Little League Baseball Moving On; But Fun Lacking If Funds Lacking

The Boy's Baseball Program here in Fulton is moving right along toward the opening game of the season which will be played at the City Park on June 5. Practice has been going on all week and all that is needed now for success is a little more money and about 25 or 30 new uniforms.

The citizens of Fulton can take care of the money matter by mailing in their contributions as soon as possible. Money has been coming in from the Patron's Passes and other various contributions but there is still not enough to carry the program safely through the summer.

A plan is being devised by the heads of the League to provide the new uniforms through some of the local business firms. One establishment has offered to provide some of the uniforms in return for the privilege of putting the firm name on the back of the suits. Any other merchants who are interested in this plan should contact Charles Pawlukiewicz, Randall Burcham or Lonnie Roper. The cost of each uniform is approximately $10.00.

Here are the teams:

We Like Fulton

Hoyt Barnett, a young Hickman businessman, making his first big race on a county level, was overwhelmingly elected State Representative from Fulton and Hickman counties, while Kathryn Lannom, Fulton County Court Clerk lost by a scant 108 votes to Alvie (Dee) Langford of the Brownsville community. In a nip and tuck battle, that wavered first to incumbent J. C. Bondurant, then to Clardie Holland in the frenzied vote-counting, Judge Bondurant was returned to office by just 17 votes. The county judge's race was one of the most unpredictable races of the county campaign.

Joe Campbell, making his first race for public office handily defeated John Rose and Turney Davie, both former sheriffs and active in county political circles. Mr. Turney is chairman of the Fulton County Democratic Executive Committee. Mr. Rose ran third in the race. (See table below).

In an unprecedented result Hubert Wilkins and A. L. Cox tied for magistrate of the Second Magisterial district. The vote occasioned a rush to the law books by County Attorney James Amberg who ruled that a recount must be made and in the event that the balloting stands correct, the decision will be made by lot; i. e. the candidates will "draw straws."

Principal interest, in the otherwise quiet campaign, centered on the race between Barnett and Robert Lee Bolin of Clinton, a veteran political figure and a close friend of former lieutenant-governor Harry Lee Waterfield. While both men pledged themselves to a continuation of the sales tax program as it stands today, the race was a show of strength between the forces of the Combs-Wyatt Administration and those of Waterfield and former governor A. B. Chandler.

While Barnett announced as an independent candidate, it soon became apparent that he was dubbed a Combs Administration candidate by opposition forces. But Barnett, a vigorous campaigner and an energetic civic worker, amassed many votes on his own cognizance and his record of political and public service. Although having served on the Hickman City Council for several terms, he was almost unknown in many parts of Fulton County and had few contacts in Hickman County.

The surprising majority handed to Barnett is compatible with the trend in other portions of the State, which apparently handed Governor Bert Combs the most outstanding vote of approval of any Governor in recent years for an off-year election in the legislative races.

In the three candidate county court clerk's race, Dee Langford proved himself a formidable opponent for Mrs. Lannom who was seeking her fourth term. While the Fulton and surrounding precincts gave her a two to one majority in most cases, precincts in other parts of the county fell regularly to Langford. Political observers attributed Mrs. Lannom's loss in many cases to an opposition vote as a result of the bitter school board controversy in which Mr. Lannom was a key figure. The vote results indicated that Mrs. Scott DeMyer was no threat to either Mr. Langford or Mrs. Lannom.

A complete result of the voting in Tuesday's election is tabulated below.

The worship service will begin promptly at 11:00 a. m. at the First Christian Church and will be broadcast over Radio Station WFUL.

The public is invited to this service of worship, communion, and preaching.

This new prefix has been placed on file with the Club, and from now on they will have exclusive use of it. In fact, "Breezy Hill" will be their trademark in the Guernsey world.

When A Guest Is Most Unwelcome

We live in a free country, and thankfully can go almost anywhere we please as long as we observe the laws of the area we are in at the time, and reciprocate the treatment we receive as a guest.

But when a group of people band together and travel out of their home area with the thought of creating some agitation, or stirring up some kind of trouble in some other State, we lean a little toward the current actions of some of our Southern neighbors, who let them know in no uncertain terms that the visitors were not welcome a-tall.

We would probably feel just as strongly about some uninvited visitors arriving in Fulton County in a group, from some distant area, seeking to impress their thinking on us. We would prefer to think for ourselves and would be right quick about telling them so.

