Figures Signal Deeper Slump Ahead For Home Construction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government figures have signaled a deeper slump ahead for the home building industry, and auto and steelmakers warn of production cutbacks that will trigger more unemployment.

The Commerce Department reported Monday that the number of new houses started by builders dropped for the fourth consecutive month during October to a total of 1.124 million units at an annual rate. The rate was off by seven-tenths of 1 per cent from September and marked the latest in what has been a steady home building decline from 1972.

At the same time, the number of building permits issued during the month totaled the equivalent of 802,000 units, the lowest since December, 1966, when 743,000 permits were handed out. Permit issuances usually anticipate new starts by from three to six months, indicating a further deterioration in the home building industry. Meanwhile, plans for "substantial plant closing" in December were announced by the Chrysler Corp. Its chairman, Lynn Townsend, blamed the cutback on poor car sales, but said there will be no "company-wide shutdown."

Townsend said there would be many additional layoffs in the coming two months as Chrysler trims 50,000 cars from its fourth-quarter production schedule. Some 26,600 Chrysler workers were on layoffs this week from a blue-collar workforce of about 100,000.

In the steel industry, the nation's two largest producers announced steps to cut production in anticipation of the coal miners' strike lasting at least three weeks.

U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest steelmaker, said it would start shutting down entire plants if miners do not return to work by Dec. 1. It reduced raw steel production by 25 per cent last week and curtailed hot metal production by 30 per cent, banking 17 blast furnaces and furloughing 13,700 workers.

The United Mine Workers bargaining council resumes talks on a proposed contract today, but there were indications that negotiations between the union and industry may be reopened because of reported dissatisfaction among union officials over the tentative settlement.

Bethlehem Steel Corp., the No. 2 producer, said it is banking four coke batteries at its Sparrows Point, Md., plant and is laying off 175 of its 22,000 workers there.

In another economic development, the Federal Reserve Board confirmed it began easing restraints on the nation's money supply in August. A report showed that the Fed then targeted money supply growth at from 4.75 per cent to 6.75 per cent. The figure represented an increase from the previous month's target growth of from 2 to 6 per cent.

Murray State Already In Compliance With Law

An interpretation of federal legislation giving college and university students access to their records indicates that Murray State University is already in substantial compliance with the intent of the law.

Dr. Constantine W. Curris, university president, said the law, to become effective Tuesday, Nov. 19, apparently applies only to records intended for school use that would normally be transferred to another institution or to parties outside the school.

He said that interpretation is based on a telephone conversation between university officials and a legislative aide to Sen. James Buckley (R-N.Y.), who introduced the amendment to the General Education Provisions Act enacted by the 93rd Congress Aug. 21.

According to the explanation offered by the Buckley assistant, John Kwapisz, who was involved in the development of the amendment, Curris said university officials believe the only records involved are those kept in the Office of Admissions and Registrar of students currently enrolled.

Entitled "Protection of the Rights of Privacy of Parents and Children" (Section 438), the amendment also gives parents

Little Progress On Ratification Of Coal Agreement Reported Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller may have to reopen negotiations with coal industry representatives before he can sell a proposed new contract to his striking union.

Little progress was reported Monday in the UMW's efforts to achieve ratification of the tentative agreement reached last week. A union source said Miller might have to return to the bargaining table with the coal industry to win some modifications in the proposal before it can receive approval of the union's bargaining council.

Industry spokesmen have indicated that such bargaining would only be to consider a possible redistribution of benefits, not a fattening of the overall contract.

Meanwhile, the strike by the 120,000 UMW members, affecting mines producing 70 per cent of the nation's soft coal, entered its second week today.

Discussion of the proposed three-year contract by the bargaining council was scheduled to resume today after a three-day recess because of the apparently unrelated slaying last Friday of a UMW official.

The bargaining council must approve the contract proposal before it can be submitted to the union members. But union officials indicated there is serious disagreement among the council over some sections.

It seemed virtually certain the strike would extend another two weeks, since UMW officials say it will take another eight to 10 days to get the contract ratified once it is approved by the bargaining council.

The strike already has idled more than 15,000 workers in the railroad and steel industries. And government economists claim it lasts as long as four weeks, it will cause major disruptions to the nation's economy, resulting in as many as 400,000 layoffs.

President Ford Meets With Japanese Emperor Hirohito

TOKYO (AP) — President Ford began the first American presidential visit to Japan today by meeting with Emperor Hirohito and assuring Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka that Japan can count on "a stable supply of agricultural imports from the United States."

Ford invited the emperor to visit the United States next year, renewing an invitation first extended three years ago, and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told a news conference the invitation was accepted.

Ford's talk with Tanaka and other high-ranking Japanese officials also dealt with the locally touchy question of nuclear weapons aboard U.S. Navy ships visiting Japanese ports, the global oil situation and U.S. relations with China and the Soviet Union.

Kissinger said Ford expressed his desire to maintain a steady flow of U.S. agricultural shipments to Japan. The flow was disturbed last year when President Nixon temporarily imposed an embargo on soybean exports, a major source of protein in the Japanese diet.

The secretary of state said the President also "expressed his understanding for the special sensitivities" of the Japanese about nuclear weapons.

Nuclear weapons are barred from Japanese territory, and Tanaka's government was acutely embarrassed when a retired American admiral told a U.S. congressional committee earlier this year that American navy ships visiting foreign ports did not unload their nuclear weapons.

Kissinger said any special questions arising in the nuclear area would be handled by him and Foreign Minister Toshio Kimura.

Ford also gave Tanaka and his colleagues a preview of his meeting in Vladivostok next weekend with Soviet leader Leonid E. Brezhnev. Kissinger, who will go to Peking from Vladivostok, said he would stop in Tokyo next week to tell the Japanese leaders about the meeting with Brezhnev and his talks with the Chinese.

The meeting between Ford and the emperor — to the strains of the University of Michigan fight song — was the first between a Japanese ruler and an American president on Japanese soil. Though entirely symbolic, Kissinger said it was the part of Ford's visit that "has meaning to the Japanese people," an indication that it was considered the most significant part of the visit.

Ford, looking uncomfortable in cutaway and striped trousers that were a bit too short for him, received the emperor at the Akasaka state guest palace where the President is staying.

Social Work Grant Renewal Authorized

A grant renewal totaling $126,637 has been authorized as continuation support for 1974-75 for the four-year-old social work program at Murray State University.

Awarded through the Kentucky Department of Human Resources, the grant consists of 75 percent federal money and 25 percent university money. Federal funds were made available by the Division of Social and Rehabilitative Services of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Wallace Baggett, director of the social work program in the Department of Professional Studies of the College of Human Development and Learning at Murray State, gave the breakdown of the grant as $94,978 in federal funds and $31,659 in university funds.

It will provide support for undergraduate social work education and training to prepare students for entry level positions in social services and graduate training in social work.

Baggett called it a "unique feature" of the grant that $40,000 is earmarked for traineeships during the current academic year to assist economically disadvantaged students in meeting educational costs.

He said 50 stipends of $800 per semester will be awarded to qualifying junior and senior social work majors who have committed themselves to social work as a career for at least two years following graduation.

"Money for traineeships is a particularly significant feature of the grant," he explained, "because many very capable and dedicated students might not be financially able to continue in the program without it."

Murray State's social work program offers a major

MSU Touring Production To Visit State Penitentiaries

Inmates at the Kentucky State Penitentiary at Eddyville and students in 12 area high schools will make up the audiences during the next week for a student-produced touring production from Murray State University.

A company of six students took to the road today to present 13 performances of "Box and Cox," a middle-19th century farce by John Maddison Morgan, before winding up the tour with a final show on the campus on Monday evening, Nov. 25.

