Chrysler To Close All But One Of Six Plants In Nation

DETROIT (AP) — The Chrysler Corp. has announced thousands of additional layoffs, raising to 64,200 the number of its employees scheduled to be off their jobs in December.

Chrysler said Tuesday it was laying off 35,500 workers temporarily and 8,400 indefinitely, closing all but one of its six U.S. car plants and making "extreme cutbacks" at 42 manufacturing plants from the day before Thanksgiving until Jan. 6. The firm said the action is aimed at cutting its inventory of unsold cars.

The firm is the nation's seventh largest with a total blue-collar work force of 105,000. With 22,000 workers currently on indefinite layoff, the total effect of the layoffs will be to put 64,200 out of work in December, or about 61 per cent of the Chrysler work force.

Some 95,000 auto workers are on layoffs this week, including 37,000 indefinitely at General Motors, 10,425 at Ford, and 16,000 at Chrysler.

The total Big Three work force is 650,000, down from 750,000 just 13 months ago, and there are persistent reports that further layoffs are imminent. "It looks like the roof is about to cave in," said one union official.

Facing the prospect of at least 110,000 Big Three employees out of work in the pre-Christmas period, union officials reacted quickly and angrily to the Chrysler announcement.

United Auto Workers Vice President Doug Fraser accused Chrysler of "sloppy management" or "manipulation" and said the layoffs were the most serious ever at Chrysler "in terms of one fell swoop."

He called for the resignations of Chrysler Chairman Lynn Townsend and President John Riccardo, blaming them for Chrysler's buildup of 380,000 unsold new cars — enough to supply dealers for four months.

"When they make mistakes, they don't pay for them, the workers pay for them," Fraser said, pointing out that the firm produced 62,000 more cars than it sold in September and October.

Three Detroit assembly plants will be down along with two others, leaving just the St. Louis, Mo., facility in operation.

Although the firm will not close its 42 supply plants, production cutbacks there were described as "extreme" with many layoffs.

Chrysler said production will resume at a slower pace at the six U.S. car plants in January. Chrysler sales during October were off almost 17 per cent, and early-November deliveries plunged 34 per cent to a 13-year low.

Murray Planning Commission Meets

Routine matters were handled by the Murray Planning Commission at its regular meeting Tuesday night, with no official action being taken on any matter.

Chairman Bob Billington said three items were discussed, including a discrepancy between lot sizes in Murray and the surrounding area.

County health officer R.L. Cooper had expressed concern to the commission that there is a discrepancy between lot size requirements outside the jurisdiction of the planning commission, and those without sewers inside the commission's territory. Cooper requested uniformity in the requirements, and the commission is to look into the issue.

The panel also discussed an amendment that will soon be necessary to the zoning ordinances, to provide for multi-family dwellings, including townhouses, condominiums, and apartment complexes. The commission has decided to look at similar zoning classifications in surrounding cities in Kentucky to model an amendment for Murray.

In a third matter, the commission received a letter from Mayor John Scott requesting a review of 12th Street for zoning from Sycamore to Chestnut, and requesting that a hearing be scheduled for a possible change in zoning.

The commission did not set a date for the hearing, but will do so at a later date, Billington said.

Civilians To Meet Thursday Evening

The Murray Civitan Club will meet on Thursday evening, November 21 at 7:00 p.m. "Plans will be discussed for our annual sale of famous Claxton Fruit Cake in the community," announced Fruit Cake chairman Elbert Thompson. The proceeds will go toward fulfilling the club's obligation to the local mentally retarded program.

Murray Civitans will be co-hosting a statewide meeting of Civitans at Lake Barkley Lodge in cooperation with the Cadiz Civitan Club on November 29 and 30. "At the November 21st meeting Murray Civitans will also be making decisions on the Christmas food baskets that will be distributed this year," Civitan President Wayne Williams announced.

A policeman said the Lufthansa pilot emerged from the cockpit saying: "It has happened."

At least two Americans were among the survivors. They were identified by officials as Susan Mary Seaholm of San Pedro, Calif., and Thomas Scott, whose home town was not immediately known.

Lufthansa officials said they had no indication of the cause of the crash, but added that the jumbo jet's flight recorder had been recovered.

Witnesses said the plane apparently lost power shortly after take off on the final leg of a Frankfurt to Johannesburg, South Africa, flight and its tail section struck an embankment, breaking the plane into a dozen pieces.

Officials Say 55 Dead In Crash Of 747 Jet Today

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — A German jumbo jetliner crashed and burned today on take off from Nairobi airport in the first fatal crash of a Boeing 747. Lufthansa officials said 55 persons were dead and six missing.

An official of the West German airline said in Nairobi that 96 persons had survived the crash out of 140 passengers and 17 crew members aboard.

Kenya's communications minister, Omolo Okeru, said earlier that 97 bodies had been counted and there were 50 to 60 survivors. There was no immediate explanation for the wide discrepancy in death figures.

Cover-Up Jury Hears How Mitchell Refused Blame

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate cover-up trial jury today heard another chapter in a continuing saga: How John Mitchell refused to take the blame for Watergate despite presidential pressure that he do so.

The jurors were transported back in time again through reels of tape, to April 14, 1973, when John D. Ehrlichman reported how Mitchell received the Richard Nixon suggestion that he accept the Watergate heat.

"He lobbed mudballs at the White House at every opportunity," Ehrlichman is heard telling Nixon after his unsuccessful effort.

"He is an innocent man in his heart and in his mind and he does not intend to move off that position," Ehrlichman reported. "He said if I'm indicted it is going to be very hard ... but I can't let people get away with this kind of thing ... I am just going to have to defend myself every way I can."

April 14, 1973, was a Saturday — the beginning of a weekend in which Nixon was totally occupied with the Watergate scandal, that then was hitting the pressure point with then White House Counsel John W. Dean III and 1972 Nixon campaign aide Jeb Stuart Magruder spilling the story to prosecutors.

TVA Developing Plan For Mandatory Cutback

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee Valley Authority officials are currently developing a plan for mandatory cutbacks in electricity, the TVA said Tuesday.

TVA officials are meeting with power distributors, city officials and state energy representatives this week to discuss the matter. The plan probably will be announced next week.

John Van Mol, TVA information director, said it is hoped the discussions can be completed by the end of this week. TVA officials might work through the weekend if necessary to finalize the plan, he said.

Meanwhile, TVA Chairman Aubrey Wagner said the public response to the agency's call for reduced electricity use is growing day by day.

But he warned that more conservation of TVA power is needed to prevent blackouts and widespread loss of jobs this winter.

"The communitywide type of conservation effort that is now taking place in many parts of the region is the kind of broad-based participation that we must have if we are to have a chance of stretching TVA's short coal supplies through the winter," Wagner said.

The TVA power system, he said, is facing the "most critical period in its history" because of the coal shortage at its steam plants.

TVA has a 43-day stockpile of coal; a 90-day reserve is normal.

A TVA spokesman said the stockpiles will soon begin declining faster because the authority is still unloading coal shipped before the coal miners' strike.

The strike has cut TVA coal deliveries by two-thirds.

Wagner said the strike "now makes it absolutely imperative that all power consumers — residential, business, public institutions and industries — make a special effort to turn back thermostats to 65 degrees or lower and make every savings possible in electrical use in the days and weeks ahead."

In another energy development Tuesday, the Chattanooga City Commission adopted an ordinance forbidding many businesses from staying open more than 60 hours a week.

Businesses affected are bars, package liquor stores, beer taverns, barber shops, beauty parlors and others.

The ordinance also prohibits lighted outdoor advertising in the city once billed proudly as "The Electric City."

UMW Officials Retreat From Optimism On Early Ratification

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Mine Workers high command has retreated from its optimism about early acceptance of a proposed new contract to end the nationwide coal strike, now in its ninth day.

UMW Secretary-Treasurer Harry Patrick said Tuesday there now is a 50-50 chance the union's bargaining council will turn down the tentative agreement.

The 38-member bargaining council, which must approve the pact before it can be submitted for rank-and-file ratification, meets today to consider the proposal.

The council members postponed their scheduled meeting Tuesday after returning from the funeral in Alabama for UMW official Samuel E. Littlefield, who was fatally shot during a hold-up here.

The strike, idling the 120,000 UMW members who mine 70 per cent of the nation's soft coal, also has resulted in layoffs of 17,435 workers in related steel and railroad industries.

Spokesmen report that U.S. Steel has laid off 13,700 workers and Bethlehem Steel 175 employees because of the strike. In addition, 1,500 Penn Central employees and 1,400 Norfolk and Western Railroad workers are out of jobs.

Smaller layoffs have been reported by Illinois Central Gulf Railroad and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

A spokesman for the Tennessee Valley Authority said the utility may announce a plan for mandatory cutbacks in electricity by early next week.

Patrick said Tuesday, "The officers feel we have gotten the very best contract we can. The membership had a right to expect a large increase and I think it's in there."

UMW officials predicted after the tentative agreement was reached last week that it would be accepted by the bargaining council and the union members.

However, some mine workers are voicing pessimism about the tentative agreement.

