Children's Art Workshop

About 30 children in grades one through six enrolled in a Children's Art Workshop at Murray State University this fall will meet for the final time Saturday morning, Dec. 14. Divided into two groups of grades one through three and grades four through six, the series of eight work sessions was taught by Tom Spoerner, assistant professor of art, and Pat Maloney, graduate student, with assistance from undergraduate art students studying to be art teachers. Shown as representative of a variety of activities enjoyed by the children are: (at right) a photography class for the older group with Spoerner offering comments about work they produced to demonstrate how special paper exposed to light and then processed in chemicals produces an image; (lower right) Raysha Roberts (left) and Rhaygen Burke, both third graders at Robertson Elementary School, as they try their hands at painting wood sculpture. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Roberts and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Burke; and (lower left) Carter Elementary School first grader Natascha Tubbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tubbs, who is intent on a tempera painting that reflects her creativity. Among other workshop activities were oil pastels and clay by both groups, paper collages and felt tip markers by the first three grades, and glue line relief prints, foil plaques, and contour drawings by the students in grades four through six.

Lindauer Disagrees With Ford's Evaluation Of Nation's Economy

By M. C. GARROTT
The dean of the College of Business and Public Affairs at Murray State University, strongly disagrees with President Gerald Ford on the seriousness of the nation's currently depressed economic condition.

While the President was saying in Washington last night that the nation's economy "is in difficult straits," Dr. John Lindauer, who has become nationally-recognized as one of the administration's foremost economic critics, was telling more than 125 public officials, business leaders and students that "America is in the midst of an economic disaster."

Speaking at a special seminar on the nation's current economic woes, the Murray dean, the only Kentuckian to attend the President's recent economic summit conference in Washington, listed five areas of American life which, he said, reflect his views:

—Millions of people are being hurt because prices are rising faster than their incomes.

—More millions of people are being ruined by unemployment, and "we all are suffering from that unemployment." "The clock can't be turned back," he said. "We have lost all the houses and cars and the food that could have been produced by our unemployed workers and capital."

—America has lost its position of world leadership because of the depressed state of its economy. "Other countries no longer want to copy us," he said. "They want more food and cars for their people, not less. They are looking elsewhere."

—Government "bureaucrats," he said, have responded, "not by helping, but by getting into everything. The control of the economy's day-to-day business affairs is passing from private hands into those of the government."

—Worse of all, he said, millions of people are losing confidence in the American way of life and its freedoms. "If this continues," he noted, "we will, sooner or later, seek something else. Perhaps socialism, and that would be a tragedy."

Although the basis for the problem, he said, lies primarily in "bad governmental policies" and a failure of the Ford administration to take positive, corrective action, much of the blame for these policies falls on "our businessmen and government officials."

the realities of the business world and convinced each other that the only way to fight inflation is to hold down the money supply and have a balanced budget," he said.

"Because they are influential in our society, they have been able to convince the media and politicians that too much spending is the cause of inflation and that budget balance and money supply restrictions are the way to avoid having too much spending. Although these ideas are very popular, unfortunately, they are not realistic," he said.

Although he sees little hope for early relief from the pressures of the current economic crisis because "we are trapped by the ignorance of unqualified policy-makers," Lindauer said that he was "firmly convinced" that the crisis could be ended "in six months" if certain steps were taken.

The Federal Reserve system needs to be pressured into releasing more "anti-inflation" money, he said, to:

—Take some of the cash flow pressure off the nation's businesses by providing them with badly needed customers.

—Lower interest rates so

Inquest Fails To Find Cause Of King's Death

A coroner's jury today failed to determine the cause of the death of Ronnie W. King, who died Oct. 18, 1974.

An inquest had been ordered by County Coroner Max Morris, but testimony at the hearing this morning failed to reveal the exact cause of his death.

The autopsy report from Medical Examiner David Barrett said the final pathologic diagnosis shows "no direct morphologic cause of death."

Testimony this morning showed that traces of residual heroin and other drugs and alcohol were found in King's bloodstream, but "not in sufficient amounts to cause death."

The jury verdict, signed by foreman Wells Purdom, Jr., said the death of King was caused "by unknown causes." Purdom later commented that there were "too many factors involved and no definite pattern."

Several rumors were dispelled at the hearing, and Coroner Morris commented later this morning that King's body showed absolutely no signs of foul play. By direct question, Morris said positively that there was no head injury or cut on King's head, and no battery acid in his blood stream, two of the predominant rumors in the case.

Morris said he will not put an exact cause of death on the death certificate, but will put the jury's findings and the fact that the medical examiner could not determine cause of death.

A police investigation will open pending further developments. County Attorney Sid Easley, who conducted the inquest, said there is "no statute of limitations" on felonies, and the case will be subject to further investigation if new information is uncovered.

Sheriff's Department Arrests Two; Investigate Break-In At MoGo Oil

A burglary at the MoGo Oil Co., Highway 641 North, netted over $700 cash early today, according to County Sheriff's deputies.

Glenn Underhill, manager of the station, listed as missing one .32 calibre pistol, $705 in cash, and an unknown amount of charge receipts.

Board Meets Friday

Requests For Tenure Hearings To Be Considered By Regents

The Murray State Board of Regents go into executive (closed) session Friday to review four faculty members' requests for a full hearing before the board on tenure decisions. The four, all denied tenure at the university, are V. R. Shelton, May Boaz Simmons, L. Charles Ward, and Maura Yoo.

In other business at the board meeting, scheduled to begin at 10 a. m., the regents will:

—Hear a recommendation from President Constantine Curris on a coordinator of the Allied Health Program;

—Discuss a proposed policy for public service leaves of absence for faculty and staff members; and —Consider the establishment of a military science minor.

The regents are not scheduled to go into executive session until they have disposed of the other business on the agenda.

AT ECONOMIC SEMINAR: The presidents of the two Murray banks were among those attending the seminar last night at Murray State University on the current economic crisis in America. Shown talking with Dr. John Lindauer, left, dean of the College of Business and Public Affairs at the University and the principal speaker, are H. Glenn Doran, president of People's Bank, center, and Joe Dick, president of the Bank of Murray. More than 125 government officials, businessmen, faculty members and students participated in the 2½-hour-long discussion.

Tax Bill Killed By Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — A multibillion-dollar tax bill, ending the petroleum depletion allowance and hiking oil industry taxes while cutting taxes for millions of average Americans, was killed today by the House Rules Committee.

The committee, which serves as the traffic cop for the movement of bills to the House, voted 9 to 4 to refuse to consider the massive measure which the House Ways and Means Committee had recommended after many months of work.

Cloudy and Cool

Partly cloudy and cool today and tonight. Mostly cloudy and continued cool Friday. Highs today and Friday in the upper 40s to low 50s. Lows tonight in the low to mid 30s.

Chance of showers Saturday, partly cloudy Sunday and Monday. Lows in the 30s Saturday, cooling to the 20s by Monday. Highs in the 40s all three days.

Ford Calls For New Programs To Combat Economic Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with a deepening recession and rising unemployment, President Ford has directed his economic advisers to prepare new programs to combat the nation's economic problems. Ford said in a speech Wednesday night he expects to have the programs ready for the new Congress when it convenes Jan. 14. His advisers will be working through the Christmas holidays to prepare it, he said.

Treasury Department sources said the options the President will consider include tax cuts, mandatory fuel allocations, financial aid to troubled industries and additional help for the nation's unemployed.

Ford planned to discuss auto industry problems today with automobile executives and leaders of the United Auto Workers.

The wholesale price index being released today is expected to show a further easing in the inflationary pressures in the nonfood area, although the

Women Attend Paris District Meeting At Cardwell Home

The Paris District Executive Committee of the United Methodist Women held its planning meeting for 1975 on Thursday, Dec. 5, at the home of Mrs. E. B. Cardwell in Fulton.

Following the business session, a planned luncheon and Christmas party with exchange of gifts was enjoyed. Mrs. Cardwell was assisted by Mrs. Davis Dixon, vice-president and Mrs. Billy Pirtle, Fulton Area people programmer. Furnishing the food were the members of the Fulton-Martin Area.

Goals for 1975 were discussed and adopted. They included a deeper commitment to Christ, special effort to increase membership and increased giving.

Mrs. H. L. Hearn of Dresden, Tenn., Mission Coordinator of Christian Global Concerns, gave the devotion. It was the Christmas Message taken from "response" by Mrs. C. Clifford Cummings, president of the Woman's Division.

The president, Mrs. L. E. McCord of Cottage Grove, Tenn., presided over the business session assisted by the secretary, Miss Tommye Hunt and the treasurer, Mrs. M. R. Duke, both of Dresden. Reports were made by the officers present. Special observances this winter to remember are: Call to Prayer and Self-Denial in January and World Day of Prayer, March 7.

At noon, a bountiful meal was enjoyed with grace said by Mrs. Opal Logan of Paris, Tenn. Following the exchange of gifts, Mrs. McCord was given a special gift in appreciation of her leadership and each officer was given a gift by the president. Attending from the Murray area were: Mrs. Frank Coles and Mrs. Olga Freeman of Hazel.

Miss Joyce Marie Hopkins And Jerry Ray McCoy Are Married, Murray Church

Miss Joyce Marie Hopkins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Hopkins, and Jerry Ray McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen D. McCoy, all of Murray, were married in a late fall wedding at the First Baptist Church, Murray.

The double ring ceremony was performed at seven o'clock in the evening by Rev. Richard E. Walker before an altar centered with an arched candelabrum and flanked by bouquets of red roses and spiral candelabra.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Gilbert Mathis, soloist, and Richard Jones, organist.

Bride's Dress

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a regal snow-white gown fashioned of Chantilly lace. The empire bodice was defined with a band of tiny lace rose clusters and narrow satin ribbon which was repeated at the Victorian neckline. The long billowy sleeves were banded with a very deep cuffs of lace and closed with tiny self covered buttons. The long flowing skirt ended in a deeply flounced hem that swept to a Watteau chapel train.

She wore a Mantilla veil of illusion attached to a Camelot headpiece, and carried a bouquet of white roses, pom-poms, and baby's breath.

Miss Beverly Starks of Murray was the maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of blue and lavender floral silk chiffon with a lavender underlay, fashioned with a Victorian neckline, and long full sleeves. Her a-line skirt ended with a deep flounce at the hem. She wore a lavender picture hat.

The bride chose as her bridesmaids her sisters, Misses Pamela and Laura Hopkins, and Miss Regina Lovett of Murray. Their dresses were identical to that of the maid of honor but with blue underlay. Their accessories were pastel blue.

The attendants carried an unadorned long stemmed red rose. The gowns were designed by the bride and fashioned by her maternal grandmother.

Miss Kimberly Green, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl. Her dress was identical to the bridesmaids. She carried a white wicker basket of red rose petals and wore a halo of red and white rose buds and baby's breath.

Attending Mr. McCoy as best man was his brother, Steve McCoy of Cincinnati, Ohio. Groomsmen were Greg McKeel, James Green, and Thomas Lee Hopkins II, brother of the bride, all of Murray. The ushers were Terry Doss and Terry Turner of Murray.

The men in the wedding party wore ice blue tuxtail coats with black pants.

Mrs. Hopkins, mother of the bride, wore a formal gown of Champagne luresh fashioned with a slim skirt topped by a self-fabric shell and a wrapped cardigan jacket with fur cuffs. She wore silver accessories and pinned a white glamelia on her shoulder.

The groom's mother, Mrs. McCoy, chose a floor length dress of azure blue dacron knit designed with a v-neck and long sleeves. Her accessories were of blending color and she wore a corsage of a white glamelia.

Mrs. Alva C. Green of Benton, maternal grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Elsie Hopkins of Murray, paternal grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. Nannie McCoy, Murray, paternal grandmother of the groom, were presented with corsages of white pom-poms.

Miss Gingy Flora of Murray kept the guest register. Miss Tracy Miller, Benton, and Miss Jennifer Lents, Calvert City, cousins of the bride, distributed rice bags.

