleveland these days is that newly built magnificent Coliseum. And that's just the problem.

For the second time, the Cleveland Crusaders had to abandon their World Hockey Association home opener in their 28 million home because the ice will not harden.

In other WHA games Wednesday, it was the players who were hot: Houston's Wayne Rutledge, Winnipeg's Bobby Hull, Phoenix's Michael Cormier, Vancouver's Bryan Campbell and the New England Whalers.

New England stopped Toronto's 12-game regular season winning streak 5-2, Winnipeg clipped Phoenix 6-5 in overtime, Houston blanked Chicago 1-0 and Vancouver outlasted Edmonton 8-6.

The Crusaders were making their second attempt to open up their home season. But, just like the first time, the ice wouldn't cooperate.

Between 8,000 and 9,000 persons were on hand for Cleveland's scheduled match with the Minnesota Fighting Saints. When the two coaches agreed that the condition of the ice was unsafe to skate on, the Coliseum offered two tickets to each fan who showed up.

Hull scored his third goal of the game with 41 seconds remaining in sudden death overtime to lift the Winnipeg Jets to victory. The Jets scored twice in less than two minutes in the third period to send the match into the extra period.

Phoenix's Cormier matched Hull with three goals, but his came in a losing effort.

New England bombarded the nets with three goals in the final seven minutes of play to stop Toronto's streak. The Toros had won their last six games last season and their first six this year. With the score tied at 2-2, Tommy Web-

Americans And Southmen Both Grab Wins In WFL Air Show

By The Associated Press

College football coaches who build winners with ground attacks are fond of saying, "There are three things that can happen when you throw the ball — and none of them are good."

But it was the aerial route Wednesday that the winners in the World Football League took.

Southern California defeated Charlotte 34-25, Birmingham handled Florida 26-18, Philadelphia topped Chicago 37-31 and Memphis clinched a tie for a division title by edging the Hawaiians 33-31.

In tonight's nationally-televised game, Portland travels to Shreveport.

The Charlotte Hornets were No. 1 in the league in defending against the pass. But Southern California has the top passer.

Rookie quarterback Tony Adams rattled the Hornet's defensive secondary with 13 completions out of 24 attempts for 234 yards.

Adams, who has cranked up the arm and thrown 43 times in a game, connected with running back James McAlister in the first period to highlight the Sun's first scoring drive. Then, with 22 seconds left in the opening half, Adams found wide receiver Dave Williams in the end zone on the scoring end of a 22-yard pass.

Adams scored two touchdowns himself, preferring to run it in from the one on both occasions.

At Birmingham, Ala., the Americans' Al Jenkins caught five passes for 168 yards to pace the victory over Florida. With the score knotted at 7-7 in the second period, Jenkins teamed up with quarterback Matthew Reed for an 80-yard bomb.

Birmingham increased its advantage to 23-7 before the Blazers scored their final 11 points.

Jim "King" Corcoran collaborated with Willie Franklin on a 90-yard pass play in the final two minutes to set up Philadelphia's winning score.

Corcoran, never one afraid of putting the ball into the air, completed 20 of 34 passes for 349 yards as the Bell jumped off to an early 15-0 lead. But Chicago went ahead before Corcoran's aerial attack gave the Bell a big boost towards a play-off berth.

John Huarte passed for three touchdowns in pacing Memphis to its victory over the Hawaiians before a crowd of 20, 544 in Honolulu — the largest of the season for Hawaii.

Huarte threw touchdown passes of 27 and 37 yards to Gary Shirk and also hit Roger Wallace with a 51-yard toss as the Southmen posted their 15th victory in 18 games, the best record in the WFL.

Most of the scoring was jammed into the first half as Memphis grabbed a 25-20 lead at halftime. Hawaii cut it to 25-23 on a 20-yard field goal by R.A. Coppedge in the third period. But then Huarte connected with Shirk for 37 yards early in the fourth quarter.

Hawaii made two of its points by scoring a safety in the second quarter.

Rejoins Big Red

ST. LOUIS (AP) — After a two-week absence, defensive back Hurler Scales rejoined the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday.

The National Football League team reacquired scales on waivers from the Chicago Bears.

Scales, a second-year-man from North Texas State, had been with the Cardinals until the Bears claimed him on injured waivers two weeks ago.

Hawks Rally In Final Period To Rip Pistons

By The Associated Press

Playing with an extremely painful right arm Wednesday night, Atlanta's Lou Hudson led a fourth-quarter diast that powered the Hawks to a 104-96 victory over the Detroit Pistons.

Hudson, suffering from calcium deposits and inflammation in his arm, reacted to the challenge of the moment.

"It's the excitement of playing," said Hudson, explaining how he rose above exquisite pain. "You get that extra little energy, that extra little burst. Right now I don't think I can shoot the basketball 10 feet. Tonight it's going to kill me."

Hudson hit on an 18-foot jumper to put Atlanta ahead 88-87 with 4:50 remaining and added 10 more points before the final buzzer to keep the Hawks ahead.

Detroit was ahead 86-77 four minutes into the final period. Then the Hawks outscored them 15-2 in the next five minutes, including the go-ahead field goal.

