State To Spend $907,000 In Making Needed Repairs For Various State Institutions

Other Projects Are Described As Possible If Materials Are Available

Plenty Of Food For U.S. In Sight If Farms Get Men And Machines

Chicago, Ill.—A 40 per cent increase in the number of farms handling farm materials and supplies as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture for the week ending Aug. 18 is to be expected in the near future, United States Department of Agriculture experts said today. They predicted that the increase would be sufficient to meet the needs of the nation's agricultural sector.

The experts believe that the increase in farm materials and supplies will help to ensure adequate crop production. They noted that farmers have been facing difficulties in obtaining the necessary materials for their operations, but that the increase in availability will help to address this issue.

The experts also emphasized the importance of maintaining the supply of farm materials and supplies to ensure a good harvest. They noted that the success of the agricultural sector depends on the availability of these materials.