The error that seems to have been committed by the busload of visitors from Washington that journeyed on a publicized visit of Southern States to see how integration was progressing—or whatever they went down there for—was that they traveled in a group instead of alone or in pairs. We doubt that anyone in the South would have batted an eye if a couple of Washington "observers" had taken a bus to Alabama to look around quietly. They could have come to Fulton to look around and no one would have cared. We may on occasion be hosts to visitors from China, Cuba, Russia, Mexico, Washington or New York City, and all are treated courteously as visitors unless by chance they come in a sizeable group intent on heckling or otherwise seeking trouble. In that case, I am sure there would be a strong local urge to throw them out.

While the Federal Government has a perfect right to examine whatever goes on anywhere in the Union, we look with great contempt upon those individuals who proceed from a distance to personally stick their noses in business that is not their own, and on which they are only remotely informed.

What Good Old Days, Economist Says Of Past Prices And Salaries; These Are Boom Times

It is customary, particularly among unions seeking wage hikes, to talk nostalgically of the good old days when earnings were low but so were prices, and a working man could live more comfortably on less money. There is only one trouble with the reasoning: it isn't so—and the authority is none other than the Machinist, publication of the International Association of Machinists, A. F. L.-C. I. O. Since 1938, says the Machinist, living costs have doubled, but factory wages have nearly quadrupled. And, comparing the number of factor working hours required in 1948 and 1961 to purchase 27 different items, only two showed change for the worse. The list:

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

God And Man Today

The Atomic Energy Commission.

EVERY MAN is a creature of faith. He has to be. For no man can live without faith—without believing in something, without trusting in someone.

Faith is a common everyday thing. Every time we "take the other fellow's word" for something we are putting our faith in him. We are convinced that two plus two equals four, but everything we ascertain is not quite so evident. In fact, very little of our knowledge is so easily proved. For the most part we depend on the knowledge of others. We take their word for things. We believe what they say, and this belief gives us real knowledge.

There is, then, some sort of faith in every person's life—there has to be. We call it natural faith. Natural faith brings us the peace of mind which comes when we are sure of something. However, natural faith, if left to stand alone is doomed to failure. We must add to it, or rather rest it upon a solid foundation—a foundation which is supernatural.

WHAT IS THIS supernatural faith? I have said that natural faith brings us a certain peace of mind because it gives us real truth. Supernatural faith gives us even more than that. It gives us perfect peace of mind, because it leaves absolutely no doubts about truth. Supernatural faith comes not from man's mind but from God's. How do we know about Heaven with its everlasting joy? Or hell, with its never-ending torment? Not by reason. We know it's true because God said so. And this gives us perfect peace of mind, because it is truer than two plus two equals four.

In this supernatural faith man freely submits his mind to God. But that does not mean that it is an unnatural belief—a blind submission which abandons all reason. It is a belief in a God that we know exist; it is a belief that this God reveals the truth to us.

GOD DOES EXIST, and the evidence is overwhelming. While in the Atomic Energy Commission I was brought close to much of this evidence. It is everywhere in science, from nuclear energy to the expanding universe. It is in the tiny atom, with its protons, neutrons, and electrons; with all its power. It is in the vast heavens, with its stars, planets, meteors, with all its beauty.

Faith in man alone has robbed us of our peace. A universal return to God is the only way to restore peace. We must crusade with the fervent prayer of our lips and the holy prayer of our lives. It must be our prayerful hope that one of the effects of our crusade of prayer will be that this same supernatural faith may lay hold of the hearts of our enemy.

Faith can disarm the world.

100 Years Ago This Week

An Historical review of THE CIVIL WAR DAY-BY-DAY
(Material is from publication of exactly one hundred years ago; original wording from references in the Library of Congress, Washington. Reporting in the papers was usually very one-sided; we seek to be fair in coverage and preserve a national balance. . . . ED.)

BY WILLIAM H. McHENRY

By William H. McHenry

Fourth week in May, 1861
Gov. Magoffin of Kentucky issued a proclamation "forbidding both the United States and the Confederate States from treading on the sacred soil of Kentucky." Several regiments of Confederates had already gone South, and three regiments had gone north to join the Union army. During the latter part of May, Col. Anderson (of Ft. Sumter fame) raised a regiment in Kentucky in spite of the Governor's proclamation. (The Kentucky stand on neutrality would officially last until September of that year when Confederates would occupy Columbus, Kentucky, on the Mississippi, and when new Brig. U. S. Grant would bring down a small Union army to fight with the Southerners.)