The pact's provision for a 15 per cent wage increase over three years, plus cost-of-living increases, is "an insult to my intelligence," said Charles Gatt (See Coal, Page 14)

Keep emotions under stern control. You could make an impulsive—and unwise—decision if your temper is aroused.

Happenings At Calloway County High School

By Mark Miller

When one puts forty-five girls on a gym floor with a basketball for the first time to have an organized practice, it can be hectic. For the first year the Lakers of Calloway have a girls' team for a regular season in basketball.

Something of an oddity is the fact that there are three sets of sisters on the ball club—Becky Innes, Susie Innes; Alison Wilfred, Leslie Wilfred; and Marilyn McKenzie, Patricia "Citter" McKenzie.

Besides these girls, the team includes Regina Cook, Kathy Harding, Lois Wilkins, Patricia Philipps, Melissa Thorne, Felicia Pinner, and two alternates, Donna Overcast and Clara Cole. Their coach is David Lanier. The managers are Lisa Rogers and Teri McCusison.

The Lakers opened their ball season Thursday, November 14, at Fulton City, the same night of the freshman boys' team debut.

For those who are wondering, girls basketball is played in Kentucky with the same rules as boys; but in Tennessee, the girls play with six players instead of five. The girls also have their own district, regional, and state tournaments.

Felicia Housden was high salesman.

The "Trick or Treat" for UNICEF project has just been completed. The total amount collected was $134.95 with Sherri Thomas collecting the most money.

A Degree Party was also held by the chapter for all members who were interested in working on junior, chapter, or state degrees on November 1 after school in the Home Economics Department of the school. Mary Beth Hays, second vice-president, was in charge of the party.

The organization which was formerly Future Teachers of America is now Student Action in Education. The name was changed so that the organization could include more fields in education. The S. A. E. club at Calloway has 98 members.

One of the recent activities of the S. A. E. was to observe "American Education Week". To begin the American Education Week, the theme "Stay Involved" was carried out by putting up a bulletin board display in the lobby of the school.

In honor of the faculty and student teachers at Calloway, the S. A. E. served cookies and Cokes during the regularly scheduled teacher's meeting Wednesday of the American Education Week.

On Thursday of the same week, a report was put in the paper which identified the purposes of this week. The purposes were: Get students to recognize what American Education is; Acquaint the public with education; Get students, parents, and teachers to work together to make education the best they can.

Another service project of S. A. E. is sending birthday cards to retired teachers.

S. A. E. has been collecting money for the eighteenth Annual Telethon on November 9 and 10. S. A. E. collected money at Calloway's first home ballgame. The club represented the whole school in this fund raising drive to help the handicapped children.

There will be other activities this year, but S. A. E. feels this one project, raising money for the telethon, is its biggest service project for the year.

Best advice is "unload the bum"

DEAR ABBY: Here's my story: Career girl, age 44, marries man same age. First marriage for both. Girl owns beautiful home and earns twice as much as man.

On wedding night, husband watches old movies on TV until bride falls asleep. After one year, bride still a virgin! Nobody would believe it, but it's true. He has absolutely no interest in me as a woman. But he must have an interest in sex because he never misses an X-rated movie. He can see the same one three times. Figure that one out!

I pay all the bills, including taxes, insurance, groceries and clothes for both of us. Trips, too. (We went to Europe in July.) He has a job but I never see a dime of his money. I even cut his hair, and when we go anywhere I drive because he's too "tired."

Today is our first wedding anniversary and he forgot it. I don't know what I ever saw in this man. He is a big nothing. My problem is I can't seem to bring myself to tell him that we don't have a marriage so he should clear out. Can you help me?

GUTLESS IN N.Y.

DEAR GUTLESS: If you are waiting for someone to say, "Unload the bum," I'll volunteer. And if he's still around when the snow flies, face it, you're either awfully lonesome or you desperately need to "do" for somebody.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this open letter to a nosy man: Today I got into an elevator in a large building where I work. An old man (in his 50's) was on the elevator when I got on.

He smiled at me and asked, "Is that red hair natural?" I was stunned. All I could think of to say was, "That's none of your business."

He replied, "I'm sorry. I was just trying to be friendly." Abby, if a man wants to start a conversation with a total stranger, he should comment on the weather, local sports, or something less personal than whether a girl's hair color is natural.

Please tell men who want to be friendly in elevators to use some common sense.

UNFRIENDLY IN PHILLY

DEAR UN: Natural red-heads would have been pleased and answered, yes. Dyed red-heads would have been annoyed. "Old men" who ask such questions can expect to lose some and win some. And some men "in their 50's" like to gamble.

DEAR ABBY: I have a daughter who was born on a Saturday and a son who was born on a Sunday. I seem to recall a poem about Monday's child, Tuesday's child and so on, but all I can remember is "Thursday's child has far to go" and I'm not even sure that's right.

I have asked everybody I know if they can recite the whole thing and nobody can. I even called the public library and was told unless I knew the name of the author they couldn't help me. Can you?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Yes! "Monday's child is fair of face, Tuesday's child is full of grace, Wednesday's child is full of woe, Thursday's child has far to go. Friday's child is loving and giving, Saturday's child has to work for a living. But a child that's born on the Sabbath Day is fair and wise and good and gay."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE QUIET ONE" IN K.C.: Don't ever feel that you must apologize for being quiet. Look at it this way: There's no point in talking unless you can improve the silence.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Filled Biscuits

Tender, melt-away biscuits have many guises to raise a meal from ordinary to interesting. Simple filled biscuits result from two thin squares of dough patted together, with a filling between. Biscuits, either homemade or refrigerator, can form a puffy crown if placed atop a casserole before baking.

National Organization For Women Organized

Nearly fifty women attended the NOW (National Organization for Women) organizational meeting held November 13 at the Community Room of the Murray Federal Savings and Loan, and voted with an overwhelming majority to form a NOW Chapter in Murray.

Temporary officers elected include Jennifer Hipp, former state coordinator for NOW in West Virginia and currently instructor in social work at Murray State University, president; Stephanie Davidson, graduate student in psychology at MSU, vice-president; Teresa Mary Barnes, employee at Burger Queen, secretary; Joe Dee Lackey, bookkeeper and mother of three, treasurer; Paula Cook Duncan, reading specialist for Project Upward Bound, Special Services, and mother of one daughter, publicity chairwoman; Vikki Gregory, junior political science major at MSU, membership chairwoman. Basic information concerning NOW was presented by Jennifer Hipp, acting president. Issues of concern and of interest to women in Murray including employment, rape, housing, and child care, were discussed. An informational meeting for persons to get to know each other is planned for tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. at the United Campus Ministry, 202 North 15th Street. Both men and women interested in NOW are invited to attend this meeting.

BIG K LEADS THE WAY IN CONSERVING ENERGY

WE THANK OUR CUSTOMERS FOR YOUR COOPERATION AND ASK FOR YOUR CONTINUED SUPPORT

All Americans have been requested to reduce the use of electricity and other forms of energy. In response to this request, Big K Stores inaugurated a program 45 days ago to BURN ONLY 50 PER CENT OF THE LIGHTS IN OUR STORES BETWEEN OPENING HOURS AND 4 P.M. AND TO LOWER THE HEATING THERMOSTAT TO 65 DEGREES AT ALL TIMES.

Our stores may not be as bright looking nor as warm as we would like but our customers have been most cooperative and few complaints have been voiced. Big K works at being a good resident of the areas we serve. We try to cooperate in worthwhile endeavors. Reducing the use of energy at this time is very worthwhile. We encourage everyone to join in this effort.

Thank you again

No-Fault: What's The Risk?

The wheels of a democracy are said by some to be a most inexpedient way for man to govern himself.

And nowhere has this been more apparent than in Kentucky at the close of the last General Assembly.

On the last day of the biennial meeting of the Legislature, a crazy quilt of a law — mostly one of compromise — was passed representing Kentucky's efforts at no-fault automobile insurance.

The path had been filled with chuck-holes, to be sure, and at the end point there was a law of great technicality and, some believe, little practicability.

But a law, nonetheless, and there, dear friends, is the rub.

For it has fallen to the state Insurance Dept. to find out what the law says, interpret it and tell the consuming public, which must make a choice of the three available no-fault possibilities. Harold McGuffey, insurance commissioner, knew the limitations of his office and the need for the general public to be fully informed about the new law, which takes effect next July 1. So, he called in a panel of experts from the insurance industry to help even down to writing a letter to policyholders for all insurers to send. That is to his everlasting credit, for interpretation of insurance by the consumer not only has been nonexistent, but also impossible.

Now, however, there is a standard policy requirement which the consumer must understand in order to select the plan he wants.

It's easier said than done.

Some of the other goals of the law are a little muddier, however.

Take for instance the 10 per cent rate reduction that no-fault is supposed to bring about. That reduction applies only to certain coverages and probably will not reduce a driver's premium more than a few dollars.

Additionally, no-fault doesn't apply to property damage so you'll still have to prove the other driver was at fault to collect for your wrecked auto. And the new law requires that all motorists carry liability insurance of at least $10,000 bodily injury per person; $20,000 per accident and $5000 property liability. It protects you against claims from cases in which a motorist still can be sued.

