THE LISTENING POST

There is an old proverb Chinese I believe, which says that a "picture says more than a thousand words." Advertising writers have long since adopted that belief, and along with them will be found many newspaper and magazine workers. While the picture is important I do not believe that the proverb is strictly true, for words are vital to getting the picture fully understood. Perhaps it is well to say that the picture is vital, with the reservation that words are also needed.

I thought of that proverb a day or so ago when I looked through the current issue of Life, the great picture magazine. Life depends more on pictures than on anything else and has made a remarkable record in growth and influence. There are magazines which I like better, but I guess Life must be supreme in its own field. Its pictures are magnificent and its text is better than most of the picture magazines. It seems that Life is also aware than words are needed in addition to the pictures. Yet when I looked at one set of pictures this week I was impressed with the fact that they were so vital, so compelling, so striking—and worth so much in creating and maintaining a burning hate against the Nazi air force.

The set of pictures showed a long grave in which 29 caskets had been lowered. These caskets contained the bodies of 29 school children. The text told the story quite simply. A group of children, under 12 years of age, was in a school in rural England. The headmaster was talking to them. They heard the sound of plane motors, and looked inquiringly at the man to whom they had been entrusted. The headmaster listened as a bomb fell "appallingly close!" this headmaster realized the danger. "Better get under your desks, children," he said quietly.

The children piled under their desks, wide-eyed, perhaps a little frightened, but with faith in their teacher. He placed himself on the floor near one of the smaller boys. An instant later a Nazi bomb tore into the building and 29 of the occupants, including the headmaster, were smashed to pieces. Two bodies were never found; they had been so thoroughly destroyed that they could not be found at all. Several other bodies were never definitely identified. A few escaped. The next radio broadcast from Berlin told of the bomber attack, stating good results had been obtained on military targets.

A day or so later, and the pictures tell the story. A mass funeral was held in the rural churchyard. Canadian lorries were used to take the torn and twisted bodies to the final resting place, and a great crowd attended the communal services. A long grave was dug, and in this great trench the 29 caskets were placed, and distinguished church men read the burial service. The pictures show the tragic march of mothers and fathers, and any person who sees those pictures will never forget those scenes. England is far away from us, we know none of the people involved, but not far from that tragic scene American men are getting ready to avenge these foul blows, and many American fathers and mothers know that their sons will pay with their lives in this avenging.

That raid was a small thing, as war is reckoned. A single bomber, getting through British inter-

Government Makes Plans For Registration Of All Women For War Effort—No Definite Time

Women From Eighteen To Sixty-Five Will Be Affected By Plan

TIME OFF TO LET WOMAN WORKER SHOP SUGGESTED

Washington. — The plant foreman may soon hear this one from a housewife-employee: "Say, boss, how about some time off to go marketing?" He likely will if suggestions offered by Mary Anderson, director of the Woman's Bureau, Department of Labor, to aid employed housewives in war industries are heeded. Her idea is staggered hours or some time off from the job during the day so the housewife can get in the family groceries. Another suggestion was that groceries be delivered at the plant so the little woman could take home the bacon.

JERRY JONES IS SELECTED AS NAVAL AVIATION CADET

Nashville, Tenn. — Jerry Jones, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam J. Jones, of 341 Paschall, South Fulton, Tennessee, has been selected for training as a Naval Aviation Cadet and will be ordered to active duty shortly. Jones was graduated from Fulton High school. His hobby is building Model Airplanes. When ordered to active duty, Jones will report to the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School, at the University of North Carolina, or the University of Georgia for three months of physical conditioning, instruction in Naval essentials, military drill and ground school subjects. After completing this course, he will be sent to one of the Navy's numerous reserve bases for primary flight training.

