Radicals Clash With Police As President Arrives In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Some 400 helmeted radicals clashed with armored riot police today as President Ford arrived in Japan and about half of them were arrested. Another 2,000 demonstrators shouted anti-Ford slogans.

The outbursts took place two miles from the airport where Ford landed for the briefest of welcomes and did not mar the ceremonies. Ford then took a helicopter to downtown Tokyo for an overnight rest in a heavily guarded palace.

After a 15-hour flight from Washington across the International Date Line, the first American President to visit Japan scheduled a 17-hour respite to rest up before calling on Emperor Hirohito Tuesday and opening talks with Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka.

To minimize the chance of interference by radical leftists opposed to the President's visit, neither the emperor nor Tanaka went to the airport, and the arrival ceremony there lasted only 11 minutes.

Busloads of carefully screened Japanese waved American and Japanese flags and applauded as Ford left Air Force One and shook hands with U.S. Ambassador James Hodgson, Takeshi Yasukawa, the Japanese ambassador to the United States, and Japanese protocol officials.

Howitzers fired a 21-gun salute required by protocol, and the President waved to the crowd as he was escorted to a waiting helicopter for the 10-minute trip to the Wasaksaka Palace in downtown Tokyo.

Leftist demonstrations against the President's visit have so far been largely non-violent. But the government threw a massive security screen around the presidential visit, with 25,000 Tokyo police on full alert and another 100,000 on

Brass Choir, Baroque Camerata To Present Concert This Tuesday

The University Brass Choir and the University Baroque Camerata will present a concert in the Recital Hall Annex of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Complex on November 19, Tuesday Evening at 8:15 p. m.

This concert will feature chamber music of the highest quality and will present two truly outstanding ensembles of the Murray State University Music Department, a spokesman said.

The Baroque Camerata, a string ensemble conducted by H. L. Blair was organized primarily to perform Baroque Music. More recently the ensemble has expanded beyond the Baroque and performs music of various periods. The program on Nov. 19 will feature a dance suite from the lovely opera Venus and Adonis by John Blow, a symphony by Frank Beek (a contemporary of F. Joseph Haydn) and a contemporary symphony called "A Simple Symphony" by the famous English composer Benjamin Britten.

The University Brass Choir will perform compositions of the Baroque, Romantic and Contemporary periods. Giovanni Gabrieli's "Sonata pian'e forte" from his Sacrae Symphoniae of 1597 will be one of the selections. It is one of the earliest instrumental pieces which specified exact instrumentation and dynamics. Included on the program will be Grieg's "Funeral Music" which was played at his own funeral and Dukas' Fanfare to "La Peri". Selections by the American composers Robert Ward, Gardner Read and Frederic Ashe will also be performed.

The Brass Choir has gained a reputation for high performance standards and outstanding musicianship and has played at the Southern Music Educators Conference. The group is composed of 28 of Murray State's finest Brass performers with the conductors being David G. Elliott and Carl D. Mowery.

Chrysler Expected To Announce Shutdown

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. is expected to disclose plans today for a shutdown of virtually its entire production system during December.

"It's obvious we're going to be making some cutbacks. We'll decide Monday how we're going to do it — where, when and to what extent," said Chrysler President John Riccardi.

He denied that a decision had already been made to close five of the firm's six assembly plants. Such a move would idle almost 30,000 assemblers immediately, and subsequent shutdowns in parts plants could affect another 50,000, sources said.

Industry observers said a shutdown of most Chrysler plants would be an unprecedented cost-saving gesture, unheard of except in wartime.

Chrysler Chairman Lynn Townsend has requested a meeting this afternoon with United Auto Workers leaders.

Meanwhile, 95,000 Big Three auto workers will be on layoffs this week, the largest number of furloughs in the industry since new models debuted in September and sales nosedived.

More than 25 per cent of Chrysler's 100,000 blue-collar workers are on layoff this week, the firm said.

Chrysler sales were off more than 30 per cent in the most recent sales period, and the firm has an inventory of more than 120 days worth of unsold new cars, almost double its competitors.

General Motors has announced layoffs which will idle 49,300 workers this week, including 36,100 who have been indefinitely furloughed. GM's hourly workforce numbers 370,000, down from 420,000 in 1973.

Ford Motor Co. layoffs this week at three assembly plants and three manufacturing plants will affect 8,250 workers. Open-ended layoffs for 1,800 workers beginning today bring Ford's indefinite layoff mark to 10,425. The Ford work force is more than 160,000.

TVA Rate Adjustment To Decline

The monthly fuel cost adjustment on TVA electric rates will decline again in December because of the measures being taken to reduce the use of coal at TVA power plants, the agency has announced.

The December adjustment is computed from the actual cost of fuel used in TVA power plants last month. On residential electric bills it will amount to .062 of a cent per kilowatt-hour or 62 cents for each thousand kilowatt-hours used by the consumer. This is down from 99 cents in October, and 76 cents in November electric bills.

One reason for the decline was increased power production in October at TVA's first nuclear power plant, which involves a much smaller fuel expense than producing the same amount of electricity from coal.

Another factor was large-scale purchases of power from other electric systems to help hold down coal consumption at TVA plants.

TVA said the national United Mine Workers strike that began Tuesday is starting to have a sharper effect on coal receipts at TVA power plants.

Turkey Cheaper Than Last Year

By The Associated Press

Americans trying to fit holiday celebrations into inflation-tight budgets have at least one thing to be thankful for this year: turkey is cheaper than it was in 1973.

An Associated Press survey showed that while the cost of most of the ingredients of a Thanksgiving dinner has gone up, turkey prices have dropped by about 20 cents a pound to an average of 49 to 69 cents.

Poultry producers said the reason for the decline was an abundant supply and they complained they were losing money on their birds.

"We've been losing up to $2 per bird," said Carl Johnson, head of the Wisconsin Turkey Federation. Poultry producers said it costs about 35 cents a pound to raise a turkey. They're getting only about 28 cents a pound.

The rest of the Thanksgiving dinner is more expensive, however.

A comparison of supermarket advertisements in Montgomery County, Md., for November, 1973 and November, 1974 showed bread, used for stuffing, was up from 30 to 48 cents a loaf; fresh cranberries went from 29 to 39 cents a pound. And, if you get a headache from all the festivities, aspirin went from 59 cents per 100 to 89.

Most Americans said they'd manage a traditional dinner despite inflation, but there were exceptions.

"Usually we have company and we buy more than one meat. This year we are getting a small turkey and that's it," said Yvonne Porter of Detroit. Mrs. Porter and her husband are both out of work — she is on strike from her job at Detroit Optometric Center and he has been laid off from his post as a security guard.

"The holiday we would usually go way out," said Mrs. Porter. "Now we can just barely feed our family."

Break-In Reported At Murray Home-Auto

Information regarding a break-in at Murray Home & Auto last week was released today by the Murray City Police Detective Division.

A department spokesman said 16 color portable televisions were taken in the break-in with a combined value of nearly $4,000.

The break-in reportedly occurred Wednesday night when burglars cut a 11 by 12-inch hole in the concrete block wall at the rear of the store. They then backed a truck up to the door and loaded it with the televisions.

Police are working on several leads, according to the report received this morning.

Several other investigations were also reported today by police, including the theft of two smoked barbecue shoulders from a smokehouse at Owen's Supermarket. The shoulders were valued at $60.

Art Pepple, 603 North 18th, reported the theft of $150 in cash from his home while he was away. Entry was gained to the home by forcing open a door.

Hillman Outland, Route Eight, reported the theft of $800 in merchandise from his home, where entry was gained by breaking into a garage door and going into the house.

A car owned by Harold Eversmeyer, 820 North 19th was entered Saturday night at the Murray High football game, according to police. Taken was a purse in the car, containing drivers' license and credit card.

Investigations are continuing into these incidents, according to police.

The Calloway County High School Speech and Debate Team won the first place sweepstakes trophy at the Ballard Memorial tournament Saturday.

The Murray High School Speech and Debate Team won the second place sweepstakes trophy at the Ballard Memorial tournament Saturday.

Realistic Unemployment Figures

There are some underlying facts which never see the light of day in many compilations of national statistics.

In other words, only one set of figures is used to tell a complicated story.

The nation's unemployment statistics are a case in point.

Currently, we're told the nation's unemployment rate is approximately six per cent of the work force. Many of the unemployed in the six per cent figure are also unemployed during times of shortage of workers.

A more realistic picture would be to report the number of unemployed who are full-time, primary earners who have lost their jobs through no fault of their own. Such is the practice in England, for example.