Although the fourth year that drama students have played in high schools in the area, the show marks the first time the company has gone behind the walls of the penitentiary to entertain. The touring company played to more than 20,000 students in the previous three years.

Grey Hurt, a Paducah senior, heads the company as the director. Others include a three-member cast — Wayne Britton, Mansfield, Ohio, junior; Mike Crisp, Huntsville, Ala., freshman; and Beth White, Louisville freshman — and Alan Martin, Radcliff senior, stage manager; and Jackie Smith, Petersburg, Ill., sophomore, properties mistress.

Along with a performance at the penitentiary on Tuesday, the schedule in the high schools during the week includes: Monday — Heath and Fancy Farm; Tuesday — Trigg County; Wednesday — Earlinton, West Hopkins and Providence; Thursday — McKenzie, Tenn., and Milan, Tenn.; Friday — South Fulton, Tenn., and Greenfield, Tenn.; and Monday (Nov. 25) — Union County and Crittenden County.

Two vehicles and a trailer are being used to transport the set, costumes, and properties, along with members of the company. Accompanying the students as faculty advisers are Robert E. Johnson, chairman of theatre arts and James I. Schenck, assistant professor.

Two students involved in putting the show together who are not in the touring company are Mike Stallings, Owensboro junior, who did the costuming, and Rick Stephens, Clarksville, Tenn., sophomore, who designed and helped build the set.

"Box and Cox" centers on the complications that arise when a landlady named Mrs. Bouncer schemes to get double money by renting the same room to two tenants, although Box and Cox are not aware of the arrangements because one stays there by day and the other by night.

Curtain time for the tour finale in the University Theatre of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center on the campus Monday, Nov. 25, will be 8 p.m. Admission for that performance will be 50 cents per person or by University Theatre season ticket.

School means plenty of clothes and money to pay for them. When you shop or sew for the school children in your family, select garments that will withstand hard wear, are washable and are made of no-iron fabrics to make it easy on Mom. You can save a bundle of cash if you sew yourself. Everyone knows about the sky rocketing prices of clothes and how fast kids wear them out. Home sewing not only gets you out of the price squeeze; it gives children clothes they really want. There is no time in a child's life when clothing is more important to him than during his school career. The pattern companies have done a wonderful job of designing patterns that are attractive and easy for you to sew. You will find it easy to switch pants, skirts and shirt patterns in different fabrics to stretch the wardrobe. You will find fabrics designed for team-up for mix-match outfits like you find in the ready-to-wear, and with the fusible adhesives on the market, you can trim the garments in seconds. — Mrs. Catherine C. Thompson, Hickman.

Take care of your shoes and save money! (1) Never wait until a shoe is run down to have it repaired. (2) On suede, remove spots instantly. (3) Rotate shoes: never wear a pair of shoes two days in a row. It takes 24 hours for perspiration to dry out. (4) Use shoe trees; put in shoes the minute you take them off. (5) If shoes are wet when you remove them, put in shoe trees and let shoes rest on their sides. Let dry naturally; never place on or near heat source. — Mrs. Roper, Courthouse, Mayfield.

GUIDELINES FOR BUYING SECONDHAND FURNITURE
Check for sturdiness...Test it. For chair, sit in it, rock in it and make sure legs don't wobble or tip. For a table, press it firmly with both hands to make sure it is balanced and sturdy enough for your purpose. Ask to see and inspect leaves. Open and close doors, check hinges and hardware for strength. Does the door fit? Does it have an even swing? Check for warpage. If buying an article at an auction, inspect it before bidding begins so you know if you're bidding on solid wood or veneer. Check for basic good lines. An ugly piece of furniture can appear different when refinished or with ugly hardware removed. Look inside, underneath, pull drawers and inspect wood for signs of good carpentry. ## Flowers Workshop Held By Garden Department

By Billie Hall

The regular meeting of the Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club was held at the club house on Thursday, November 7. The activities began with a workshop on dried flower arranging in the morning, a sack lunch a noontime, and the business meeting in the afternoon.

The ladies who attended the workshop brought with them a wide assortment of dried material which had been collected during the summer. Weeds are a nuisance to most people but to these ladies they are wild flowers and the assortment was unbelievable. From flower gardens, vegetable gardens, roadsides and woodlands, material had been collected and preserved for this day.

A sheath of regrass, a stalk of "rabbit tobacco", pods of okra, cattails, ragweed and all the rest; they were painstakingly added according to the initiative of the designer. There was swapping of material and a running dialogue on the various materials, where they were located and how they had been preserved.

On hand to help the novices were Mrs. Lenev Yates, Mrs. J.

W. Young and Mrs. Harold Douglas. Each of them moved from table to table offering suggestions and explaining why a certain material should be added at a precise point.

The finished arrangements were as varied and unique as the ladies who produced them for a special place in their homes.

Mrs. Leonard Vaughn, Department Chairman, presided at the business meeting and held a short memorial service for Mrs. Carney Hendon, a longtime member of the Department who died in late October.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Fred Morton. Much of the meeting was devoted to discussion of the program for the next meeting which has been moved up to Monday, November 25, at 1:30 p. m. when Bob Thomas will give a demonstration on flower arranging and Christmas decorations. The meeting is open to public and tickets are $1.50 each.

For tickets call Mrs. Dick Sykes 753-3002 or Mrs. J. B. Wilson 753-1889. Mr. Thomas will bring with him Christmas decorations which will be on display and will be for sale.

Mayor McNutt has served as a Keynote Speaker at numerous and various clubs and organizations' dinners and meetings. Her services to her community are too many to mention here, but she is a great lady and we are deeply honored that she has accepted our invitation to speak to our club and help us to celebrate our birthday for 1974, said Mrs. Madelle Talent, club president.

On November 10, members of the Murray B & PW Club-Opal Roberts, Ruby Poole, Helen Basel, and Madelle Talent attended a tea at the Immanuel Baptist Church, given by the Paducah B & PW Club honoring Doris Yeiser, who is first Vice-President in the Kentucky Federation of the Business and Professional Women.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Some misleading influences. Watch out for any attempt to break or default on contracts, other agreements.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) Some disturbance in career matters could cause you to be unnecessarily abrupt with loved ones. Don't let this happen or you will regret it later.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) If you maneuver skillfully enough, you can gain some advantageous fringe benefits in a business negotiation.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) Accent is now on travel. A trip taken in connection with a legal issue could have an especially fortunate outcome.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) Some unpredictable associates need watching now. One or the other could try to "muscle in" on one of your pet solo ventures.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) One of those days when a snap decision could turn out surprisingly well. You ordinarily deliberate carefully in all situations, but right now a hunch will pay off.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Introduce a new note—perhaps a new approach—to give more spark to day's doings. Output will substantially improve.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Go after the big gains but do not expect to have things your way all along the line. Be prepared for some opposition and you can meet it more easily.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) A tabulation of "musts" may uncover a weak program—one that should be pepped up to show your abilities to better advantage.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Not much planetary help here. How the day turns out will be largely up to yourself. Use your wits to project the effective and eliminate the mediocre.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Look well into proposed suggestions or you may find yourself involved where you least desire it. Some definite "no" answers will be required.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Avoid tendencies toward restlessness and unruliness. Note warning signals. Many errors and misguided moves can thus be averted. Shun extremes.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with both mental alertness and manual dexterity. You have a flair for gracious living and have real know-how when it comes to dealing with people, separately or collectively. You are often called lucky, but your "luck" results from your keen observations, the ability to separate the wheat from the chaff and an instinct for grasping advantages at just the right time. You are extremely versatile and many fields are open to your talents; most notably, however, the worlds of law and statesmanship, science, music, literature and the theater. Try to curb tendencies to go to extremes. Birthdate of: Thomas Chatterton, Eng. poet; Josiah Royce, Amer. educator, philosopher; Robert F. Whipped butter cannot be substituted for butter, as it is called for in recipes for cakes and cookies. That's because air has been incorporated into butter and there is actually less butter in the product than that's whipped.