Reception

Following the wedding a small reception for the wedding party, family, and out of town guests was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Later the couple left for a short wedding trip with the bride wearing a kelley green pant suit with a floral blouse and a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. McCoy are now residing at 207 South Fifteenth Street, Murray. The bride is employed as a dental assistant with her father and the groom is owner and operator of Jerry's Refinishing and Custom Built Furniture, Murray.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hatfield and Arch, Fulton; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kratzer, Anna, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Steve McCoy, Cincinnati, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Welber Gilmore, Sikeston, Mo.; Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Edelstein, Adrian, Lynn, and Stephen, Madisonville; Don Wayne, Marion; Mr. and Mrs. Don McCamish, Denese, David, and Daniel, Evansville, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Boy, Owensboro; Mrs. Jack Jones, Jill and Ginger, Grand Rivers; Mr. and Mrs. John Stinnett and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Daub, Louisville; Mr. and Mrs. John Sturm, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Stroud, Jim Stroud, Mr. and Mrs. Carmon Outland, and Mrs. Jan Hoffman, Paducah; Mrs. Jerry Lents, Rogers and Jennifer, Calvert City; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Warren, Hardin; Mr. and Mrs. Alva C. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry P. Green, Kimberly and Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller and Tracy and Veronica, Mrs. Vivian Bolton, Benton; Miss Cathy Brooks, St. Louis, Mo.; Miss Nancy Duiguid, Lexington; Mrs. Ella M. Thomas, Clarksville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Ray, Mr. and Mrs. James Neal, Mayfield.

Rehearsal Dinner

The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen D. McCoy, entertained with a rehearsal dinner at the Holiday Inn. Covers were laid for members of the wedding party and members of the immediate families.

Pre-nuptial Events

Prior to the wedding the bride was honored with several parties and showers which were as follows:

An old fashioned shower given by Mesdames Oliver Cherry, Marvin Harris, Thomas Lovett, J. D. Outland, and Lawrence Suffill.

A coffee given by Mesdames Stanford Andrus, Glenn Hodges, Hassell Kuykendall, Coleman McKeel, Allen Rose, and Pat Trevathan.

An afternoon party given by the teachers at Robertson Elementary School.

The bridesmaids luncheon given by Mrs. Bailey Gore.

Respect for the living, not the dead

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-H. W. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 20-year-old girl away at college. I have an older brother in graduate school. My mother, who was 52, died very suddenly and even though we didn't get along very well, I was very upset by her death.

She and my father, who is 53, didn't exactly have the ideal marriage and I'm sure they stayed together because of my brother and me.

Last night my father phoned to tell me that he was dating a 38-year-old woman who was working for him, and it could be "serious." Abby, my mother has been dead only six months! Don't you think out of respect to her memory he could have waited for at least a year before dating?

I talked to my brother about it and he didn't see anything wrong with it.

I told my father that as long as he was seeing this woman I wanted nothing more to do with him. He seemed to think I was unreasonable.

What do you think is the proper amount of time to start dating after a spouse's death? Was I wrong to sever my relationship with my father?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: The amount of time one waits before "dating" has nothing to do with respect. The time to show respect is while the mate is living. And yes, I think you were wrong to sever your relationship with your father.

DEAR ABBY: This is for that woman who is marrying the same man for the fourth time and says, "We can't live with each other and we can't live without each other."

Listen, you kids, make up your minds that neither one of you is going to change the other. If you insist on being married again and again, it's time you realized that your love is really greater than your differences.

A sudden coronary could take your mate from you in a few seconds, and then you'd cry your eyes out wishing you had a chance to say all those sweet and lovely things you should have said when you were together.

That's what happened to me. Get wise to yourselves, and live!

UNCLE GEORGE IN SANBORN, LA.

DEAR UNCLE GEORGE: That should shake up a few young lovers. And some old ones, too. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday, I glanced at my husband while he was brushing his teeth, and I noticed that he was using MY toothbrush!

I asked him where his own toothbrush was, and he said he couldn't find it.

Then I asked him to please never use my toothbrush again. That's when he got angry and said it bugged him that I should object to sharing the same toothbrush.

Well, Abby, maybe other couples don't mind sharing one toothbrush, but the very thought of it repels me.

My husband says I am ridiculous to feel this way, so I am writing to ask how you feel about it.

B. IN OKINAWA

DEAR B: I'm all for sharing, but I'd draw the line when it comes to toothbrushes.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CONN. INQUIRY: The divorce laws in this country differ from those abroad. Don't marry again until your lawyer assures you that your French disconnection is legal.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

'Tis The Season To Be... Wary!

By Ed W. Hancock
Attorney General of Kentucky

'Tis the season to be... wary! During the holiday season, consumers spend a great deal of money. Take care that your money is spent wisely and beware of common holiday frauds. This year, someone may try to take advantage of your yuletide spirit by sending you merchandise that you haven't ordered in the hopes you will be pressured into paying. Under Kentucky law, you do not have to pay for or return unsolicited items, unless you have received them by mistake. Unordered merchandise may be treated as a gift and disposed of as you like.

Temporary storefronts or sidewalk booths have been known to appear during the holiday season, make their sales and quickly disappear before unhappy consumers return with inferior, damaged or worthless goods. No one is around to exchange these products or give refunds. Deal with reputable businesses and be cautious of new sales outlets that suddenly appear during holiday time.

Beware of "free" gifts. Consumers have complained to our office that they have received letters notifying them that they were winners and had won free vacations or free products. The catch was that they had to pay a reservation fee or a fee for administrative costs. Many consumers never received the products or vacations. If a free gift also means you have to pay fees or buy something else at an inflated price, it's not free!

Don't be fooled by a phony charity. If you receive a phone, mail or door-to-door solicitation from a charity you've never heard of before, take the time to check its authenticity. Don't feel you have to make a contribution on the spot. Instead, ask for literature about the charity and information on how they distribute the funds they collect. Always ask for identification from the solicitor.

If you have any consumer problems, write the Attorney General's Office of Consumer Protection, The Capitol, Room 34, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. Kentucky residents may call, free of charge, on the Consumer Hotline, by dialing 1-800-372-2960.

White Christmas

Let's Stay Well

Satisfying The Patient

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

The major objective of a physician, dentist, pharmacist, or other professional who practices and cares for patients is to satisfy their needs. They may be physical or psychological.

For example, while it is up to the physician to decide the needs of his patients, each requires understanding and adequate communication. In this way, the patient gains insight regarding his illness, why he is experiencing certain symptoms, and the purpose of the treatment.

Such communication between the professional and the patient helps to gain the cooperation of the patient. Potent medications are more likely to be taken as directed, proper diet followed, and exercise limited, if necessary. The approximate duration of the illness may be important to the patient so that he can make an explanation to his employer.

Honesty between the health professional and the patient is basic. The whole truth is essential on the part of the person seeking care. The masking of symptoms by him can mislead and often delay the diagnosis of a problem.

Likewise, if the professional is uncertain of the diagnosis, he needs to be completely open with the patient and explain the necessity of observation for a few days or perhaps a consultation, especially in potentially serious illnesses. If the patient is a small child or is a person of unsound mind and unstable personality, the professional will talk to the responsible member of the family.

It is advantageous for the professional to know not only the patient but also his family, his kind of work, and the circumstances in the home. Perhaps this fact is one of the reasons for the growing number of physicians turning to family practice.

It is not unusual to hear a person express dissatisfaction with his professional care, such as "My doctor won't take time to talk with me," "He is always in a hurry," and "He talks fast and uses words which I don't understand." Even recognizing that such complaints are often the fault of patients, they have every reason to be satisfied with their health care.

Should you have such problems, talk them over with those from whom you seek help. If your problems cannot be resolved, consider seeking professional care from another source.

Q. Mrs. A.A. wants to know what is a sarcoma and whether it is dangerous to life.

A. Sarcoma is a form of malignancy occurring in the connective tissue of the body and is usually highly dangerous, often spreading rapidly to other sites in the body. Some forms, for example, fibrosarcoma, spread less rapidly and may be cured if given early, proper treatment.

Q. Mrs. L. T. wonders if breast cancers are not on the increase.

A. No. The number is about the same. Hopefully, these tumors are being detected earlier because of the alertness of women who practice self-examination as well as of the medical profession.

Bible Thought

My head with oil thou didst not anoint; but this woman hath anointed my feet with ointment.—Luke 7:46.

Self giving is a part of the Gospel. Avoidance of inconveniences and discomfort is a betrayal of our faith.

Next Sunday To Be A Busy Day As 3 Events Open Yule Season

By M.C. GARROTT

'Tis the season to be jolly.... Tra, la, la, la... la, la, la, la.

Although Santa Claus came to town in the rain last Saturday to open officially Murray's 1974 Christmas Season, the festivities really get rolling this coming weekend.

Three pretty Christmas events are on the merry schedule to kick things off—the Woman's Club Holiday Tour of Homes, the annual Open House observance at the Murray Country Club and the annual Christmas Cantata by the adult choir at the First Baptist Church.

The Holiday Tour of Homes is sponsored by the Sigma Department of the Murray Woman's Club, and this is the first time in several years that such a tour of local homes has been arranged. Mrs. Kay Ray and Mrs. Charlotte Gregory are the co-chairmen, co-chairwomen, or co-chairpersons, whichever way you want it. I never know any more.

Four homes are on the schedule to be visited: the home of Dr. and Mrs. H.S. Jackson, Jr., in Gatesborough; the home of Dr. and Mrs. Don Hughes on Sycamore; the home of Dr. and Mrs. Dick Stout on Olive, and the home of Murray Ledger & Times Publisher and Mrs. Walter Apperson on Chaucer in Canterbury Estates.

Touring time will be from 1:30 until 4 p.m., and the tickets are $2 per person, the proceeds from which will be used to maintain the department's kindergarten program at Robertson School. A ticket will entitle you to visit all four homes, and you may start your tour at any one of the four. Refreshments will be served at the Apperson home.

The Open House at the Murray Country Club is an annual affair held not only to observe the Christmas Season but also to formally introduce the club's new officers and new members of the board of directors.

The hours are from 4 until 7 p.m., and it is strictly for members and their guests. Being presented in the receiving line will be the incoming president, Richard Knight, and his wife, Annie; the new vice-president, Tim Miller, and his wife, Patsy; Mrs. Lois Keller, re-elected secretary, and her husband, Don; and Club Treasurer and Mrs. H. L. Shackleford.

Also in the receiving line will be the two other new directors in addition to Miller and their wives: George and Patsy Oakley and Buddy and Naomi Hewitt. Music will be provided by James Lawrence at the organ.

One Christmas, a Cleveland advertising man sent out this cryptic greeting:

ABCDEFGHIJKLMN O PQRSTU VWXYZ

Afterwards, he explained to his puzzled friends: "It's simple. No L."

At 7 o'clock Sunday evening, the 50-voice adult choir at the First Baptist Church will present "A Song Unending," a Christmas cantata by John Peterson. Rudolph Howard, the church's minister of music, will be directing the choir, with Mrs. John Bowker at the organ and Mrs. J. D. Rayburn at the piano.

Soloists will be Mrs. Wayne Flora, Dr. Lou

McCain and Dr. Bobby Malone and Mrs. Vernon Nance.

The choir's annual Christmas Cantata is one of the music highlights of the year at the church, and everyone in the community is invited to hear it.

From "Quote" magazine comes this little gem of wisdom on the value of a smile: Sometime ago a boy was struck by a broken end of a live wire which burned and paralyzed one side of his face. In court, the boy's lawyer asked the little fellow to turn to the jury and smile. He tried.

One side of his face smiled, but the injured side just puckered up in a painful contortion. It took the jury just 12 minutes to award the boy $20,000. The amount was thus certified as the legal value of a smile.

If a smile is worth $20,000 after you lose it, it must be worth that much while one still has it. But the value of a smile is best measured in terms other than material. Psychiatrists say that it takes less effort to smile than to frown, and that the results are far better all around.

The person who smiles gets a therapy that eases tension and banishes worry. At the same time, the recipient of a smile also gets this benefit by direct transmission and response. They add that if more people smiled more often there wouldn't be such a big need for aspirins, tranquilizing pills and other painkillers.

That's not a bad thought, and one well worth remembering during the Christmas season.

Worth Repeating

EVERETT, WASH., HERALD: "We've never been to Russia and we've had little correspondence to or from that country—hence we know little about the Soviet mail service. But it can't be much. Here's a surprising note in the news saying the Russians are turning to America for help in improving the efficiency of their mail handling. It develops the Russians are not asking the U. S. Postal Service for advice but are requesting assistance from a private American firm that manufactures automated mail-handling equipment. If we have technology that will help the Soviet mail service, why isn't it helping ours?"