Northern Virginia would become the main center of the Civil War. The land between Washington and Richmond would be disputed for four long and bitter years. Virginia troops had occupied Harper's Ferry early in May. By the last week in May, the papers announced that "Virginians have formed a large camp on the Potomac at Dumfries, about 25 miles below Washington." (At that time, any camp of a few hundred men would be called a "large camp." The Nation would soon become used to seeing armies by the hundred thousands in camps.)

In Maryland, the fear of more trouble between the people of Baltimore and Union troops led to the new soldiers to Washington being routed away from Baltimore. Troops were even posted where they could control the city. In May of that year it was considered military news of importance to report that "200 men of the N. Y. 8th Reg. are entrenched on an eminence ten miles from Annapolis, commanding the Baltimore Road. They have two pieces of artillery."

The Richmond Examiner reported that in that city business was at a standstill. "The tobacco factories are closed, or working short hours. Slaves walk the streets whose masters can find work neither for hire or for nothing." The same paper suggested that all unemployed persons be used to fortify Richmond. "The city contains many Civil and two Military engineers without immediate occupation, and the State itself has the highest talent of America at its command to furnish plans . . . why should not Richmond be fortified and at once?"

History has often asked: "Why didn't the Virginia troops capture Washington during that month after the bombardment of Sumter?"

Such a capture would have been easy . . . at the time. Why did Virginia not move against Washington? One answer came from far-away London, where the London News said: "Virginia is loath to lay her hands in violence on the city of her great Son."

Another editorial in the same paper commented on the burning of Washington by the British army during the war of 1812. The burning, said the London Times, was a mistake, done in revenge, a thoughtless and foolish action. The paper hoped the differences between North and South would soon be patched up, and the Nation grow in greatness.

On May 19, 1861, the Confederate Government announced that the seat of their government would be moved from Montgomery to Richmond. On the same day there was news that the new Confederate navy . . . non-existent a month before . . . now consisted of 26 steamers, with fifty guns. (The steamers were all commercial ships, each mounting two or three guns only.) In addition, there were " . . . 20 privateers, armed to seek out commerce of the North."

On the same day the Philadelphia papers reported that the Union ship Yankee, "a steam tug, armed," had brought into that city "three southern prizes, schooners laden with tobacco."

Confederate privateers from New Orleans, had by May 25, captured $300,000 worth of prizes. New Orleans banks were selling stock in privateers." Said the Northern papers of this "Piratical ventures!"

All the navigation lights along the North Carolina and Virginia coasts had been removed by the Confederates. New York troops from Ft. Monroe reported finding the light-ship from the Chesapeake Bay. They reported the ship had been stolen and hidden in the Wicomico River. The soldiers were fired on, and returned shots.

The Nation was not used to killing by May of 1861. On May 24, the two men would die in a small hotel in Alexandria, Virginia. The men were a Mr. Jackson, the hotel-manager, and a Col. Ellsworth, of the U. S. army.

Ellsworth was a personal friend of Lincoln. He was in command of 1,200 Zouaves who were encamped near the asylum in Washington. A few days before the death of Ellsworth the newspapers had reported: "Ellsworth's Zouaves have marched to their encampment next the crazy house. They have made a trade with the management of the crazy house to trade their flour rations for bread, of which the asylum is famous."

Ellsworth was not to enjoy fresh bread for long, for he took a few men across the river into Virginia to root out secessionists who dared to fly the Southern flags so near Washington.

Jackson had attracted notice a few weeks before when he had according to the New York Tribune: "protected some Union men against a secessionist mob, using the same double barreled gun with which he shot Ellsworth, swearing that the freedom of speech must be maintained in Virginia."

Jackson was flying the Secessionist flag over his hotel against advice of his friends. Jackson was begged to make no resistance but swore he would die in defense of his flag. Col. Ellsworth and a soldier entered the hotel and tore down the flag. Jackson shot Ellsworth on the way down the stairs. The Union soldier shot Jackson. Ellsworth was murdered by a shocked North. "Jackson's body lies in the hotel, in a coffin, wearing the Secession uniform." Each man was to be mourned by his side as "The first martyr of the Civil War."