A deluge of data on "dats"

By Abigail Van Buren
 © 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Your correspondent was not crazy. There was an article in the newspaper stating that a dog and cat had been mated, and the result was a "dat."

In 1970, a London pet shop owner, Roy Tutt, claimed that he had accomplished that which zoologists declared was impossible. He bred "dats" from a black cat and a Scottish terrier. Tutt said they had heads like dogs, but they had fur, whiskers and claws like cats. And he even sent along some "pictures" of the newborn "dats."

Later he was forced to admit that it was all a hoax. I am a proofreader at the Daily News in Port Angeles, Washington, and am herewith enclosing the article and picture.

DONNA GREIER

DEAR DONNA: Thanks. Your letter was the first I received to document the item. Subsequently, however, it rained cats, dogs and "dats."

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to a professional gambler for 14 years. We used to live in Nevada where gambling was legal, then we moved to a state where gambling is illegal.

My husband operates a respectable cocktail lounge—but he makes his big money running a high-stakes poker game in the back.

Last week the police raided his place. The whole story was in the newspapers, and he showed up on television looking like a common criminal with his jacket in front of his face.

The next day he was back in the gambling business. (He said there had been a "mix-up in the payoff.")

Our two daughters (11 and 12) came home from school crying. They said the kids made fun of them because their father had been arrested. Now they don't want to face their friends at school.

I begged my husband to cut out the gambling business for our daughters' sake. He reminded me that the girls and I had enjoyed lots of luxuries because of his gambling business so we shouldn't complain.

I'd rather have less, and have my husband in a legitimate business. How can I get through to him?

HAD IT IN HOUSTON

DEAR HAD IT: Your husband has a point as far as you're concerned. It's something else with the daughters. You could have settled for less long ago. The girls had no choice. For their sake you should use every means at your disposal to persuade your husband to pocket his deck and go straight.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to the mother who is still nagging her tall 36-year-old daughter to "sit straight:" I think I know the problem. The world is made to accommodate 5'3" to 5'6" women.

That tall daughter should raise her sinks, stove and counter area enough to accommodate her height, and then watch her shoulders move back! It worked for my daughter, and it took only a hike of three inches to do it. I have a smart husband.

DEAR 5'9": A husband who can raise a sink, stove and counter area—and is willing to do it in order to accommodate the tall women in his home is indeed 9 feet tall himself.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Courtney, Benton Road, Mayfield, was the scene of a party given Thursday, November 7, to honor Miss Susan Enoch, bride-elect of Steven Courtney of Murray.

The forty invited guests were greeted at the door by the hostess, Mrs. Courtney, Miss Enoch, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Ed Alton, and the mother of the prospective groom, Mrs. Granville Courtney, of Murray.

Miss Enoch wore for the occasion, a floor-length dress of burgandy, designed with an embroidered yoke and puff sleeves. Her gift corsage was of dried flowers tied with burgundy and gold satin ribbons.

Guests were served in the dining room, where the tables were covered with a white cut work cloth, caught at the corners with yellow satin bows. Garlands of ivy were down the center of the table, which held a crystal bowl filled with yellow pompoms and greenery. Silver crystal candle holders held yellow candles.

The gift table was covered with a floor-length cloth of white edged with lace. Centering the table was a sugarplum tree. Fall flowers and greenery were used throughout the house.

Flavor change

Next time you prepare scalloped potatoes, vary the recipe by adding shredded Swiss cheese to your white sauce along with a hint of basil and some chopped green onions.

A Consumer Tip from Extension Specialists at the UK College of Agriculture

Check newspaper ads and store flyers for grocery specials and, when possible, take advantage of those that are real money-savers. But here's a tip to remember from Extension foods specialists at the University of Kentucky: store-hopping for advertised specials may save pennies, but unless the stores are close together, this can be costly in time and gasoline or bus fare. Make sure when you go from store to store for specials that you are not spending more than you're saving.

IN MEXICO
 Mr. and Mrs. Hardeman Nix have returned home after vacationing in Acapulco, Mexico. Mr. Nix is associated with Taylor Chevrolet Company, Murray.

Letter To The Editor

Beat Paris Week

Dear Editor:

This is a very important week for all sports fans in Murray. This weekend the Murray High Tigers are going for the victory so they can have a chance of being the State Class A football champs.

So let's all go to the game and show our team our support. These kids have worked hard and for many hours for their successful season.

What other school can say that they sent their basketball team to the state tournament with winning the district and regional, and having the cheerleaders take top honors at the University of Mississippi Camp, and having the band win many first places and being selected to represent the state of Kentucky in the Orange Bowl Parade and to some, the sweetest of all, to have a football team that has proved to be in the top four of the state.

Our own Murray High has done this in 1974. It is a great honor for this school and our town to be represented by these boys and girls. This is truly the year of the Tiger.

Let's declare this week as Beat Paris Week. Paris is the defending Class A Champ and a good Murray crowd at the game will show our team we care and support them all the way.

It was a thrilling game last Saturday and if you missed that one, please don't miss this one.

All the way, Tigers.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Bob Hibbard

Alkytalk

Behavioral scientists at the University of Michigan have run an experiment showing that people who belt down a couple of ounces of alcohol show improvement in their ability to pronounce unfamiliar foreign words.

Anyone who has been to a cocktail party could have told them that. Some guests show a progressive fluency in obscure dialects as the evening wears on.

They start using diphthongs and gutturals not found in the English language.

Before any students start smuggling a bottle of schnapps into their German class, they should read the Michigan report all the way to the end.

As the tongues of the tipping test subjects loosened up, their scores on an intelligence test went down.

So what does all this prove? That it's still a good idea to have the brain in gear before putting the mouth in motion.

State Government Report

Drug Use In Kentucky

By SENATOR CARROLL HUBBARD
MAYFIELD, Ky.—Several officials in Kentucky's Department of Corrections and in the Federal Bureau of Investigation continue to say that the increase in crime in America is due to the rise in drug use across the country.

Many Kentuckians believe that the drug problem exists in the big cities such as Chicago, Cleveland and Louisville but discount thoughts that the use of drugs could be a problem in small Kentucky towns.

Doug Perry, a staff writer for The Courier-Journal, reports last Sunday in a front page news article in The Courier-Journal and Times about drug use on the increase in small Kentucky towns. Part of his account is as follows:

"In Hopkinsville, a town of 22,000 surrounded by some of the richest tobacco and corn country in western Kentucky, a citizens group meets every Thursday evening to try to make some sense of the growing drug problem in Christian County.

"Essentially, the group's founder explained recently, the sessions are designed to foster understanding between parents and children as increasing numbers of local youths take to drugs.

"Some 35 miles up the Pennyroyal Parkway lies—Madisonville, a bit smaller than Hopkinsville. Attention there has focused sharply on the drug problem because of the September death of a 16-year-old schoolgirl and the upcoming trial of the three Hopkins teenagers arrested in her death. One is charged with murder and the other two with being accessories; two of the three are accused of trafficking in morphine. The arrests are one manifestation of a recent crackdown on drug abuse in Hopkins County by local and state police officers.