If these more realistic standards were used to evaluate our national unemployment rate, then the percentage of unemployed would be approximately one-to-two per cent.

The commonly-used six per cent unemployment statistic includes everyone of working age and ability. This means that students who want only part-time work and part-time workers and part-time housewives, persons who cannot or will not accept any job except a specific job and other unrealistic factors are lumped together in determining the number of unemployed.

When all these persons are considered as part of the nation's "unemployed," then the total number out of work is approximately 5.5 million at present.

Using more realistic calculations, the number of actual breadwinners who are out of work through no fault of their own would be less than 500,000.

Down the Garden Path

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

The big oak trees are dropping their leaves quickly now and will be the last tree to become bare. Most others have shed their summer dress and showing their bare branches against the sky. I forget every year how sturdy the oak trees are until they shed their leaves and those great branches reach out. You can see a squirrel's nest in nearly every oak tree, high up in the fork of limbs. I always marvel at the ingenuity of these little creatures, as to how they can build such a home for their young. They are loosely put together, yet seem to be perfectly secure and safe.

Did you see the gorgeous full moon on Halloween night. I first saw it through the bare branches of a sweet gum tree and I wished for the artistry of being able to paint it, a perfect autumn picture.

My one accomplishment of the past week was to have a Foster Holly set out. It is already loaded with berries and will brighten a corner of the yard with its shiny leaves. I think we appreciate the evergreens during the winter months. I am sure the Creator knew what he was doing when He made the evergreens to keep their leaves at a time when the world looks so cold and drab. Especially those that bear fruit. The birds love them all and there are so many beautiful berry bearing shrubs that could add to the diet of our song birds as well as a joy to us.

This is the time to take cuttings, if you have not done so. Put them into a mixture of half soil and half sand, set about half the length of cutting. They will be fine in a basement or warm place where it can get light.

Roses can be grown from cuttings and these can be rooted outdoors. Set a good sturdy stem half its length in the ground, water well and put a fruit jar over it. Leave it there all winter and you will find that one third to one half of the cutting will root.

Some of the new Hybrid roses seem to be much harder to root from cuttings than the old varieties, but it can be done. Geraniums root easily as do begonia and a number of summer plants. Joseph's Coat will root in water, and will make a pretty plant for the winter in the living room. Its colors will not be quite so deep, but placed in front of a sunny window, it will make a welcome bit of brightness.

Now you can put your tulips in, if they have not been planted. From now till the end of the month will be the right time for any plantings or moving of shrubs. They are becoming more or less dormant and will not feel the shock of being moved as badly. Give them plenty of water when you set them out, put good soil in to fill up the hole, then pile mulch around the stalk for several inches. It will never know it was moved.

This our last month of work. There is very little that can be done in the next three months. That is when we begin to plan our spring garden and look through catalogues to discover all the wonderful plants in store for us.

FOR TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)  Mars extremely beneficent. You now have a chance to cash in on good will, to increase your prestige.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)  Get together with associates who share your interests to discuss ambitions, hopes, plans for the future, new ideas in general.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)  A great day for presenting your ingenious ideas. Don't let "stick in the mud" types dissuade you.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)  This day's progress could be furthered by joining forces with someone outside your normal circle.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)  The Leoite rarely puts himself "on the defensive," but a complex job situation could cause you to take such a stand now. Don't! Assert your rights.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)  Avoid present tendencies toward lethargy and inertia. Self-discipline is an innate Virgo trait. Stress it now.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)  A curious suggestion may be made. If you have even the slightest doubt about it, reject summarily. Your hunches are usually correct.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)  Curb a tendency toward wishful thinking. This is a day in which to stress realism and practicality. Imagination is great — except when it runs out of bounds.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Home and family concerns under highly beneficial influences. In fact, a recent domestic problem will finally be straightened out satisfactorily.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)  Don't regard decisions made in the a.m. as final. Certain circumstances may necessitate revision later in the day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)  You have good reason for optimism now. A superior's enthusiasm for your efforts not only pays off, but further spurs your ambition and incentive.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)  Others may be overly aggressive, pressing for their "rights" to the exclusion of yours. Watch your own interests. Don't let anyone push you around.

She wants to put men in a net

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I work in the kitchen of a restaurant and the law says all WOMEN have to wear hairnets.

Well, we have some men working in the kitchen whose hair is a lot longer than some of the women's and there's no law that makes THEM wear hairnets. I don't think that's fair. I mentioned this to the boss and he just laughed, but I don't think it is any laughing matter. What do you think?

MADDIE

DEAR MADDIE: I think the hairnet law should apply to all professional food handlers with long hair.

DEAR ABBY: Thank God for you. You're the only one I can turn to for help.

My wife and I are separated and will be divorced as soon as we can get the money together. We are still friends.

She thinks she is pregnant. She's been seeing my brother, and she says the odds are that it's his baby. There is a slim chance, however, that it's mine. No one knows she's pregnant but she and I. If the baby is mine, I will accept the responsibility and support it as I do our other children. But if it's my brother's, I intend to disown it.

Is there any way to tell whose baby it is after it's born? If there is no way to tell for sure, I want to do what's best for the baby. What do you suggest?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: Blood tests after the baby is born will not determine who the baby's father is — only who the baby's father ISN'T. Since you and your wife are still married, in the case of doubtful paternity, it would be wise to accept the child as your own.

DEAR ABBY: I need your help to get my wife back. I never realized how much I loved her until I lost her.

Maybe you heard about the anthrax epidemic that hit the cattle in Texas this summer, Abby. I was right in the middle of it. I was near broke and desperate to sell a herd before my section of the state was quarantined. My wife told me it was wrong to sell cattle without waiting to find out if they had anthrax.

I knew she was right, but I needed the money. I told her I was going to sell anyway, and she stood right up to me and said she'd call the authorities if I moved one steer off my land.

That's when I hit her, Abby. I knocked her down on the kitchen floor. I could have cut off my hand the minute it happened, but like a stubborn fool I walked out of the house and left her laying there. I guess I must have walked around for an hour talking to myself. When I came back I was ready to get down on my knees, beg her to forgive me, and promise not to deal the steers, but she was gone. I called her relatives. Nobody knew where she was, or else they wouldn't tell me.

Abby, I can't live without that woman. I've loved her since she was 16. That was the only time I ever raised my hand to her in the 27 years we've been married. She reads your column every day, so maybe she'll read this, wherever she is. Ask her to come back home, Abby?

HEARTSICK

DEAR HEARTSICK: You've done it better than I ever could.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1.00 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Refrigerator dough talk

Almost any yeast dough or batter may be refrigerated, if the amount of yeast in the recipe is doubled. A sweet dough, that is high in sugar, refrigerates best.

You can refrigerate the dough either immediately after mixing or kneading, or after it has risen once and been punched down. Proofing (rising) before refrigeration, however, helps the dough retain its rising power.

To store the dough in the refrigerator, grease the surface well and cover with plastic wrap or a tight bowl cover. The best refrigerator temperature is 45 degrees to 50 degrees. Most refrigerator doughs may be kept three or four days, with portions taken out as desired. Some rising will take place in the refrigerator but the dough can be punched down if it gets too high.

After refrigeration, you can either shape the dough immediately, or allow it first to come to room temperature — about two and one-half to three hours — before shaping. Then let the shaped dough rise again before baking at the usual time and temperature.

Consumer Comments

Bulk Buying

By ED W. HANCOCK

Attorney General of Kentucky

Rising food prices, and especially meat prices, are everyone's beef these days. To save money, some consumers are turning to buying beef in bulk. Do they really save money? The answer is—sometimes. It may be just as inexpensive or even less expensive to buy separate cuts on sale in the supermarket or other stores where you know in advance exactly what you are getting.

But if you do decide to buy meat in bulk for your freezer, you should do the following:

1. Check for the USDA wholesomeness inspection mark, assuring safe, clean meat;
2. Know the types of meat. "Prime" is the top quality; "Choice" is the next highest grade of meat and is most often found in retail markets. "Good" is the third highest grade of meat, followed by "Standard" and then "Commercial." Names such as "fancy," "Grade A," or "supreme" mean nothing.

3. Learn about yields, which tell you the amount of usable meat on a carcass. Yield 1 is the highest, yielding about 80 per cent edible meat. The higher the yield number, the higher the percentage of waste. Yield 4 should yield from 66 per cent to 70 per cent edible meat.

4. Know how much storage space you have available.

5. Study a meat-cut chart to learn the various cuts and how they are prepared.

6. Consider the different kinds of cuts your family prefers and buy the type of meat that will give you these cuts. For example, a hindquarter of beef will yield more steaks and roasts. The forequarter has more of the less-tender cuts, but also contains the rib roast.