Miss Sandra Sue Laird, popular bride-elect and the inspiration for several lovely parties in the area lately, was the honoree at a bridal shower given at the home of Mrs. Joe Holland by Mrs. Holland and Mrs. Ralph Dement on May 13. Thirty-eight invited guests attended the shower and many lovely gifts were presented to the bride-elect.

Arrangments of early summer flowers filled the rooms and white wedding bells in clusters also carried out the bridal theme.

Miss Laird was wearing a white suit with a short boxy jacket edged in black braid and a pleated skirt. Her gift corsage was of pink roses.

Many interesting games were played and the prizes were presented to th honoree.

In keeping with the theme, "The World In Our Hearts", the tables at the recent Dad and Daughter Banquet held at the First Baptist Church were decorated with small world globes and dolls from other nations throughout the world.

The banquet was sponsored by the Junior and Intermediate Girls Auxillary of the church. Following the barbecue dinner, an interesting program including singing and a skit, "This N' That" were presented to the group.

AFTERNOON—

jobs that she had been planning to do during the rest of the week.

Sandra Latham, who works at Baldrige's, celebrated her birthday last Wednesday and spent the afternoon shopping in Mayfield. She sadly remarked that it rained, though, and she had to come home early.

Mrs. Willie Homra from the Leader Store, spent the proverbial "busman's holiday" last week, as the Catalina salesman paid her a visit and she had to use her afternoon off to buy for the fall.

And there are probably many, many more that we did not get to contact, who spent their Wednesday afternoon doing interesting and constructive tasks. But one thing can be said for certain—there were very, very few who got a real afternoon off and this will more than likely hold true for every Wednesday afternoon throughout the long summer months!

To the Voters of Fulton County:

Please accept my most grateful thanks for electing me to the office of Fulton County Sheriff over two most worthy opponents.

As a young man seeking his first public office, I have asked for a chance and you have given it to me. I pledge to you my every effort to do a worthy job.

JOE CAMPBELL

TO THE VOTERS OF FULTON COUNTY

I wish to thank everyone who supported me in my bid for reelection. You will never know how much your support and confidence means to me, not only at this time but in the past.

The eleven and one-half years that I have had the pleasure of serving as your County Court Clerk have been most pleasant and I have tried earnestly to show my appreciation each day.

I wish it were so that I could contact each of you personally, but since that is not possible, I wish to take this means of again saying "Thanks You."

Most sincerely,

Lathrop R. Lamm

To the Voters of Fulton County

Your approval of my past administration of the office of Fulton County Judge by electing me to another term is sincerely appreciated, and I take this opportunity to offer you my thanks.

I pledge you a continued progressive and efficient government.

Sincerely,

JOHN C. BONDURANT

Many Thanks!

During a campaign a candidate tries to see all of his friends to visit with them and to solicit their vote. It is not an easy task, but one that I tried humbly to do.

It is not an easy task today, to truly express to you how grateful I am for the tremendous vote you gave me on Tuesday and to say that I am again overwhelmed by your generous support and your confidence in me.

In saying thanks I can only say that I shall exert my effort to make you a competent and efficient tax commissioner and if ever I can be of service to you, just call.

Your grateful friend,

ELMER MURCHISON

HALF THE STORY

And when we say "low price," we mean more than merely the pint-sized figure on the window sticker of a new Corvair. You're going to be saving like sixty on gas. About the only things Corvair doesn't skimp on are room, smoothness, style and pure driving joy. But that's the other half of the story. Talk to your Chevrolet dealer about it soon!

Assembly Programs Have Variety Of Interesting Subjects At FHS

By Mary Bonduant

The Rev. R. T. Miller and the minister of music and education at the First Baptist Church, Mr. Jimmy Clark, presented a very interesting assembly program on April 12.

Mr. Clark sang two songs, "Turn Your Eyes Upon Jesus" and "When I Met My Saviour". Rev. Miller used as his topic, Luke 2:52—"And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man".

On April 25, the Fulton High students were privileged to attend a program given by Mr. George Sisler, promotions editor of the Memphis Commercial Appeal. Mr. J. D. Davis of the Fulton Rotary Club introduced the speaker.