CLARKSON, NEBR., PRESS: "Time is written in Volumes Three. The past, the present, and the yet to be. The past is written, then laid away. The present we're living from day to day. The yet to be, greatest of Volumes Three, is hidden from sight, God holds the key."

"Low Down" FROM THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

DAIRY MONOPOLY CALLED A CURSE

Rep. Robert N.C. Nix (Pa.) "...One of the issues that the President neglected in his recent address to the Congress is the exemption under our antitrust laws for dairy cooperatives which empowers people in this industry to arbitrarily set the price of milk nationwide.

"This exemption was written into law during the depression. No person, no industry, should have the power to set the price of dairy products while ignoring the free-market. A monopoly in milk subjects every family in this country, every child to the whim and greed of the milk manipulators.

"When there is no competition in the marketplace, the only limit on the price for this necessity is the greed of the milk monopoly. The goodwill of the dairy industry with its vast economic and political power is not protection enough for American families.

"It is time for a change. Inflation is a curse. But, the dairy monopoly is a curse that we have brought on ourselves. This can be changed by statute because the basis of the dairy power is by statute. The antitrust exemption for the dairy cooperatives must be repealed.

"The National Association for Milk Marketing Reform, which is very active in my city under the leadership of Michael Maggio, has provided evidence for us to begin the fight against this vicious monopoly. I want to thank them for their leadership and work and promise them that I will, as one Congressman, dedicate myself to ending the power of the milk monopoly."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

NEWS ITEM: "U.S. Justice Department filed a civil antitrust suit against Mid-America Dairymen, Inc., a milk marketing cooperative that has contributed heavily to the 1972 Nixon presidential campaign, similar suits were pending against two other milk groups."

Dairy farmers hard pressed to produce milk at a reasonable profit were shocked to learn that thousands of dollars of milk marketing money was illegally passed to candidates of both parties. Dairy farmers could barely hide their chagrin when the marketing cooperative officials were fined and sentenced to jail terms.

Suspicion of high middle-man profits continue to haunt the consumer, and embarrass the producer.

Isn't It The Truth

by Carl Riblet Jr.

Washington, the City of Lost Content on the banks of the polluted Potomac, is overcrowded, overpriced, overtroubled and overblown with hot air or dead air, depending on your point of view and how you blow your whistle, and no congressman, White House staffer or prince of bureaucrats feels safe from what lies ahead — the consequences of 1972, 1973, 1974 and, at long last, 1976.

"Man has made his bedlam: let him lie in it."

Rowe was commended for his efforts to further recreation and his civic mindedness.

More Hearings On Tobacco Price Supports Held Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., has suggested that raising the government price support for burley tobacco to $1.32 a pound could be bad for growers.

Such an increase from the current 85.8 cent a pound support price, he said, would discriminate against farmers who have already sold their leaf this year at prices averaging about $1.15 a pound.

While Cook criticized the bill as excessive, others, including three Kentucky congressmen, favored it in testimony Wednesday before a Senate Agriculture subcommittee. More hearings were scheduled for today.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., was passed by the House just before Thanksgiving.

Reps. Tim Lee Carter and Frank A. Stubblefield, both Kentucky Democrats, joined Perkins Wednesday in urging Senate passage of the bill as written.

Amendments or changes would mean sending the bill back to the House for concurrence, and passage would be unlikely before Congress adjourns.

Perkins, Carter and Stubblefield said the bill is needed because of the increasing costs of producing tobacco — 93.6 cents a pound according to a University of Kentucky professor.

Cook said, however, that if the bill were passed, dealers and exporters who bought early would be "reaping a bonanza" in sales that he likened to the Russian wheat deal.

Cook suggested that some less far-reaching change be considered.

William Balden, vice president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau, said his board of directors felt the proposed increase to $1.32 a pound was too high a jump for one year. He said about $1.17 a pound might be more reasonable.

Balden declined to submit a written statement for the record until after this week's Kentucky Farm Bureau state convention in Louisville.

Charles Combs of the Burley Advisory Council in Richmond thanked Perkins for introducing the bill and said his group supported it "in principle." But he suggested that an adjustment be made so the price support in the next marketing year be in the $1.15 to $1.20 a pound range.

Under questioning, both Bal-den and Combs said they felt farmers are making a fair profit on the current market.

Sen. Walter "Dee" Huddleston, D-Ky., chairman of the subcommittee holding the hearings, expressed concern about the number of Kentucky farmers who have quit growing tobacco because of the cost squeeze, but indicated he was interested in solutions other than the House passed bill.

Rep. Peter Peyser, R-N.Y., a member of the House Agriculture Committee, complained about the way the bill was guided through the House without committee hearings or floor debate, and predicted that it would be soundly defeated in an open floor debate in the House.

Cattlemen Driving Herd To Earl Butz's Doorstep

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cattlemen disgruntled over low prices for their beef are driving 50 head of cattle to Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz's doorstep.

In the last part of a "beef-in" that left Bison, S.D., late last week, the cattlemen planned to bring the cows by truck today to a makeshift pen just outside Butz's office.

Butz agreed Tuesday to meet with representatives of the South Dakota and Montana cattlemen, who are sponsoring the cattle drive, and the Consumer Federation of America.

The group plans to offer to present Butz with 10 of the cattle and have the rest slaughtered by union butchers for Christmas distribution to Washington's poor.

The steers was unresolved, an Agriculture Department spokesman said.

The protesters scheduled a noon rally to explain the economic squeeze brought on by declining livestock prices and higher production costs.

The "beef-in" also is in protest of rapid increases in the mark-ups in retail costs due to middlemen.

About 5,000 pounds of meat are expected to be generated by the slaughter for the poor. A few animals also are to be used for a barbecue, "just to show them what good beef tastes like," one cattleman said as they left Bison.

Other cattlemen said the 10 cows being given to Butz hopefully can be used in a feeding test to demonstrate the high cost of feeding them.

Carroll Announces Two Of Top Three Aides On Staff

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Julian Carroll has announced two of the top three aides in his governor's office will be State Rep. Terry McBrayer and University of Kentucky Dean of Students Jack Hall.

And Carroll's new press secretary, John Nichols, will have two deputies—one to deal primarily with weekly newspapers and one for radio stations.

McBrayer, 37, who will resign as state representative from Greenup after serving nine years, will be Carroll's chief executive officer when Carroll becomes acting governor Jan. 3.

Immediately under him will be Hall, 42, who will be chief administrative assistant for internal affairs. As such, he will be head of the governor's office staff. Hall has just been granted a leave from UK.

A second chief administrative assistant will be named later to oversee external affairs with other agencies, Carroll's office said. Previously, one chief assistant has had both jobs.

McBrayer has been acting as volunteer director of the transition office preparing for Carroll's take-over from Gov. Wendell Ford, who will move on to the U.S. Senate Jan. 3.

Nichols said State Rep. Ralph Ed Graves, D-Bardwell, will become his deputy for weekly newspapers and Hank Lindsay, Hopkinsville, will become his deputy for radio stations. Nichols said he would deal with daily newspapers and television stations himself.

Graves, 47, publishes two weekly newspapers in far Western Kentucky. Nichols, Frankfort correspondent for a Louisville television station, said Graves will resign his House seat next week; Graves is in his third term and has served as a committee chairman for the last two sessions.

Lindsay, 31, was a radio newsman in Hopkinsville for years and more recently has worked for a Western Kentucky travel-tourism body.

Appointment of the two deputies apparently is an effort to place more emphasis on the special needs of weekly newspapers and radio stations, especially those not served by a major wire service.

McBrayer, a long-time personal friend and political ally of Carroll's, generally was considered a leading candidate for lieutenant governor next year until a health problem forced him to pull out.

McBrayer alluded to that Wednesday when he said: "I was prepared to give service in the executive branch but illness canceled those plans. However, my condition is such that I can still offer something to state government."

McBrayer was House Speaker Pro Tem in the 1968 legislative session and House majority floor leader in 1970. Carroll was House Speaker for both those sessions.

TVA Board Decides To Open Sessions

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Tennessee Valley Authority board of directors voted unanimously today to open its formal meetings to the news media and public, effective with its Jan. 16 meeting.

Chairman Aubrey J. Wagner in announcing the board's action said it was taken to "strengthen the communications link between TVA management and the public the agency serves."

The board has been under sharp criticism recently for holding its meetings in executive session. Sen. William E. Brock, R-Tenn., has introduced a bill seeking to force the board to open its meetings to the public.

"TVA has nothing to hide," Wagner declared. "It is an organization of dedicated professionals committed to the quality development of one of the nation's most vital regions."

Under the new arrangement for board meetings, the agenda will be announced in advance so that the public will have notice of the items to be discussed.

Besides Wagner, members of the TVA board are Don McBride and Bill Jenkins.

Flames Flicker Briefly But Then Get Scorched By Hawks

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Coach Bernie Geoffrion watched his Atlanta Flames flicker briefly, then get scorched by the hot-shooting Chicago Black Hawks 5-2 Wednesday, suffering their fifth National Hockey League loss in a row.

Although the Flames are hobbled by injuries, Geoffrion refused to use it as an excuse.

"You can't blame what's happened to us on injuries," the Atlanta coach said. "They have had nothing to do with it."

"When you have substitutes sitting on the bench, they are not amateur players. They are pros and they are supposed to be able to play in this league."

In the only other NHL game on tap Wednesday night, Los Angeles trounced Toronto 4-1.

In the World Hockey Association, Quebec edged Edmonton 4-3 in overtime, New England stopped Minnesota 3-1 and Houston topped Vancouver 5-2.

While Geoffrion refused to blame injuries for Atlanta's loss, Chicago Coach Billy Reay said his Black Hawks haven't been playing all that poorly "despite all our injuries."

Jim Pappin's 16th goal of the season broke a 1-1 deadlock in the second period and the Chicago Black Hawks went on to defeat the Atlanta Flames. The win snapped Atlanta's 16-game unbeaten string at home and broke a three-game losing streak for Chicago.

Kings 4, Maple Leafs 1
The revitalized Los Angeles Kings, getting scoring from Don Maloney, Butch Goring, Whitey Widing and Mike Corrigan, ran up an early 3-0 lead and easily extended their undefeated road record to six victories and five ties. The Kings also moved into a share of first place in Division 3 with the Montreal Canadiens.

Whalers 3, Saints 1
Tim Sheehy's two goals and Christer Abrahamsson's goal-tending paced the New England Whalers to victory over the Minnesota Fighting Saints. With Sheehy finding the net with his first two shots of the night, New England built their advantage to 3-0 on Mike Byers' shots before Mike Walton tallied for New England. Abrahamsson, a Swede, blocked all of the Saints' 36 shots but one.

Nordiques 4, Oilers 3
Newcomer Steve Sutherland's goal just 56 seconds into overtime lifted Quebec past the Edmonton Oilers. The Nordiques got goals from Marc Tardif and Real Cloutier to post a 2-0 advantage. But Edmonton scored twice in the third period to knot the count at 3-3 and send the game into an extra session.

Aeros 5, Blazers 2
Goals by Mark Howe and his father, Gordie, in the space of 28 seconds brought the Houston Aeros back from a 2-1 deficit to a 3-2 lead, an advantage they never lost. With Vancouver ahead 2-1, Mark scored at 16:27 of the second period with assists by Jim Sherrit and Paul Popiel to knot the score. Gordie's goal 28 seconds later provided the margin of victory while Frank Hughes, who scored twice, and Andre Hinse added insurance markers in the third period.

Baseball Fans Buy More At Games Than Anyone

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball buffs have the most ravenous appetites of all sports spectators and soft ice cream is the latest vice of the horse player, says a man who keeps a thumb on such trends.

"The average baseball fan, for instance, will spend $2 on food and refreshments at a game," Bill Connell said today. "At the race track, the per capita rate is $1.70 to $2. In hockey, it's $1.25 to $1.50, basketball $1 to $1.10 and at the bottom, football — 90 cents to a dollar."

"It isn't that the football fan is the least affluent — actually, he probably is the most affluent. It all goes back to the nature of the game."

Connell is a boyish-looking Bostonian of 35 who is president of the Ogden Leisure Corp. and has become one of the nation's biggest peddlers of peanuts, popcorn and cold beer at sports events.

Connell's company provides concessions at five race tracks, including Suffolk Downs in Boston and Yonkers Raceway in New York, ski resorts, football stadiums (Buffalo Bills' Rich Stadium, for one) and such arenas as the new Capital Centre outside of Washington, D.C., the Civic Center in Milwaukee and the yet-to-open Louisiana Superdome.