Our system will be nothing if not unique. The three ways to go with it are:

1. Accept true no-fault which provides up to $10,000 medical, work-loss and other benefits paid by the driver's own insurance company without regard to the driver's fault.

2. Reject no-fault and remain under the "fault" system.

3. Reject the limitation on the right to sue, but purchase "add-on" first-party coverage to pay you benefits without regard to fault. This means you can recover your losses from the other driver in a lawsuit or collect from your own company without having to prove the other driver was at fault.

That last one, though, will cost you more money, not less.

Eric Tachau, the Louisville insurance agent who championed no-fault in the General Assembly, said that the options will give no-fault a true test, for it will determine whether the consumer really wants the new system. In other states, it merely has been stuffed down drivers' throats.

Perhaps it will, and then again maybe it won't. The options sound better than mandatory rules, but the tinkle-tinkle may be only on the surface. Deep down there may be a large bass waiting to break our ear drums.

The options present such a patchwork law to us that we wonder if anyone will be better off for it.

Mandatory no-fault at least puts everyone on equal footing. This way you can have no-fault and surrender your right to sue unless your medical bills exceed $1,000 or you suffer certain specified injuries. But if you're involved in a wreck with a driver who has rejected no fault there are no limitations on your right to sue.

This leaves some hard questions dangling in our minds. First, if you have no-fault and the other party doesn't and you are at fault in the accident, can you still be sued because the other driver, who was not at fault, has rejected the plan? If the answer is yes, then it looks like we're back where we started. Secondly, why shouldn't property damage be covered by the no-fault law?

While bodily injury in general is an important part of the insurance business, we know of plenty of folks who haven't had a scratch but have had their cars demolished and who have waited long periods for the repairs and attendant paperwork to be carried out. This isn't always true, to be sure, but damage to autos is becoming an increasingly large problem, what with inflation and all.

Where does all this leave us, then? Well, we have a law.

Its effectiveness certainly is called into question.

Its promised rate reductions may be only in the heads of the politicians who created the bill.

You still can be sued, sometimes. Not everyone is going to have the same sort of insurance.

You can have your cake and eat it too — by buying the "add-on" benefits.

Mostly though, it leaves us with plenty of questions — which remain unanswered. Frankly, the law may be a bust, making some of the questions, therefore, unanswerable. We conclude, then, that it's time for someone, either in Harold McGuffey's office or the insurance industry to stand up straight, look us in the eye, and tell us the truth.

Just what have we got? How good will no-fault be if we choose it? What will happen if nobody signs up? What will happen to us if we get involved in an accident? Just what will be going on come next July 1?

Undoubtedly some answers will displease the lawyers and some will displease the no-fault promoters. But the truth — the answers to the consumers' questions — is what we need right now. At least that way our decision can be informed, if not intelligent.

Letter To The Editor

Response To Tenure Article Offered By Writer

Dear Editor:

This letter is in response to the Open Forum article by Mark Cunningham in the November 11, Murray Ledger & Times.

Mark points out that the University's administration was censured by a group which calls itself the Faculty Organization, and that the University may be censured by the American Association of University Professors.

Three things should be clearly understood by the public. First, the Faculty Organization does not represent the faculty of Murray State University. Second, the faculty did not censure the university's administration. Those voting for censure made up something less than one-third of the faculty; thus, more than two-thirds of the faculty did not censure the administration. Third, the censure was a destructive act. It damaged the university without helping those it was intended to help.

The Faculty Organization could have been a constructive rather than a destructive force in our current problem if it had acted as a group of mature, responsible people should act. Instead of settling on some reasonable compromise behind which the faculty would rally, they chose to throw the Sunday punch. The majority of the faculty predictably and very sensibly refrained from having any part in such shenanigans. Since the Faculty Organization had done its worst without effect they are trying to raise the ante. The AAUP has been called in and now we have another censure threat.

After speculating about the effect of AAUP censure, Mark winds up concluding that it's easy to tell the good guys from the bad guys. The bad guys of course are those not properly awed by the prospect of AAUP censure. They are pictured as a crass sort who don't appreciate fine things, are selfish and in a generally unwashed condition. They are the kind who cheat at golf.

Perhaps this caricature might lead the public to blame them if AAUP censures. But if AAUP censures, the blame will lie with those who in his eyes are the good guys. For in fact they have not sought every means of healing the rift. They have made it worse by demanding total capitulation and, when it was not forthcoming, taking the ill-advised censure vote and calling in the AAUP. Mark certainly did nothing to heal the rift when he sorted everyone into one or the other of two groups and colored one group noble and the other base. We expect this sort of thing from cartoonists, but not from the faculty representative to the Board of Regents.

More than this, Mark's good guys apparently have only the foggiest of ideas as to the nature and purpose of academic freedom. This freedom is not a divine right as some seem to believe. In fact, it is not a right at all; it is a privilege granted to the academic community by the students and taxpayers who foot the bills. They grant it to us because, as long as we use it responsibly, such is in their interest. Long continued failure to use it responsibly will result in its being withdrawn.

In its original and appropriate meaning, academic freedom is the freedom to deal, without fear of retaliation, with subjects which may be controversial or which various special interest groups might wish to have treated in certain ways—ways consistent with their special interest but inconsistent with the general interest. As far as I know no one contends that this freedom has been violated at Murray State. Yet AAUP is nearly certain to censure for a breach of academic freedom. The reason is that the academic community is a special interest group itself. In our own interest we have stretched the concept of academic freedom far beyond its original meaning. We have been given an inch and have tried to take a mile. Our strong tendency to use academic freedom as a blanket to cover nearly anything which doesn't suit us is ultimately destructive of academic freedom.

'Interesting' Advice

Shop The Money Market Carefully When Borrowing

By BETTY PEACH
Copley News Service

Inflation — the higher cost of everything, including borrowed money — is a hard fact of life now.

Its causes are many and varied, and economists do not agree on its cure.

The average man is hard hit and, among businesses, the building industry has suffered most.

One of the causes of the "tight money" situation is that the same average man is spending more of his income on living expenses, and thus less of his income goes into savings. Traditionally, those savings went into bank savings accounts or into savings and loan associations.

In turn, the savings went to loans to the building industry, for the most part.

Since money is a commodity, the economic rule of costs changing with supply and demand works as well on it as on fresh strawberries at Christmas. Costs of borrowing go up as the supply of money to lend shrinks. There is some available, but like caviar, it may cost more than the borrower is willing to pay.

What does this mean to the man of a fixed salary?

Suppose you need to borrow a little money. Nothing great. Say $1,000.

You have a good job and can pay it back in regular monthly installments over two years. You want a personal note, on your signature only, with no collateral.

Depending on how and where you borrow, you may pay anywhere from 12 to 19.47 per cent interest.

If you borrow from the time plan department of a bank, you may find 15 per cent is the base rate. It can go higher from a firm that specializes in small loans.

If your place of employment has a credit union that may be your best money buy. Depending on your income and length of employment, your signature alone may be sufficient for up to $2,500 in a federally insured credit union.

A state-insured credit union will lend up to $5,000, with a maximum of 36 months for repayment, on a one-payment, a-month basis. The interest will be 1 per cent per month of the unpaid balance.

For the sake of comparative shopping, assume you want $1,000 to be repaid in 24 monthly installments. What is your best course?

"Shop around," said Fred Nelson, vice president of Bank of America.

"Generally, the charges for money are about the same on small loans, but you may save one-half of 1 per cent in a place where you are known, over a place where you are a stranger.

"Money is a commodity, just like anything else in the market. If the cost is too high to suit you, you can postpone making purchases. Belt-tightening is not fun, but it is possible," he said.

At a credit union, your loan of $1,000 will cost you $47.07 a month for 24 months, for a total interest of $129.68.

At a large commercial bank, the time plan loan of $1,000 may be paid off at $50.83 per month for 24 months, for a total interest of $219.92, or 19.47 per cent interest.

But at the bank, the interest rate drops on loans of more than $1,000, a banker pointed out. So by borrowing a little more, you save quite a lot. He gave an example:

Instead of borrowing $1,000, ask for $1,005. That loan will cost you $49.42 per month for a total interest of $181.08, or 16.43 per cent. Borrowing an extra $5 has saved you $38.84 in interest charges. The difference between the highest bank charge and the lowest credit union charge is $90.24. It does pay to shop around.

If, instead of borrowing cash and being obligated to a set payment each month, you prefer to purchase the same amount of merchandise on credit through a department store, you will have the option of a flexible amount of money to be paid on the account each month. The interest will be 1.5 per cent per month on the unpaid balance.

The store will set a minimum amount you may pay each month, but there is no maximum. The minimum usually is 5 per cent of the balance. And with each payment, the 5 per cent of the balance will drop.

As an example, your minimum first payment on $1,000 would be $50, with $15 going to interest and $35 to principal. If you stick to the minimum payment of 5 per cent, the next payment will be $48.25, and it continues to drop a little each month.