"Those are but two examples of a problem that is weighing ever heavier on the minds of parents, police, government officials, and grand juries in Kentucky. They have realized that drug abuse—long associated with America's urban ills—is no longer confined to the big cities and college campuses.

"Illegal use of drugs appears to be firmly entrenched in many small Kentucky towns, the experts say. And officials around the state report that drug arrests have risen sharply during the last several years, but not just in the cities. All our indicators are that it (the drug problem) is increasing in the rural areas," State Police Commissioner Ron L. Johnson said recently.

"According to figures supplied by his office in Frankfort, rural drug arrests by state police jumped from 712 persons in 1971 to 1,032 the following year, and 1,963 last year. (Arrests in these urbanized counties were excluded: Boyd, Boone, Campbell, Daviess, Fayette, Jefferson and Kenton.)

"So rural drug arrests accounted for some 40 per cent of the total—9,231—by state police during those three years.

"Arrests by state narcotics investigators from Jan. 1 through Sept. 30 of this year were up more than 200 per cent—from 178 to 586—over those of the same period last year. About 85 per cent of those were 'rural' arrests.

"In western Kentucky police and drug counselors report increased numbers of arrests and more severe offenses. Several officials noted increasing use of so-called 'hard drugs'—mainly heroin and morphine—in addition to use of barbiturates, amphetamines, and marijuana.

"The Madisonville Police Department

beefed up its investigation section in February and has been working 'hand in hand' with the county sheriff's office and the state police in rounding up drug offenders, according to Capt. Kenneth Day. Through October, 69 persons had been arrested in Madisonville on various charges, compared with 19 for the same period last year.

"Most of the arrests, according to Day and Sheriff Donald E. Carroll, are for selling drugs. Early in September, for example, officers confiscated $3,600 worth of heroin and charged nine persons with trafficking.

"Residents of Eddyville, a town of 2,000 near the northern tip of Lake Barkley, have organized a 'community care' project to combat the growing drug problem there, City Atty. Bill Cunningham said. 'We've got a real problem here compared to what you'd think,' he commented. Cunningham mentioned that most of the drugs used in Lyon County are 'pretty light stuff.'

"A surprising figure was reported by the police department in Murray, home of Murray State University and its approximately 7,300 students. The town had only 11 drug arrests in 1973 and has had only eight this year. Murray Police Chief Brent Manning suggested the figures do not indicate that the town's drug use is so much less than drug use in surrounding communities. Rather, he said, they show Murray's attempt to 'avert' dispensing criminal records to drug users by turning them over to parents and counselors instead.

"A spokesman at the Murray Comprehensive Care Center said drug offenders turned over to that organization in 1973 number nine, compared with 14 for this year. "Many of the juveniles convicted elsewhere of drug violations are turned over to one of 15 regional mental health-mental retardation boards in the state. They then are placed in the care of professional counselors who try to rehabilitate them.

"Christian County Police Chief Robert Cook, who says most of his drug arrests are of youths from middle- and upper-income families, blames the problem largely on the 'lax attitude of the whole country toward drugs.'

"Besides, he says, 'we've got a double standard. We say don't use drugs, but ... the adults and their legal booze. What are you going to do?'

"Mrs. Virginia Dandaneau of Hopkinsville answered that question by forming the group of concerned parents that meets each Thursday night. Mrs. Dandaneau says she is aware that drug use is already established among Hopkinsville-area youths, and she believes little would be gained by simply railing against it. So, rather than try to convince teenagers—including four of her own—not to use marijuana, Mrs. Dandaneau, 39, wants to warn them of the abuses of it. In addition, she wants to inform parents of the 'complex problems young people face' today.

"We're not crusading against drugs in any way. We feel this would negate our program. We're just trying to get both sides—parent and children—to respect each other's attitudes."

"Mrs. Dandaneau's group and numerous other citizens and officials have come to realize that in many small towns the question no longer is when drugs will arrive but rather what's to be done now that they have arrived."

Basie Concert Tomorrow Night
Reminscent of Big Band Era

By M. C. Garrott

Count Basie and his band will be in Murray tomorrow night for a concert at Murray State's Lovett Auditorium, the proceeds from which will help send the Murray High School band to Miami New Year's Day for the Orange Bowl festivities.

It will be great hearing the big band sound in the old auditorium again, because there are a lot of us in Murray who have fond memories of the big bands and dances on the stage in that historic old building.

The students today find it hard to believe when those of us who were on campus during the big band era recall the bands, the music and the way we danced in that day.

Only a handful of us had cars. I certainly didn't, nor did I have any close friends who did. Most of us walked our dates to the dances, held on the spacious stage at the auditorium, where the Thoroughbreds also played their basketball games. But that's another story.

We had Dick Jurgens, Isom Jones, Anson Weeks, Jimmy Dorsey and others of the nationally-known bands on that stage for some of our really big dances like the Junior-Senior Prom, but most of the time it was Leroy Offerman and his band and later the Bill Shelton band that provided the music.

There was a formal dance almost every week, generally on Saturday night. It cost 50 cents to get in, and coats, ties and long dresses were the style of dress.

If you were lucky and could scrape up 60 or 75 cents, you had a date. If you didn't, you went anyway and stood in the tag line.

No one had much of anything, especially money, in those days, and we fellows would borrow each other's sports coats and the girls borrowed each other's dresses.

The dances would start at 8 p.m., and would be over at midnight. The girls had to be back in the dorm, Wells Hall, 30 minutes later. That took some doing.

About 10 p.m. there would be an intermission, and everybody would head for a coke at "The Hut," run at the time by the late Gene Hughes. If you left the dance a few minutes before intermission, you might get a seat at "The Hut."

Thirty minutes later we would be dancing again to such tunes as "The Object of My Affection," "Got A Date with An Angel," "The Very Thought of You," "You Must Have Been A Beautiful Baby," "The Music Goes Down and Around," "One O'Clock Jump," "Organ Grinder Swing," and others.

We had eight "no breaks," four before intermission and four afterwards, and it was generally understood that the last "no break" was with your date, usually danced to some dreamy tune like "Good Night, Sweetheart," or Offerman's great theme song, "Fate Denied My Love," written and arranged by the piano player, Paul Bryant.

A "no break" was just what the name implies. There was no breaking in on the partners from the tag line, and the "no breaks" were announced from the bandstand: "First No-Break!" "Second No-Break!" and on down the line.

Each of the girls had a little tally card with eight lines on it, and at the beginning of the dance the fellows would run around asking the girls for one of their "no breaks." We fellows also had a "no break" card, too, so we could keep up with the girls with whom we would dance when each "no break" was announced.

Being a bit on the short side, I was handicapped in my "no breaks," because I had to get to the shorter girls quick if I was going to get all my "no breaks" filled, and that took some doing, too, for most of these were among the most popular on the floor.

Some of my favorites still live in Murray: Marie (Clodfelter) Wallace, Eleanor (Gatlin) Diuguid, Martha Sue (Key) Ryan, Sue (Farmer) Costello, Audrey (Oliver) Scott, Mae Boaz (Cocke) Simmons and others.

Later, when the Carr Health Building was completed, the dances moved to the girls' gym in the south side of the building, and we had some great dances there. It was a little farther to walk from Wells Hall, but no one minded that.

These were great times, and I'm sure when the Basie band swings into some of its most popular hits Wednesday night, a lot of us will be remembering those dances and others we attended in Mayfield and nearby towns with such bands as Clyde McCoy, Jimmie Lunceford, Glen Gray, Andy Kirk and his Clouds of Joy, Tommy Dorsey, Ina Ray Hutton, Kay Kyser and others holding forth from the bandstand.

