Local Tax Bite Less Than Norm Across Country

Is the cost of local government greater or smaller, for residents of Calloway County, than it is for people in other areas?

How much is it costing them in taxes, per capita, to operate their state and local governments?

As in every other section of the country, with the outlays for public services mounting, year after year, their tax burden grows bigger.

Nearly every community has been put in a squeeze trying to maintain and, if possible, to expand the services that their people demand, such as better schooling, added police protection, improved health facilities, more roads and the like.

According to a national survey, released recently by the Commerce Clearing House, an authority on government finances, Americans paid an average of $577 in state and local taxes last year, a jump of $55 per person over the previous year. The increase since 1970 was $150.

In Calloway County, on the basis of its figures and data from other sources, such taxes amounted to approximately $365 per capita in the year.

Elsewhere in the State of Kentucky, the average was $404 per person, which was $50 more than the year before. In the East South Central States it was $380.

All communities have been faced with money problems because of rising payrolls and because of the inflated cost of supplies, materials and capital financing.

In some sections of the country the tax load in the year was much greater than in others, due to special local conditions such as heavier welfare costs, housing problems and the like.

The range was from a low of $342 in Arkansas to a high of $894 in New York. It marks the first time that the $800 level has been exceeded. California, with a per capita burden of $739, was in the runner-up spot.

The report shows that state and local taxes amounted to $121.1 billion, as against $108.8 billion in the prior year. It represented a jump of almost 100 per cent over the 1967 figure, $61.2 billion.

In Calloway County the tax burden amounted to approximately $10,950,000 in the year.

The Calloway County High School speech team won first place at the Union County Christmas Tournament over the past weekend.

Unemployment Compensation Bills Sent To President Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with a slipping economy and a rising jobless rate, Congress has sent President Ford two bills that will give U.S. workers the broadest unemployment compensation protection on record.

Ford has not yet signed the measures but is considered certain to do so.

One of the bills will make the 80 million employees covered by regular unemployment compensation eligible for at least 52 weeks of benefits.

The other bill will qualify some 12 million workers for jobless payments for the first time.

Sponsors said the bills were particularly important with unemployment now at 6.5 and expected to climb to 7.5 per cent or higher next year. Six million Americans now are jobless.

The provisions on workers now ineligible for unemployment compensation will allow them 26 weeks of benefit payments, the basic amount now available under the regular jobless aid program.

The payments can be made as long as the national unemployment rate exceeds 6 per cent, which is expected to be the case throughout 1975.

The major groups covered by this new program will be farm workers, domestics, and employees of state and local governments.

They can apply to the state office which handles regular unemployment compensation payments.

Applicants will have to meet the standards imposed by the particular state for the regular payments. These generally include a minimum amount of time spent in the occupation and a minimum amount of wages earned in that job.

Sponsors of the new program estimate that at least 2 million of the newly eligible 12 million workers will be unemployed some time in 1975.

The bill providing additional benefits under the regular program will make available 13 weeks of emergency payments to add to the 39 weeks already being paid most out-of-work

Eddyville School To Be Operational By Mid-February

EDDYVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky State Penitentiary is doubling its capacity for teaching prisoners trades, and Supt. Henry Cowan says the new $500,000 vocational school will be in use by mid-February.

The school will enable the prison to add about 50 students and four trades to its 4-year-old vocational education program.

The new trades will be auto body repair, small engine repair, heating and air conditioning work, and welding.

Convicts in the old facilities already learn such trades as masonry, meat cutting, plumbing, and radio and television repair.

Water Into Gas?

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — The Texas Gas Transmission Corp. is planning to spend at least $3 million in its search for an economical way to turn ordinary water into large quantities of pipeline gas.

The firms involved are hopeful of having a new, plentiful source of gas within the 1980s.

Texas Gas Vice President John R. Blewer says the Owensboro corporation has paid $1.5 to a small Ann Arbor, Mich. firm to develop the process. The result of the experiments will be 100 per cent identical natural gas, he said.

Blewer added that Texas Gas "probably will commit" an additional $1.5 million to KMS Fusion, Inc. at the end of next month.

Spokesmen for both corporations are hopeful that a Texas Gas-owned pilot plant can be operating by 1979 to 1980.

K.M. Siegel, the head of KMS thinks a production plant is still 10 years away at the earliest. Siegel said people have been producing methane from hydrogen for years. He explained that KMS has found a more efficient way of doing it, which includes techniques of laser fusion.

A laser is a dense beam of highly concentrated, intense light.

Investigations Made By Police

Several investigations were made over the weekend by Murray City Police, including a break-in at the Derby Oil Co., on South 12th Street.

Investigating officers said a hole was cut in the door to gain entry into the building, and a desk drawer was also forced open. Cash, oil, and cigarettes valued at $75 were taken in the burglary.

Steve Seaford reported the theft of stereo equipment valued at $375 from the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity house on Stadium View Drive, according to police.

Velma Lusk, Hales Trailer Court, also reported the theft of a 19-inch color television. The television was valued at $300.

Calloway High Speech Team Wins Tournament

The Calloway County High Speech team scored 496 points to win the Union County Christmas Tournament held Saturday. Owensboro Catholic recorded 436 points for second place and Murray High registered 314 points for third place. This was the highest number of points ever recorded by a Calloway team.

Calloway won the first place sweepstakes trophy and ten members of the team won individual trophies. They were: Renee Tobey and Krit Stubblefield winning first and second place in Oratory; Teresa Moody first place in dramatic interpretation; Mike Farris and Danny Kingins took first and second place in storytelling; Jobeth Norwood second place in humorous interpretation; Randy Herndon and Randy McDaniels second in duet acting; Chuck Williams third in extemp and Nada Frazier was third in broadcasting.

The winners for Murray High were: Johnny Cannon and Barbara Kemper, first in duet acting; Laurie Beatty, first in girls extemporaneous speaking and third in original oratory; Lezlee Bartholomy, first in humorous interpretation; Catina Beasley, second in dramatic interpretation; and Cheryl Brown, second in poetry.

Of the 18 MHS competitors, 11 made it to the final round of competition. The team finished with a total of 56 superior ratings, 26 excellent ratings and 14 good ratings.

The Laker team received eighty superior ratings. There were thirty-two Calloway team members competing and twenty-two qualified for the final round.

The CCHS varsity debaters composed of Kevin Bowen, Rick Wilkerson, Tommy Riley and Randy Hutchens won debates over Union County, Murray High and Owensboro Catholic.

Calloway will open the second half of the season at Larue County on January 11.

The speech and debate team is coached by Larry England.

Mine Construction Workers OK Contract

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Mine construction workers accepted a new contract Sunday with the Association of Bituminous Contractors, clearing the way for a return to full scale production in the nation's coalfields.

The 4,400 construction workers, members of the United Mine Workers but bound by a contract separate to that covering miners, had idled about half of the UMW's 120,000 soft coal miners since the latter accepted a new three-year pact Dec. 6.

The resulting shutdowns, caused when miners refused to cross picket lines manned by construction workers, kept the nation's coal production at the low ebb it reached when the miners walked off the job Nov. 12.

After accepting the contract by roughly a two-to-one margin, according to a UMW spokesman in Washington, officials said the workers would be back on the job at 12:01 a.m. Monday.

John Lyons, president of Local 1800 in Edensburg, Pa., said District 2 members "will be back on the job .... it's time we got back to work."

Despite a continuing disagreement with the Western Pennsylvania Coal Haulers Association (WPCA), Lyons said trucker members of the local would not form picket lines at mines. Such a move had been rumored.

Trucking firms have refused to sign the general UMW contract, saying they cannot work 24-hour shifts as in the mines and that a seven and one-half hour workday isn't sufficient to deliver coal efficiently.

This is the first UMW contract the truckers have been asked to sign.

In West Virginia, District 29 Secretary J. Carl Bunch also said construction workers would report on time.

E. M. Long Jr., president of Local 6843, the only construction worker local in Virginia's District 28, said contract ratification meant a return to work.

Ford Says He Will Not Tolerate Illegal Domestic Spying By CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford says he will not tolerate illegal domestic spying by the Central Intelligence Agency and that he has been assured that the agency is not involved in such activities now.

Responding to questions about a published report that the CIA spied on domestic anti-war groups and individuals during the Nixon administration, Ford said Sunday that CIA Director William E. Colby had told him earlier, in the day that "nothing comparable" to the alleged domestic surveillance operation was now going on.

Ford told newsmen in Grand Junction, Colo., that he told Colby "that under no circumstances would I tolerate any such activity under this administration."

The report in the Sunday New York Times also prompted demands for an immediate investigation from former CIA officials and members of Congress.

The CIA declined any immediate comment, but sources said Colby was holding a top-level agency meeting today about the disclosures.

Former CIA director John McConne said the allegations could not "be refuted merely on a denial by the agency. He urged 'an investigation either by the Congress or by President Ford's Foreign Advisory Board.'"

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., called for an investigation by the Justice Department and said he would ask Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to have former CIA director Richard Helms resign his post as ambassador to Iran.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., a member of the House

Foreign Affairs Committee, said he would ask Kissinger to bring Helms to Washington for questioning.

According to the Times article, intelligence files on at least 10,000 American citizens were maintained by a special unit of the CIA that reported directly to Helms. Federal law carefully limits CIA activities to gathering intelligence abroad and leaves domestic surveillance to the FBI.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and Rep. Lucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., the chairmen of the two congressional subcommittees charged with overseeing CIA operations, both declined to comment. The Times said both men had been informed by Colby last year of the alleged surveillance operation.

State Burley Market Recesses Two Weeks

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky burley tobacco market has been recessed for two weeks, after one month of sales in which prices soared to record heights in a two-week period, and then began a steady decline. The lower price still was way above last season's averages.

The season began Nov. 25, and the average recorded that opening day was a record $108.80 per hundred pounds. The average price increased steadily through Dec. 9, the beginning of the third week of sales, with buyers paying an average of $120.41 per hundredweight. When the markets closed for the holidays Thursday, the average price was $115.83 per hundredweight.

The 30 markets reopen Jan. 6.

A total of 80,680,940 pounds of burley moved through the markets in Kentucky last week. Total volume the previous week was 93,391,281 pounds.

The average price for the four days of selling was $116.82 per hundred pounds, compared with the average the previous week of $119.59 per hundredweight.

On Monday, the average price was $118.09 per hundred pounds and on Thursday had dropped to $115.83 per hundredweight.

For the week, Greensburg recorded the highest price average-receiving an average of $119.63 per hundred pounds on a volume of 2,454,729 pounds.

The low average was recorded in Covington where growers received an average of $111.49 per hundred pounds for 1,518,744 pounds of burley.

Growers have sold 355,667,661 pounds of burley in Kentucky this season, for an average of $116.48 per hundredweight.

Springfield has recorded the highest selling average this season-$117.88 per hundredweight for 11,247,863 pounds. Henderson has recorded the low average-$112.65 per hundred pounds, for 406,682 pounds of burley.

Tax Cuts Of $12 Billion Urged By Joint Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax cuts of up to $12 billion a year have been urged by the congressional Joint Economic Committee to help pump up the economy and head off what the panel called possibly the worst recession in more than 35 years.

At the same time the committee urged Congress to consider enacting a gasoline tax increase to help force a reduction in demand. As an example, it said a tax of 30 cents a gallon would cut gas consumption by 8 per cent or 500,000 barrels a day during the first year.

The committee's tax-cut proposal Sunday was joined by other tax cut recommendations from Andrew F. Brimmer, a former member of the Federal Reserve Board, and economist Walter M. Heller, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under Presidents John F.

Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Brimmer, now dean of the Harvard Business School, proposed a one-time 10 per cent cut in 1974 federal income taxes. Heller, appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," called for a two per cent reduction in income tax rates on earned income up to about $13,200.

The congressional joint committee, warning that unemployment will hit 7.5 per cent by next summer, said a minimum of $10 billion in tax relief should be enacted immediately, aimed at low and moderate income persons.