In the night's other NBA games, the Chicago Bulls defeated the Boston Celtics 105-104; the Kansas City-Omaha

Kings whipped the Milwaukee Bucks 99-97; the Washington Bullets trimmed the New York Knicks 94-86; the Phoenix Suns tripped the Philadelphia 76ers 104-99; the Houston Rockets ripped the Houston Rockets 113-100 and the Seattle SuperSonics walloped the Los Angeles Lakers 117-97.

Bulls 105, Celtics 104
Chicago built a whopping lead on a balanced attack led by Chet Walker and then withstood a furious Boston comeback to snap a five-game losing streak.

Kings 99, Bucks 97
Nate Archibald scored 30 points and Sam Lacey dominated the boards down the stretch as Kansas City-Omaha overcame a 12-point fourth quarter deficit to down Milwaukee for the Kings' fifth NBA victory in six games.

Bullets 94, Knicks 86
Elvin Hayes poured in 21 points and collected 16 rebounds to pace unbeaten Washington over New York. Hayes scored five points in the final minute after the Knicks cut the Bullets' lead to 86-84. The victory was the seventh of the season for Washington.

Suns 104, 76ers 99
Charlie Scott poured in 27 points to lead Phoenix over Philadelphia 76ers. Fred Carter, playing his first game of the season for the 76ers, put his team in a challenging position when he scored his seventh field goal with only 50 seconds remaining, narrowing the margin to 100-97.

But Phoenix cut off the threat when Curtis Perry made a lay-up with 30 seconds remaining, to put the Suns ahead 102-97.

Rockets 113, Jazz 100
Forward Mike Newlin scored 21 points to lead a balanced attack that gave Houston its victory over winless New Orleans. Sonics 117, Lakers 97
Spencer Haywood poured in 40 points, leading Seattle past Los Angeles.

Furgerson Has No New Plan To Stop Talbert

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor
It's being billed as the battle of the runners but Murray State football coach Bill Furgerson says defense will be the key.

When the Racers go on the road Saturday to Richmond and play Eastern Kentucky in the Colonel Homecoming, the top two rushers in the Ohio Valley Conference will be featured.

The leading rusher is sophomore tailback Everett Talbert of Eastern while senior All-American Don Clayton of the Racers is second.

"They key to the game will be the defense," Furgerson said. "We haven't planned anything special to try and stop Talbert. We just plan to go out and play our usual defense and hope to stop him."

Talbert comes into the game leading two categories in the conference.

He's scored seven touchdowns for 42 points and leads in the scoring race while in six games, he's rushed for 941 yards for a 156.8 average. Four times this season, he's been honored as the OVC's Offensive Player of the Week.

A powerful break-away runner with great speed, Talbert broke one last week for 73 yards at Bowling Green in the Colonels' 34-24 loss to Western Kentucky, marking the first league setback for Eastern.

That loss, combined with Morehead's surprising 14-7 win over Tennessee Tech, left three teams with a 3-1 record and tied for first while Tech is 2-1, having played one less league game than the other three schools.

If Murray, the pre-season favorite to win the league title, is to stay in the race, they must win at Eastern in the 2 p.m. contest Saturday.

"We are totally aware of the situation. We have the opportunity to play two of the teams tied for the lead but we blew the other one (a 26-0 loss at Tennessee Tech)."

"I'd say that the winner of this game will have a definite advantage," Furgerson said, "but the loser won't be out of the race."

Since every team in the league has a loss, someone must go on and win the rest of their games this season if the OVC is to have a bowl representative.

For if the conference champions have two losses on the season, it is highly unlikely they'll receive a bowl bid.

"Right now, a bowl game is the farthest thing from my mind. We just want to win this game Saturday and take them all on one at a time," Furgerson said.

If Furgerson can get the type of defense he's seen in the past three Racer games, he'll be happy.

Since the loss to Tech, Murray has allowed just three touchdowns in three games, two TD's coming in the final five minutes of a 14-12 win over Middle Tennessee.

And in last week's 17-3 win over East Tennessee, it was again the defense that played the key role for Murray.

Tackle Les Stinnett had 11 tackles and nine assists and was named as the Ohio Valley Conference's Defensive Player of the Week. On the evening, he sacked East Tennessee quarterback Lee Trawick five times.

On one series in the final period, Stinnett three times charged over the line, dropping Trawick for a total of 20 yards.

Defensive back Bruce Walker tied a Murray State record as he picked off three interceptions in the contest, one of which led to a touchdown drive.

The three interceptions tied the old record set by Don Veach and Walker's total for the season is now seven, one above the former record, also held by Veach.

It was a game of records as Clayton ran for 120 yards and established a new career rushing record.

Clayton, who has 840 yards for the season, has 2387 for his career. The old record of 2292 was held by Rick Fisher, who missed his senior season in 1972.

Besides the battle between Talbert and Clayton, the quarterbacks have very similar statistics.

Eastern Kentucky quarterback Jeff McCarthy has 606 yards for the season on 36 of 86 passes and has thrown for four touchdowns.

Racer quarterback Tom Pandolfi has thrown for 628 yards on 55 of 111 for seven touchdowns.

The game will be the first of two successive Homecoming contests the Racers must face.

After the contest with Eastern, Murray will be at Austin Peay a week from Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. contest.

Racer fans are asked to note the afternoon starting time, since the time on the schedule is not correct.

Tampa Awarded New NFL Expansion Franchise

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom McCloskey ended a six-year wait Wednesday when he was awarded the new Tampa franchise in the National Football League.