"Plink! Plink! Plink! Plink!" The sound will come at you softly, delicately, at first, single notes on a piano, then offbeat pauses. Instant recognition, and then one measure blends into the next. A right-hand chord, bass and a surge of anticipation.

And then—an avalanche of energy, of all-encompassing music. Wham! The Basie band will be off and blowing!

It should be a great night of music for a good cause.

It should be a great night for remembering.

A Heat Test For Early Breast Tumors

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

A test which measures the heat radiating from the breasts may assist in the earlier diagnosis of a tumor and help to cut the death rate from breast cancer.

If a malignant breast tumor can be detected and removed before it has started to invade significantly into the surrounding breast tissue, the victim stands better than an 80 per cent chance of a permanent cure. About 50 per cent of breast cancer cases survive today for five years or longer.

The measuring procedure is called thermography, and it takes advantage of the fact that most breast tumors, whether benign or malignant, give off more heat than the adjacent healthy breast tissue.

The woman disrobes to the waist and sits for about 15 minutes in a cool room until her skin temperature is 68 degrees Fahrenheit. She is then placed in front of a heat-sensitive scope, which maps the amount of heat emerging from various areas of the skin over the breasts.

The effects of the heat are recorded on a film which has the appearance of an X-ray. The hot areas appear as dark spots.

A positive film does not mean that the person has a breast cancer, and a negative film does not guarantee that a small malignancy is not present.

However, if the thermogram is positive, the next step is to make a special X-ray of the breast, a mammogram. It exposes the breast to a small dose of radiation, while the thermogram is totally noninvasive and harmless.

Should the mammogram show evidence of a breast tumor, it should be biopsied and examined under the microscope to determine whether the tumor is benign or cancerous.

These tests of the breast—thermogram and mammogram—coupled with regular self-examinations and periodic checkups by a physician, will assure earlier diagnosis of breast cancers and better results in their treatment.

Q. Mrs. T. S. asks if anemia causes her dizziness.

A. Anemia is one of the common causes of dizziness. It may result, however, from other causes, such as a chronic infection or a disease of the nervous system. Recurrent dizziness requires professional attention to determine the cause. Then appropriate treatment can be instituted. See a physician.

Q. Mrs. J. T. asks whether her 8-year-old son could be deliberately hurting himself. He has been having a series of accidents lately.

A. Inasmuch as you speak of your son having accidents "lately," I am inclined to think that his "accidents" could be a form of punishment, if he is depressed, or an effort to get attention. Be sure that you let him know that you love him. Extend sincere affection toward him and compliment his good behavior rather than punishing his undesirable deportment.

Nine months ago Gail Dissinger went to work at Disneyland, donned a Minnie Mouse costume and was told to "go find Mickey." Find Mickey she did. "It was love at first sight," said 22-year-old Steve Berk, who worked as the cartoon character, "Mickey Mouse" at Disneyland. The couple plans to leave Disneyland. "This is the most Mickey Mouse wedding I have ever performed," said Rabbi Aloen Secher. (Anaheim Bulletin)

Breaking Ground

.....Commentary On Issues And Events

Written By Gary Huddleston
Ky. Farm Bureau Federation

Many US farm leaders are concerned that the World Food Conference in Rome heard too much from the food demanders, and too little from the food producers.

They also fear that media-embellished reports of imminent mass starvation in some poor countries may cause American agricultural policy makers to over-react to what is, in many instances, a temporary situation.

Speaker after speaker from the developing countries mounted the United Nations-sponsored rostrum and asked of the United States, "What are you going to do for me now?" Less frequently did their presentations include details of what they were going to do for themselves.

High-speed improvement of their own food production technology will be much more valuable to food-deficit nations than will a temporary bulge in food aid from the United States. In addition, the limiting of population growth will be necessary if many of the poorer countries are to overcome the threat of famine.

Our "Food for Peace" program has pumped billions of dollars worth of food into needy foreign countries over the years, and there is every indication that such programs should be continued, and even increased.

But to recklessly call for the immediate doubling of American food giveaways to countries who show little willingness to improve their own farm situation or runaway population increases is evidence of poor judgement on the part of some of the US delegation to Rome.

The United States will not be able to feed the entire world, especially through unilateral charity. Reasonable levels of food aid, increased sharing of production figures and continuing efforts to upgrade farm technology in needy countries constitute the balanced approach that is needed.

Especially troublesome are the increasing calls by foreign leaders and some US government officials for an internationally controlled food reserve. As with many humanitarian projects in recent years, the US would be looked upon to supply much of the foodstuffs for such a reserve, then probably have a very small voice in its control and disbursement.

Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger proposed an "internationally coordinated but nationally held" system of grain reserves. Under such a system, more sharing of food resource availability data would be done, but the control of each country's grain would remain on the inside.

Butz told the conferees that the immediate formation of a large reserve for future use would strain current short food supplies, raise the price of food and further fuel inflation.

"We are not here to talk about what to do with less food," he added. "We are here to talk about what to do with more food."

As a final footnote on the World Food Conference, the Farm Bureau leaders in attendance said many American taxpayers would be disappointed that not one nation expressed any kind of appreciation to the United States for our past food aid efforts.

Currently, US food sharing programs cost about $1 billion a year, and are larger than those from any other country. But the unfortunate consensus of the recipients at Rome was criticism, not gratitude.

Worth Repeating

THERMOPOLIS, WYO., INDEPENDENT RECORD: "The other day we took a quick survey and discovered our shirt was made in Japan; pants in Taiwan, boots in Mexico and our watch in West Germany. We're not sure about our underwear. ... We asked ourselves, 'Why are so many things made out of this country?' Then we looked at prices and we knew."

Tiger Basketball Behind Schedule

This will be a full week for sports as football and basketball take the spotlight this weekend.

The Calloway County Lakers will have a pair of games, playing at Fulton County Friday before returning home to host Earlington Saturday.

In the pre-season poll of coaches by the Paducah Sun-Democrat, the Lakers were rated as the fourth best team in the First Region, behind top-ranked Tilghman, second-ranked Mayfield and third-ranked Carlisle County.

Following the Lakers in order are Paducah St. Mary, Lone Oak, Fulton County, Hickman County, Marshall Central and Reidland.

Murray High is ranked 11th.

The problem for the Tigers is an enjoyable one, to say the least.

Murray High is scheduled to open its season at Trigg County on December 3. But if the Tiger football team defeats Paris here Friday, then Murray High will play November 29 in the state championship game.

That would give Tiger Coach Bob Toon exactly one day to work with his team, since he has been tied up with football. Assistant coach Jerry Shelton has been in charge of practice at Murray High for the past month.

Several Tiger basketball players are on the football team and they would have one day of organized practice before beginning the season December 3.

They include senior guard Dale McCuiston, sophomore sharp shooter Richie Richardson and sophomore jumping Jack Lindsey Hudspeth.

Murray High will return only one starter from last season's Regional champions.

But that man, 6-4 1/2 Bob Wilder, is a good man to center a team around.

Wilder, a junior, is already a college prospect and by the time he's a senior, he might be the best ballplayer in the Region. He's a very strong rebounder, a good shooter and a great ballhandler.

In fact, he could well play as a guard for the Tigers this season.

Besides Wilder, there's 6-2 1/2 Phil Miller returning to the lineup. Miller started on the "B" team last season and saw quite a bit of action in the varsity reserve role.

After Wilder and Miller, there will be several youngsters and some new faces battling for a berth on the starting five.

But before the season is over, you can bet Murray High will be up in the Top 10 in the Region.

If I were to rank the teams today, I'd have to go with Tilghman on top and Mayfield second with Carlisle County a very close third.