7. Don't be misled by the hanging weight—that means the untrimmed weight. The actual take-home weight will be less. Find out how much less.

8. Inquire if the cutting and wrapping cost is included in the price per pound.

9. Above all, beware of bait and switch tactics. This office has had complaints that such tactics have been used by some Kentucky bulk beef dealers. The bait took the form of an advertisement offering meat at very low prices. A consumer who responded to the ad was shown fat, wasty, unattractive meat. The salesperson tried to discourage the consumer from buying the advertised meat and attempted to switch the consumer to much more expensive meat hanging nearby.

If you suspect a company of bait and switch tactics, call the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division on the Consumer Hotline, 1-800-372-2960, or write to Consumer Protection, The Capitol, Room 34, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Realism On Food Cuts

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN

The World Food Conference in Rome, like many other United Nations gatherings, turned into a hate-America session.

Delegates from communist and so-called non-aligned nations charged that "imperialists" were responsible for the food shortages in the Southern Hemisphere. They demanded that Americans eat less and give away more.

It is amazing that those nations which want the United States to feed them also are determined to abuse the American people and attribute to them the worst of motives.

In any case, however, the American people aren't about to accept reduced diets or support new, massive giveaways of food to Third World nations. Indeed none of the advanced nations of the Northern Hemisphere are likely to introduce austerity measures in order to provide the food sought by India and other food-deficient countries.

For an entire generation, Americans have been shipping food to India and elsewhere. They have lavished billions of dollars on food giveaways without receiving any thanks in return. By and large, the American people are very tired of all types of foreign aid.

Today, the United States faces severe economic difficulty at home. The nation can't afford to be as generous as it was in the past. The United States needs to expand food production in order to lower food prices for the American people.

Where possible, the U.S. needs to sell foodstuffs overseas in order to redress the balance of payments which worsens each month because of the outflow of dollars for foreign oil.

Each country will have to solve its food problems. To be sure, the problems facing some countries are horrendous. But, in many cases, the suffering nations have brought on their troubles. India experimented with socialism and weakened its private sector, including its farmers. It has wasted money on creating a nuclear capability.

Beyond that, many of the countries now short of food are incompetent nations. To use a fashionable word, they aren't "viable" countries. They lack the leadership, resources, educational elites and the capitalist economic structures necessary for effective production of food and long-term national existence.

The United States cannot save all the inadequate nations of the world from their inadequacies or follies. The United States is not under any moral obligation to feed the entire world. In any case, that would be an impossible task. The responsibility of America's leadership is to America's people.

Indeed we are in a period when our government must stress economic nationalism. We need to maximize all our advantages, including sale of our foodstuffs. Dependent nations must look to their own resources and attempt to curb their extravagant population growth. Our government, for its part, should be more candid in stating the concerns of the American people. It should not urge establishment of international food reserves, as though food were an international resource. It should discourage talk of world food redistribution, for our people won't support such measures.

The food crisis will worsen in many nations which can't carry out their basic responsibility for feeding their people. Unfortunately, the American people will be subjected to emotion-laden appeals and to threats of Third World retaliation against the U.S. if it doesn't "come across" with more food giveaways.

The U.S. must not cease all charity but it will have to become very firm in dealing with the appeals and threats.

France's Food Minister, Christian Bonnet, has rightly described the proposed food cuts for affluent nations as "intellectually seductive, but totally impractical." The same view should be expressed by Washington.

FRANKFORT—The Department of Human Resources is still wrestling with the problem of how to provide more adequate facilities for the mentally retarded, and everyone knows the state will not be able to care for all of the estimated 200,000 plus retardates in the state.

The newest move is to contract the operation of Outwood at Dawson Springs to a private concern. Following a recent bidders conference attended by 12 or 15 organizations, the proposal date has been extended to December 31. The state's proposal calls for bidders to construct a new modern facility capable of handling 200 patients where 280 are now housed.

The cost per patient day will be one of the determining factors to be considered by the state from prospective bidders, but not necessarily the only factor, Daniel B. Howard, commissioner for the Bureau for Administration and Operations in Human Resources, said last week. The successful bidder must have the financial ability to design and construct a new place to replace the present Outwood facilities, acquired from the federal government when the veterans hospital was discontinued.

Howard said review of the proposals submitted by December 31, should be completed by March 15, 1975, but the successful bidder will not take over operation of Outwood until July 1, 1975, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

The state readily admits that a private operator can operate such a place more economically than government because private enterprise is not as cumbersome and there is not as much red tape or review involved.

Present per patient cost at Outwood is about $25 per day, Howard said, but the per patient cost at Oakwood near Somerset is $45 or more per day. At Hazelwood in Jefferson County where bed patients are kept, the cost is from $5 to $50 per day. Outwood is the only facility that the state is now projecting to turn over to a private operator.

Howard says he believes private enterprise can get a new building constructed cheaper than the state can. The private operator also must conduct classes and recreation suitable for the ambulatory patients. Presently most of the patients at Outwood are above 18 years of age. Most under 18 are now at Oakwood.

The state has had a plan of placing retardates in foster homes, but that program has been slowed some in recent months because of bad experience in some cases. Some are placed in personal care homes and the federal government, under Medicaid, picks up the tab of about $18 per day.

A recent Federal Court ruling in Lexington has placed responsibility on the State Department of Education for providing classes for exceptional children where they are physically able to attend classes, but this program will not care for all of the needs of the mentally retarded. Some need to be in state-operated or private facilities like Oakwood.

Stewart Home School, a private facility just outside of Frankfort, has 246 pupils, and it's operating costs are below the state. Stewart Home School is ranked among the top in the United States. It has pupils from 30 states.

There's some lively legal debate here whether Lieutenant Governor Julian Carroll will become governor or acting governor after the first of the year when Governor Ford takes his oath of office as United States Senator. Provisions in the state Constitution are somewhat cloudy on this subject, but Lawrence Wetherby took the oath of office when Governor Earle C. Clements went to the U.S. Senate and there may be some practical precedence here.

But if Carroll takes the oath of office, he vacates his office as lieutenant governor, and then what happens? Technically, Carroll automatically will become acting governor and still retain his office as lieutenant governor if he doesn't take the oath as governor. He could draw both salaries.

If Carroll does take the oath, does Senate President pro tem William Sullivan become lieutenant governor? There's some debate about this. If Carroll leaves the state, Sullivan would be acting governor in his absence as he was last week when Ford and Carroll were both out of the state. If Sullivan should take the oath of office as lieutenant governor, under the constitution he would vacate his office as State Senator and president pro tem of the Senate.

This is a good topic for discussion, but nobody seems to have an answer for it.

Worth Repeating

If you go ice skating this winter, the Red Cross says to skate in supervised areas where the ice is at least 3 or 4 inches thick. Never skate alone and never build a fire on the ice. Be careful when crossing ice over running water. Currents can erode and melt ice from below. If you accidentally break through the ice, don't try to climb out on the thin ice around the hold. Extend both arms along the surface of the ice and then kick hard. This will help lift the body onto solid ice. They roll to safety. To rescue someone who has broken through ice, don't stand up near the ice break. Instead, lie flat and edge along toward the hole, and push a plank, ladder, or rope to the victim. When he has grasped it, pull him to safety. Always have rescue equipment readily available.

Let's Stay Well

Prostate Cancer

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Cancer of the prostate is a frequent, serious illness among older men.

According to the American Cancer Society, about 54,000 new cases of cancer of the prostate will be diagnosed in the United States during 1974. Approximately 18,000 victims of this form of cancer will die this year.

The chances of developing carcinoma of the prostate increase with age after the 40th year.

For some obscure reason, the death rate from this cancer appears to be slightly higher in married men than in single men.

In spite of a number of advances in the management of this disease, the death rate has not changed significantly in the last four decades.

Early diagnosis is essential for a cure with any available treatment. Every male who is 40 years of age or older should have an annual physical examination, which includes checking the prostate, even if the patient has no symptoms.

If a nodule is felt in the prostate during a routine rectal examination, needle biopsy should be considered by a urologist.

Whenever prostatic tissue is removed to relieve bladder obstruction, the tissue should be carefully studied to rule out cancer.

Surgery and radiation therapy cure early cases. With more extensive involvement, hormones are also useful in relieving symptoms by causing regression and long remissions of the tumor, biotics.

Q. Mrs. J. K. writes: My nephew has a clawhand as a result of an automobile accident, in which his forearm was injured. Please explain.