REVIVAL ENDS SUNDAY NIGHT

The revival being conducted at the Church of the Nazarene by Evangelist Hicks will end tomorrow evening at the 7:45 service, with services being held tonight at 7:45 and in the morning at 11. When Rev. Hicks delivers his last message he will say goodbye, leaving behind him a sufficient trail of the blessed gospel of salvation to save the entire community. Never have we had a more capable, efficient Godly man grace our pulpit. The sad feature of the closing so many who have and could have heard the pleading invitations to accept this great and only salvation are compelled to say with Jeremiah, "The harvest is passed, the summer meeting is ended and we are not saved." In behalf of the Rev. Hicks and the church we express to the management of the Daily Leader our sincere thanks and appreciation for the space accorded us each day. Rev. Armond Calvert, Pastor.

Geologist Says Mother Earth Has Metal And Power For All

Lexington, Ky. — "The idea that 'have not' nations are fighting this war in order to make possible their own prosperity is pure bunk." Dr. Kirtley F. Mather, professor of geology at Harvard University, told students and faculty members of the University of Kentucky today. In a convocation address Dr. Mather said the known reserves of all essential metals and power are adequate "to provide every human being, the world around with the same sort of gadgets and machines that we have in the United States. "A world organization on a co-operative and democratic basis is entirely feasible, so far as material goods are concerned," Dr. Mather said. "Mother earth is rich enough

Washington. —The government is considering a nation-wide registration of women, President Roosevelt disclosed today, to locate those who could work in war plants and learn what jobs they could do. The registration at his press conference, would require all women to answer a set of questions about themselves but would not compel them to take a particular job. It would give the government information about the country's womenhood like that obtained on older men in the registration of those over draft age.

Would Require Law

The registration would require action by Congress to authorize it. Mr. Roosevelt said the CIO-AFL Labor War Board, discussing it with him yesterday, talked of registering women from 18 to 65.

William Green, president of the AFL, advocated before a Senate labor subcommittee during the day that a census be taken of women 18 to 55 to list their experience and training, saying that "we must look to the homemakers" to man the industrial plants.

Green and Philip Murray, president of the CIO, opposed any legislation to draft workers or to freeze them in their jobs and called instead for better coordination of the various agencies dealing with manpower to eliminate confusion.

Mr. Roosevelt reported that national service legislation was still in the study stage and no decision had been made as to whether it was necessary.

Green endorsed a proposed Office of War Mobilization, to be headed by a director responsible to the President, which would coordinate the Offices of Production and Supply, Manpower, technological mobilization and economic stabilization.

ARMY REDUCES FURLOUGH TIME FOR DRAFTES

Cuts Two Weeks' Leave In Half For Speedup

Washington. —The War Department today ordered a speedup in its system of putting draftees into service, in order to make up for the men lost to the Army by deferments of agricultural workers. Secretary of War Stimson disclosed that beginning November 1 the customary two-week furlough granted new inductees, so that they may wind up their affairs before actually joining the colors, will be cut to one week. "This step," Stimson said, "is a logical consequence of the recent deferment of agricultural workers, requested as a matter of national necessity by the War Manpower Commission."

Marine Says Haupt Boasted He Escaped F. B. I. Under Fire

Chicago. —A private in the U. S. Marine Corps testified today that Herbert Hans Haupt, one of the six Nazi saboteurs executed last August, had boasted that he escaped F. B. I. agents by swimming the Rio Grande under fire. In uniform, Pvt. William Leibl related at the treason trial of six Chicagoans that he had met Haupt in Stuttgart, Germany, May 1, 1942. He added Haupt made a "purely social" visit at the Leibl home, where he boastfully averred that he had been forced to flee the United States because the F. B. I. was trailing him for spreading German propaganda. Leibl said Haupt told of swimming the Rio Grande with two companions, one of whom was shot. Haupt told the Leibl family he was given money by the German Consul in Mexico City—this was in June, 1941—and sailed for Yokohama, Japan, by way of San Francisco. In Japan he received more money from the German Consul and sailed to Germany on a blockade runner. The entire trip took 180 days and he arrived in Germany just before Christmas, 1941. Leibl, a native Chicagoan, said his father, Joseph Carl Leibl, had lived in South Bend, Ind., from 1936 to 1939 when he accepted a position in Stuttgart as a translator with the German Labor Party. Leibl was one of the Americans returned last summer on the diplomatic exchange ship Drottningholm. He later joined the Marines. His parents and a brother remained in Germany. Leibl's testimony concerned Haupt's trip from his Chicago home to Germany, where he was trained for sabotage duties.