After that, I'd take Lone Oak fourth, St. Mary fifth, Fulton County sixth, Calloway County seventh, Hickman County eighth, Fulton City ninth and Wingo 10th.

Cage Picks

My accuracy mark on predicting football games last week stayed the same, .716.

I hit five of seven games, missing the Morehead win over Wisconsin-LaCrosse and missing of course the East Tennessee win over Middle.

Close games included Murray by 13 over Eastern Illinois (9) and Eastern Kentucky 11 over Ashland (13). I also called Western Carolina's upset win over Western Kentucky but I did miss the margin of victory somewhat.

As for the Murray High 28-0 win over Glasgow, my prediction of a 20-7 Tiger win was for a dry field. Had it not been raining, who knows whether or not Glasgow would have had as many mistakes as they did?

I'll hold up before making a prediction on the Tiger game with Paris this weekend.

Here are predictions for area basketball games tonight:

Loves at BALLARD by nine, Cuba at SYMSONIA by 16, Fancy Farm at WINGO by four, FARMINGTON at Sedalia by nine and Lone Oak at FULTON COUNTY by three.

The Lone Oak-Fulton County game will be one of the top cage card attractions of the season.

Rutter In NCAA

Brian Rutter of the Murray State cross country team will be running Monday in the National Cross Country Championship at Indiana University.

The race will be held in Bloomington and will be on a six-mile course.

Anyone who finishes in the top 25 will become an All-American. And that is what Rutter, the outstanding freshman Englishman of the Racers, will try to do.

Last year, Sam Torres earned All-America honors by finishing in 24th place.

The Ohio Valley Conference in the past three years has had more All-Americans than any other conference in the nation.

It is very likely Western Kentucky will be the national champions as the Hilltoppers have an outstanding shot of placing four men in the Top 10 or 15.

In fact, junior Englishman Nick Rose of Western is rated as the favorite to win the individual championship.

Last year, he finished second to since-graduated Steve Prefontaine.

Win Meal At Rudy's

Write a check on the old memory bank, it's time again for the free meal at Rudy's Restaurant.

The free meal is worth up to $2.50 on the menu.

Here is this week's question: "What is the most points ever scored in one game by an Ohio Valley Conference basketball team and what team owns the record?"

This one might require some research so I'll give one clue: The record was set in the 1955-56 season by the league champions.

If you think you know the answer to this week's question, call me after 5 p. m. Thursday at 753-6977.

Special OVC Section

I am in the process of putting out a special section on the Ohio Valley Conference basketball season.

In this magazine-type section, all eight conference teams will be featured with stories, pictures and interesting statistics. Also included will be rosters and schedules of all conference teams.

This special section can be used by the basketball fan all season long and I would like to urge advertisers to consider an ad in this publication.

If any business would like to place an ad in the section, they may do so by calling the advertising department of the Murray Ledger & Times at 753-1919.

John Wooden Says Not To Count Out Bruins

By RON ROACH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — All-Americans Bill Walton and Keith Wilkes are gone but Coach John Wooden of UCLA cautions that the Bruins' rivals "shouldn't count us out too quickly."

Wooden, whose 27th season at UCLA opens Friday night against Athletes in Action at Pauley Pavilion, noted that other coaches, such as Southern Cal's Bob Boyd, are extremely optimistic about their chances to dethrone the Bruins as the Pacific-8 Conference basketball champs.

After Lew Alcindor, later known as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, left UCLA, the Bruins continued to win national championships with Steve Patterson at center. Then came Walton and Wilkes, who led the team to two more national crowns before losing to North Carolina State last spring.

"I think it's true that the Pac-8 is a very well-balanced conference," said Wooden. "Every coach figures his team is stronger, with the exception of UCLA. When you lose super players like Walton and Wilkes, there's no way you can be as strong."

Ralph Drollinger, 7-feet-1 1/4 tall, moves into Walton's center spot and 6-9 sophomore Richard Washington opens at Wilkes' forward position. The No. 1 returning letterman is 6-7 1/2 senior forward Dave Meyers.

Andre McCarter, Pete Trgovich and Jimmy Spillane are the Bruin backcourt men of note with the graduation of Tommy Curtis and Greg Lee.

Marques Johnson, a 6-5 1/2 forward who started some games as a freshman last season, was stricken with hepatitis, which caused Wooden to move Washington to first-string forward and move up 6-11 1/2 freshman Brett Vroman to the No. 2 center post.

Of Johnson, Wooden said: "He's going to be back out for practice this week, but only on a very limited basis. It will probably be a month before he can resume practice on a full-time basis. I'm hopeful that by the conference season, in January, he will be back to give us some play."

Enters Tourney

MONTREAL (AP) — Johnny Miller, pro golfer's Player of the Year in 1974, filed his entry for the 1975 Canadian Open Golf Championship Monday.

Previously, defending champion Bobby Nichols had announced that he would defend his crown in the $200,000 event July 25-28 at the Royal Montreal Golf Club.

Adds To Margin

BOSTON (AP) — Denise Boudrot, a 22-year-old from Burlington, Mass., continues to add to her margin as the leading rider at Suffolk Downs.

Miss Boudrot booted home four winners, including Susveto ($5.60) in the featured $5,800 allowance race, Monday before 6,207 fans. That gave her 67 victories for the meeting and 22 in the last 11 days.

Third Period Barrage Leads Chiefs To Win

By JOHN MOSSMAN
AP Sports Writer
DENVER (AP) — A seemingly harmless safety ballooned into a 19-point third quarter for Kansas City, boosting the Chiefs to a National Football League victory over Denver and wrecking the Broncos' playoff hopes.

The Chiefs' 42-34 triumph Monday night enabled Oakland to back into the American Conference West Division title and also spoiled a brilliant passing display by quarterback Charley Johnson of the Broncos. He completed 28 of 42 passes for a whopping 445 yards and two touchdowns.

It all started innocently enough on the second-half kickoff of the nationally televised game.

Denver's Oliver Ross fumbled the ball at the Broncos' 12-yard line. Kansas City's Woody Green coughed it up at the one, but two plays later Chiefs' middle linebacker Willie Lanier tackled Otis Armstrong in the end zone for the safety.

Denver still led 21-19 but Kansas City got good field position on the required free kick. The Chiefs promptly drove 49 yards in five plays, culminated by Len Dawson's scrambling 35-yard TD pass to Otis Taylor.

As if that wasn't enough, Ed Podolak returned a punt 54 yards to the Broncos' 17 and Green ran it in for a 33-21 Chiefs' lead with less than five minutes gone in the period.

Jan Stenerud kicked a 35-yard field goal on the Chiefs' next possession to complete the scoring in the period.

Rick Middleton Of Rangers Might Be Best NHL Rookie

By FRED ROTHENBERG

AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Derek Sanderson, National Hockey League rookie of the year, class of 1968, has a nomination for this season's best newcomer: Rick Middleton.

"Who else could it be but Ricky?" Sanderson asked a cluster of reporters after his protegee scored four goals Sunday night in the New York Rangers' 10-0 joyride over the California Golden Seals.

"I mean the kid is just fantastic. He doesn't have any bad nights. He plays the same all the time."

It seems the bad nights will be reserved for rival goaltenders as Middleton has produced at least one goal in six of the eight games in which he has taken a regular turn and leads the Rangers with 10 goals.

He made a believer out of Seals Coach Marshall Johnston Sunday night, connecting on all four of his shots.

"That kid's a real good scorer," said Johnston. "I won't say great scorer until he proves himself a little more. He's got the puck sense to be in the right place at the right time. That's very difficult to teach."