A voluntary system of wage-price guidelines also was advocated by the committee's Democratic majority to give President Ford authority to roll back selected wage and price hikes if he found them clearly inflationary.

Both Republicans and Democrats on the committee agreed that without new policies the United States will slip into what could be the worst recession in over 35 years.

The committee's report argued that the only way to fight both recession and inflation is to use fiscal and monetary stimulants and intervention in some wage price cases.

It proposed that any tax cuts now could be offset later by elimination of the oil depletion allowance and other tax changes.

Other major committee recommendations were: —A rollback of oil prices but an increase in the price of new natural gas.

—A less stringent monetary program than the one being followed by the Federal Reserve Board.

—Expansion of federal public service job programs and unemployment compensation.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said on ABC Radio's "Issues and Answers" that "we might have to go into 'guidelines, possibly into wage and price controls ..."

Meanwhile, E.B. Speer, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., said on CBS' "Face the Nation" that some national objectives need to be reviewed closely.

He said safety and environmental requirements have added considerably to the price of autos. "This is inflationary," Speer said, adding the question is "can we pay the price?"

He defended U.S. Steel's recent price increases that had drawn criticism from Ford. He said the increases were noninflationary because the prices charged by U.S. Steel in most areas are below those of their competition even after the increases.

Writer Recuperating From Surgery Now At Home

By Mrs. R. D. Key
December 16, 1974

Well I'm back after a few weeks absence. I went into Henry County General Hospital on November 26, had surgery on November 27, and returned home December 4. I am feeling much better and went back to Dr. Minor on December 11 for a check up. Reports were fine and the doctor said I could be up and around in the house. I go back to see him on December 23.

The doctor said I could go spend Christmas Day with my mother, Mrs. Ella Morris, who is nearing her 98th birthday on February 2, which made me very happy. Then I'm looking forward to being back in Sunday School and Church which I miss so much.

Visitors in to see me while I was in the hospital were Bro. Vaden, Bro. and Mrs. Jerry Lee, Bro. and Mrs. Glynn Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Gurvis Paschall, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Paschall, Mrs. Wanda Allbright, Nomie Olive, Ann Paschall, Mary Thompson, Glenda Lankford, Edd Hudson, Mrs. Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Paschall, Mr. and Mrs. Rickie Orr, Howard Morris, Jessie Paschall, Mr. and Mrs. Eilburn Martin, Fannie Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Kuykendall, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Owen, Mr. and Mrs. Tellus Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylon Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gallimore, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Baucum, Eunice Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Clerris Wilson, Mrs. Tom Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Jenkins, Mrs. Gloria Jenkins, and Mrs. Gail Morris.

Other visitors since I came home are Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Wicker, Bro. and Mrs. Vaden,

Open House Held For Members Of Murray FHA

The annual Christmas open house for the Murray High School Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America was held on Sunday, December 15, at the home of the president, Miss Martha McKinney, 901 Clarkshire Drive, Murray.

A comic strip a friend has particularly enjoyed can become a thoughtful Christmas gift. Cut it out and have it attractively framed for the kitchen or den.

Lighter Case

For a stocking stuffer for the smoker, there's a neat-looking gold reptilian case that fits over throw-away butane cigarette lighters.

Miss McKinney, her mother, Mrs. John McKinney, and the chapter advisors, Mrs. Lucy Lilly and Mrs. Sally Crass, greeted the guests at the door.

The house was beautifully decorated in the Christmas motif with poinsettias in the living room including one sent by the FHA Chapter to the McKinney home.

Refreshments of lime sherbert punch, Christmas candies and cookies, made by students in Home Economics III class, were served at the dining room table, overlaid with a lovely embroidered cloth, and centered with a Christmas arrangement and candles. The buffet also held a Christmas centerpiece.

Chapter committee members in charge of the arrangements were Sharon Steele, chairman, Beverly Barnett, Kathy Halford, Debbie Suiter, Tammy Rice, Marlene Farrell, Marilyn Howard, Denise Curd, Gloria Cavitt, Delaine Honchul, Lisa Morton, Diana Sliger, Kim Hooper, Lisa Smith, and Cindy Sherer.

Devotion Given By Mrs. Hortin At Circle Meet

The Mattie Bell Hays Circle of the First United Methodist Church Women met Monday, December 9, at seven p.m. at the social hall. Christmas music by Mrs. Mary Farmer preceded the meeting.

Miss Roberta Whitnah, chairman, opened the meeting with prayer and conducted the business session. Mrs. Katie Overcast, secretary, read the minutes. Mrs. Mary Farmer, local treasurer, gave her report.

The devotion was given by Mrs. L. J. Hortin using a thought about Christmas, "We can not tie up Christmas in a bright package," taken from Hickman Gazette. She read her scripture from Isaiah and Luke and closed with prayer.

Mrs. Mary Farmer conducted the pledge service and had as her subject, "Were You There" with scripture from Matthew 25:40. Songs used in her program were "Help Somebody Today" and "Give of Your Best To The Master."

Mrs. James Fisher closed the program with prayer. Dr. and Mrs. Fisher were special guests.

Mrs. Hortin and Mrs. E. B. Howton, hostesses, served refreshments during the social hour.

Vows To Be Read

Miss Carolyn Ann Smith

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram H. Smith of Murray Route One announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their only daughter, Carolyn Ann, to Dan Leslie Robertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Robertson, Jr., of 1625 Hamilton Avenue, Murray.

The bride-elect is a 1973 graduate of Calloway County High School and is presently employed with Uncle Jeffs of Murray.

Mr. Robertson attended Murray High School and is presently self-employed.

Grandparents of the bride-elect are Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crick, all of Kirksey Route One. The groom-elect's grandparents are Mrs. Eula Robertson and the late Clyde Robertson, Sr., 115 South Tenth Street, Murray, and Mrs. Bertha Anderson and the late Dan Anderson of West Paducah.

The wedding will be solemnized on Friday, February 7, at seven p.m. at the home of the bride-elect's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Magness Beach of Kirksey Route One, with Brother Connie Wyatt officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Mr. And Mrs. Martin To Be Honored, Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Martin of the Standing Rock Community, Stewart County, Tenn., will be honored at a reception in celebration of the fiftieth wedding anniversary on Sunday, December 29, at their home.

Paris Road Club Has Dinner At The Roach Home

The Paris Road Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Margaret Roach on Tuesday, December 10, at eleven a.m. for a potluck dinner.

In the afternoon the roll call was by Mrs. Ina Nesbitt with members naming Santa's reindeer. The Bible reading from the book of Luke was by Mrs. Lucille Hart. Mrs. Topsy Brandon, president, conducted the business meeting.

The recreational period was conducted by Mrs. Amy Wilson. Gifts were also exchanged.

Other members present, not previously mentioned, were Mrs. Mary Alice Gee, Miss Rebel Steely, Mrs. Blaine White, Mrs. Barbara White, Mrs. Ola McIntosh, Mrs. Naomi Barrett, Mrs. Alice Steely, and one new member, Mrs. Ruth Hughes. Three guests were Mrs. Bell Orr, Mrs. Barletta Wrather, and Mrs. Ernest Madrey.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, January 14, at one p.m. at the home of Mrs. Topsy Brandon.

Hostesses for the special occasion will be a niece, Mrs. Maxine Borchers of Granite City, Ill., and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Helen McCarty of Tennessee Ridge, Tenn. All friends and relatives are cordially invited to attend the reception to be held between the hours of one to four p.m.

Mrs. Martin is the former Sally McCarty, daughter of the late John and Sally Tomlinson McCarty of Stewart County, Tenn. She is a former school teacher and is the sister of Amos McCarty, Sr., of Murray.

Mr. Martin, a retired groceryman at Fort Henry, Tenn., was a former employee of the Sexton Brothers Hardware Company, formerly at Fourth and Main Streets, Murray. He is the son of the late Reubin E. and Vickie Martin of Stewart County, and is the brother of Mrs. Katie Martin Overcast and Stanley Martin of Murray, John C. Martin of Decatur, Ill., and Mrs. Lura Russell of New Johnsonville, Tenn.

Use soft soap on frozen water

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have two little boys and a dirty husband. Sheldon, my husband, doesn't like to bathe. I keep the house clean and the boys and I are immaculate, but I can't seem to convince Sheldon that he needs to keep himself clean.

He bathes only for hockey. If he has a game or hockey practice, he'll take a bath. But, Abby, that's not often enough for me.

Does a wife have to make love to a husband who smells bad? What on earth is wrong with a 25-year-old man who acts like this?

DEAR WIFE: Obviously, he doesn't care for water unless it's frozen. There's an outside chance that he's sick. Otherwise he's simply childish, lazy and inconsiderate. No, a wife doesn't have to make love to a husband who smells bad, so if you can't make him more fragrant with a little soft soap, your marriage could be all washed up.

DEAR ABBY: May I offer an alternate solution to "Mama's Girl," the bride-to-be who didn't want her father to give her away?

I am to be married in May, and my situation parallels hers. My parents were divorced eleven years ago, and my mother raised me alone during those difficult years. My mother received no alimony, very little support money, and no help whatsoever from my father (who could easily have afforded all three).

Traditionally, the man to give the bride away should be the man who gave her his financial, emotional and moral support. My father does not deserve that honor. But my boss of five years does, so I have asked him to give me away. He said he would be honored.

When the clergyman asks, "Who gives this woman in marriage," I have instructed my boss to reply, "Her mother and I do."

I believe that this will not only be an acceptable solution to the problem, but will also give my mother the credit due her.

In some ways I shall always be "Mama's girl," but in this respect, I consider myself..... MY OWN WOMAN

DEAR ABBY: I am a part-time working mother. On nine separate occasions I have tried to find a reliable housekeeper. They have all left for one reason or another. Friends of ours had a housekeeper in their home for six months. Then they said that she was incompetent to care for their children, so they let her go and then they promptly left for a month's vacation.

Knowing the young woman and liking her (and also being desperate), I hired her.

When my friends returned from their vacation they let me know that they were very angry because I had hired their former housekeeper. The wife said it was a slap in the face to her that I didn't trust her opinion when she said the woman was not competent to care for children.

Now the friendship is ruined. And my husband and I are upset because we enjoyed a very nice relationship with this family. Was I wrong in hiring this woman? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: No. And if your friendship was that fragile, you haven't lost much.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU WHO HAVE THE TIME TO READ FOR PLEASURE: Since my own time is limited, I must be extremely selective about the books I read for pleasure. But THE WOMAN HE LOVED, by Ralph G. Martin was well worth my time. It's the fascinating story about the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, in which some startling truths are revealed. I recommend it highly.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Christmas Party Held By Calloway High FHA

Jayna Humphreys and Patty Sirls, student teachers were in charge of the annual Christmas party held by the Calloway County High School Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America on Monday, December 9, from six to eight p.m.

The large number of girls attended the semi-formal party held in the school cafeteria.

Linda McCuiston presented the devotion. The Story of Christmas from the Bible was read by Becky Blackford.

Toastmistress, Renee Thompson, introduced Randy McDaniel and Randy Herndon, who did a duet act for special entertainment.

Games were played and refreshments were served. Gifts were given out by Santa, Mary Beth Hays, and his helper, Patsy Burkeen. Advisors for the chapter are Miss Lucy Forrest and Mrs. Bess Kerlick.

Omelet to the Rescue

Sooner or later holiday shopping is bound to catch you red-handed without supper ready. For a last minute satisfying entree to save the day, spruce up an omelet with a flavorful ground beef sauce. The sauce is simply made by browning ½ pound ground beef with ¼ cup each chopped celery and onion. Pour off drippings and add ¼ teaspoon garlic salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, one 8-ounce can tomato sauce, one 10½-ounce can mushroom soup and ½ cup water. Simmer 10 minutes and serve over omelet.

Murray Magazine Club Has Party, Winter Home With Mrs. McKenzie As Speaker

The annual Christmas party of the Murray Magazine Club was held on Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Winter.