The history of Communism and the progress it has made since Lenin, was arranged in a film by Mr. Sisler, which was shown to the students in Carr gymnasium. In a very enlightening talk after the film, Mr. Sisler said, "We are facing the greatest crisis in the history of our country. We need more learned advocates for our country."

At 9:00 on April 25, thirty-seven members of the Fulton County Band presented a program to the students of the fifth through the twelfth grades. Mrs. Bonnie Heron, FHS music director, introduced Mr. Bob Singletary, the director of the FCHS band.

Their first number was a "Dixieland Combo" featuring the Southern Four, a quartet of band members. They delighted the audience with their dixieland jazz music.

The band then played two numbers that have been on the top ten list recently, "Exodus" and "Wonderland By Night." Harry Watts, FCHS sophomore, played a trumpet solo in the latter number.

On the lighter side, the band played a variation of "Chopsticks" and a "TV Suite" taken from television programs. The suite consisted of a western, a detective, a square dance with several girls giving out the calls, and a big name band.

They also played "Sweet Adeline Rock". At Mr. Martin's request, the grade school, junior high and high school marched out while the band played "Yankee Doodle Dandy".

On April 28, at 9:00, the last Southern Assembly Program of this school year was presented to the student body. Mr. Wayne Chapman, who has given several TV and radio programs, presented a program of organ music.

For his opening numbers he played a "Dixieland Tune" and the "St. Louis Blues". The organ was then turned around to reveal that he was playing a full-sized Hammond organ with two keyboards. He showed the use of the foot pedals by playing "The Blind Mice" using the pedals only. Mr. Chapman pointed out that the organ can be made to sound like other instruments. He played the effect of a bell sound by doing "The Bells of St. Mary's" and then mimicked the cuckoo clock and bagpipes. When he played the "Tiger Rag" everyone could hear the tiger roar.

He played one of the most well-known Strauss waltzes, "Tales from Vienna Woods". The Old Rugged Cross, one of the older hymns, was played because most denominations use organs.

Changing the tempo, he played the "Tea For Two Cha-Cha" playing the maracas with one hand and the organ with the other. Deciding that he needed some background for this music, Bill Le-neave, Jimmy Cheatham and Carl Hurst volunteered (?) to be his band.

While he was playing the "Red River Rock" the keys got so hot they turned red and green. For his final number, Mr. Chapman chose a medley of Southern songs—"Chattanooga Shoo-shine Boy," "Tennessee Waltz" and "Dixie". Rounding out the year, there will be a special Honor's Day Program on May 26 at 9:00.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Windsor have just completed a new porch at their home near here and are applying a new coat of paint.

Little Howell Bynum is a victim of a deep siege of cold and has been indisposed a few days.

Down at the Grant Bynum home, he and daughter Margaret, got into full swing the past week and did their interior decorating, adding new wallpaper in the kitchen and living room, all woodwork got a new coat of paint, refreshing the entire house. Just last week your writer paid them a visit and got a glimpse of their huge Chinese Wistria, so old it is, the trunk is well over two inches in diameter and trails a catapala of great height. It is a sight to behold and is in full bloom at this time. The vine has grown, so has the catapala, over a period of years, that one vine trunk burst around the tree and just hangs there flying in the breeze.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McClain of Fulton spent Tuesday here with children, Mr. and Mrs. Velva Hawks. Mr. McClain has recently recovered from a siege of illness that kept him hospitalized for several days so his many friends will be glad to know he is able to get around again.

Mr. Harding Ainley suffered severe burns about his face and hands Friday while burning brush. Gasoline was used to ignite the brush and flashed up so quickly he was unable to get out of reach of the flames.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lassiter were Sunday dinner guest of parents Mr. and Mrs. Buton Lassiter.

Many farmers over this area set tobacco. Altho early, an effort will be made to set the allotted acreage. The season of moisture was fine at this time. Land was disced and broken with some farmers working nights around the clock.

The busy housewives are at their post saving strawberries, freezing and making preserves. The crop is reported a fine yield. Other routine of our homemakers are house-cleaning, gardening and etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruble Thomas moved their sister, Mrs. Raymond Cherry and stored her furniture at the home of her sister Nola Jeeton near Lynville, Kentucky Saturday since the Cherry family are leaving for Chicago to make their home.