"Baseball fans spend more because they have no compulsion to stay glued to their seats," Connell explained. "The game is slow and casual. Fans move around constantly. They keep buying."

"Hockey is helped because it has two intermissions, instead of just one as in basketball. But there is no halftime show so the fans can get to the food windows during the break."

"But while the game is on, they don't budge. This is more true in football, where one can't afford to miss a single play. At the half, there is a colorful halftime show. So the fan normally just has time to get to the toilet and back to his seat."

Connell said his company keeps tabs on the fans' tastes down to the "gnat's eyebrow."

"Don't give the race fan anything that requires two hands," he said. "He needs one hand always free to hold his tip sheet."

"Five years ago we introduced soft ice cream at the race tracks. The fans love it — and you can eat a cone in one hand."

Wade Paces Jayvees To Come From Behind Win

When in doubt, just pass it to Tommy Wade.

That's the motto of the Murray State junior varsity basketball team this season.

For the second time in a week, Wade fired in a last-second jumper to give the Racer Jayvees a win, the one Wednesday being an 89-88 decision over a tough team from Southeast Missouri.

Last week, Wade bombed a 22-footer at the buzzer to give the Jayvees a win over Fort Campbell.

But last night, the 6-2 Hopkinsville freshman sharpshooter had a little more time to spare as he ripped the cords with eight seconds left.

Southeast Missouri had a last chance shot but the ball just fell off the rim.

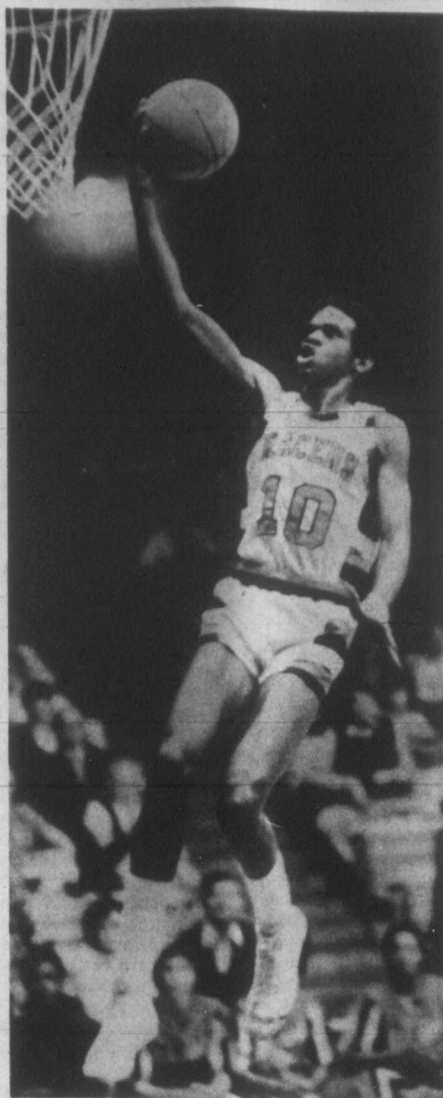

Murray led for most of the game, leading 50-45 at intermission. But late in the contest, the Racers fell behind and never led again until Wade's bucket gave Murray the final margin.

Wade finished the contest bombing in 14 of 17 shots from the floor and three of three from the line for 31 points. Mike Dickens, an Evansville freshman, popped in 21 while Mayfield freshman Larry Sanderson added 19.

The win gives the junior varsity a 2-1 record for the season.

Lanier Scores 37 As Pistons Romp Bullets

By The Associated Press
How do you stop speeding Bullets? Throw Bob Lanier in front of them.

Lanier, the Detroit Pistons' superman, went flying through the air with the greatest of ease Wednesday night to help the Detroit Pistons beat the Washington Bullets 103-89.

The National Basketball Association victory, triggered by Lanier's 37 points and 20 rebounds, marked the first triumph by a Western Conference team over the hot Bullets, leaders in the Central Division.

"The Pistons played a whale of a game," said Washington Coach K.C. Jones. "When you have to play against a guy like Lanier, you just hope he has a night off. He'll get his 30 points no matter what you do."

The contest, incidentally, broke a three-game losing streak and marked the first time that Detroit had held an opponent under 100 points for the seventh straight time.

In the night's other NBA games, the Philadelphia 76ers stopped the Houston Rockets 103-96, the Phoenix Suns beat the Portland Trail Blazers 104-100, the New Orleans Jazz beat the Golden State Warriors 106-103 and the Cleveland Cavaliers topped the Seattle SuperSonics 97-95.

Lanier sparked in his duel with Bullets' center—Elvin Hayes, scoring 10 points in the third period as Detroit rolled up a 72-60 advantage.

Curtis Rowe scored 12 points in the first quarter and ended with 18 to bolster the Pistons attack.

Phil Chenier was high for Washington with 18 points, while Hayes finished with 15. The loss broke a six-game Washington winning streak.

76ers 103, Rockets 96
Doug Collins scored 25 points in three periods for Philadelphia before leaving the Houston game with an eye injury.

The Rockets were down by 21 points midway through the final period, but 10 points by Ed Ratleff, who led all scorers with 28, brought Houston back within 10.

Hooisers Whip Irish, SIU Stuns Michigan

By The Associated Press
Coach Bobby Knight of college basketball's third-ranked Indiana Hoosiers had a few moments to relax as his club built an 18-point cushion en route to an 84-84 victory over No. 11 Notre Dame.

Unbeaten in four games, Indiana won its third Wednesday night against a ranked opponent in one week. The loss was the first in five games for Notre Dame, snapping a 24-game winning streak at home.

"The biggest point in the whole ballgame was when we got an 18-point cushion with 6:25 to go which helped us withstand our mistakes and their press," Knight said Wednesday night. "This is a good win for us, especially with John Laskowski out injured half the game and (Steve) Green in foul trouble."

Laskowski suffered a sprained and bruised instep. Scott May hit 22 points and Kent Benson added 19 to lead the Hoosiers and offset Irish forward Adrian Dantley's game-high 32 points.

Green and Notre Dame's Billy Paterno had 17 apiece.

Indiana sprinted from a 13-11 lead to 23-11 and never was threatened after that. The Hoosiers held a 47-34 halftime bulge.

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 13 South Carolina belted St. Joseph's, Pa., 89-54. No. 15 Purdue stopped West Virginia 94-83 and Southern Illinois stunned No. 16 Michigan 87-67.

Mike Dunleavy and Jack Gilloon broke St. Joseph's zone defense, and Tom Boswell scored 26 points to lead South Carolina to a lopsided victory over the Hawks.

A six-minute burst of 21 points led by high-scorer John Garrett late in the second half gave Purdue its victory over West Virginia. Purdue started strong but fell behind with 4:30 left in the first half when Earnest Hall sank two free throws to put West Virginia ahead 33-32. The Mountaineers stretched the advantage to 43-38 by intermission. The Boilermakers started moving on two free throws by Garrett with 7:39 left in the game and went ahead to ice the victory by outscoring West Virginia 21-7 in the closing minutes of the game.

Garrett was high scorer with 27 points for Purdue, 4-1. Jerome Anderson had 21 points for the Mountaineers, 3-1.

Joe Meriweather scored 32 points and grabbed 19 rebounds to lead Southern Illinois to its stunner over Michigan. Meriweather led an aggressive Saluki team which outbounded Michigan 48-30 and held the Wolverines without a field goal for almost eight minutes in the second half.

Elsewhere, Wayne Burris sank a 25-foot shot with one second left to lift Butler over Illinois State 79-78; Tony Parker hit a string of six points in the first half, starting Loyola of Chicago to a 101-6 victory over Nebraska Wesleyan; Ralph Ren scored 27 points as Fairfield shot a fabulous 69 per cent from the field to bomb St. Francis, N.Y. 110-87; Navy opened with a 14-1 lead and sailed past George Mason University 77-56; Wally Walker hit for 20 points to pace Virginia to a 73-51 triumph over William & Mary and Marvin Webster scored 20 points and grabbed 19 rebounds to lead Morgan State to a 70-63 decision over C. W. Post.

Three Records Fall In 115-91 Win

Run And Gun Racers Rip Arkansas College Apart

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

Painted in large blue letters on the tunnel leading out of the Murray State dressing room is the slogan "Enthusiasm makes the difference."

Coincided by first year head coach Fred Overton, the slogan is the motto of the 1974-75 Racers.

And following the Racers' 115-91 win at home Wednesday night over Arkansas College, fans are beginning to see exactly what Overton meant by the phrase.

Playing one of the best games ever played by a Murray State team, the Racers put on a show that 6,000 fans in the Sports Arena will never forget.

Executing to near perfection, the Racers had the fans on their feet for the entire second half, dazzling the excited crowd with fancy behind-the-back passing and outside shooting that would rival any professional team.

"I don't think I've ever had as much fun watching a game before as I have tonight," a student said on his way out.

"I could have sat and watched those guys play all night long." Here's only a bit of what happened:

The Racers shot 51 of 86 in the contest for a .593 pace and in the first half, Murray blistered the cords at a rate of almost 70 per cent, sinking an incredible 26 of 38 field goal attempts.

As a team, Murray had a season-high 23 assists with Grover Woolard and Henry Kinsey dazzling the crowd with their passing.

—Once in the game, Kinsey went after a loose ball around the center line. Almost out of bounds, he leaped in the air and passed all the way down court, behind his back, to Zach Blasingame who hit the bucket. The crowd stood and applauded for nearly a minute.

—At one point in the second half, the Racers hit nine consecutive field goals, seven of which came from 20 feet away and beyond.

If there was any criticism of the performance, it would have to be the defensive effort, which at times, wasn't very much. But really, it didn't need to be.

"In a tempo like this, compared to the tempo of the games we've been playing, their 91 points would really be about 71. We scored 29 more points than our previous season high and they scored 15 more points than any club has scored against us so far," Overton said.

"We played pretty good defense on the ball but not on the bucket. It was a great offensive show for the fans to watch, both ways.

"Anybody that runs against us will have problems beating us," Overton said.

"When we get excited, great things come out of our players. They play above their talent and make plays that are astonishing, like the ones we saw tonight."

Most of the fireworks for Murray took place in the second half, after the Racers ran up a 56-47 cushion at intermission. With 14:31 left in the half, Zach Blasingame hit a charity toss and the Racers moved ahead 13-12 and remained ahead for the rest of the contest.

The largest lead of the half came at the midway point on a fastbreak bucket by Woolard that boosted Murray to a 30-17 cushion.

And then the second half! With passing that resembled the Harlem Globetrotters, the Racers dazzled their opponents and the crowd in an offensive display that was almost too much to believe.

It started with Kinsey's super pass from the center line to Blasingame and no less than 30 seconds later, Woolard matched the feat with a behind-the-back pass of his own that sent the crowd to its feet.

Midway through the final half, the Racers broke the 90-point barrier as senior guard Steve Bowers drilled a 15-footer to give the Racers a 91-76 cushion.

Playing the way he did when he first came to Murray five years ago, Bowers had the fans screaming as he put on a fine offensive display and like Kinsey and Woolard, made a couple of incredible passes.

Freshman guard Derrick Melvin came off the bench and one play found him driving the right side, going up in the air and flipping the ball behind his back to junior Jeff Hughes for the cradle.

—Murray twice led by 25 points before settling for the final margin of 24.

The Racers cracked the century barrier with 7:30 left in the contest when Bowers hit on a fastbreak drive to give Murray a 100-82 bulge.

Murray set three new records in the game:

—The Racers and the Scots combined for 206 points, breaking the old mark of 203 set in 1956 when Murray won 106-97 over Morehead.

—The Racers fired in 51 field goals for the game, breaking the old team mark of 49 set in 1960 against Middle Tennessee.

—Grover Woolard set a new individual record by hitting nine of 11 field goal attempts for an .818 pace, breaking the old mark set in 1966 when Don Duncan hit 13 of 16 for an .812 mark in a win over Austin Peay.

Murray missed tying the most points in one game by only seven and the Racers finished the contest hitting on .593 from the field, the record being .614.

Jesse Williams paced the Racers scoring with 25, sinking 12 of 19 floor shots while Zach Blasingame hit eight of 12 from the field and added 22 points.