The longer you take to pay, the greater the total money spent on interest will become, although the rate of interest will be steady at 1.5 per cent per month on unpaid balance. It is the repeated payment of interest that mounts up so rapidly.

You can save money by paying off the debt as quickly as possible, and there is no penalty for early payment, as there is with some bank loans.

"Also, the buyer may wish to add to the amount he owes by making additional charges," the credit manager of a store pointed out. "This is permissible as long as he has a good credit rating. The system is highly flexible."

If budgeting a steady figure to be paid each month is easier for you, a few department stores that are part of big chains offer "contract buying" as well as the revolving accounts. This is similar to a time plan bank loan.

The $1,000 spent on contract buying (generally used only for furnishings or major appliances) may be repaid at $38 per month for 36 months. The total figure repaid is $1,368, or $368 for interest.

That appears to be an interest rate of 36.8 per cent but since it is spread out over a three-year period, it still amounts to 18 per cent annual percentage rate, the legal limit for credit buying. The total amounts because of the 1.5 per cent per month on unpaid balance. Such a plan avoids large payments at the outset of the repayment period, but misses out on the low ones toward the end.

The solution to the high cost of borrowing? One credit manager put it succinctly: "Paying cash is the most economical way to buy."

Let's Stay Well

"Natural Childbirth" May Need Help.

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

A clash of opinion is currently intensifying regarding "natural childbirth."

It is surprising that such unrest is developing at a time when infant and maternal mortality related to childbirth show greatest improvement in our country.

Pressure from some feminist groups mounts to have women — some of whom are inadequately trained — examine and treat other women who have gynecological and obstetrical problems. A movement toward more home obstetrical care grows.

A "natural delivery" is generally one which is spontaneous, with little or no medication for the relief of pain.

Unfortunately, complications occur with moderate frequency. They consist mainly of hemorrhage or infection or a misfit (dystocia) between the fetus and the mother.

If the pregnant mother has been receiving prenatal care, complications may be prevented or anticipated so that they can be readily handled, should the need arise.

Midwifery is practiced widely in Great Britain and is expanding in this country. The midwives deliver the normal cases, often under the supervision of a physician, who is available if anesthesia is required or if a complication is evident.

It is essential for the mother to be placed under care early in her pregnancy and followed by a competent person, regardless of how the baby is to be delivered. In doing so, she has the best chance of avoiding complications and of coming through her delivery with safety to herself and the baby.

Q. Mr. K. M. states that he has a middle-aged aunt who has been advised to have her colon removed because of an "inflammation" and wonders whether she can live a satisfactory life without her colon.

A. The removal of the colon, a colectomy, is major surgery but is sometimes essential for relief. The degree of disability depends in part on her general health and should be discussed with physicians managing her case. The lower end of the small bowel may be sutured to the rectum to give continuity to her bowel, and this portion of her small intestine (ileum) may dilate and take over the functions of a colon so that she will be able to be comfortable and live a satisfactory life.

Q. Mrs. M. M. says that she is a little old lady who has trouble with the skin on her ankles and that the irritation is usually worse in the mornings when she gets out of bed. She thinks that she is sensitive to the bed sheets.

A. You probably are irritating your skin by rubbing it against the sheets. Try greasing your skin with a lotion or bland cream and wearing some socks or soft flannel boots which cover your ankles. In this way you can reduce the friction and likely protect your skin.

Jeff Burroughs Named American League MVP

By KEN RAPPOPORT

NEW YORK (AP) — Jeff Burroughs, the Texas Rangers' fence-breaking outfielder, was named the American League's Most Valuable Player today.

Burroughs, a 23-year-old who played only his second year in the big leagues in 1974, won handsily over Oakland outfielder Joe Rudi to become the first player from an expansion club to win the coveted award.

The beefy slugger, who batted in a league-leading total of 118 runs, hit 25 homers and fashioned a .301 batting average, was the only player named on all 24 ballots by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The writers, consisting of two in each of the American League cities, gave Burroughs 10 first-place votes and a total of 248 points. Rudi had 5½ votes for first and 161½ points overall.

Two of Rudi's teammates at Oakland followed in the voting as third baseman Sal Bando had 143½ points for third place and outfielder Reggie Jackson 119 for fourth.

In fifth place was pitcher Ferguson Jenkins of the Texas Rangers with 118 points. "Catfish" Hunter, the A's Cy Young winner this season, was sixth with 107 points, giving the 1-2 teams in the American League West a sweep of the top six positions.

A total of 34 players were nominated by the BBWA. Points were tabulated for 10 places on a basis of 14 for first, then 9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for the remainder.

One writer was unable to decide between Rudi and Bando for MVP and voted a tie for the two for first place. This is not unprecedented. In 1959, four writers cast first-place tie votes for Nelson Fox and Luis Aparicio of the Chicago White Sox.

The presence of so many outstanding ballplayers with the World Champion A's apparently prevented any of them from winning. Of the 24 first-place votes, Oakland players collected 11. But with Jenkins claiming three votes for first, Texas players had 13.

Only three players from the American League East finished in the Top Ten. Elliott Maddox of the second-place New York Yankees was eighth with 59 points while Baltimore infielder Bobby Grich had 49 for ninth place and Oriole left-hander Mike Cuellar had 42 for 10th.

Winning the MVP in only his second year in the majors put Burroughs in a special class. Only two others have won it in their sophomore season — Stan Musial with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1943 and Vida Blue with Oakland in 1971.

Rudi hit .293 with 22 home runs and 99 RBI this past season. Bando knocked in 103 runs and hit 22 homers.

Money Problems Hitting WFL Haven't Bothered Southmen

By CRAIG AMMERMAN

AP Sports Writer

Some World Football League players called reporters together in Memphis, Tenn., to voice confidence in the future of their league and their team.

The only difficulty was that the players were all members of the Memphis Southmen, probably the most solid franchise in the shaky league and one certain to improve when it picks up the likes of Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Paul Warfield next year.

John Huarte, quarterback of the Southmen, whose 17-3 record is the league's best, said on Tuesday the money problems hitting the WFL were not affecting the Southmen, whose principal owner is Toronto millionaire John Bassett.

"We've come in with a first-class operation and put a first-class team out there," said co-captain Don Highsmith.

Huarte said "there will be a strong future for the WFL." He said he was confident owners would solve the league's problems in the coming months and put the weaker franchises in stronger hands.

An example of the league's problems is that Memphis has lost about $700,000 this year, $200,000 more than it expected to lose. An Associated Press survey shows that overall the league has lost about $20 million and several franchises.

Those mounting money problems will be the subject this Friday and Saturday when WFL owners and prospective investors meet in Memphis to seek new dollars and new direction.

Meanwhile, league playoffs will be under way. The Hawaiians visit Southern California and Philadelphia plays at Florida in first-round games Thursday night. The winners play Memphis and Birmingham in the semifinals, with the championship game — called the World Bowl — scheduled Dec. 5.

But more important to this league than finishing its first year is how it will begin its second. Before it can, numerous problems must be solved.

The Birmingham franchise, which lost its offices because it didn't pay the bills and had its assets attached in court for back taxes, is seeking $1.5 million in local financing. Players haven't been paid in several weeks, and tax liens of about $500,000 have been filed against the club and its owner.

The Jacksonville franchise hasn't played in eight weeks and the league is looking for someone to buy it. The Florida Blazers haven't paid their players in 11 weeks and a buyer is being sought.

Efforts to prop up the Shreveport and Charlotte franchises — both moved from other cities and both heavily in debt — with local investors have not yet met success.

WFL officials are in Portland this week trying to find local investors to buy out a Canadian millionaire so the team can stay in the Oregon city. A local banker said he had $400,000 of the $1 million he needs to pay off the current owner's debts.

The Hawaiians, who lost $3 million this year, reportedly may move to Chicago. In that city, the Fire quit the last week of the season. Owner Tom Origer, $800,000 in debt with his football team, is seeking to sell the franchise to some other city.

NEW YORK — Gene Moore, a 6-foot-9 forward from St. Louis who bounced around the American Basketball Association for five seasons, was selected by Barcelona as the No. 1 pick in the European Professional Basketball League draft. The newly-formed eight-team EPBL, with teams in Spain, Switzerland, Germany, Great Britain, France, Belgium and Israel, plans to start a 42-game schedule Jan. 17.

Capitals Score Second NHL Victory Of Year

By The Associated Press

Having ended a month-long drought, Mike Marson and the Washington Capitals hope the rest of the skating will be smoother.

The 19-year-old Marson, the first black to play in the National Hockey League in 15 years and only the second in league history, scored the first two goals of his NHL career Tuesday night to lead the Capitals to a 6-4 victory over the California Golden Seals.

The victory broke a 14-game winless skein for the expansion Capitals. It was only their second win against 15 losses, with two ties, this season.

But Marson, who did not score a point in his previous 14 games with Washington, feels the club is not all that bad. "We're back on the track," he said, "and we're beginning to put it together."

Elsewhere in the NHL, the New York Islanders edged the Pittsburgh Penguins 4-3 and the Vancouver Canucks beat the St. Louis Blues 6-3.

