Those who talk of compromise don't know, or else they have forgotten, that our Uncle Grover's backbone.

Send Howell to the Legislature and you will then have a Senator who will be willing and able to do something for you.

The tall having attempted to wag the dog in the Senate and failed, it should now give up and allow itself to be wagged.

Christian county can not afford to go unrepresented at Frankfort in the future as it has in the past. Vote for Howell and Campbell.

Van Allen, though born in 1845, never voted in his life until 1892, when he cast in his ballot and $50.00 to pay for the Italian mission.

Mr. Cleveland is in the game to stay. He stands pat, and the bluff of the silver standarder will not work. There will be no compromise.

What's the difference between a Republican Congress that will not, and a Democratic Congress that will not, and a Republican Congress that will not?

Mr. Olney should resign either his railroad directorship or his position as Attorney General. The duties of the two positions conflict with each other.

The furniture dealers of Hopkinsville will do a very flourishing business for the next year or two, judging from the large number of marriages that have lately taken place in this county.

The Eastern monopolists will doubtless adopt the tactics of the silver advocates when the tariff bill comes up for consideration. So much for the example the silver men have set.

The idea is rapidly growing among this people that an income tax provision in the constitution is a bad thing. This measure is certain to come before the House at the proper time.

The plan adopted by the United States Express Company of putting armed guards on all trains on which they operate will, if followed by all other express companies, soon put an end to train robbery.

Since Senator Allen's speech none of the members of the Senate are skeptical about the story of Sampson and the jaw bone. They realize now what a fearful instrument the jaw bone of an ass is when vigorously handled.

A year or two from now some of the Senators who are obstructing legislation will be in the position to repeat the beautiful phrase which was written on a Confederate note:

"Representing nothing on God's earth now, And nothing in the waters below."

In spite of the economical administration of the Pension Bureau the Secretary of the Interior thinks $100,000,000 to be necessary for the pension law of 1890 is an exceedingly costly piece of legislation.

All hail to thee, Ministry! The one alone authority That rules the greatest nation of the earth! O thou that art the power of the world, With thy authority, 'Twas fate that thou shouldst, yield to this new birth!

The Wilsons expect bill want to the Senate several weeks ago, and yet Senator Voorhees says the fight is only just begun. If this be true the Democrats will have to elect as Mr. Cleveland's successor a man who will be friendly to repeal or might veto the bill when it is passed.

This is a bad year not only for Senators, but for ex-Senators as well. It is said that the New York Republicans have turned down ex-Senator Hancock for good, and that he can never hope to be as good as new. That is for good or bad, the turning down of an ex-Senator.

An exchange says: "Do not swear. There is no occasion to swear outside of a printing office. It is useful in proof reading, indispensable in getting forms to press, and has been known to help in looking over the paper after it was printed, but otherwise it is a very disgusting habit."

"Don't shoot the man at the piano, he is doing the best he can," was the legend inscribed upon the walls of a frontier concert saloon, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. A similar inscription is addressed to those who are disposed to abuse Senator Voorhees for his failure to outbid the silverites. He did the best he could.

Mr. Hartley, of Ohio, has introduced a bill to reduce the tax on State bank notes to 1 per cent. per annum, when upon all such notes there shall be a plainly printed and clearly stated agreement of the State in which the bank issuing the notes is located, to redeem such notes in gold or silver money of the United States upon presentation to the proper officer of the State.

Christian county never before had as good a Superintendent of Public Schools as Prof. S. L. Froge. He has proved himself to be. He has been successful in his labors for the welfare of the county, and he is entitled to an endorsement at the hands of the public. Show your appreciation of his work by going to the polls next month and casting your ballot for him.

The Republican City Executive of St. Louis held a meeting in a saloon in that city a few nights ago to nominate candidates for the School Board. This was a very appropriate place for a Republican Committee to meet, in regard to the matter the St. Louis Post Dispatch says: "When nominations for School Directors are made in saloons there may be more drama than in the selection of our educational officials."

If the people of Christian county want to have any say about the laws made by the Legislature, they must elect Howell and Campbell. Fifty thousand men like Landes and Morgan couldn't do them any good at Frankfort. Christian has already suffered enough from Republican representation in the Legislature, let her now send some men there who will be listened to and who, on account of their political, will be in a position to serve the whole people.