A large holly wreath welcomed the members at the front door and the home was decked in holiday fashion with a large Norfolk pine Christmas tree, blooming Christmas cacti and poinsettia plants and the table for serving held a Christmas candle and holly, centered in a wreath of nuts and seeds.

Assisted by Mrs. C. C. Lowry, the hostess served flaming plum pudding and coffee during the social hour.

Mrs. Ewen Allbritten, president, presided at the brief business meeting.

Devotions were led by Mrs.

George Hart, who spoke of visiting places in Palestine where Christ had lived, and of principles He taught, including His great dependence on prayer. She read the article "One Solitary Life," describing Christ's life on earth, and concluded her devotions by reading from three favorite Christmas greetings, one a verse by Jesse Stuart, one a verse by Dr. Rubie Smith, and one reminiscent of the famous prayer of St. Francis.

A letter of thanks from Western State Hospital was read in reply to gifts sent for Christmas from the Club. The president announced the annual business meeting and election of officers to be held in January and appointed to serve on the nominating committee: Mesdames A. C. LaFollette, E. B. Howden and A. W. Russell. Mrs. John Livesay, yearbook chairman, introduced Mrs. Henry McKenzie, whose topic was "Christmas in Kentucky."

Mrs. McKenzie introduced her talk by stating that to know about Christmases past, one necessarily finds out a lot about many other things, Kentucky's history, the movements of people, their changing food patterns and developing Christmas customs.

She spoke particularly of the heritage from English, Scottish, and German settlers who came bringing their inherited Christmas customs. As settlements grew, business, science, sports and culture developed and celebrations of Christmas became more elaborate. Tracing the incoming waves of migration, the speaker mentioned particular periods when they were heaviest: the time when Revolutionary War veterans came to claim their land warrants; the period from 1783 to 1790 when more than 52,000 settlers came; and immediately after 1800 when the population had grown to more than 220,000.

Changing patterns in Christmas decorations and Christmas foods were stressed, with the emphasis Kentuckians have always placed upon hospitality and good food. The lack of religious emphasis, particularly in the first century of Kentucky's history was mentioned, as well as the lack, at least until recent years, of charity giving to those in need. Bringing the history of Christmas in Kentucky down to date, incidents within the lifetime of the club members were recalled. Mrs. McKenzie closed her talk with a prayer of Grace Noll Crowell "to keep the shine of Christmas." Mrs. Winter favored the group with a Christmas Carol played upon the organ. The annual gift exchange was conducted by Mrs. LaFollette.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR TUESDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1974

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Partnerships, business, personal life generously influenced. You who are truly ambitious have grand opportunities now. Be realistic in all things, however.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21) Be alert now. Scrutinize all projects before acting. Rule out doubt, fear of failure. You have the know-how.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21) Your Mercury, in excellent position, encourages written matters, communications generally. Give a good account of yourself.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23) Mild influences. Don't rest on past laurels or indulge in day-dreaming. Put forth your best efforts. A good period for encouraging new friendships.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23) Give careful attention to all responsibilities and obligations. Haste could result in needless errors. Don't waste time on frivolity.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) The time and opportunity are here! Accomplish! You will be happy later that you strived. Don't mind if progress is slow at first. Activities will gather momentum.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Don't abandon a project just because someone else may not be enthusiastic about it, but listen to their ideas anyway. There COULD be some angles you have overlooked.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) Dealings with others may have their ups and downs: YOU remain serene and tolerant. Where things seem to be in a slump, use your imagination to inject new vigor.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) Curb a tendency to be overly critical. Don't look for flaws in every matter that comes up. Emphasize tolerance and steadiness.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Familiar matters favored rather than new enterprises. You may encounter tense feelings in some areas. Keep your balance and look at the bright side of things.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Put inferences, conceded facts and other material together and scrutinize well; then you will be surer when you make decisions and move ahead.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) This will be a day calling for good judgment. Do not let unexpected situations ruffle you and do not let yourself be pushed into erroneous paths by the prodding of others.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with fine business acumen, self-reliance and practicality; are independent, energetic and highly progressive in your thinking. If you do not veer to the business world as a career, you could shine in intellectual pursuits. Many writers, journalists, educators and lecturers have been born under Capricorn. Tendencies to curb: sarcasm and a strait-laced attitude toward life. Birthdate of: Matthew Arnold, Eng. poet, critic; Howard Hughes, aviator, motion picture producer, financier; Ava Gardner, film star.

Vladivostok Debacle

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The icy blast that is suddenly blowing out of Russia could mean rough weather ahead for Soviet-American detente. It might even mean that Soviet chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, although at the peak of his personal power, has received some sort of rebuke.

Belatedly, the Kremlin has unveiled immense outrage at an implied affront to Soviet sovereignty.

The Soviet leaders long had eagerly sought preferential treatment in trade with the United States. Last week the Senate attached strings to the deal, intending to insure a more liberal Soviet attitude toward emigration, especially of Jews.

The price was too big. The Kremlin now huffily rejects it. This announcement evidently was hastened by the fact that the Senate completed its action Friday and the trade measure was headed for final Congressional passage at this session.

It's all quite mysterious. On Oct. 15, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the champion of would-be Jewish emigrants, said a deal had been reached which would permit emigration of something like 60,000 persons annually.

The Russians didn't like what it did to their superpower image to seem to be a supplicant for American favors. The chauvinistic and intensely nationalistic military, in particular, would resent it. Much surprise was generated by the announcement.

Questioned about the matter on Dec. 3 in the Senate Finance Committee, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said if he reported there was a "formal" agreement, the Russians would repudiate it. But that seemed to suggest some sort of informal understanding.

The Vladivostok summit had taken place. The Ford administration hailed it as a "triumph." There was no hint then of an impending Soviet bomb on the trade-emigration issue that conceivably could alter the look of the summit results.

Yet a whole month before that summit Kissinger had received Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's harsh note denouncing Sen. Jackson and accusing Kissinger and Jackson of "distorting" the Soviet position. If there was some sort of deal, even informal, Gromyko's Oct. 26 letter would seem to have nullified it. That would make it seem that Brezhnev was obliged to renege.

Who was strong enough to bring this about? Maybe the military in league with the hard-nosed party conservatives. But why was nothing said publicly about it until three weeks after the latest summit?

The timing is interesting from many standpoints. The announcement came as the Soviet parliament was in session to rubber-stamp a new budget. One of Brezhnev's claims to popularity derives from a detente policy that raises hopes of dividends for the domestic economy. But the Supreme Soviet became a platform for disclosure that for another year heavy industry, the source of military power, would again have the budget edge over the consumer side.

If that was bad news for the consumer, maybe the American "enemies of detente" could be blamed. Maybe, too, the military had to be appeased by getting its customary glutinous bite of the budget.

Rough Weather Ahead For U. S. -U. S. S. R. Detente

By Anthony Harrigan

In view of his pledge to the American people to maintain the strongest possible defenses, President Ford's acceptance of the strategic arms agreement negotiated by Dr. Kissinger is a real shocker. Realistic observers of the Vladivostok pact agree that it allows the Soviet Union a new measure of military superiority over the United States.

Mr. Ford, in his first address to Congress, said "A strong defense is the surest way to peace." But, like former President Nixon, he has yielded to the "Peace in our time" rhetoric of Secretary of State Kissinger who sacrifices American security in order to obtain Soviet smiles.

Congress, which is charged with the maintenance of defense forces, has a clear duty to reject the enormously damaging agreement subscribed to by Dr. Kissinger. The reasons why have been superbly spelled out in an editorial in The Wall Street Journal.

The Journal states that the Vladivostok pact "allows the Soviet Union a missile force three times as large as the American one when measured by the most relevant criterion."

This very sober and reliable publication goes on to say that in terms of American security interests the agreement must be seen as another step along the path to eventual Soviet strategic superiority.

Even before President Ford announced the Vladivostok pact, Sen. James Buckley (R-N.Y.) charged the Soviets with cheating on the Salt-I agreement. In a speech Oct. 31, he reported Soviet construction of additional missile silos under the guise of command and control facilities. He noted the development of a land-mobile missile which the U. S. specifically declared would be inconsistent with Salt-I. Sen. Buckley charged that the U. S. public is not being fully informed of the Soviet violations.

The Wall Street Journal reports that "Neither the Presidential offer nor the Soviet counter-offer was known to the Joint Chiefs of Staff prior to the agreement. The Secretary of Defense was apparently cut in at the last moment while the Presidential party was in Vladivostok and he was in Washington. The party in Vladivostok, some 140 persons, included no military representatives.

A far greater scandal is involved here than anything involved in Watergate. It is scandalous beyond words that the security of the American people should be compromised by Dr. Kissinger's secret negotiations and that the Secretary of Defense, James Schlesinger, should not have a leading role in every phase of arms negotiations. Under the law, Mr. Schlesinger and the Joint Chiefs are the principle defense advisers to the President.

Dr. Kissinger, in typical fashion, has yielded vital strategic advantages for promises from the Soviet Union. The U. S. entered the Salt II negotiations insisting on equality of throwweight in the giant missiles with multiple warheads. That position was totally abandoned. Dr. Kissinger agreed to a Soviet potential 3 to 1 advantage in throwweight and warhead numbers. He equated our small missiles with the USSR's giant missiles.

Have the Congress and the American people concluded that it doesn't make any difference if the Soviet Union enjoys crushing superiority in nuclear armaments? If so, they will approve the Kissinger-negotiated pact.

If Congress and the American people believe that the survival of the United States and the liberties of the American people would be directly threatened by an all-powerful Soviet Union, then the Vladivostok pact must be rejected.

Have the American people forgotten the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968? Do they believe the Soviets are building the most powerful weapons in history for no reason?

If Americans have any instinct for survival, they will raise a mighty cry to Congress to reject what Henry Kissinger has wrought.

Use Christmas Lights Safely

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

More accidents occur in the month of December than at any other time of the year. Christmas tree lighting is a special hazard. Following is a review of some safety tips to remember this holiday season.

1. Consider illuminating a metal tree with a spotlight, avoiding the usual string of lights.
2. If you use indoor tree lights, turn them off before going out and also at bedtime.
3. Check for damaged equipment - loose sockets, frayed insulation, and broken plugs. Use sets of lights carrying the label of Underwriters Laboratories, Inc.
4. Avoid tense stretching of extension cords or the wiring on lighting sets and lessen the likelihood of cracking insulation.
5. Disconnect strings of decorative lights when hanging them.
6. Train children about the potential dangers of lighting equipment. Keep it out of the reach of very young ones.
7. Take care not to overload an electrical circuit. It can become overheated and cause a fire.

8. Be sure that bulbs are not in contact with draperies or other flammable material.

9. For outdoors, use only equipment that is weather-proofed and labeled for outdoor use. Be sure to use rubber gaskets in sockets. To keep out moisture, face the bulbs downward. Wrap plug connections with electrical tape. If possible, keep the cords above the ground, away from

A. The amount of exposure in a routine mammogram is very small. Mammograms have been recommended annually for women over 35 years of age. Likely, thermograms made with a heat-detecting device will replace X-ray as a regular screening technique. Also, high frequency sound waves are being used for detecting small breast tumors - and are safe.

Q. Ms. L. W. wants to know if bronchial asthma causes more trouble in taking in a breath or in exhaling.

foot traffic. Likewise, don't allow the cords to lie in snow or puddles of water. In fastening wire to the house, use insulated staples instead of regular nails. Unplug outdoor lighting before retiring.

Christmas tree lighting can bring joy or tragedy.

'Depression' Descriptive Of Some Industries

NEW YORK (AP) — The term "depression" might not apply to the economy as whole, but it certainly is descriptive of individual industries, such as autos, housing, stocks and the savings and loan, or thrift, industry.

The sharply worsening sales and employment situation makes autos the critical industry at the moment, with more than a quarter-million workers idled and prospects growing for more layoffs early in 1975.