In the World Hockey Association, the Houston Aeros bombed the Indianapolis Racers 10-0, the Toronto Toros edged the Cleveland Crusaders 6-5, the New England Raiders nipped the Chicago Cougars 5-4 and the San Diego Mariners beat the Vancouver Blazers 3-2.

Washington and California were tied 3-3 after two periods, but the Capitals erupted for the next three goals — two of them by Marson — to put the game away.

Two other players got the first goals of their NHL careers in the game, Bruce Cowick of Washington and Jim Moxey of California.

Eddie Westfall, switched from center to left wing by Coach Al Arbour in an effort "to get some scoring into the club," came up with two goals and an assist to lead the Islanders, who snapped a five-game losing streak.

The Vancouver Canucks spotted St. Louis an early 2-1 lead, then reeled off five consecutive goals to beat the Blues.

Tigers One Step Away From State

Murray High To Host Paris Here Friday, Greyhounds Are Defending State Champs

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

It was a cold January afternoon as John Hina paced up and down beside the Universal Weight Machine.

On the floor of the gymnasium was the Murray High basketball team; a few weeks later and they would be the Region champions and on the way to the State Tournament.

"We have just as good as chance as anybody," Hina told some of his varsity football players as they were lifting weights in order to get in shape for spring practice.

"A lot will depend on our sophomores but I think if they can come through we'll have a pretty good shot at it," Hina forecasted.

That was early in 1974. And the sign on the marquee at the Holiday Inn on the south entrance to Murray serves as a warning to opposing football teams: "1974 Is Still The Year Of The Tiger."

One more win, that's all it will take for the Tigers to be in the Class A state championship contest.

One more step, and the Tigers will stand on the summit, ready to play the age-old game of king of the mountain.

"They know what they must do and they're ready and waiting," Hina said of his team, getting ready to play Paris at 7:30 p. m. Friday in Holland Stadium.

Paris has an advantage. They've been there before.

Last year, the Greyhounds won the Class A state title by defeating Elkhorn City 21-12.

"It should be an added incentive to them and it has to be an advantage simply because they've played under the same pressure situation before," Hina said.

Paris comes into the contest with a 10-2 season record.

When they were upset 7-6 by Georgetown midway through the season, the Greyhounds had a 23-game winning streak broken.

Their other loss was a 16-0 setback by Harrodsburg. And in that contest, the Greyhounds were trailing 8-0 in the final minute with the ball on their own five-yard line.

The quarterback went back deep to throw the bomb and was hit in the endzone for a safety. On the following punt, a Harrodsburg player ran it back and that was the game.

Paris is coached by Homer Goins, a former tailback at the University of Kentucky.

In his six years at the helm of the Greyhounds, his teams have compiled an incredible 60-10 record.

Here are this season's results:

Paris 15 Garrard County 7, Paris 20 Harrison County 0, Paris 12 Frankfort 8, Paris 21 Ludlow 20, Paris 33 Nicholas County 20, Paris 33 Mt. Sterling 12, Paris 6 Georgetown 7, Paris 8 Richmond-Madison 7, Paris 0 Harrodsburg 16, Paris 27 Montgomery County 7, Paris 15 Bourbon County 6 and Paris 14 Bardstown 12.

The Greyhounds are an explosive ballclub and one thing Hina will have to worry about is field goals.

Kicking specialist Carl Williams has kicked field goals in three of his past four contests. Last year, he kicked four out of five field goals and 41 of 48 extra points.

In a post-season playoff game last year, Williams booted a field goal in the final 50 seconds to give Paris a 15-14 win over Frankfort. Otherwise, the Greyhounds would have lost and never reached the state finals.

"That's something we'll have to worry about now. It will force us into working harder on third down plays when they are in our territory," Hina said.

Paris is not an awesome team, at least in size. On offense, they have only one player over 200 pounds, that being 6-0 junior tackle Mark Withrow who is 6-0 and 205 pounds.

The other tackle is 5-11 sophomore Bill Watson, a 165-pounder. At center is 5-10, 175-pound sophomore Tommy Creasey while the guards are Hal Clark, a 5-9, 155-pound sophomore and 175-pound sophomore Kent Duvall.

Richard Crumie, a 6-2, 180-pound senior plays at tight end while Raymond Smith, a 6-3, 180-pound senior, is at split end.

In the backfield, senior Ricky Hudnall is the quarterback. At 6-1 and 180 pounds, he is in his fifth year on the varsity team.

As an eighth grader, he saw quite a bit of action on the varsity.

The halfbacks are Eugene Young, a 6-0, 175-pound junior and Gary Rice, a 5-11, 165-pound sophomore while Robert Martin, a 5-8, 165-pound senior is at fullback.

Hudnall and Martin were both selected as Honorable Mention All-State last season.

Six players go both ways for the Greyhounds, including Smith and Rice at defensive ends, Withrow at tackle, Martin at an inside linebacker position, Young at an outside linebacker spot, and Hudnall as a defensive halfback.

One tackle spot is held by 6-0, 245-pound junior Keith Lewis while one of the inside linebacker spots is occupied by Billy Reed, a 5-10, 170-pound sophomore.

Other people who play only defense include outside linebacker Jerry Mann, a 5-10, 170-pound senior, Milton Kenny a 5-10, 150-pound sophomore defensive halfback and safety Johnny Duvall, a 6-1, 175-pound junior.

Murray High will bring a 9-2 season record into the contest.

Last week, the Tigers ripped apart Glasgow 28-0 in a playoff contest held at Holland Stadium.

SHALL WE DANCE?—It looks as if Bobby Knight (82) of Murray High and Jeff Norville (10) of Glasgow are getting ready to waltz around the football field. Actually, Knight broke up a pass that was intended for Norville. The Tigers play at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Holland Stadium against Paris. The winner will play next Friday at Richmond in the Class A state finals.

Bucks Snap 11-Game Losing Streak As Price Scores 43

By The Associated Press
The Milwaukee Bucks have been paying the price this season for the absence of superstar Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, but Tuesday night they had the right "price" — Jim Price — and made the Phoenix Suns pay for it.

Price, recently acquired in a trade with the Los Angeles Lakers, fired in 43 points, his career high in the National Basketball Association, as the Bucks beat the Suns 122-108 and ended an 11-game losing streak, the longest in their seven-year history.

The shots were falling for the Bucks against Phoenix. The 122 points were their season high and only the second time in 15 games — 13 of them losses — that the Bucks had surpassed the 100-point mark. They had scored 101 in their opening game against Houston.

With Abdul-Jabbar in the lineup the past five years, the Bucks usually had no difficulty in bettering 100 points. But the 7-foot-2 center has not played since suffering a broken hand and a lacerated eye during an exhibition game Oct. 5. He is expected to rejoin the Bucks Thursday night for part-time duty against Kansas City-Omaha.

Elsewhere in the NBA Tuesday night, Buffalo rallied for a 111-106 victory over Golden State, Houston upended Cleveland 94-85, New York edged Washington 86-85, Atlanta trimmed Seattle 122-113, Kansas City-Omaha downed Detroit 97-87, and Portland outlasted Chicago 98-92 in overtime.

In the only American Basketball Association game, Utah topped St. Louis 99-93.

Bob Dandridge, normally a forward, was switched to guard, and added 27 points for the Bucks while holding Phoenix' Dick Van Arsdale to one basket and 10 points. Charlie Scott led Phoenix with 32 points.

Buffalo, in extending its winning streak to eight, a team record, rallied from a 17-point halftime deficit to beat Golden State. Bob McAdoo paced Buffalo with 43 points, 28 in the second half, and 19 rebounds.

Houston stretched its winning string to four and moved within one game of first-place Washington in the Central Division by defeating Cleveland with the help of Mike Newlin's 24 points.

New York, which trailed Washington for more than three quarters, nipped the Bullets on Walt Frazier's layup with one second remaining. Frazier finished with 17 points and a career-high 16 rebounds. Earl Monroe topped New York with 22 points.

Rookie John Drew's 34 points helped Atlanta rally from a 20-point deficit and overtake Seattle.

Kansas City-Omaha used balanced scoring, with Jimmy Walker collecting 23 points, Nate Archibald 22 and Nate Williams 20, in downing Detroit.

Sidney Wicks tallied 25 points and John Johnson 24, lifting Portland — minus injured Bill Walton, its star rookie center — past Chicago for the Trail Blazers' fourth straight victory.

Ron Boone pumped in 30 points and Jim Eakins added 24, sparking Utah's victory over St. Louis. Utah's Moses Malone outscored the Spirits' Marvin Barnes 15-13 in a battle of highly touted rookies, Malone holding Barnes scoreless in the first half.

The Greyhounds are an explosive ballclub and one thing Hina will have to worry about is field goals.

Kicking specialist Carl Williams has kicked field goals in three of his past four contests. Last year, he kicked four out of five field goals and 41 of 48 extra points.

"That's something we'll have to worry about now. It will force us into working harder on third down plays when they are in our territory," Hina said.

player over 200 pounds, that being 6-0 junior tackle Mark Withrow who is 6-0 and 205 pounds.