LOW-COST CIGARETTES MAY GET HELP

OPA Likely To Raise Ceiling To 13 Cents

Frankfort, Ky. —If the Office of Price Administration lifts the cigarette price ceiling—and indications are that it will—many 10-cent brand cigarette outlets likely will charge smokers 13 cents a package after November 1.

Ward Oates, state revenue commissioner, today explained that the new federal one-half-cent tax increase on each package of cigarettes would make mandatory the addition of another 1-cent state levy on the so-called "economy brands" if retailers pass the federal tax increase on to consumers.

11 Cents Ceiling Many Places

At present, many retailers, particularly chain stores, pay wholesalers approximately 10 cents, including state and federal taxes, for a package of economy-brand cigarettes. To this they add a penny for profit, bringing the package price to 11 cents, which at many stores is the ceiling price.

The retailer would sell the economy brands at 12 1/2 cents a package—or probably 13 cents. If retailers have on hand supplies of 10-cent cigarettes bearing only 1-cent state tax stamps after November 1, they should apply to the revenue department for extra 1-cent stamps should they plan to sell these brands for more than 11 cents, Oates said.

Halloween pranksters caught tonight destroying or damaging the residential or business sections of town will be arrested by the local police. They will be brought to the city jail to await trial in City Court.

W. P. B. TO BOSS PRODUCTION OF ALL WAR PLANES

Military Has Been Sharing Control Until Present

Washington. —The War Production Board soon will assume virtually supreme control over the output of warplanes which heretofore has been shared with the armed services, it was learned today.

Indisputable authority over the program, it was understood, will be given to Charles E. Wilson, W. P. B. vice chairman and former president of General Electric Company.

Officials recently confirmed that Wilson, top W. P. B. production man, would concentrate his efforts on increasing plane output, but there has been no prior indication that W. P. B. would assume almost complete responsibility for meeting the 1943 plane objective fixed by President Roosevelt.

That goal is a military secret, but it is understood to call for more than double that 45,000 planes expected in 1942. The goals announced by Roosevelt in January, and subsequently revised, were 60,000 planes in 1942 and 125,000 in 1943.

Will Direct All Phases

It will be Wilson's job to direct all phases of plane production including engines, spare parts and other materials. Ferdinand Eberstadt, W. P. B. vice chairman in charge of program determination and materials allocation, is said to have assured Wilson of sufficient materials.

RATION CHECKS EMPLOYED IN EXPERIMENT

Scheme Of Restricted To Business Men

Albany, N. Y. —In an experiment designed to simplify the nation's rationing procedure, merchants handling sugar and gasoline in a New York area of 430,000 population began writing "ration checks" today for transactions involving transfer of coupons.

Joseph A. Kershaw, O. P. A. official, said he expected approximately 4,000 merchants would participate in the plan, which, of successful, will be applied nationally. The procedure, tried successfully in England, permits businessmen to open bank accounts in which they deposit ration coupons received from their customers. When they need coupons to replenish their stock, they give their suppliers checks for certain amounts of coupons instead of handing over the actual tickets. The suppliers deposit the checks to their credit, then they are cleared back to the banks.

The experiment does not affect individual consumers, who will turn in their coupons for purchases as before. Thirty-three banks in eighteen communities in the Albany-Schenectady-Troy area are participating. The O. P. A. is compensating the banks for expenses of their service.