Automotive analysts vary in their estimates, but it is safe to say the idleness of one automotive worker endangers the jobs of 2 to 3 workers in related industries, spreading the ailment cancerously.

The question automotive men remain puzzled about is when recovery can be expected. Their experience has been that one forecast after another was too optimistic.

Albert Sindlinger, the pollster and an authority on the automotive market, insists that even now production might be too high. Opinions vary, however, and estimates of 1975 sales range from 6.3 million to 9 million units, compared with about 9.25 million this year.

Sindlinger is at the low end, between 6.4 million and 6.8 million units, imports included.

"Our surveys show that more than 7 million cars, or one-third of all those sold during the past year, were for hedging purposes. People bought in advance to beat rising prices."

As a result, he says, new car sales will be hurt well into 1976.

The thrift industry offers a contrast: already it is moving up out of the depression into which it was pitched by high interest rates. Like the tide, money is flowing back into its savings accounts.

So long as interest rates continue to fall, savings and loans and mutual savings banks should do well. But, if interest rates rise again, it would be bad news, because thrifts are limited in the rate of interest they can pay.

If the thrifts continue to recover from their depression — and the consensus of opinion seems to favor a continuation of the trend — it will mean good news for the housing industry, which went into a nose-dive this year.

Housing executives and government housing officials aren't convinced that lower interest rates will turn the depression into a recovery. But that has almost always been the turn of events in years past.

Some stock market analysts, in fact, are suggesting that some housing stocks and related building products stocks might be worth considering for investing.

Overall, however, the stock market's prospects appear not to be very promising, so long as profits are squeezed and industries related to autos fight to maintain their lives.

Wise investors never forget, however, that the market isn't so much a reflection of current events as future events. And they have observed also that the turn comes somewhere in the darkness when the news is grimest.

Understanding Alcoholism

a health column from the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration
U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

Drunk Driving

What an outcry there would be if one 747 airplane crashed each week in this country, killing 365 people.

Well, about 365 people are killed each and every week in automobile accidents in which an alcoholic person or "problem drinker" is involved.

Even more people—another 180 or more—are killed each week in "alcohol-related" accidents, meaning those in which drunk drivers or pedestrians are identified. But it is the alcoholic or habitually drunk driver who figures in the 365 weekly casualties cited—about two-thirds of the annual alcohol-related toll of 28,000 deaths.

When people know and understand the facts about alcohol, the great majority reach responsible decisions as to how much (or whether) they will drink. An apparently little-known fact is that it takes very little alcohol to affect a person's ability to drive safely.

The risk of being in an auto crash starts to go up when there is a blood alcohol concentration (BAC) of between .05 and .10 percent (one part alcohol to 2,000 or 1,000 parts blood). An average person will reach the .05 percent level by taking two drinks in quick succession.

At .05 percent BAC you are already a somewhat less safe driver, even though you still may be on the safe side of legal limits. In many States, .08 to .10 percent means you are legally "under the influence." In other States, .15 percent BAC means legal impairment.

At .10 percent BAC you are seven times more likely to be responsible for a crash than if you had not taken a drink. At .15 percent you would be 25 times more likely to have a crash.

More people should remember how easy it is to get into the high-risk range the next time they are deciding whether to have one last drink before hitting the road.

On an average, drinking two martinis or manhattans on an empty stomach in 1 hour builds up .09 percent BAC; three drinks, .12 percent.

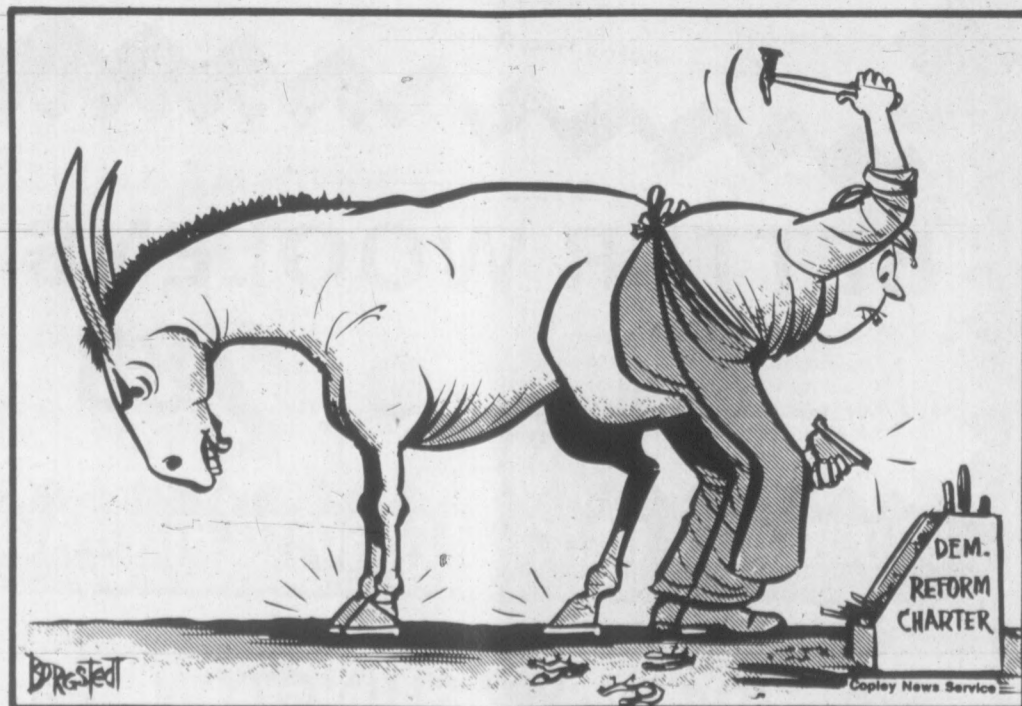

And remember, beer contains alcohol too. Drinking three 12-ounce bottles of 4-percent beer in an hour can send the BAC to .08 percent—the legal impairment level in some States.

The drinking driver needs help for two reasons: to reduce the traffic and highway dangers to others as well as to himself and to solve his overall problem of alcoholism.

To provide such help, the U.S. Department of Transportation is supporting Alcohol Safety Action Programs in many communities, and the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA) supports treatment programs in conjunction with some of them.

The NIAAA is a part of the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration of HEW. For more information about alcoholism, write to NIAAA, P.O. Box 2345, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

Isn't It The Truth

by Carl Riblet Jr.

Scientists and engineers place the priorities on the wrong items. What this country needs is the advent of a genius of practical bent, one who will produce for us a few crying necessities; like shoe laces that won't break, screws with slots that don't flatten, and money always when we need it.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

SLY CONGRESSMEN GET $10,000 EXPENSE BOOST

Rep. William S. Cohen (Me.) "...I am today introducing legislation to repeal the provisions of House Resolution 457 of the 92nd Congress—as enacted into law by Public Law 92-184—which provide the House Administration Committee with the authority to raise expense allowances of Members without approval by the full House...

"Public trust in our Government has been severely tested by the Watergate cover-up, the energy crisis, and the present economic situation. Members of this body, myself included have repeatedly called for more open, accountable, and responsible Government..."

"The American people today are looking to their elected officials for true and open leadership. They have a right to be disappointed when they find it lacking in matters such as the recently publicized increases in Member's allowances for office equipment, stationery, and other expenses. Most of my colleagues are aware of reports appearing in the news media during the fall recess that—"Congress has raised the expense allowance of all its members during the past year by more than $10,000...Under House rules...expense account increases are granted by the Administration Committee and do not involve a floor vote."

"After listening hopefully to Congress promises of controlling the budget and cutting Federal spending, the public has discovered that the House has been increasing its own budget with no more debate or notification than a printed notice in the Congressional Record..."

"I am, therefore introducing a bill (H. R. 17546) to repeal the authority granted the House Administration Committee by the 92nd Congress to unilaterally increase Members allowances and return the decisionmaking responsibility in this area to the full House membership where it belongs..."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Some checking discloses some interesting information. We discover that H. R. 17546 has been referred to the Committee on House Administration for action. This is the same committee that hands out the expense increases congressmen receive without having to commit themselves. It's obvious that H. R. 17546 will never get out of committee.

Vince Gibson Given Nod For Cardinal Grid Job

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kansas State football coach Vince Gibson has been recommended for the head football coaching job at the University of Louisville by its president.

James G. Miller, the UL president, said Sunday he would ask his school's board of trustees to approve Miller as head coach when the trustees meet Jan. 20.

Miller said Gibson would have a four-year contract, but declined to mention salary.

Gibson, 41, has been head coach at Kansas State eight years, compiling a 33-52 record.

In 1970 his squad took an unexpected second-place in the Big Eight Conference, and Gibson subsequently was given coach of the year honors by the New York Daily News and selected by his fellow head coaches as Big Eight Coach of the Year.

He has been involved in numerous post-season all-star games and will coach in the East-West All-Star game in San Francisco later this month.

His 33 victories at Kansas State are the most ever recorded by a Kansas State football coach.

He would succeed T.W. Alley, who resigned Dec. 4 after a two-year record of 9-13. Alley had one year remaining on his contract.

Gibson and his wife Dean have four children.

There was one year remaining on Gibson's contract at Kansas State.

Esposito Becomes Only Sixth Player To Obtain 500 Goals

By The Associated Press
In a few years from now, Phil Esposito may not even remember his 500th career goal.

The Detroit Red Wings would like to forget it. Esposito became only the sixth player in National Hockey League history — and the only one still active in the NHL — to reach the plateau Sunday when he scored two goals in a 5-4 Boston Bruins victory over the Red Wings.

"I don't know whether I'll particularly remember this one or not," said the 32-year-old Esposito, in his 12th NHL season and still going strong. "I remember the first goal all right.

Eastern Plays Without Center And Loses Game

By The Associated Press
Eastern Kentucky faces Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. tonight, in an effort to improve its 3-3 record. On Saturday, Eastern was without starting center Howard Brown, and lost to Marshall 102-89.

Brown pulled a muscle in his back on Friday and did not suit up for the action in Huntington, W.Va.

In tournament action, Kentucky Wesleyan won its own invitational, defeating Valdosta State 78-70, while Tennessee Tech defeated Wittenberg 72-62 for third-place. Wesleyan takes a break this week, playing its next game Jan. 4 at the University of Evansville.

Bellarmino reached the championship round in the Capital City Classic at Columbus, Ohio, but bowed to host Capital 67-57.

The Knights take Christmas week off, but are back on the road Jan. 2, for a game against Indiana State in Evansville, Ind.

"It was in my second game in the league with Chicago in the 1963-64 season. I scored against Terry Sawchuk ...

Three other NHL games Sunday ended in shutouts. Philadelphia blanked Pittsburgh and Buffalo beat Washington by scores of 4-0, and Chicago whipped Toronto 3-0. In the other NHL games, Atlanta nipped the New York Rangers 4-3, the New York Islanders downed Kansas City 5-2, and Vancouver beat California 6-4.

Gordie Howe is the NHL's all-time leading scorer with 786 goals in 25 seasons with Detroit. Bobby Hull had 604 followed by Maurice Richard with 544, Frank Mahovlich with 533 and Jean Beliveau with 507. Howe, Hull and Mahovlich moved to the World Hockey Association and Richard and Beliveau have retired.

Esposito thinks he can overtake Beliveau, Mahovlich and perhaps Richard this year. And, if all goes well, he could catch Hull and Howe before his career is over.

Flyers 4, Penguins 0
Bernie Parent got his sixth shutout of the season in the Flyers' victory. After battling through a scoreless first period, Philadelphia exploded for three goals in the middle frame by Rick MacLeish, Reggie Leach and Ross Lonsberry.

Sabres 4, Caps 0
Don Luce scored three goals in the second period, and Gary Bromley recorded his third shutout this year for Buffalo. Two of Luce's goals came 19 seconds apart while the Sabres were skating shorthanded.

Hawks 3, Leafs 0
Tony Esposito notched his fifth shutout of the season — the 51st of his career — and Stan Mikita and Cliff Koroll scored power play goals for the Black Hawks.