Ohio State Picked By Seven Over Michigan

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON.
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "The lump in my throat is a little bigger this week," says Coach Barry Switzer of Oklahoma. "We're not loose at all," says Michigan's Bo Schembechler. "This is a big game."

Midnight Rally At MSU Friday

A pep rally and bonfire will be held at midnight Friday at the soccer field at Murray State University. The "Beat Western Kentucky Rally" will feature Racer football coach Bill Furgerson as guest speaker. Also speaking will be Big M Club President Dick Stout. Following the bonfire at old Cutchin Stadium, a victory march through campus will begin. All students and townspeople are urged to attend and lend support in the rally.

Let them feel the pressure on the playing fields of Lincoln, Neb., where top-rated Oklahoma meets sixth-ranked Nebraska, and Columbus, Ohio, where No. 3 Michigan faces fourth-ranked Ohio State. "Our defensive coaches think Nebraska's a better offensive team than they were last year," Switzer reports. "It's going to be the most physical football game we've played. It's the biggest game we've played since we played 'em last year."

That one ended 27-0 in favor of Oklahoma. This one? Try 26-14 ... Oklahoma. Last week's score was 46 right, 20 wrong and one tie for .697, so maybe we are feeling the pressure, after all. For the season, it's 419-182-16—718. Upset Special of the Week ... Southern Methodist 21, Baylor 17. Bears' bubble bursts. By the way, if Baylor wins, Texas would be eliminated from the Southwest Conference chase. Elsewhere ... Notre Dame 35, Air Force 0: Even if ND's looking ahead to Southern Cal, it won't help the

2-8 Falcons, suffering through their worst season ever. Maryland 38, Virginia 10: Virginia Coach Sonny Randle says Maryland probably is the finest team to ever play in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He's about to find out first-hand. Michigan State 21, Iowa 7: Young Spartans conclude a 7-3-1 season and start looking ahead to next year. Houston 31, Florida State 14: Seminoles on another losing streak. Yale 24, Harvard 14: This makes it a perfect 9-0 for the Yalies. Kentucky 20, Tennessee 16: Give me liberty ... or the Liberty Bowl. Louisiana State 21, Tulane 7: Ten weeks ago, they thought this might mean a bowl bid. Clemson 35, South Carolina 28: Nothing could be finer than for South Carolina to win Paul Dietzel's coaching finale. North Carolina 40, Duke 30: Get some new batteries for the scoreboard, Myrtle. Wake Forest 21, Furman 14: Nation's last winless team gets a last-chance win.

North Girls Take Pair Of Wins Over Tigers

North Elementary defeated Murray Middle School in a pair of girls basketball games played Tuesday at North.

In the seventh grade contest, North took an easy 27-12 win while in the eighth grade contest, the Lakers romped to a 40-16 triumph.

The North seventh graders moved to a 10-4 first period lead but in the second quarter, only one point was scored by either club, that being a charity toss by the Lakers which gave them a seven-point edge at intermission.

But in the third period, North broke loose for 14 points and sewed up the win.

Tammy Frankhouser paced the winners with eight points. In the eighth grade contest, North jumped out to a 10-0 lead in the first period and never looked back. At the end of the quarter stop, the Lakers led 16-3.

Handicap Winner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Broom Hilda, a Ranger 37-foot sloop from California Yacht Club, has been declared the overall and Class D handicap winner of the 1,023-mile Los Angeles-to-Acapulco yacht race.

The Marina Del Rey-based winner, owned and skippered by Guido Mortarotti, required more than eight days to complete the slowest running in the race's history because of light winds all the way.

Runnerup over-all and in Class D was Wimsey Tres, a Yankee 38 skippered by Commodore Hugh Rogers of the sponsoring Los Angeles Yacht Club. Black Bird, skippered by Allen Puckett of California Yacht Club, was the Class B handicap winner and Concube, skippered by Richard Daniels of Huntington Harbor Yacht Club, took Class C honors.

In the second period, North scored six points while Murray had four and the Lakers lead at halftime stood at 15 points.

In the final half, the Lakers outscored Murray 18-9. Shelia Lawrence turned in a brilliant game to pace North with 12 points.

Using her fine speed and her strength under the boards, she showed fine moves in working inside for the easy shots.

Stephanie Wyatt, playing the post for the Lakers, also had an outstanding game inside as she worked the boards well and tossed in eight.

Penny Price had a fine game for the Tigers as she paced the Murray attack with 10 points.

It was the opening games of the season for the Tigers, who were hurt in the contest because of their limited practice sessions.

Racer Blue-Gold Game To Be Played Monday

By Joe Tom Erwin
MSU Sports Publicity
Murray State basketball fans will get their first look at the 1974-75 Racers at the annual Blue-Gold game Monday night.

The game will begin at approximately 7:30 o'clock in the MSU Sports Arena. Even new coach Fred Overton says he doesn't quite know what to expect from this season's Racers. "We lost so many people from last year's team and we have so few players with experience that I really don't know what to predict until I see the team in action," Overton said.

"I think we'll have good speed and quickness which should make for a good running offense and pressure defenses. However, we'll be hurting for size and I know we'll have some problems with board play. I think our players will handle the ball well but we'll need to develop a super ballhandler for our quarterback."

"Our shooting should be good throughout the squad but we need to work on our shot selection. We'll do a lot of running and shooting at the end of the break and it's necessary that our players learn their range. I want them to run with purpose and control."

"I know I shouldn't be with all our personnel losses, our inexperience, and our lack of size, but I'm an optimistic person and I have lots of hope for this team and this season."

Jesse Williams, who was named to the preseason All-Ohio-Valley Conference by league coaches, is the only regular starter last year to return this season. A 6-6 junior forward, Williams averaged 10.7 points and 6 rebounds a game last year. He also started most of his freshman season, averaged 7.2 points, and was named the OVC's outstanding freshman.

"Williams is a fine shooter and rebounder and a great jumper," Overton says. "He ended last season with a couple fine performance which I think will help his confidence."

Two other returning Racers, 6-6 guard-forward Grover Woolard and 6-2 guard Henry Kinsey, saw considerable action last season and each started a few games. Woolard, a sophomore, averaged 7.6 points. Kinsey, a senior averaged 3.6.

Woolard is one of the most versatile players on the team and can play either inside or out. Kinsey is a good offensive player with the ball and can do lots of things off the dribble. Jeff Hughes, a 6-2 junior guard, appeared in nine games last season, and Steve Bowers, a 6-4 senior guard, played in 12.

Two redshirts, 6-3 guard Zachery Blasingame and 6-8 center Larry Moffett, may prove to be key players for the Racers. Blasingame, who injured a knee just before last season began, has a good inside game and is an aggressive competitor. Moffett has good quickness and leaping ability at the post and should be one of the major strengths of the Racer defense.

Other players on the squad include 5-9 guard Donnie Woods, up from the junior varsity, 5-10 guard Derrick Melvin, 6-3 Lloyd Williams, 6-3 guard Tommy Wade, 6-1 guard Reggie Baker, 6-1 guard Gregg Cruse, and 6-3 forward Mike Dickens, all freshmen.

In Monday's game, Williams, Woolard, Kinsey, Hughes, Blasingame, Moffett, and Melvin will be matched against the rest of the squad.

The Racers will open their season at Baylor Nov. 30. Following a game at the University of Texas Dec. 2, they will return to Murray for four straight games—Tennessee Wesleyan, Dec. 4; Louisiana College, Dec. 7; Missouri Southern Dec. 9; and Arkansas College, Dec. 11.

report in his mid-day meeting with Mitchell, the jury was also to hear an 11 p.m. telephone conversation between the president and H. R. Haldeman and a subsequent phone call between the president and Ehrlichman.

This is the eighth week of the trial of Ehrlichman, Mitchell, Haldeman and re-election committee aides Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson on cover-up conspiracy charges.

Before the jurors were brought in today, Haldeman's lawyer asked again that the jury not be permitted to see a five-to 10-minute video tape of Haldeman's testimony before the Senate Watergate committee last year because it would be a "spectacle on one count of Mr. Haldeman's being singled out for photographic purposes."

The government wants to show the video tape segment as evidence on one of the three counts of perjury lodged against Haldeman. The charge is that he lied to the Senate committee on July 30, 1973, in quoting President Nixon as saying that there would be no problem in raising a million dollars hush money "but it would be wrong."

Haldeman's lawyer, John J. Wilson, objected that the video tape made it sound as if his client were quoting directly when instead it was part of a narrative.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica said he would review the tape out of the presence of the jury before making a final ruling.

The jurors spent Tuesday listening to earlier April 14, 1973, conversations among Nixon, Haldeman and Ehrlichman.

World Sugar Market Still Remains Tight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government report says the world sugar market "continues tight, with only a rumor needed to push up prices significantly."

Recent increases which already have driven sugar prices far in excess of previous records probably will lead to increased world production of sugar, the Department of Agriculture said Tuesday.

"Looking ahead, high sugar prices will likely stimulate increased world sugar output in the next one to three years as major adjustments are made," the department said. "In the United States, at least, high sugar prices and high prices of sugar-containing products will likely lower per capita consumption in 1975."