BED ON STAGE GIVES OPERA MAN "HOUSING"

Chicago. —William Wymetal, stage director of the Chicago Opera Company, was tried after hunting for a place to live and went to the Opera House and asked Technical Director Monte Fassnacht to set up the bed from "Rosenkavalier" on the stage. "But we're not giving 'Rosenkavalier' this season," Fassnacht said. "I know, I know," Wymetal explained, "but I can't find a bed in all Chicago to sleep in."

HIGHER PRICES ARE AUTHORIZED ON USED TIRES

Motorists Are Encouraged To Turn In Old Casings

Washington. —The Office of Price Administration today authorized higher prices for some used and recapped automobile tires sold to the Defense Supplies Corporation under the Government's idle tire purchase plan.

Motorists must dispose of all over five tires per vehicle before they can qualify for gasoline when nationwide rationing begins November 22.

The new ceilings will apply to tires already turned in, for which motorists have received credit slips, as well as to those surrendered in the future. Most of the ceiling prices remain unchanged. O. P. A. said. None is lower than former maximums.

A recappable (worn smooth) 6.00x16 tire carcass used on most popular priced cars, for which the previous ceiling was $1.50, will have a maximum price of $3.50. The ceiling price for 6.25x6.50 and 6.50x16 carcasses, formerly $1.50, have been raised to $4.

The new prices are designed to encourage motorists to turn in rather than scrap their extra tires. Under the present arrangement the cost of repairing the tire is reduced from the price received by the motorists. The high repair costs plus the lower ceilings were not regarded by O. P. A. officials as sufficient inducement to motorists to turn in their tires.

Road To Alaska Is Completed Many Months Ahead Of Time

Washington. —Sped to completion months ahead of schedule to meet demands of the war in the north Pacific, the new Alcan Highway linking the continental United States with Alaska already is in use. Secretary Stimson announced today that motor trucks started this week carrying munitions to military forces in Alaska, operating over the entire 1,671-mile military road.

Thousands of trucks are scheduled to run all winter, carrying troops and supplies to the main North Pacific base of operations. On return trips they will transport raw materials.

The actual opening was advanced from December 1, the date set earlier this fall, when it was determined that the pioneer road, officially termed "an important military supply route," could be used several months earlier than originally an-

Washington. —With pride in his voice, Navy Secretary Knox declared today that the Japanese fleet has "retired from the scene" of the Solomons battle and that the first round of the struggle has ended with American forces on Guadalcanal "occupying every inch of ground we ever controlled."

Some of the Japanese warships, which have been supporting the foe's all-out drive to wrest the vital airfield on Guadalcanal from American Marines and Army troops, have gone back to their bases, Knox said. He did not divulge where the others have gone.

Complete Control

"We are in as complete control of the situation in Guadalcanal as we ever have been," he said at a press conference.

Knox stressed, however, that he did not want to disseminate too much optimism. It was obvious that despite the withdrawal of Japanese warships, there was no telling when they might be back to support a renewed drive. In view of this uncertainty, the task of supplying the fighting troops on Guadalcanal was a problem still receiving major attention in unofficial discussions here.

After warning against over-optimism, Knox added:

"But I do have a great feeling of pride in the way our men have met the onslaught in the Tulagi-Guadalcanal area and the skill with which these forces have been handled. They have done a superb job."

Destroy 17 Tanks

Before Knox spoke, the Navy Department disclosed that American defenders of Guadalcanal had destroyed 17 Japanese tanks since the foe began his big push. The communique also revealed that swift American torpedo boats scored a hit on a Japanese destroyer trying to land reinforcements or supplies on the island. The destroyer was "stopped when last seen."

In closing our yard today we wish to thank our many customers and friends for their loyalty and support in the past nineteen years.

It is our intention to again resume business whenever conditions will justify our doing so.

Our office will be open from time to time and anyone wishing to contact us may do so by calling phones 96 or 880 for any service we may be able to render.

By—T. J. Kramer, Owner.

Supplementing existing sea and air supply routes to Alaska, the highway also served as a feeder road to several important military airfields in western Canada which had depended on air transport for their supplies.