McCloskey was picked because of his close ties with Tampa, NFL Commissioner Peter Rozelle said. Yet, Tampa sports figures registered surprise that the expansion franchise went to an out-of-towner.

The league owners will award the Seattle franchise within the next month, Rozelle said, and both teams will begin play in the 1976 season.

The commissioner said the league will expand again, taking in two more teams, conceivably as early as 1976 but probably later.

"We feel McCloskey will make a very fine owner," Rozelle said.

McCloskey, the son of a former ambassador to Ireland and Democratic Party treasurer, Matthew H. McCloskey, tried to buy the Philadelphia Eagles when their then-owner, Jerry Wolman, went bankrupt. He failed when Leonard Tose purchased the team.

Rozelle said McCloskey, who is paying $16 million for the franchise, could be the sole owner of the club, but would prefer to have minority stockholders from Tampa.

In making the announcement of McCloskey's selection Wednesday, Rozelle referred repeatedly to McCloskey's ties with Tampa.

"His family ran the shipyard there and he worked at the shipyard," the commissioner said. "He has a home in Tampa and owns a business there. His sister went to the University of Tampa..."

Owner and president of McCloskey & Co., one of the nation's largest builders and real estate developers, McCloskey, was one of the founders of Cloverly, the Philadelphia-based group which sponsored Joe Frazier's climb to the world heavyweight championship. He also is the owner of the Philadelphia A's of the North American Soccer League.

McCloskey was chosen by the 26 NFL owners over two other groups attempting to obtain the Tampa franchise.

Although surprised about McCloskey's selection, Tampa civic leaders immediately backed the new owner.

Among the cities in the running for the two additional NFL franchises are Phoenix, Ariz.; Birmingham, Ala.; Memphis, Tenn.; and Honolulu, Hawaii. But Rozelle said other cities and areas would be included in the owners' search.

Rangers' Sanderson Wants To See Overtime Period In NHL

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers center Derek Sanderson was somewhat disappointed with the finish of Wednesday night's 1-1 deadlock with the New York Islanders.

It didn't matter so much that the game had ended in a tie. What did matter was that the contest had ended without an overtime period.

"It was an exciting game, but if there had been overtime, it would have been really exciting," said Sanderson.

Of course, they don't play overtime in the National Hockey League. But Sanderson had made a valid point; it was an exciting game. The teams skated wildly in end-to-end rushes. There would be a shot on goal, sometimes another, then the roles would reverse and the action would speed to the other end.

The Rangers had a number of good scoring chances among their 30 shots on goal, but the Islanders managed just 17 shots — only a few from close range — and had to scrap to gain the tie. "We got the break we needed and they were unlucky around the net," said Islanders left wing Bob Nystrom. The Rangers were unlucky because they ran into Islanders goaltender Billy Smith, who made at least five spectacular saves to rob the home team of goals, including a semi-breakaway by Steve Vickers in the closing minute.

After the game, Sanderson was properly praising the Islanders and their netminder. "They're definitely the most improved club in hockey," he said, "from the goaltender on out."

It took until the third period for the teams to score. Smith made his only mistake in an excellent performance, but the error led to the Rangers' goal. Attempting to send the puck into the corner, Smith's shot was intercepted by Rangers right wing Bill Fairbairn. Fairbairn sent the disc to defenseman Brad Park, whose 20-foot shot beat Smith to put the Rangers in front at 2:23. The Islanders' turn came with 2:39 remaining. Nystrom took a loose puck at his blue line, swept behind the Rangers defense and powered a 25-footer past Ed Giacomin for the tie.

The standoff was the Islanders' second against six victories and a loss this season, the loss coming against the Rangers on Oct. 19. The Rangers raised their unbeaten string to four games.

There were two other ties in NHL play Wednesday night, as the Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens finished at 4-4, while the Minnesota North Stars and Boston Bruins played a 3-3 standoff. The Atlanta Flames downed the California Golden Seals 4-1 in the other game.

Cliff Koroll's second goal of the game, at 1:44 of the third period, gave the Black Hawks their tie with Montreal while Guy Lafleur had two for the Canadiens. Two goals by Phil Esposito lifted the Bruins into a tie with the North Stars.

Cattfish Hunter Edges Jenkins To Receive AL Cy Young Award

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Being selected as the top pitcher in the American League by winning the Cy Young Award hasn't eliminated Cattfish Hunter's troubles with his boss, Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley.

Hunter insisted in a telephone interview from his home in Hertford, N.C., after his Cy Young Award selection that Finley "still owes me $50,000 on this year's contract."

Asked about this and the possibility he might claim free agent status, Hunter said that and the salary matter would be discussed at a meeting between his attorneys, Marvin Miller of the Players Association and Bowie Kuhn, commissioner of baseball.

Collins Says 'Cats Can Defeat Tulane

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — University of Kentucky running back Sonny Collins says his team's encounter with Tulane Saturday will be one of the hardest of the season, "but we can beat them."

"It won't be a high-scoring game," Collins said Wednesday. "They've got a big defensive line."

Tulane's defense includes 6-6 tackle Charlie Hall, an All American.

Collins, who has racked up 700 yards rushing, said the Wildcats look great. "We're getting better every game," he said. "It's a shame our luck hasn't been better."

Kentucky is 3-4 on the season. Collins said "If we get the next four games under our belt we have a great chance of going to a bowl."

Gator Bowl scouts will be present at the Kentucky-Tulane game in Louisiana.