Despite the cost, sugar continues "available for those buyers who are willing to pay the very high prices," the department said in a situation report issued by its Economic Research Service.

World sugar production in the 1974-75 season is about 1.5 million tons less than previously forecast and reserve stocks are unusually low, the report said.

Prices of raw sugar delivered to New York during the third quarter of this year averaged nearly $31.60 per 100 pounds, up from $23 in the second quarter and almost triple the $10.70 average of the first three months, the report said.

As of Nov. 7, the New York price was $55 per 100 pounds, far exceeding the previous record of $23.60 set in 1920, the report said. The Nov. 7 price did not include more recent increases.

Group Seeking Four Lane Of Highway 45

CORINTH, Miss. (AP)—The newly formed U.S. 45 Corridor Association will meet in Jackson, Tenn., Dec. 17, to elect its permanent officers and map its strategy to support the four-lane of the road between Paducah, Ky., and Pascagoula, Miss.

The organization was formed during a meeting here Tuesday. The highway stretches from the Gulf Coast to Lake Superior in Michigan.

Temporary officers elected Tuesday included George Kimes of Jackson, Tenn., president; Robert Glasgow of Martin, Tenn., vice president for Tennessee; Sam Wilhite of Aberdeen, vice president for Mississippi and Larry Welch of Jackson, Tenn., secretary-treasurer.

TOKYO (AP) — President Ford and Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka agreed today on the need to enhance cooperation among the oil-consuming nations while seeking to maintain harmony in their relations with the oil-exporting countries.

In a joint communique issued after two days of talks between Ford and top Japanese officials, the President and the prime minister said:

"The United States and Japan recognize the need for a more efficient and rational utilization and distribution of world resources. Realizing the importance of stable supplies of energy at reasonable prices, they will seek, in a manner suitable to their economies, to expand and diversify energy supplies, develop new energy sources and conserve on the use of scarce fuels."

chell, a mine roofbolter in Ohio's UMW District 6.

"This package is terrible," said miner Robert Koons in Glusier, Ohio. "I think the men were shortchanged. I'm sure the miners will vote against it."

After bargaining council approval is obtained, union officials say ratification by the members would take eight to ten days.

To limit the strike to three weeks, the union would have to present the miners with a tentative agreement for ratification no later than this weekend.

Government economists have estimated that a strike lasting as long as four weeks would result in as many as 400,000 layoffs and cause major disruptions to the economy.

Hopkins Asks Carroll To Call Session

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — State Rep. Larry J. Hopkins, R-Lexington, has asked Lt. Gov. Julian Carroll to call a special session of the General Assembly when he assumes the governorship in January.

In a letter to Carroll, Hopkins said "you have the opportunity to right a wrong perpetuated by your predecessor, which if allowed to stand, will establish a precedent which could totally destroy any opportunity we have to make the legislature a co-equal branch of Kentucky government as envisioned by those who designed our Constitution."

Hopkins was apparently referring to the Ford administration surplus tax revenue, which he believes the legislature should review.

A suit filed by Hopkins challenging the governor's disposal of the surplus was recently dismissed by Franklin Circuit Court.

The lieutenant governor was not available for comment Tuesday night.

Veternarian Urges Farmers To Watch For Oak Poisoning Signs

By BILL BERGSTROM

Associated Press Writer

If Western Kentucky farmers watch for signs of oak poisoning in their cattle and treat affected animals early, they may be able to avoid severe financial losses this fall, a state veterinarian says.

Dr. Wade L. Kadel, director of the state Agriculture Department's diagnostic laboratory at Hopkinsville, said Tuesday that oak or acorn poisoning, which usually occurs mainly in October, is still killing unusually high numbers of cattle this month.

He said cases have been diagnosed at farms ranging

MSU Educators In Symposium Meeting

Three representatives of the faculty in the College of Human Development and Learning at Murray State University are participating this week in the 1974 Phi Delta Kappa National Symposium for Professors of Educational Research in Atlanta.

Accepting invitations to participate in the meeting Nov. 18-20 are: Dr. William (Pete) Ryan, professor in the Department of Instruction and Learning; and Dr. Arvin Crafton and Dr. Jack Rose, associate professor and assistant professor respectively in the Department of Professional Studies.

The symposium is concentrating on the process of teacher evaluation, with attention given primarily to two areas—methods of evaluating teaching and facets of teaching to be evaluated.

Keynote speaker for the symposium is Dr. Irvin Lehman of Michigan State University. Phi Delta Kappa, a professional education society for men, is sponsoring the symposium, which is directed by William J. Gephart and Robert B. Ingle.

producing nations. Both countries agree that further international cooperative efforts are necessary to forestall an economic and financial crisis."

The pledge of cooperative action appeared to represent a concession by the Japanese, who are 99 per cent dependent on imported oil and in the past seemed ready to go it alone in dealing with the Arab nations.

But the communique stopped far short of Japanese acceptance of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's proposal last week that Japan, the United States, Canada and Western Europe forge a common front before dealing with the oil-exporting countries on price and supply questions.

The communique also declared that Japan and the United States "remain committed to their international pledges to avoid actions which adversely affect the economies of other nations."

One of Ford's major objectives in his meeting with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev in Vladivostok later this week will be to clear the way for progress in American-Soviet arms limitation negotiations.

Ford flies to the ancient imperial capital of Kyoto on Thursday and will fly from there to Seoul, South Korea, Friday for a day's stay before going to Vladivostok.

The President said he sees the United States and Japan as "permanent friends" who must work together.

The Kirksey United Methodist Men's Breakfast Club held its regular monthly meeting on Sunday morning at seven o'clock with wives, sweethearts and mothers as guests of the members.

the devotional, reading from the first chapter of Psalms and leading the morning prayer.

Quint Guier, the oldest and one of the most active of the members, introduced Mr. Stuart as the featured speaker of the morning, noting his special friendship with the Stuarts and pointing out some common experiences as country boys and rural school teachers.

Mr. Stuart who has been acclaimed as Kentucky's greatest and most renowned authors by people all over the world held his audience spellbound by his down to earth stories of rural mountain living. He told of his determination to get an education and of his many experiences in working his way through school.

The religious undertone of his address was built around the Biblical truth, "The Kingdom of God Is Within You." He gave words of encouragement to the young, and renewed faith in God and country in the adult. He pointed to hope and work as remedies for a troubled and busy world.

Breakfast was prepared by Club Chefs, with whole-hog country sausage furnished by Jewell McCallon. Mark McCallon, the youngest member of the club, was in charge of coffee serving.

Attorney General Says Interest Rate Does Not Have To Be Lowered

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The attorney general's office has advised that the interest rate on a loan does not have to be reduced when payment on the loan decreases the balance to $15,000 or less.

The opinion comes in the wake of a new state usury law, effective last June, which removed the interest ceiling on all loans where the original principal exceeded $15,000.

On loans of less than $15,000, the state law retained the 8½ per cent interest ceiling.

The opinion by Assistant Atty. Gen. Charles W. Runyan came in response to questions by Carl R. Page, attorney for the state Department of Banking and Securities.

Page raised questions about interest rates in four cases:

—Where a customer is loaned $20,000 at 9 per cent over a three-year period, to be repaid in equal monthly installments. Must the interest rate be reduced to 8½ per cent when the loan reaches $15,000?

Runyan advised that since the original principal amount was in excess of $15,000, the remaining balance factor was immaterial.

—Where a customer is loaned $20,000, with an interest rate of 9 per cent due 90 days from the date of the note.

He pays $6,000 on principal and interest when due, and the bank applies the payment to the principal and accepts the interest.

—But does not take a new note. Must the interest be reduced to 8½ per cent?

The attorney general's office advised that the interest rate does not need to be reduced because the original written obligation involved a principal in excess of $15,000. Even though the payment reduced the principal, the interest rate would still be based on the "original principal amount" as stated in the new law.

—In the same case, but where the bank did obtain a new note, would it be required to reduce the interest rate to 8½ per cent?

Runyan advised that the bank would still not be obliged to reduce the interest rate to 8½ per cent if the new note is a renewal note merely extending the time for payment and containing the original language of the initial contract.

"Under the facts given we are inclined to believe that only one independent loan transaction is involved. We say this even though the parties may have intended that the original note be discharged," Runyan wrote in his opinion.

In the fourth case, Runyan advised that the interest on a $15,000 loan at 8½ per cent may be calculated on a 360-day timetable, and need not be calculated on a 365-day basis. He said the 360-day basis is in common use by Kentucky banks.

In another opinion, the attorney general's office ruled that employees should be paid overtime according to a new Kentucky law, rather than by the federal law which sets out different procedures.

The state law, effective last June, requires that overtime be paid to all employees working longer than 40 hours per workweek, with the exception of certain agricultural, retail, restaurant, hotel or motel employees; professional or administrative workers; government employees or salesmen.

Under the federal law a worker could not be paid overtime until he worked more than 80 hours in a 14-day period or two workweeks.