A. He received an injury to his ulnar nerve so that it cannot carry impulses to some of the muscles of the forearm and hand. As a result, his little finger and ring finger flex toward the palm. Also, he cannot separate or spread the fingers. These positions give a deformity known as "clawhand." In addition, a numbness extends along the border of the palm and includes the little finger adjacent and half of the ring fingers. He should have the nerve examined and repaired surgically soon if he has not done so. Sometimes a scarring around the ulnar nerve may cause such disability. In the meantime, he should massage the muscles and passively exercise his flexed fingers.

Q. Mr. A. B. wants to know if a vaccine is available against "old-fashioned" pneumonia.

A. You are no doubt referring to lobar pneumonia and other kinds which result from the various kinds of pneumococci. These infections formerly were common, severe, and often fatal. No vaccine currently is available, but recent research is very promising for a vaccine that will prevent a wide variety of these pneumonias. At present, they have to be treated promptly with antibiotics.

This clearly shows that (chickens) cannot adjust to laying different-size eggs. We tamper with nature at our peril.'"

Privacy:

Many Americans Worry About Accuracy Of Files

NEW YORK (AP) — If you have ever applied for a loan, credit card, medical or life insurance, a mortgage or anything else that requires a routine check there's a record somewhere.

If you have ever attended school or been employed, or encountered the police, either as a defendant or complainant, then files and records on you exist in some known or unknown computer data bank.

These files may or may not be accurate.

And, they may or may not intrude on a right not mentioned in the Constitution but increasingly precious to most Americans: the right to privacy.

Take the case of a 30-year-old assistant professor at Princeton University, who was denied automobile insurance. The credit agency investigating her reported to the insurance company that she lived with a man who was not her husband. The woman had a record of safe driving.

From episodes such as this and from the Watergate scandal revelations, a growing public awareness of threats to individual privacy has emerged, and government is beginning to respond.

Right-to-privacy legislation is pending in both houses of Congress. Governors, mayors and private organizations have formed privacy committees. The Federal Trade Commission will bring the nation's largest credit reporting agency to trial at the end of the year for alleged abuses. And the American Civil Liberties Union continues to represent victims of privacy invasion and lobby for legislative remedies.

But there are ways an individual's privacy can be threatened that are not illegal.

For example, an elderly couple was relaxing in their backyard one evening in Albuquerque, N.M., when a spotlight hit the two from above and stayed on them for about five minutes. The light was from the Albuquerque Police Department's "spy-in-the-sky" plane for police surveillance. They no longer use their yard.

But for most Americans, the invasions of their privacy are less spectacular. The invasions usually have occurred from abuses and errors in the credit reporting business, school records and law enforcement data banks.

CREDIT REPORTS: Consumer reporting agencies annually provide about 100 million credit reports through 2,600 credit bureaus, according to estimates by Sheldon Feldman, assistant director for special statutes, Federal Trade Commission. Another 30 to 40 million reports are supplied by investigative reporting agencies.

James C. Millstone, assistant managing editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, has sued O'Hanlon Reports, a New York-based retail credit reporting agency, for $100,000 punitive damages. Millstone says he was denied auto insurance based on a credit report made by O'Hanlon.

"It said that I was a hippie with a beard and long hair and used drugs," the 44-year-old journalist said. "The report was inaccurate. If there were 10 statements in it, nine were wrong. They had my wife's name wrong and, of course, the nasty stuff was all wrong."

Millstone said he received his insurance because the agent who sold it to him also vouched for him. "But to actually find out what the report said, I had to sue," he said. "The worst thing is the procedures used by the investigators. They were paid $12 to investigate me. Let's face it, for $12 how much are they going to get?"

The report on Millstone was based on an interview with one disgruntled neighbor who is now dead.

U.S. District Judge H. Kenneth Wagelin ruled for Millstone Oct. 24, awarding him $40,000.

Retail Credit Co. is the largest reporting firm in the nation with over 1,800 offices and dossiers on more than 40 million people.

Credit reports also are being used for employment purposes, and some employers now can find out if an applicant has debts, emotional problems, criminal records and other intimate data.

The Fair Credit Reporting Act, passed in 1971, provides a somewhat limited remedy to adverse information made by credit agency sleuths. It gives an individual the right to know what is in the file and why credit was denied, but does not mandate that the credit agency reveal the identity of its sources.

SCHOOL RECORDS: School records have been another area of privacy abuse, often tagging some individuals for life with emotional, intellectual and personality evaluations based on questionable record-keeping practices.

The records begin on the first day of kindergarten and can reflect the personal whims and prejudices of teachers and other school personnel. Until very recently, school administrators tenaciously guarded these accounts from students and parents, but allowed law enforcement agencies, government representatives and prospective employers free access in most cases.

Some inroads have been made: New York City parents can see their children's school record and contest any errors. Wisconsin has ruled that all school records are confidential. New Mexico allows students to inspect their records and receive an explanation of any information in them. New Jersey has drafted regulations that would require school districts to expunge certain derogatory information after three years and restrict records to specific data.

GOVERNMENT FILES: There are more than 850 government data banks containing more than 1.25 billion records on individuals. As of Dec. 1, 1973, there were more than five million active files in the massive National Crime Information Center, run by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

This system is linked by computer to many state law enforcement operations and other federal criminal information banks. If a person has been arrested for, but not convicted of, a crime or violation, or if a person was a complainant, witness or victim in a case, the individual's record may be in the NCIC.

President Ford, in addition to telling Congress there would be no illegal invasions of privacy in his administration, also has ordered that no one in his administration may see federal income tax returns without his written permission. He also has ordered that warrantless government wiretaps will no longer occur. The ACLU has estimated that 31,000 to 84,000 persons annually are overheard on such government taps.

President Ford's action and pending legislation in Congress and in the states will not stop the information explosion. As America becomes more and more technologized, the files and records will probably mushroom.

The nation's banks, for example, are moving to a system of electronic checking under which data or computers will be stored in computers and made available to other banks.

A certain amount of information must be kept on each of us, often for our own benefit — information on Social Security benefits, for example.

What worries some Americans is not so much that dossiers on them exist. The troublesome questions are: "How are the dossiers assembled? To whom are they sent? Are they accurate?"

Funny Funny World

Officials at Loveland, Ohio, have a hairy problem. A bear has been buried in the town cemetery and they aren't sure it is legal. After spending several weeks tracking down a rumor, two township trustees — Rod Williams and Ken Harrison — learned that a resident convinced cemetery workers to bury his pet bear, which had been put to sleep because it was suffering from arthritis. Williams said the trustees, who administer the cemetery, will exhume the bear and move its body to a more suitable place.

Murray Soccer Team Third In Tournament

By MIKE CAMPBELL

Another hectic season has come to an end for Murray State's soccer team.

The blue and gold clad athletes from Murray played their last three games this past weekend as they competed in the Kentucky Intercollegiate State Tournament held at Berea College.

Of the three games Murray played, the Racers lost two and won one, finishing third in their division.

The first game was against Morehead which pulled it off by a margin of 5-2, with three of their goals coming late in the second half.

UK proved to be one of the strongest teams in the tournament as they displayed their strength by beating Murray 5-0 in the Racers' second game.

The final Murray game was against Transylvania which the Racers trounced 7-2.

This last game of the season proved to be one of team's greatest moments as they displayed super shooting skills and great fighting spirit.

Outstanding players in the tournament for Murray included Greg Gelhot who scored three goals in the match against Transylvania; Hamid Siadat, Sylvester Imodi, Ben Tabriz, Lou Turley and Trevor Athill.

Those players are under consideration for a possible All-State Intercollegiate Team.

The two top teams in the tournament were Bellarmine and Morehead, both of whom won their divisions. They will meet in a playoff this Wednesday in Louisville.

"I am pleased with the attitude the fellows displayed throughout the season," said Coach Schellas Hyndman.

"There is definitely a future for soccer at Murray State and what I would like to see is more involvement of American kids," he added.

Murray finishes with a 4-7 record, a little bit disappointing for a team that promised great things at the beginning of the season but had to settle for less because of injuries.

By BRUCE LOWITT

AP Sports Writer

On a day when the playoff picture was supposed to become a little bit clearer, the National Football League turned into scrambled eggs Sunday.

In one of the least surprising developments of the day, the defending Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins moved into first place in the American Conference East with a nail-biting 35-28 victory over the Buffalo Bills on Don Nottingham's second touchdown run of the game, a 23-yarder on a draw play with 19 seconds to play.

And in one of the most surprising, the Los Angeles Rams failed to lock up the National Conference West title. All they needed was a tie. What they got was their teeth kicked in as New Orleans' Archie Manning needed them with 175 yards worth of precision passing and the Saints also ran for 146 yards en route to the 20-7 shocker.