Kentucky whipped Tulane 34-7 in the Wildcats' homecoming game last year.

"They're going to decide what's going to happen on that," Hunter said.

When Finley was asked about the dispute, he declined comment. "Why ruin a great day for Hunter," he said. Finley said he was "very proud and happy" for Hunter whom he described as "one of the finest gentlemen in the game."

The 28-year-old North Carolinian appeared mildly surprised at his winning the Cy Young Award over Ferguson Jenkins of the Texas Rangers, who received 75 points from a 24-member panel of the Baseball Writers Association of America to 90 for Hunter.

Hunter said he learned of his selection Wednesday afternoon when his wife told him after he returned from a fruitless deer hunt.

"I thought Ferguson Jenkins might get it instead of me," Hunter said. He pointed out that both of them had 23 victories last season and that Oakland had won the World Series.

"His team was not as good; so he had to pitch a little better, maybe," Hunter said.

Hunter agreed that the Cy Young Award was the greatest honor to come to him during his 10-year career in the majors.

"I think when a pitcher comes into baseball the first thing he wants to do is win 20 games, the second is to win a World Series and the third is to win the Cy Young award," he said.

Hunter was the only pitcher named on each of the 24 ballots, and he received 12 first-place votes to 10 for Jenkins.

The California Angels' Nolan Ryan came in third with 28 points and one first-place vote. Cleveland's Gaylord Perry got the other first place vote and tied with Luis Tiant of Boston with eight points. Baltimore's Mike Cuellar had six and reliever John Hiller of the Detroit Tigers had one.

Last year's AL Cy Young winner was Jim Palmer of Baltimore, who did not receive a single vote this time. Hunter, who was signed by Finley in 1964, had his best major league season with a 25-12 record this year. It was his fourth consecutive 20-victory season.

Dropped From List

BOSTON (AP) — Jeanne Evert, Chris Evert's 16-year-old kid sister, has been dropped by the Boston Lobsters from their protected list in the World Team Tennis league.

The Lobsters took the action Wednesday in preparation for the league's second player draft later this month in New York. A team spokesman said Jeanne did not fit into Boston's plans for 1975, even if she decides to play in the WTT.

Colonels Defeat Q's On Pair Of Free Shots

By The Associated Press
You can't keep a good shooter down.

Ralph Simpson was off in the first half, but more than doubled his production and doubled his fun in the second while leading Denver to 105-95 victory over Memphis in the American Basketball Association Wednesday night.

"Simpson is just a great shooter," said Denver Coach Larry Brown. "It's hard to keep him from scoring his points."

Simpson had only six points before intermission, but then came on with a rush in the second, scoring 14 to help the Nuggets put the game away.

By MIKE BRANDON

If David Brinkley were at the Murray Country Club Saturday to watch the Ohio Valley Conference Cross Country Championship Meet, he might say the following:

"Our NBC computer has projected Western Kentucky University as the winner in a landslide."

And that is just what will happen Saturday at 11 a. m.

No, David Brinkley won't be there and neither will a computer. But unfortunately, for the rest of the teams in the eight-school league, Western Kentucky will be.

Undoubtedly the top cross country team in the United States, the Hilltoppers will take the first four individual positions in the six-mile long race.

Or, at least they should.

In every race this season, Western's top three men have finished together, locking their arms.

And in all but one race, the 'Toppers have had a string of four men crossing. The only time that was interrupted was at the Owensboro Invitational when Murray's outstanding freshman Englishman Brian Rutter nipped Chris Ridler.

But in a dual meet at Murray, which Western won 16-44, the 'Toppers sent across the first four men, all locked together by the arms.

Nobody has been close to defeating Western Kentucky and nobody will come close. It's simply impossible.

All-Sports Race

What matters for Murray is that a second-place finish would count 14 points toward the All-Sports Trophy, which Murray won in 1973 but lost last year, to of course, Western Kentucky.

Western will pick up 16 points for their first-place finish with second-place team getting 14, third place 12, fourth place 10 and on down to two points for the eighth-place team.

It would appear East Tennessee has the edge on Murray for second place.

For the past four years, the Bucs have won the league title, winning last year 35-37 over Western. Murray was third last year with 77 points while Eastern Kentucky was fourth with 88.

The other four teams were far out of the picture.

East Tennessee has lost Boston Marathon champion Neil Cusack and fellow Irishman Eddy Leddy.

Cusack finished second last year when the meet was held at Morehead.

Nick Rose of Western won in a time of 28:12 while Cusack was 27 seconds behind. In third place was Leddy in 28:52 while Sam Torres of Murray was fourth in 29:05. Torres has used his eligibility and is not running this year, but he is still in school at Murray.

The rest of the top 10 found Chris Ridler of Western fifth, Tony Staynings of Western sixth, Kevin Breen of East Tennessee seventh, Tom McCormick of East Tennessee eighth, Jerry Young of Eastern Kentucky ninth and Dan MaLoney of Eastern Kentucky 10th.

Gordy Benfield of Murray State finished in 11th place last year.

Murray and East Tennessee have been in the same race once this year, that being at the Indiana Invitational.

Western won the team title with only 21 points while runner-up Wichita State had 76.

Murray was fifth out of 21 teams present while East Tennessee was seventh.

But in that race, the Bucs had two men drop out. Since then, they have been rapidly improving.