The road extends from Dawson Creek, northwest of Edmonton, Alberta province, Canada, to Fairbanks.

HITLER'S FORCES GIVEN FORE- TASTE OF WINTER

One Caucasian blizzard doesn't make a Russian winter any more than one swallow makes a summer. That fact must be borne in mind in reading that Soviet troops defending the naval base at Tuapse have found scores of German soldiers frozen to death in their dugouts. Sub-zero weather is still far off along the 2,000-mile front on which the titanic armies are locked in battle. The first thin spears of ice have just appeared on Lake Ladoga. It will be several weeks before the marshes about Leningrad are solid ice.

It was just a year ago that the drive against Rostov was in full swing. The final assault on Moscow had not been launched. It was not until November 22 that the city on the Don was occupied and the Russian capital was in its direct peril. A week later, however, Timoshenko's forces drove the enemy out of Rostov and that was the beginning of the Russian winter campaign and the repulse of the besiegers of Moscow. It therefore may be said that Hitler's armies have another month of fighting weather before they dig in for another cruel hibernation.

Snow and ice and sub-zero temperatures come earlier in the high Caucasus mountains and to attack Tuapse the German forces have to cross the foothills of the towering range. It was there they waded waist-deep in snow in constant danger of avalanches. It was there that death by freezing overtook them. They were caught between the comparatively mild Northern Caucasus and the moderate temperatures of the shores of the Black Sea. The blizzard in which they met their fate was an isolated phenomenon.

But it was a foretaste of what is in store for Hitler's legions. It was a reminder of the hardships and suffering and death they endured in the Russian winter of 1941-42. And it heralds the failure of the Fuehrer's second summer campaign in the Soviet Union, in which the main objectives were Stalingrad and the Volga and the oil fields of Baku and the Caspian Sea. — Courier-Journal.

ceptors, managed to find itself over England and the Nazi pilots began looking for a target. Perhaps the men of the bomber did not greatly care where their bombs went, just so they destroyed something English. They did destroy something English; something fine and filled with promise for the future. Such destruction did not aid Germany in the prosecution of this war; perhaps it did not hinder British fighting ability for those boys of twelve would not have served in this war. Perhaps such things as this are the basic causes for British stubbornness and determination. More than 50,000 men, woman and children have been killed in similar manner since the war started in the British Isles, and there must be rejoicing there now that British and American air forces are striking back in ever-increasing number. It may not be a Christian joy, but is human, just the same.

BULLDOGS ARE OUTCLASSED BY MADISONVILLE 34-0

Maroons Score Three Touchdowns In First Quarter

HIGH SCHOOL SCORES

Clay 14	Cadiz 0
Murray 19	Morganfield 6
Madisonville 34	Fulton 0
Hopkinsville 25	Henderson 18
Sturgis 40	Providence 6

Badly outclassed, particularly in the first quarter, and unable to cope with the powerful running attack of two big backs, Fulton's Bulldogs bowed to Madisonville last night in the Maroon stadium, the score being 34 to 0. The game was played in a steady rain and on a muddy field. Otto Robinson, a fast and heavy back, was the chief gun in the Maroon arsenal, scoring all five touchdowns. He was materially aided by the work of Belt, another driving back, and the issue was never in doubt after the opening quarter, which saw three touchdowns piled up.

The Bulldogs made only one scoring threat. In the final quarter, Bobby Parham partially blocked a Maroon kick and Barron took the deflected ball and ran it back thirty yards to the Madisonville six. Three passes failed to click and a running play failed to carry the ball over.

Whitesell played a good game, and Leon Barron played probably his best game of the season for the Bulldogs. Dick Meacham did some good kicking, considering the mud and rain and in the line Buddy Steele and Bobby Parham stood out.