Woolard, having his most productive night of the season, added 21 while Kinsey tossed in 14 in a brilliant performance.

Jeff Hughes came in off the bench to add 10 while Bowers had nine. Sophomore center Larry Moffett, who sat out much of the game with foul trouble, scored five.

The Racers had a 37-36 edge in rebounding with Williams grabbing 12.

"We were really relaxed on our outside shooting and that's probably the key reason we hit so well," Overton said.

"We don't care for them shooting. Everyone has the green light if they have a good shot. But we do stress divorcing ourselves from the offensive game to prevent anyone from going into the individual stuff.

"One thing you can't do is get after a guy for shooting a shot that's within his ability."

Hurricane Carter To Appeal For New Trial In Murder Case

By RICHARD T. PIENCIAK
Associated Press Writer

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) —

Lawyers for former middleweight boxer Rubin "Hurricane" Carter and a co-defendant say they will appeal a judge's denial of a bid for a new trial for the convicted triple murderers.

The motion for a new trial by Carter and co-defendant John Artis was rejected here Wednesday by Superior Court Judge Samuel A. Lerner, who said he did not believe the recantations of the state's two key witnesses.

"If mere recantation in itself dictates a new trial, the entire judicial process could be frustrated by the mere whim of a witness recanting his testimony," Lerner said in rejecting the motion.

An evidentiary hearing was ordered in October when it was learned that the two key witnesses, Arthur D. Bradley and Alfred P. Bello, said they lied at the 1967 trial in return for leniency in pending criminal matters. The men also claimed they were coerced into identifying Carter and Artis.

In an interview at Trenton State Prison, Carter, 37, lashed out at Lerner, who presided at the original trial. "I wasn't expecting anything to come from this man ... this judge has shown me consistently in the past that he was totally against me," said Carter.

Carter's boxing career reached a peak on Dec. 14, 1964, when he fought Joey Giardello for the world middleweight crown in Philadelphia. He lost by a decision.

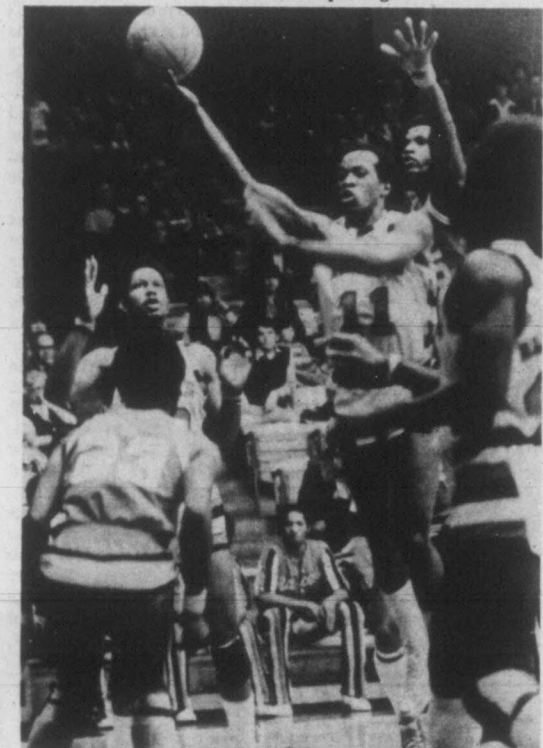

In between the June 1966 slayings at a Paterson bar and his arrest in October of that year, Carter fought his last boxing match. It was in Argentina on Aug. 6 against Juan "Rocky" Rivero, an Argentinian middleweight.

Bello, currently in a county jail on unrelated charges, and Bradley testified at the original trial that they were attempting a break-in at a sheet metal firm a block from the Lafayette Bar & Grill at the time the murders occurred there.

Passaic County Prosecutor Joseph D. Gourley, whose office handled the murder case and subsequent appeals, said the ruling "gives a certain vindication to the office," which Gourley assumed leadership of in 1970.

Gourley said he felt all along that the law enforcement officials accused of coercion "were not the type of individuals who would resort to that type of activity to get a conviction."

The prosecutor refused to rule out the possibility of perjury charges against Bradley and Bello. "Some prosecutor might look into that once all appeals have run their course," Gourley said.

ANOTHER ASSIST—Henry Kinsey of the Racers goes up in the air and gets ready to dump the ball off inside to a teammate for a bucket. In the action for the Racers is Jesse Williams, who is to the left of Kinsey.

Florida Ranks As Top Scoring Team

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) —

Florida's 2-1 record is only sixth best among Southeastern Conference teams in pre-conference basketball games, but the Gators are scorching opponents' nets to the tune of 96 points a game, tops among SEC clubs.

Alabama, which is 3-0, has an 88-point average, Georgia, 2-0, is at 86.5, Kentucky, 3-1, at 85.3 and Mississippi State, 3-2, is at 84 points a game.

Auburn's Tigers, who are undefeated in three games, shine brightest on defense with a 66.7 points-against average. Vanderbilt, which is 4-0 so far, has allowed 70.8 points a game, while Tennessee, 1-1 has allowed 71.5, Florida 71.7 and Ole Miss, 3-2, 74.4.

Tennessee freshman Bernard King has blasted away for 76 points in two games, to lead the SEC in scoring average with 38. Jerry Jenkins of Mississippi State leads in total scoring with 136 points in five games for a 27.2 average. Alabama's Leon Douglas and Billy Magarity of Georgia are hitting at 24 points a game, Douglas in three games and Magarity in two.

Pepto Bolden of Auburn has the best field goal percentage, hitting 12 of 17 shots for 70.6 per cent, just ahead of Mike Lederman of Florida who has 19 of 27 for 70.4 per cent.

Kevin Grevey of Kentucky and Dicky Keffer of Vanderbilt have made all 14 of their free throws and Don Bostic of Florida has canned 12 of 12.

Alabama's 6-10 Douglas leads in rebounding, grabbing 44 in three games for a 14.7 per-game average. Jackie Dorsey of Georgia has snared 25 in two games for a 12.5 average.

Rodney Woods of Tennessee has the highest assist average with 17 in two games for an 8.5 average. Eddie Johnson of Auburn and Mike Darnall of Louisiana State have 19 each in three games and Vandy's Keffer has 24 in four games.

Net Fans Give Barnes Problem, Spirits Lose

By The Associated Press
Marvin Barnes didn't like the fans at the Nassau Coliseum Wednesday night, but it was the New York Nets that gave him the most trouble.

It didn't bother the St. Louis player too much that some faces in the crowd howled derisive comments, but it did bother him enormously that the Nets kept him quiet.

Barnes was held to a mere two points in the first half and that was one of the keys as the Nets rolled to a 117-96 American Basketball Association triumph.

"The Nets are the champions and it's just hard to beat them," noted the Spirits' celebrated rookie. "You get a night where Julius Erving only scores 19 points and you think you might have a chance to beat them. But they've got other guys, too. It just shows you what kind of a team they've got."

Barnes, bottled up by Billy Paultz, didn't score a field goal in the first half while the Nets bolted to a 57-35 lead. He wound up with 16 points and 16 rebounds, but many of them came after the game was decided.

In the night's other ABA games, the Memphis Sounds stopped the Kentucky Colonels 104-97; the Utah Stars beat the Virginia Squires 115-91 and the Denver Nuggets trimmed the Indiana Pacers 117-114.

While Erving scored 19 points and snared 13 rebounds, Paultz connected for 18 points for the Nets. The Nets scored the game's first basket and led all the way behind their two big men, holding a 29-16 lead at the first quarter before taking their 22-point margin at the half.

The Nets improved their lead to as much as 28 points, at 73-45, in the third quarter. Freddie Lewis scored a game-high 28 points for St. Louis, making three of five three-point tries.

Sounds 104, Colonels 97
Stew Johnson scored 27 points to lead Memphis over Kentucky, beating the Colonels for the first time in 27 games. It was the first Memphis victory over the Colonels since Jan. 25, 1972.

George Carter with 12 points and Larry Finch with 15 picked up the Memphis scoring in the second half. Carter finished the game with 20 points and Finch with 19. Louie Dampier led Kentucky with 18.

Stars 115, Squires 91
Ron Boone hit for 24 points and rookie Henry Williams went on a 15-point scoring spree in the second period to guide Utah over Virginia.

Boone led all scorers, playing about half the game, and Williams added 19 for Utah. Seven Stars hit in double figures. Former Star Cincy Powell led Virginia with 20 points and Lionel Billings had 16.

Nuggets 117, Pacers 114
Mack Calvin hit two last-second free throws to ice Denver's victory over Indiana. The division-leading Nuggets led 115-109 with just 1:31 left in the game, but failed to score for the next 90 seconds as the Pacers closed to 115-114.

Indiana had a chance to win the game, but Bob Netolicky's 17-foot jump shot with three seconds left bounced off the front rim and Netolicky fouled Calvin in a scramble for the ball.

Calvin and Bobbie Jones led the Denver attack with 20 points each. Ralph Simpson added 18 points for the Nuggets.

Big Red Only Team In Playoff That Didn't Figure In Picture

By BEN THOMAS

AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Fourteen weeks of madness — that's what the 1974 National Football League season has been.

Surprisingly, though, St. Louis is the only team that is in the playoffs that didn't figure to get there.

Now, all that's left to decide is where St. Louis and Washington will go for the first round of the playoffs, plus salvaging some pride.

Four teams — the New York Jets, the Green Bay Packers, the Houston Oilers and the Philadelphia Eagles — will be shooting for 500 seasons. Atlanta, Baltimore and the New York Giants are all in the running for the No. 1 draft pick, if they lose. And the Pro Piskin Picker will be trying to keep his average from sliding any lower. Last week it was seven right and six wrong, and the season mark is now 111-57-1 for .661.

CINCINNATI (7-6) at PITTSBURGH (9-3-1): The Bengals will be without Ken Anderson, but Pittsburgh is likely to be looking ahead to the playoffs, so ... Bengals 17, Steelers 14.

MINNESOTA (9-4) at KANSAS CITY (5-8): This could be the last game for Kansas City's Len Dawson. But the Vikings probably won't make it a memorable one ... Vikings 24, Chiefs 13.

DALLAS (8-5) at OAKLAND (11-2): Wonder if George Blanda will finally retire if Oakland goes all the way? Raiders 20, Cowboys 17.

GREEN BAY (6-7) at ATLANTA (2-11): The Falcons have to be the biggest disappointment of the season. Green Bay hasn't been that hot either ... Packers 21, Falcons 10.

NEW ENGLAND (7-6) at MIAMI (10-3): The Patriots didn't set the world afire during the second half of the season, but they will have to be reckoned with next year ... Dolphins 21, Patriots 17.

DETROIT (7-6) at PHILADELPHIA (6-7): Even though the Lions' playoff dream went up in smoke, they should still be sky high from getting so close ... Lions 24, Eagles 19.

CHICAGO (4-9) at WASHINGTON (8-4): Will this game be the swan song for Chicago Coach Abe Gibrone? Redskins 30, Bears 18.

NEW YORK JETS (6-7) at BALTIMORE (2-11): Here's even money on Joe Namath being back in New York next year ... Jets 24, Colts 13.

CLEVELAND (4-9) at HOUSTON (6-7): A 500 season would really be something for the Oilers. Maybe Sid Gillman should be coach of the year, but don't bet on it ... Oilers 21, Browns 13.

NEW YORK GIANTS (2-11) at ST. LOUIS (9-4): Coach Don Coryell said the Cardinals' loss to New Orleans might wake them up. What will it take to wake the Giants up? Cardinals 24, Giants 20.

BUFFALO (9-4) at LOS ANGELES (9-4): The Rams' James Harris was once cast aside by Buffalo. He'd like to show the Bills it was a mistake ... Rams 21, Bills 17.

DENVER (7-5-1) at SAN DIEGO (4-9): Otis Armstrong should pile more yardage for the Broncos this week and assure himself of the rushing title ... Broncos 23, Chargers 17.

NEW ORLEANS (5-8) at SAN FRANCISCO (5-8): If they agree to a tie, then both teams could still finish in a deadlock for second place in the National Conference West ... 49ers 14, Saints 10.

Nicky Swift To Compete In Pittsburgh Saturday

Nicky Swift of Murray moved a step closer toward his dream over the weekend.

The 12-year-old seventh grade student at Murray Middle School was the winner in his age division Saturday in the Area Punt, Pass and Kick Contest held at Riverfront Stadium in Cincinnati.