Last week in the Tennessee Intercollegiate, they won the championship with 37 points while powerful Tennessee was in second with 50.

As an example of the improvement by the Bucs, Tennessee had only a week before beaten Kentucky.

And in the Indiana Invitational, Kentucky finished in third place.

Eastern Kentucky and Morehead could possibly have an outside shot at finishing in second place. But the Colonels have been hit hard as Jerry Young has graduated and Dan MaLoney was one of the 27 conference athletes ruled ineligible this past summer.

New Record?

The six-mile record at the course is held by former Murray State great Jim Krejci. That record was set October 6, 1970, when the Edwardsville, Ill., native ran a 30:05.

Murray State Coach Bill Cornell said that the winning time will likely be around the 28-minute mark, maybe even below.

That gives some indication as to how strong this conference meet will be.

Unless there is some sort of unheard of upset, which is a rare occasion in cross country, Western will have the top four men.

Junior Nick Rose of England is being tabbed as the national champion and as the man to take over the role of Steve Prefontaine, as the top collegiate runner in the United States.

Although Rose could probably run away and leave the other three men that have been finishing at the front with him, he will probably remain in the group Saturday.

The other three who will be at the front of the pack are freshman Englishman Dave Long, sophomore Englishman Tony Staynings and sophomore Englishman Chris Ridler.

The fifth man for Western, who could well be right up with the other four, will be Canadian Russ Munro.

Also in the running for the 'Toppers will be Joe Tinieus and Englishman Swag Hartel.

Each team is allowed to enter only seven men.

For Murray, Rutter has been the top man all season but it is highly unlikely he can stay with Western's top four for the six miles.

In the dual meet against the 'Toppers, he was 23 seconds behind over the five-mile course.

Freshman Englishman Martyn Brewer has been running second for most of the season for Murray, although he has been beaten several times by senior Gordy Benfield.

Both could possibly finish in the top 10.

Other Murray runners include junior Rod Harvey, and sophomores Don Wilcox, Bob Arnet and Clint Strohmeier.

The race is open to the public and for those who haven't seen the unbelievable crew of Englishman from Western run at a breakneck pace for six miles, this will be the last chance this year.

Les Stinnett Learning To Be Great 'Sacker'

In one series of plays last Saturday when Murray State was protecting a 10-7 lead over East Tennessee, defensive tackle Les Stinnett sacked the East Tennessee quarterback three straight plays for a total loss of 20 yards.

Earlier in the game, when East had a fourth-and-inches situation on its own 48-yard line and decided to try for a first down, Stinnett threw the ball carrier for a yard loss. That defensive play led to Murray's first score of the game — a 37-yard field goal.

Stinnett had 11 tackles, 6 assists, and sacked the East Tennessee quarterback five Les Stinnett times during the game. For his efforts, he's been named the "Defensive Player of the Week" in the Ohio Valley Conference.

A 6-2, 217-pound junior from Hardinsburg, Stinnett played prep football at Valley High School, where he won two letters and was named to the county all-star team as a senior.

He came to Murray without a scholarship but won a starting position and a scholarship last season as a sophomore. Starting 9 of the Racers' 10 games, he had 35 tackles and 14 assists for the season.

He was an infrequent starter early this season as he was hampered by a series of injuries. However, he managed to see some action in most every game. He replaced Bob West, who sprained an ankle two games ago, in the lineup against East Tennessee. He has 23 tackles and 14 assists thus far this season.

Defensive Coach Bill Hina says Stinnett's super game "shows the kind of squad we have. We play a lot of people on defense and when a player gets a chance to play he gives it all he's got. Les plays with desire and emotion and when he doesn't have problems with injuries, you can bet he'll do a good job."

Stinnett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Stinnett of Hardinsburg. He is studying construction technology at Murray State.

Berea Council Restricts Trick-Or-Treat Activity

By The Associated Press
The Berea city council cited two factors in its decision to restrict Halloween trick or treating tonight: inflation and some persons' fear of opening their door at night.

The council's action reflects the concern of many Kentucky communities, where trick or treating has been widely curtailed this year.

Treaters are finding that inflation haunts even the cost of candy, which — reflecting rising sugar prices — has shot up roughly 50 per cent over last year.

One Lexington woman said she plans to give trick or treaters thirty new nickels because "it's cheaper for me than buying candy."

She acknowledged, "I know a child can't even buy a candy bar with a nickel anymore."

Paducah Optimists Admit Girl Member

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — The Optimist Club admitted its first female member Wednesday, breaking the international organization's rules in the process.

"I don't know what's going to happen, but I have a fear," said local president Don Hedden after Sally Banks was initiated. Miss Banks' application, submitted last week, was approved unanimously by the directors.

Hedden said Optimist International has three choices: "It can enroll her, revoke our charter or remove me as president."

He contended that the bylaws were written long ago by "narrow minded individuals."

Hedden said that civic organizations are for the benefit of the community and should be represented by a good cross-section of residents, including women.

Miss Banks is a guidance counselor at Paducah Community College.

The greatest ocean depth is found in the Marianas Trench in the western Pacific, where the ocean is more than 35,000 feet deep.

A spokesman for a downtown department store said his candy sales are down this year.

Inflation may have something to do with it, he said, "but I think people are just afraid to let their kids out."

Fear of parents for their children's safety and general fear of Halloween pranksterism has caused communities to enact Halloween curfews or to take other protective measures.