And he made a believer out of Sanderson just as quickly. "The first day I saw Ricky in

Coaching Staff

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have named Jeff Torborg as a member of the coaching staff for the 1975 baseball season.

Torborg is the second coach the Indians' new Manager Frank Robinson has chosen. Harvey Haddix was named the pitching coach several weeks ago.

Torborg, who will be 33 next week, retired after the 1973 season with the California Angels, where he played with Robinson.

A catcher, Torborg reportedly signed for a $100,000 bonus with the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1963. He will concentrate on working in the Indians' bullpen.

Tappan Home Economist Demonstrates Appliances At MSU

Colleen M. Uthe, home economist for The Tappan Company, was on the campus of Murray State University Thursday to demonstrate kitchen appliances furnished by the firm to the Home Economics Department.

Using some of the 19 pieces of appliances provided by Tappan for the home economics program at Murray State, she conducted demonstrations for students from equipment classes on the campus and for home economics students from both local high schools.

Ms. Uthe, who makes her headquarters in Mansfield, Ohio, demonstrated the use of three ranges for about 30 university students in the morning and microwave ovens for about 125 students from Murray and Calloway County high schools in the afternoon. She and several local Tappan officials, along with some university officials, were also luncheon guests at the home management house where all the kitchen appliances, including a trash compactor and microwave oven, are furnished by Tappan.

Guests from the local Tappan plant included: David Dickson, general manager; Cliff Campbell, chief inspector; and Jerry Henry, assistant personnel director.

Campus guests included: Dr. Thomas B. Hogan, vice-president for administration and finance; Dr. Alice Koenecke, chairman of the Home Economics Department; Miss Frances Brown, associate professor of home economics; and Jimmy Graham, inventory control manager.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Miss Lamone Alderdice, home management house adviser, and Miss Janet Mahon, instructor of home economics, while students living in the home management house served the meal.

Besides the kitchen in the home management house, Tappan appliances are also furnished to the Home Economics Department for laboratory use and to the Child Development Center.

Dr. Koenecke called the willingness by Tappan to furnish appliances "a most meaningful and generous contribution which is very much appreciated by the faculty and staff of the department." Besides the plants in Murray and Mansfield, Tappan also has operations in Springfield, Tenn., and Anaheim, Calif.

APPRECIATION LUNCHEON — Tappan officials were the special guests of the Home Economics Department at Murray State University for a luncheon in the home management house Thursday in appreciation of the appliances furnished by the firm for the home economics program on the campus. Shown seated (left to right) are: Jimmy Graham, inventory control manager at Murray State; Dr. Thomas B. Hogan, vice-president for administration and finance; Jerry Henry, assistant personnel manager at the Murray Tappan operation; David Dickson, general manager, of the Tappan plant in Murray; Miss Frances Brown, associate professor of home economics; Ms. Colleen Uthe, Tappan home economist from Mansfield, Ohio; and Dr. Alice Koenecke, chairman of the Home Economics Department at Murray State. Home management students served the meal.

LECTURE-DEMONSTRATION — Colleen M. Uthe, home economist for The Tappan Company, explains the operation of three different types of ranges to home economics students in equipment classes at Murray State University Thursday. About 30 students attended the session to observe demonstrations by Ms. Uthe on an over-under gas range, an over-under smooth top electric range, and a microwave oven furnished by Tappan to the Home Economics Department at the university.

SMELLS BRING SMILES — Two officials of the Tappan operation in Murray register their approval of the smells emanating from the kitchen of the home management house at Murray State University prior to a luncheon Thursday. David Dickson (left), general manager, and Cliff Campbell were among Tappan officials who were guests at the luncheon in appreciation of the firm's furnishing appliances to the home economics program on the campus.

Recreation Convention To Be At Lake Barkley December 1-3

FRANKFORT, Ky. — This year's annual conference of the Kentucky Recreation and Parks Society will be Dec. 1-3 at Lake Barkley State Resort Park, Cadiz.

The conference, which will feature nationally known experts in several areas of recreation, is open to professionals, students and all persons interested in the leisure field.

With the theme "Expanding Horizons," the conference will offer participants the opportunity to examine current problems facing park and recreation leaders, exchange ideas and enhance their abilities to meet the growing demand for recreation services. Commercial exhibits will be on display and the unique facilities of Lake Barkley and the TVA's Land Between the Lakes will be utilized.

Six major areas of recreation will be dealt with during the conference: outdoor, public, church, armed forces, therapeutic and student. Professionals in each of these areas will lead small group presentations and discussions.

A special tour through "Project Apollo" in the Land Between the Lakes will be conducted at no extra charge. "Project Apollo" is an outdoor adventure-education series for students from Upward Bound programs. The project attempts to give these students self-confidence by exposing them to a wide variety of activities and survival disciplines.

Participants on the project tour will become actively involved in such demonstrations as caving, orienteering, rappelling, knotting, first aid and safety.

Speakers at the conference will include Sondra Lee Kirsch, of the National Recreation and Parks Association; Charles R. Spears, director of the Metropolitan Board of Parks and Recreation, Nashville; Carl Stout, recreation director, Kentucky Department of Parks and KRPS president; and Dr. Allan J. Worms, state specialist in outdoor recreation.

The conference will adjourn with an awards banquet and election of new officers for 1974-75.

Books At Library Are Reviewed By Dr. McKenzie

By Hillis S. McKenzie
Ph. D.

For the truly serious reader, The Calloway Public Library has plenty of material. Here, for example, are two:

You Don't Say: 15 Essays by Benjamin DeMott; Harcourt, Brace, & World; 1966; 240 pp.

Benjamin DeMott, Professor of English at Amherst, loves words. However, he feels that in the present age of unenlightenment words have been abused, misused, and even forgotten. Mass Culture uses words and is used by them—uncritically, unthinkingly, and with vulgarity. High Culture, on the other hand, has lost its allegiance to words. Scientism plays the numbers game; some of the elite revel in the four-letter crudities; critics, using such techniques as perspectivism, reduce all things to relativities; and some insist that The Truth is unutterable, ineffable, indescribable—and leave everything in mystic silence. Thus, he quotes Sartre with approval: "If one starts deploring the inadequacy of language to reality, one makes oneself an accomplice of the enemy, that is, of propaganda."

The author makes his point in a number of ways. His essays include such disparate events as a political convention, a visit to a Portuguese village, an analysis of Playboy, a sky diving contest, an analysis of the new greeting cards, a look at alumni magazines, etc. His acute perceptivity in a variety of settings makes this small volume worth reading.

However, he's not fooled by the title and the jacket. This is tough going. His vocabulary is immense and he is wordy. However, if you're not looking for summer intellectual pabulum; but want some yeasty, meaty fare—the Calloway Public Library can offer you this thoughtful volume by an unreconstructed liberal (a Pulitzer Prize Committeeman, by the way) who longs for the olden days and can justify it. He only says, in effect, that the last word is a word. Argue with it—if you can...or will.

The Parables of Peanuts; by Robert L. Short; Harper & Row; 1968; 328 pp.

The author of The Gospel According to Peanuts has written another (and better) book about the comic strip characters. As well befits a theologian from Chicago Divinity School, his book is studded with quotations and footnotes. He calls Charles Schulz, the cartoonist, "no mean theological thinker"; and attempts to exegete from the Peanut characters a Lutheran systematic theology. Why a comic strip? He quotes Kierkegaard: "An illusion can never be destroyed directly...it must be done indirectly...by one who, better instructed, is ready to approach from behind the person who is under an illusion...One must be far behind him—otherwise one will certainly not get the man out of his illusion, a thing which is difficult enough in any case."