Out of a field of over a million who first began at the local level, Swift is one of 26 left in his age division.

His total score last weekend was 239, 23 points ahead of the second-place finisher.

He was competing against youngsters from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Indiana and Ohio.

Swift will participate this weekend at Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh and if he wins there, will go on to the national finals at the Super Bowl game in New Orleans.

WINS COMPETITION—Nicky Swift of Murray won the area competition at the Punt, Pass and Kick Contest held in Cincinnati last weekend. The contest is sponsored on the local level by Parker Ford of Murray. Swift will compete this weekend in Three Rivers Stadium at Pittsburgh.

Deaths and Funerals

Brother Of Local Woman Dies At Mayfield Home

Glenn Prince, a resident of 511 West Lee Street, Mayfield, was found dead Tuesday at his home. Graves County Coroner Bob Crawford said death was from natural causes, and that Mr. Prince had been dead approximately 14 hours when his body was discovered.

Mr. Prince, 42, was a veteran of the U. S. Army, having served in the Korean War.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cloys Prince, of Mayfield; one daughter, Mrs. Vicki Minceff, Granite City, Ill.; one brother, Robert Prince, Columbus, Ohio; three sisters, Mrs. Luella Harp, Mayfield, Mrs. Ernie Harp, New Concord, and Mrs. Genita Mayne, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.

The funeral is being conducted at two p. m. today at the Byrn Funeral Chapel, Mayfield, by Rev. Vester Moreland. Burial will be in Liberty Church Cemetery.

Services Today At Local Chapel For C. Wesley Waldrop

Funeral services for C. Wesley Waldrop of 1602 Miller Avenue, Murray, are being held today at two p. m. at the chapel of the Black-Coleman Funeral Home with Dr. Paul T. Lyles of Jackson, Tenn., and Dr. David C. Roos officiating. Gus Robertson, Jr., will be soloist. Active pallbearers are George Ed Waldrop, Ralph Thomas Waldrop, H. Glenn Doran, J. Matt Sparkman, Donald Tucker, James Rogers, Maurice Humphrey, and Thomas Redden.

Honorary pallbearers are E. W. Riley, Jim Hart, Dr. Conrad Jones, Walter Jones, Jack Bailey, along with members of the Men's Bible Class of the First Christian Church and employees of the Murray Postoffice who worked with Mr. Waldrop.

Burial will be in the Murray City Cemetery. Mr. Waldrop, age 82, died Tuesday at seven p. m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was a member of the First Christian Church and had been employed for sixteen years at the Murray Postoffice retiring as assistant postmaster.

He and his wife, the former Melba Beech, who survives, were married December 3, 1913. He was the son of the late Alfred and Martha Hughes Waldrop. Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Waldrop; one daughter, Mrs. William W. Hunt, Jr., Chattanooga, Tenn.; one son, Dr. Charles W. Waldrop, Jr., Lancaster, Texas; three sisters, Mrs. A. M. Alexander and Mrs. Elizabeth Halcomb of Murray and Mrs. W. E. Davis of Paducah; two brothers, H. T. Waldrop of Murray and H. C. Waldrop of Mayfield; three grandchildren, Charles W. Waldrop III, Heather Waldrop, and William W. Hunt III.

Final Rites Will Be Held Friday For Mrs. Portis

Final rites for Mrs. Ollie (Olene) Portis will be held Friday at one p. m. at the chapel of the Linn Funeral Home, Benton, with Rev. John Churchwell and Rev. Alvin York officiating.

Burial will be in the Marshall County Memory Gardens. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Mrs. Portis, age 62, died suddenly Wednesday at 2:30 a. m. at her home on Benton Route One. She was a member of the Dexter-Hardin United Methodist Church, worthy matron of Hardin Chapter No. 277 Order of the Eastern Star, and had retired in September from the Merit Clothing Company, Mayfield.

Survivors are her husband, Ollie Portis, and one daughter, Mrs. Lucille Glisson of Benton Route One; five sisters, Mrs. Vera Jones of Paducah, Mrs. Jewel York of Hardin, Mrs. Ruthie Gregory, Mrs. Audrey York, and Mrs. Evelene York, all of Benton Route One; three brothers, L. L. Lamb of Benton Route One, Goebel Lamb of Benton, and Robert Lamb of Paducah.

Funeral Services To Be Friday For John Cunningham

The funeral for John Cunningham of Murray Route Two will be held Friday at ten a. m. at the chapel of the Black-Coleman Funeral Home with Rev. Johnson Easley and Rev. Charles Yancy officiating.

James Calvin Paschall, Rob McCallon, Hugh Palmer, Baron Palmer, O. L. Cain, and Hugh E. Johnson will serve as active pallbearers. Honorary pallbearers will be Roy Jones, Jim Washer, Willis Short, Fred Patton, Brooks Watson, Paul D. Jones, Curtis Palmer, Kenneth Palmer, Hoyt McCallon, and Morgan Cunningham.

Interment will be in the North Pleasant Grove Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Mr. Cunningham, age 65, died Wednesday at nine a. m. at his home. He was a farmer, had been a barber at Kirksey for thirty-five years, and was a member of the Kirksey United Methodist Church. He was the son of the late Johnnie Morgan Cunningham and Nannie Robinson Cunningham. He and his wife, the former Birdie Edmonds, who survives, were married July 6, 1934.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Cunningham, one son, Mark Cunningham, mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Edmonds, and sister, Mrs. Clarence (Eloise) Hackett, all of Murray Route Two; one brother, Paul Cunningham of Murray Route One; several nieces and nephews including Richard Edmonds of South Fulton, Tenn.

Mrs. Johnson Dies Wednesday; Rites To Be Saturday

Mrs. Pearl Johnson of Cherry Street, Murray, died Wednesday morning at the Convalescent Division of the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. She was 93 years of age.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at one p. m. at St. John's Baptist Church with Rev. C. E. Timberlake officiating. Burial will be in the Murray City Cemetery.

The wake will be held Friday from seven to nine p. m. at St. John's Baptist Church. The Rutledge Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.

people "would start buying cars and homes again."

"I see little hope of these things taking place," he said, "because President Ford's advisors are the same old bunch of Nixon appointees who are not likely to get any advice to lean on the Federal Reserve people to take these steps."

"We are," he said, "in a race between removing them or letting the economy sink into a British-style stagnation with government regulations and bureaucrats stifling everything."

"There is no reason for such a move toward poverty," he went on. "Already big businessmen, such as Henry Ford have abandoned their calls for budget balancing and told the President to act and by voting down any and all politicians who merely repeat the same old nonsense," he said. "Many of them will go down anyway, because the big money sources have dried up."

"The Fords of the world have too much to lose to support people whose policies will ruin us all."

Among those present were State Representatives Richard Lewis (D., Benton) and Ed Whitfield (D., Hopkinsville), both en route to their homes after attending day-long legislative meetings in Frankfort.

Whitfield spoke briefly, outlining some of the actions being considered at the state level to insulate Kentuckians against a depression and to keep the Commonwealth's businesses active.

WRATHER HALL: Mrs. M. O. Wrather, Murray, admires Harris' most recent work, a drawing of Wrather Hall, the first building constructed on the Murray State campus and named in honor of her husband, the late Dr. M. O. Wrather, executive vice-president of the University. Harris was commissioned to do the drawing as part of Calloway County's Bicentennial observance. It was unveiled last October 18 as part of the University's Homecoming celebration.

Harris Rapidly Gaining Reputation As Sought-After Artist Of Structures

Although most of the citizens of Murray have long since retired for the night, a light generally can be seen, burning well into the morning hours, in a rear room of a stately Colonial-type home on Main Street near the Murray State University campus.

Inside and hunched over a huge drawing board will be James Wayne Harris, 28, a young man who is rapidly gaining a widespread reputation as one of the country's most sought-after artist of structures.

The latest of Harris' growing list of limited editions is the first of a series of ink drawings depicting the seven oldest structures on the 213-acre Murray State campus and produced under the sponsorship of the University's Alumni Association.

This initial drawing, unveiled for the first time at a Kentucky Bicentennial observance at the University October 18, 1974, pictures Wrather Hall, the first building erected on the campus in 1924 and for 43 years its administration building. Produced in a 5,000-copy limited edition, it is being sold by the association to raise funds for its scholarship programs.

A native of Chicago, where he graduated from the Lemont Township High School, and the son of a former major league pitcher with the Chicago Cubs, Harris received his undergraduate degree from Murray State in 1969 with majors in art and industrial art.

While a junior in college, Harris married Ann Russell of Murray. She also is a 1969 graduate of Murray State and today is executive secretary to the vice-president for university services, Dr. John M. Bartholomew.

When he received his undergraduate degree, Harris had a burning desire to become an architect, and virtually had been accepted at Georgia Tech in its architectural program, when Pat Gingles, a well-known architect in Nashville, Tenn., and a friend of the family, convinced him that he had a

Optometrists

Attend Seminar

Dr. Louis C. Ryan and Dr. Herbert C. Denham, optometrists from Murray, were in attendance at a Continuing Education seminar on Modern Refractive Techniques and Procedures held at Southern College of Optometry on December 7-8, 1974. Members of Southern College of Optometry faculty conducted the seminar.

The optometrists in attendance were involved in clinical demonstration and research on new vectographic methods of doing binocular visual evaluation. They also acted as clinical assistants in the new "Neurophysiology of Vision Clinic."

This method of visual evaluation, using electrical potentials similar to an E. K. G. or E. E. G., does not require a subjective response from the patient to ascertain the neurological health of the visual system or the refractive status of the visual system. This new method of visual evaluation is ideal for young children, aged persons or others who might have problems in understanding or communicating their visual response to the examining doctor.

promising future in the area of architectural illustration, or that of a delineator.

This change in career direction fascinated young Harris, and within a year he was employed by Pre-Lim Associates in Dallas, Texas, as an architectural illustrator, and where he worked for a year before returning to Murray to earn his master's degree in industrial education in 1972.

Having established a studio in his home, he began to develop the rapidly-growing list of architectural clients that he has today, an accomplishment interrupted only briefly when he taught one year at West Virginia Institute of Technology, Montgomery, before returning to Murray State in 1973 as an instructor in the Department of Industrial Education.

One of his first major assignments was a 1,000 limited edition series of 12 historic Christian County scenes for the First City Bank & Trust Company in Hopkinsville and which were sold as part of the "Christennial" observance. This assignment led to another near the nation's capitol when he was commissioned by the Vernon Company, a novelty graphics organization in Newton, Iowa, to do a drawing of Mt. Vernon, the home of George Washington.

So impressed was the firm's art director with Harris' style that the company now plans to sell a stock item calendar featuring his work on a year to year basis. He currently is negotiating a five-year contract with the Newton Company to do this, depicting scenes from across the country.

Harris' other more recent works include a 12-piece calendar picturing historic landmarks in Calloway County and produced for the Bank of Murray, and a full-color elevation of the Trigg County Farmers Bank at Cadiz, Ky., an old stone structure which since has been torn down.

He currently is at work on a full-color rendering of the famous, old Irvin Cobb Hotel in Paducah, Ky., and which will be released in a limited edition of 5,000 copies in March, 1975.

Harris' full-color rendering technique is the opaque water color process and is considered to be much the same style as that of the late Paul Sawyer, a very famous Kentucky artist who died in the mid-1920's.

Harris' goal in life is to do strictly limited edition artwork and to capture the heritage and beauty of old structures, presently standing or in use across the country. He is dedicated to capturing their beauty in print before they are either torn down or become so dilapidated from lack of maintenance that the beauty of their structure is lost forever.

"I get great personal satisfaction, and actually a childish thrill, from seeing my paintings completed, put in print and from having people tell me how much the scenes mean to them and where they are going to hang them in their home," he said.

"One of the most fascinating things about this work is talking to older people who remember when, in the heyday of their youth, they bounced a ball off the wall or sat on their grandfather's knee in front of a particular building," he said. "All these stories represent the simple beauty of life—simple little things that so many of us fail to notice in our hurried-up life style."

It is Harris' love for architecture and his dedication and desire to use his God-given talent to capture the significance of old buildings and historic scenes in his artwork, and in doing so to preserve for Americans everywhere some of their structural beauty before it is hopelessly lost.

rate will still exceed what the administration wants. Ford's speech offered few clues about his proposals to the next Congress, but it was clear he has abandoned or changed much of the economic program that he announced Oct. 8 after the economic summit.