And Houston's for-real Oilers, who began their winning streak with a 34-21 stunner over Cincinnati a month ago, shut down the Bengals 20-3 with a fierce defense, Dan Pastorini's pinpoint passing and Willie Rodgers' two touchdown runs.

Dolphins 35, Bills 28

Nottingham's run was only supposed to set up a tie-breaking field goal — but the Miami line blew out Buffalo's defense and gave Nottingham a clear path to the goal line.

Earlier Nottingham ran for 11 yards to put the Dolphins ahead 28-21 with five minutes to play, a lead wiped out with less than a minute to go when Buffalo's reserve quarterback, Gary Marangi, hit Bob Chandler with a five-yard scoring pass.

It appeared headed for overtime — but not for long. Bob Griese passed for 31 yards to Paul Warfield, then Jim Kick caught a 12-yard pass and ran for 11 more. That put the ball on the 23, where Nottingham took over.

Saints 20, Rams 7

The surprising Saints shut out Los Angeles until James Harris threw a meaningless fourth-quarter touchdown and slammed the door on Lawrence McCutcheon, league-leading rusher who got just 28 yards against New Orleans.

The meaningful touchdowns were Manning's, a 79-yarder to Bob Newland and a 17-yarder to Joel Parker. Bill McClard kicked in with field goals of 28 and 51 yards.

Oilers 20, Bengals 3

The Oilers, wrecking Ken Anderson's passing game, won their fourth straight for the first time in a dozen years and dropped the Bengals 1½ games back of first-place Pittsburgh in the AFC Central Division.

The Houston defense didn't give any touchdowns — and hasn't in 10 straight quarters. Anderson was intercepted twice and sacked six times.

Packers 19, Vikings 7

Chester Marcol kicked four field goals, then John Hadl teamed with MacArthur Lane on a 68-yard touchdown pass play that sealed Green Bay's victory and dethroned Minnesota's run toward the NFL Central title.

Jets 21, Patriots 16

Joe Namath passed for two touchdowns — but it was the defense that made the difference for the Jets. New York picked off four Jim Plunkett passes to drop the Patriots two games back of Miami.

Colts 17, Falcons 7

Lydell Mitchell piled up 151 yards on 33 carries, setting up touchdowns runs by Marty Domres and Bill Olds to hand the Falcons their second loss and first at home under Coach Marion Campbell.

Cardinals 13, Eagles 3

The Cardinals, staying a game ahead of runnerup Washington in the NFC East, sacked Philadelphia quarterback Roman Gabriel nine times.

Quarterback Jim Hart scored the only touchdown on a one-yard run and kicker Jim Bakken kicked two fourth-quarter field goals.

Redskins 28, Cowboys 21
The Redskins, with a three-touchdown burst in the second period, roared to a 28-0 halftime lead, then held off the Cowboys.

Joe Theismann, substituting for quarterback Billy Kilmer in a running situation, ran in for a three-yard touchdown in the first period. In the second, Charlie Evans ran in from six yards out, Ken Houston raced 58 yards for a touchdown on a punt return and Kilmer hit Roy Jefferson with a 31-yard scoring strike.

Steelers 26, Browns 16

Pittsburgh ended a 10-year Cleveland Stadium jinx by beating the Browns. There were 13 turnovers, the 12th the big one — Cleveland quarterback Brian Sipe's fumble midway in the fourth quarter. Joe Greene recovered it for Pittsburgh, then he lateraled it to J.T. Thomas, who went 14 yards for the touchdown that broke a 16-16 tie.

Lions 20, Giants 19

Errol Mann kicked a 37-yard field goal with two seconds left to beat the Giants. With 1:58 to play, Bill Munson drove Detroit from its own 20 to the New York 20 to set up Mann's winning kick.

49ers 34, Bears 0

Rookie Tom Owen bombed the Bears for 316 yards and two touchdowns and scored on a short run in a three-touchdown San Francisco burst in the second quarter. "Whew, that's not a bad day," he gulped.

Raiders 17, Chargers 10

Quarterback Ken Stabler threw a 60-yard touchdown pass to Cliff Branch and Cas-Banaszak swept in from the one, then the Raiders withstood San Diego's fourth-quarter comeback attempt for their victory. The Chargers' touchdown came on rookie running back Don Woods' one-yard dive.

Squires Rally In Last Second To Edge Sounds

By The Associated Press

"We had one foot in the grave," said Virginia Coach Al Bianchi. "We stole the game — no question about it."

Bianchi's Squires were trailing the Memphis Sounds 108-103 with just 15 seconds left to play Sunday night. But two baskets by George Irvine cut the deficit to one, then rookie center David Vaughn sank a bank shot with one second on the clock to give the Squires a 109-108 victory in American Basketball Association action.

"It was just a shot I took because it was there," said Vaughn of his winning basket. "I got a good pass, I was set — and I hit it."

In other ABA games, the Kentucky Colonels defeated the Indiana Pacers 116-103, the Denver Rockets beat the Utah Stars 114-91 and the New York Nets defeated the San Diego Conquistadors 126-109.

Irvine, who led Virginia with 29 points, scored with 14 seconds to play, then took advantage of a turnover and hit another basket to make it 108-107. Memphis took a time out with 10 seconds to go in order to get organized, but it didn't help as the Sounds threw the ball away on their in-bounds pass. Virginia took over and worked the ball to Vaughn for his winning basket.

Rick Mount of Memphis led all scorers with 32 points.

Artis Gilmore powered Kentucky to victory, scoring 32 points and grabbing 28 rebounds.

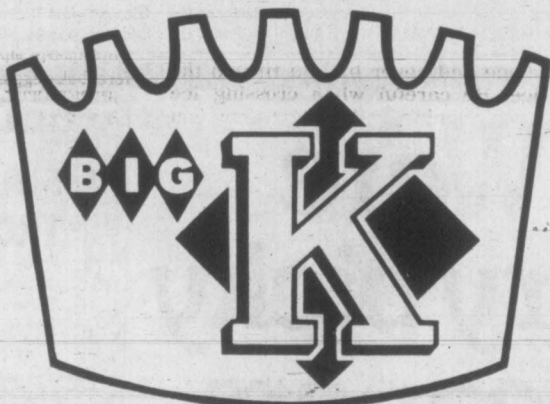

Kentucky led by 12 points early in the second quarter, but the Pacers chipped away at the margin and finally drew even at 93-93. The Colonels then outscored Indiana 14-2 over the next four minutes to clinch the decision.

Denver reeled off 17 consecutive points during the second period en route to its victory over Utah. Ralph Simpson topped the Nuggets with 21 points.

The Nets, trailing 58-50 at the half, erupted for 40 points in the third period and 36 in the fourth to beat the Q's. Julius Erving led New York with 30 points, John Williamson added 23 and Billy Paultz 19.

Sooners Getting Closer To Winning Conference

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON, AP Sports Writer

For 11 weeks, many college football coaches have tried to keep their teams from looking ahead to the next two weeks.

Next Saturday, for example, top-rated Oklahoma can clinch the Big Eight championship by beating sixth-ranked Nebraska, third-ranked Michigan and No. 4 Ohio State have their Big Ten Rose Bowl showdown and Southern California, ranked eighth, tackles crosstown rival UCLA for the right to represent the Pacific-8 Conference in Pasadena on New Year's Day.

Elsewhere, Yale, unbeaten, untied and unranked, squares off with arch-rival Harvard for the Ivy wreath and similarly unranked Brigham Young can nail down the Western Athletic Conference title and its first bowl trip ever — the Fiesta Bowl — with a victory over Utah.

The regular season then grinds to a halt over the Thanksgiving weekend with the likes of Penn State-Pitt, Texas A&M-Texas, Alabama-Auburn, Army-Navy, Notre Dame-Southern Cal — all on national television in a three-day period — Georgia Tech-Georgia, Tennessee-Vanderbilt, Oklahoma State-Oklahoma and Arizona State-Arizona.

Most of the teams in The Associated Press ratings emerged unscathed over the past weekend. Oklahoma ended its first week as Ohio State's successor as No. 1 with a 45-14 victory over Kansas. Runnerup Alabama kept pace by trimming Miami, Fla., 28-7 while Michigan clobbered Purdue 51-0 and Ohio State rebounded from its loss to Michigan State and trounced Iowa 35-10.

Notre Dame, ranked fifth, edged No. 17 Pitt 14-10 with a late touchdown. Nebraska whipped Kansas State 35-7, No. 7 Auburn shaded Georgia 17-13 and Southern California nailed Washington 42-11.