In an opinion issued at the request of John C. Darsie Jr., a special counsel in the office of legal counsel at the University of Kentucky, deputy attorney general Martin Glazer said the state statute, which is "more restrictive and more beneficial to the employee, takes effect despite the fact that the federal fair labor standards act authorizes a hospital employee to receive overtime payments only after 80 hours of work in a 14-day period."

Darsie had requested the opinion in regard to employees at the UK hospital, asking whether they should be paid overtime according to state or federal statutes.

Glazer pointed out in his opinion that the state law covers hospital employees, with the exception of persons who hold executive, administrative, supervisory or professional posts.

Mike Hendon Selected For 3-Day Seminar

Mike Hendon, 20, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gene Hendon, 1200 East Dogwood Drive, was one of 30 students aboard Chapman College's World Campus Afloat, the S. S. Universe Campus, to be selected recently to attend a three-day seminar on Mediterranean politics in Rome.

Mike, a junior political science major at Murray State and one of 570 students aboard the ship, presented a research paper on Lebanese-U. S. foreign relations at the Rome meeting, having left and rejoined the ship at Naples.

He is on the European jaunt of the World Campus Afloat program, having sailed September 4 from Los Angeles. He is due back in the United States on December 23. The program's next cruise, sailing in February, will visit countries in the Asian and Far Eastern areas.

Sponsored by the American Field Service, Mike's trip to Rome was an all-expenses-paid extra attraction of the cruise with those attending being selected on a competitive basis.

Bugging Pesticide Manufacturers Pays Off

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Bugging the pesticide manufacturers about a new registration law is paying off. One month after the division of special programs in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection began registering pesticides, over 600 varieties had been approved. According to state pesticides chief, Fred Waters, the number may reach 5,000 by the January deadline. But, Waters thinks only 600 different chemicals will be registered. The rest will be identical chemicals sold under the different brand names.

A new state law places pesticide regulation under the state environmental protection agency. The law says, beginning Oct. 1, all manufacturers of pesticides must register the chemicals they sell in Kentucky with the agency. Many pesticides previously were registered with the University of Kentucky regulatory service. A few months ago, the department began sending messages to pesticide manufacturers telling them of the new requirements. "We wanted to make sure the manufacturers knew what they were expected to do," said Waters. "If the response so far is an indication, we succeeded in reaching the right people with the right information."

Each pesticide must be registered for use on specified crops and at stated stages of their growth. The restrictions and approved uses must be spelled out on the pesticide's label. Before the state registers a pesticide for a particular use, it must be approved and registered for that use by the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), which investigates each chemical. However, the state may issue an emergency registration for a specific use of a pesticide which has not been registered for that use with the EPA.

All Regulations Of State Agencies To Be Reviewed, Refiled, By July 1

FRANKFORT, Ky. — While U. S. citizens have always had input into the process of self-government, seldom have they had the opportunity now available to Kentuckians.

As a result of the passage of Senate Bill 172 by the 1974 General Assembly, all regulations written by all agencies of state government have come under intense scrutiny, are being repealed or revised and, if citizens or interest groups so request, aired at public hearings. To insure that this process will be carried out, SB-172 simply states that all present regulations automatically will be repealed on July 1, 1975, unless reviewed and refiled.

According to Mort Stamm, General Counsel for the Department for Human Resources, the General Assembly enacts broad legislation and authorizes agencies to adopt regulations which are consistent with the legislation and necessary to the implementation of programs intended by it.

The new law requires all regulations to be refiled by June 30, 1975, making it necessary for each agency to study existing regulations and to make sure that they are necessary and in accord with the intent of the legislation under which they are authorized.

In the past, regulations were developed by agencies, filed with the Legislative Research Commission and, usually after 30 days, became effective. About two years ago, a legislative subcommittee was appointed to screen these regulations. The result of its activities was the enactment of Senate Bill 172. "People now have a clear right to see what is going on in state government," Stamm said, noting that agency regulations affect numerous aspects of everyday life and touch upon everything from fluoridation of water supply to how wide a door must be for a nursing home.

Stamm said that the process should make the regulations more precise and eliminate innocent abuses of enabling legislation or outright abuses in which an agency adopts, as a regulation, subject matter which the General Assembly has refused to pass in the form of a bill. Also, it will eliminate regulations which have become statutory or for which the enabling legislation has been repealed.

After the regulations are refiled with the LRC, they are printed in the Administrative Register, which is available by subscription from the LRC at a cost of $24 per year. At this point, if any interested persons question a particular regulation, they may request a public hearing. If objections are raised, the agency must state in writing its reasons for not incorporating the suggested changes if the agency elects not to accept them. It then goes to a legislative subcommittee for review.

According to Stamm, who said he expects all DHR regulations to be refiled by late December, "It's a lot of work and headache right now, but a year from now we'll be much better off. The agencies will be better off for taking the time to look at the regulations and, hopefully, the people will be better off if they take a closer look at what government is doing."

State Public Defenders Are Preparing For New Penal Code

FRANKFORT, Ky. — New Year's Day 1975 will usher a brief but hair-raising era of confusion into Kentucky courts as judges and lawyers then begin grappling with the state's new penal code. But the state's public defenders have been boning up on the new code to help the expected rough transition from a legal heritage largely based on common law justice.

David Murrell, deputy public defender, reported in an interview that a recently completed series of four one-day training sessions on the code reached some 150 public defenders and other criminal defense lawyers wanting to prepare for the big switch.

The sessions were held at four strategically located spots in the major sections of Kentucky—Kentucky Dam Village (West), Lake Cumberland (South), Jenny Wiley (East) and Gen. Butler state parks. About 40 persons attended each session.

Murrell joined Paula Issacs, assistant defender, and Tony Wilhoit, the state's chief public defender, in giving lectures at each session. The subject matter was drawn largely from a 370-page text written as a reference manual published and distributed by the state Justice Department's Bureau of Training, which also provides them with one-week training courses.

In their training sessions, Murrell said the public defenders dwelled only on general provisions of the code and their ramifications, ignoring discussions of specific crimes. Such provisions included sentencing, probation and fining procedures.

Asked what areas of the code loom as the most troublesome or controversial, Murrell pinpointed a number of "Procedural" matters. For an example, he cited the issuance of insanity notices as "drastically different" from common law procedures and as sparking the most heated squabbles among lawyers. Prior to the new code, insanity notices—papers which defense lawyers file declaring that their clients might be insane—could be issued anytime before or during a trial. The code, however, prescribes that defense lawyers must issue the notices at least 20 days before the trial date. But it also requires that prosecutors provide a list of persons they plan to use in countering the "insanity" plea. Murrell said the new provision "cuts both ways"—for and against the defense and prosecution. I should reduce the number of insanity pleas hurled at prosecutors, but it will leave defendants with cases bolstered by pre-trial access to a list of opponents to the plea.

Among other problems anticipated after Jan. 1 is interpretation of the death penalty and sentences prescribed for other felonies. The new code, which is more diversified, defines more than a half dozen types of murders and four different classes of felonies.

Although Murrell said the code generally is balance, he said that it seems to tilt slightly in favor of defense attorneys in that they will be unencumbered by problems facing prosecutors, including more paperwork and different terminology.

"The new code essentially is a more comprehensive formal version of the old code and common law. But the differences seem to boil down to a new terminology."

"The new code essentially is a more comprehensive, formal version of the old code and common law. But the differences seem to boil down to a new terminology, and it's the prosecutor's problem to define the charge to fit the alleged crime—he must understand that code," he added.

The only other sessions on the new code available to public defenders included last September continuing legal education seminars at the University of Louisville and University of Kentucky.

Murrell said plans call for next summer's general public defender seminar to be devoted, at least in part, to a discussion of how the code will have taken shape and ways to cope with still-nagging and new problems.

After the first corn crop had been gathered, the original Plymouth Thanksgiving was held November 26, 1621. The Pilgrim Fathers and Governor Bradford decided to have a feast, a day of Thanksgiving.

They invited the friendly Indians to join them. Chief Massasoit and his 90 braves, came with wild turkeys and venison.

There were 55 English-speaking people present. Of the 55, only four were women. It is reported that these women, with the help of the young girls and one servant, prepared the feast for this large gathering. It was held outdoors because there was no room large enough to hold this number.

That first Thanksgiving Day was long before football monopolized our holiday activities. Back then, the Pilgrims lifted the lids on kettles loaded with early American foods. Things like corn, beans, tomatoes, potatoes, puddings, corn-bread, maple syrup, pears, clam chowder and wild turkeys, geese, ducks and venison hung on poles and roasted over open beds of coals.

And that was the menu because it really was a feast. It started out as a breakfast and with the preaching, feasting, talking and games, the activities lasted three days. I am sure today's Thanksgiving Day menu is just as well planned and prepared, but is it as well received?

In many "quarters," Thanksgiving Day dinner is briefly enjoyed during the "half-time" ceremonies. This, of course, is by far the worst "penalty" you can hand out to your cook or host. Also, eating dinner that quickly may throw your tummy for a "loss." Fellows, this Thanksgiving, spend more time at the table and I am sure you will earn more "extra points" for the "home team!"

In closing, all of us here at Jim Adams IGA wish you and yours a happy and safe Thanksgiving holiday.