A mob at Canton, Mo., nearly hung the wrong man for the other day. A little mistake like that, however, does not bother a mob. And come to think of it, probably the mistake would not have been so bad after all, because a man whose character, whose reputation is so bad as to lay him liable to be suspected of a crime worthy of death, must of necessity be a very tough citizen and one whose taking off in haste would be a benefit to his community. They doubtless took that man up on his general reputation.

Ex-Speaker Moore was badly knocked out in his race for the Senatorial nomination in his district. The people there don't want any more Moore men like him in the Legislature, it seems. The members of the late Legislature are having a hard time of it this year, nearly everyone of them who aspired for election having been defeated.

The Democratic members of the House Committee on Banking and Currency express themselves as being confident that they will secure a favorable report for a bill repealing the 10 per cent. tax on State bank circulation.

FOR WAYS

That Are Dark and Tricks That Are Vain.

THE REPUBLICAN IS PECULIAR.

Which Name the New Era is Free to Maintain.

A NOCTURNAL CONVENTION.

The shades of night had fallen, and a quiet calm rested upon our city. The excitement of a busy day had subsided, and the streets were more or less deserted. A New Era reporter stood in the vicinity of the courthouse, wondering what he could find to write. A leading Republican of the city passed casually by and suggested the court house.

There was nothing strange about this. An evening strolled up the street, and glancing slowly around him, also entered the court house. Still nothing very strange. But soon came another, then on more, then two more, then several. They all entered the court house. Here they remained some time out of view for quite a number of minutes—sixty or more; maybe an hour and ten minutes. Then they came out and went to their respective homes. Yesterday night the New Era man made a diligent inquiry regarding the actions of these Republicans while in the building of the court house. There happened to be a few men in the building at that time, but they had been seen to enter the building, couldn't remember what they were there for. However, from a very reliable source it was learned that the purpose of this meeting was to nominate candidates for the City Council, Mayor and City Attorney.

From equally as reliable source the names of these nominees have been ascertained.

E. P. Campbell has been nominated to make the race for Mayor of the City of Hopkinsville, and Jas. Brewster for City Attorney in spite of the fact that the council will fill these offices.

In the First Ward, Cyrus Brown will attempt to be elected Councilman.

In the Second, F. L. E. will run. E. J. Brownell got the Third Ward nomination.

In the Fourth Ward, Chas. Higgins, in the Fifth Ward, A. H. Anderson, of course, will make the race.

W. C. Wright will blossom forth as a candidate for City Council from the Sixth Ward.

While in the St. eighth, Alex. Gilliland will do the running.

But don't give this away. They don't want it known yet. There happens to be a little law, you know, which pointedly states: "In any sub-division less than a county, when a convention is held, there must be a person signed by a majority of the voters to the County Clerk, requesting him to place the names of some person designated in the petition upon the official ballot."

Twenty names have been secured by the Republicans, and they will probably announce their ticket.

Last night, the City Clerk was ordered by the Council to go to the Court House and reject in the name of the nominees of the Democrats in each ward to be voted for in their respective wards, and in the name of the nominees of the Republicans appointed by the Council to hold municipal election, and to request their answer in writing. The clerk and deputies scratched their heads, and pondered over the demand. Then they told the City Clerk that they would see him later. They said they would consult with their lawyers and be ready to give some definite answer this afternoon. Until then the city will probably hold its breath in painful suspense.

A LAKE OR A FAKE.

A correspondent at Clarksville springs the following on his papers: "A section of country about a quarter of a mile in diameter, and about a mile above Stone's Ferry. The Slide occurred in Lake county and the first persons who saw it the next day were as follows:—about 100 feet below what had been dry ground the day before. The sink was getting deeper and deeper to the southward, where it obtained its greatest depth. It appeared as though this tract of land had been resting on a wall of rock which was being partially destroyed by the action of the water for untold ages, suddenly gave way and dropped into a subterranean lake. One of the strangest things about the slide are hundreds of catfish, perch, buffalo and other fish floating about. It is almost impossible to convince anyone that such a body of land could fall without producing something of the earthquake that would have alarmed the surrounding country. The lake will doubtless be christened Little Red Foot.

COLLAPSED.

The Walls of a Carriage Factory Fall.

Killing One Man and Seriously Wounding Two Others.

Charles Davis Had Both Legs Broken and Sustained Other Injuries Which May Prove Fatal.

White Laborer, J. W. Urie, of Racine, Wis., Was Quite Badly Hurt.