In western Kentucky, Providence Mayor Charles McDowell said the city has not enacted a restrictive ordinance, but will have extra policemen on duty tonight.

Police expect a normal amount of "pranking," McDowell said, but will not permit destruction of property.

Madisonville Mayor Curtis McCoy Jr. said the city has never had problems with Halloween vandalism because of the annual Halloween window painting contest downtown, which he said gives the children something to do.

Frankfort Police Chief Doug True has set a 9 p.m. curfew for trick or treating tonight, because of "concern for the safety of the children."

True also noted that police have received complaints in recent years from citizens about older children knocking on their doors late at night.

In Maysville, an ordinance was enacted several years ago, limiting trick or treating to the hours of 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., chiefly for the safety of the children.

The city of London in Laurel County has had similar restrictions for several years: no children over 12 are allowed to trick or treat, with a curfew of 8 p.m. in Danville, the curfew is 10 p.m. on Halloween.

Many communities limit trick or treating to children under 12, while others specify that they must be accompanied by a parent.

Lexington has one of the most liberal ordinances on the books — requiring all children under 16 to be off the streets by 11 p.m. The curfew was set under a city ordinance, and is not a special Halloween regulation.

A spokesman for the Lexington-Fayette County government said he has had several requests from citizens to shorten those hours on Halloween night.

Army Prepares Fight To Finish With Bird Flocks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has a new enemy with 14 million airborne troops — a noisy horde of blackbirds roosting in a pine grove.

The birds are flocking to the pine forests of Ft. Campbell, Ky., and the Milan Army Ammunition Plant in Tennessee as they have in previous autumns, but this year the Army is preparing a fight to the finish.

A Pentagon spokesman said Tuesday the Army plans to spray the birds with a detergent that will remove the natural oil from their feathers. The oil protects the birds from inclement weather, and when the temperature drops below 45 degrees the birds will die from the cold.

The Environmental Defense Fund says there are more humane ways of handling the problem, but does not dispute the need to get rid of the estimated 14 million blackbirds.

Maureen Hinkle, a pesticides expert at the environmental organization, suggested that the Army set up a large funnel near the resting grounds with a light at the end of the funnel. If the light is turned on in the middle of the night, the birds will fly directly into it, killing themselves instantaneously as they strike the lens, she said.

The birds, mostly starlings, became a problem several years ago when pine groves at Ft. Campbell and at the ammunition plant matured to a point where they provided ideal roosting grounds.

There are few natural predators, and nearby farms provide sufficient grain fields for the birds to raid for food.

In Hopkinsville, Ky., 15 miles north of the Army post, town clerk Terry Rogers said the birds must go.

"We grow quite a bit of grain and they've done hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of damage," he said, explaining that the birds' foraging trips take them over a 100-square-mile area.

The Environmental Defense Fund said it would consider seeking court action to halt the Army if the Army does not first publish an assessment of the environmental impact of its attack.

Officials Hope For Centralization Of Waste Water Treatment Plants

FRANKFORT, Ky. — State water quality officials are looking ahead to a time when more communities throughout Kentucky may share the cost and use of centralized waste water treatment facilities.

The Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection's Water Quality Division has completed outlining planning areas in each of Kentucky's 120 counties to determine if present and future waste water treatment needs could be served by common treatment plants. These planning areas were established using four basic criteria: proposed or existing land uses such as residential, agricultural, industrial, etc.; locations of waste water discharges area patterns and population centers; plus data developed by the area development districts.

Centralization of such services is a concept now being explored by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), which has made such studies mandatory if communities are to continue receiving federal funds for treatment plants and sewer line construction.

Water Quality Director Harold Snodgrass said the regionalization theory is not new to Kentucky. "We have been taking this approach for many years now," he said. "Kenton and Campbell counties, for example, have been sharing a treatment plant for over 20 years." These counties now are building a secondary plant which they also will share, Snodgrass said.

The director said construction of one larger plant instead of two smaller ones could mean a savings for the towns involved. "Although one large plant may cost more to build than, say, two smaller, individual facilities, the total cost of the other two could be a great deal more when you take the expense of maintenance and operation into consideration.

"Therefore," he added, "if two or more communities go together for joint treatment, they could have better service at a reduced cost while still meeting water quality standards."

As less money becomes available for sewage treatment construction and water quality standards are upgraded, more and more towns may choose to share common plants or bear increased costs to maintain their own facilities.

The cost of building waste water treatment plants has risen 100 per cent in the last decade. The federal government provides 75 per cent of the construction cost of approved plants and local governments provide the other 25 per cent. Considering that the rate of government spending remains constant as costs rise, fewer towns will be receiving federal funds.

The recently completed "Needs Survey of Kentucky" showed that towns throughout the state need more than $2 billion before 1990 to build sewer lines and treatment facilities required to meet federal water quality standards. Another $2 billion is needed to handle storm water that affects water quality.

Kentucky's needs are almost half of the $9 billion set aside for waste water treatment and collection systems construction that President Ford has asked Congress to impound to curb inflation. Of the remaining $9 billion Congress has budgeted for such building, less than $4 billion remains to be released throughout the country during this fiscal year, according to EPA administrators.