I have just recently sowed scarlet sage, of which I am very fond of, and I hope they soon peep up. My egg plant is also a little late, but finally I will set the plants. Will some of my readers of this item send me a recipe of egg-plant casserole?

Get-well wishes are extended to Miss Maud Sisson who is a patient in the Hillview hospital undergoing some treatment.

by H. D. HAYES
Your Telephone Manager

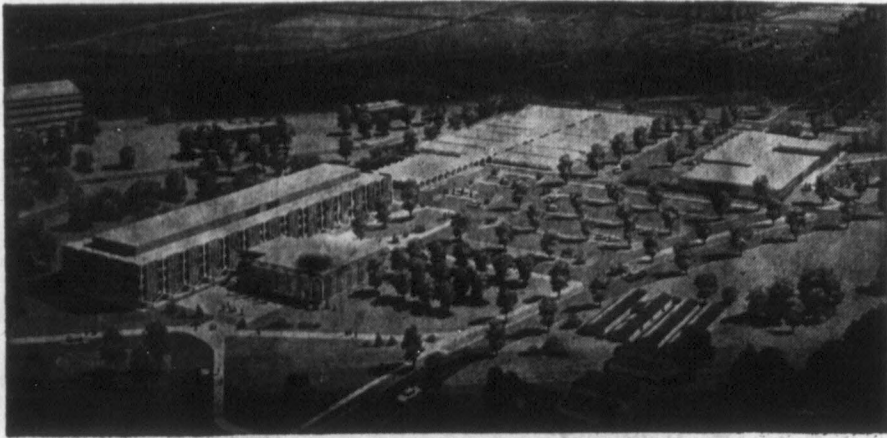

LOOK WHO'S TALKING on her new Princess phone! She's in "teen heaven" for the Princess appeals to nearly everyone. (And no wonder, it's the newest and prettiest phone we've ever made.) But especially to a growing young lady, it's so nice to curl up with in privacy and tiny enough to hold in her hand. Even the soft night light makes things cozier when you-know-who calls a little later than he should. Grownups, too, like the Princess' smart styling and compact size. So believe me, wherever you need an extension phone—and that's any room you'd like to phone from—you'll find the Princess goes there and goes beautifully. Why not see this lovely little phone at our business office? In five colors.

LATEST IN GOOD LIVING—Now your family can enjoy complete home communications with the new Home Interphone that lets you talk from room-to-room, call folks to the phone or to supper without shouting or walking. Another good feature: busy homemakers can also answer the front door without leaving things a moment.

Two Injured In US-45 Collision

Two people—one a local girl—were painfully injured in a wreck near the Fulton Drive-In last Wednesday night. Miss Rosemary Clark, a South Fulton High senior received a neck injury and was taken to Hillview Hospital.

The driver of the other car, Woodrow Cobb of Greenfield, Tennessee, received a brain concussion and lacerations of the face and was taken from Fulton Hospital to Kennedy Veterans Hospital in Memphis. He will face charges as soon as he is able to leave the hospital.

Miss Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Clark, was enroute to her home south of town. She stopped the car and signaled for a left turn when the Cobb car ran into the rear of her car. Both cars were badly damaged.

IT STOPPED QUICK!
The Fulton Fire Department was called to 100 Theford Street last Friday morning to fight a fire which had started in a closet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Mulcahy.

Firemen kept the blaze from spreading to other parts of the house, although there was considerable water damage to the contents. No one was home at the time of the fire.

Your By-Line Reporter, Karen Dublin Honored As Journalist

"Talented Karen Dublin, whose articles you have read in the Fulton County News and the Kennel, official publication of Fulton High School, has been signally honored by being commended for her work on her high school paper. Karen, 17, was among only 269 high school students in Kentucky who were honored.

Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Craddock and bids well to be one of the best journalists ever graduated from Fulton High School. Avidly interested in newspaper work, Karen would rather smell printer's ink than French perfume. Currently doing feature stories and re-writes for the News, she can see a story a mile away and get the facts like a veteran reporter.

This summer Karen will assume more experienced duties at the News office and also gather local news for Radio Station WFUL. She plans to pursue her further education in journalism by attending ing Murray State College in the Fall.

Karen will receive the Marguerite McLaughlin and Enoch Grehan Memorial certificate, which will be presented to her during commencement exercises. (Ed's Note: It couldn't happen to a nicer girl.)