Flames 4, Rangers 3
Curt Bennett scored on a power play to push Atlanta past the Rangers after the Flames had lost a 2-0 lead on goals by Brian Hextall in the first period and Tim Ecclestone in the second.

Islanders 5, Scouts 2
The Islanders scored three goals in the third period after tying it in the second on a Bob Nystrom shot. Kansas City had umpired to a 2-0 lead in the first period.

Canucks 6, Seals 4
The Canucks' Bobby Lalonde scored once and assisted on two other goals, and Vancouver tallied four times in the second period to beat California.

Lawyers For NFL Begin Plans To Appeal Joe Kapp Decision

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawyers for the National Football League began mapping plans today to appeal the sweeping Joe Kapp court decision which called the NFL's reserve system "patently unreasonable."

Also ruled illegal by a federal judge in San Francisco on Friday were the controversial "Rozelle Rule," the format of the college player draft, and portions of the standard player contract.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge William T. Sweigert, in his historic decision that rocked the very foundations of the NFL — and perhaps ultimately all pro sports — said that the Rozelle Rule, named for NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, violated antitrust laws because its conceivable effect would be "to perpetually restrain a player from pursuing his occupation among the clubs of a league that holds a virtual monopoly on professional employment in the United States."

Rozelle, however, called the ruling "just one district judge's opinion."

May See Brisker

SEATTLE (AP) — For all those fans who have been chanting, "We want Brisker," something may be about to happen.

John Brisker, who signed a six-year, no-cut contract with the Seattle SuperSonics of the National Basketball Association two years ago, hasn't played in 26 of the team's last 27 games, including the last 10.

Following Seattle's 108-90 victory Sunday night over the Detroit Pistons, Sonics' Coach Bill Russell said, "I figure something regarding Brisker will happen in the not-too-distant future. I don't know exactly what.

"A deal? No, we went past that point a long time ago."

And over the weekend, he said NFL lawyers had indicated they did not hold with the claim by Kapp's attorney, Moses Laskey, that the NFL could not appeal Sweigert's summary judgment and could only appeal after a trial that would determine the amount of damages.

Presumably, the NFL will seek a stay of Sweigert's decision so that the annual college draft can be conducted next month.

Kapp, a journeyman-quarterback, retired rather than sign the standard NFL player contract which commits a player to the reserve system. He then filed suit, alleging that he was forced out of the league by an illegal boycott of the team owners, in violation of the antitrust laws. Sweigert upheld the claim.

Kapp last played for the then-Boston Patriots in 1971.

Before Friday's ruling, Rozelle had decided compensation for the team a player leaves to join another after playing out the option year of his contract. Rozelle was called in only when the teams could not agree on compensation for the player, but teams often were inhibited from signing free agents because they never knew what Rozelle would make them give up as compensation.

The format of the draft was ruled illegal because "it permits virtually perpetual boycott of a draft prospect even when the drafting club refuses or fails within a reasonable time to reach a contract with the player," according to Sweigert. The prospect may negotiate only with the club that drafts him, a format Sweigert termed "patently unreasonable."

Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL players union, called Sweigert's decision "the most significant development in the history of professional sports from the point of view of the athlete."

Williams Sparks Mayfield To Tourney Crown Over Hoptown

By STEVE W. GIVENS
Ledger & Times Sports Writer
MAYFIELD, Ky. — If Hopkinsville High does not believe in the holiday spirit after last Saturday night, it never will.

Powerful Mayfield employed a 22-point scoring blitz in the third quarter while the taller Tigers only managed five markers as the Cardinals romped to their first championship of the MHS Christmas Invitational by a 64-52 margin.

Now supporting a sparkling 6-1 record, Coach Bob Sparks pulled his entire starting five from the action in the fourth canto with the score standing at 62-42 to allow the Second Region visitors to cut the final tally.

Cardinal 6-5 senior center Eddie Williams, who totaled 60 points in three tourney appearances, was high point man for the contest as he dominated action on both ends of the court. He pumped in 20 points, blocked four shots, and hauled down a big 15 rebounds in an outstanding individual effort.

It was his shot at the halftime buzzer which boosted the Cards to a 28-25 edge after having lead much of the second period. Action to that point in the contest was lackluster with MHS enjoying a four point margin, then having HHS rally to within two on numerous occasions.

The two teams were tied 12-all after the first eight minutes of play before a 15-foot shot from left side of the lane by MHS's Greg Bazzell gave the Cards the lead for keeps. Williams then canned a jumper to boost the spread to 18-14 with 4:25 left in the half.

But Hopkinsville went to a tough hawking defense which produced several MHS turnovers while Tiger guard Ben Bell and forward Rory Gilmer were canning easy shots.

Mayfield's shortest man, 5-11 Bill Neely, then canned a 10-foot jumper to give the Cards breathing room and forward

Trey Hawkins took a fast-breaking feed pass from Williams to dump in an easy lay-up for a 26-22 score.

HHS added one more point on a free throw before Williams hit his dramatic shot at the buzzer to boost the Cards' margin by three.

The Tigers, now 5-5 on the season, failed to score during the first three minutes of the third canto while MHS was stuffing through eight markers of their own to set the stage for the point onslaught which would

Houston Coach Liking Road Shows By Aeros

By The Associated Press
Coach Bill Dineen likes the Houston Aeros' road show.

They beat the Crusaders 3-0 in Cleveland in Sunday night's World Hockey Association action, and the night before, they beat New England 5-3 on the Whalers' home ice.

"We're playing better hockey on the road than we are at home," said Dineen. "We just seem to be getting more involved when we're on the road. It seems like we're gambling a little more at home and getting burned because of it," he said.

The shutout Sunday night was Ron Grahame's third this season. Ted Taylor scored two goals in the victory.

"It's impossible to understand," said Cleveland Coach John Hanna. "I don't have any answers. If we don't snap out of it soon, there's no way of us catching New England, let alone making the playoffs."

In other WHA games Sunday Toronto beat Chicago 5-2, Indianapolis nipped New England 2-1, Michigan edged Quebec 3-2, Phoenix defeated Winnipeg 4-2, and Edmonton whipped San Diego 6-3.

Toros 5, Cougars 2

soon come.

Not only were the Cards ripping the nets, but also they were forcing the Tigers into a host of floor mistakes with a hustling man-to-man defense which at one point produced three consecutive HHS errors.

Dale Mitchell, HHS's 6-6 senior center, put the first field goal of the second half on the scoreboard with some four minutes left in the third period. Then Williams outkicked him for an easy lay-up and downcourt and hit a 15-foot jumper seconds

Defenseman Rick Cunningham scored twice in the third period to snap a 2-2 tie and power Toronto past the Cougars. Chicago's Jan Popiel had tied the game at 6:25 of the third period, but Cunningham put Toronto back ahead 10 seconds later.

Racers 2, Whalers 1
New England Coach Ron Ryan says injuries have hurt his club. "Defensemen Brad Selwood and Paul Hurley didn't play tonight," he said. "But the Racers won it. We didn't lose it."

Craig Hanmer and Bobby Whitlock scored for Indianapolis in the first period.

Stags 3, Nordiques 2
The Michigan-Quebec tilt went into overtime before Steve Andrascik could end it with a rebound of his own shot at 2:57. Steve Bernier had scored twice in the third period for Quebec to tie the game and set a WHA record by scoring at least one goal in his past 10 games.

Runners 4, Jets 2
Goalie Gary Kurt turned away 33 shots in the final two periods as Winnipeg tried desperately to catch the Roadrunners, and Michel Cormier scored two first-period goals to lead Phoenix. In all, Kurt faced 43 shots in the game.

Oilers 6, Mariners 3
The Oilers scored four goals in the third period, two into an empty net, to beat San Diego. Defenseman Doug Barrie got two of Edmonton's goals, one of those with less than a minute left into a net abandoned by Don Blanchet.

Golf Tourney Set

BOSTON (AP) — The Massachusetts Open golf championship will be held at the Charles River Country Club next June 23-25 for the third time since 1925.

The Massachusetts Golf Association also announced during weekend that the State Amateur will be played at the Winchester Country Club next July 9-12 for the fifth time since 1919.

later to make it 44-30.

Bazzell then hit a wide open lay-up before Williams and Hawkins teamed together to pressure HHS into a turnover with just enough time for Williams to fire and hit his second buzzer shot of the evening for a 50-30 MHS advantage.

Tiger forward Mike Walker collected the bulk of his 12 points in the last canto when HHS outpointed Mayfield 22-14. The 6-3 senior hit a five foot jumper with 6:40 left then teammate Terry Smith found the bucket on a tip-in to cut the Cardinal spread to 52-34.

Hopkinsville then posted two more quick scores on a lay-up by Henry Brooks and a tip in by Gilmer for a 52-40 deficit. Then Williams hit both ends of a free throw trip with 3:12 left in the action, but HHS's Herbert Manning responded with a 10 foot jumper from the top of the circle to make it 56-40.

Bazzell put the contest away for the Cards with a four point spree starting with a short jumper from the center of the lane with 2:20 showing. Then the senior canned both ends of a bonus situation with 1:58 remaining to put MHS on top 60-42.

Williams hit his final two points on a 10 foot jumper over the arms of Walker seconds later as Coach Sparks flooded the court with Cardinal reserves.

Reserve Glynn Mitchell, who lodged considerable playing time in relief of starting guard

Otis Sherrill out with foul trouble, tallied the Cards' final two points at the free throw stripe.

Williams led the MHS scoring column with his 20 markers, followed by Bazzell with 18 in a strong performance, and forward Jeff Wilson with 12. Hawkins added six markers, while Sherrill finished with a sub-par four and a heavy foul load, and reserve Bill Neely and Mitchell added two each.

Mannings and Walker tied for scoring honors for HHS with 12 each, while Bell pumped in 10, and Mitchell and Gilmer added six each. Terry Smith contributed four and Brooks added two to round out the Tiger column.

MHS outshot the visitors, hitting on 27 of 68 field goals for 40 per cent in the Cards worst shooting night of the season, while the Tigers managed 21 of 56 for 36 per cent.

The Cards dominated the backboards over the taller Tigers, 37-26.

MHS Principal Ralph Colby presented the winning Cardinals and runner-up Tigers with their tournament trophies following the action.

Earlier at halftime, MHS cheerleader sponsor, Mrs. Donna Owens made the "MHS Tournament Cheerleader Spirit Award" presentation to the Calloway County Lakers for their outstanding efforts during the first two nights of competition.

Marquette Slips Into Role As Second Banana

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The Marquette Warriors have slipped into a new role this season — second banana.

"We're very, very young," says Al McGuire, coach of the nation's sixth-ranked basketball team. "I think we'll eventually get it together, but I don't see more than a 500 year. This is something we'll have to go through and it will be tough because it's something we aren't used to."

One of the iron-clad college basketball teams over the years, Marquette's armor has been chipped this year with two straight losses, including Saturday night's 80-69 loss to fourth-ranked Louisville.

The Warriors, who only lost 17 games in five previous seasons and ranked second to UCLA for the best record during that period, were beaten by Pitt prior to the Louisville loss. The losing string put their record at 3-2 so far.

"Maybe there's something wrong with the coaching — bad substituting or something," McGuire said lightly, but added: "I don't know what's wrong. This is the best shooting team I've ever had. In practice we're unbelievable. We're not missing that many shots. We're just not taking any."

Incidentally, Saturday night's loss came on the Marquette home court, a place where the Warriors have been virtually unbeatable — winning 100 of 102 previous games.

In other games Saturday, top-ranked North Carolina State took Davidson 95-79; No. 2 Indiana crushed Nebraska 97-60 to win the Indiana Classic; third-ranked UCLA trimmed No. 12 Notre Dame 85-72; fifth-ranked Maryland tripped George Washington 81-67; No. 7 Southern Cal won its Trojan Classic with an 84-74 triumph over New Mexico; No. 8 Alabama lashed Austin Peay 85-65; No. 9 Penn crushed Northeastern 109-72 and No. 10 North Carolina belted Yale 70-53.