"We will meet the changing priorities of present and future realities," Ford told the Business Council, a group of about 100 of the nation's top corporate executives.

Ford said he would support increased spending over what he has proposed previously to help the nation's jobless with extended unemployment benefits and public service jobs.

Ford said the nation is not in an economic crisis in the sense that it "demands immediate and drastic action."

Rise In Wholesale Prices In November Only Half As Much As Increase During October

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices last month rose 1.2 per cent, less than half the October increase, the government reported today. There were indications the pace of inflation was subsiding.

Although the November increase was high by normal standards, the Labor Department said price increases over the month were less widespread than in preceding months.

And, while agriculture prices continued to increase sharply at the wholesale level, prices of industrial commodities — regarded by economists as a truer measure of inflation rose at the slowest rate in 13 months.

Wholesale prices of industrial goods rose nine-tenths of a per cent last month, slightly less than in September and October and the smallest rise since October 1973 when they rose eight-tenths of a per cent.

Over-all wholesale prices have risen 23.5 per cent in the past 12 months, the biggest year-to-year increase since 1947. But the rate of increase has slowed in recent months, indicating that the nation's inflation rate may soon begin to subside.

President Ford in his economic speech Wednesday night said price pressures were beginning to ease and predicted that "inflation will move steadily down from the intolerable double-digit level."

The 1.2 per cent rise in wholesale prices last month, on a seasonally adjusted basis, compared with October's increase of 2.5 per cent and a rise of one-tenth of one per cent in September. Unadjusted, prices rose one per cent last month.

Trends in wholesale prices usually show up at the consumer level eventually, offering hope that the rise in retail prices may soon tail off.

Detailing its wholesale price report, the Labor Department said prices for farm products rose 1.3 per cent in November while processed foods and feeds increased 3.5 per cent. In October farm products climbed 4.8 per cent and processed foods and feeds 5.5 per cent.

Sugar and confectionary goods accounted for most of the 3.5 per cent increase in prices of consumer foods, those goods ready for sale on supermarket shelves. Sugar and confectionary prices jumped 33.1 per cent last month and were 191.9 per cent higher than a year ago.

Higher prices for processed poultry, milk, fresh and dried fruits and vegetables, miscellaneous processed foods and some meats also increased last month.

The government said that of the 13 major commodity groups in the industrial index, five declined in November. Lumber and wood product prices declined as did fuels, textiles, metals and hides and skins.

November's wholesale price increase pushed the government's over-all Wholesale Price Index up to 171.9, meaning that it cost $171.90 to buy a variety of goods that cost $100 in the 1967 base period.

Industrial commodity prices have risen 27.4 per cent over the past year while prices for farm products advanced 2.1 per cent and processed foods and feeds 24.9 per cent over the same period.

The Toymaker

Kent Forrester, an English professor at Murray State University, began making wooden toys for his son a few years ago. This activity has now developed into a small business, and Forrester still designs most of the toys.

Forrester works on a three-piece train set in his workshop, an 8 x 16-foot structure he built himself.

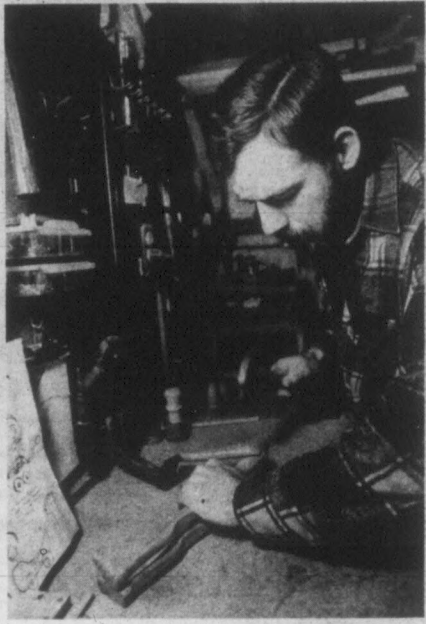

Forrester is tinkering with a wooden airplane.

The final photo shows Forrester surrounded by his toys, made of walnut, cherry, and oak.

Forrester's four-year-old son, Kelly, is fascinated with a marble maze, which is 30 inches in height and takes 100 hours to make.

'Old-Fashioned Christmas' To Be Observed At County Library

"An old-fashioned Christmas" is the theme of the week at the Calloway County Public Library beginning December 16 through 19th.

Special events are planned each afternoon in a Christmas setting reminiscent of Christmases of the past.

Monday, December 16, at 1:30 p. m., Hank Bannon, vocalist and professor in the Music Department of Murray State University, will present a program of Christmas music. With him will be other musicians who will contribute to the program.

Tuesday, December 17, at 1:30 p. m., the Senior Citizens

Band will perform. Their musical instruments will consist of bells, triangles, and other instruments that lend themselves to the sounds of Christmas music.

Wednesday, December 18, at 3:00 p. m., Mrs. Helen Hodges, dramatist, will present the story of "The Littlest Angel." All school-age children are particularly invited to attend.

Thursday, December 19, at 1:30 p. m., the Music Department of the Murray Woman's Club will sing holiday songs in ensembles, solos and as a chorus.

The public is invited to stop in for a few minutes or stay throughout the entire program each day as the presentations will be of an informal nature.

"We hope many of you will take time to come by the library on these days so that your enjoyment of the Christmas Season will be increased by the joyous sounds of Christmas," said Margaret Trevathan, Librarian.

LA Loses Over $900,000 Through Elaborate Stolen Check Scheme

LOS ANGELES (AP) — More than $900,000 belonging to the city government has disappeared through a Swiss bank in an elaborate scheme, to defraud the city of more than $2.5 million, Dist. Atty. Joseph P. Busch says.

"It's an inside job," Busch said Tuesday. "The money's gone. We know that in Switzerland the money went into an account. It was taken out of the account. We don't know who got the money. We don't know where it has gone or who received it."

The complex computer plot involved the theft of city checks, which were then made out to fictitious corporate accounts and the funds transferred to Switzerland. Nine checks are still missing.

Authorities called the fraud "a highly skillful criminal assault on the treasury of Los Angeles."

A source in the investigation told newsmen that the FBI will be asked today to enter the case.

Busch said that a city check for $902,125 had been cashed at a Swiss bank. City officials, including Mayor Tom Bradley, previously had denied the city would be out any money.

Two men have been arrested and charged with conspiracy, forgery, attempted theft and attempted receipt of stolen property, but in a further twist one was released Monday after a computer foulup that reduced his bond from $100,000 to $15,000. Three other persons are sought by authorities.

PSG Howard Willson is shown receiving his third award of the Army Commendation Medal in a recent ceremony at the military science department, Murray State University. Presenting the award is Col. Johnnie Pritchard.

PSG Willson, a member of the military science department, receives this award for exceptionally meritorious service while serving with the US Army Berlin Brigade in Germany.

He is an 18 year veteran of the US Army and among his other decorations are a bronze star medal for heroism and an army commendation medal for heroism, both earned in Vietnam along with 3 awards of the Purple Heart for Wounds received in combat.

PSG Willson and his wife, Dee, live in the Panarama Shores Subdivision of Calloway County.

Holt To Make Presentations In Washington During Week

Bill Holt, director of the Project Apollo experiential education program at Murray State University, will make two presentations in Washington, D. C., this week.

He has been invited to participate in a National Work Conference on the Disadvantaged and Postsecondary Education Dec. 12-13. Holt is one of three directors of national demonstration projects nominated to attend the meeting.

Among others to be involved in the work session are Upward Bound directors and other representatives from each of the 10 regions of the sponsoring

U. S. Office of Education across the country.

Participants will review recommendations made by a Task Force and provide input of their own concerning the proposal to be presented to Congress in 1975 for the direction and appropriation of funds for federal aid programs for low income students.

On Dec. 11, Holt, along with Randy Hess, assistant director of Project Apollo, will also make a presentation to staff members in the Division of Student Support and Special Programs of the Office of Education.

They were invited to address the group by Dr. Marshall Emm, programmatic officer of the national demonstration projects, following his site visit to the Land Between The Lakes in November to observe the Project Apollo program in action.

Project Apollo is a pilot project supported by a federal grant to develop dormant potential in Upward Bound students through a unique outdoor learning process in the 170,000-acre Land Between The Lakes, located about 15 miles from the Murray State campus, in cooperation with the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Now in its second year, Project Apollo involves about 500 students and faculty members from Upward Bound programs in universities in 18 states ranging from Florida to Wisconsin.

Course On Math Teaching To Be Given At Night

For the first time, the Department of Mathematics at Murray State University will offer a 3-semester-hour, evening course entitled "Teaching Mathematics I" (MAT 550) during the spring semester of 1975.

The class will be team taught by Dr. Harvey Elder and Dr. Christine Parker, both members of the mathematics faculty at Murray State, and the classes will meet each Monday evening from 6 to 9 p.m., beginning January 13.

According to Dr. Harold G.

Robertson, chairman of the department, the course is designed for both prospective and in-service teachers of mathematics, and is the first of a two-course sequence. The second course (MAT 551) will be offered during the 1975 summer term.

Topics to be covered in the first course include: Programs in secondary mathematics, theory of mathematical learning, planning for effective teaching and learning and methods of teaching selected topics in mathematics.

Outdoor Course Slated At MSU

A course offering instruction in several unusual outdoor activities such as caving, rock climbing, backpacking, canoeing and obstacle courses will be available in the spring semester schedule at Murray State University.

Entitled Physical Education 140, Self Actualization in Recreation and Physical Education, the course offering one semester hour of credit will include two sections limited to 30 participants each.

Dr. Chad Stewart, chairman of the Department of Recreation and Physical Education, said each section will engage in a weekend exercise of outdoor activities in the Land Between The Lakes—the first section Feb. 8-9 and the second section Feb. 15-16.

An afternoon or evening of orientation during the week prior to the field trip will also be required.

A $15 fee in addition to the normal tuition will be charged to cover food, transportation and other costs involved in the course, which is coed and open to all students and faculty.

Participants may register for the course during the regular spring semester registration period Jan. 9-10.

Unusual Number Of Suicides Anticipated

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The coming holiday season may result in an unusual number of suicide attempts because of despair over loss of jobs heightened by holiday-related mental depression, an Emory University professor says.

"We're into an altogether new kind of stress because of this raging unemployment," said Dr. Fred Crawford, director of Emory's Center for Social Change.

"The sheer impact of losing one's job is traumatic. Christmas heightens the feeling."

Psychiatrists say such a combination undermines self-esteem and creates feelings of incompetence and inadequacy. Ken Whittemore, chief statistician for Fulton County's (Atlanta) mental health unit, said his office is watching the situation this year for the first time to look into the relationship between suicides, loss of jobs and the holiday season.

Food cost is rising faster outside U.S.

Food prices are going up faster outside the United States, a United Nations study indicates.

Of 17 countries studied, the U.S. ranked 13th in food price increases between 1963 and 1972. American food prices went up 35 per cent compared with Denmark's 81 per cent, the hardest-hit country.

Everybody Asks Frank Deuble Why He Purchased Fire Engine

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A puzzled look crossed Frank Deuble's face when he was asked why he bought a 10-ton fire engine.

"Everybody asks that," said the 35-year-old director of admissions at the University of Albuquerque. "I bought it because it appeals aesthetically."

Dr. Bill Price Attends Workshop

Dr. Bill Price, of Murray State University, was among several statewide educators who attended a workshop on individually guided education (IGE) at Elizabethtown's Morningside Elementary School Dec. 1-13.

IGE is a comprehensive system of instruction designed to produce higher educational achievements by allowing for a student's individual characteristics. Workshop participants learned how the program's concepts could aid their pupils. Almost 2,000 elementary schools in 36 states are already utilizing IGE.

The workshop was conducted by the Institute for Developmental Educational Activities (I.D.E.A.), a division of the Kettering Foundation, Dayton, Ohio. The institute did so under the direction of Kentucky's Title III program, a derivative of the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Dr. Franklin Matula, Waco Texas, headed the project. Assisting him were Billy Reeves, I.D.E.A. director; J. B. Bolin, Jr. and Ruth Meredith of the IGE staff, Title III, Region II, Bowling Green; and Carolyn Lakes, IGE, Title III, Region VI, Manchester. John C. Padgett, evaluator of the state Title III staff, is Kentucky coordinator for the IGE program.