Florida was the only member of the Top Ten to stumble. The ninth-ranked, Sugar Bowl-bound Gators fell 41-24 to upset-happy Kentucky, which embarrassed Peach Bowl-bound Vanderbilt a week earlier. Rounding out the Top Ten, Texas A&M remained atop the Southwest Conference with a 37-7 drubbing of Rice.

In the Second Ten, No. 11 Penn State downed Ohio University 35-16, No. 12 Miami of Ohio completed a 9-0-1 regular season by trimming Cincinnati 27-7 and No. 13 Maryland clinched the Atlantic Coast Conference crown with a 56-13 rout of Duke.

Houston, No. 14, overcame Memphis State 13-10, No. 15 Michigan State turned back Indiana 19-10, No. 16 North Carolina State thumped Arizona State 35-14, Colorado stunned No. 18 Fiesta Bowl-bound Oklahoma State 37-20, No. 19 California outslugged Washington State 37-33 and Baylor stayed on Texas A&M's heels in the SWC by beating No. 20 Texas Tech 17-10.

With Oklahoma rushing ace Joe Washington held to 69 yards, Steve Davis took up the slack with 138 yards, including a one-yard touchdown, and passed for 165 more, featuring scoring tosses of 72 yards to Billy Brooks and 14 to Tinker Owens.

Meanwhile, Dave Humm threw a pair of touchdown passes as Nebraska's Cornhuskers tuned up for Oklahoma by trouncing Kansas State.

Gordon Bell rushed for 166 yards, Dennis Franklin threw two touchdown passes and Rob Lytle tallied twice to help Michigan thrash Purdue.

Meanwhile, Ohio State's Archie Griffin ran for 175 yards — the 21st consecutive game he's rushed past the 100 mark — and Champ Henson scored three times as the Buckeyes defeated Iowa.

Tom Clements' three-yard run with less than three minutes remaining lifted Notre Dame past Pitt and marked the second week in a row the Irish had to come from behind in the final period.

Auburn's Phil Gargis engineered two long scoring drives, helped set up a field goal and then turned things over to the defense, which turned back two late Georgia threats.

Southern Cal's Anthony Davis gained 147 yards and became the first three-time thousand-yard runner in Pacific-8 Conference history as the Trojans battered Washington. Davis needs 10 yards to break O.J. Simpson's career rushing record.

Florida stunned Kentucky with 17 points in five minutes of the first half but the Wildcats rallied behind the running of quarterback Mike Fanuzzi, who paced a 334-yard ground assault. Bubba Bean's two touchdowns and Pat Thomas' 29-yard run with a fumble sparked Texas A&M past Rice.

Penn State's Tom Donchez scored three times against Ohio U. Steve Sanna, a surprise starter, fired two touchdown passes as Miami of Ohio whipped Cincinnati.

Maryland's Bob Avellini completed 10 of 11 passes for 191 yards and tight end Walter White scored three times in the Terrapins' rout of Duke. Larry Houston's fourth-quarter interception set up Marshall Johnson's second touchdown as the University of Houston downed Memphis State.

Charley Baggett, Rich Baes and Levi Jackson all gained more than 100 yards and Baggett and Baes each scored a touchdown as Michigan State fought off Indiana. Stan Fritts and Roland Hooks ran for two touchdowns apiece as N.C. State whipped Arizona State. Terry Kunz tallied three times in Colorado's thumping of Oklahoma State.

California's Steve Bartkowski completed 21 of 30 passes for 304 yards and broke Craig Morton's career passing mark as the Golden Bears outlasted Washington State. Pat McNeil galloped 20 yards for the winning touchdown and Ron Burns' interception set up another score as surprising Baylor downed Texas Tech.

Win For Murray

Tigers Block Punt And Grab Three Fumbles To Pound Glasgow 28-0

By MIKE BRANDON, Ledger & Times Sports Editor

"Now who has the best defense?" screamed someone from the middle of the Murray High dressing room.

"We do!!!" was the reply that jumped in unison from the lungs of everyone in the room.

At a local gasoline station, a man from Glasgow stopped by to fill up his tank before making the long trip back home.

"I thought we had a great defensive team. We couldn't have scored against Murray even if they had taken the endzone and moved it back 20 yards," the man added.

He was almost right.

Because as a matter of fact, the endzone could have been moved back 29 yards and Glasgow wouldn't have scored in their 28-0 loss to Murray High Saturday night at Holland Stadium.

Running into a Tiger defensive unit that was as stubborn as the Internal Revenue Service in April, Glasgow managed to get only as far as the Murray High 30 once all night.

And on the next play following the carry that took the Scotties to the Tiger 30, Murray High nailed quarterback Eric Albany for a 10-yard loss.

The only other time Glasgow crossed midfield was in the first period when they moved the ball to the Murray High 45.

Coming into the Regional championship contest, Glasgow sported a 9-2-1 record.

And in regular season play, they had allowed only 26 points in 11 contests. Last Tuesday in a playoff game with Warren East to decide the District championship, the Scotties won 21-8. But the touchdown by Warren East broke a string of seven consecutive shutout contests by Glasgow's defense.

So 28 points in one game by Murray High makes it all sound as if the Glasgow defense had been over-rated all season.

It wasn't though.

The Scotties displayed one of the quickest and hardest hitting defenses ever ran into by a Murray High team. But they weren't good enough.

Murray High had only 122 yards on the ground and just 38 in the air behind the arm of senior quarterback Wes Furgerson. On the other hand, Glasgow had only 92 on the ground and 16 in the air on four of 15 passing.

Defense Scores

So how then did Murray High manage to score 28 points? Defense.

The Tigers simply were in the right place at the right time and managed to come up with three fumble recoveries and one blocked punt, all of which led to touchdowns.

Outside of those four breaks, Murray High got nowhere. In fact, on sustained drives, the deepest penetration by the Tigers ended on the Glasgow 32.

The first touchdown came early in the contest and was set up by a steal by Tiger linebacker Tony Boone.

Boone simply reached in and grabbed the ball away from a Glasgow back, the ball wound up on the ground and the Tigers' Brad Barnett pounced on it at the Scottie 10-yard line.

Three plays later, Doug Shelton went off the right side of the line, getting blocks from tackle Steve Porter, guard Tony Boone and end Eli Alexander.

The hole was big enough to drive a truck through as the size of the Tiger offensive line blew the Glasgow defense back.

Tim Lane connected on the PAT, his first of four on the night, and the Tigers led 7-0.

And at halftime, that was the score as the two teams marched back and forth between the two 40-yard lines.

And with a steady rain falling, it appeared one touchdown might be enough to win it.

At the outset of the second half, Glasgow drove the ball almost at will, down to the 30. Then the 10-yard loss cost the Scotties the ball and Glasgow had only nine yards on the ground the rest of the game.

Breaks Come

With only a couple of minutes left in the third period, with the rain still falling and the crowd of some 3,000 still shivering, Steve Porter fell on a fumble at the Glasgow 20 and the Tigers took over.

Five plays later, Furgerson connected on a nine-yard pass and Murray had a 14-0 lead with 58 seconds left in the third period.

Less than a minute into the final period, Glasgow was ready to punt the ball away to the Tigers from their own 19. But Tony Boone leaped across the line and got a hand on the ball, which went hurdling back into the endzone.

Eli Alexander pounced on the loose ball in the endzone, had it bounce loose from his hands, but Steve Porter was right there along side and he fell on the ball.

Lane's PAT boosted the score to 21-0.

The final score was added with 10:16 left in the game when Ken Grogan carried over the right side for 19 yards. The Tigers got the ball when Boone recovered a fumble on a Glasgow punt.

Murray High did not have a single mistake. Meanwhile, Glasgow lost three fumbles and had two passes intercepted.

And as a credit to the Tiger defense, tailback Aldwin Wood of Glasgow was held to just 73 yards, far below his average for the season.

Boone led in tackles with 11 while Porter and Thurmond each had seven and Craig Suiter, Andy Ryan and Doug Shelton all had six apiece.

Robbie Hibbard and Lindsey Hudspeth each intercepted a pass.

The win leaves the Tigers with a 9-2 record for the season while Glasgow closes the year with a 9-3-1 slate.

Murray High will host defending state Class A champion Paris this Friday at 7:30 p. m. in Holland Stadium. The winner will advance to the state championship contest the following week.

Van Bredda Kolff Favored To Get Job As New Jazz Coach

By The Associated Press
Speculation centered today on veteran pro basketball coach Bill van Bredda Kolff as the replacement for Scotty Robertson, fired Sunday as coach of the New Orleans Jazz.