Among the second ten, No. 11 Memphis State beat Pepperdine 111-108 in overtime; 13th-ranked Arizona smashed Colorado 94-63; 14th-ranked South Carolina won the Carolina Classic with a 77-64 victory over Louisiana State; Providence, No. 16, took care of DePaul 85-71; 17th-ranked Oklahoma beat Wichita State 75-55 and No. 20 Kentucky took the Kentucky Invitational with a 90-65 decision over Oklahoma State.

Along with Indiana, Southern Cal, South Carolina and Kentucky, Michigan, LaSalle, Long Beach State and Tennessee won holiday tournaments.

LaSalle won the Dayton Tournament by beating Texas Tech 73-64; Long Beach won the Cable Car Classic with a 74-62 decision over Michigan State and Tennessee defeated Missouri 99-77 for the Big Sun championship.

Louisville's Cardinals walloped Marquette behind their one-two punch of Junior Bridgeman and Bill Buntun. Bridgeman scored 17 of his 22 points in the second half, including three layups and two free throws as Louisville took a 45-35 lead with 12:11 to play.

Then the Cardinals broke it open with nine straight points to grab a 65-38 lead with 6:50 to play. Buntun scored 10 points and helped Louisville win the rebound war.

David Thompson, the nation's leading collegiate scorer, hit for 43 points to lead North Carolina State's victory over outmanned Davidson. Thompson, who entered the game with a 36.8 average, led the defending national champions to their 34th straight victory.

Scott May scored 27 points to pace Indiana past Nebraska. After a slow start, the Hoosiers exploded past the Cornhuskers with a 13-2 sting and put the game away early.

Down by 19 points in the first half and as many as 16 in the second, UCLA rushed by Notre Dame on the shooting of Richard Washington and a rip-roaring defense.

"We were playing scared in the first half," said John Wooden, whose Bruins won their 71st straight game at home. "At halftime I told them we can't catch up in five minutes. We must be patient."

After cutting Notre Dame's

Robey And Grevey Pace 'Cats To Victory In Own Tournament

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The University of Kentucky found out what a good, big man and a pure shooter are worth as 6-foot-10 freshman Rick Robey and hot-shooting senior Kevin Grevey led the Wildcats to the championship of their own tournament here Saturday 90-65 over Oklahoma State.

Grevey hit 13 of 22 field goal attempts and his only free throw chance to take game scoring honors with 27 points while Robey connected on eight of nine from the field and nine of 10 from the stripe for 25. The big pivotman also hauled down 10 rebounds.

The Wildcats appeared to come out of their invitational tournament with a reputation as Washington State coach George Raveling had complained bitterly about Kentucky's "roughness."

Kentucky captain Jimmy Dan Conner said, "I didn't hear coach Strong (Guy Strong of Oklahoma State) complaining, and besides coach Raveling came by and apologized to us today."

Conner said, "His player told him (Raveling) about elbowing me in the throat. Heck, I haven't been accused of rough play since I was in the second grade."

A near brawl developed in the championship game when Oklahoma State's K.C. Kincaide exchanged jabs with Kentucky's Mike Flynn and Jerry Hale.

Referee Irv Brown sent both clubs to their benches for a cooling-off period. He followed that with a mid-court lecture to both teams.

"I ran into (Fred) Stevenson on a switch and he shoved me away," Hale said. "Then Rick (Robey) grabbed Stevenson to prevent a fight. Then Stevenson hit me in the mouth. But it was hard on those guys. You don't want to play when you're getting beaten that badly."

Oklahoma State was getting it put on them pretty good. Kentucky out-shot its foe 55.2 per cent to 37.1 per cent from the field, won the battle of the boards 43-37 and was never in trouble.

Whether Kentucky is rough or tough will get another test Monday night when the Wildcats take on Kansas at Louisville's Freedom Hall.

Kentucky is 5-1, the lone loss coming at the hands of Indiana at Bloomington.

Your Spine...
It's Relationship To Health

An uncorrected problem of the spine which interferes with the Life Force or communications within your body can result in a multitude of symptoms, disease and illnesses.

Every part of your body must have a good nerve supply to function properly. When the vertebrae of the spine are misaligned, this diminishes or cuts off the Life or Nerve Supply to various parts of your body. That part of your body begins to malfunction and deteriorate, causing sickness and disease.

It May Be Time To Make The Change

If you are taking red pills, white pills, blue pills, nerve pills, pep pills, diet pills, sleeping pills, or other nerve inhibiting or stimulating pills, why not make the change to natural, safe chiropractic?

Doctors Of Cause

Chiropractors are Doctors of Cause. They find the cause of your health problem, remove the cause by adjustments, and the Power that made the body heals the body.

The revered father of medicine, Hippocrates, said: "In case of illness, look to the spine first."

Thomas Edison said: "The Doctor of Future will give no medicine but will interest his patients in the care of the human frame, and in the cause and prevention of disease."

Super Team Won't Be In Super Bowl This Year, Dolphins Out

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Somehow it won't seem the same. Oh, there'll be a Super Bowl, with all the pageantry and drama — and the money at stake — but the Super Team won't be there.

At least not the Super Team we've all gotten to know so well in the past few years, the team with the bulldozer named Larry Csonka, the surgeon named Bob Griese, the flea named Mercury Morris and the defense named "no-names."

The Miami Dolphins are champs no more, dethroned by the Oakland Raiders 28-26 Saturday in one of the National Football League's greatest playoff games ever.

Raiders 28, Dolphins 26
Miami Coach Don Shula was philosophical after his dreams of a fourth straight trip to the Super Bowl, and perhaps a third straight championship, died under the withering aerial assault by Ken Stabler.

The Oakland quarterback's fourth touchdown pass of the game — an eight-yarder to Clarence Davis with 26 seconds to play — vaulted the Raiders past the Dolphins Saturday, and into the American Conference title game against Pittsburgh.

Miami led 19-14 with about five minutes to play. But Stabler teamed with Cliff Branch on a 71-yard play that put Oakland on top 21-19 with 4:28 left — and back came the Dolphins with rookie Benny Malone turning in a 23-yard touchdown run. Miami was on top 26-21 with 2:08 to go.

Stabler and the Raiders weren't through yet. With four passes and a burst up the middle by Davis, Oakland was suddenly on the Miami eight-yard line. Then came the pass to Davis — in a swarm of defenders — that ended Miami's domination of the NFL.

"It was the biggest win for us in a long time," Stabler said. "It was a question of big plays. You have to play consistently. We feel we are never out of a game."

Steelers 32, Bills 14
"The best game I've ever had in the pros," Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw mused after his deadly second-period passing set up three short Franco Harris touchdowns that buried the Bills and pushed Pittsburgh into the AFC showdown in Oakland.

Bradshaw hit seven of nine passes in the 26-point second-quarter burst and wound up completing 12 of 19 passes for 203 yards and rushing five times for 48 yards. "I've never really felt in complete control of the game like that before," he said.

Lou Saban, coach of the Bills, observed: "The most telling factor was that they just handled us offensively. I'm not sure how they did what they did against us, but they blew us out."

Vikings 30, Cardinals 14
"John Gilliam is the best receiver I've ever worked with," said Fran Tarkenton, whose two touchdown passes to the Minnesota wide receiver led the Vikings past the St. Louis Cardinals and into the National Conference championship game for the second year in a row.

"I've played with some great ones, like Homer Jones at New York, but Gillie is the best in football," added Tarkenton, who found Gilliam with a 16-yard game-tying pass late in the first half and a 38-yarder in a third quarter that put the game out of reach.

Jim Hart put the Cards on the scoreboard first, passing 13 yards to Earl Thomas for a touchdown late in the half. They didn't score again until the final minute, on Terry Metcalf's 11-yard run.

The Vikings finished off the Cards with a 16-point third period. Jeff Wright's interception was turned into Fred Cox' 37-yard tie-breaking field goal. Nate Wright scored a minute later on a 20-yard run after he'd recovered Metcalf's fumble, then Tarkenton unleashed his second scoring strike to Gilliam.

The score ballooned to 30-7 late in the fourth quarter when running back Chuck Foreman capped an outstanding 114-yard day with a four-yard scoring burst.

"We didn't play our greatest game in the Super Bowl last year," he said. "But I think we'll play better if we go back."

But first they've got to get past the Rams.

Rams 19, Redskins 10
"George Allen always said that if you can get six turnovers in a game, you'll win it," Los Angeles' huge defensive tackle, Merlin Olsen, said of his former coach, now with Washington. "We got six today." The Rams intercepted three passes, one of them resulting in a touchdown, and recovered three fumbles, with two leading to tying and winning field goals.

And Olsen had a hand — a big, meaty All-Pro hand — in what turned out to be the decisive scores.

"There is nothing graceful about rushing opposing backs," said the 275-pound All-Pro. "Sometimes you don't know how you got there. You just got there."

First he got to running back Larry Brown, forcing a fumble that preceded Ray's game-tying 37-yard field goal in the third period.

On the ensuing kickoff, Doug Cunningham fumbled, the Rams recovered and Ray kicked a 26-yarder that put Los Angeles on top to stay at 13-10 in the fourth period.

And, finally, with the Redskins playing catchup, Olsen slammed into quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, ruining the timing on a pass. Linebacker Isiah Robertson picked it off and ran it 59 yards for a touchdown.

The Rams scored first on James Harris' 10-yard pass to Bob Klein but a 35-yard field goal by Mike Bragg and a one-yard plunge by Moses Denson gave Washington a 10-7 halftime edge.

Playing Dumb In School Was Smartest Thing Hunter Did

By Fred Rothenberg
AP Sports Writer

AHOSKIE, N.C. (AP) — The smartest thing Catfish Hunter ever did was play dumb in school. While his classmates were in the school lineup every day, Hunter appeared on a less regular basis, sort of like a relief pitcher.

"I didn't care anything for school," Hunter said. "I'd much rather go hunting or fishing."

He hasn't changed much. Now, he'd much rather go hunting or fishing than negotiate. But for the possibility of becoming the highest paid player in baseball history, Hunter will hang up his gun and fishing pole for another week.

The Montreal Expos, the Atlanta Braves and the Minnesota Twins were coming around today to give Hunter a lesson in multiyear contracts, tax shelters, deferred payments and the like.

His eighth-grade teacher would be impressed.

"I was late for class one day," Catfish remembers, "and my teacher was waiting at the door when I came in. 'Jim, why do you waste your time throwing baseballs,' she asked me. 'You know your not going to make any money that way.'"

There's a lesson in there somewhere because soon Catfish Hunter will sign a contract with one of 20 teams that is wooing him and, in doing so, prove to his eighth grade teacher there is a profit in throwing baseballs.

Watching him tinker around his spacious brick ranch house in nearby Hertford, you wouldn't know that this man, the youngest of ten children, was about to become a millionaire.

By becoming a free agent, Hunter's value has certainly gone up, but his values have remained the same.

"I've been in baseball a long time," said Peter Bavasi, vice president and general manager of the San Diego Padres, one of 13 teams to have thus far negotiated with Hunter for the purpose of signing him to a contract.

"So many players attain success, then immediately change as people. They don't want to go home again," Bavasi said.

"But Jim Hunter isn't like that at all. He's a man who hasn't lost his appreciation for his friends or for his home. It's all very touching. Here's a man who is being offered the world, and all he really wants for himself is to be able to hunt and fish and to be able to provide education and lifetime security for his kids."

"He's still the same guy he always was," Bavasi said. "Success has not spoiled Jim Hunter."

Pacer Coach Blisters Officials After Loss

The Indiana Pacers had a hard time Sunday night. They not only had to play the Kentucky Colonels but battle the officials as well.

The Colonels beat them 118-110, but it might have been different if the officials had played ball, insists Pacer Coach Bob Leonard.