Meshack Calley, who settled in Kentucky early in 1800, was a son of Thomas Calley who served in Battle of Kings Mountain, from Washington County, Va. Meshack had a brother called "Fighting" Dick."

It gives personal satisfaction. "I've always wanted one and this one's got a bold, chrome radiator, flared fenders and gold leaf paint."

"I was taken with fire engines while growing up — the bells, the sirens, all the bright, shiny things. This truck is a collector's item."

Deuble's pride and joy is a 1953 Mack, 500-gallon-a-minute pumper, equipped with 36 feet of ladders, 1,800 feet of hose, axes "and a bell you probably couldn't buy today because the cost of bronze would make it prohibitive."

The truck was operational until this past summer with the Enterprise Volunteer Fire Co. of Hamilton Township, N.J. Deuble bought it for $3,250 after he saw it advertised in a national trade magazine.

Deuble, a Bernalillo County volunteer fireman, drove the truck from New Jersey to Albuquerque without incident this past summer, although he admits he was a bit nervous about such a long jaunt in the vehicle.

"It wasn't really made for long-distance driving," he said. "It's got an open cab and the metal flooring tends to pick up engine heat."

What do you do with a fire truck once you get it home? "It's tough finding a place to hide it," Deuble said.

Exxon Official Says Project Independence Over Optimistic

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — An official of Exxon, the nation's largest oil company, says the government's recent "Project Independence" report is over-optimistic when it claims the United States could eliminate oil imports by 1985.

William T. Slick, senior vice president of Exxon, said the report overestimated by millions of barrels a day the nation's ability to increase oil production.

Slick spoke Tuesday at public hearings on energy policy. The hearings, sponsored by the Cabinet-level Energy Resources Council, are in preparation for forthcoming policy recommendations to President Ford.

Ford's energy advisers are meeting Saturday at Camp David, Md., to map those recommendations.

In other testimony at the hearings, a natural gas company official predicted that gas shortages would force service curtailment to residential users three or four years from now. His prediction was contradicted by the chairman of the Federal Power Commission.

Most energy industry witnesses urged an end to federal regulation of natural gas pricing, the removal of petroleum price controls, increased offshore oil and gas leasing, and a "balancing" of environmental regulations with energy needs.

The Project Independence report, prepared by the Federal Energy Administration, was too optimistic, Slick said.

He said Exxon estimated the nation could at best reduce oil imports from around 7 million barrels per day at the present to no less than 2.4 million by 1985.

Howard Boyd, president of the El Paso Natural Gas Co., one of the nation's largest gas pipeline companies, startled some observers with his prediction of residential gas curtailments in three or four years.

Federal Power Commission Chairman John N. Nassikas, one of the government representatives at the hearings, did not respond but later told a reporter that Boyd was too pessimistic. The FPC, which regulates interstate gas pipelines, foresees no danger of cuts in residential service, Nassikas said.

F. Donald Hart, president of the American Gas Association, an industry organization, urged the end of federal regulation of natural gas and estimated it would lead to gas price increases of about 6 per cent a year "until price stability is reached."

Hart did not say how long it would take for the price to stabilize.

In related developments:

—William J. Meyer, chairman of President Ford's inflation-fighting Citizens Action Committee, said gasoline rationing is under serious consideration by the Ford administration and would go into effect Jan. 1.

—Ford told Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., in a letter that he will not support Jackson's proposal to grant the President the authority to impose rationing.

—Iranian diplomat Youssef Akbar said the Arab oil producers might link the cost of crude oil to an index of costs of commodities they purchase from other nations. The oil producing nations are scheduled to meet Thursday in Vienna to discuss this proposal, he said.

TVA Schedules Series Of Meetings To Discuss System's Costs, Rates

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority will discuss power system costs and rates next week at a series of 11 meetings around the TVA area.

The meeting schedule was announced as the agency's distributors reported a decrease in the average residential use of electric power.

Meanwhile, TVA continued to come under attack for its policies during the current coal shortage.

Mrs. Marilyn Lloyd, the congresswoman-elect in Tennessee's 3rd District, joined those calling for an investigation of TVA, and the Chattanooga City Commission began repealing an energy conservation ordinance enacted at the TVA's behest.

The "public information meetings" scheduled around the Tennessee Valley Dec. 19 and Dec. 20 are "designed to give the public an opportunity to express views on rates and other aspects of the TVA power program," the agency said.

The TVA board voted last week to raise electric power rates because of rising costs.

The agency said the average residential electric bill will increase by about 12 per cent.

The meetings will be held in Bowling Green, Ky.; Knoxville, Chattanooga, Jackson, and Nashville, Tenn.; Tupelo and Columbus, Miss.; Muscle Shoals, Huntsville, Ala. Dec. 19, and in Murray, Ky., Dec. 20.

TVA distributors said power use dropped by an average of 1,230 kilowatt hours per home during the 12 months that ended Oct. 31.

The average home used 14,130 kilowatt hours during the year, the lowest average use in two years, the agency said.

The drop began last winter when mild weather held power use down and has continued as power—conservation efforts were instituted during the coal shortage.

Mrs. Lloyd, who has been reluctant to criticize TVA until now, said Tuesday the time has come for a congressional examination of the utility.

"Everyone should welcome it," she said. "I think TVA Chairman Aubrey Wagner should want to clear things up, too, to put himself in the clear."

If I were accused of mismanagement, I certainly would want to show that I've done everything in my power to do what I should."

TVA has come under increasing criticism in recent weeks because of a coal shortage and rising power rates.

The Chattanooga City Commission, at the TVA's urging, recently passed an ordinance limiting businesses to 60 hours of operation a week as a conservation measure.

But Mayor Robert Kirk Walker, upset because of the rate increase and the TVA's refusal to open board meetings to the public, asked the commissioners to repeal the law Tuesday.

The commission approved the repeal on first reading Tuesday. Final approval could come next week. In the meantime, City Atty. Gene Collins said the ordinance will not be enforced.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR FRIDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Don't reject suggestions without giving them thorough consideration. You may overlook an idea which COULD be developed profitably.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21) Influences fairly favorable, but don't consider all decisions made now as final. You may have to revise early next week.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21) Meet competition — but in a subtle manner. Advancement notable in writing, advertising, promotional and educational pursuits.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23) You are always ambitious, and this day will open up new areas in which to profit by your know-how. Results may not be immediate, however, so be patient.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23) Good solar influences favor unusual innovations and clever strategies. A fine period in which to put over unusual ideas.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Allow for some delays in carrying out your program, but don't create them needlessly yourself. Crisp, consistent action needed to top the competition.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) A period for reevaluation. Try to learn just where you stand in relation to other persons, especially competitors. Take nothing — and no one — for granted.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Whatever your plans, take into account new trends and ideas and, if necessary, change maneuvers to fit the current picture. Be dauntless, ready for the unexpected.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) Emotionalism or temperamentalism could get you into trouble if not careful. Self-control needed — especially in romantic situations.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Keep on your toes now. A competitive factor of which you are unaware could be building up. Watch, too, for some tricky maneuvering.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You may encounter some difficult persons, even run into unexpected opposition. Remain tactful, tolerant and affable, and storms will blow over.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Some new insight could lead to higher achievement or bigger profits now. A fine Neptune aspect stimulates perceptiveness, intuition.

YOU BORN TODAY

are a highly independent individual, restless and freedom-loving. Despite these traits, however, you will stick to the job at hand and, whatever it is, will accomplish thoroughly and well. You have an extremely logical mind and enjoy both study and research; would make an excellent scientist — especially in the fields of medicine, engineering or geology. In the business or financial world, you could become a top executive, an outstanding counselor. The law is another excellent outlet for your talents and, on the creative side, so are writing and music. Birthdate of: A. Lawrence Lowell, lawyer, educator, writer; Drew Pearson, newspaper columnist.

SANTA'S PROBLEM PUP

CHAPTER 2
By Bob Boyle

The dog sniffed around Santa's big red leather chair, then looked up at Santa.

Then with one great leap he jumped right up on Santa's lap and started to lick his face.

"What's this? What's this?" Santa laughed. "You two elves, where did you get this dog?"

"We found him behind a snowbank," Juniperperper said. "And he followed us home."

"A likely story, indeed," Santa said. "But he certainly is a pretty dog. And so friendly. What's his name?"

"It's Tea," said Jinkersnipes.

"TEA!" Santa said. "That is a strange name."

"No, Santa, Jinkersnipes is wrong," Juniperperper said. "His name isn't Tea, it's Peako. He likes orange pekoe tea so we decided to call him Peako."

"That sounds like a fine name to me," Santa said. "Look, as soon as you say Peako his little ears perk up. I really think that he knows his name. But I wonder where he came from. He certainly isn't one of our pups. I'm certain our kennel keeper, Kay Nihn, wouldn't lose a dog anyway. She's much too careful."

"Can we keep him, Santa?" Juniperperper asked.

"I would love to," Santa replied. "But you know the rules. We have to deliver all North Pole pets to the good boys and girls on Christmas eve."

"Ah, shucks, Santa, let's keep him," Jinkersnipes said.

"Rules are to be obeyed," Santa explained. "But I will tell you what we can do. We can keep him until Christmas Eve."

"Well that's better than nothing," Juniperperper said. "He'll be my dog until then."

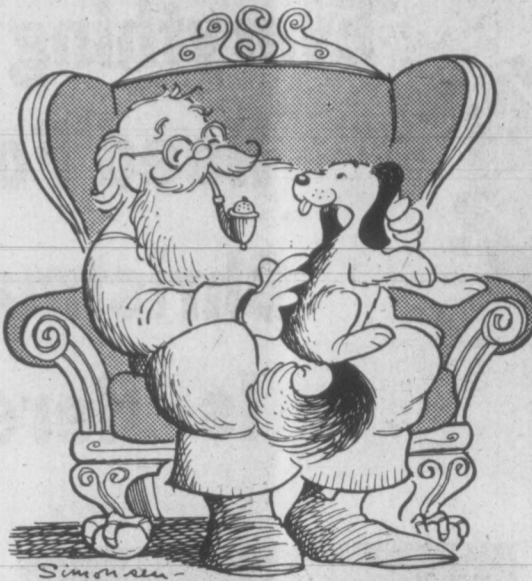

"No, he'll be mine," Jinkersnipes said.

"Now, elves," Santa cautioned. "He will be everyone's dog."

"Time to eat, boys," Santa said. "You go into the dining room and I'll be right there. And take Peako with you."

"Okay, Santa," the elves said. "Come on, Peako, come on. Boy. Good dog, come on."

But Peako stayed right on Santa's lap.

Santa tried to brush him from his lap. But Peako wouldn't move.

"Get down, Peako," Santa said. "Go with the elves."

But Peako wouldn't budge. He turned to Santa again and began to lick his face.

Santa tried to brush him from his lap. But Peako wouldn't move.

"Santa," Juniperperper said. "I know whose dog it will be. Peako is your dog. He won't leave you."

The two elves ran out and Peako hopped down and sat at Santa's feet.

"Are you hungry, Peako," Santa said. "We'll find some nice dog food for you."

The dog pranced before Santa to the dining room and once they got there, Peako jumped on the dining room chair.

"Santa, I think he wants to eat with us at the table," Juniperperper laughed.

Santa walked over to the dog and lifted him down. "Now, boy," he said, "into the kitchen — Mrs. Claus will give you a nice bowl of dog food."

Peako obeyed and went into the kitchen.

But he was back in a minute with Mrs. Claus right behind him.

"Santa," she said. "This dog doesn't want dog food. I dropped a fresh peach and he ate that. But he doesn't want dog food."

"Santa," Juniperperper said. "I don't think that Peako knows he is a dog. I bet he thinks he's a little boy."

"You're right," Santa said. "But he is so cute. Here, let's try him on a small piece of this strawberry delight pie."

"Oh, Santa, dogs don't eat strawberries," Juniperperper said.

But Santa dropped a piece to Peako. He sniffed it and gobbled it right up.

"He does think he is a boy," Jinkersnipes said.

"Well if he doesn't eat his food, I guess he'll go hungry," Mrs. Claus said.

She went back into the kitchen but was back within a minute with a bowl not of dog food, but of creamy porridge.

"Here, Peako," she said. "The boys like this porridge. So try it."

Peako perked up when he heard the word boys, sniffed the porridge and gobbled it all down.

"He does think he is a boy," she said.