Van Bredda Kolff was to be in New Orleans today, apparently to be named to direct the National Basketball Association expansion club, the New Orleans Times-Picayune reported.

A formal announcement was expected at noon.

Elgin Baylor, a former NBA All-Star and assistant to Robertson, was named interim coach and was on the bench Sunday night as the Jazz fell to the Detroit Pistons, 99-85.

He and another assistant, Sam Jones, were among names considered for the coaching job.

The Times-Picayune reported that van Bredda Kolff and Tom Nissalke had been interviewed for the spot.

Van Bredda Kolff has coached the Los Angeles Lakers, Phoenix Suns, Detroit Pistons and Memphis Tams. Nissalke has coached Tulane University and the Seattle SuperSonics and is now with San Antonio of the American Basketball Association.

"It was just one of those things," Robertson said. "The people in charge felt they had to do something."

The Jazz have won only one of the 15 games of their initial season. The worst whipping of the year, 130-104, came Saturday night at the hands of Atlanta.

Center Pete Maravich led the Jazz with 24 points Sunday night, but it wasn't enough to overcome a second-half slouch.

Detroit capitalized on a third quarter surge of 30 points to break open what had been a tight game.

Center Bob Lanier picked up eight points in the third quarter and had 26 for the night to lead Detroit.

Derrek Dickey's jump shot with eight seconds remaining gave the Warriors the victory over Phoenix. Rick Barry topped Golden State with 36 points, while Charlie Scott led Phoenix with 32.

The Warriors now lead the Pacific Division with a 12-4 record.

Forwards John Block and Chet Walker combined for 17 points in the first quarter as the Bulls opened a 19-point lead and coasted to victory over the cold-shooting Lakers.

Walker finished with 23 points and Block had 21 for the Bulls, while Gail Goodrich had 21 for the Lakers.

Racers Go To 8-2 For Year By Shutting Out Eastern Illinois

By STEVE W. GIVENS

Ledger & Times Sports Writer
Riding the toe of Steve Martin and the first half wizardry of quarterback Tom Pandolfi, homestanding Murray State rolled over Eastern Illinois 13-0 last Saturday for the Racers' first shutout of the season.

The smallest crowd (4,000) ever to see a game in two-year-old Roy Stewart Stadium braved 49-degree temperature and a chilling wind as the Racers prepared for their season-ending clash with arch-rival Western Kentucky next week.

Going into the Hilltopper game, Coach Bill Furgerson will carry his best seasonal record in 23 years, an 8-2-0 slate, in hopes of grabbing a share of the Ohio Valley Conference crown. Both WKU and Eastern Kentucky are tied with 5-1-0 marks while MSU is third with a 4-2-0 standing and a Racer win coupled with a Morehead State upset of the Colonels on the same afternoon would give Murray part of the league title.

Senior tailback Don Clayton carried MSU to its first scoring position on a 40 yard gallop around left end with some six minutes left in the first period after the two teams had exchanged the ball twice. He moved from the MSU 31 to the Eastern 29 and two plays later, Martin found the range on a 40 yard field goal to push the Racers ahead 3-0.

But the action immediately prior to the score was the most controversial of the afternoon.

Pandolfi dropped back on his own 23 on third down and four and hit sophomore tight end Tim Kempfe in the end zone for an apparent score. Although the MSU conversion-kicking team was halfway on the field, an official near the play ruled the throw incomplete as Kempfe was hit immediately after having made the catch which resulted in the football being jarred loose in the end zone.

It was the only incomplection with which Pandolfi would be credited during the first half as the senior signal caller moved the Racers' 60 yards in 12 plays on the opening drive of the second period.

He connected with wide receiver Garry Brumm on a 13 yarder, hit tight end Marty Strouse twice for 11 and 10 yards, and caught fullback B. F. Behrendt for four to give the Racers four consecutive first downs.

Mixing his aeriels with handoffs to Clayton, who gathered 59 yards on nine first half attempts, Pandolfi had MSU on the one before keeping the ball on a first and goal situation to score the game's only touchdown with 9:58 to go and putting the Racers on top 10-0.

Neither team seriously threatened again, although the Panthers had an attempted 41 yard field goal blocked by standout MSU defensive player, Don Hettich, seconds before the half ended. The third-leading Racer tackler going into the contest, Hettich kept his chances solid for All-OVC defensive honors with his performance.

A punting duel developed in the third quarter between MSU's Martin and the Panther's Dave Hoover, as both players had the chance to show their skills with the teams exchanging the ball four times.

Eastern Illinois had their deepest drive of the game sored by a fumble on the MSU 33 yard line after having moved from their own 10. Quarterback Steve Hagenbruch had moved the visitors 51 yards in 13 plays, but a mishandled ball by running back Tom Meeks on a fourth and one situation killed the series.

Taking over on downs, MSU was unable to use the field position, but got the ball back four plays later. The Panthers, however, responded with a solid defensive stand on their own 36 and then blocked Martin's attempted 52 yard field goal on a fourth down play when deep tackle John Thomas got a hand on the ball.

Then Murray had another scoring opportunity raked away when deep back Rich Dahl stole a Pandolfi pass in the end zone intended for wide receiver Willie DeLoach who earlier had made a great 23 yard catch.

Keeping the ball for two plays, the Panthers saw their last hopes fade when junior deep back Charles Reeves made a sensational grab of a EI pass ... one Panther tipped the ball, and another got a hand on it before Reeves hauled it down in mid-air and returned six yards before being downed.

Sticking on the ground, Murray ran through eight plays for 37 yards to move to their next score. Clayton was the workhorse in the series, as the big tailback personally accounted for 30 of the markers despite double coverage. Martin's 39 yard kick on a fourth down play with just 1:14 left in the action was the last scoring by either team.

Murray State dominated the final statistics for the first time in several games as the Racers rolled to 214 total offensive

OVC Roundup

It may be the biggest turnaround since the hula hoop.

That's the kind of football season it's been for East Tennessee State University, which has won three straight Ohio Valley Conference games. Just a few weeks ago, East Tennessee was 0-5.

The Bucs beat Middle Tennessee 17-7 Saturday to lift their OVC record to 3-3 and their overall mark to 4-6. They've won four of their last five.

In the only other OVC game Saturday, Tennessee Tech blitzed Austin Peay 28-7. In non-conference games, Western Carolina ripped Western Kentucky 20-2, Eastern Kentucky decked Ashland 34-23, Murray buried Eastern Illinois 13-0 and Morehead smashed Wisconsin LaCrosse 30-15.

The conference title will be decided this Saturday when Western Kentucky visits Murray and Eastern Kentucky hosts Morehead. Western Kentucky and Eastern Kentucky are both 5-1 in league play and Murray is 4-2.

Everett Talbert ran for 121 yards and two touchdowns as Eastern Kentucky raised its record to 7-2.

yards to the Panthers' 154 and recorded 12 first downs to the visitors' 11.

Clayton was by far the leading individual rusher with his 153 yards in 29 attempts. He was followed by EI's Mark Stettner who fought his way for 61 yards on 13 carries.

Behrendt was the runner-up MSU rusher with eight carries and 14 yards, while Hagenbruch recorded 28 yards on 10 trips for the visitors.

Pandolfi finished with five completions on nine attempts and one interception for 61 passing yards after hitting on four of five first half throws. Eastern Illinois completed two of six passes for a minus one passing yardage and suffered one interception.

Martin took kicking honors for the contest, averaging 45 yards per kick on five boots for 225 yards, while Hoover had a 30.7 figure after seven kicks for 215 yards.

The Racers raised their overall record to 8-2-0 heading into the Western Kentucky clash while EI fell to 3-6-1 in their final contest of the season.

Racer Golf Team Wins Centenary Tourney Title

The Murray State golf team closed one of its most successful fall golf seasons ever this past weekend by winning the Centenary Fall Golf Classic in Shreveport, La.

Seven strokes down after the first 27 holes of play last Thursday, the Racers came back with a sizzling round Friday and took the team championship by nine strokes.

Murray finished with 942 while Houston Baptist was second with 951 and Southwestern Louisiana third with 952.

Other team scores found the University of New Orleans with 973, St. Thomas 986, McNeese 989, Centenary 1003, Southeastern Louisiana 1014 and Louisiana Tech no team score.

John Davis of Southwestern Louisiana took the individual title with a 226 while John Polison of Houston Baptist was second, one stroke off the pace.

In third place was Jack Enloe of Centenary with a 232 while two Murray State golfers, Bruce Douglass and Kevin Klier, tied for fourth with 233's.