Thus, Snoopy and Linus and Charlie Brown and the rest are children, far behind us, yet pointing to religious truths. That Schulz and his characters are pointing to a neo-Reformation existential Barthian crisis theology may be open to question; but Short makes a good case for it, in any case.

The book is good where Luther was good — on the nature of Sin, Christ (as dog-

God) as the Giver of redeeming grace, on justification by Faith, and on the Church as an institution needing constant reform. Also, as in Luther, ethics are slighted; man is nothing and God is Wholly Other; and free will and good works are abused. (His words on "Obedience" are tremendous; but how one wishes to hear something about "Heroic Christianity"!)

However, if you want to re-familiarize yourself with the Luther-Barth-Tillich-Kafka-Bonhoeffer-Kieckegard School of theology — this is a first-class means to do so — with a comic strip thrown in. However, if you read this very serious work (and it takes some wading through), three possibilities exist: 1) "Peanuts" will come alive for you as never before; or 2) You'll never be able to look at it again; or 3) You'll cheat — and only look at the pictures! This book does provoke one thought: Why doesn't some strudy Calvinist look in a similar way at the moral crises of "All In The Family"? Surely Archie Bunker must be a Parable too!

The Parables of Peanuts (as well as an extensive collection of Charlie Brown books) is available at The Calloway Public Library.

Millionairess Says She Still Plans To Marry Young Chauffeur

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP) — Rachel Fidler, 77-year-old Main Line millionairess, says she still plans to marry her 29-year-old former chauffeur.

"We're too old for puppy talk," she assured a reporter Sunday, walking near the garden of her estate in suburban Philadelphia.

"Everything's the same as it was unless Mikey changes his mind," she said, referring to her fiancé, 29-year-old Michael Wilson of Wales.

But Miss Fidler refused to say whether a wedding date has been set. "We're just drifting," she said.

Miss Fidler said she didn't mind being single — until now. "I just had a good home. But now I'm kind of lonely."

Then, her thin, aristocratic face lit up as she spoke of Wilson: "This boy came along and he wanted it (marriage). I put all the blame on him."

"He told he before he went (to Wales) that he'd put it (an engagement announcement) in a local paper. I had no idea it would go beyond that."

Wilson, vacationing on the English Channel island of Guernsey, was quoted this week in a London newspaper as saying: "I spoke to Miss Fidler only a week ago, and everything was fine. Her only concern was that I should enjoy myself. She didn't object to the things I told reporters. As far as I know, the wedding is still on. I haven't heard anything to the contrary."

Miss Fidler said, "Mikey is an only child and has been a great deal with older people. I

Study Reveals Lower Speed Limit Helping Cut Fatalities

DETROIT (AP) — The lower speed limit on the nation's highways accounted for nearly half of the 23 per cent reduction in U.S. traffic fatalities this year, according to a study released Sunday.

The American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials study attributed the sharp decline in traffic deaths primarily to the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit. The study concluded that reduced travel accounted for less than one-fifth of the drop in traffic fatalities.

The group, representing all 50 state highway departments, voted at its annual meeting Sunday in favor of retaining the lower speed limit after reviewing the findings of its study team, a spokesman said.

The number of traffic fatalities in the United States dropped from about 26,000 during the first half of 1973 to some 20,000 in the first six months of this year, the study said.

When travel and fuel consumption declined during the gasoline shortage, "it was easy to attribute a major part of the fatality reduction to decreased travel," the study team said.

The group said the study findings do not support that conclusion.

It said by August when travel volumes climbed almost back to 1973 levels, traffic fatalities were still 13 per cent below the total recorded in August, 1973.

State Resort Parks To Serve Dinner Thanksgiving

Twelve Kentucky state resort parks have set out to free housewives from the tedium of stuffing and basting that go into their annual battle with the Thanksgiving turkey.

The dining rooms at Kentucky Dam Village, Lake Barkley, Rough River Dam, Barren River Lake, Cumberland Falls, General Butler, Lake Cumberland, Carter Caves, Greenbo Lake, Jenny Wiley, Natural Bridge and Pine Mountain State Resort Parks will be, "in the words of one park chef, the 'hiding place' from the kitchen for housewives this Thanksgiving."

Roast young tom turkey will be served with Kentucky corn-bread dressing and cranberry sauce; the only work a housewife or any member of the family need do is raise a fork.

Folks who want to break with tradition can choose between baked Blugrass sugar-cured ham with holiday fruit sauce and Pilgrim roast of beef au jus carved on the line.

There will be assorted congealed and tossed garden green salads, and a relish tray with stuffed celery, olives, radishes and pickles.

Vegetables accompanying the three entrees will be old-fashioned candied yams, Kentucky wonder green beans and Mayflower whipped potatoes.

To finish the meal and satisfy any sweet tooth, Kentucky rifle rum cake, mincemeat pie and pumpkin pie will be on the menu.

Dinner will be served in the resort parks from 12 noon to 8 p.m., at $3.95 for adults and $2.25 for children. No reservations are necessary.

RABBIT REMINDER

The American Medical Association reminds rabbit hunters that they face a special hazard, rabbit fever or tularemia which infects many wild rabbits and says to beware of rabbits that do not try to escape when flushed as they could be infected.

Cover-Up Trial Hears Tape Of Nixon Discussing Bugging Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate cover-up trial heard today a White House tape on which Richard M. Nixon discussed with aides whether former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell had approved a plan for bugging Democrats during the 1972 campaign and should step forward and take the blame for the Watergate break-in.

H. R. Haldeman, then White House staff chief, told Nixon during the conversation on March 27, 1973, that Paul O'Brien, a Nixon re-election committee attorney, had concluded that Mitchell "did sign off on this thing."

"The more O'Brien thinks about it," Haldeman said, "the more it bothers him with all he knows, to see all the people getting whacked around, that he sees getting whacked around, in order to keep the thing from focusing on John Mitchell."

The March 27 conversation involving Nixon, Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman was one of those included in the White House transcripts made public by Nixon last spring in an effort to halt demands for release of all his Watergate tapes.

There appeared to be no substantial differences between the tape played in court and the edited White House transcript.

On Monday, the prosecution played tapes of four conversations, the contents of which had never been disclosed publicly. On one of those conversations — a Jan. 8, 1973 meeting between Nixon and Charles W. Colson — the discussion involved offering clemency to Watergate break-in defendant E. Howard Hunt.

The other three tapes played Monday were a March 21, 1973, telephone conversation between Nixon and Colson and meetings between Nixon and Haldeman on March 20 and 22, 1973.

Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Mitchell, former assistant Atty. Gen. Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson, one-time lawyer for the Nixon re-election committee, are charged with conspiring to obstruct the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

The grand jury that indicted them on March 1, 1974, named Nixon, who then was president, an indicted co-conspirator.

Alateens Chapter Is Formed Here

A Calloway County chapter of Alateens has been formed here, according to a spokesman for the local group.

A branch of Alcoholics Anonymous and Al-Anon, Alateen is open to any teenager in the Murray-Calloway County area, including college students, who has a parent, friend, or relative who is an alcoholic or problem drinker.

The local group has held three meetings, with guest speakers from the Paducah chapter, the Murray Al-Anon group, and the Murray Alcoholics Anonymous group.

Weekly meetings are held Mondays at seven p. m. in the AA Hall, Sixth and Walnut, with the first Monday of each month an open meeting. Open meetings welcome interested persons in the community as guests, including, and especially, parents of Alateen members.

Teens who have a parent, friend or relative who is a problem drinker are invited to attend the meetings of the new group. Teenagers between the ages of 12 and 20 are welcomed, and referrals by professionals are welcomed. Anonymity is stressed in the group, and no names are used outside the meetings.