The state's present share of construction grant monies is $65 million. Kentucky communities should divide about 1.5 per cent of whatever Congress allocates for 1976, based on computations from the Needs Survey. If these communities are to meet federal standards before the deadlines, Snodgrass said, "money must be made available soon" and not held back for future allocations. Although the amount of money for future years is uncertain, the Water Quality Division is continuing with plans for the day when enough money will be available. EPA requires towns which seek to expand or build waste water treatment facilities to participate in various planning processes, such as the planning area studies, to be eligible for federal funds.

"As money becomes available," Snodgrass said, "we will have completed pre-construction requirements and we will be ready to build the needed facilities."

Magruder Sticks By Story Of Mitchell Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Nixon campaign aide Jeb Stuart Magruder stuck by his story today that John N. Mitchell had approved a political intelligence plan that led to the Watergate break-in. But he described it as "never an enthusiastic approval."

Plato Cacheris, attorney for Mitchell, the former U.S. attorney general, questioned Magruder closely about the meeting on March 30, 1972, in Key Biscayne, Fla., at which Magruder — former deputy director of Richard M. Nixon's presidential re-election committee — has said Mitchell approved the political intelligence plan. Under cross-examination by Cacheris, Magruder, the third prosecution witness in the Watergate cover-up trial, said that at first Mitchell asked: "Couldn't we delay the plan?"

Magruder said after he cited increasing interest in the plan from the White House, "I have a recollection of Mr. Mitchell saying to me, not in an enthusiastic way — it was never an enthusiastic approval — something like, go ahead and give them the $250,000 and let's see what they come up with."

The start of today's session was delayed nearly one hour by a conference in U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's office attended by prosecution and defense lawyers. None of the participants would say what the meeting concerned.

At the start of his cross-examination of Magruder, Cacheris asked the witness about times he has admitted lying under oath, including when he was a witness at the Watergate break-in trial in January 1973.

"Did you speak words of perjury to the jury?" asked Cacheris.

"Yes, sir," replied Magruder. "John Mitchell didn't speak those words for you, did he?"

asked the defense attorney. "No, sir," Magruder said. Mitchell is one of five former Nixon administration and campaign aides charged with conspiring to thwart the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

The other defendants are former White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, former assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one-time lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee.

Defense attorneys indicated Wednesday that their cross-examination of Magruder would take a full day. The next prosecution witness is scheduled to be Robert Reisner, Magruder's assistant at the re-election committee.

Cacheris focused his questioning of Magruder on the former campaign aide's admitted perjury on numerous occasions before he began cooperating with prosecutors in April 1973, and on his use of $6,000 in re-election committee funds.

Cacheris drew from Magruder confirmation that he had told FBI agents April 19, 1973, that prior to the June 17, 1972, break-in "you had not received one dime from the committee to re-elect the president other than salary."

He admitted also telling the agents that after the break-in he had tried for "self preservation" to accumulate as much money as possible from the committee.

Magruder apparently accumulated $6,000 in committee funds for possible use to pay legal fees. But when the committee picked up some of the fees he returned the money.

Cacheris cited several occasions on which Magruder had lied under oath and each time asked him if he had been charged with perjury by the special Watergate prosecutors. Magruder, who pleaded guilty Aug. 16, 1973, to a single count of conspiracy to obstruct justice and promised to cooperate with the prosecutors, replied that he had not been charged with perjury.

"Is that part of your arrangement with the special Watergate prosecutors?" asked Cacheris.

"Yes, sir," replied Magruder, who currently is serving a 10 months to four years sentence in prison.

Cook Accuses Ford Of Falsely Linking GOP To Tobacco Quota

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sen. Marlow Cook has accused Gov. Wendell Ford of falsely insinuating a Republican conspiracy to end the tobacco poundage allotment system.

"A man shouldn't try to get votes by scaring the burley tobacco farmer," he told a meeting of the St. Matthews Rotary Club Wednesday night. "That's what he tried to do and it was a lousy political trick."

Cook, a Republican seeking re-election was referring to his Democratic opponent who charged the Republicans seemed to be getting ready to scuttle the system under which tobacco prices are kept fairly high.

Cook said the false implication was clarified quickly when he called Washington. He said that another Democrat, former governor and senator Earl Clements of Kentucky, has praised him as a friend of tobacco farmers.

"I've tried to do my job for every segment of the economy and citizenry," Cook said.

That was only one of the topics of which the senator lambasted Ford and the Democrats in general, especially in congress.

"I'd like to go back to the senate because now I think we can go back to the long road of fiscal sanity," he said, asserting that Democratic congressmen have been the big spenders for decades.

"If voters decide in effect to elect a veto-proof congress," he said, "You will be on the loudest chairlift ride in the history of the country and you may not be able to get off."

But, as he has said previously, Cook had little praise for President Ford's economic proposals, especially the five per cent income tax surtax.

Committee For Century Club Drive Selected

Twelve members of the Calloway County Century Club Committee have been announced by Guy Billington, committee chairman, to head the drive in the county to raise funds to support the scholarship program of the Murray State University Alumni Association.

Committee members who have accepted appointments are: Dr. Guy Battle, Ron Beshear, Bill Boyd, Dave Dixon, Jack Gardner, Max Hurt, Mrs. Emma Sue Hutson, Dr. Howard Keller, Tommy Rushing, Miss Rubie Smith, Bruce Thomas and Pete Waldrop.

Billington called the group "an outstanding committee that is representative of the friends and supporters of Murray State who are always willing to go to work to help with such worthy causes as the Century Club."