"It was those two guys out there in striped shirts," snapped Leonard, who felt that the Colonels got away with murder while fouling left and right. "We didn't deserve to be that close but once we got there it shouldn't make them call it any different. That's two times in a row we've been burned. All that grabbing and holding going on at the end."

The Colonels, on the other hand, quite naturally didn't think they were aided by the referees.

The victory, the Colonels' fifth in six days, lifted the Colonels back into first place in the American Basketball Association's Eastern Division over the New York Nets.

Wil Jones' 27 points and Louie Dampier's fourth-period heroics sparked Kentucky over Indiana.

Kentucky had an 18-point lead cut to two at 93-91, and then Dampier hit 10 points in the next six minutes to lead the Colonels out of danger. He had 25 points for the game.

Indiana's George McGinnis had 35 points for game-high scoring honors.

Stars 83, Nets 77
Teen-ager Moses Malone scored 26 points, including five free throws in the final 16 seconds, to lift Utah over New York.

New York's total tied the Nets' record low of 77 points scored against the Minnesota Pipers on Jan. 26, 1969.

Spurs 124, Q's 104
James Silas and George Gervin combined for 55 points to lead San Antonio over San Diego. Gervin scored 31 and Silas 24 as San Antonio broke a five-game losing streak. The Spurs, second in the ABA's Western Division, are now 19-15, nine games behind Denver. The Q's, 11-19, fell 15 games behind the Nuggets and are last in the division.

Bucks 96, Jazz 76
Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 23 points and Milwaukee pulled away in the second half to beat hapless New Orleans.

Lakers 115, Blazers 102

Gail Goodrich scored a season-high 44 points, including 18 in the third quarter, as Los Angeles defeated Portland.

SuperSonics 108, Pistons 90
Spencer Haywood scored 25 points to lead a balanced Seattle attack as the SuperSonics defeated Detroit. Leading th Pistons were Curtis Rowe with 22 points and Dave Bing with 21.

Tax Forms Are Similar To Last Year

LOUISVILLE — Approximately 81 million 1040 and 1040A individual income tax forms packages will be printed this year, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

For the first time, according to Paul Niederecker, IRS District Director for Kentucky, more than 2½ million of these packages for farmers and fishermen will be printed on recycled paper as an experiment. He said that eventually the IRS hoped to print all tax forms on recycled paper for environmental and economic reasons.

The 1974 forms also include the addition of a "no" box in connection with the 1976 Presidential Election Campaign Fund check-off. This will allow taxpayers to check "yes" or "no" in answer to the question of whether they want to designate $1 ($2 on joint returns) to the Fund. The 1974 forms will continue to make it clear that a check-off designation does not decrease any refund nor increase the tax liability of taxpayers.

Niederecker said the new forms are much like last year's and that taxpayers will be able to use their 1973 forms as a guide in preparing their 1974 returns. He said the main difference between the 1973 and 1974 forms is the reintroduction of Schedule B for the reporting of dividend and interest income.

On the 1974 forms, taxpayers who have more than $400 of dividend income or $400 of interest income must file Schedule B.

A section headed "Highlights" on the front page of the forms package draws the taxpayer's attention to the IRS toll-free telephone service, the new rule regarding the interest and dividend ceiling, and the fact that IRS supervisors occasionally monitor telephone calls to improve the quality of telephone taxpayer assistance.

Niederecker stressed the fact that such action is taken solely for the purpose of spot-checking on the quality of this service. He further emphasized that no telephone calls are recorded and that no record is made of the taxpayer's name or address unless, at the request of the taxpayer, a follow-up telephone call is necessary.

The last of millions of passenger pigeons died in a zoo Sept. 1, 1914. But the memory of the bird whose flocks once darkened American skies lives on in Pigeon, Mich., Pigeon River, N.C., Pigeon Cove, Mass., Pigeon Forge, Tenn., and Pigeon Point, Minn., the National Geographic Society says.

CAPITOL GLOW—The West Front of the Capitol in Washington shows the sign of the times shortly after the Capitol Christmas Tree was lighted. Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., pressed the button to light the tree which came from the Pisgah National Forest in North Carolina.

Husband's And Wife's Social Security Numbers Are Required

LOUISVILLE — Married taxpayers filing either joint or separate tax returns should make sure that the social security numbers of both husband and wife appear on the Forms 1040 or 1040A filed, the IRS said today.

Because IRS processing of returns is geared to the social security number, Paul Niederecker, District Director of Internal Revenue for Kentucky, emphasized that a missing or erroneous social security number could lead to a processing delay and a much slower refund.

Correct social security information, Niederecker pointed out, ensures that the taxpayer gets full credit for all earnings covered under social security as well as the medicare program. For that reason, any name changes should also be reported to the local Social Security Administration office.

"If your return arrives at the Memphis Service Center without proper social security numbers," Niederecker said, "our only alternative is to take the return out of the normal mainstream of processing and assign it to a special unit, which must then try to determine the correct number."

"Sometimes this can take weeks," he explained. "If you're waiting for a refund, this can only cause a considerable delay."

To ensure that the social security number is correct, according to Niederecker, the taxpayer should first check and, if necessary, correct the number or numbers shown on the address label on the tax return package received in the mail.

If the taxpayer did not receive a labeled returns package, Niederecker said, the correct social security information should be entered in the spaces provided for on the form.

"If you are married and your spouse also has a social security number, it is important that you enter both numbers," he said, "whether you file jointly or separately."

Niederecker also reminded taxpayers who have extra income—for example, from a sideline job—to determine if they should pay self-employment taxes.

Survey Shows Over 5 Million Household Fires In One Year

Washington, D.C.—There were an estimated 5,575,000 household and personal property fires in the United States in the year ending April 1974. This figure is part of a fire survey sponsored jointly by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission and the Commerce Department's National Bureau of Standards.

The purpose of the survey was to develop for the first time a statistically accurate estimate of the extent of the fire problem in American households. Of the 5,575,000 personal property fires, 4,547,000 were started in the home and the remainder occurred in vacation homes, automobiles, boats and other buildings on private property.

The survey also revealed that 326,000 people were injured in fires during the year and of that number 141,000 were injured in residential fires. Property loss was estimated to be $1.5 billion involving 2.4 million fires. In 2.9 million incidents there were no losses reported.

and mattresses ($3,000). There were an estimated 5,575,000 household and personal property fires in the United States in the year ending April 1974. This figure is part of a fire survey sponsored jointly by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission and the Commerce Department's National Bureau of Standards.

The leading ignition source was found to be appliances in 3,474,000 cases, including gas stoves (360,000), electric stoves (855,000), and television sets (196,000). Food and grease were involved in 1,872,000 of the 3,474,000 appliance fires. The next most common ignition source was electrical wiring in 435,000 cases, of which 167,000 occurred in the home.

Cigarettes started fires in 365,000 of the incidents, followed by matches in 248,000 cases. The first items to ignite were food and grease in 1,874,000 cases and appliances in 1,242,000 cases. Fabric fires, including interior furnishings, bedding and clothing, ignited first in 628,000 incidents.

Included in the 285,000 interior furnishings fires were carpets and rugs (142,000), upholstered furniture (124,000), and drapes and curtains (19,000).

Bedding was involved in 115,000 fabric fires, including blanket and bedspreads (69,000) were some 159,000 clothing fires and other fabric items constituted the remaining 69,000 fabric fires.

The survey was conducted by the Bureau of Census during the week of April 15, 1974 using 33,000 civilian households, comprising about 100,000 persons. The respondents were asked to recall any fire which had been nonintentionally started on their personal property during the preceding year. Except for the number of people injured in fires, the survey excluded fires in government buildings, office buildings, public places, and common areas such as apartment hallways. The resulting figure was then extrapolated to reflect the extent of the household fire problem on a national scale.

Future fire injury statistics will be compiled by the new Fire Prevention and Control Administration, within the Department of Commerce, which will establish a National Fire Data Center.

Kentucky's Great Thoroughbred Stallion Held At Smithsonian

By GARY RAWLINGS

LEXINGTON, Ky.—Air-conditioned stalls, automatic feeders and better medical attention than that given to many people make Kentucky's thoroughbred horses the most pampered animals in history.

But what happens when they die? Unlike the great Man O'War, who lies on a grassy knoll beneath an enormous statue, the average thoroughbred is usually placed in the ground near his stall with little fanfare.

Sadly, the horse recognized by all as Kentucky's and the nation's greatest thoroughbred stallion never received even that much courtesy.

Lexington, foaled at the Meadows on Loudon Avenue in 1850, established himself as both an excellent racehorse and the premier sire of the 19th century. Lexington served 936 mares, with 533 reported foals and 238 winners.

The "Blind Hero of Woodburn," a son of the great Boston out of Alice Carneal (Sarpodon), was undefeated as a two-year-old and raced under the name of "Darley" for his owner Elisha Warfield. After his purchase in 1853 by Richard Ten Broeck, he was renamed "Lexington" in honor of the town where he was foaled.

Soon after making the purchase, Ten Broeck entered Lexington in the Great State Post Stake in New Orleans, April 1, 1854. The race was a difficult one since his competition, horses selected by several states as their best, included his undefeated archrival and half-brother Lecomte.

Lexington scored his greatest victory that day, winning straight heats, on a muddy track. Lexington's only defeat came shortly thereafter to Lecomte, who set a four-mile record in the process.

Lecomte's world record mark was 7:26, set at Metairie, La., as he topped Lexington, who had been raced exhaustively in recent weeks. So Ten Broeck arranged for Lexington to return to the track for an attempt to break the record. After a much-deserved rest, Lexington was ready for the test and bested his rival's world record by six and a quarter seconds.

The "magnificent blood day" stallion, still in perfect condition for racing, was retired to stud on April 5, 1855 at the farm of W.F. Harper of Midway, Ky. He had been growing increasingly blind after founding, but the best part of his career was just beginning.

It happened that while R.A. Alexander was assembling stock for his Woodburn Farm, Ten Broeck was moving his stable to England. Alexander needed a good stallion to head his stud and purchased Lexington for $15,000, at that time the highest price ever paid for an American-bred horse.

While at Woodburn, Lexington became the greatest sire in history. He led the American sire list for 16 seasons—14 in succession and two more posthumously. He sired champions Idlewild, Kentucky, Norfolk, Tom Bowling and many others. Lexington holds the record for the most Preakness winners: Tom Ochiltree, Shirley and Duke of Magenta. The race itself was named after another of his colts.

Lexington died at midnight, July 1, 1875, at Woodburn and was buried near his barn door. But the amount of public adoration and praise for the great thoroughbred caused Alexander to allow, although reluctantly, the Smithsonian Institution to exhume the skeleton and place the remains of the magnificent animal on exhibit.

But, for no apparent reason, the skeleton of Lexington was taken out of public view and put in the attic of the Smithsonian, and, covered with dust, it stood beside several old worthless relics and stuffed seal.

There have been many requests for the skeleton, the most recent by the officials of the Kentucky Horse Park, but none have yet been successful. And, due to the Smithsonian rule that once something is given, it doesn't necessarily have to be given back, the attempts probably will continue to be fruitless.

The rule is necessary, of course, as the Smithsonian has the Hope Diamond and other priceless objects, but there have been exceptions made in the past.

Since the last attempt was made to obtain the skeleton, Lexington once again has been put on permanent display in the Hall of Skeletal Anatomy, at the Smithsonian Institution. But it seems that unless that state of Kentucky can succeed where others have failed, Lexington will never again see the rolling hills of the Bluegrass.

How About 65 Holly Varieties

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — When it comes to decking the halls with boughs at Christmas, it's hard to outdo amateur botanist Shelby H. Jarman, who raises 65 kinds of holly.

His 1½ acres of landscaped terrain fronting on a lake is planted with all shapes and sizes of the berryed plant, some native, some Oriental, some rare and exotic.

A retired New York businessman, Jarman, 77, has nurtured and cultivated his holly plants over the last 20 years, visiting arboreta all over the world, including Russia, Ceylon, Brazil, England, France and India to find out more about his favorite tree.