The Bulldogs managed to register only two first downs during the entire game, showing the least of offensive power they have exhibited all season. The Madisonville line did not appear to be so powerful, but their backs had plenty of power and speed and kept hammering at the Bulldogs all through the game with telling effect. Coach Gill used every player of his 19-man squad, many of the boys getting in for the first time this season.

The boys came home with loud praise for the manner in which Madisonville treated them. Townspeople and school people united in trying to see that the visitors had a good time, with a dance at the Country Club being one of the features. Cars and a bus met the train at Nortonville and carried the squad to Madisonville, and after the dance they were taken back to Nortonville to catch a train home. One of the boys, as he reached home in the dawn hours, remarked that while they did make much of a showing at football, they certainly would have a lot to remember in the way of hospitality. "They really poured it out on at football and in hospitality," he said.

TECHNIQUES OF HANDLING BOMBS REVISED

Lots Of Water Declared Best Method For Civilians

Washington. —Director James M. Landis of the Office of Civilian Defense today announced revised instructions for dealing with new types of enemy fire bombs, chief of which he listed as an attached explosive charge set off by a time fuse.

Discussing new types of bombs being used by both Germans and Japanese, the O. C. D. chief termed the "jet of water" still the most potent weapon in fighting large and small incendiaries.

While many delayed-explosion bombs are attached to the regular type incendiaries which burst into flames upon impact, the effect of the time blast also is largely incendiary, Landis said, and defense workers should dampen the area around the bomb from a protected position.

Spray Method Is "Out"

The O. C. D. announcement warned civilians against use of "all such smothering agents as 'bomb extinguishing' powders, . . . scoops, garbs and snuffers. They are entirely without merit and may endanger the lives of persons who depend upon them."

Use either the water "spray system" or sand, is "no longer recommended," the O. C. D. said, "because the possibility of fragmentation makes it too dangerous to approach the bomb sufficiently close to apply them."

Washington. —The Treasury announced that more than 21,000,000 workers now are buying war bonds at a rate of $3,300,000,000 a year through payroll deductions.

Employees of more than 148,000 firms now are devoting 8 per cent of gross payrolls to war bonds in comparison with 4 per cent nine months ago. The Treasury said.

TO THE VOTERS OF FULTON COUNTY:--

Dear Fellow Citizen:

You have collected scrap, tin, rubber, and grease. You have bought War Bonds and Stamps. You have tried in every way you could to help win the war. Many of your homes have been disrupted by the departure of your loved ones for service in the Armed Forces of the United States. The responsibilities of American Citizenship are being brought home to each of us in many different ways.

Not only is your help needed in all these ways, but your thoughtful exercise of your voting rights also is needed. On Next Tuesday Kentuckians will elect a U. S. Senator and Member of Congress. The men elected will represent you on all the questions confronting the Federal Government during the immediate future. They will be the men you place most directly behind the men behind the guns.

Senator Chandler And Congressman Gregory have been alert representatives. They realized the Nation's peril before Pearl Harbor and strove to prepare us to meet it. As a militant member of the Senate's Military Affairs Committee Senator Chandler has recently visited Alaska and the Aleutian Island outpost at the request of the President, for the purpose of obtaining first-hand information of the needs of the men in Military Service. Congressman Gregory is a member of a number of important committees, and he naturally has become familiar with the complexities of the Government's War financing problems.

At this critical time the Democratic Party of Kentucky is fortunate in being able to present for your consideration candidates who are so highly qualified by experience in the affairs of Government. It is just as important to have trained representatives in the Congress of the United States as it is to have trained soldiers in the field. No one would consider sending an untrained soldier into battle, and no one should consider sending an untrained and inexperienced man to congress in this trying hour.

We urge you to march to the polls Tuesday to cast your vote for the candidates of your choice. We ask that you consider the high qualifications of Senator Chandler and Congressman Gregory. Keep experienced and qualified men in office. They are the men directly behind the guns. The polls open at 6 A. M. and close at 4 P. M. on Tuesday, November 3rd. Vote to back up the boys in the Armed Forces.