Noting that the campaign this year will begin on Dec. 1, earlier than in past years, Billington said he hopes for the "same kind of generous response" that was forthcoming last year when Century Club donations increased from $3,900 to $8,250.

The Century Club is made up of business firms and individuals who contribute $100 or more to the scholarship fund of the Alumni Association. Thirty-two freshmen at Murray State this year are the beneficiaries of $500 scholarships through the program.

Billington added that the committee will hold its first meeting on Nov. 19 to get organized for the fund-raising effort for 1975.

Dr. Harry M. Sparks, president emeritus of Murray State, is serving as the state chairman for the Century Club drive, according to Mancil J. Vinson, director of alumni affairs.

Care Center Board Sees Blueprints; Officers Named

Blueprints of a proposed new building which would house the Murray operation of the Comprehensive Care Center were reviewed by the Center Board at its October meeting here.

Dr. Hecht Lackey, director of the Murray Center and representing the staff, reviewed the blueprints.

Services of the center have been expanded to include crafts for nursing home residents. Persons from Fern Terrace are brought to the center twice each week for craft classes.

New officers were elected at the board meeting. Max B. Hurt of Kirksey will serve with Mrs. C. C. Lowry as president. Hurt has been active in the work of the center and serves in many other church and civic capacities for Murray and Calloway County. He is retired executive of the Woodmen of the World.

Other officers elected were A. W. Simmons, Jr., vice-president, Sid Easley, secretary, and Tom Downing, treasurer.

Board members elected other than those already mentioned include Mrs. James C. Hart, Boyd Norsworthy, Dr. Ben Humphreys, Fred Phillips, Mrs. Harold Hurt, and Mrs. Tom Downing, Ex-Officio.

going to deny us access to records from which the evidence you ask for is to be obtained, as I see it, we are at a dead end."

Long replied that the board does not have the records to give, a statement which was challenged by Slattery, who said,

"The board has the authority to give us the records; the board runs this institution; the president doesn't run it, the board runs it, and what the board wants to do, the board can do."

Long then said that the committee does not have the authority to release the personnel records, and that if the board wanted to release them, that the release would have to come by a vote of the full board of regents.

Slattery then asked the committee to make the request for the release of the records, and Long replied, "I don't believe that that's the kind of record that ought to be made public," to which Slattery noted that his clients had nothing to hide and would welcome public inspection of the reasons for their dismissal.

Following the committee meeting, Slattery called the entire process a "circle," saying that the committee wants more evidence to warrant a hearing before the full board, and yet is denying the faculty members access to the personnel records, which obviously contain the evidence.

Slattery commented during his prepared statement to the committee that "The concept of tenure at Murray State is extremely illusive," and said the "tenure policy exists in the minds of those who administer it and cannot be accurately determined."

He added, during his statement, that "Hopefully, we will not have to gird our loins... to overcome the inertia of the status quo..."

Following the meeting, Slattery said that if the board does not reconsider its position he would advise his clients of next options, one of which would be to take their cases into court.

The 12 faculty members represented by KEA counsel were named as John Wells, Hugh Barksdale, Donald Shelton, William Smith, Bill Wells, Alice McCampbell, Harold Blair, L. Charles Ward, Thomas Spoerner, May Boaz Simmons, John Belt, and Peter Lund.

Long said following the meeting that he has no idea when the committee will make its decision on whether or not to recommend a hearing to the board for any of the 12. He would not even admit that the committee had to make a recommendation, only to present the remarks made at Wednesday's meetings to the full board.

However, President Constantine Curris said before the meeting began that the committee's function is to consider the requests, but said that the full board is not obligated by any statutes to consider the cases. He added that the board may very well exercise its option to hear the cases, though.

Study. . .

Gordon, a 12-year member of the Murray State faculty.

The proposed Murray State study is designed to determine the effects of vinyl chloride on selected types of aquatic life, such as fish, turtles, snails, crayfish, clams and others, in a laboratory setting with the chemical "bubbled" into the water in which they will be living.

"Vinyl chloride is a gas and not too soluble," Dr. Gordon went on, "but if it's present in the water, we feel that these fish, snails and other forms of aquatic life will pick it up, even if it is present in minute quantities."

The first phase of the proposed research, he explained, will involve laboratory studies using model ecosystems subjected in varying amounts of vinyl chloride.

The freshwater animals will be placed in the ecosystems and allowed to remain for controlled periods of time before being removed, sacrificed and their tissues examined for indications of abnormal tissue growth as well as for signs of angiosarcoma.

The study, which is expected to show conclusive results within one year, also is designed to show if there is any accumulative effect on the fish by the vinyl chloride as was determined in the case of experiments involving mercury in water and conducted by the University three years ago.

The earlier study, conducted by Dr. Hunter Hancock, now retired chairman of the department of biological sciences, and other University scientists, indicated that there was an uptake of mercury by fishes from contaminated waters below Kentucky Dam at Gilbertsville.

"Once the levels of tolerance to vinyl chloride by the freshwater organisms has been determined in this study," Dr. Gordon said, "then we can make predictions as to the possible effects of trace amounts of the chemical in food products contaminated by polyvinyl chloride wrappers and other until-now undetermined areas."

To date, no research work has been published to determine the effects of vinyl chloride in water and what effect its presence there might have on man or the aquatic organisms.