"No other family of plants is more closely tied to mankind through myths, folklore and religious observance over the past three thousand years," said the holly expert.

Jarman prunes and gathers great bunches of the holiday foliage each Christmas to decorate his own home and those of his friends.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Hodges Dies At Age 36; Funeral Here On Wednesday

Mrs. Bonita Lyons Hodges, formerly of Calloway County, died Saturday at 11:20 a.m. at the Ford Hospital, Detroit, Mich. She was 36 years of age and her death followed an extended illness.

The deceased was born April 24, 1938, in Stewart County, Tenn., and is the daughter of Lee Lyons and Myrtis Steele Lyons.

Survivors are her husband, Bob Hodges, one daughter, Miss Cynthia Hodges, and two sons, Mark and Dean Hodges, all of Centerline, Mich.; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lyons of 210 North 13th Street, Murray; two brothers, Lee Russell Lyons of Granite City, Ill., and W. A. Lyons, 1515 Glendale, Murray.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the chapel of the Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home with Rev. Jack Jones officiating. Burial will be in the Murray City Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after seven p.m. today (Monday).

Zelma Ross Dies At Local Hospital

Zelma Ross of Hardin died Sunday at 7:30 a.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was 74 years of age.

The deceased was a member of the Full Gospel Tabernacle of Paducah. Born December 25, 1899, he was the son of the late William Monroe Ross and Willie Shelton Ross.

Mr. Ross is survived by his wife, Mrs. Estella Chapman Ross, and one daughter, Mrs. Mamie Mae Ford, both of Hardin; two sons, Cecil David Ross of St. Louis, Mo., and William Monroe Ross of Paducah; two stepsons, Frank Reinheimer of Hickory Route One and J. C. Tapp of Paducah; one sister, Mrs. Ruth Washburn of Laconia, Ind.; fifteen grandchildren; eleven great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at one p.m. at the chapel of the Linn Funeral Home, Benton, with Rev. John Whetstone officiating.

Pallbearers will be Hubert Dooms, Robert Jones, Junior Dixon, Donnie Dixon, Joe Henderson, and Glenn Dale Henderson.

Burial will be in the Stewart Cemetery in Calloway County. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Fog Shuts Down Airport At LA

By The Associated Press

Heavy winds reduced the effects of an ill-timed bank of fog that shut down Los Angeles International Airport for two consecutive nights, delaying hundreds of flights and turning the normal pre-Christmas rush into the airport's worst holiday jam.

While officials estimated Sunday that as many as 500 flights were affected in Los Angeles, several others were also grounded in Seattle, San Francisco, Las Vegas, Denver and San Diego as a result of the Los Angeles closing.

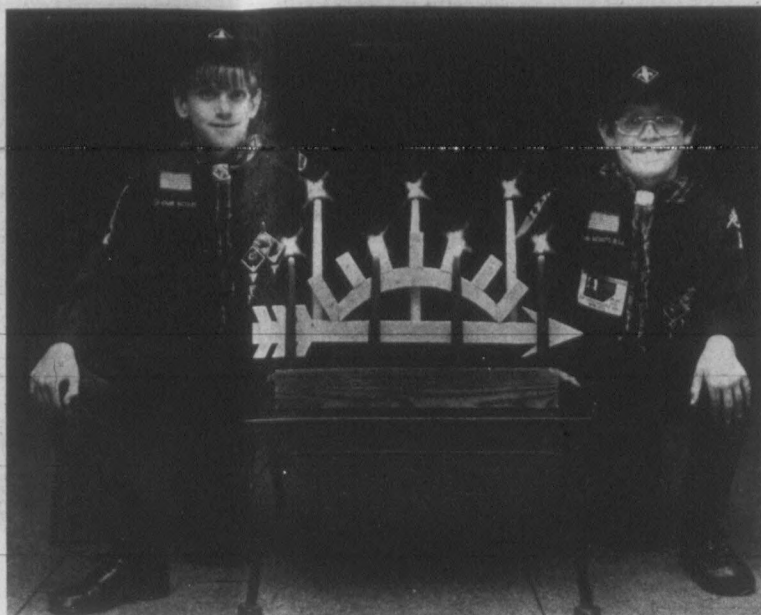

Elsewhere, snow continued to fall early today from Montana eastward into the upper Michigan Peninsula. International Falls and Hibbing, Minn., added two inches of new snow in a single hour late Sunday night.

Blizzard warnings remained in effect for most of Montana. Winds gusting up to 40 miles per hour caused widespread drifting and poor visibility conditions throughout the state.

Heavy snow warnings were also in effect for North Dakota and northern Minnesota.

Scattered rain showers were expected for the extreme northern portion of California and southern Oregon. A high winds travelers advisory was issued early today for Southern California.

Temperatures early today ranged from five below zero at Craig, Colo., to 72 degrees at Miami and Key West, Fla.

CUB SCOUTS WIN HIGHEST HONOR

The awarding of the Arrow of Light, the highest honor that can be earned in Cub Scouting, to two local boys was the highlight of the December Pack 37 meeting held Thursday, December 19, at Robertson School.

Cubs and their parents were entertained by the Murray Middle School Boys Fifth and Sixth Grade Glee Club singing a selection of Christmas songs. The group is directed by Mrs. William Porter.

The cubmaster announced that a second President's Award of Excellence had been earned by the pack for the month of November. The annual World Friendship Fund collection was presented by the scouts to their cubmaster.

Phil McClure, leader of the Webelos den, presided at the Arrow of Light ceremony during which Jim Parks and Chris Priddy were presented these high honors. Joining Jim and Chris were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Parks and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Priddy.

Other awards presented during the evening were:

- Den 1 - Robert Kondratko and Brad Brelsford, Wolf, Gold Arrow, Silver Arrow

Evel Knievel Toys Ranking High On Santa Claus Lists

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — While visions of sugar-plums may dance in some children's heads tonight, in Kentucky it's more likely to be visions of Evel Knievel toys.

A spot check of shopping-center Santa Claus around the state revealed toys associated with the famed motorcycle stuntman to be No. 1 on more Christmas lists than any other.

Larry Lamberton, 24, who was Santa at Lexington's Turfand Mall, estimated that as many as 50 per cent of the boys who saw him asked for Evel Knievel toys.

Santas at Paducah, Louisville, Lexington and Harlan confirmed a keen interest in Evel Knievel toys.

At Harlan, however, there was another interest — all kinds of trucks, from dump trucks to tractor-trailers, according to Allen Jenkins, 17, who wore the red suit and white beard for Dixie Discount Store.

Girls' tastes were traditional, inclining toward baby dolls.

Bill Faith, 24, one of three Santas for The Mall at Louisville, said he received numerous requests for teen-age or "fashion" dolls also.

There was little interest in sporting equipment, said the Santas interviewed, although some boys did ask for football uniforms and pads.

Many children who went to see the shopping-center Santas had been told to limit their requests to a specific number of toys.

L.A. Till, who played Santa this year at Paducah Mall, said more children had been told to limit their requests this year because of the sagging economy.

Till, 40, says he has been a Santa for the last "eight or ten" years.

Lamberton said, "You get a lot of kids that are only allowed to ask for two or three things." "But also, you get kids that'll give you a list of 15," he said.

A common problem of the Santas was calming fears of younger children. Till saw the key to putting them at ease as getting them onto his knee.

"If they ever get on your knee, they're all right," he said.

Some children who went to see Chris Roberts, 19, as Santa at Bashford Manor Mall near Louisville, had to be coaxed and persuaded by their parents to get onto Roberts' lap.

Roberts observed that some parents worked particularly hard to get their children to see St. Nic. "The parents were funnier than the kids."

Unemployment

The new 13 weeks of emergency benefits are expected to be drawn by an average of 1.3 million persons each week throughout the next year.

They will be available as long as the national unemployment rate for insured workers is 4 per cent. This is equivalent to a 6 per cent rate for all workers.

The present basic unemployment insurance program provides 26 weeks of benefits in most states. In addition, 13 weeks of extended benefits recently have been available, taking the total up to 39. The new bill brings the total to 52 weeks.

The original 13-week extension was triggered if the national unemployment rate is 4.5 per cent for insured workers. The bill just sent to the President would lower this trigger to 4 per cent, the same as for the new emergency 13 weeks of payments.

Ford To Mix Skiing With Work At Vail, Colorado

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — President Ford has shown himself to be an enthusiastic if fallible skier but insists his holiday stay in the Colorado Rockies is not a vacation.

Arriving at this wintry resort village Sunday, Ford told newsmen he would divide his time between work and skiing, with perhaps "more work than skiing." He said he had "about 150 bills to sign and a few other matters to work on."

The President said, however, he would not make major decisions on energy and economic policies until returning to Washington about Jan. 2.

Skiing proved a big lure for Ford on his first day here. Within two hours of arriving with his wife Betty, the chief executive was on the slopes in new and colorful ski garb.

Instructor Dennis C. Hoeger, who accompanied Ford on a 10-minute run down Vail Mountain, acknowledged the President "sat down" along the way.

"It was blowing on top and I think he was more disoriented than anything," said Hoeger.

The instructor said he felt Ford skied as well Sunday as on his last Vail outing as vice president last Christmas season. For Ford it was the first break from official duties since he became President nearly five months ago and he said he didn't think the American people would begrudge him the relaxation.

"I think the fact that I am working (here) about half the time, that I have worked, I think, seven days a week, 10 to 12 hours a day. I think they understand it," he told reporters.

Mrs. Ford, recovering from surgery for breast cancer, will not join her husband for downhill skiing but said she hoped to do some cross-country skiing. Recent heavy snows have discouraged the cross-country sport by increasing the danger of avalanches away from developed runs.

The family had a steak dinner in the evening. With the President and Mrs. Ford were sons Michael, 24, Jack, 22, and Steve, 18, daughter Susan, 17, and Michael's wife, Gayle.

Although several dozen vacationers turned out to watch Ford board a chair lift Sunday, Vail's quiet resort atmosphere was not disturbed by the presence of the nation's first skiing president. No runs were closed for Ford's exclusive use and Secret Service agents were unobtrusive.

The President has said he wants the paying customers here to be inconvenienced as little as possible.

Florida Baptists Survive Holy Land Grenade Attack

JERUSALEM (AP) — The leader of a group of Florida Baptists says a grenade attack that wounded one of them won't stop their Christmas pilgrimage in the Holy Land.

"We will spend Christmas in Bethlehem as we planned," said the Rev. E. C. McDaniel of Jacksonville after a visit to the hospital where doctors removed a thumb-sized piece of shrapnel from 17-year-old Dejean Replogle's thigh.

The doctors said that the girl would be fine.

"This could have happened in the United States, too," said the girl's mother, Mrs. William Replogle. "We are in God's hands wherever we are. I'm grateful that Jeanie wasn't more seriously injured."

Zion Square and wounded 13 persons.

The Rev. Mr. McDaniel said, "Such men do not believe in God as they should, and they feel they can take things into their own hands, and they don't care how they do it."

"After all, they did it to Christ when he was here." — Some of the tourists said they saw a car speed away after the explosion. The semiofficial state radio said the police made a house-to-house search in the area and rounded up 20 Arabs for questioning.

Local Option Set At Paintsville

PAINTSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A local option election is set for Feb. 7 here—the first such election in the city in 30 years.

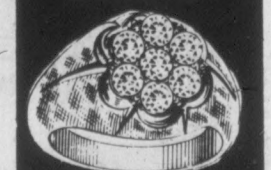

And, over the next two months, the town's 4,000 residents are expected to see a replay of one of Kentucky's oldest feuds—the "wets" versus the "drys."

A group of Paintsville voters favoring the legal sale of alcoholic beverages has gathered 513 signatures—265 more than required by state law on a petition requesting the election.

The election will be held unless the "drys" are successful in challenging the validity of the petition.

Opponents of the liquor sales are trying to prove the petition lacks the required number of registered voters residing within city limits.