The Collapse Was Caused By Piling Brick on the Floor of the Second Story Which Was Not Well Braced.

LOSS ON BUILDING TOTAL.

Yesterday morning about 8 o'clock the Blumenstiel Carriage Factory on Eighth and Virginia streets, closed in and as a result one man is dead, and several badly injured.

Jim Williams an escaped convict from the Edinburg penitentiary was captured yesterday in this city by the town Marshal, Lawrence Moore, who passed through the city en route to Edinburg with the man. There is a reward of $500 offered for the return of the felon.

A CHRISTIAN CRUSADE.

Plan Taking Shape to Girdle the Earth With Religious Conventions.

Special to the New Era.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 19.—A movement to encircle the earth with a girdle of religious conventions in the nick of time is being organized by the Rev. Dr. J. H. Sherman, of Pittsburg. The expedition will then sail direct for Bombay, India, after which the crusaders will visit Jerusalem, Cairo, Rome and London.

The expedition will be led by New York. It is estimated that the expense of the crusade will not exceed $100,000 each and 1,000 persons are expected to join the expedition. They will be shown the way by the Rev. Dr. J. H. Sherman.

Charles Davis, another bricklayer, was at work near Warner. He was carried to the ground on the falling wall. Both legs were broken, and his body badly bruised.

Another bricklayer, J. W. Urie, of Racine, Wis., was severely injured about the lower limbs.

Luther Funke, one of the factory's employees, was at work in the rear part of the second story of the building. A timber fell upon his leg, pinning him to the floor. His cries for help were answered by the place of a ladder against the wall and he was lowered to the ground.

George Anderson leaped to another building twenty feet distant, and thereby escaped injury.

Joe Ferguson, a lad about thirteen years old was at work in the office. When he heard the first sound of the crumbling, he realized the situation and made a desperate dash for life by leaping through a window. He received slight injuries, a part of the wall falling upon him.

A negro man jumped from a second story window, and was hurt about the head.

Jack Blumenstiel had a narrow escape from death. When the disaster occurred, he was standing in the second floor of the building, and the walls fell in leaving him standing on the only sound floor. His escape was miraculous.

Twelve or fifteen men who were in the building rushed to the rear of the factory and escaped injury.

Several small children who were playing near the building, ran from under the falling walls just in time to escape being crushed to death.

The loss to the Company is total, as no insurance policy covers catastrophes of this kind. The loss will aggregate $2,000.

The attempt to raise the old shell of a building otherwise old, was a very dangerous proceeding. The walls were weak, and the joists old. The piling of the bricks on the second floor was too foolish in the extreme.

The dead man, Jan. Warner, was from Nashville and started working on the building yesterday. He was the husband of a daughter of Mr. J. W. Moore, a prominent farmer of the Hay Mills vicinity, where his wife is now residing. He was a young man, probably thirty-two years of age, and was an energetic, moral man. His wife has been summoned, and his friends in Nashville telegraphed the news of his death.

Chas. Davis, who was badly injured, was born in this city, and had many friends here, where his father for a number of years operated a brick-yard. He is about thirty years old, and has recently been living in Clarksville.

AN OPENING.

Mr. Rogers' Fall Display a Success.

Mr. M. E. Rogers' Fall display of hats and bonnets is in every respect a brilliant success.

Mr. Rogers' taste in selection has never been questioned, and this season the results of her recent visit to the East were greatly admired by all who attended. All day long the 'tastefully decorated' apartments were thronged by the ladies of the city and county, and the general expression was to the effect that never before in this city had such beautifully trimmed and stylish hats and bonnets been displayed.

OFF FOR CHICAGO.

An Immense Crowd Left To-day For the White City.

W. A. Wilgus and about one hundred and fifty more people left yesterday morning for the World's Fair. The crowd that gathered at the depot was simply immense, for several friends surrounded every person who was going to the Fair. Will Wilgus was there, there, and everywhere. Tying this man's cravat, telling another where to stop in Chicago, emitting a sweet smile in the direction of a country girl and her lover, assisting every body to buy tickets, and doing everything else possible or impossible, Mr. Wilgus as a passenger agent is simply out-of-sight. He understands thoroughly every department of his business, and his energy is due the visiting of the Fair by everybody in the county who could make up enough money to make the trip.

It is impossible to give a list of the names of those who left this morning. Suffice it to say that nearly everybody who hasn't been left on Wilgus' personally conducted special this morning.