Gary Anders and Mike Perpich, both of the Racers, fired 238's and tied for eighth while the Racers' scoring was rounded out by Kevin Arnold who posted a 243.

In five tournaments this fall, the Racers of Coach Buddy Hewitt either won the team title or the individual championship four times.

'Cats Need Win Over Vols To Get Bowl Bid

By BOB COOPER

AP Sports Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — In one of the oldest football rivalries in the nation, Kentucky meets Tennessee Saturday for the 70th time and perhaps the most important—with a Liberty Bowl bid going to the winner.

Kentucky Coach Fran Curci, however, thinks the prize of a bowl bid really doesn't make any difference.

"You can forget a bowl game and you can forget the records because this is a traditional rivalry that goes back to 1893," Curci said.

"In one like this, you don't think about bowl games—you just think about beating Tennessee. We're real lucky to have a rivalry like this and I know they're thinking the same way on their side," he said.

From Kentucky's standpoint, indeed, the rivalry is an odd one. In the years when the famed Bear Bryant took the Wildcats to four bowl games he was 0-4 against Tennessee.

Incidentally, Kentucky hasn't been in post-season play since that last time—the Cotton Bowl of 1952 when only two of the current Wildcat players had even been born.

The resurgence of Kentucky power was given a shot in the arm Saturday when the Wildcats swept past ninth-ranked Florida 41-24 with two touchdowns and a field goal in the fourth period.

It reminded some Kentucky fans of a promise made long ago.

Coach John Ray came to Kentucky in 1969 promising a Southeastern Conference championship, a national ranking and contention for a bowl bid. Those promises weren't fulfilled.

Fran Curci arrived just last year promising nothing. In his second year, he has no chance for the SEC championship, but two out of three ain't bad.

Kentucky most likely will be ranked in the top 20 this week.

Were Kentucky to defeat Tennessee and be offered the Liberty Bowl bid, Curci said the formality of a team meeting would be held to vote on whether to accept it. "We'll do that, but I'm sure they'd accept," he said.

Pinned down to a single play that spelled victory over Florida, Curci had to pick the block of a punt by freshman Art Still with less than two minutes gone in the second half.

It was revealed later that Still mentioned during the half-time dressing room talks that he could get to the kicker if someone diverted the lone blocker that Florida kept in its backfield.

It worked just like that, and Kentucky, with sophomore Kevin Acheson lugging the ball to the one-yard line, went in front 21-17 with 13 minutes left in the third period.

Florida made another gasp when freshman Tony Green ripped off a 72 yard touchdown gallop slightly over three minutes later for a 24-21 Gator bulge, but Kentucky's John Pierce tied the game with a school record 52-yard field goal with 5:24 left in the third quarter.

The fourth period was all Kentucky's.

Steve Campassi scored with less than a minute played. Tom Dornbrook blocked a punt on the next series and Pierce added a 37-yard field goal to make it 34-24 with 8:38 left in the game.

After a Kentucky fumble, freshman Jim Kovach intercepted a Florida pass and returned it 30 yards to the Gator 23. It took Kentucky just five plays to punch in the final

MOVIES

By Sam Smith
Up to now I have been more of a promoter than a critic but finally I found a movie I didn't like.

"Reason to Live, Reason to Die" stems from the old deathrow - convicts-spurred-if-they-live-through-the-night plot. In this version James Coburn leads seven convicted men into battle to retake a fort he had surrendered earlier to the Confederate soldiers.

Rebel commander who forces the surrender by threatening to hang Coburn's son. After the surrender what did he do? As a man of his honor he couldn't hang the boy... so he shot him. It also struck a funny note to me that any movie could portray the Confederates as so dumb. I was accompanied by a friend of mine and all he could say was, "You've got to be kidding."

As the story progresses, these seven men capture a fort with over 1,000 soldiers in it and kill or run them all off. Come on now. The real funny part of the flick came when one of the Yankee soldiers was firing a Gatling Gun at a line of Rebels advancing up a flight of stairs. They were all falling dead as they appeared. Then the gun stopped firing and all of sudden another soldier appeared and fell dead, with out a shot being fired. In my opinion it was a triple ricochet off the wall, the watch tower and the director's head.

On the better side of this weeks movies is "That's Entertainment." Frank Sinatra begins the commentary on Metro-Goldwin Meier's musicals with cuts of Jimmy Durante, Fred Astaire, Jane Powell, and others.

The mike is then passed to Liz Taylor who tells of growing up on the MGM lot and continues the good times film cuts with Lena Horn, a Sinatra-Gene Kelly duo, and June Allyson and Peter Lawford in "Good News."

As the mike passes on to Peter Lawford and then on into the hands of such greats as Jimmy Stewart, Mickey Rooney, and others, the viewer is treated to the greatest musical highlights of the past 40 years of filmed musicals.

They don't miss a lick as you see Judy Garland grow from a young girl in two reels to a big star by way of the Yellow Brick Road and The Wizard of Oz.

Ann Miller will dance into your heart, Ester Williams will awe you with her swimming talents and Fred Astaire will do everything from dance with a hatrack to dance on the ceiling. Although this movie may not mean as much to the younger set as it will to the older, I recommend it to everyone who ever saw and loved an MGM musical, even on the late-late show.

Back over to Central Cinemas we find another week of "Le Sex Shop." I must admit that this movie is a good X rated show. It is actually a very mild type of sex show with none of the lurid, lusty scenes the X's are known for.

It truly is a good excuse to see an X rated movie as the ads say and this is confirmed by the crowds which convinced Central to hold this flick over.

New fuel will help keep U.S. warm

This year nearly 22 million fireplaces will be used in the United States, some as alternative heating devices, others just for atmosphere and comfort.

A relatively new fuel, wax wood logs — made from industrial waste products, sawdust and paraffin — will account for nearly 25 per cent of the fuel burned in those fireplaces, according to estimates.

Prosecution Opens Final Week Of Case In Watergate Cover-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prosecution opens the final week of its case in the Watergate cover-up trial with plans for the jurors to view a 10-minute video tape of the Senate Watergate Committee hearings.

The jury will hear testimony today from Paul O'Brien, an attorney who was asked to help defend the Nixon re-election committee against a $1 million civil suit filed by the Democratic National Committee shortly after the June 17, 1972 break-in at DNC headquarters.

O'Brien was named an unindicted co-conspirator in the alleged cover-up by the grand jury that indicted the defendants now on trial.

Several witnesses have testified that O'Brien took part in a series of meetings described by prosecutors as a part of the cover-up. Defense sources have said that O'Brien cooperated with the Watergate prosecutors in the early days of the investigation of the cover-up.

When O'Brien's testimony is completed, the prosecutors will play for the jury a video tape of defendant H.R. Haldeman testifying before the Senate Watergate Committee in the summer of 1973. Prosecutors apparently hope to show variations between what Haldeman said then and what evidence at the trial purports to show.

standby orders in other parts of the country.

The threat of demonstrations and the uncertain political future of Prime Minister Tanaka, who is accused of using his official position to profit financially, caused some questioning of the value of Ford's trip. But at a sendoff ceremony on the White House lawn, the President said he was making his "first trip overseas as President with full confidence that this timely undertaking is in the highest national interest of the United States."

"I am deeply conscious of the need to continue the quest for peace," Ford said. "I would rather travel thousands of miles for peace than take a single step toward war."

Congress Returns To Work On Pile Of Unfinished Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is returning to business with many lame ducks among its ranks, a pile of unfinished business and more trials of strength with the executive branch.

Both houses convene today, and will shortly be taking a recess for Thanksgiving.

Six veto messages from President Ford await the House. The Democratic leadership plans to attempt congressional overrides on at least the vetoes of amendments to the Freedom of Information Act and of a bill broadening the vocational rehabilitation program.

The override votes tentatively have been set for Wednesday.

The Senate Rules Committee, which did not meet its goal of completing hearings on the Rockefeller nomination last week, resumes its sessions today. The House Judiciary Committee begins its hearings on Rockefeller on Thursday.

Leaders of both chambers say they expect to dispose of the nomination before adjourning some time in late December.

The House Ways and Means Committee, which has been wrestling with tax revision during most of the present Congress' two-year life, goes to work on a slimmed-down package of changes. Committee members are skeptical about how many tax-law amendments can be pushed through to final enactment before all pending legislation dies with this session of Congress.

The package is expected to include higher taxes on oil companies, some relief for low-income persons and perhaps inducements for saving in institutions that finance mortgages.

The Senate takes up a high priority measure — an $8.6 billion catch-all appropriation bill to finance educational and other programs for the re-
